SCHOOLS GALORE

While juveniles probably will not care much for this information, we do believe that most parents will appreciate it. Have you, the good citizens of Emmitsburg, ever stopped to think of the excellent educational opportunities afforded your children in this small community? There are no less than nine schools in this thriving agricultural district! Count them: Mt. St. Mary's College, Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, St. Joseph's College, St. Joseph's High School, St. Euphemia's Elementary School, Tract School, Emmitsburg High School, Emmitsburg Elementary and St. Anthony's School. Tuition is free in all except the two colleges. Bet you never stopped to think what advantages you really do have accessible to you here in this district. . . . There is hardly any necessity for your children to go elsewhere for higher learning, when there is such an abundance of educational institutions right here at home. . . . and many, many times cheaper than distant colleges and schools. With all this for the bright side of the ledger, unfortunately we have a darker side. Many children are running the streets and getting into all sorts of trouble. Regardless of state law requirements for attending school, they are permitted to roam the streets at random. . . . A sad example of this occurred last week when four boys, all required to be in school, were arrested here in town, for breaking and entering a place of business. Money and goods were taken illegally, and the boys find themselves in quite a jam. While the county provides truancy officers, it appears that the northern end of Frederick County is totally forgotten. . . . These officers are well-paid for their services, which it is evident they are not performing, and they should make periodic inspection of attendance records of all schools and take appropriate action on the delinquents. They are responsible for the sad plight of these youngsters. With all these educational facilities right at home, there is no excuse whatsoever, for boys 10 years of age and up, to be wandering the streets like waifs. . . . It is high time it is stopped.

SMALL BEGINNING

At least one individual took our suggestion to cut down one of those cumbersome trees that obliterate the new street lighting system. A whopper met its fate this week on E. Main St. . . . I must say it really improves the locality. If a few more took the hint, we could have a neat-appearing lighting system, and also a more beneficial one.

HOW LONG?

Wonder how long it will take the telephone company to get that pole straightened that was knocked at a 45-degree angle, located in front of the Spinning Wheel tourist home, near Mt. St. Mary's. The pole has been in that position for about a month. Sooner or later, it will hamper or disrupt communications—which at best, are terrible here anyway. While we are on the phone company, wonder what they are going to use that plot of ground for that it recently purchased on S. Seton Ave? At first we thought it was going to be a new exchange building. . . . but alas, it looks as if we are pigeon-holed on the dial deal. . . . so keep that right arm in shape for use on those old rusty crank boxes. . . . it appears they will be around for quite some time yet.

Miss Ruth Freeman returned this week from a 10-day visit with Prof. and Mrs. Donald K. Matthews of the Illinois University at Champaign. Ruth reports a very pleasant trip, and especially enjoyed the senior prom. Mrs. Matthews is the former Helen Frailey of Emmitsburg. George Combs of Washington, D. C., spent the holidays with friends in Emmitsburg.

Young Outfielder On Legion Team

"RONNIE" ROSENWALD

A stalwart outfielder on the American Legion Junior Baseball team, sponsored by the Francis X. Elder Post, this year is "Ronnie" Rosenwald. The "fly hawk" plays the rightfield position.

"Ronnie", son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosenwald of W. Main St., was born in McKees Rocks, Pa., and moved here eight years ago.

A student at St. Joseph's High School, he is in the ninth year and majoring in the commercial subjects. He is a former member of the Boy Scouts and besides playing baseball, "Ronnie" likes football in the way of sports.

Service Clubs Hold Memorial Services

The Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion and the Emmitsburg Memorial Post, VFW, joined together in honoring Emmitsburg's war dead Sunday.

Both service posts furnished color bearers and firing squads, along with a marching unit composed of members from each unit. Following the placing of a wreath on the American Legion honor roll by Harold Hoke, a wreath was placed on the VFW plaque by Paul Humerick. At the doughboy statue, Cmdr. Edgar Ashbaugh of the American Legion read a prayer and Cmdr. Wales Rightmire of the VFW, gave a short address. The wreath was placed on the doughboy by Jerry Peters.

Memorial services were attended at the Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Charles Owen, pastor, delivering the service. The firing squad was composed of Paul Humerick, Edward Wastler, Maurice Koontz, Richard Ripka, Donald Topper, "Tip" Harbaugh, with Allen Bouey in command. The color bearers were Eugene Rodgers, Everett Chrismer, Louis Rosensteel, Joseph Sanders, and Jack Rosensteel.

On Wednesday night, the VFW and American Legion Post participated in the Legion parade at Thurmont, as did the auxiliaries of both posts.

Mite Society Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Mite Society of Trinity Methodist Church was held at the home of Mrs. Estelle Watkins on Friday evening.

Following the invocation by Rev. Adam E. Grim, a brief business session was held, with the President, Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey in charge.

There was a program of entertainment which included games and quiz contests. Delicious refreshments were served.

The society adjourned for the summer and next regular monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey on October 27 when there will be an election of officers.

