Several complaints have reached this desk concerning the recent Christmas decorating awarding of prizes. These complaints find no fault with the caliber of the judges, but do bemoan the fact that they thought the judging a bit premature. It so happens that the final decision was rendered on Dec. 20—five days before the big holiday. Investigating these complaints, Ole Abby discovered that most towns, both large and small, do not award prizes and announce the winners until several days after Christmas. . . . So it does appear the "beef" is justified. Many people, as you and I know, don't even begin to decorate the premises or trees until Christmas Eve and I understand that several of them gave up the idea after reading of the premature decisions. There's no use in getting "het up" over the matter. Like everything else that is new, the bugs have to be worked out. I think it was a swell move by the Chamber of Commerce to sponsor this decorative stimulant to the occasion. There's no use crying over spilled milk and next year's another year, and from what I have learned the next event will be in the nature of a post-Christmas judging.

Apparently local citizens are taking seriously the idea of a Community Hall. Several organizations have appointed committees to work on the project and the Town Fathers have thrown in their support on the deal. It is apparent that construction will not begin until world conditions warrant it, or that is, until building materials are unshackled from their present confinement. Anyway, the whole thing strikes me as an excellent idea and the amount of waiting to be done will make those interested all the wiser when actual operations do begin. One of the major problems, disregarding financing, to face the project will be that of administration. Who's to have the final say as to who is eligible to use the building. That's what is puzzling me and a lot of others. Have you any ideas? We would like to hear from you either through this column or any organization to which you belong. The sooner we have these wrinkles ironed out, the sooner we will get positive action.

Shiver my timbers. I've never seen anything like this weather so far this winter. Just when I begin telling my grandkids about the "old time" winters we used to endure, zero temperatures, eight feet of snow (slightly exaggerated, of course), what happens but this present spell comes on, and to tell the truth I feel the cold more now than I did back in the '80s. Anyway, it has been a boon to the garages and the heating vendors. Maybe it's a punishment of some sort for donning this modern wearing apparel. Ice skating lovers have been able to rub the rust off their skates. . . . that's something. Instead of wondering how many days it is until Christmas, I am now wondering and waiting how many it is to spring. . . . that's my dish.

Reading last week that the baseball association was holding a meeting rises thought as to what caliber outfit will be fielded next spring and where in the world will they get the material, with the armed forces going to work on the fine young element in the town? As far as I can learn none of last year's players have been nabbed as yet, but we have lost a few good rooters and boosters. No use to call on me, boys, I passed my prime last year. How about "drafting" some of the beer paunches for the job this season? Seems as though the price of the stuff will prohibit many of them from indulging too freely.

LEGION CAGERS TRIUMPH OVER GETTYSBURG

The American Legion basketball team won its first game of the current season Tuesday evening, downing a member of the Gettysburg Community League.

Rolling along with a 20-9 score at the end of the first quarter, the local quintet, coached by Harold Hoke, scored 12 more in the second quarter, 28 in the third period, and 32 points in the fourth. Mac's Atlantic squad from Gettysburg scored nine points in the first quarter, 12 in the second, 12 in the third, and 10 in the fourth.

Coach Hoke, in using several team combinations, believes the Legion quintet this year is much faster and better than last year, when they lost only one game. J. Carter, forward, and Roggerman, center garnered the most points with 28 and 22 respectively for the locals. Myers, Mac Atlantic guard, scored 16 for the losers.

The victory over Gettysburg is the type of basketball Coach Hoke has trained his squad this year.

The next home game is scheduled here for Tuesday evening, Jan. 16, at the Emmitsburg High School floor. The visitors will be the fast and strong team of the Brunswick Moose. Game time is eight o'clock.

The Beall will was dated Nov. 4, 1946 and witnessed by Holden S. Felton and Miss Edith E. Wickham. He directed that all of his estate pass to his widow, who qualified as executrix. Court attaches said the estate consists of a half interest in real estate and a small personal estate.

COUNCIL OKAYS SEWER LINE TO SCHOOL

Emmitsburg's Burgess and Commissioners met in regular monthly session Tuesday evening in the town office located in the Fire Hall. Chairman of the Board Lloyd G. Ohler presided. Town Clerk and Treasurer Louise Sebald's reports were accepted.

Another sewer bond was called in and paid off, leaving only two more of the $500 nature to be retired.

The treasurer announced that the parking meters were paid for from the general fund and presented the bill of sale to the Commissioners. December revenue from the meters was $261.31.

Capt. H. C. Woodring's monthly report was read and accepted. Revenue from the 15-cent sewer tax for the year was placed at $1520.50.

Construction of a sewer line to the Emmitsburg High School was okayed and Samuel C. Hays was awarded the contract for the work, to be done as soon as the weather permits. Another application for sewerage was received from the Reformed Church. This project, involving laying about 70 feet of pipe, also was granted, and awarded Samuel C. Hays.

A bill for the erecting of Christmas decorations and new equipment, amounting to $257 was ordered paid. It was pointed out that this equipment will remain the permanent property of the town and will be augmented each year by the addition of other paraphernalia to be used annually. Next year's expenditure for these articles will be greatly reduced, it was said.

The Town Slons went on record officially as sanctioning the construction of a Community Hall.

County Ponds Stocked With Fish

Many ponds in Frederick, Carroll, and Montgomery Counties where the farmers received assistance from the Soil Conservation Service now report bass 14 inches long and bluegills up to nine inches in length.

There are two principal reasons why some ponds do not produce fish as they should: The first is lack of fertilization. This results in clear water containing little of the minute animal and plant forms necessary for the proper sustenance of the bluegills. The second is insufficient fishing which leads to too many bluegills with their consequent stunting. Expert advice is often needed to correct and maintain good fish growth and ratios.

The cost of pond construction varies widely. The cheapest ponds are built by contractors who charge a reasonable rate, have the proper equipment and know how to use it. A swampy site adds considerably to the expense, but generally assures a good water-retaining pond.

The SCS provides advice on choosing a pond location for convenience, an adequate but not excessive supply of water, sealing the pond to prevent seepage, detailed design and construction according to the design, how to secure fish and secure maximum fish production, seeding of pond banks, controlling of erosion and excessive water loss in the pond watershed.

Aside from fish production, ponds have other values which often become paramount. Whole towns have been saved from fire by the use of water from a convenient farm pond. Most ponds will hold another foot of water before they discharge to any great extent during a storm—this is a factor in flood control. The farm pond opens up a new realm of recreational possibilities on the farm from boating, swimming, and skating to the observing of a hydroplaning flock of wild geese while doing the chores on a frosty morning.

Recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bower and family were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bower and daughter, Virginia, of New Windsor, Mrs. Carrie Hartzell, Fairfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bollinger.

Principal Of Gettysburg High Addresses Lions

The Emmitsburg Lions Club met Monday evening at 6:15 at the Lutheran Parish Hall with Guille Lefever as guest speaker. President B. J. Eckenrode presided with 25 members and one guest present.

The club received an invitation from the Union Bridge Lions to attend its annual charter and ladies' night banquet and program to be held Jan. 22.

Clarence Hahn, chairman of the Christmas celebration committee, thanked all the members who cooperated and made the annual affair a success. Chairman of the advertisement committee, Herbert Roger, reported that there were 71 sponsors of the celebration and that the receipts were $355. A motion was unanimously adopted by the club to extend the club's appreciation to the burgess and town commissioners "for their cooperation and assistance in the celebration by lighting the town in a most creditable manner this year."

The committee was instructed to extend an invitation to Oliver Weybright and to local dairy management and Roy Bollinger to be guests of the club at the next meeting. The club extended a vote of thanks to the women who helped to prepare and serve the soup, sandwiches and cocoa for the free lunch at the celebration.

Prof. Lefever spoke to the club on his impressions of the functions of a Lions Club. This was the second time Prof. Lefever spoke before the local club.

His talk was a plea for full community participation in all community projects. He stressed the point that the true function of service clubs is to supply the motive force and support and encourage officials rather than to do the work or finance community projects themselves. People appreciate more what they have a part in and help to do, he said.

THANKS

Bernard J. Eckenrode, president of the Lions Club, this week issued an expression of appreciation to all those who shared the burden of promoting the recent Christmas celebration. Stated President Eckenrode: "Without their splendid cooperation, the affair could not have been the magnificent success it was."

BILL SEEKS PERMANENT ASSESSMENT

Announcement was made this week of the intended presentation of a bill in the State Legislature to keep the current bond tax of 15 cents on the $100 in effect locally for some years.

The present tax was effected in 1932 as a 20-year measure to pay for the town sewer system and will expire sometime next year, unless the Legislature grants the prayer of the town officials and extends it. The town has two remaining bonds of the original issuing to be paid off and this will be done before next year.

It is understood that State Senator Jacob R. Ramsburg will introduce the bill in the near future.

It was pointed out that if the measure is passed, it will not mean an additional hike in local tax rates. Emmitsburg now enjoys the lowest tax rate, for its size, in Frederick County.

However, in the face of rising costs of town maintenance, it was deemed advisable to retain the additional 15-cent revenue as long as possible.

In recent months the corporation has accepted a large part of the responsibility of maintaining the local fire company, and the added revenue is very much needed to keep up that assistance. It was added, by the town fathers, that there was even a possibility of a tax reduction, if current operating expenses do not increase further.

At a hearing before Magistrate Jacob E. Baker Saturday, Charles Kenneth Corbett, 21, Taneytown, and formerly of near Frederick, was found guilty of false pretense in cashing a worthless check and sentenced to serve 15 days in the Frederick jail.

Corbett was arrested recently at Taneytown and returned to Frederick. He was charged with passing a bad check at Emmitsburg. He had previously received suspended sentences totaling six years in Circuit Court at Westminster on bad check charges.

Fire Destroys Property Near Here

Fire believed to have started from a furnace in the basement of a concrete block garage building on the Emmitsburg Rd., seven miles north of here Monday afternoon completely destroyed the building and its contents, with loss estimated at $14,000. Most of the loss is covered by insurance, the owner, Carl A. Scheide, said.

The property, known as the Family Cabins, is located just south of the intersection of the Emmitsburg Rd. and Confederate Ave. and was purchased recently by Mr. Scheide and his wife, Anna M., formerly of Bayside, Long Island, N. Y., from Donald and Beulah Kiepps and Frederick T. and Sallie M. Rule. Possession was given Jan. 2.

The property consists of the concrete block building, formerly used as a garage; a concrete building adjoining, used as a grease pit; seven cabins and the home.

Mr. Scheide discovered the fire when he entered a rear basement door. He said the beams in the ceiling were on fire and he saw electric sparks. He ran to his home and telephoned the Gettysburg Fire Co. The alarm was received at 2:30. Later Vigilant Hose Co. of Emmitsburg and Barlow Fire Co. were called.

Miss Loretta Boyle, a student nurse at the Frederick Memorial Hospital is home spending a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Boyle, E. Main St.

Thomas Beall, USN, visited with relatives and friends in Emmitsburg Wednesday. He is a chief petty officer and is stationed in Cuba.

Miss Phyllis M. Bower, Hagerstown, visited with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower, Monday evening.

POLIO DRIVE STARTS MONDAY

The 1951 March of Dimes begins Monday in Maryland and throughout the nation as a massive attack against the only epidemic disease known to man that is still on the increase—a disease which in the last three years struck down more than 100,000 people and cost the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis an unprecedented $60,000,000 for patient-care alone.

Former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, who again heads the March of Dimes campaign, said today that every phase of community life in the Free State is represented among the volunteers who are starting the campaign Monday with the avowed intention of raising more money than ever before for the fight against polio during the two weeks of the drive, ending on January 31. "The need confronting us," Mr. Radcliffe said, "is the greatest in the history of our 13-year-old battle against polio. The costs of the last three tragic years of polio have left the National Foundation's epidemic aid funds exhausted.

"Moreover, in Maryland, where we are now in the process of counting up the havoc of more than 700 cases in 1950 alone—the worst polio year that our state has ever had—many of our county March of Dimes chapters are without funds. Many others owe money which they had to borrow to meet bills in the Foundation's affirmed goal of taking care of every polio victim who needs help.

"Many thousands of men, women and children left crippled by past epidemics in Maryland and the nation depend upon March of Dimes for a fighting chance to achieve some degree of normalcy. And, too, we must face the inevitable outbreak of 1951, with the unknown number of new patients."

Bennett Heads County

Alton Y. Bennett, Frederick attorney, is chairman of the county drive and is expected to name district chairmen throughout the county within the next few days.

Senator Radcliffe urged all Marylanders to send dollars this year, not dimes. Simply by addressing the letter to March of Dimes, in care of the postmaster of the town in which you live, the funds will be sent to the County Chapter headquarters in Frederick, he said. He also advised contributors to give in the county in which they reside.

