

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Dear Abigail:

Every day I believe more as you do that by having a Chamber of Commerce in Emmitsburg, we are going to go places. First of all, have you been reading about various towns over the United States increasing their population as well as bringing new enterprises to their communities and giving more people employment?

Let me quote: "In Belton, Missouri, until 1937, with a population of 971, the village was known only as the burying place of Carrie Nation. Such a distinction could not avert the creeping depression that left buildings and homes empty, and drove away high-school graduates."

Then in Kansas City, where Mrs. Van Brunt was living, she thought up the now-famous Grace line of infant wear including "crawlers" which has become the most copied infants' wear. Belton, just 23 miles away, decided to bring Mrs. Van Brunt and her business back home to Belton. The decision was a unanimous vote at an open meeting of all the townfolks and, though Belton was poverty-stricken, it hadn't lost the most priceless assets of a good small town anywhere—hope and enthusiasm.

In less than one day, people who couldn't afford it chipped in more than $2 apiece, for a total of $2779.50 and a sewing machine school was started to train local women. Different business places moved to make way for Mrs. Van Brunt's new enterprise. You should see the town today! Gone are the vacant buildings and homes. Gone are the long faces and merchants unpaid bills. Nowadays, the high school graduates are staying in town, and you will find that 300 Belton people have good jobs and security in what they very properly consider a home-grown, home-run enterprise."

Not long ago in Bolton, Massachusetts, the members of one faith raised and harvested an acre of corn. Then members of many faiths attended the church "corn dinner," and the $300 profit went into a BUILDING FUND.

I should think we could all get together and do as much in different ways for Emmitsburg, as the above named towns have done. Don't you agree? Let's all get this enthusiasm and "booster" spirit and be aggressive and expanding.

Sincerely,
AN INTERESTED
EMMITSBURG

Psst! I'll let you in on a secret . . . One that only the whole town knows—The T. J. Norris clan now has an heir. Yup, sa fact, Lumen, son of Prof. T. J. was responsible for it all. You see, while the Norris family has quite a few other grandchildren, there was only one thing wrong . . . They were all girls. The prospects of having a grandson to carry the name Norris for posterity in this section was beginning to be less bright with each new grandchild.

And then, all of a sudden, it happened! A boy, the hospital authorities informed the worried father. Incredulously, the entire Norris entourage (particularly Lumen), shouted "No, oh no!" . . . But it sure was true 'cause I don't think I've ever seen so many cigars passed around and so much celebrating over a tiny progeny . . . Our heartfelt congratulations, Lumen, and Etta Mae (the elated little mother). After all, she did have something to do with the giving the elder Irishman their first "son of Erin" . . . Lumen, it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy.

LOCAL TEAM APPARENTLY IN PLAYOFFS

Emmitsburg baseball team knocked out Taneytown from a championship playoff and walked into the choice spot themselves last Sunday by defeating that outfit to the tune of 11-1.

One of the largest crowds of the season turned out to see the locals nab fourth place from Taneytown, by just a few percentage points. Emmitsburg lambasted two opposing pitchers for a total of 14 hits in the contest, while Wayne McGlaughlin, stellar local moundman, held the opponents to six scattered blows and one run. The win, coupled with a forfeit game, raised the locals from fifth to fourth place. One hitch remains though, that being this Sunday's contest with Blue Ridge Summit. The locals must win this contest to remain in the fourth slot, or should Taneytown lose Sunday, their playoff status would be assured.

Tuesday night's contest with Littlestown here on Community Field was a farce as far as baseball was concerned. The Pennsylvanians arrived late for the game and when the locals piled up a three-run lead in the first inning, they chose to use stalling tactics in the hope of getting a cancellation or replay at a later date, which is exactly what happened to the consternation of local fans.

The umpires called the game in the fourth inning because of darkness. A formal protest was promptly entered by Business Agent Flax, of the Emmitsburg team. A hearing of the protest was held before the league's board of arbitration last night.

Should the board uphold the protest, Emmitsburg will be assured of a spot in the playoffs. Should the protest be decided against, the contest would have to be replayed, possibly knocking the locals from the picture.

In Tuesday's contest Emmitsburg scored nine runs on five hits and 11 wild pitches.

Moose Team In Second

The Hanover Moose team assured itself of a playoff berth by defeating McSherrystown's champions, 6-2, in one of three games played in the circuit last Sunday.

In the other league game, Blue Ridge Summit trimmed Littlestown, 6-2.

The league will make plans for its Shaughnessy playoffs at a meeting to be held Tuesday evening at 8:30 in the Home Assn. Bldg., McSherrystown.

AMBULANCE HAS PROVEN WORTH TO COMMUNITY

The VFW ambulance service has become an indispensable institution in the community life of Emmitsburg, since the time it was put in operation in the early part of 1947. Proof of its increasing usefulness is portrayed by an activities report released this week by Eugene Kraemer, ambulance service committee chairman of the local VFW Post.

The report showed that the ambulance responded to a total of 145 calls during the past year. Of this number, 33 were accident and emergency calls. Non-emergency patient calls accounted for 104 trips. The majority of calls were requested by physicians and private citizens, but the vehicle rendered aid to State Police, the health department, and the veterans administration. There were 48 night calls and 97 day trips which consumed 364 hours of driver service.

Under Mr. Kraemer's direction, the ambulance has been maintained at a high level of operating efficiency and additional features have been added, until it is now regarded as one of the most completely equipped emergency vehicles available.

Among recent additions are fire fighting units, extra first-aid items, auxiliary lights, special tools for rescuing victims trapped in vehicles involved in accidents, and an inhaler-resuscitator unit with oxygen equipment to handle victims of drowning, electric shock, or respiratory difficulties. It incorporates the essentials of an iron lung and is capable of maintaining a sufficient oxygen supply to maintain life even in the event of complete respiratory failure.

It is the desire of all members of the VFW to maintain this ambulance for the free service of all people of the community. Trained drivers are available 24 hours a day, ready to respond to any need, Mr. Kraemer stated.

