First of all, a verbal bouquet to "Buddy" Stinson, who, in spite of his recently acquired physical handicap, is, I understand playing basketball and shooting the old baskets down at the high school gym. You just can't keep a good man down, can you "Buddy?"

And to continue in the trend of sports, the local baseball club is whipping its plans into shape under the able supervision of Bernie Boyle, its prexy, and his help, the directors and other officers. Come two or three weeks and the fellas will get out the old horsehide gloves, balls, and the hickory sticks and start loosening up their creaky joints down on our favorite battleground, the ball diamond. From then on, the old creak of the horsehide biting the wood (to use the very hackneyed expression) will resound over the ball park.

Coach John Law will whittle the boys down to size and shape and knowing his past history in athletics, I can safely guarantee Emmitsburg will make its presence known in the Pen-Mar baseball circuit. Also, Coach Law won't, I'm pretty certain, put up with some of the cantankerous characters who play "whimsical" baseball—which, when defined means when the mood strikes them. . . . He's used to handling men, and he knows his baseball. . . . he knows when to be firm, fair, and when to fight. Oh, he'll get the best out of his men—and they'll like him for it, I'm willing to bet. Baby, would I love to be a ball player. Why was I born femme?

I can't say that I exactly approve of the location the State Roads Commission chose for the placing of the Route sign across the street from Shep Roger's Liquor Store on S. Seton Ave. . . . They've erected the thing almost in the middle of the sidewalk and believe me, there'll be more than one person who'll get the wind knocked out of them when they unexpectedly walk into that affair. Sure, I know you're supposed to look where you're going, but with the poor system of street lighting we have here, your eyesight has to be pretty darned good to see that thin rod jutting up into the heavens. And another thing, a couple of people who are engrossed in conversation with each other won't find it very difficult to unwittingly bump into the sign and get a beautiful knot on their heads. It seems to me that the Commission used very poor judgment this time.

Have you heard Hugo Winterhalter's latest hit? It's none other than "My Foolish Heart," which is fast heading for the top of the hit parade. Hugo, I told you recently, is an alumnus of Mt. St. Mary's College and so I am very interested and very avidly following his career. . . . Hugo features a mixed choir that really does justice to his fine musical arrangements.

MOUNTAINEERS ON TV

Mt. St. Mary's College Glee Club will be presented on television March 26, over WMAR-TV. Catholic hymns will be featured by the group on the "Church Visible" program. Prior to the television performance, first for the Mt. St. Mary's campus organization which is only a year old, the glee club will give a one-hour program for the inmates of the prison at Baltimore.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gerkin of E. Main St., announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose Nancy, to George Danner, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Danner of Thurmont. No date has been set for the wedding.

PEN-MAR BALL SCHEDULE NOW OFFICIAL

Twenty-One
Games Carded;
Opener April 23

Ready and waiting was the word coming from the eight clubs of the Pen-Mar Baseball League as they gathered in Littlestown, Pa., Tuesday night. Dr. D. L. Beegle, Emmitsburg, president, announced the 1950 schedule as ready for publication and all the circuit's by-laws were rounded out and completed at the meeting.

The members were addressed by Francis Keffer, president of the Adams County Umpires' Assn., and the organization agreed to hire that outfit men for the coming season.

The newly-formed circuit, born out of the dissolution that hit the old Penn-Maryland League, announced the curtain-raiser for the 1950 campaign would be staged on Sunday, April 23. For the interest of local fans, Littlestown will appear here for the opener. Twenty-one games appear on the schedule. All contests will be staged on Sundays with the exception of Memorial Day and the Fourth of July. The final game will be played on Aug. 27, with the Shaughnessy playoffs scheduled to begin the following Sunday.

Officials of the league and club members were invited by the Adams County Umpires' Assn. to attend a meeting to be held in the VFW Home in Gettysburg on Sunday, March 26, at which time Jim Boyer, American League umpire, will address the gathering.

The membership instructed the home club managers to phone in results of all games played and ordered published the weekly standing of the league in at least three district newspapers.

An innovation of having a board of arbitration to rule on all disputes has been inaugurated by the association this year. The board consists of Guy McGlaughlin, Emmitsburg; Rev. Francis Reynolds, Littlestown, Pa., and Captain Grenier, Hanover, Pa. They will handle all disputes and claims of the clubs that arise and are not covered by the by-laws.

The Pen-Mar circuit comprises Emmitsburg, Thurmont, Blue Ridge Summit, Taneytown, Westminster, Hanover, Littlestown and McSherrystown. Officials of the league are Dr. D. L. Beegle, Emmitsburg, president; Bernard Waver, Littlestown, vice president; and C. A. Elder, Emmitsburg, secretary-treasurer.

Three File Claims Against Local Estate

Three claims for services rendered persons now deceased were filed Wednesday in the office of Register of Wills Harry D. Radcliff and suit has been filed in Circuit Court to collect another such claim previously filed in the Register of Wills office.

Marion S. Eyler Sr., claims $600 from the estate of the late Annie Virginia Stonesifer for preparing meals, cleaning the house, laundry service and other work from Feb. 17, 1949 through Jan. 6, 1950, a total of 60 days at $10 a day.

D. Reno Eyler, acting as father and next friend of Delores M. Eyler, a minor, claims $222 from the same estate for similar services from Oct. 23, 1949 through Dec. 11, 1949, a total of 36 days at $6 a day.

Claims Against Schaffer Estate
William R. Zentz entered a claim for room and board furnished the late James Arthur Schaffer, St. Anthony's in the amount of $114. Three other claims for services entered against the Schaffer estate total $13,009. M. Bernadette Kaas and Martin J. Kaas, Mt. Airy, ask $5,000 each for services, and Edith G. Kelly seeks $3,009 for services.

Admitted as patients Thursday in the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., were Mrs. Herbert Neighbours and Mrs. Robert Stonesifer, both of Emmitsburg.

ORGANIZATIONS HELPING RESTORE CHURCH

Many Individuals
Contributing To Building Fund

Many civic organizations, aroused by the disaster which saw the Reformed Church on W. Main St. leveled by fire, are taking measures to ease the hardship of that congregation in its efforts at rebuilding the edifice.

Two service clubs, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, Emmitsburg, have each announced their intention of donating the church a thousand dollars as a nucleus for a building fund. Several other churches have extended a helping hand in the affair.

Presbyterians Give

At a meeting of the Presbyterian congregation of Emmitsburg last Sunday night after the evening service, a vote was passed by unanimous action to make a contribution toward the rebuilding of the Evangelical Reformed Church.

The week before, on the Sunday the church burned, the Presbyterian Session attempted to come to the rescue of our distressed brethren by the instrument of sympathy and the offer of hospitality. Now a further helping hand has been extended. By vote of the congregation, each member will be given the opportunity of making a special contribution to a fund which will then be sent to the stricken church to help restore what has been lost. Mrs. J. L. Nester, church treasurer, has been designated to receive these contributions.

Also at the meeting it was voted to have the wiring of the church inspected and to increase the insurance from $30,000 to $60,000.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian Session in Taneytown last Sunday, a motion was passed to take up an offering to help the Emmitsburg church to restore what has been lost. Similar action was taken also by the Trinity Lutheran Church of Taneytown. It is anticipated that the other churches of the community will do likewise.

Lutherans To Aid

The Emmitsburg Evangelical Lutheran Church bulletin contained an article last Sunday in which congratulations were extended to the pastor and people of the Evangelical Reformed Church on their decision to rebuild. The bulletin also gave the assurance that the congregation of Elias Church will financially help their neighbors in carrying out their commendable decision to rebuild.