Girl Scouts Will Hold Bazaar

The Girl Scout Troop of Emmitsburg will hold a bazaar Saturday, June 3, in the Fire Hall, Emmitsburg, from 11 to three o'clock.

Members of the troop will sell hand-made fancy work, candy, cakes, and sandwiches. In addition, a grab bag will be filled to delight the attendants.

Proceeds of the affair will be used by the troop to sponsor a trip to Tolchester, Troop Leader Margaret Houck said this week.

Miss Mae Rowe of Reisters-town, spent the Memorial Day holidays with her father, Frank Rowe of W. Main St.

Homemakers Get Letter From French Family

As stated in last week's issue of the Chronicle, we herewith publish an interesting letter sent to the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club, by a French family which the club is sponsoring. The family name in Pointel and the local women have been sending gifts overseas to them for some time.

Rouen, France,
March 30, 1950

Dear Friends:

Though my writing table is heaped up with your letters, I always put off 'till the morrow the pleasure of writing to you.

Shall I apologize? I can't yet. I must say I keep working and my days are always too short. My wife will give you some news about home. As to me, I had rather tell you a few words about the present situation in this country.

From the economic point of view, thanks to the help of the Marshall Plan—for which France should ever thank you—this country has reached and is often beyond—the 1939 level of production. Such a notable result has been obtained five years only after the close of the war—whereas 18 years had been necessary after World War I. And at that time France, though wasted in her most vital areas, has not had to undergo and suffer from a general occupation.

All necessities are free from rationing—textiles, iron and steel items, food—prices only which are high prevent buyers from securing them.

So it is a social problem we have to solve with the equation prices-wages. There ties the very root of all evils. Prices are so high so that there is back of sale and still needs are considerable. In my opinion our cost prices are too high because in many branches of industry or industrial plant is too old. The parcelling of the land also hinders extensive industrial cultures. As you know, France is an old country, that enjoys a time-honored civilization. Her intellectual level is very high, but as a consequence of the war, her industrial potentialities have been diminished. So many difficulties have brought along strikes, but the sound common sense of the French people has checked the communist's attempts. The government is prudent and strong. President Bidault excites admiration of his political opponents by his energy and calm. Moreover, he is a great Christian.

Shall I allude to the scandal of the generals? Yes, but only to say that "a name which is quoted is not necessarily compromised, a man that is attacked is not always guilty." Much has been said about this case. The truth is that we ought to await the time when justice is done, and it will be severe for all bribers. Above all don't imagine this country is unworthy of the name of Great Nation. There are still many honest people in France, but much is said of what is wrong and nothing of what is right.

It is therefore a fairly optimistic note that I'd like to strike as a conclusion. Christians—Catholics as well as Protestants—or even spiritualists, in the broad sense of the word, realize their responsibilities. Young married people trust life cradles are no longer empty. There lies, indeed, the most significant factor of our national revival. That is the only means for France to be a great nation again. As to me, I and fighting, soul and body, the fight for peace, liberty, justice and order. Yes, indeed, this country will soon know even better days, above all if our allies are wise enough to face as they ought to, the German as well as the Russian dangers.

A merry Eastertide!

Yours sincerely,
PAUL POINTEL

Local Pen-Mar Outfit Loses Two; In 6th Place

Taneytown staged a three-run rally in the ninth inning to deadlock the score and added two in the 10th inning to whip Emmitsburg 5-4, in a Pen-Mar League game here last Sunday.

Emmitsburg scored two runs in the first inning and one in the second to grab a 3-0 lead. Neither team scored again until the ninth.

After Taneytown put over two runs in the 10th inning, Emmitsburg struck back in the last half. Bubrick doubled. Shaefer tripled with two away to send Bubrick home, and in an effort to stretch the triple into a homer, he was nailed at the plate by a relay from Stout to Hitchcock.

Mt. St. Mary's College Alumni Forms New Central Chapter

Formation of a Central Maryland Chapter of Mt. St. Mary's College Alumni was launched last night when a group of Mount graduates from Frederick and adjacent counties meet at the Knights of Columbus Home in Frederick.

The meeting culminated efforts of a group of Frederickians promoting the project with the approval of Mt. St. Mary's executives.

The National Alumni Assn. was represented by Rev. Hugh J. Phillips, the national secretary and a member of the college faculty.

The National Alumni Assn. of Mt. St. Mary's College currently has 58 alumni chapters organized among Mt. St. Mary's men in the United States and several foreign countries. The association's program promotes development of the college's training in Mrs. Andrew Eyster and Mrs. Ernest Shriver of town attended the graduation exercises at Western Maryland College, Westminster, Monday evening. Mrs. Shriver's granddaughter was among the students to graduate.

Tuesday night's baseball contest with Littlestown in the Pen-Mar League, at Littlestown proved to be a bizarre affair, with the Pennsylvanians taking the game, 11-0.

Although outhitting their opponents, 11 hits to seven, the locals could not muster enough runs to do the trick. Each team made four miscues apiece.