A bridal shower was held last Thursday evening by Miss Hazel Glacken in honor of Miss Barbara Barron, whose marriage to Carroll Frock Jr. will take place Saturday, Sept. 16.

Frock, Mrs. Charles Glacken, Mrs. Robert Hampton, Mrs. George Gartrell, Mrs. John Fuss, Mrs. Elmer Fuss, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Philip Bower, Mrs. Roy Bollinger, Miss Patricia Fitzgerald, Mrs. Clyde Frock, Mrs. Cloyton Wetzel, Mrs. Lloyd Hess, Mrs. John Hilbert, Mrs. T. J. Vaughn, and Miss Hazel Glacken.

Water Low Here

The drought during the early part of this month has caused some restrictions on the use of water by the residents of Emmitsburg.

With a rainfall of .13 of an inch so far this month, the reservoir has become exceeding low and Samuel Hays, president of the Emmitsburg Water Co., has requested the residents to refrain from using water to sprinkle their lawns and other unnecessary uses at this time.

Although the situation is not termed acute, the saving of the water at this time will prevent future curtailment by the water company, Mr. Hays said.

Child Lacerated

Betty Eyler, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eyler, Emmitsburg, who received a lacerated right ear when she fell on a broken glass jar, was treated at the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., last Sunday.

Bids For School Construction To Bet Let Soon

Bids for school construction work in Brunswick, Walkersville, Emmitsburg and Woodsboro will be advertised early in September, according to plans of the Board of Education, Eugene W. Pruitt, superintendent of schools, said the early part of this week.

Architects' drawings on all buildings have been completed and James Posey, Baltimore mechanical engineer, is in the county preparing specifications and mechanical drawings. Mr. Posey has done similar work on the Middletown and Liberty schools, and has served the Board of Education as advisor for some time.

Plumbing and electrical specifications are included in Mr. Posey's field. He is conferring with Potomac-Edison engineers about power lines and electrical needs for the new schools. He also has held meetings with Brunswick officials, including John Funk, town and state engineer, on sanitary problems.

Brunswick and Emmitsburg schools will use town water and sewage facilities. In Walkersville and Woodsboro town water will be piped into the schools but each will have its own disposal plant, similar in design to that installed at Middletown.

ENTERTAINS YOUNG COUPLE

Mrs. Harold Hoover, Hagers-town R.D., and Mrs. C. Herbert Kreh, Frederick, entertained at a cocktail party and buffet supper this week, in honor of Miss Mary Louise Miller and Mr. Joseph W. Kerrigan, whose wedding will take place Aug. 26 in Emmitsburg, at Mrs. Hoover's.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Miller, Miss Dolores Miller, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Miss Sue Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bigany, Mr. Charles H. Hoover, Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan and Miss Ann Lee Lassetter.

WARRANT ISSUED

The Governor of Pennsylvania has issued a warrant in the extradition case involving George Murphy Stegall, Arkansas, wanted in Frederick County for grand larceny, and a hearing will probably take place soon, State's Attorney Edwin F. Nickirk said last week.

The hearing, which will be held at Harrisburg, Pa., will determine whether Stegall will be turned over to County authorities for prosecution. He refused to waive extradition after his arrest in Pennsylvania.

The man is accused of taking funds belonging to the Thurmont Volunteer Fire Co.

Artificial Insemination Up In County

Between 4000 and 5000 dairy cows will be artificially bred in Frederick County this year, it is estimated, further establishing the county as the leader in Maryland in this particular field of agricultural development.

Frederick County moved to the front last year, reporting 2762 initial breedings to July 1, as compared to 2089 for the immediate previous 12 month period. The records show a gain of 673 animals bred in the county, according to the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative, Inc., at College Park.

Frederick County's percentage increase for the past year was not as great as some other counties, where artificial breeding was just getting underway the previous year. Frederick County's percentage increase was 32.2.

Heart Attack

Mrs. James L. Nester, W. Main St., is reported ill in a hospital at Atlantic City, N. J., where she suffered a heart attack while vacationing there.

Volunteers For County Defense Are Sought

In an effort to bolster civilian defense in Frederick County, Ernest Helfenstein, director of civil defense, appealed for local volunteers from this district.

The appeal, in a communication to Lumen F. Norris, Emmitsburg director of the defense, asked that Mr. Norris form a local corps for that purpose. Mr. Norris is issuing a call for volunteers from this section. Headquarters will be located in the Texaco Service Station on S. Section Ave. It was explained that those individuals who served in this capacity during the last war are eligible, but the local chairman pointed out that past experience is not necessary.

The defense plan for this county, Mr. Norris said, is bracketed into five general classifications, viz, observation posts, organization, personnel, training and personnel.

Anyone interested in assisting in home defense is asked to communicate with Mr. Norris either personally, by phone, or correspondence. The local defense chairman can be reached at the following phone numbers: 108-F-3, 198, or 148-F-2. Any citizen, regardless of age, race or creed, is eligible to assist in this splendid endeavor at protecting his home, his family, and his country.

Slagle Placed On Draft Board

William B. Bennett, Frederick merchant who served as a member of Selective Service Board No. 45 since the beginning of the draft in World War II, has resigned, and George C. Slagle, secretary of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, has been named to succeed him, it was announced this week.

The appointment was made by Gov. Lane and Mr. Slagle is expected to qualify shortly. He is particularly well-qualified for the position, having served as chief clerk of both Selective Service Boards during World War II.

The C. of C. official expressed gratification in being able to cooperate during the emergency.

Scouts Camp

Seven Scouts of Troop No. 284 of Emmitsburg and Scoutmaster Henry H. Charlton enjoyed a camping trip last Friday and Saturday.

Those who went on the trip were Charles Baker, Weldon Frank, "Woody" Stoner, John Springer, Mike Miller, Johnny Beagle and George Eyster.

On the trip the Scouts caught a copperhead snake.