According to a statement by Rev. Philip Bower, pastor, the matter of financial assistance to the Reformed congregation will be presented to the Lutheran congregation in the near future.

Commissioner Suspends Beer License

County License Commissioner G. Cleveland Trout Wednesday ordered that the on-sale beer license of Elmer Glass, tavern proprietor at Sixth and Bentz Sts., Frederick, be suspended for 30 days, starting yesterday.

The commissioner, in an opinion and order, held that evidence presented at a hearing in the Court House Feb. 15, was, in his opinion, sufficient to suspend the license for sales to minors and to intoxicated persons.

It had been alleged at the hearing that sales of beer were made at the Glass establishment to two Frederick youths shortly before they were arrested for causing a disturbance in downtown Frederick, when police said they were intoxicated. A number of witnesses for Glass claimed the youths were not furnished with intoxicants while in the tavern.

Glass was ordered to surrender the license for the 30-day suspension period before noon yesterday at the office of the commissioner.

Mrs. Flora Bolt of Abbeville, S. C., is spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kraemer.

Interesting Travelogue Describes Picturesque Junaluska

By REV. CHARLES S. OWEN

It has already been pointed out that the Southern Appalachian area, is potentially a land of fabulous riches. Much of this is yet unexploited by the ingenuity of man. Here is a greater variety of trees than anywhere else in the world. Here are 75,000,000 acres of hardwood forests, half of America's supply at the present time. Here is one-sixth of America's potential water power, and one-fourth of our bituminous coal supply. According to the National Geographic Survey, there is enough coal in the Appalachian area to supply the country for 2,360 years.

Here also is an area endowed with riches of scenic grandeur unsurpassed by the Alps, according to tourists who have traveled in the Old World. Here is the home of the rhododendron, the azalea and mountain laurel. In the spring millions of gorgeous blossoms cover the face of the earth with blankets of white, lavender, pink and flame. People have been known to weep with joy as they, from some elevated position, have looked down on such a panorama of beauty.

The area is also endowed with spiritual riches. The last three episodes have attempted to describe how many national religious bodies maintain their summer capitols in The Land of the Sky, such as the Southern Baptists at Ridgecrest, the Southern Presbyterians at Montreat, and the Southern YMCA at Blue Ridge. Today's story is about another religious capitol. That is the Southern Methodist Church. This capitol is located at Lake Junaluska.

Of course the Southern Methodist Church, as a separate body, is no more. A few years ago it was merged into the union of Methodist bodies. By this union Lake Junaluska Assembly now remains as the religious capitol of the Southeastern Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, the largest religious body in America.

The Lake Junaluska Assembly is located in the midst of a paradise of rare beauty and grandeur. It is situated 28 miles west of Asheville, near the entrance of the Great Smoky Mountain Park, which is said to be visited by more people than any other park in the States. The Assembly grounds comprise 2,500 acres, adorned with a beautiful lake in the center. This lake covers 250 acres of mountain sparkling water which offers every kind of aquatic sports. This is by far the largest and most magnificent lake that adorns any of the many summer religious capitols found in that area.

LEGEND OF JUNALUSKA

This choice place takes its name from a former chief of the Cherokee Indians whose reservation is nearby. From pre-historic times the Cherokees inhabited this southern mountain area. They were a lordly people, the largest and most cultured tribe of all the American Indians, and the inventors of the Indian alphabet.

Junaluska was one of the most famous chiefs of this tribe. He and his braves rendered distinguished service to the American cause against England in the War of 1812. They fought on the side of Andrew Jackson. They saved Jackson's life in the Battle of Horseshoe Bend. But when Jackson became President of the U. S. A., he remembered not what the Cherokees had done for him. On the contrary, he ordered them to be transported West to a new reservation in the Indian Territory. That was in 1838. They were rounded up like cattle and driven westward. On the road 4,000 of them died. A few escaped and hid in the mountains. Chief Junaluska, then an old man, was one of the exiles. His soul longed for the mountains of his fathers. Later the refugees who had remained hiding in their native haunts, secured amnesty. Junaluska was permitted to return to them.

Then the State of N. C. tried to undo the wrongs committed against the great chief. By an act of the State Legislature, he was highly honored, and made an American citizen, given a large sum of money and a big tract of land. When he died he was buried at Junaluska, named after him. A big stone was placed at his grave as a shrine, and an iron fence around it, and a bronze slab upon it, with the following inscription:

"Here lies the body of the Cherokee Chief, Junaluska, and his wife, Nicie. Together with his warriors, he saved the life of General Jackson at the Battle of Horseshoe Bend. And for his bravery and faithfulness, North Carolina made him a citizen and gave him land in Graham County. He died November 20, 1858, aged more than 100 years. This monument was erected to his memory by General Joseph Winston Chapter, DAR, 1910."

This Methodist religious capitol was established in 1908, the gift of laymen of that church. They patterned it after Northfield, Mass., so well known around the world. After surveying many possible sites the committee gave this reason for choosing Junaluska: This spot "has in it the rarest combination of beauties and conveniences to be found in a similar compass anywhere. The mountains which surround it are rich in that beauty which so gracefully glides into the sublime as to rejoice the timid child and inspire the strongest man. It is the most wholesome climate in the world, and above the mosquito line."

Junaluska is a very accessible place. The main highway runs by the gate. Thirty buses pass by the place each day. Also it is on the Southern Railway. As you approach the entrance you see a huge, white-domed building with long galleries and large colonial pillars, standing on a pinnacle above the lake. This palatial structure, the center of activity, is a combined hotel and educational center. Here the Southeastern Jurisdictional Council, the District Superintendent's Conference, the Methodist School of Missions and the Salvation Army officials of the South, hold their summer conferences. In front of this central building stands a huge lighted cross, above the lake, that can be seen for miles at night.

This, of course, is only one among hundreds of palatial structures that adorn the grounds and serve as headquarters for various activities of the church. In fact Junaluska is a little city within itself. Hundreds of Methodist families own their homes. And they are magnificent homes. These include many outstanding leaders and statesmen of the church, such as bishops, editors, secretaries, college and university presidents and professors, and distinguished laymen. It is becoming a real paradise for retired Methodist ministers.

In the nearby coves and mountain recesses, lives the native mountaineer in his primitive cabins, with his looms, rifles, ancient water mills grinding grain, the champion square dancers of America, whom President Roosevelt, a few years ago, invited to dance before his distinguished guests, the King and Queen of England.

To Lake Junaluska is brought the most distinguished statesmen of the church, to lead conference, during June, July and August. They cover every phase of the church world. These leaders are chosen from the best in all denominations. You don't have to be a Methodist to go there. The invitation is open to all, and expressed in these words:

"Come ye, and let us go up into the mountain of the Lord."

It is claimed that for natural beauty of mountains and lake, varied recreation, relaxation, exercise, uplifting fellowship, training in service, spiritual enrichment, acquaintance with Methodist leaders, and for a closer talk with God, Junaluska is unexcelled and one of the glories of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Peters, Baltimore, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Baker and family.

AMERICAN LEGION DONATES $1,000 TO CHURCH FUND

VFW Made
Similar Contribution
Last Week

The Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, Emmitsburg, voted enthusiastically to donate $1,000 to the Reformed Church which was razed by fire March 5. The decision was unanimous by the Legionnaires at their regular meeting in the Post Home Tuesday evening, at which Edgar Ashbaugh, commander, presided.