TROOPERS PROMOTED

The following children of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wayne McLaughlin were received into the membership of Elias Ev. Lutheran Church by the Sacrament of Baptism Sunday: Linda Lucy, Dennis Roger, and Suellen Marie.

The State of the Union

President Truman's preoccupation with mobilization and foreign policy in his State of the Union message Monday reflected the unhappy State of the World. Shunting the Fair Deal program into the background, at least momentarily, he made it clear that the nation must give top priority to the job of preparing itself and its allies against Russian aggression.

In a sense, the message was a reply to such critics of the Administration's foreign policy as former President Hoover and Senator Taft. Rejecting any idea of retreat, either in Asia or Europe, the President declared that "All free nations are exposed and all are in peril. Their only security lies in banding together. No one nation can find protection in a selfish search for a safe haven from the storm."

At the same time, the President astutely refrained from taking a resentful attitude toward his critics. Welcoming debate as an aid to arriving at wise decisions, the President said he asks the Congress not for unanimity but for responsibility. It is possible, he noted, to have unity of purpose and effort without lessening the vitality of the two-party system.

On his recommendations for legislation, Mr. Truman was vague. He cited the need for higher taxes to pay for a tremendous defense effort, but gave no indication as to how much would be sought or from what source. That will come later.

Again, he asked for revision and extension of authority to expand production and to stabilize prices, wages, and rents, but he failed to ask Congress for such specifics as relaxation of present restrictions in the Defense Production Act controlling farm prices, without which economic stabilization is virtually impossible.

Still vague, the President failed to renew his call for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, but asked instead for "improvement" of our labor laws.

In all, the message left the impression that Mr. Truman has undergone much tempering in the crucible of our times. Realizing the danger facing the nation and its allies, he carefully refrained from saying anything likely to antagonize any considerable number of our citizens. While it was not a particularly inspiring performance, the President at least controlled his usual impulse to get into a domestic fight. He has obviously realized, quite correctly, that the nation's energies can be put to better use.

Report From Washington States Country's Survival Is At Stake

By HERBERT R. O'CONNOR
U. S. Senator From Maryland

Echoes of President Truman's "State of the Union" message had not died away before conflicting views as to our nation's foreign policy were expressed by Senators and other public officials in Washington this week.

The official statement of Administration policy with regard to the achievement of world security, and particularly with reference to the situation in the Far East, completed the cycle of official and semi-official discussions on this vital matter, begun by former President Herbert Hoover, and followed by former Senator Dulles, with the Republican position placed officially before the Senate last Friday by Senator R. A. Taft.

In the cloak rooms of the Senate and the House, where the members of Congress gather for their private discussions, the question of Area Defense, and the Atomic Bomb as a deterrent of retaliatory power were debated pro and con, a debate to which the public will be called upon to listen many times in the weeks and months ahead.

Mixed with all the arguments as to whether the United States should abandon Korea and conserve its power while it sought to strengthen its military forces and to build up its supply of armaments and planes, was the question of whether Britain and the Western European nations would support the United States in its attempt to place the stigma of aggression squarely upon Communist Russia. It was feared by some that in line with its former policies towards the Chinese Communist regime, Great Britain, might persuade our allies in Europe to appease Russia by dodging the issue of Russia's blame at this time.

In this regard I would like to quote from an address in Baltimore dealing with my position on foreign affairs:

"Vast problems beset the world today. In attempting their solution, however, one fact must be kept uppermost in mind. The real problem facing the United States today is SURVIVAL!

"With survival in the balance in this fight against Communism the situation calls for energetic, prompt and unified action on the part of every loyal citizen of America. For what is done here in the United States will determine the fate of the world for decades, possibly centuries, to come. Only the United States today stands between the hundreds of millions of people now free from Communist domination, and the slavish control of Moscow's minions.

"Only as our nation can build up military and economic strength beyond that of the Communists will it be possible to preserve the present balance in the world. By now it has become clearly apparent that the only thing which the Communist leaders respect is incalculable power. Most urgent, is it, therefore, that the full power and resources of the United States military and industrial, be mobilized—not next month, not when the Communists strike again in some other section of the world—but now, immediately!

"It is admittedly impossible to recruit from our young men here in America an army large enough to police the world. It would be sheer stupidity to assume or to act on the assumption that the United States has the super strength necessary to overpower the great masses of Asiatics available to Communism, under the impossible conditions of distance, climate and terrain there prevalent. It is essential that American power be conserved judiciously, for it may well happen on some not too distant day that for the first time in more than a century and a third residents of the United States would be called upon to repel foreign invaders.

"It is imperative that we look first to American interests, and to demand from our allies that co-operation, as envisioned in the North Atlantic Pact, be a two-way street with activity in evidence on both sides. Without conceding one bit from recognition that world security will be

Victim of Maryland's Worst Polio Year

Beverly Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Miller, Taneytown, is one of the 700 victims of polio in Maryland during 1950—the state's worst polio year. Four out of five victims need the help of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which this year is urging all Marylanders to give double—to help with funds to keep the tragedy from our own home. The campaign is from Jan. 16 to Jan. 31.

"All Americans will soon have the opportunity to set their extra dime to work marching against polio," Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Dept. of Health, wishes to remind the people of Maryland. "The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which is conducting its annual March of Dimes campaign from Jan. 15 through Jan. 31, needs and deserves the support of every man, woman and child. Contributions of only one dime are welcome although it is, of course, hoped that individuals will give in proportion to their financial ability.

"Funds collected support the essential work of the National Foundation established by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The voluntary contributions made each year throughout the country are used to finance research and to provide medical care, hospitalization and other services for the victims of this crippling disease.

"This year generous support is especially important because of the high incidence of polio in many sections of the United States during the summer and fall of 1950. Many patients who contracted the disease during these months will continue to require hospitalization and care in 1951, in addition to those who may suffer attacks of infantile paralysis this year.

"Although much remains to be discovered regarding the cause of polio and its means of transmission from one person to another a great deal can be accomplished by application of our present knowledge. Although we cannot prevent the disease from occurring, medical science can contribute much to the patient's well being and minimize the crippling effects. Hospitalization during the acute stages of this disease, followed by good convalescent care, is of the utmost importance. The March of Dimes campaign is conducted each year in order to make the best in modern treatment available to every polio patient of economic level.