All residents of the town are urged to save their papers which the Scouts collect weekly. The money from the sale of the newspaper will be used to buy athletic and camping equipment.

Penn-Md. League Race Tightens

Wakefield and Harney retained their mathematical chance of finishing in a tie with Emmitsburg for the Penn-Maryland League championship by turning in victories last Sunday. Wakefield kept Emmitsburg from clinching the crown when it whipped the league leaders, 6-4.

Harney moved to within a game and a half of the top spot by turning back Fairfield, 13-5.

LIONS TO MEET AT CLUB

The Emmitsburg Lions Club has accepted an invitation from the Gettysburg Country Club to use their facilities for an outing Monday, starting at three o'clock in the afternoon. Members, their wives and guests may enjoy golfing, swimming and other privileges. At 6 p. m. the ladies will serve dinner to the local club.

Beginning tonight at 5 p. m., the local Veterans of Foreign Wars will open a two-day Block Party, the proceeds of which will be used for maintenance of the local ambulance, which has more than proved its worth to this community.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BALLOTS FOR PRIMARIES

The picture was little changed for the Sept. 18 primary among candidates this week as the deadline for withdrawals arrived.

Arthur Potts, member of the Board of Election Supervisors, who remained in the office at the courthouse until the closing hour said the only contest eliminated was that among Democrats for delegates to the State Convention. Edward M. Akers, Frederick, formally withdrew his name, explaining that some expense would be saved the County by his withdrawal to assure the elimination of one contest.

All other candidates for public and party offices, who filed before the Aug. 1 deadline, remained in the field.

The Republicans still have contests for Sheriff, County Commissioner, State's Attorney, Judges of the Orphans' Court and members of the House of Delegates.

Democratic contests remain for Sheriff, County Commissioner, State's Attorney, Judges of the Orphans' Court, House of Delegates and for the party's State Central Committee. The eight original candidates for the committee remained steadfast until closing time.

Both the Democrats and Republicans have two candidates for Sheriff. The incumbent, Guy Anders, and Constable Paul B. Rhoads seek the GOP nomination. Denver J. Shook and Alfred G. Renn are the Democratic aspirants.

County Commissioners

The Republicans have six candidates and the Democrats five for County Commissioner. Incumbents U. Grant Hooper, Robert R. Rhoderick and Samuel W. Wachter, Joseph R. Harp and George H. Wilt for the Republican commissioner nominations. The Democratic aspirants are Maurice C. Smith, William T. Staley, Claude R. Crum, Daniel J. Thomas and James V. Shaff.

State's Attorney Edwin F. Nickirk and W. Jerome Offutt are the Democratic rivals for the State's Attorney nomination. Wilbur F. Sheffield Jr. and Charles U. Price are the Republican candidates.

House of Delegates

Democratic candidates for the House of Delegates number 12. They are Lumen F. Norris, Malcolm Baer, Robert P. Bailey, William B. Burall, George C. Bothe, James S. Decker, George E. Hamilton, William E. Hauser, Hazel W. Lewis, James McSherry, Gary L. Utterback and C. Clifton Virts. Hauser and Virts are incumbents. Utterback is a former delegate.

The Republican candidates for the House of Delegates are Horace M. Alexander, Richard B. Baumgardner, Melvin H. Derr, M. Fout, S. Fenton Harris, Joseph R. Payne, Harry C. Wolfe, and Roger G. Harley. Alexander, Derr and Payne are incumbents.

W. Jerome Offutt, attorney to the election supervisors said last week that he had referred the matter of eligibility of R. Patrick Turner to file as a candidate for the Democratic State Convention to the Attorney-General. The question of eligibility was raised when it was learned that Mr. Turner is a registered voter of Prince George County. In the event he is held ineligible to file as a candidate for delegate, it was explained, the va-

General chairman of the party committee is Town Commissioner Wales E. Rightmire. Mr. Rightmire has announced a full schedule of fun and activities for the occasion. The party gets under way at 5 o'clock tonight with the serving of delicious food by the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW.

Available at the food counter will be crab cakes, soft shelled crabs, french fries, hot dogs, ice cream, soft drinks and other refreshments.

Band music will be furnished tonight by the popular Blue and Gray Band from Gettysburg.

According to plans, plenty of fun will be available for both young and old. Such games as tug-o-war, chuck-a-luck, ring the duck, pie-eating contests, climbing greased pole and a nail-driving contest for ladies, will provide amusement for all.

Raffles are planned by the local Girl Scout Troop.

"Corn game" lovers will have ample time to satiate their playing desires, as the game will be operated both nights and an excellent array of valuable prizes will be presented.

Activities for the second night, (Saturday), will get under way in the same fashion, with the serving of food for those desiring it. A candy table will also be in operation both nights.

A feature of Saturday's entertainment will be street dancing, with music provided by the Sunnyside Ramblers. No admission is to be charged either evening and the public is cordially welcomed.

It is the hope of the veterans' organization to make the affair an annual one, and if it is successful, will supplant the system of other years of placing canisters on the counters of local stores for donations to the ambulance fund.

Several candidates for political offices are expected to be present at the affair.

Prisoners Work On County Roads

The population at the Frederick County jail was beginning to dwindle some Wednesday as able prisoners went out to work on county roads for a second day.

Seventeen prisoners went on the work detail Tuesday and this number was down to 13 the following day. Four had arranged to "pay-out" overnight.

Some of the old regulars heard about the plan to work the prisoners before the program got started Tuesday, officers said, and they managed to find funds to post collateral and settle unpaid fines before the first call to work was sounded.

For three weeks the jail has been crowded with prisoners, many of them regular "boarders," the turnkey said Wednesday evening, but some of the old regulars have left the past four days.

The way was cleared for renewal of the work details when Walter E. Sinn, attorney to the County Commissioners and Roads Board, reported that authority is provided for putting the prisoners to work.