Last week, it was announced by the VFW of Emmitsburg their intention of donating a similar amount, making a total of $2,000 to be given by the local service clubs.

Sponsor Baseball Team

In considering the youth of Emmitsburg, the Legion voted to back a junior American Legion baseball team this year at Tuesday's meeting. Manager Jack Rosensteel said that a wealth of young talent is available here and stated he believed the team will be fighting for first place when the league opens early this summer. Appropriations of $400 was extended to the team which will be used to buy new uniforms, bats, balls, equipment, and insurance on the players.

Last year the team was formed too late to enter league competition, but compiled quite an enviable record playing independent "ball." This year the squad will carry 16 playing members and Manager Rosensteel will be calling practice in the near future.

Hampered by the dispute as to just what is the correct building line of the American Legion Home, it was said at the meeting that a survey will be made before the renovating of the present home can be made. It was hoped that building plans would be completed in time to start work around April 1. However, if the surveyors complete their work before the next regular meeting, April 4, it was expressed that a special meeting would be called so the work would not be halted. The amount of money to be spent for the additional building totals $12,000 which is in the building fund account. Curtis Topper was named chairman of the building committee.

Community Fund Sponsors Athletic Contests

The Community Fund of Emmitsburg in the near future, will put on its first affair since its origin, to raise funds to carry on the work of the organization. Chairman Lumen F. Norris announced this week that the first venture will be in the nature of an athletic contest—basketball.

Arrangements have been made to match the fast-stepping local American Legion basketball team coached by Harold Hoke, with the Glenn L. Bream aggregation from Gettysburg, Pa. The Legionnaires have waged a very successful campaign thus far and engage a tough competitor in the Pennsylvania basketballers. The Gettysburgians have just won the championship of the Community League there and prove a worthy foe for the locals.

Rounding out the evening play will be a contest between the boys' team of St. Joseph's and Emmitsburg High School. The double-header will be staged in the gymnasium of Mt. St. Mary's College, which was generously loaned rent-free for the occasion.

The Fund Committee will meet tonight in an effort to iron out the last-minute details for the basketball presentation, which will be held on Thursday, Mar. 23, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Mae Campbell, Baltimore, was a guest over the week-end of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Deventer, New York, spent Saturday and Sunday with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Law, DePaul St. The Vandeventers are enroute to California via the South stopping in Texas to visit with their son and daughter-in-law.

DEPAUL STREET TO BE CURBED, PAVED

Officials Still
Studying Garbage
Disposal Contract

The Emmitsburg Town Council announced Monday night at its regular meeting in the Firemen's Hall, Emmitsburg, the awarding of a contract to L. R. Waesche & Son, Thurmont, for the paving of DePaul Street.

The street, now of macadam construction, will be paved from curb to curb and when finished will be one of the outstanding of the town.

Work will start on the project in the near future. The paving will start at the intersection of N. Seton Ave. and will extend clear to the corner of DePaul St. and Broad Alley.

In response to the Potomac-Edison Company's request for an established street line, State Roads Commission surveyors came to town this week and proceeded to map out a straight line for the power company to follow in the installation of the new street lighting system. Officials of the P-E stated that as soon as the line was completely established, resumption and completion of the lighting project would be done right away.

The Town Fathers are still studying the garbage collection "package" and have just about ironed out the contract requirements, which will be published for bidders in the near future. It is hoped to have the system in operation before the hot summer months come along.

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers stated that a surveyor has been contacted to study the proposed sewer installation on N. Seton Ave. He stated further that this project is a "must" on the agenda of town improvements and as soon as the surveying is completed, work will commence on the sewer line.

Chairman of the Board James T. Hays released the statement that the board agreed to accept the L. R. Waesche & Son bid for the laying and extension of the town's sewerage system from the corporation limits on S. Seton Ave. to the Emmitsburg High School. The project is being held in abeyance pending the planned erection of additional improvements to the school by the Frederick County Board of Education.

The Town Fathers let it be known that numerous complaints have been voiced from the citizenry concerning parking in the alley adjacent Troxell's Warehouse and the Emmitsburg Recreation Center and from there, eastward to the American Legion Post Home on N. Seton Ave. Many times the alleys are made impassable by parked cars and creates a menace to property holders in case of fire. Garage owners and renters have complained from time to time about being blocked in all night on account of parked cars. Allowing parking on one side of these narrow streets is being seriously considered by the solons.

A 15-foot section of drain pipe was installed at the rear of Sperry's Garage used car lot on S. Seton Ave. The open drain at that spot has been giving considerable trouble and causing damage to Wagaman's Restaurant.

Sportsmen Hold Shooting Match

Get out your "long toms," sportsmen. The Indian Lookout Conservation Club of Emmitsburg will hold a shooting match Saturday, March 11, at 1 o'clock on the Firemen's Field for the benefit of the building fund.

Shells will be furnished free and to the winners will go many valuable prizes. 12-gauge shotguns will be used.

Miss Naomi Harbaugh, Baltimore, visited over the week-end with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Troxell.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Humerick and family, and Mrs. Jackson Humerick visited Sunday with friends at Chambersburg, Pa.

Mrs. Edward Myers held a garden service supper at her home on Tuesday evening.

St. Joe's Meets
Frederick Tonight

The basketball season will reach its climax at St. Joseph's High School next week, when tournaments will be held in this sport for both the girls' and boys' teams. The boys' tournament will be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights, with St. John's, Frederick; St. John's, Westminster, and St. Mary's, Hagerstown, competing for trophies. Four Catholic girls' high school teams are entered in the scheduled contest for March 17 and Sunday afternoon, March 19. These teams are from St. Mary's, Hagerstown; St. John's, Westminster and St. John's, Frederick. The winners will be awarded an engraved loving cup.

The game against Emmitsburg High, which was to have been played last Friday, was canceled, due to the fuel shortage.

Return games with Thurmont, which were played Tuesday, were thrillers. In the Jayvee contest, the final whistle blew simultaneously with that of the referee calling a foul against Thurmont, and the score in favor of the visitors. Allen Stoner dropped the ball through the cords to tie up the game, necessitating an overtime period. Thurmont managed to surge ahead in the overtime and won 33-38. The varsity team turned the tables on the Thurmont quintet, which had beaten them decisively in a recent game. The locals won 37-36.

St. John's, Frederick, will be here Friday night for a contest.

Mrs. Critt Jones and daughter, Bonnie, returned to their home in Indiana after spending five weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker.

Local Red Cross
Drive Begun

The 1950 American Red Cross Fund Campaign opened by President Truman in a nation-wide broadcast on Mar. 1 was started in Emmitsburg at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey, chairman and co-chairman on Monday evening. A group of workers attended the meeting and the project of soliciting the entire town and vicinity commenced on Tuesday.

Inasmuch as the public is well informed of the work of the American Red Cross, notably in disaster relief, veterans, safety, and nursing services, in addition to the national blood program, it is felt that when the solicitors call, Emmitsburgians will generously respond to appeal for funds.

Solicitors now engaged in the work of the campaign locally are Miss Ann Codori, Miss Betty Ann Hollinger, Miss Mary Louise Hardman, Mrs. Leonard Sanders, Guy Baker Jr., Mrs. Robert Daugherty, Mrs. Robert Fite, Mrs. Roy Sanders, Miss Betty Ann Hardman, Mr. George Greco, Mrs. Harry T. McNair, Mrs. William A. Frailey, and Mrs. Mary Sherwin. The names of additional campaign workers will be announced as the drive continues.