"In Maryland the local organization of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis co-operates with the Department's Bureau of Maternal and Child Health and Services for Crippled Children in providing hospitalization and care for persons suffering from polio or its crippling effects. The agency also cooperates with hospitals, private physicians and others concerned with providing the best possible care for residents of Maryland who become victims of the disease."

achieved only through collective security efforts, there must be appreciation of the danger of committing ourselves beyond safe limits.

"By this there is no thought of suggesting abandonment of our European allies; no thought of severance of United Nations ties. But as we have all-too-late come to a realization of the need for extraordinary efforts here at home to overcome the effects of the lethal inertia which has hamstrung American efforts for security, so must we lay upon our allies the responsibility for matching United States efforts with stepped-up defense programs of their own.

"America's survival, and with it the survival of all free nations, is involved. Only by concerted and unparalleled efforts for defense can we hope to stem and finally to defeat the military colossus of militant Communists."

Of the utmost importance to the smaller business concerns in Maryland and throughout the country, is an inquiry to be initiated next Thursday by the Senate Select Committee on Small Business of which I am privileged to be a member, with regard to critical shortages of key materials.

While Secretary Marshall, in a forceful memorandum to the army, navy and air force, directed that defense contracts should be spread across industry as widely as possible to make the fullest possible use of small business concerns, our committee has found that small business today is critically handicapped by material shortages. As a result of the inquiry to be initiated our committee will base its program to make available to small business concerns the strategic materials without which they cannot operate.

HARRY GUY CRAWFORD

Harry Guy (Jack) Crawford, of Elkridge, Western Maryland Railway employe, died at St. Agnes' Hospital, Baltimore, Sunday evening, Dec. 31, after an illness of 10 days, at the age of 51 years. Death was attributed to coronary thrombosis.

The deceased was a son of the late C. Frederick and Lily Mae Crawford of Graceham. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Lyne Crawford; one daughter, Mrs. Catherine Reifsnider, Thurmont; two sons, Frederick A. Crawford, Aurora, Colo., and Donald Crawford, at home; four grandchildren, and these sisters and a brother: Miss Bessie Fisher, of Rocky Ridge; Mrs. Elsie Grimsley, Baltimore; Mrs. Louise Kelly, Ft. Meade; Mrs. Edythe Harbaugh, Thurmont and Glenn Crawford, Baltimore.

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning. Interment was made in Elkridge.

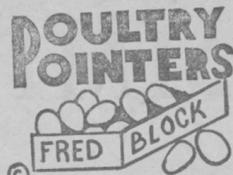

Mrs. James Brown, near Emmitsburg, is a patient at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, for observation.

$3.37 in November and $3.12 in December a year ago. Local butterfat prices were 67 cents per pound in December, 67.4 cents in November, and 65.8 cents in December, 1949. At these prices a pound of butterfat would buy 18.7 pounds of feed ingredients in December, 20 in November, and 21.1 pounds a year earlier.

An advance of over 10 cents per dozen in egg prices more than offset higher feeding costs and raised the egg-feed ratio in December 11 per cent above the November level. The cost of ingredients of a representative poultry ration in December was $3.71 per 100 pounds in the North Atlantic region compared with $3.51 in November and $3.27 in December, 1949. Egg prices averaged 68 cents per dozen Dec. 16, an advance of 10.2 cents per dozen from Nov. 15 and 19.6 cents above Dec. 15, 1949. At these prices a dozen eggs would buy 18.3 pounds of feed ingredients in December compared with 16.5 in November and 14.8 pounds a year ago.

Maryland Grain Market
Baltimore grain markets were strong last week. Wheat strengthened further with an advance of about two cents per bushel in the average price on the Baltimore market. Yellow corn continued on an upward trend with gains of about two cents per bushel in No. 2 shelled and about four cents per bushel in ear corn. Nearby barley increased about one cent per bushel during the past week with quotations held in a narrower range. Western white oats were firm. Soybeans advanced about one cent per bushel.

National Grain Market
Grain markets became more active during the first week in January and prices made moderate to sharp advances, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Adverse reports from the Korean war front, an advance in parity prices, efforts of millers and buyers to accumulate stocks, and heavy feeding of grain in the central west were made only moderate gains influenced in part by the more favorable conditions in the winter wheat belt, but feed grains advanced two to five cents per bushel, a new high for the season on oats and barley. Soybeans held steady but prices were unchanged from the previous week.

Pullorum

It is good to learn something about pullorum, particularly a short time before most people start raising replacements for the next season.

Pullorum is a disease which is more dangerous to peepies than to adult birds. When not checked in time it causes the majority of the chicks to die. The most typical symptom is the so-called pasted-up condition, which means the condition when the droppings adhere to the portions around the vent. It is caused by a whitish diarrhea. Some other external symptoms are drowsiness, ruffled feathers, droopy wings and loss of appetite. There are, however, quite often no other external symptoms to recognize, but that chicks stand huddled up, as if cold, and that they are droopy with little pep. A heavy death rate usually begins 48 to 96 hours after hatching. Chicks which die soon after hatching usually show no other internal symptoms, but those which survive for a longer period of time and die, show mostly a typical brick-red discoloration of the liver, which normally is yellow during the first weeks of a chick's life. The yolk sack which has been absorbed normally after the first few days of life usually is unabsorbed. If there is no other symptom other than unabsorbed yolk sack it is more than likely due to another condition, the so-called omphalitis.

To make sure whether or not there is pullorum present, have a laboratory take a test, which can be made in approximately 48 hours. Most experts can diagnose the situation in a shorter time.

If you bought your chicks from any of the co-operating hatcheries which are under the National Poultry Improvement Plan and who are authorized to use the emblem U. S. for advertising their chicks, you do not have to worry much about this wasteful disease and profit-taker, pullorum. The signs U. S. pullorum controlled, or better pullorum clean, gives the purchaser of chicks the assurance that chicks were produced in accordance with the requirements of the National Poultry Plan and the U. S. emblem is limited to those participating in the plan. It guarantees not only for pullorum clean, but also that white egg producing birds lay eggs reasonably free from tints, and also that you do not receive seconds, culls, or chicks abnormal for the variety and breed you ordered.

As tried to explain the background of the work which has been accomplished by the method of this plan, it does not intend to prejudice against reliable breeders of poultry who do not participate in the plan. The advice not to buy from hatcheries not belonging to the plan may be particularly taken by inexperienced raisers of poultry who do not want to "learn the hard way," however, as mentioned before, there are some of the most outstanding breeders of poultry who go their own way. Such breeders do their own testing, and pullorum stays out of their place.