A proposal to use the prisoners on county roads was made at a meeting of the Roads Board last week when members reported a need for brambling along public roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Goulden and daughter, Bernice, of White Plains, New York, are spending their vacation at the home of Mr. Goulden's mother, Mrs. Ida M. Goulden, East Main St.

New Hunting Tag Adopted By Game Commission

The Maryland State Game and Inland Fish Commission has adopted a new hunting license TAG for coming season, which will effect a saving of the sportsmen's money of more than $6000.00 annually, without losing any of its effectiveness in administering the game laws. They hope the hunters will like it. Assistant Director, Harold Smith Kolmer, Director H. S. Smith says, "We have been using the hunter's license tag, required by the law of 1918, to be worn by each hunter on his back while hunting, since the law was enacted with only a slight change. The material used in this year's tags is so much lighter and less expensive, the Commission concluded it advisable to make the change."

Tags on the backs of all hunters are for the purpose of identification in the field, and materially assist the Game Wardens in obtaining better observance of the game laws; and they are helpful to the farmers in identifying trespassers or vandals who have invaded their lands without permission. The fact that tags must be worn has materially increased the revenue from hunting licenses, which is used to administer the law and improve the habitat, thereby increasing the supply of game. Tags and hunting licenses may be obtained from the Clerks of the Circuit Courts, and the Clerk of Common Pleas in Baltimore City, and from 125 authorized agents located throughout the state. The cost of a resident license is the same as in 1918, namely state-wide, $5.25; for resident of county only, $1.25; the nonresident state-wide hunting license fee is now $20.00. These prices include the fees for issuing.

Civilian Work Battalion Heads For Camp

Today, the first Maryland civilian contingent called to the colors in connection with the Korean "unpleasantness" will depart from Baltimore for training.

The troops, who are members of the 376th Engineer Construction Battalion, Maryland Organized Reserve Corps, will assemble at the Baltimore Armory. They will entrain at Camden Station, where Mayor D'Alesandro Jr., will present the colors of the City of Baltimore to the battalion in a formal military ceremony.

EYLER-SMITH

Amidst a colorful setting last Thursday evening at eight o'clock Miss Betty R. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith of Thurmont, became the bride of Mearl L. Eyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Eyer, Thurmont Rt. 2.

The ceremony took place in the Thurmont U. B. Church where Rev. Ivan G. Naugle, pastor of the couple, officiated, using the single ring ceremony amidst a setting of mixed gladioli around the altar and candlelight in the presence of many friends.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Luther Smith. She was attired in a navy blue outfit, carrying a bridal Bible and bouquet of mixed flowers. She wore a red rosebud corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frushour of Rocky Ridge, sister and brother-in-law to the bride, served as matron of honor and best man. Mrs. Frushour was attired in navy blue, and wore a red rosebud corsage.

A short recital preceded the ceremony when Kenneth Finnyfrock, Thurmont, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Always," while Mrs. Ivan Naugle presided as piano accompanist.

Both bride and bridegroom were born and reared in Thurmont and attended schools there. Upon their return from a wedding trip South, the couple will reside at Loys Station.

Curtailment of Expenditures Sanctioned

The Maryland Public Expenditure Council has endorsed the effort of Senator Herbert R. O'Connor to postpone approximately $400 million of Federal rivers and harbors projects until after the Korean crisis, F. Donald Fenhagen, Jr., Executive Director of the organization, said today.

Senator O'Connor will attempt, through a joint Senate-House appropriations committee, to secure the $400 million cut from rivers and harbors appropriations of more than $1 billion. He has declared that none of the projects he recommends for postponement is essential to the war effort.

The Senators list of projects which should be postponed at this time, and until the nation's defense needs have been met, includes four in Maryland. They are Baltimore Harbor, Cambridge Harbor, the Cumberland-Ridgely, Va. flood control project, and the Savage River flood control project.

"If every senator were willing to vote for reductions in Federal spending in his own state, as well as in other states, there would be no 'pork barrel' problem at this time," Mr. Fenhagen stated.

The Senate bill at the present time carries appropriations of $650,000 for Baltimore Harbor in 1951. A total of $6,152,000 has already been spent by the Federal Government on this project. The same bill includes $123,200 for Cambridge Harbor, for which $20,700 has been previously spent.

The Cumberland-Ridgely, Va. flood control project is slated for $1,160,000 in 1951. The sum of $1,645,200 in Federal money has been expended in prior years. The Savage River project would receive $950,000 in 1951, previous appropriations totalling $1,721,000.

"Although the sum of these four Maryland projects is only a drop in the bucket of more than $1 billion proposed for all rivers and harbors projects in 1951, it is such little drops from all over the country that are causing the bucket to overflow," Mr. Fenhagen commented.

Alarming Possibility

Emphasizing the relative ease with which a potential enemy of the U. S. could smuggle an atomic bomb to this country in the hold of a ship, an Atomic Energy Commission scientist said the Geiger counter and other presently-developed radiation detection instruments would be powerless to ferret out such a hidden bomb even though it were covered only by ordinary wooden crating.

A Study In Contrast

These photographs from the Maryland State Roads Commission offer a study in contrast between the old and new in road-building. One picture shows a tree-lined section of U. S. Route 40—the 150-year-old National Pike—near West Friendship in Howard County. The stone headwalls of the bridge in the foreground, the hidden side road (where car is parked at left center) and the sharp curve in the background offer a triple threat to traffic moving at modern speeds.

The other photo shows the new Route 40 over Maryland Route 32 where they intersect near West Friendship.

All of the hazards of the old road, particularly that of uncontrolled cross traffic, will be eliminated in the new highway.

It will have two 24-foot driving lanes, separated by a 50-foot parkway, with curves and grades reduced to imperceptible minimums. Although overpass structures like the one pictured here add materially to the cost of modern highways, they are essential to the safety of the motorists who will use them.