ATTEND MEETING

Those from Emmitsburg who attended the board meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., last week were Mrs. Morris Zentz, Miss Grace Rowe, Mrs. E. R. Shriver, Mrs. Andrew Keilholtz, and Mrs. Harry Boyle.

ROCKY RIDGE NEWS

By MRS. JOHN KAAS
(Rocky Ridge Correspondent)

Mr. Charles Mumma recently attended an executive meeting of the Lutheran Sunday School Association of the Western Conference, held in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Hagerstown.

Services will be held each Friday night during Lent at 7:30 p. m., in the Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church, by Rev. R. S. Poffenberger. A motion picture entitled, "The Difference," was shown last Friday night.

The monthly meeting of the Willing Workers Society of Mt. Tabor Lutheran Church was held Tuesday night in the church.

A program of sacred music was presented on Sunday at the Church of the Brethren by the "Clericus Chorus" of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va. A large number of people attended. Emmert Rice and William Riffle of Thurmont are members of this chorus.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Nusbaum and grandson, of Union Bridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wantz and family, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wantz on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Troxell and son, Melvin, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stone-sifer, Four Points.

Renovation of Pastureland Should Be Done This Month

Spring renovation of pastures is usually most successful if it is done during March, according to the agronomy department of the University of Maryland. The need for increasing both the quantity and quality of pasture production, these specialists say, is emphasized by the fact that Maryland farmers are raising more livestock than they did before the war.

The term "pasture renovation" usually includes three steps: (1) breaking-up the old sod, (2) applying recommended amounts of lime and fertilizer, and (3) seeding a productive tall-growing grass and legume mixture.

The purpose of breaking-up the existing sod is to kill or weaken the old plants and prevent them from choking-out the young seedlings, as well as to provide a good seed bed for the new plants. Shallow plowing is recommended for breaking up the sod at this time of year. If pasture renovation is undertaken in the fall (late August to early September), disking is satisfactory.

The most popular mixture for pastures is ladino clover and orchard grass because the early-season growth may be used for hay or silage and the pasture will continue producing during the hot dry months when bluegrass is brown and unpalatable. Because of the small size of seeds and seedlings, the fields should either be culptacked before and after seeding or should be sown by a culptacker having a seeding attachment.

Pasture renovation is not the entire basis of a pasture improvement program, say the university specialists. It is simply another method of increasing forage production on low-producing land. All pastures do not have to be renovated. For example, a good bluegrass pasture may be maintained at a high level of production by periodic liming and fertilizing.

Birds killed by fowl cholera should be burned or buried so rats or other animals will not spread the disease organisms.

Feted on Birthday

A dinner was given on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boone, in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Carroll Shorb, Thurmont. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Shorb, Betty McGraw, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boone, Mrs. Charles Massmore of Leesburg, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Troxell, Pauline and Richard Troxell. Mrs. Shorb was the recipient of many useful gifts.

Farm Real Estate Values Fall

The first significant drop in farm real estate values since 1932-33 has just been recorded. From Nov. 1948, to 1949, U. S. farm real estate values fell six per cent, according to reports of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

"Jury" Guest Has Historic Origin

Charlie Hankinson, Dickie Orlan & Guest

The calm canine, posing with MBS "Juvenile Jury" members Charlie Hankinson and Dickie Orlan, seems completely unimpressed by his own dramatic ancestry. A "keeshonden," his breed is of Dutch origin and figured largely in a political upheaval in Holland during the latter part of the Eighteenth Century.

As the keeshonden is a medium-sized, very domestic animal, it was just right to ride the small barges which used to ply Dutch waters — and thus became known as a dog of the people. Towards the end of the 1700's, a civil conflict arose between a party called the "Patriots," and the followers of the Prince of Orange — the keeshonden was the symbol of the patriots and its likeness drawn on all the political literature of that faction. When the conflict was settled in favor of William, Prince of Orange, the furry little dog went into disfavor, but his breed was later revived.

Every Sunday, the "Jury" of youngsters is asked to identify a different breed of dog — and usually learns a slice of history. "Only thing wrong," Dickie declares, "is that knowing about so many dogs, a fellow can't decide which kind he'd like for his own self."

Gordon MacRae, recently making a personal appearance at the Strand Theatre, in New York City, has been besieged by autograph seekers every time he sets foot outside the stage door. MacRae, who is star of NBC's "Railroad Hour," is also the star of a new movie, "Backfire," playing at the Globe, another New York theatre. His most enthusiastic fan was the youngster who asked him — at the Strand stage door — to hurry up and sign her autograph book, so she could get over to the Globe in time to catch the next performance of his picture!

Robin Morgan, who plays Dagmar in the CBS-TV period comedy-drama, "Mama," has just been catapulted into a hobby she claims she'll never give up. Four weeks ago, a scene in "Mama" necessitated a stamp album and stamps as a part of the props. After the program was over, eight-year-old Robin was given the props and by now is a confirmed philatelist, writing all her friends all over the world for additions to her ready-made collection.

Public School Improvements Appear Certain

One of the aims of the Emmitsburg Public School P-T-A was accomplished recently by a decision of the county school board. At the regular meeting of the organization last Thursday night in the local high school, it was pointed out that the school board plans to build a cafeteria, home economics room, a library and two locker rooms, and a gymnasium-auditorium. No date for the start of the work has been set.

The P-T-A extended its many thanks to George Martin, a member of the board, and Samuel Hays in completing this project.

It was announced by the association that a movie projector would be purchased in the near future for the school.

A report on the food sale was given, showing that $137 was cleared on the sale.

A feature of the meeting was an interesting talk, given by Col. Thomas Frailey, who spoke on "Character."

In the absence of President Andrew Eyster, Vice President George L. Wilhide presided at the meeting.

MRS. GEORGE R. BOWSER

Mrs. Addie Madaline Wise Bowser, wife of George R. Bowser, Fairfield, Pa., died last Saturday night, about 9:15 o'clock, at home following an illness of 12 hours of a heart ailment. She was 45 years of age, a member of the Marsh Creek Church of the Brethren, a daughter of Mrs. Blanche Wise, Sabillasville and the late Frank Wise.

Surviving besides her husband and mother, are these children: Mrs. Dale Weikert, Arendtsville, Pa.; Mrs. Donald Strine, Fairfield, Pa.; Russell and Richard Bowser, at home; sisters, Mrs. Walter Harbaugh, Rouzerville, Pa.; Mrs. Raymond McClain, Cascade; Mrs. Simon Stavis, Sabillasville, and one brother, Paul Wise, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. M. C. Valentine, assisted by Rev. Robert Knechel, officiating. Interment in Fairfield Union Cemetery. S. L. Allison, funeral director.

March 10, 1950

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Potatoes for livestock feed are no longer available in Pennsylvania, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee. He says that the only potatoes now available are in up-state New York. However, the freight rate which farmers must pay, is so high that the potatoes would cost more than their feeding value.

Support Prices

Latest indications, according to Mr. Blandford, are that Western Shore growers in Maryland will have their potato prices supported at $1.55 per cwt. This figure will apply to those growers who plant within their acreage allotments.

Eastern Shore growers can expect a support program at approximately the same figure if they plant within their allotted acreages and approve the proposed Maryland-Delaware Marketing Agreement. A favorable vote of two-thirds of the growers in the whole area will be necessary to approve the agreement. Present plans do not call for the marketing quotas to apply to the 1950 crop. However, it is expected that Congress will authorize them for the 1951 crop.