Three rats will usually eat as much grain daily as two top-production laying hens.

Young Adult Club Meets

The League of Young Adults of the Lutheran Church held its January meeting Tuesday night in the parish house with Clarence Hahn presiding. In the absence of the regular secretary, Mrs. Harry T. McNair acted in this capacity.

Each member present answered the roll call by taking a part in the program. Henry Charlton made a report to the group of the showing of the film, "The Littlest Angel," to the children of the church. The film was sponsored by the LOYAL group.

A social hour followed the devotional and business meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Janicke were guests.

Miss Lois Keilholtz, Rt. 1, who has been confined to her home for some time, expects to be back in school soon.

Dorsey Boyle, Baltimore, spent last Friday night with his mother, Mrs. Harry S. Boyle.

Henry Warthen, Baltimore, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Topper, Ferndale, were guests over the week-end of Mrs. Ray Topper and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tressler.

Milk One of County's Biggest Source Of Income

Milk cows are one of Frederick County's biggest agricultural money makers. The milk they produce is currently earning over $12 million a year for the county's dairy farmers, reports indicate.

A company, which has just opened a large paper milk container plant near Baltimore to serve dairies in Maryland and adjacent states, goes on to explain that Maryland's $62-a-year milk producing industry is the state's largest source of farm income.

The value of Maryland-produced milk has more than tripled since 1925—from about $18 million to its current level.

Impetigo and Scabies

Two of the most common diseases seen particularly in children of school age, are impetigo and scabies. One can go through the schools at most any time and find one or more cases of each or both. This, I believe, is partly because parents do not realize that both of these diseases are highly contagious and that children with these diseases should be kept out of school until they have recovered, just the same as you would whooping cough or any other of the childhood diseases. The fact that they are not sick with either one of the two, does not preclude that it is all right for them to attend school. They definitely should not be in school!

Impetigo is a contagious disease characterized by the appearance of an open "sore," which forms a "scab" or crust on it. The disease is usually communicated by direct contact with the "sores" or by contact with the discharges from them. It is easily spread from one part of the body to another by scratching or the hands carrying the infection by contact to other parts of the body.

The typical skin lesions at first often look like a small "water blister," which shortly seems to develop yellow pus in it. These open or are opened, leaving a red, raw, oozing ulcer which then develops a crust or scab on it.

The favorite site for these to appear are on the face, but it may appear or be carried to any part of the body.

Impetigo, if promptly treated, can be cleared up in a few days, but may last for weeks if no effort is made to secure treatment.

Scabies or "the itch," is a contagious disease caused by a tiny mite burrowing into the skin and secondary infection usually occurring on top of this, due to scratching. The lesions may occur any place on the skin but are most commonly seen in more or less moist and protected places, such as around the navel and waist and under the arms, in the groin, between the fingers.

Scabies is commonly transmitted through all the members of the family, and its spread can scarcely be avoided when children sleep together.

One very important point should be emphasized in regard to the treatment of scabies—that is, every infected member of the family should be treated at the same time, or reoccurrence is certain. Also the itch mites infest not only the skin of infected persons, but their clothing, night - clothing and bedclothes. Therefore, complete cure will not be effected unless all clothes and bedding are either thoroughly boiled or washed or dry-cleaned at the same time that the skin of the infected person is also being treated.

Let me repeat, that any child with either of these diseases, should not be in school until such time as their lesions are healed and their skin clear.

Chevrolet Division Sets Production Record

DETROIT, Jan. 12—Two all-time records for biggest year's production by a single company in the history of the automobile industry were announced this week by the Chevrolet Motor Division as it prepared for long-term defense commitments.

The first record is for U. S. plants alone, 2,015,150, the second is for total production of 2,107,493, including Canadian plants—as is traditional in automobile industry record-keeping. Both exceed old records that have stood since 1923.

"This achievement makes Chevrolet the first manufacturer to have built more than 2 million vehicles in U. S. plants in a single year," T. H. Keating, Chevrolet general manager, said. "The result is to place car owners in the strongest position possible to weather the foreseeable inroads on civilian production expected to be made by defense requirements over the months ahead."

Civilian cutbacks at Chevrolet will begin immediately, Mr. Keating said, but will be light in the first quarter and will be gradual while new defense work, now in the planning stage, is being translated into actual contracts.

Chevrolet's 1950 results were accomplished under dramatic circumstances. The schedules were set long in advance, but with scarcely a month to go on them, Government orders for the allocation of scarce materials threatened to cost 35,000 December's production and cause layoffs of several thousand employees in Chevrolet's nationwide network of 25 plants in 19 cities in 10 states.

Four Millions Are Spent for State Phone Improvements

Expenditures of $4 million for the improvement and expansion of telephone facilities throughout Maryland were authorized this week by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City. These expenditures bring the total approved for new telephone construction in the state during 1950 to $17,952,000.

The largest sum authorized was $2.5 million which will be expended for a great number of relatively small projects involving the construction, replacement and removal of telephone plants in Maryland during the first quarter of 1951.

The directors also approved expenditures totaling $102,000 for the expansion of outside plant and central office facilities in various sections of the state.

Gain Shown In Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses issued in Frederick County showed their first increase since the days of World War II in the year which ended Dec. 31, records maintained in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court showed.

The number of divorces granted showed a slight increase and the ratio of nine marriages to one divorce was just about maintained in the same fashion as in the preceding year.

The total number of licenses issued, nearly all of which were used, climbed 110 over the 1949 figures to 1171.

It appeared that the Korean fighting resulted in a spurt in weddings. Business was dull through May, but jumped perceptibly from June through October.

June, the traditional month of brides, was tops with 139.

Divorce decrees granted, the majority of them absolute, totaled 128, or 12 more than in the preceding year. But, just the opposite of marriages, the divorce business seemed to slacken to some extent in the latter part of the year.

Marriage licenses had dropped 300 in the preceding year and had been gradually falling since 1946, when the total was 1540.

Farm output per man-hour is now about twice what it was '40.

Survival At Stake

If Communist Russia should unleash its full-tide of war against the Western non-Communist nations in 1951, as some military observers expect it to do, the world would see for the first time the full devastating effect of a perfectly trained and strategically deployed Fifth Column in warfare. A strong sabotage or guerrilla apparatus, well-organized and skillfully commanded, exists in every non-Communist country and with only a few possible exceptions they would be able to work with terrible effectiveness as tactical arms of the Red Army.