Care Of Teeth Essential To Good Health

"Something new has been added to the methods that may be employed in maintaining mouth health, says Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene, Maryland State Dept. of Health. "To the customary suggestions that children eat the right foods during the formative period of the teeth, that the eating of sweets be limited as far as possible, that the teeth be cleaned properly at home and that the teeth be examined periodically by a dentist and, if necessary, treated—to all of these still-essential practices we now add the suggestion that growing boys' and girls' teeth be safeguarded against part of their probable future decay by having the family dentist treat the teeth with a solution of sodium fluoride.

"It has been demonstrated that sodium fluoride treatments usually reduce future dental decay by 40 per cent. This reduction, however, is possible only when a correct technique of application is followed. Since this correct application can be provided only by a trained personnel, parents are advised to take children to their family dentist for this service.

"There are, continues Dr. Leonard, "some misconceptions regarding sodium fluoride treatments. For example, some people mistakenly believe that they will prevent all future dental decay. This false impression may result in failure to follow other valuable mouth health practices. It should be emphasized that only a 40 per cent reduction in decay is promised by use of the sodium fluoride solution. The teeth must still be safeguarded by proper foods, proper cleanliness and regular visits to the dentist.

"With a new school year approaching, now is an excellent time for parents to take their children to the dentist—for ex-

People Enjoy Off-Season Vacations

With vacation crowds thinning out at the summer's end, the off-season vacationist will soon enjoy a wide choice of travel objectives, according to Mr. Kenneth E. Burkhard, Fred. Manager of the Automobile Club of Maryland.

"The out-of-season traveler has many advantages," Mr. Burkhard declared. "First, he avoids the crowds. On the highway, this means less driving strain and greater safety. At resorts, it means a genuine welcome and more personal attention.

"Second, the off-season vacationist spends less money on the road. A survey by the American Automobile Association shows that at many hotels, tourist courts and inns drop from 10 to 30 per cent at the end of the normal touring season.

"In many regions of the country weather is ideal for most of the year. Because most vacationists have for years done their traveling in the heat of the summer is no reason to continue the habit. More and more Americans are coming to take their trips in late summer and early autumn a practice that pays handsome dividends in vacation enjoyment and in money saved."

Counties Request Emergency Fund

Emergency March of Dimes funds have been requested or received by four Maryland counties which have run out of money needed to take care of their local polio patients, it was announced today by Miss Catherine C. Gaule, state representative for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Somerset and Howard Counties are now without sufficient funds and are preparing formal requests for advances from the National Foundation, Miss Gaule said. Prince George's County has received $4,600.00 for a 60-day period, and an additional advance will be requested there, she added. The Montgomery County chapter is asking for $8,900.00. Previously, in May of this year, the Montgomery County Chapter was credited with an advance of $10,727.79, Miss Gaule declared.

Foundation funds flowing to areas where polio struck heavily in 1949 or 1950 are near the $5,000,000 mark, Miss Gaule said. When the Howard County Chapter's advance was approved a few days ago in New York, she revealed, it was one of 53 chapters in 26 states which in one week had to obtain direct financial aid.

The centralized financial set-up, Miss Gaule declared, enables all polio chapters across the nation to obtain emergency funds in time of need. So far this year, she said, more than 650 county chapters over the nation have been given financial advances. In addition, respirators, hot pack machines, cribs, beds, wool and other supplies have been sent to especially stricken areas with central March of Dimes funds.

Farm property losses from lightning average about $10 million per year. An estimated 400 lives lost, and from 800 to 1,000 rural people are injured each year by lightning.

Traffic Fatalities On Maryland Highways Show Increase During July

Fatalities on the highways of Maryland continue to mount at an alarming rate, according to figures for July just released by the Statistics Division of the Maryland State Police.

Forty-two persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in July, bringing the total for the first seven months to the year up to 253—2% above the same period last year. The nationwide increase is approximately 11%.

Eleven of the 42 July fatalities occurred in urban areas—Baltimore 9, Frederick 1, Salisbury 1—and the other 31 occurred in rural areas. Allegheny, Calvert, Caroline, Dorchester, Garrett, Kent and Talbot Counties had no highway fatalities in July.

Of the total killed, 16—38% were pedestrians. Twenty-seven—66% occurred during daylight hours.

In commenting on this report, Col. Carey Jarman, Supt. of the Maryland State Police, said:

"The people of Maryland are much too complacent in their attitude toward the problem of highway safety. Although traffic accidents are one of the nation's most effective killers, they receive only casual attention compared to the millions of dollars spent on medical research in the interest of prolonging life. It seems to me that our progress in reducing deaths and crippling injuries on the highway will continue to be slow unless there is an insistent public demand for improvement. The prescription for dealing with the problem calls for safer roads, driver training in all high schools, enforcement of motor vehicle laws without fear or favor, adequate examination of all applicants for driving permits and, above all, serious appreciation of the problem and a willingness to cooperate in solving it on the part of all motor vehicle operators."

SHORT STORY

Mail Rider

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

YOUNG EBEN CLIFFORD drew rein and studied the broad valley of the Hoosick at his feet. An hour ago he had abandoned the trail made by his predecessors on their ride from Bennington to Albany, and skirted the western shoulder of Mount Anthony. If Indians were waiting to ambush him, Eben felt sure they would choose the Hoosick. It offered a means of escape, should the mail rider by any chance be accompanied by an escort.

Eben felt once more of the leather pouch that was tied behind the saddle. Contained therein was a dispatch of the utmost importance for Gen. Newton at Albany. Col. Albee of the Bennington garrison had called Eben aside that morning.

"No one is supposed to know you're carrying the papers, Eben. An escort would only excite suspicion. You must go alone. There is, of course, the possibility that Bonney, the white renegade, and his Indian cutthroats, have learned what I'm up to. In any event, if you're attacked, destroy the papers."

He sat for a long time studying the valley without moving. A curious sense of excitement stirred his blood. Without knowing why, he sensed danger. A minute later he glimpsed a column of smoke rising from the summit of a hill across the valley.

A signal fire! They had sighted him. Eben sucked in his breath. Well, his chances of getting through were pretty slim now. There was only one ford in the Hoosick that was accessible at this time of year. They'd never let him cross it. The sensible thing to do was turn back and insist upon an escort.