New Policy Reduces Loans
A new policy approved by the Commodity Credit Corp. Board of Directors has the effect of reducing the loan rate on the 1950 Maryland wheat crop by about 22 cents per bushel. This was announced this week by Mr. Blandford.

He explains that the practice has been for the government to pay all accrued charges against terminal stored wheat except the loading charges. This is true if the government takes over the wheat.

Under the new policy farmers will be required to present storage receipts paid up to the loan call date of April 30 at the time the loan is approved. If this is not done, the charges will be deducted from proceeds of the loan.

Storage and other charges in Baltimore and Philadelphia amount to about 22 cents per bushel. Thus returns to the farmer under the loan program will be reduced by about that much.

Corn Sale Prices Discussed
Farmers who have corn under loan should keep a careful check on prices paid by local dealers. Indications now point to a more profitable sale if the loan is paid off and the corn sold locally, according to Mr. Blandford.

The state chairman explains that commercial price must be about $1.36 if it is to equal the loan figure. This figure is arrived at by adding together these costs: 2.3 cents for penalty for early moving, 5 cents for cost of shelling, and 15.7 cents estimated shrinkage loss. This total is subtracted from the loan rate of $1.57. About two cents may be added to the price because of the three per cent interest paid to the farmer if the corn is sold locally.

Above shrinkage and interest are figured on corn going under loan in early November and going to commercial sale in last of March before shrinkage becomes serious. Many dealers figure shrinkage at more than 10% from March 31 to June 15 when delivery must be completed. At any rate—watch the market and figure carefully. Dispose of your corn in the way that profits you most. Range of prices reported for Feb. 24 was $1.25 to $1.42 for corn on the cob.

Wheat

Wheat prices must advance materially to bring loan wheat out of terminal storage and into commercial trade. Top quotation in Baltimore on Feb. 24 was $2.16 on No. 2 red winter garlicky. Wheat of this grade went under loan in Baltimore at $2.30. To put this into commercial sale the farmer must pay storage and other charges against the grain. These amount to about 22 cents. It will, therefore, take about $2.52 per bushel to bring this grade of wheat into commercial channels.

Barley

Farmers who have garlicky barley under loan can now pay off the loan and sell to commercial trade outlets in many areas at above the $1 loan rate on barley of this grade.

Newfoundland became a part of the Dominion of Canada on March 31, 1949.

Tall Tale No. 6

Having tried vainly for years to organize a party to explore the wilds of Jack's Mountain, I finally resigned myself to the fact that this was impossible and, in desperation, I decided to undertake the exploration of this virgin forest and mountain by myself. After a week of intensive preparation, I was finally ready to depart and loading my equipment into my car I drove to the foot of this unconquered king of mountains. I stood and gazed over the foothills of the mountain and my eyes, following over the hills, wandered up the side of the mountain and to the peak. The undisturbed majesty of this masterpiece of nature well nigh served to discourage me from my adventure for, I have heard, when man treads too far into God's territory, strange things sometimes happen. And they did.

Having laboriously plied my way up the mountain's side for three days, I finally reached an altitude so high that breathing becomes a somewhat difficult task, and the air got so cold that the leather in my boots not only would no longer bend but became so brittle that the slightest impact would cause it to chip and crack. The cold was so intense that my food supplies froze solid and were no longer of any use. So, in order to facilitate movement along my course, I discarded all my food and carefully marked the spot in case I might want to retrieve it on my way down. My only remaining source of nourishment was a pack of Sen-Sen left over from a date I had on a previous week-end.

I worked my way upward another day and then I was finally forced to stop because my boots had all chipped away. I had become greatly weakened from lack of food, and it had gotten so much colder that I was now only semi-conscious, having only a great desire to lie down and sleep awhile. I knew that if I lay down I would freeze to death and that my only hope of survival was to keep moving. I had become very tired and decided to compromise with myself by sitting down and resting for awhile. I don't know how long I had been sitting there, but my head had sunk down on my arms and I must have fallen asleep for there is a long period of time which I have no recollection. Then, at first faintly, and then more loudly and clearly came the sweet, flute-like tones of some musical instrument cutting through to my conscious mind and causing me to wake from my sleep. I rose to my feet and sought the origin of this music. I noticed a movement through the trees and careful scrutiny revealed it to be a little old man, bent, with a massive growth of white hair upon his head and face. He carried a long silver instrument which, when raised to his lips, gave vent to the most beautiful sounds I have ever heard. As I further observed his playing, I was amazed at the method he used, for, although the instrument was about 11 feet long and one-half inch wide he played it by blowing into both ends at the same time. I stood unobserved and listened to the beautiful music. I don't know what possessed me at the time, but I turned quickly and stumbled down the side of the mountain, heading home. I reached the outskirts of town three days later, very weak and in a semi-conscious condition. I was confined to my bed for a week.

When I was finally able to get up again, I went immediately to the library and sought out every book containing information on rare musical instruments. I must have read through above five of them when I made a discovery which left me speechless. This is what I found.

FUTSIPHONE. A very rare musical instrument being 11 feet long, one-half inch wide, played by blowing into both ends at the same time. This instrument has a very interesting history. Only three of them have ever been known to have been made and these were made for use in the private orchestra of the Grand Llama of Tibet. All three of them are thought to be in existence, yet although the exact locations of only two of them are known. Shortly after the Grand Llama received them, they were all stolen. After many years of tireless search, only one of them was found and returned to the monastery. A few years ago, the other one was discovered in the Siberian Museum of Musical Science, where it is kept closely guarded. The whereabouts of the third instrument is still unknown although it was last reported to have been seen in the United States. The value of each of these instruments is astronomical since there were only three of them made. They are unequalled in magnificence of tone, and because of the value of the precious metals and stones of which they are constructed.

The contest is open to all Frederick County schools and the judging and selection of winners will be held Thursday, March 16. Prizes include $15 for first; $10 for second and $5 for third prize.

The St. Euphemia group comprises members of the fifth and sixth grades and include Alice Scott, Francis Topper, Agnes Scott, Bonnie Topper, David Warthen, Virginia Wormley, Gerald Miller, Richard Chrismer, James Sanders, Kenneth Shoemaker, Bernard Walter, Arlene Ling, Michael Joy, Shirley Topper, Barbara Tegeler and Virginia Topper.

Seventh and eighth grades entered are Donald Shriner, Margaret Walter and Geraldine White.

MANURE RECOMMENDED

Home vegetable gardeners and commercial growers should be planning to apply manure before the garden is plowed. Edward K. Bender, vegetable specialist at the University of Maryland, recommends 15-20 tons of manure per acre. This amounts to about a two-ton load of manure for a small garden measuring 50x100 feet.

Manure containing an excessive amount of straw should not be applied at this time of year. Either stable or poultry manure will improve the garden and vegetable crop and is best when it is partly decomposed. Superphosphate at the rate of a 100-pound sack for each ton of manure will produce a well-balanced fertilizer. Additional fertilizer will be needed to grow a good vegetable crop.

The three principal language areas of Asia are China, India and the Perso-Arabic nations.

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

To give your house a spring-like look while winter is still in session, cut a few branches from flowering shrubs or fruit trees and coax them to bloom.

Choose branches that have large flower buds. Of course it's a good idea to cut them from a tree that needs pruning. Forsythia and pussy willows are good choices because you can get them to bloom quite easily in about 10 days to two weeks. Apple, crabapple, pear, peach, magnolia and Japanese quince blossoms will take longer.