Emmitsburg hit Everheart, Littlestown pitcher, for 11 safeties but left 15 men stranded on the base paths. Littlestown let six men die on the sacks. Southpaw "Vinnie" Topper relieved Bud Warthen on the mound and allowed two hits, while striking out seven. Two double plays were executed by Emmitsburg.

Bud Warthen and Lee Shaeffer played bang-up games for Emmitsburg, each coming up with several fielding gems.

The loss dropped Emmitsburg to 6th position in the league standing.

Sunday's game will be played at Blue Ridge Summit. Next Thursday night, June 8, Littlestown will play here a postponed game. Game time will be 6:15 p. m.

Senator Storm Elected Head Of Young Democrats

State Senator Edward D. Storm of Frederick, a supporter of Gov. Lane, was elected president of the Young Democrats of Maryland last Saturday at Hagerstown.

Two other nominees—Kenneth P. Folk of Baltimore's Fifth District, and William Carl of Montgomery County—withdrawed as the vote, heavily in favor of Senator Storm was being counted. That made him the unanimous choice.

The election of Senator Storm rejected a precedent which Leroy W. Preston of Baltimore, the retiring president, sought to establish when he resigned the office last month.

Mr. Preston said he believed he should quit the office because he is a candidate for the Fifth District nomination for State Senate. He said he did not believe a candidate should be at the head of the Young Democrat organization, which does not participate in primaries.

Senator Storm, a candidate for re-election in Frederick County, is considered close to the Lane administration. He is associated with the organization in Frederick County which is almost solidly backing Lane for the 1950 gubernatorial nomination and re-election, and he has been an administration stalwart in the Senate.

An effort to block the election of the 38-year-old Storm because he is past the constitutional age limit failed when the chair ruled him eligible.

In accepting the presidency, Senator Storm described himself as "a dark horse with a few gray hairs."

He said he will resign from the young Democrats office to which he previously was elected—alternate national committeeman—and that the post will be filled at the next meeting in Frederick on Saturday, June 24.

Local Pastor Gives Details Of Interesting Trip to Cincinnati, O.

By REV. CHARLES S. OWEN

Last February I was elected as Commissioner from Maryland to the General Assembly, which met in Cincinnati, O., May 16 to 24. This is the national legislative body of the Presbyterian Church in America. It is a body similar in structure to the Federal Government in Washington. Representatives are elected as Commissioners and sent from every state in the union, from Canada, Alaska, and Puerto Rico. They are elected by popular vote from the 265 Presbyteries which comprise the General Assembly. This national body is comprised of an equal number of ministers and elders who are laymen. Four ministers and four elders are sent from the Baltimore Presbytery, which comprises a major part of the State of Maryland.

It is considered a high honor to be elected to such a distinguished position and to sit in legislative council with the 991 Commissioners together with the executive leaders of one of the great religious bodies in America.

The trip to Cincinnati, called the Queen City of the West and the Gate Way to the South, is interesting within itself. We traveled over the old National Pike, which, in Colonial Times, led from Baltimore over the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains to the Ohio Valley. Prior to 100 years ago, the old lumbering Conestoga wagon trains, drawn by six horses, carried produce back and forth, between Baltimore and the Ohio Valley, changing horses every 12 miles. Rapid transportation of passengers and mail over the National Pike 100 years ago was by stage coaches, drawn from four to eight horses. In 1835 the Pony Express was inaugurated on this Pike to carry mail at a faster pace, changing horses every six miles. It was exciting times when these wagon trains passed along. People came out in great numbers to see them. What a contrast between then and now. Speeding cars over modern highways, present a miracle of transportation such as our forefathers scarcely dreamed.

This National Pike passes through regions rich in early historic lore. It passes by the tomb of General Braddock, near Uniontown, who was killed in his ill-fated march against the French and Indians, and young George Washington first came into the limelight. Across the highway, not far from Braddock's tomb, is Fort Necessity where the old stockade still stands in good state of repair.

This Pike passes through the Cumberland coal fields which are said to have been formed by the glacial ice age 25,000 years ago. Now these coal fields have been ruined and put out of business by the repeated strikes sponsored by John L. Lewis. It is claimed that they will never be reopened again to the impoverishment of the people in that area. Some strip mining was seen from the highway. That is done by removing the dirt from the top to expose the coal, and by paying a royalty of 25 cents per ton.

Beyond the Cumberland coal fields are found the sugar maple groves from which much of the Vermont maple syrup comes. Whoever would have thought that so much of the famous Vermont Maple Syrup comes from Maryland? The Maryland State Roads Commission is now cutting down the mountain passes for straighter and more level speedways through the Blue Ridge and Alleghenies.

The Ohio Valley is a beautiful part of America. The eastern part consists of rather poor type of soil for agriculture. Then comes the oil fields. Further west toward Cincinnati we came into the rich agricultural region characterized by dairying and extensive hog ranches. Along the highway for 100 miles were seen great fields of swine feeding on luxurious growth of clover and alfalfa. Many large cities within easy reach provide a lucrative market for these products.