A thin smile played across his lips. Sensible, but not advisable. Eben explored the river for half a mile in both directions, then urged his mount into the stream.

THE WATER WAS ICY, breath taking. In another moment the horse's legs went out from under him, and the swift current was carrying them rapidly down stream. Eben did all he could to help the noble beast in its fight to reach the opposite shore. He was beginning to think he had underestimated the strength of the current, when they struck a sandbar. The horse floundered, nearly lost its footing, then gripped hard and he'd. Eben breathed a sigh of relief.

After a momentary pause he urged the beast toward the west bank. Ten feet from his goal he drew rein sharply. A loose stone had come tumbling down from the high bank. Eben sat very still, his heart pounding. A feathered bonnet showed above the embankment.

He tried frantically to get his mount toward the east bank, but the river sheared off there; the strength of the current was against him. The Indians were running along the bank, howling and screaming their triumph. In another moment he'd be swept against the high west bank and they'd be upon him.

Remembering Col. Albee's instructions, Eben unwrapped the leather mail pouch, gripped it tightly and flung himself from the back of the floundering horse. Instantly water swept over his head. He swam as long and as far as he could beneath the surface. Then he bobbed into view and a sense of dismay sent his heart downward. He was within three feet of the west bank. A leering Indian was reaching out toward him.

Dimly, as he went under again, Eben heard a chorus of wild shouts.

He was far below the spot where the Indian had stood, but equally as close to the bank. To his amazement there were two soldiers standing there yelling and gesticulating. One of them was Gen. Newton. The sound of gunfire came from upriver.

"Thought you might have seen their smoke signal and realized they had sighted us," Gen. Newton was saying. "Figured Bonney would be up to something, so I led a detachment out to meet you." Eben sank to the ground. It was good to rest.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

The school lunch program in Maryland provided an expanded outlet for farm products last year, and the share of local farmers and distributors in this growing market amounted to over $3 million.

This evidence of the importance of the school lunch program to Maryland farmers was announced this week by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland PMA State Committee, on the basis of preliminary reports from PMA's food distribution programs branch.

During the school year which ended in June, over 100,000 youngsters in Maryland's public and private schools ate noon meals under the National School Lunch Program. This was an eight percent increase in the number of children reached by the program as compared with the 1948-49 school year.

In addition, Maryland school children received considerable quantities of surplus food donated by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Over 90 million pounds of such foods—acquired under the farm price support program of the Department—were distributed to Northeastern schools last year.

The Cost of Conservation How much of your farm did you lose this year?

With this question, Mr. Blandford calls attention to the serious need for safeguarding soil against erosion and depletion. In his words, "every inch of topsoil skimmed off an acre cuts just that much into the production from that land—and that production means income for the farmer, trade in town, and food for the public."

Mr. Blandford points out that the Maryland Agricultural Conservation Program practices are available to every farmer interested in protecting and conserving soil and water resources. These practices not only protect the farmer's interest in the land but the Nation's source of future agricultural production as well. As the population continues to increase, it becomes more and more vital to the people of this country to check soil loss to keep the soil from going "down the river."

As the chairman sees it, the amount being spent to aid farmers to carry on conservation practices is insignificant when compared with the cost to the country if the land is neglected. "The most expensive program, is no program at all. In parts of the country where land has been allowed to wash and blow away and to wear out, the loss is inestimable. With a limited acreage from which food and fiber can be produced and a continually increasing population depending on this production, any further reduction of soil and waste of water will cut into fu-

Wheat Moved To Loan Storage

Railroads owning terminal storage space in Baltimore and Philadelphia have made a considerable volume of space available for the storage of loan wheat.

Mr. Blandford said this week that information coming to his office indicates that 900,000 bushels of wheat will be taken under loan in Baltimore and also in Philadelphia. However, he pointed out that wheat already in commercial storage will undoubtedly be shifted to the loan program and will take much of the available space.

"The best advice we can give Maryland farmers who still have wheat on the farm," he said, "is to check with their commission merchants. They will be able to give them information regarding available space and will know whether they can accept wheat under the loan program."

The State Chairman explained that the space was made available by three railroads when they released 300,000 bushels capacity in each of their respective terminals. He added that it is his understanding that two of the railroads, the Pennsylvania and Western Maryland, are allocating the storage on a pro-rata basis to various commission merchants; the other, the Baltimore and Ohio is taking the grain as it comes.

Two To One

Although Defense Secretary Johnson was successful in reducing civilian employment in the Military Establishment from 897,807 employees in May 1949 to 754,339 on May 31, 1950, there still remained one civilian employee to every two uniformed men in the services. Both the Byrd Committee and the Hoover commission have criticized this ratio as too high.

Employment Hits Record High

This country's labor force includes 60 percent of the population over 14 years old, a record high.

Progress In Medicine

A child living down the street from our house was ill with pneumonia. The infection had developed from a cold. The fever climbed and congestion appeared. But nobody in our neighborhood got excited, not even the parents. The doctor was called. Penicillin and one of the sulfonamides were administered. The doctor came away from the bedside cheerily confident. There was absolutely no cause for undue anxiety, he said. The father went back to work, the mother to her housework. Sisters and brothers back to play.

The incident harkened memory to the occasion some 30 years ago when another child had fallen critically ill with pneumonia. Then our town was aroused. A specialist was rushed in from a distant city; oxygen equipment was flown from the State capital. There followed many anxious days for everyone who knew the family. The crisis came. The child died. In the 30 years since then the American medical profession has erected some remarkable milestones in life saving and health building.

Pneumonia Whipped

As the doctor drove away from our neighbor's house I hailed him down to discuss the miracle of this now commonplace victory over pneumonia. He said his young patient had bronchial pneumonia — the milder type — and would be free of infection within 48 hours. Then he said an amazing thing. He has a big practice and I happen to know he spends hours each week in public health clinic work and on charity calls, yet he said he'd not seen a single case of lobar (deep-seated) pneumonia in the past three years!