The Communist Fifth Column in America wasn't quite 10 years ago when the free world was struggling to arm itself against a Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis that had suddenly gained Soviet Russia as an ally. But even then it was strong enough to have seriously hampered our armament production, had not Hitler's sudden attack on Russia switched the American Communists from saboteurs to frenzied war workers overnight. Today Moscow's world-wide Fifth Column is fully ready to strike at the heart of every nation outside the Iron Curtain on a given signal.

"Sabotage" Strike

During the Hitler-Stalin partnership of 1941 Communist officials of Local 248 UAM-CIO struck the sprawling Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee, and in spite of the fact that the local's members were predominately loyal Americans, production of vitally important machines for our Army was shut down for 76 days. FBI men called the strike "sabotage" by a Fifth Column and pointed to Harold Christoffel, the local's president, as instigator and leader. Christoffel was a Communist, taking orders from Moscow, and nine years later the government got around to sending him to Federal prison for perjury.

Since 1941 the American Communists have enjoyed a heyday. And their progress here has even been exceeded in 15 or 20 other nations. In France and Italy, toward which one prong of the Red Army would presumably strike its first blow, the Communists are probably strong enough in number and strategic deployment to be an immediate decisive factor. Their control reaches into top army posts, the government, labor unions, various institutions, and vital communications and transportation facilities.

Civil Rights!
In Socialist France, England and Italy very little has been done to neutralize the dormant menace of the Communist Fifth Column. In Australia, where Socialists were voted out, the new government is tackling the problem but it is being hamstrung every step of the way by those labor unions which are controlled by Communists, and an assorted array of sympathizers and dupes who cry civil rights!

In the U. S. eight unions which the CIO has branded Communist controlled and has kicked out of its organization, hold power in vital industries — electrical equipment, shipping, metals, etc. In event of full-scale war their leadership could conceivably use them to seriously cripple our armament production and possibly paralyze the nation. They are well embedded in every phase of our national life. The FBI says there are 55,000 known Communists and 550,000 fellow travelers who will carry out Moscow orders. Yet another authority says seven out of eight Communists work undercover, their identity carefully guarded.

A Starter Law
Congress last fall moved to cope with the Fifth Column by enacting the McCarran law but the Communists have defied it. With their puppets and dupes they've kept up a constant barrage against it, charging it infringes on the Communists' civil rights! The law is neither perfect nor adequate but its intent is sound and it gives the Justice Dept. for the first time something with teeth in it with which to protect our nation from a deadly internal

Climate Is No Barrier In Cure Of Tuberculosis

Although tuberculosis is a serious, communicable disease, it can be cured. Furthermore, it can be cured in any climate.

There was a time when people thought it was necessary for the tuberculous patient to go off in search of some far-distant "magic climate" if he expected to be cured. But there is no "magic climate" in the treatment of TB. Today we know that complete rest, which is best obtained in a tuberculosis hospital under medical supervision, is a major factor in arresting tuberculosis—not a "special climate," as was once believed.

As a matter of fact, many doctors believe that it is bad for the tuberculous patient to travel great distances for his treatment. They point out, moreover, that most patients today have access to a good care in a tuberculosis hospital within the borders of their own states, sometimes in the counties in which they live, or, at times, even in their own home town.

Tuberculosis is a long-term disease, and travel can involve needless loss of time in curing as well as unnecessary expense. Moreover, a needy patient may be eligible for free or low-cost treatment in his own locality.

In most cases, it is advisable for the patient to be near home so that it is easier for his family and friends to visit him. Far away from home, visits from those he knows and loves will be few, and the patient may become lonesome and restless, possibly delaying his fight back to health.

Dry air, mountain air, the pine country, or scenery alone never cured tuberculosis. The basic treatment is rest in a tuberculosis hospital and the best type of fresh air for the tuberculous patient is generally the kind found near his home.

Mr. J. Earl Elder, Pittsburgh, visited his mother, Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder, several days this week. While here Mr. Elder made a business trip to Philadelphia, accompanied by his mother.

Wooden floors make the best storing bases for commercial fertilizer.

The DAILY WORKER, official Communist publication, published in its Christmas issue a petition to President Truman signed by 63 clergymen in 25 states denouncing the government's intention to deport alien Communists, as permitted in the McCarran law. If these clergymen are sincere people, they are dangerously ignorant of the real character of Communism. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI chief, warned recently that every Communist "is working against American democracy and for the benefit of international Communism's chief leader, Soviet Russia." As a safeguard to our very existence, every citizen must be made aware of this truth about these enemies in our midst.

SURVIVAL UNDER ATOMIC ATTACK

(Seventh of a Series)

A few simple steps will go a long way toward keeping your house from being contaminated by lingering radioactive wastes scattered about in some bombings. As a rule, it is far easier to prevent radioactive pollution of a household than it is to remove it.

Keep all windows and doors closed for at least several hours after an atomic bombing. In fact, better leave them shut until civil defense authorities pass the word that there is no lingering radioactivity in your neighborhood. Should you get an official report that there is serious contamination in the vicinity, better cover all broken windows with blankets or cardboard.

Whenever there is widespread neighborhood pollution, it will be impossible to keep your house absolutely free of it. A little is bound to seep in through cracks or else down the chimney. (By all means close the dampers in fireplace flues and shut off air conditioners and ventilating fans not equipped with special filters.) Unless you are careful, some radioactivity is likely to be tracked in by people or pets. Keep your cat or dog indoors. And when you come in from outside, leave your shoes at the door, for their soles are likely to be covered with radioactive dusts. Better still, wear rubbers, galoshes or other disposable foot coverings over your shoes. Take these precautions, but don't worry. There isn't much chance really dangerous amounts will pile up in the house.

Should you help to clean up a contaminated area, you might get some radioactive materials on both your body and clothing. So don't go home and sit around in your work clothes. Take off your outer garments outdoors or in the basement. Then wash, if you can, using warm water and plenty of soap. Never fail to launder your working clothes, but don't use the family washing machine. Scrub all contaminated objects in buckets or tubs used for that purpose only.

What About Food and Water?

To prevent harm from accidentally eating or drinking radioactivity, throw out all unpackaged foods that were lying around where dust from ground bursts or mist from underwater bursts might have settled on them. And before opening canned or bottled goods, wash the outside of the containers thoroughly. That will remove most of the pollution that may have gotten on them. Also be sure that all cooking utensils and tableware are scrubbed clean in order to remove any invisible, radioactive dusts. Food and utensils that were in closed drawers or tight cupboards will be all right.