FOR EXTRA-GOOD APPLES

Why say "Just baked apples for dessert" when you can make them really special by using some of these variations suggested by home economists of the University of Maryland Extension Service?

Try filling centers with brown sugar and raisins; sections of banana; red cinnamon candies; marshmallow, marmalade or jelly; honey or corn syrup and lemon juice; nuts; candied orange peel; preserved ginger; canned or fresh berries, peaches and other fruit, or left-over meat juice. Merquies, custard sauce, whipped cream or melted marshmallows

CALLING ALL CARROTS

Carrots rate a prominent place in your winter meal planning. This crisp, delicious root vegetable so rich in vitamin A, is important for growth and for healthy teeth, bones, nerves, and skin.

To take advantage of the plentiful winter crop of carrots, start down the list of carrot cookery. There's carrots for the relish dish, and plain cooked carrots alone or with peas in the vegetable dish. You may fry, glaze, bake, cream, or pan—with apples or onions, for instance—carrots. And you will find them called for in recipes for salads, sandwich fillings, pickling and marmalade, and for such special treats as carrot cuffs, soufflé, custard or pudding.

Hot muffins for breakfast need never be a problem. Just mix and sift the dry ingredients, measure the fat, and grease pans the night before, and your muffins will be in the oven in no time.

EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE

EMMITSBURG,

SHORT STORY

Enterprise Pays

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

PAUL SPARROW'S vaudeville act wasn't especially good, nor was it especially poor. He did a couple of trick dance steps, told some fairly funny stories and sang a couple of songs. There were dozens better than he. Yet Paul always played the big time, always got the best money. We who were in show business at the time, wondered.

The answer was simple when you stopped to think about it. Paul was enterprising. He gave himself a build up. For one thing he selected his music with care. He instructed the orchestra what to play and how to play it before he came on. He made a stogie of the drummer. He sold the idea, generally, that he was terrific.

We all expected that Paul would be among the first to go. But he wasn't. I didn't see him for almost a year, then one fall up in San Francisco, I ran across him again. It was rather a unique experience, because the gag he pulled that night was epic.

It seems that, despite his enterprising faculties, Paul was due to get the air. He had exhausted his bag of tricks. Managers were getting wise to him. On this night he was trying out at the Olympia Theater. Most of us thought it would be his swan song. On the other hand, if he went over big with his audience it would mean a 40-week contract. There wasn't a chance.

We watched him come out from the opposite side of the wings. He was doing a quick little dance step. There was a smattering of applause that almost instantly died away. Paul hesitated, then went into a routine. It was pitiful, because the step was rotten and he had apparently lost his self-confidence to boot.

I was standing so I could see Paul's face. For the first time since I'd known him I saw anger in his eyes, a red flush in his cheeks. He stopped dancing.

"All right," he said. "All right guys, I'll show you."

The hecklers booed at him shouted catcalls. Paul's face went livid. He suddenly galvanized into action.

I HAVE SEEN some good trick dancers in my day, but I've never seen anything to equal the antics of Paul Sparrow that night. Thoroughly aroused, he became a contortionist. He performed feats that were unheard of in the art of dancing. He threw himself around that stage like a madman. It was marvelous to watch. Superb!

Paul came out for three encores. He was a man inspired each time, and each time the audience gave him an ovation. They clapped for five full minutes after his last appearance.

After a while I strolled back to Paul's dressing room. The manager was just leaving. Inside, Paul was

"Well," grinned Paul, "If you're serious, that's fine . . . if my gag took in an old trouper like you, it worked better than I thought it would."

happily folding up a sheet of paper. I could tell by the expression on his face that it was the contract.

"Hello, feller," I grinned. "You killed 'em. I guess the thing to do if you want to stay in vaudeville these days is get mad."

"Why," he said, surprised. "Did you think I was mad? I wasn't."

"Don't kid me. Those hecklers had you down for the count."

"Well," grinned Paul, "If you're serious that's fine. I mean, if my little gag took in an old trouper like yourself, it even worked better than I thought it would."

"Wait a minute," I said, beginning to feel funny. "What are you getting at?"

"It was a gag, old horse. I hired three hecklers to do the job—you know, make the audience feel sympathetic toward me by having scathing remarks hurled at me. Then I pulled my trick. My new step. It really wasn't much of a step, you know. It only seemed that way. The audience was sympathetic. They would have liked anything I did." He grinned broadly. "You see, I was on the skids. I had to think of something. I tell you, friend, if you want to stay in vaudeville these days, you've got to be enterprising."

HEALTH COLUMN

WHOOPIING COUGH

At one time, many parents felt that certain diseases common to children were inevitable, faced them resignedly, and felt anxious to "get them over with" as far as their children were concerned.

But the development and use of vaccines for immunization have now made some of these illnesses unnecessary. Moreover, most people realize today that exposing very young children to these diseases may "help get them over with," but may also endanger the health and life of the child. Doctors feel that the longer in a child's life these diseases can be postponed, the better chance he has to ward off their harmful after-effects.

Whooping cough is a "common childhood disease" which is a special threat to very young children. It is estimated that one out of 10 babies under one year of age who develop whooping cough dies. During the second year, one out of 20 whooping cough victim dies. As the child grows older, the chances of his dying from whooping cough grow less and less.

A disease easily spread from person to person, whooping cough is caused by a germ which lodges in the nose or throat and sets up infection. Its victim suffers fever, running nose, and his coughing is accompanied by the characteristic "whoops" which make his breathing difficult and which give the disease its name. Dangerous in itself, whooping cough also can leave a child vulnerable to pneumonia, pleurisy, influenza, and even pulmonary tuberculosis.

The best way to avoid whooping cough is to avoid contact with those who have it. The danger of exposing infants and small children to the disease cannot be over-emphasized.

But it is not always possible to know when someone has whooping cough, since the disease can be transmitted even before its characteristic symptoms appear. To safeguard the infant, as far as possible, from whooping cough, doctors advise that a child be vaccinated against the disease between the third and ninth month of his life. If given at least three months before exposure, the vaccine for whooping cough prevents the disease in the great majority of children vaccinated. The remainder, if they do get whooping cough, get it in a much milder form than they would if they had not been vaccinated.

The early symptoms of whooping cough are often ignored or neglected since they are similar to those of a common cold. These first signs include a running nose, reddening eyes, dry cough, and a slight fever. The child who shows the slightest symptoms of whooping cough should be sent to bed without delay and the doctor called immediately. Prompt medical care will give the child his best chance of avoiding serious complications.

Recipe for Relaxation

Jack Berch, ebullient singing star of NBC's weekday "Jack Berch Show," thinks one of the most satisfactory ways to relax is to "do it yourself." Deciding to make a den out of a summer kitchen on the grounds of his home in upstate New York, Jack has turned carpenter—and finds it a welcome rest from the tensions of a busy radio schedule. Section above fireplace will hold part of Jack's extensive gun collection, and he is currently working on built-in niches for the walls, one of which will house a television set, another bookshelves. "Then," says Jack, "my recipe for relaxation will be to just sit!"

SOCIETY MEETS

"Japan Faces a New Day," was the topic of the Women's Missionary Society meeting which was held recently at the home of Miss Grace Rowe of W. Main St.

After the devotions, a program was given informing the members of the status of the Japan Lutheran Church and how it supplemented this year's interdenominational mission study class on Japan.

"A Recording From Japan" gave a picture of the work there. The recordings were given by Mrs. Charles Linn, Mrs. Morris Zentz, Mrs. Charles Bushman, Mrs. Irvin Brown, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Robert Gilman, and Mrs. Charles Harner. A social hour followed with the serving of light refreshments. In keeping with the program theme, Japanese dishes were used and a few Japanese articles were displayed.