What had become of this one time major killer? Penicillin and the sulfas, now administered routinely in all upper respiratory infections, had done such a wonderful job, he said, the disease just never had a chance any more to get to the critical lobar region of the lungs. This doctor believes also that the general use of these great drugs has killed off a lot of the pneumococcus organisms and rendered far less virulent the spores still alive.

Other Diseases Cornered

The stilling of the death-hand of pneumonia is but one of the many victories recorded in the recent past by American medicine—physicians, surgeons, nurses, researchers and pharmaceutical manufacturers. A baby born in America today has a life expectancy of nearly 70 years, at least 15 more than could have been expected 30 years ago. Most of the major disease killers have been cornered and rendered far less potent by our medical men, and surgery has advanced to almost unbelievable capabilities.

State medical societies, working with hospitals, businesses, industries and citizens, are constantly expanding insurance plans which bring good hospitalization, medical and surgical services within the reach of most Americans. By next January approximately 75 million will be covered by plans which pay an average of 80 per cent of hospital expenses; 40 million will be enrolled in plans which pay the major portion of surgical fees, and about 25 million will be enrolled in year-round medical care plans. Voluntary vs. Compulsory

For the price of a package of cigarettes a day, any American family can be free from worry over financial difficulties arising from illness. An example of what industry and a great many businesses are doing in cooperation with their employees and the medical profession is Bethlehem Steel's program which provides 70 days full hospital care for its 125,000 employees and their families—at a cost of $2.95 per month, half paid by the company, half by the employee.

In spite of the rapid, wholesome growth of such voluntary medical care plans and the magnificent progress made by our medical profession in its battle against the major disease killers, there are a few people who wish to establish a

One of America's favorite radio programs, "Meet Corliss Archer," will return to the Columbia Broadcasting System airwaves Sunday, August 27, after its regular summer vacation.

Lovely Janet Waldo will again star as Corliss Archer, "the nation's favorite teen-ager."

Since the start of the comedy series, radio listenership has greatly increased. The latest polls show that nearly 6,000,000 families tune in "Corliss Archer" each Sunday evening.

The weekly program is sponsored by the Potomac-Edison Company in cooperation with other business-managed, tax paying utility companies from coast to coast.

Nancy Holmes SUGGESTS

STEP right this way, gentlemen, to the salad bowl. Sissy you say? Not at all. Didn't the dare-devil duc de Richelieu, hero of naval history, mix his own salad dressing and as a result originate mayonnaise?

And many men today get a kick out of taking a turn at the salad bowl. So why don't you do some experimenting and thereby give your better-half a night off occasionally during this hot weather. Here's a starter recipe which Nancy Holmes of the Best Foods kitchens suggests. But there's no limit to hearty salad combinations. Just use your ingenuity and take it from here!

Missing: 9,000 Tanks

About 85,000 tanks were produced in this country during World War II. Army records at the end of the war indicated that 25,000 of them should be on hand. But the Army could account for only 16,000. The other 9,000, had disappeared—Hoover Commission Task Force Report.

Better security for them — better service for you

Last year, the Bell System provided pensions, sickness and death benefits to 139,500 active and retired employees—a little more than the population of Norfolk, Virginia! Providing employees with greater security helps the Bell System to attract and keep good people. That means more efficient, more courteous and more economical service for everybody.

Banking time

It would be interesting if you could take a look at a book showing your time-and-effort savings account—made possible by your telephone. There would be quite a balance in your favor! The entries would show all the hours, all the effort and all the inconvenience saved by your telephone. Other entries would show the worries saved you, for the telephone keeps you in touch with people you love, guards you and your family twenty-four hours a day. When you consider all that telephone service does, it's easy to see why it is one of the best buys you can make!

Missing something?

For instance, you might miss an important call if you wait for the last ring of your telephone bell before running to answer it. If you answer as soon as you're sure it's your ring, you'll avoid losing important calls, and your neighbors won't be annoyed by unnecessary ringing.

Mahoney Willing To Submit Graphic Proof

George P. Mahoney, Democratic candidate for nomination as Governor of Maryland today declared that he had full pictorial proof of every statement that he made regarding the continued lack of decent facilities at the State's Mental Hospitals.

Mr. Mahoney exhibited to a group of Baltimore business leaders eleven photographs that had been taken in the past 24 hours at the State Mental Hospital at Cambridge and challenged Mr. Lane to call this absolute proof "loose talk" if he dared.

Mr. Mahoney declared: "Mr. Lane's charges that my statements are false and misleading is the same sort of tactics that he employed in an attempt to brush off the exposures of the 'Maryland Disgrace' that were made in the press in 1949. 'Isn't it a fact that at that time you called the exposures political persecution?'"

"Isn't it a fact that newspapers referred to you as the man 'who would rather not be bothered?'"

"Isn't it a fact that the Legislature directed you to appoint a civilian board of Mental Review to inspect the hospitals and make reports to the public, and isn't it a fact that 15 months have gone by and you have not appointed this board because you fear it will tell the public the facts on conditions in our mental hospitals?"

Mr. Mahoney said: "Mr. Lane's refrain is the same over the years. His denials once directed at the press and its reporters are today directed at the authentic, documented proofs that I offer."

"I want to make it clear, so clear that even Mr. Lane cannot misquote me, that I do not blame these conditions on the overworked, underpaid doctors and staffs of these institutions."

"When Governor Lane says I am attacking these people, he is simply revealing the fact that he is trying to hide behind their hard-working backs in an attempt to excuse his shortcomings as an administrator and leader."

Mr. Mahoney continued: "It is indeed a shame that Mr. Lane has to wait for other people to tell him what is going on at his hospitals. Here are a few more facts for his edification:

1. At the Eastern Shore State Mental Hospital there are three showers available for 139 male patients. Attendants declare that inmates are able to take but one bath a week.