Cincinnati, where the General Assembly met, is the home city of the Taft family. Instantly one is made aware of this fact. One of the main streets is named after William Howard Taft. The General Assembly met in the Taft Auditorium which is the palatial Masonic Temple, one of the most distinguished landmarks of the city. Cincinnati has many unique features as a typical American city. It is patterned after the city of ancient Rome with its seven hills overlooking the business district below, and with the Ohio River taking the place of the Tiber. It can be easily reached from here in one day, being about 460 miles from Emmitsburg. The Ohio River is one of the longest rivers in America, second to the Missouri. It provides 860 miles of navigable water connecting with the Mississippi and the outside world. On about the half way journey of the Ohio River is located Cincinnati. The river splits the city into forming on the Kentucky side the triple cities of Covington, Newport, and Bellvue.

In the host city of the General Assembly we were accorded utmost hospitality and shown every courtesy. The finest hotels were opened to us. The Presbyterian Men of Greater Cincinnati chartered 21 buses at their own expense and took us on an extended and guided tour of the city one afternoon to show us the glories of the Queen City of the Midwest. The City which had served as host to the General Assembly six times in the last 100 years, seemed proud to share with the 162nd General Assembly the natural beauties of its hills and valleys on the banks of the Ohio, called by the Indians the Beautiful River. Its outstanding offerings in the realm of art, culture, industry, together with its prevailing spirit of friendliness and good will, made each Commissioner want to return for another visit.

SHORT STORY

The Price

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

THERE was a strangeness about Pancho Ortega that was hard to describe. There was mystery in his eyes, a wildness, a curiously detached look. Yet he had the high forehead of intelligence, the cheekbones and nose of breeding, the erect carriage of pride. He was the type of man that you looked at twice.

I first saw him two summers ago in Cano. It was sweltering hot outside, but within the dark interior of Cabello's saloon you could forget the heat.

Ortega was sitting alone at a table, an untouched drink at his elbow, an open book in his lap. No one bothered him; the dancing girls veered away; there was respect in the attitude of the waiter who served him that wasn't evidenced for other customers.

"Who is he?" I asked Juan.

"Pancho Ortega, the head hunter."

"Head hunter?" I stared, drink held suspended. Juan's white teeth flashed against his dark skin.

"It surprises you, yes? That business of head hunting. Come, surely you have heard of the head hunting tribes?"

"Who hasn't?" I assented. "But who ever believed them?"

"Come," said Juan. "You Americans must be shown."

I followed Juan down Cano's single street, beneath the blazing sun, and into the cool dark interior of what might pass as a gift shop back home. Juan spoke rapidly in his native tongue to the swarthy gentleman behind the counter. The swarthy gentleman looked at me, shrugged, and disappeared into a back room. In a moment he reappeared carrying in his hand an object that caused my flesh to crawl.

The object was a human head, shrunk symmetrically to about the size of an orange.

The swarthy gentleman offered me the head for $25. When I refused it, he shrugged indifferently and disappeared behind the curtains.

THE Ecuadorian government will fine you $400 for possessing one of these heads," Juan explained as we left the store. "No one has yet been able to discover how the average tribes remove the bones before the shrinking is done, and little else about the actual shrinking process."

"Pancho Ortega is a scientist. He came down here two years ago, determined to solve the mystery. Naturally he ran into difficulties because of the government rules against head hunting. But this only made him more determined. He visited tribe after tribe. Those who were friendly played innocent, flatly refusing to admit any knowledge about the business. From the other tribes, the hostiles, Pancho barely escaped with his life.

"Pancho Ortega!" I exclaimed suddenly.

I glanced at Juan quickly. "Do you mean..."

Again Juan shrugged. "Who knows. One cannot experiment without the proper ingredients. Certain natives have mysteriously disappeared during the past six months."

Unconsciously I quickened my step, but when we arrived at Cabello's, Pancho Ortega was gone.

I did not see him again for two years. The second meeting left an even more vivid impression than the first. Juan and I were renewing our acquaintance and discussing old times over a bottle of Cabello's fine liquor. Across the room an old man was reading a book.

"Pancho Ortega!" I exclaimed suddenly.

Juan shook his head. "No, that is no one more important than Cabello's old father, who comes here daily to get out of the heat." His face became grave. "You are curious about Pancho Ortega, eh?"

I admitted that I was.

"Come," said Juan. And once more I followed him down the blazing street and into the gloomy interior of the shop we had visited before. The object that the shop owner carried when he reappeared sent a cold wave through my body. There was no mistaking it. It was the shrunken head of Pancho Ortega.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

"This is the year for farmers to hold wheat for higher prices." This is the summary of the wheat outlook given this week by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee.

He explains that demand for wheat this coming year is estimated to be about one billion bushels. Seven hundred million of this is for domestic consumption and 300 million for export.