Continuing on Caponettes

A good time to inject a chemical pellet into floor-raised cockerels is when they weigh about 4 lbs., which under good feeding management should not take longer than 12 weeks. The best time for caponization is during the pasture season, however many capon raisers have a good market for them all year around. It is necessary to implant a second chemical pellet three and a half weeks later, because by then the hormone will wear off, and male characteristics would develop. It seems to be quite important to keep the three and a half week schedule as closely as possible. Caponettes should be marketed at the age of 20 weeks and should weigh around 7 lbs. It is not profitable to keep them longer than 21 weeks, because they would eat more feed for each additional pound of gained weight, and you may be forced to inject a third pellet which should be avoided. Their grade of meat would be lowered. Surgical capons can be kept from 8 until 11 months of age, and they ought to be caponized at the weight between 1 and a half to two lbs.

On account of their quiet disposition, when raised in confinement, caponettes do not need any more than two and a half to three square feet of floor space until marketed. It is, however, advisable to grow a good range for them, because feed requirements can be considerably decreased, when caponettes are allowed to graze on good pasture. Grazing on weeds is not profitable. Cockerel chicks should be fed until caponization with regular broiler mash, or with the Connecticut ration up to 8 weeks and then changed to the regular broiler mash. They need growing mash after caponization with the addition of cracked corn and wheat, gradually increasing until the parts of mash and scratch grain are equal. They should be fattened two to three weeks before marketing by increasing the corn meal in their ration, either in confinement or on range. During the last two weeks many poultry men mix their mash with milk to speed up the weight increase. At this stage it will be better to keep the birds confined in order to prevent loss of weight in exercise. Caponettes, when confined, should not eat more than 32 lbs. of feed, mash and grain combined.

Lane Proclaims Wildlife Week March 20 to 25

Wildlife Restoration Week will be observed throughout Maryland, March 20 to 25, by proclamation of Gov. Lane, who has urged all Marylanders to assist in the conservation of wildlife.

The Governor's proclamation was spread upon the journal of the House of Delegates by motion of Delegate Myron L. Bloom of Washington County, head of the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee.

The Governor urged all persons interested in conserving wild birds, mammals, fish, oysters, and crabs, and the welfare and progress of the State "to properly observe this period, and educate the people in every way possible to the necessity of preserving and increasing our wildlife resources through proper land-use programs and wise conservation laws."

He also urged all to cooperate with all the State agencies charged with wildlife resource management "so that they may be preserved and wisely utilized and enjoyed by this and all future generations."

The Governor pointed out that "Maryland is one of the richest states in the nation in these resources, and much progress has been made by nature lovers, farmers, sportsmen, and all conservationists in providing a better environment for wildlife."

He termed it "proper and fitting that we pause in our daily rush and struggle for survival, and give our valuable wildlife and its perpetuation due consideration."

The observance of the week in Maryland is being spearheaded by the Dept. of Game and Inland Fish, headed by Ernest A. Vaughn. The State observance is a part of National Wildlife Week, which has been an annual affair for the past 11 years.

LOOKING AT RELIGION

Field Officer Enlightens on Drawing Social Security Benefits

The sixth in a series of 13 articles on "Our Country and Social Security" explains the protection provided for a natural child of the wage earner. Most everyone thinks of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance as a retirement plan for those who are 65 or over. Actually, the program benefits many other groups, especially children. You may be skeptical as was an employee of a small concern with whom I talked several days ago who said, "How will Social Security help my children?" I'll tell you as I told him.

That account number card you carry with you amounts to much more than just your name and a long number. It represents an insurance policy on which you make payments every time your employer hands you a pay check. And, in case of your death, regardless of your age, your minor children, if they are dependent on you, are the chief beneficiaries. The payments begin with the month of death and continue until each of your children reaches the age of 18.

You have probably asked yourself a dozen times, "If something happened to me, how would my family get along? How far could my wife stretch the monthly payment from my life insurance?" Here is an actual case where Social Security benefits are a great help to a small family. I won't use the real names.

Mrs. Stevens told me that her husband had died leaving three small children. After talking with her awhile, I realized that I had seen her husband often on trips to that section of my area. He was an attendant at a gas station where I often stopped for service and for directions to various parts of the county.

I helped Mrs. Stevens complete an application for Social Security benefits for herself and the three children. I could not tell her at the time how much she would receive but assured her that there would be monthly payments.

After securing a record of her husband's earnings from our central office in Baltimore, I wrote her that she would get $50 a month for herself and children. I later saw her. She said that when she first talked with me she had no idea how she was going to get along on the small monthly payments from the insurance policy her husband carried but with the $50 from Old-Age and Survivors Insurance she could get by if she budgeted carefully. This is only one of the many cases of this kind handled each day by Social Security offices throughout the country. Your government provides this method for wage earners to build protection for themselves and their families.

I will be in Emmitsburg again on March 27 at 11:30 a. m. at the Emmitsburg postoffice.

Concern Is Registered Over Future Warfare Methods

Grave concern for the safety of the country is expressed by Joseph W. Kerrigan, 24-year-old Emmitsburg radio expert, who is stationed in Alaska doing equipment installation work.

In letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan of E. Main St., the young man writes of the frightful possibilities of "radio-active dust clouds" as well as H-bombs as exterminating weapons.

A 1943 graduate of the Emmitsburg High School, young Kerrigan served three years with the Marine Corps and graduated from the service radar school. Later as a civilian employee of Philco Corp., he was sent to Panama and to Okinawa to install radar equipment for the Army Air Corps. Since June, 1949, he has been with Arctic Contractors, Alaska, setting up radio communications equipment.

Describing the weapons of future warfare, he writes in part: "Radioactivity is invisible and silent; you won't even know it is there until your radiation sickness has reached the point of no return. Every living thing will be covered by the radioactive cloud."

By the time the people on the West Coast begin to die, the people on the East Coast will inevitably have been poisoned beyond all hope of recovery. Now there is really no place to hide."

Vets' Key-Returning System Aids Local Woman

The Disabled American Veterans has returned a set of lost keys to Anabel E. Hartman of Emmitsburg.

Attached to the keys was a DAV Identio-Tag, miniature license tag for key rings, which is distributed to 30 million motorists each year and the replica of their state license plates enables the DAV to return 5,000 keys a month from its national headquarters in Cincinnati.

Last year the DAV obtained more than 19 million dollars in benefits for disabled veterans and their families. The organization has the largest staff of national service officers of any veterans organization.

Keys are returned to owners from all over the world. One of the most unusual key losses and returns saw a Cincinnati granary employee lose his set in a sack of oats. The keys were found when the sack was opened aboard a freighter in the English Channel enroute to Poland and they made their way back via the DAV.

Tags even brought back keys from the war zones.

The DAV Identio-Tag plant is owned and operated by the DAV in the interests of disabled veterans and employs disabled veterans in their manufacture.

REMEMBER the story of the Sirens? They sang of their beautiful, trouble-free paradise. But passing ships that ventured too near soon found themselves on the rocks.

Sirens aren't lost in legend—some are still around, still singing a beautiful song: "Unload your troubles and responsibilities on the government's shoulders. Give the government control of this industry—and that service—and your worries are over."

Your liberties are over, too, for that's how a socialistic form of government takes over a nation.