If it was an air burst, don't worry about the food in the house. It will be safe to use.

Be careful of drinking water after atomic explosions. There is little or no chance that water actually inside household pipes at the time of attack will be made radioactive. If a little is drawn off right after the burst and put in clean containers with covers, it should tide you over the immediate post-raid period.

But even if the water continues running, don't keep on using tap water for drinking purposes unless you have received official information that the city system is safe. This is not only because of radioactivity, but because of other dangers like typhoid that can come from damaged water systems. If you have to use city water before you get official information, boil it. Boiling won't remove radioactivity, but chances are that your water supply will be radioactive are pretty slim. Boiling will kill most germs that may get into damaged water mains.

Date Is Set For Fifth Annual Farmers Meeting

It was announced this week that the fifth annual Four-State Farmers' meeting will be held in Franklin Court Auditorium in Hagerstown, on Friday, Jan. 26. A unique affair, arranged through the co-operation of a committee of farmers from the area, agricultural extension services, agricultural experimental stations and the rural department of the Potomac-Edison Co., this meeting has become a popular fixture on the farm calendar.

Local farmers and county agents from this area who have assisted in the planning of the 1951 meeting are County Agent Henry Shoemaker, Charles H. Remsburg and Ray H. Smith.

A series of timely topics have been selected for the 1951 meeting that will be of unusual interest to all farmers in Maryland, Pennsylvania, W. Virginia, and Virginia.

As in previous years, the meeting will be an all-day session, with distinguished agriculturalists and leading farmers from this area participating. Time has been provided in the schedule so that those who wish to may direct personal queries to the program speakers.

More than 500 farmers from this and nearby counties attended last year's Four-State Farmers' meeting, and it is expected that an even larger audience will be present on Jan. 26 if weather conditions are good.

The meetings are unique in that they are farmer-planned and directed. As with other Farmers' meetings, this year's program is a result of three-way planning. A committee of farmers, county agents, and the rural representative of the Potomac-Edison Co. selected a program of subjects that farmers in this section of the country indicated were of greatest interest.

Hagerstown was selected as the winter meeting point because of its central location for farmers of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and W. Virginia.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12—I have been interested in a recent correspondence between President Truman and Rep. Hebert, a Democrat of Louisiana, who wrote the President asking that a certain day be appointed for national prayer. He distinctly asked that God should "endow officials with the wisdom and courage to make the right decisions." This request was well worded as too many of us are not content to ask God to help us make the right decisions; but, before praying we make the decisions for ourselves and ask God to see that they are carried out! It, however, is always sound to pray for wisdom and courage. If we would have such a prayer constantly on our mind in a spirit of thankfulness for such blessings as we have—without asking for definite things—we all might be much better off.

What Prayers Are Answered

Although President Truman's reply did not satisfy Mr. Hebert, yet the President's retort was very sound. It looks as if he were a better Bible student than Mr. Hebert as his reply was based on the Bible promise that "The prayers of the righteous availeth much." This means that in order to have our prayers answered, we must live a life that Jesus would approve; with kindness, unselfishness, and integrity. Jesus commanded that before we go to the altar to make our sacrifices and ask for blessings, we should first go to those whom we have wronged by act or word and secure their forgiveness, making restitution if possible. President Truman wisely hinted that this applies to most political leaders and to a large group of voters. We cannot expect an answer to our prayers while playing politics or talking unjustly about officials. Furthermore, those who have been too lazy or indifferent to vote, have a poor case when praying for better government. I, therefore, am 100% for President Truman in his reply to this and similar requests.

Although the above discussion has ended, it has brought up a most interesting fact which the President and all others in authority must some day recognize. I have in mind how decisions of Presidents, Senators, Congressmen, and other Federal, state, and city officials are affected by other factors. We all know that our own decisions are definitely affected by our health and home relations, especially what we did the night before. Health and habit have been responsible for the enactment of much bad legislation, the rendering of unjust court decisions, resulting even in sending innocent men to prison or perhaps to the gallows. But let me this week discuss other causes in which Washington is getting interested. I even found the Weather Bureau looking up conditions on the day the President, through the United Nations, directed our troops to land in Korea. Based on the conditions of that day, I believe his decision was sound, even though we may later pull out all our troops. It was worth all that it has cost to "smoke out" the Russians and awaken our own people. It would be a wonderful way to start off the New Year and the 82nd Congress.

Temperature and Humidity

Looking back over my life it is very evident that the two simple words "Yes" and "No" are of tremendous importance. My successors were due to saying yes when I should say yes, or no when I should say no; while my failures have been due to saying yes when I should have said no, or no when I also needed the courage to stick to the right decision! But should have said no. Of course, what determined these decisions of mine, in addition to the power of prayer, is whether I was leading a life to be classified as "righteous."

The weather at the time of these decisions has definitely influenced me. A hot and humid day will contribute to the wrong decision (even in an air-conditioned room); while a clear, dry day with a west wind will help me make a wise decision. But there must not be a strong enough wind to distract me. The reading of the barometer is also a factor, as we should make decisions only on the rising barometer. We should avoid making decisions when tired, ill or hurried. It is too bad that the officials and Congressmen here in Washington, upon whose decisions the nation's future depends, must live in such a hurly-burly environment. Irrespective of the possibility of bombing, these men should be 30 or more miles from Washington with spacious grounds and gardens where they will be assured of quietness and, if needed, solitude also.

What About Gravity?

Any well-known physicist will tell you that your state of mind is related to the circulation of your blood, which is affected by the pull of gravity. This is one reason for the importance of correct posture whether walking, sitting, or lying down. Swollen ankles, throbbing heads, and many other physical handicaps are lessened by changing our position so as to correct the gravity pull. This gravity pull applies to overweight, diet, lack of rest, and other factors. I am not superstitious, but the diary which I have kept for many years demonstrates that most of my good ideas came during the "no-moon" periods; furthermore, most of my foolish ideas came to me during the "full-moon" periods.

I wish to avoid any dogmatic statements or to ask for any impractical things; but I do wish that the President would ask some qualified person, already on the payroll, to make a thorough study of the above and learn whether or not I am justified in these conclusions. But I am not content to let only one man think on these things; but would like to get everyone in authority to consider them. A concrete suggestion would be to have these daily statistics on temperature, humidity, wind, barometer, and moon-phase printed on the front page of the Congressional Record each day. This would be no additional expense and could not be criticized by anyone.