Latest estimates of 1950 production are set at 915 million bushels, with prospects that these estimates will be lowered due to poor condition of spring wheat crop.

"The difference between production and demand," Mr. Blandford explains, "must be supplied from stocks now in the hands of the government. These stocks will be sold at the 1949 county loan rate plus 28 cents. It is expected that this figure will be about 3 cents above the 1950 loan rate, which means that wheat prices will eventually have to rise above the 1950 loan rate to bring wheat out of government storage."

Surplus Foods Distributed

Almost 20 million pounds of surplus foods from price support stocks of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture were distributed last month to Northeastern school children and needy persons, according to Mr. M. Blandford.

Philip B. Hearn, who supervises distribution activities for the PMA in this area reports that during April some 1 1/2 million school children and persons in non-profit welfare institutions and on State welfare rolls benefited by this free distribution.

The surplus feeds allocated to State distributing agencies last month included more than 16 million pounds of potatoes, some 1 1/2 million pounds of frozen turkeys, one million pounds of butter, and one-half million pounds of cheddar cheese. Also, there were 168 thousand pounds of non-fat dry milk solids, and nearly 24 thousand pounds of dried whole eggs.

Th butter, cheese, dried milk and dried eggs were donated free at storage points and recipients paid freight and handling costs. Under recent legislation, the distribution of 1949 crop potatoes during April was freight paid to school lunch and welfare outlets. Cost of shipping and handling the turkeys were paid by the department under separate surplus disposal authorization.

These foods, of course, provide only a part of the total amount making up school lunches and welfare meals. Most of the food consumed is purchased by the various institutions.

Reserves Spell Independence

The Agricultural Conservation Program is a means of accumulating fertility reserves in the soil. The storage and loan program is a means of building up food and feed reserves in storage bins. U. S. Savings Bonds are means of converting extra cash into safe, interest-bearing, negotiable reserves.

In this way, Mr. Blandford calls attention of Maryland farmers to the U. S. Savings Bond drive now under way. The drive continues through June and winds up July 4, the closing date providing the theme of the 1950 Bond Drive, "Save For Your Independence."

To emphasize the significance of the bond drive to farmers, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brenman quotes: "A good measuring rod of independence is the number of United States Savings Bonds they have stored in reserve. I urge farmers to take the opportunity of the Independence Savings Bond Drive to keep building their reserves in Savings Bonds and thereby maintain their independence."

Nancy Holmes SUGGESTS

CENTURIES ago one of England's ablest doctors said of strawberries, "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did." And doubtless millions of Americans share the doctor's opinion, for just sit in a restaurant and watch the customers' eyes light up when there's Strawberry Shortcake on the menu. Need there be further proof that this red berry is a favorite?

If you do not have a good Strawberry Shortcake recipe of your own, look below for a grand one from Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods consumer kitchens. We believe you'll agree it's nothing short of wonderful.

Old-Fashioned Strawberry Shortcake

1 quart strawberries
3 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons vitaminized margarine
1 cup and 2 tablespoons milk
1 egg
Melted vitaminized margarine
Wash and hull berries. Place in a bowl and chop with a knife until all berries have been cut. Sprinkle 1/4 cup sugar over berries and let stand near oven while making and baking biscuits. Sift, measure flour and resift with baking powder, 1/4 cup sugar and salt. Cut in vitaminized margarine until coarse crumbs are formed. Beat egg and combine with milk. Add to dry ingredients, mixing quickly with a fork. Turn out on floured cloth or board. Knead gently for 1/2 minute. Roll to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut in 4-inch rounds with a cookie cutter. (A sharp-edged bowl will do.) Brush rounds with melted margarine. Place half the rounds on a cookie sheet and top with remaining halves. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. While biscuits are still warm separate halves, spread with margarine and cover with half of berries. Replace biscuit tops and cover with remaining fruit. Serve with cream. Serves 6.

POULTRY POINTERS

Brooding Turkeys

Large amounts of pouls should be raised in a brooder house which ought to be prepared just as thoroughly as for baby chicks. It is more economical to raise a few pouls with a turkey hen, or chicken hen. However, when raised with a chicken hen, there is more danger of outbreak of blackhead. Under no circumstances should pouls be allowed to use yards that have been occupied by chickens.

The brooding temperature during the first few days should be about 95 degrees at level of the pouls, or at the edge of the brooder. If a brooder house is used, one square foot of floor space should be allowed for each poult.

Cover litter with paper or cloth for the first four days. Do not brood more than 200 pouls in one lot, and a smaller number than this is better.