2. The washing facilities in the eating halls are so limited that patients go to the table without washing their hands or faces.

3. In the men's section there is a water cooler with one tin cup attached by a chain that is the sole drinking facility for 139 patients. Fights start as men wait to get their turn to drink here.

4. Toilet facilities are inadequate. They flow over on the floor and are often inoperative. There are three toilets to serve 139 men inmates.

5. One attendant is forced to stay the entire night, on duty, in the men's dormitory by himself. In the women's section, two women attend 150 patients during the night.

6. The screens at the buildings are broken and rusted. If Mr. Lane doubts this one, let him look at the pictures. Flies swarm over the food in the kitchen and over the food in the plates.

7. Mosquitoes come through the screens into the men's and women's sleeping facilities in swarms during the warm nights. They were so thick on occasions that entire dormitories remained sleepless.

8. Despite the fact that inlets and marshy places are around the hospital, not a single step toward the control of mosquitoes had been taken. The city of Cambridge has carried on extensive mosquito control but Governor Lane has not done a thing to control this pest danger at the hospital.

9. Cooks and other attendants at the hospital declare that a spray mixture that is supplied to them for fly and mosquito control is so weak that it is ineffective against the pests.

10. The buildings are without outside fire escapes despite the fact that fire authorities have warned the Governor that they are essential to guard the lives of patients and personnel.

11. The hospital does not have adequate fire drill. In fact to date, the only thing like a fire drill held at the hospital has been the posting of instructions on drill.

IT'S BEEN FISHED OUT FOR YEARS

—Reprinted from the Louisville "Courier Journal"

12. The hospital is short of bed linens. Over half of the beds have but one sheet and changes must be kept to a minimum.

13. The food preparation staff declares that there is just about half the refrigeration capacity necessary to assure proper keeping of food and to prevent keaping with its accompanying bacterial dangers.

14. The beds in the dorms are so close together that the men disturb one another in turning over. An arm slightly moved by a sleeper often hits another inmate and fights that disturb the entire dormitory ensue.

15. As to plumbing, it is just as I described it. Exposed piping is leaking. It is often torn out by disturbed inmates leaving the building without bathing or functioning toilet facilities until repairs are made.

These repairs have been anything but prompt.

16. Despite Mr. Lane's slick attempt to dodge this one, one psychiatrist was on duty for the nearly 600 patients at the hospital. When that psychiatrist threatened to resign and Mr. Lane feared the political stigma that it might cause, he transferred a woman psychiatrist from Spring Grove Hospital this past week and added a young doctor to the staff. This, I repeat, was solely a political maneuver to pacify the public as the election approached.

17. There has never been an adequate personnel policy set up by Mr. Lane to keep the morale of the men and women who do the hard exacting work of looking after the inmates. Promotion is haphazard, morale deteriorates. One doctor estimated that personnel turnover approximates 100% every two years.

18. In one of the men's dormitories there is a large hole in the ceiling through which water pours each time that it rains. One attendant declares that he has been on duty in the dormitory for 3½ years and that "the hole has always been there."

20. There are no surgical facilities at the hospital. Patients needing minor or major surgery are rushed to Baltimore. Neurosurgery, which is required in some cases, and neurosurgical diagnosis are totally absent. Medicines such as penicillin, aureomycin and other necessary drugs are not always available to sick patients as the doctors declare that funds for their purchase are not fully provided for in the budget. Mr. Mahoney stressed the point that he was in no way blaming the hard working doctors or staffs for the shortcomings at the hospitals. "The blame lies squarely on the shoulders of the Governor," said Mr. Mahoney. "He has to diligently carry out his very obvious duty to these suffering human beings. His so-called improvements are a patchwork of half kept promises. He promised these people dormitories and a surgical building. So far he has given them nothing. Like the rest of the people of Maryland, they have awakened to the fact that there is just no performance in a Lane promise."

Monaghan Chides Senator Tydings For Lack of Foresight

Hugh J. Monaghan, the Baltimore attorney, democratic candidate for the United States Senate nomination in a speech before "the veterans for Monaghan" headed by H. Arthur Abele, Jr. of Baltimore said: "Why has Senator Tydings not had sufficient foresight to state that he is against the seating of Communist China in the United Nations. As a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he heard the testimony of Admiral Hellen Koetter, head of Counter Intelligence, and he must know that Communist China, a pawn of Moscow, is the deadliest threat to peace in the Far East."

Senator Tydings cannot avoid responsibility on this issue. It has become apparent to widely diverse elements as former isolationists and admission internationalists that Communist China intends to carry out Moscow's demand in the Far East.

When the questions of the Japanese Treaty arises, Red China, if she is a member of the Security Council, can veto the treaty.

He formerly stated that dispatches received as late as August 9 pointed out that Communist China has two divisions marching on Tibet, an autonomous nation. She is actually waging war at the very moment she is asking for admission in the U. N., an organization founded for peace. She is furnishing thousands of troops to Ho-chi-minh, communist rebel in Indo China, and there is evidence that she is furnishing troops in Korea against the U. N. itself.

Errors in foreign policy are the cause of our mountainous debt. And the debt is just beginning. The taxes are just beginning. Yet, Senator Tydings still adheres to the State Department line of 'waiting for the dust to settle.'

Mr. Boh wrestles a tough problem!

Mister Boh was in his glory, as the announcer called his name. But when the champion he did see, he was sorry that he came.

No pinching, gouging or kicking shins and you can't pull hair or scratch," said the referee to the two of them at the beginning of the match!

As the bell rang out they tangled, and fell with an awful thud. Our Boh was surely losing, but in his eye there was blood!

Boh came back with a vengeance, set the champion on his ear. The crowd went wild for Mister Boh and National Bohemian Beer.

Abundance Of Oil

People who are worried about our petroleum productive capacity in a global war can take comfort from the fact that within our borders lies 54% of the entire world's current oil producing facilities. Add to this the large new oil fields discovered and developed recently by American companies in Western Canada and we have a tremendous long term oil advantage.