Farm Self-Employment Not Under Social Security

By ED. R. YOUNG

Hagerstown Social Security Office. A farmer came into the Hagerstown Social Security office the other day and said: "I've heard that the new Social Security law covers farmers. I operate a farm in Frederick County."

Well, some farm people will come under Social Security on Jan. 1—but not farm operators. They will continue to be excluded because farm self-employment is not covered under the amended Social Security Act. Hired farm workers, however, will come under Social Security the first of the year, if they earn $50 or more cash wages in a calendar quarter and are regularly employed by one farm operator.

If I were addressing you in a hall, at this point, there would be a number of raised hands. First, you'd want to know what is meant by a regularly employed farm worker. Well, under the new Social Security law, in general, he is a person employed by one farm operator on a full-time basis for a period of several months. Now to answer the second question I know you would ask. A calendar quarter is a three-month period beginning on Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, and Oct. 1.

But back to the subject of a regularly employed farm worker. Let's take a typical example. We'll call such a farm worker Ed Smith. He is employed by Howard Jones. Ed has heard about the new Social Security, too. He has a wife and children, and he's looking forward to January, when he can start building toward old-age and survivors' insurance. Fortunately for Ed, he is in a position to do just that. He will be working continuously for Jones during the calendar quarter beginning this October. During that time, he will be establishing what is known as a "service relationship" with Mr. Jones. It will indicate that he wants to work continuously for this one farm operator and that Jones wants him as a regular employee.

Now let's look forward to Jan. 1. That's the date when regular farm work begins to count toward Social Security insurance. Ed will be qualified. However, he must work for Jones on a full-time basis for at least 60 days in the calendar quarter beginning Jan. 1. Moreover, he must earn not less than $50 in cash wages for his work on those 60 or more days. As long as he continues to do this much work for Jones in each calendar quarter and earns $50 or more in cash wages for his work in that quarter, his earnings will be credited toward old-age and survivors' insurance.

But suppose in the calendar quarter beginning April 1, or the one beginning July 1, or in any calendar quarter after that, Ed doesn't work as much as 60 days for Jones, although he was paid $50 or more cash wages for that period. He will be credited toward Social Security insurance for that quarter but not for the one to follow, regardless of days of work and amount of cash wages. That less-than-60-days of work broke his continuous employment relationship with Mr. Jones. Ed must start all over again.

What this all means is that a farm worker, to have his cash wages count toward old-age and survivors' insurance, must—first, work continuously through a calendar quarter to establish a service relationship, then be continuously employed by the same farm operator, and earn not less than $50 cash wages for 60 or more days of work in each consecutive calendar quarter.

In my next article I shall describe the kinds of work that are classed as farm work under the amended Social Security law.

Honey makes a delicious sauce for ice cream, and is an excellent sweetening in frozen desserts.

To Present Picture Travelogue

A travelogue, photographed last summer by John D. Roop, New Windsor real estate man, and showing what has become of many of the cattle given by the International Heifer Project Committee for overseas relief, will be given a free public showing at the Brethren Service Center, New Windsor, Monday at 8 p. m.

Well over 11,000 animals (cattle, horses and goats) have been sent to Europe and Asia by the Heifer Project Committee, which has its headquarters in New Windsor.

Two years ago, while on a vacation in Poland, Mr. Roop looked for HPC heifers and found one from his own herd, giving milk for blind children in Warsaw. Last summer he and Mrs. Roop were taken to a home for tubercular children near Rome, where he found cows wearing "Brethren Service" ear tags.

Mr. Roop is the author of the book "Christianity Vs. War." His film has been enthusiastically received in Baltimore and Hagerstown.

Mr. Roop, native Carroll County farmer, engineer and Johns Hopkins graduate, has caught much of the atmosphere of Europe and the Near East in pictures that range from a modern milk factory in Bavaria to the threshing in Palestine, street scenes in Joppa, toilers at work in Nazareth and bathing beauties in the Jordan River. Other pictures were taken in England, Germany and Italy.

Airport Offers Free Meeting Rooms Modern banquet meeting rooms in the new terminal building at Friendship International Airport, affording observatory views of the huge landing strips, will be available soon, free of charge, to the public, it was announced today.

Located on the second floor of the terminal, the rooms are being rushed to completion so as to enable civic groups, social clubs, industrial and commercial firms, and individual citizens to make early reservations. According to Walter F. Perkins, chairman of the City Airport Board, the rooms are adjustable in size through a system of trolleyed walls.

Mr. Perkins said that rooms will be ideal for luncheons, card parties, wedding receptions for air-bound honeymooners and business conferences. Airport Manager Karl Clarke said he expects the observation level to "hum all the time" with varied activities.

Al Green Enterprises, Detroit concessionaires, are completing the unique rooms, which are to be added to the many new facilities at Friendship, fast becoming Maryland's 'Airport City.'

your Rexall pharmacist protects you when he says... "I'm sorry, but that requires a prescription" Science has uncovered many drugs and narcotics that are useful during illness in assisting nature to restore normalcy to your body and mind. BUT, the misuse of many of them can bring anguish, pain and, in extreme cases, serious consequences. It is for this reason drugs such as barbiturates (sleeping tablets) require a doctor's prescription. It is for YOUR PROTECTION that your Rexall Pharmacist insists upon proper direction for use by qualified physicians. Valuable to medical practice, but dangerous when improperly administered are such drugs and chemicals as benzodrine, penicillin, thyroid extracts, dextroline, some hormone products, the sulfonamides and the newer discoveries such as aureomycin. If you need them, your doctor will prescribe them and your Rexall Pharmacist will be happy to dispense them. Therefore, please do not feel offended when you hear him say, "Sorry but that requires a prescription." He is carrying out the letter of the laws under which he operates and is conscious of the oath he took when he began his career in pharmacy. HOUSER'S REXALL DRUG STORE West Main St., Emmitsburg, Md.

Mounties Trim Terrors

Scoring 41 points through the hoops, Little Art Press's hot-hand was not enough to defeat the Mt. St. Mary's basketball team Monday night in a Mason-Dixon Conference game played at Memorial Gym, Emmitsburg.

Press poured in six set shots in a row, and piled up 23 points in the second half. The Mountaineers were a point behind at half time but quickly pulled away at the second half and had a 48-39 advantage after a minute and 45 seconds of play. The final score: Mount 93, Westminster 73.