Pouls should be fed if possible, within 36 hours after hatching. Dip the beak of each poult into milk as it is placed under the brooder. Losses often occur because some pouls never learn to eat, and it is necessary to observe them carefully. Pouls require a starting mash higher in protein than chicks. Best results are obtained with high energy mash. The higher price of the high energy mash pays well in the long run. Pouls should have mash for the first eight weeks, but it is safe to start grain feeding at six weeks if you begin with not more than 10% of their daily mash ration. The safest way to protect turkeys is to rear them in confinement. But if you do not have sufficient space and want to raise them outside, place the brooder house on ground which poultry has not ranged for two or more years. The young birds are let out in one of four small yards that generally measure 10 by 50 feet. Use these yards in rotation and do not leave the young birds in each yard more than two weeks. After this time, they will not need a brooder house anymore.

Youths Becoming 18 Years Old Must Register for Draft

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, State Director of Selective Service for Maryland, said, "the young man who becomes 18 years of age is required to register at a local board office within five days after his 18th birthday. If he happens to be away from his home he need not return as he may register at the nearest local board office and the record will be sent to the local board having jurisdiction over his home residence, if he wishes, even though it is in another State."

As to the registration of men separated from the Armed Forces, Col. Stanwood said: "Every man who has been separated from active service in the Armed Forces, the Coast Guard, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, or the Public Health Service, and has not been registered prior to such separation, and would have been required to be registered except for the fact that he was in such active service on the days (Aug. 30 to Sept. 18, 1948) that were fixed for general registration by Presidential proclamation, shall present himself for and submit to registration before a local board within the period of 30 days following the date on which he was separated."

The obligation to register is a continuing one and must be fulfilled under the requirements of the Selective Service Act of 1948. The Act makes it mandatory that a registrant keep his local board informed of any change in address or change in status. This requirement applies to all registrants, including those who have reached age 26.

The Appeal To Ignorance

An Arkansas newspaper has just published the fact that a card-carrying Communist student has been at work among the student body of the University of Arkansas, that he established a small following or "cell" of under-graduates on the campus. The news story said the organizer had left the school to work with a small Communist group elsewhere in the state. The announcement, confirmed by an authoritative source, raises again the question that has perplexed a great many people: What causes young Americans to be beguiled by Communism?

The basic answer to the question is: Ignorance. Ignorance of the facts about Communism and the facts about Capitalism (American style) provides a fertile ground for the half-truths and bewitching fallacies with which the Communist and Socialist crusaders make their converts. A youth who is ignorant of American history has no background of understanding against which to view the phoney doctrines.

Ignorance, Says Bentley

When Elizabeth Bentley, the recanted Communist, began working with Government agencies to thwart the Communists' underground conspiracy, she answered the question (why she became a Communist) thus: "I didn't learn enough about America when I was in school," she said, "I didn't get American history." She also said she wasn't taught the true facts about Communism. She attended a well-known women's college and one of the greatest American universities. She became a Communist, she said, while attending the university. She later was a Communist spy courier.

Had Elizabeth Bentley learned in high school and college the true facts of American history, it is unlikely that she would have been vulnerable to the canned attacks on American capitalism which are the stock-in-trade of the Communists and Socialists. The same probably would hold true for Judith Coplon and for the other thousands of young college and university students who have been lured into the Communist conspiracy or the equally fatal bog of Socialism. Too Few Teach It

Benjamin Fine, education editor of the New York Times, has sent me results of a survey he conducted on the attitude of colleges and universities on the question of American history for students. The encouraging fact revealed is that twice as many colleges and universities today require students to study American history as did in 1942. Yet the number today is a mere 34 per cent. The schools replying to the Times questionnaire have an under-graduate enrollment of 1,526,571. Only 12 per cent of these students were enrolled in American history courses.

At Harding, we require every freshman student to study American history. In this way we are certain that every boy and girl gets the subject whether they stay in school for four years or not. In the Times survey, 62 per cent of the educators questioned favored making American history a required study for all under-graduates. But 66 per cent of all institutions of higher learning in the nation do not make it compulsory and about 73 per cent do not require high school graduates entering college to have had the subject.

Our Vulnerable Spot

Though a comfortable majority of educators replying to the Times placed a high importance on adequate knowledge of American history, there are disturbing facts revealed by the survey. It is disturbing to be reminded by the Times that tens of thousands of American youths who graduate from college each June have no real understanding of their great American heritage. They do not know how it came to them and feel no obligation, as free citizens should, to help pass it on. Such students are perfect prey for the Socialists and Communists.

Replying to "with an adequate knowledge of American history, would students be less likely to turn to other ideologies?" officials of 69 important American colleges said

1—One route—double run, approximately 30 miles in length to the Thurmont School.

2—One route—double run to Stony Branch to Emmitsburg and Bridgeport to Emmitsburg. Route now being served by Miss Ora Grace Miller.

It will be necessary for each bidder to secure a description of the route from the office of the Board of Education before submitting bids.

Bids must be in the hands of the Board of Education, 115 East Church St., Frederick, at 10 a. m. DST, Wednesday, June 7. The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

"No. Editor Fine soundly concluded: 'Though considerable progress has been made, much remains to be done before our colleges and universities give the two and one-quarter men and women in the liberal colleges, professional schools, junior and teachers colleges an adequate grounding in American history.' This situation is a challenge to citizens who want to do something for their country."