Don't think it can't happen to America. Because right here, right now, there are people who say: "Let the government control the doctors, the railroads, the newspapers, the electric light and power companies. Government control is good for the people!"

It's strange, but true, that many people who say such things—like most Americans—don't really want a socialistic government. But the effect is the same. When a government controls enough industries and services, a socialistic nation is the result whether people want it or not!

Each time government gains a new control, you lose another freedom. And Americans have more rights and freedoms to guard—or lose—than any other nation on earth. Remember that, when you hear the Siren song. Your freedom is at stake!

College Sponsors Invitation Tournament

Tuesday and Wednesday, March 11 and 15, Mount St. Mary's College will play host to a scholastic basketball tournament. Four outfits will compete, with two contests being played each night. Winners of the first night's play will meet for the tournament championship, while the losers will play a consolation game on the second evening.

Invitations have been accepted by St. John's, Frederick, Saint Mary's of Hagerstown, St. John's of Westminster, and St. Joseph's of Emmitsburg. Heavy favorite to cop the first leg on the challenge trophy will be the Frederick aggregation, which has already defeated the other contestants. St. Joseph's, however, is a "red hot dark horse," since the local cagemen own victories over the Westminster and Hagerstown outfits.

The loss of Center John Mick, suffered in the local win over Thurmont High, will hamper the local boys in their bid for the title. Regular Buzz Walters will also miss the tournament.

Tourney winner will be awarded first leg on a challenge trophy presented by Fr. John F. Cogan of Mt. St. Mary's College. To the player voted the merit will go an individual trophy, presented by Coach John McMahon of the Mount cagemen.

Pairings will be announced on Friday evening following the St. Joseph-St. John's of Frederick game in the local gym. This contest should afford spectators an opportunity of a preview of the two teams figured to raise most rumpus in the tournament. In their first meeting, Frederick won easily. However, the local cagemen seem back in stride and should give the favorites a hard game this week-end.

James J. Sanders Earns Degree In Accounting

James J. Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clarence Sanders of Emmitsburg, is receiving congratulations on the successful completion of the State Board Examinations in Public Accounting.

The extensive three-day examinations which were held in Baltimore early in February, touched upon the highest phases of accounting and economics and the successful completion of them is the ultimate aim of every accountant. The number of Certified Accountants in Maryland is comparatively small because the course required is a very arduous and difficult one both theoretically and practically, and many aspirants do not have the perseverance to go all the way to the top as Mr. Sanders has done. To the best of your writer's knowledge, there is only one other CPA besides "Jim" (as he is known to his friends here) in Frederick County.

Mr. Sanders received his CPA certificate at a dinner held at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore Feb. 28 by the Board of Examiners and the Maryland Assn. of CPA's.

In summary of his educational career of Mr. Sanders, who is employed by the Federal Housing Assn. in Washington, D. C., received his BSC (Bachelor of Commercial Science) at Benjamin Franklin School of Accounting in Washington, D. C., in June, 1941, and from the same institution received his Master's Degree in July, 1948. In the interval he spent four years in the Army in the finance dept., after which he took a review course at the Baltimore College of Commerce, immediately prior to his final state board examinations.

MRS. EDGAR A. ZANDER

Mrs. Agnes Robinson Zander, wife of Edgar A. Zander, Philadelphia, Pa., died Sunday evening at home after a lingering illness, aged 46 years.

She was a daughter of the late Charles W. and Martha C. Weddle Robinson, formerly of Thurmont, and was a member of the Lehigh Baptist Church of Philadelphia.

Surviving are a son, Edgar Zander, Jr., Philadelphia; two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Ross Wilhide, Thurmont; Mark Robinson, Dayton, O.; Mrs. Nina Hetterly, Thurmont, and Edgar Robinson, Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held at Thurmont Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with her pastor, Rev. Russell Pavey of Philadelphia, officiating. Interment in Blue Ridge Cemetery, Thurmont.

Mr. Wilbur Umble of E. Main St., was confined to his home for several days this week suffering with Virus X.

Master Artie Elder was confined to his home, near town, suffering from Virus X this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gillelan of Fairfield, Pa., have moved into the Elder Apts. on S. Seton Ave. Mrs. William Lydia of Thurmont, visited Tuesday with Mrs. Thurston Smith, Elder Apts., W. Main St.

Delinquent Voters To Receive Notices

Strike-off notices to 7,554 voters in the county will go out from the office of the Board of Election Supervisors today, it was learned earlier in the week.

The notices will inform these registrants that the records show they have not voted at least once in the past five years—which include two primaries and elections—and their names will be stricken from the books, under State law, unless they can show cause to the contrary.

There can be no "comeback" on the part of these registrants unless they can show that they have voted in the past five years. Otherwise, it will be necessary for them to re-register at registration days to be held later this year.

The list of prospective strike-offs was prepared several weeks ago. Employees in the supervisors' office have been engaged in addressing the envelopes which will contain these notices.

Officials say the experience has been in some other counties that a large number of the registrants stricken from the books for disinterest in their franchise privileges do not bother to re-register—at least not immediately.

There have been hints that the strike-off law is going to cause considerable disgruntlement on the part of a number of lackadaisical voters. A few registrants have warned election officials that their names had "better not" be cut off. But the election board has no choice under the law.

Where persons have moved a number of times since they registered, it is conceded that there may be some difficulty in reaching them by mail. The law requires the notice to go to the last address listed on the registration records.

There may be instances, officials say, where a person is inadvertently listed on the registration books in several precincts, through failure at some time in the recording of transfers. The strike-off notices should clear the books of these situations, it is believed.

The supervisors now expect to get under way around the first of April with the new card index system of registration.

Personals

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Jasper Wantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wantz, celebrated his 13th birthday anniversary last Saturday.

A party in his honor was given by his parents with the following guests present: Barbara Hays, Beulah Glass, Anna DeBerry, Doris Flax, Kenny Glass, Fredrick Grimes, Ray Miller, Jane Bollinger, Sylvia Koontz, Joe Scott, Arthur Damuth, Thelma Green, Ray Harner, William Adams, Harriet Fite, Madell Ripka, and Doris Dinterman.

Games were played and refreshments were served.

JUST FISHIN'

"A man can do more good work in 10 months than 12, if he spends the other two in loafing and fishing. I could never have done my work, year after year, if it had not been for those months at Lake Ahmic," from Tom Cullen of Baltimore.

Of the 35,700 beneficial suggestions submitted by Navy employees in 1948, a total of 10,800 was adopted.

CHARLES O. ROYER

Charles Otto Royer, 75, died suddenly last Saturday at 11:50 a. m. in the home of his niece, Mrs. Harry C. Davis, Lantz, Rt. 1, with whom he had made his home since 1944 following the death of his wife, Anna Stephy Royer.

Death was due to a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Royer was born in Iowa, the son of John and Amanda (Warburton) Royer and moved to Lantz with his parents when a child of three. After his marriage, Mr. Royer resided in Rouzerville 33 years and was employed at Frick Co.

He was a member of the Bethel Church of God and served as an elder in the church. He was also a member of Pen Mar Council No. 25, Jr. O.U.A.M.

Surviving are two brothers and three sisters. Samuel T., Emmitsburg, Rt. 1; John T., Springfield, W. Va.; Mrs. Mary E. Manahan; Mrs. Ivan Brown and Mrs. Samuel Pryor, all of Lantz.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Bethel Church of God in charge of Rev. C. M. McGaha. Interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. Sterling Galt of Emmitsburg was removed Wednesday by the VFW ambulance from her home to a Lancaster, Pa., hospital.