HEALTH COLUMN

Care, Courtesy, & Common Sense

A total of 91,000 Americans were killed in accidents in 1949. Of that total, more than one third, or 31,500 people, died as the result of motor accidents, making motor vehicles the country's leading accident killer.

These warning figures have extra meaning for us now that the warm spring days are here and vacation time is approaching. The use of automobiles is not confined to any one season, but there will be more of us on the road in cars from now until fall.

There is obviously no definite set of rules that will keep us safe from motor fatalities. But there are three rules, familiar to all of us, which, if followed, can cut down the possibility of automobile accidents and deaths. These are care, courtesy, and common sense.

Careful driving means care of your own life and the lives of people riding with you, other motorists on the road, and of pedestrians. But it's difficult to drive carefully in a car in poor condition.

A periodic check on brakes and tires can check accidents, and the motor must be kept in perfect condition if a motorist wants to keep in control of his car. It's a good idea, too, to make certain that the windshield wiper is in good working condition, since many motor accidents happen in the rain and fog.

Courtesy on the road actually embraces unwritten laws of self-preservation. Numerous accidents and fatalities have occurred through discourteous practices like "hogging the road," insisting on the right of way, and trying to beat the traffic light. No motorist can rely on "the other guy" to stop or to go to great lengths to avoid a collision.

It's only common sense to obey road signs advising motorists to "Stop," or "Drive Slowly," or "Beware Railroad Crossing." They were put there for a purpose—to save your life and the lives of others. Three out of five motor accidents occur at night, and it's sensible as well as courteous to stay on your own side of the road, especially during twilight and dark, and to dim your lights when cars approach in the opposite direction.

Finally, it's still true that "Liquor and gasoline don't mix." The man who has been drinking and gets behind the wheel of a car is courting trouble. Drunken driving has been responsible

Motor Commissioner Changes Code

Arthur H. Brice, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, announced this week the following change effective June 1, in the issuance of an application to a minor for a driving license.

Any person under 21 years of age must have his application for any type of driving license signed by a parent or guardian, and if the applicant has no parent or guardian, then by a reliable person who is willing to assume the obligation with respect to any negligence of minors when driving a motor vehicle upon a highway in this State. Under the law that person shall be jointly and severally liable with such minor for any damages.

In the event of the death of such person signing the application of the minor, the license will be suspended until a new application signed as required by the law is submitted.

Care, courtesy, and common sense won't put a damper on anyone's motor trip. But a little attention to this simple formula will, directly or indirectly, help avoid tragedy and even fatality.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

The Baltimore wheat market was somewhat lower last week. Corn was steady to higher. Western white oats gained about two cents per bushel on the Baltimore market. Barley was about steady. Soybeans gained about six cents per bushel during the past week. Supplies of all grains were ample; demand, good.

National Grain Market
Grain markets strengthened last week, and prices of wheat, rye and corn made moderate advances according to reports received at the Dept. of Agriculture. Oats which have been relatively high in price held about unchanged. Oilseeds were independently firm, with soybeans advancing about 30 cents per bushel during the week. Uncertain crop prospects and active demand for the moderate offerings of cash grains were the strengthening influences. Rain improved the condition of wheat in central and eastern portions of the belt, but came too late to help the crop's drought areas. Seeding of spring grains continued to be delayed by rain and wet soil. Corn planted in the main belt is considerably later than in recent years.

Maryland Feed Market
The Baltimore feed market was slightly lower for last week. Wheat millfeeds dropped sharply: standard bran—over 4% ($3.54 per ton lower) and standard middlings—over 3% ($3.04 per ton lower). 32% dairy feed declined over 2% on the Baltimore market—$2.22 per ton lower.

During the past week, one pound live weight of broilers would buy 5.2 pounds of feed, based on the average retail cash price of broiler mash on Lower Eastern Shore. Maryland broiler producers reduced an average of 25.8 cents per pound during last week and had to pay an average of $98.73 per ton for feed.

National Feed Market
Feed prices dropped sharply during the ending of last week, following steady advances of the past two months, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Further improvement in pastures and slackening demand for feedstuffs which had become relatively high compared with grain values were principally responsible for the decline. Heavy purchases in anticipation of transportation difficulties when a railroad strike was threatened gave feeders and feed manufacturers ample supplies for current needs and many withdrew from the market during the week. As the result, offerings which were relatively large exceeded trade needs. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices dropped nearly 13 points to 234.2. This compares with 222.9 a year ago. The feed-grain index advanced slightly to 212 against 192.5 a year ago.

Boy Scout NEWS

By HENRY H. CHARLTON
Scoutmaster, Troop No. 284

Six Emmitsburg boys, all members of Troop 284, Monday night passed their second-class Scouting exams before the reviewing board of the troop committee, composed of Lumen F. Norris, C. A. Elder, William Kelz, Weldon O. Shank, Guy A. Baker, Sr., and Scoutmaster Henry Charlton.

Those Scouts receiving promotion were Wayne Ohler, Robert Gelwicks, Henry Shoemaker, Louis Hahn, Clarence Ancarrow, and Robert Fuss. The boys passed with flying colors on such subjects as first aid, map-making, trail symbols and signals, and wildlife study.

This week-end the local troop will compete for honors in a big district camporee to be held at Lewistown.

The public is reminded that the Scouts are still collecting old newspapers and magazines. Profits derived from the sale of the old papers will pay the expenses of sending Troop 284 to summer camp. The troop is badly in need of a truck to transport these papers to a dealer in Gettysburg, Pa.

Fashion Fine

Mary Jane Higby, of NBC's "When a Girl Marries," who is considered one of radio's most smartly-dressed women, has this fashion tip to pass on. "Whenever you are in doubt about choosing a neckline, the classic square cut line, with its severity offset by a collar, will suit either the girl with slender neck and throat line, or the one who tends to plumpness with equal flattery."

MEAT CUT Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef rib steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. Beef rib. It contains a rib eye and may contain a rib bone.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By broiling or panbroiling. In broiling the steak is placed on the broiler rack so that its top surface is 2 to 3 inches from the heat (the thicker the farther from the heat.) When the top side is browned the meat is seasoned, turned and browned on second side, and seasoned. From 15 to 20 minutes is required for 1-inch steak; 35 to 45 minutes for 2-inch steak. In panbroiling thinner steaks, the meat is placed in a frying-pan and turned occasionally for even cooking. Excess fat is poured off as it accumulates.

Don't can beans, peas or corn that have stood overnight.

Penn-Md. Baseball Club Takes Over League Lead

Emmitsburg took over the lead in the Penn-Md. Baseball League Memorial Day by defeating Sabillasville, 12-11, while previously unbeaten Harney was dropping a 5-2 decision to Middleburg.

Jason Sanders, local third-sacker, was the big gun for Emmitsburg, smashing three hits.

The game was a nip-and-tuck affair with Emmitsburg finally getting the nod in the last half of the eighth inning. Sabillasville pulled away to an early lead, scoring six runs in the second, and then adding one in the fourth, two in the fifth and two more in the sixth frame. Emmitsburg's big inning came in the sixth when they scored five runs, with the count of 11-9 in favor of the visitors. The Hanover Shoe pushed across one in the seventh and two in the eighth while their opponents went scoreless. Final score, 12-11.

Bob Young Spearheads Safe Driving Campaign

Rhoda Williams and Ted Donaldson, who play screen star Bob Young's children in the NBC domestic comedy, "Father Knows Best," sign up for the "Robert Young Good Drivers Club." In cooperation with the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, formed at the request of President Truman, Bob will spearhead the campaign for safety among younger drivers during 1950 by popularizing the "Man-to-Man" and "Dad-to-Daughter" contracts which the Good Drivers Club features. Ted and Rhoda have agreed to abide by safe driving rules in exchange for use of the family car in their respective homes.

Case of Champagne vs. Coke: Fifty Million Frenchmen Wrong

By BILLY ROSE

No French champagne is being sold at my night club in New York and patrons who request same will have to settle for domestic fizzywater—which is a lot easier on the pocketbook.

What gives?

The French Communists and Coca-Cola—that's what gives.

As you probably know, the French national assembly recently passed a bill which, without naming the product, would prohibit the bottling and sale of Coca-Cola in France and its colonies.

Two pressure groups, were responsible for this measure—the wine interests which feared that the soft drink might cut into their profits, and the Communists, who, though they have no love for the vintners, saw an opportunity to take a rabbit punch at the United States.

Suiting invective to word, the Commie paper, L'Humanite, unleashed a campaign against the "coca-colonization" of the country.

Loud - mouthing that the basic syrup is highly toxic and would turn La Belle France into a nation of "coca-holics." At the same time, the right-wing press, fronting for the fizzle merchants, began to blab along the same lines, and even the usually sensible Le Monde warned that the moral landscape of France is at stake.

Before I go any further, let me get it into the record that I am a big Coke drinker and have owned a share of stock in the company. As far as I'm concerned, the beverage is just another product like Orange Crush or Dr. Brown's Celery Tonic.

By initiating an anti-campaign, they have given us a stronger a made-to-order for sipping. "Down with the can imperialism" — the slogan everywhere to divert attention from the accomplishments of the Marshall plan.

And remember, Messieurs et Mesdames, if that doesn't work we can get really tough and stop buying your French postcards.

Well, Messieurs et Mesdames, you can play at boycott as well as one, and so, no French champagne will be sold in my night club until the idiotic ban against our home product is lifted.

However, I'm hereby appealing to the bars, restaurants and night club proprietors all over the country to follow suit—and to wire or phone me when they do. And if you'd like to explain the boycott to your customers, they're at liberty to run off reprints of this column, of course crediting this paper.
