The town appears all agog week that the Government is purchasing 1100 acres of land from Zora to Blue Ridge Summit. Big things are in the wind and all sorts of rumors are circulating. It appears certain conjecture. I can't believe anything but that it will start its Government property, it is begun. doubtful that many of the itinerant citizens will be permitted to reside on the grounds, and Why, of course, Emmitsburg, Ridge Summit and knifed. Waynesboro. Just where would we put 20,000 Government workers (employes) I mean? Yes, things appear to be on the upgrade for the old burg . . . Talk about the proposed Community Hall is persistent and it is believed that several local organizations are planning to go together and work in unison in promoting several fund-raising events, presumably a gigantic carnival next summer, as one of the things. I know of four organizations already that have had the foresightedness and public welfare at heart, that have named committees to work on the affair so that when materials are actual construction. We feel it duty last May. is the duty of EVERY organidough to make a go of a thing of this sort, and the more that assist the sooner it will be carnival, picnic, horse show, or what have you, wouldn't net the building fund a couple of erick. thousand bucks a year to pay I believe our goal could easily Chapel Parish at Catoctin. be achieved. Anyway, let's get the bank account started this Corp. Graduates summer.

It appears as though Harold Hoke's American Legion basketball team is off to another successful season. The quintet has won its last two games in grand style and seems certain to live up to expectations of last year, when it dropped only one contest. Home games are played on the EHS floor with game time at eight oclock.

And, by the way, more and more local fans are familiarizing themselves with the new Memorial Gym at Mt. St. Mary's College. Pete Caruso's Mountaineers are playing a stellar brand of ball and at present are leading the Mason-Dixon Conference with five straight wins. Fans don't realize it, but instead of having to travel to the big city to see top basketball games, the best in the State of Maryland can be seen in action right here at home! Often times we don't appreciate the good things here at home, simply because they are local, but it's a fact, the best basketball in the whole State is being played right here in Emmitsburg.

And while on the subject of sports, baseball is just around the corner. At the end of this month, just two weeks off, the new manager of the Emmitsburg baseball team will have been elected for another season. Who's it going to be? I

March of Dimes funds, by the millions, have been expended for patient care, research and professional education. YOU CAN HELP make sure the battle against polio continues until the disease is conquered, by joining the 1951 March of Dimes now.

March of Dimes Research

Through the microscope, a March of Dimes-supported research scientist examines a section of tissue (shown enlarged in insert indicated by arrow) which has been attacked by polio virus. The nerve cell, showing the peculiar kind of damage inflicted by the virus, came from an animal experimentally infected with material believed to contain polio virus. Since the virus itself is too small to be seen under the microscope, scientists are forced to use this roundabout method of proving its presence. March of Dimes funds are aiding in the search for simpler and more direct detection work.

SURVIVAL UNDER ATOMIC ATTACK

What About Radios and Telephones?

Neither explosive nor lingering radioactivity has any effect on the operation of most mechanical or electrical devices. Unless the wires are down or there is a power failure, both your lights and telephone should continue to work. But don't rush to the phone just to find out how Aunt Susie may have weathered the attack. Leave the lines open for real emergency traffic.

The bomb's radioactivity will not interfere with the operation of your radio. In the event of attack, be sure to turn it on. It may be your main source of emergency instructions. And don't forget: Battery-operated portable sets, including those installed in automobiles, will continue to work even if the city power goes off. Television reception, like radio, won't be jammed by radioactivity.

What About Automobiles?

One more household suggestion: In times of emergency don't park the family automobile on the street. Leave the way clear for emergency traffic. Keep the windows rolled up to prevent possible contamination of the interior by underwater or ground bursts and don't worry whether or not it will run. Radioactivity won't interfere with operation of its fuel or ignition system.

What About Children?

Everything related this far holds true for all members of the family, including children, old people, or shut-ins. It would be a good idea to talk over the facts with all members of the family to be sure each understands. People with school children should discuss the articles printed with teachers and other parents at P-TA meetings and similar gath-

You may be sure that, in times of emergency, all schools will be well organized for the protection of children.

Children old enough to understand can be taught to do the right things. Younger children simply will have to depend on their parents.

To Sum Up

To sum up, always remember that blast and heat are the two greatest dangers you things that you do to protect yourself from these dangers usually will go a long way toward providing protection from the explosive radioactivity loosed by atomic explosions.

While the lingering radioactivity that occasionally follows some types of atomic bursts may be dangerous, still it is no more to be feared than typhoid fever or other diseases that sometimes follow major disasters. The only difference is that we can't now ward it off with a shot in the arm; you must simply take the known steps to avoid it.

Health

By J. H. ALLISON, M. D.

The question is often asked: "How do children who live in relatively widely scattered rural areas develop or contact the children's contagious diseases? How could there possibly be any connection between Johnny Smith who lives near Rocky Ridge having scarlet fever, the measles, etc., and Willy Jones, who lives near Tom's Creek Church, having the same thing"? The answer lies in the fact that they probably contacted each other in one or all of the three most common places where all childhood diseases are contacted—that is school, Sunday schools or the movies. The fact that one child developed the disease from the other may indicate, though not necessarily so, that one parent or the other may have been lax in allowing their child out when he actually is as yet contagious for other children. Nowadays most mothers can and do recognize the common contagious diseases of childhood. Many of these diseases are never seen by a doctor because of the fact that the children are not very sick and recover spontaneously. However, many mothers do not know the safe periods in which a child can go out or return to school following many of these illnesses, and by allowing the child to resume his normal life too early are nevertheless contributing to the spread of the diseases.

With this in mind we have listed below what is in our opinion, the minimum safe period or period after which a disease is no longer communicable, in which a child can return to normal social life, to school, etc., without any great danger of spreading the dis-

Taxes On Gasoline Prove Most Costly To State Motorists

Gasoline taxes added 34% to the cost of gasoline for Maryland motorists during 1950, it was announced this week by J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee, of Baltimore.

"With so many types of taxes o pay, some people are inclined to overlook or to minimize the gasoline tax," Mr. Lanigan said. 'Yet many citizens will find it among the most expensive taxes imposed on them, and it adds very materially to everyone's mofor vehicle operating costs. In fact, the high cost of gasoline taxes-together with other special state and federal taxes levied against motor vehicles - have caused the motorists to be so often called the most heavily axed person in our state."

He pointed out that the total 6½ cents a gallon gasoline tax in Maryland actually consists of two taxes, a five cents state levy and a federal impost of 11/2

His statement that gasoline taxes increased gasoline cost by 34% in Maryland during 1950 was based on an authoritative oil industry compilation of average gasoline prices for the year in representative cities.

Good News For America

Many events of the past few weeks and months have disturbed and alarmed the American people. Some of the calmest among my acquaintances are, for the first time in their lives, downright pessimistic. But this column is written after a swing through several midwestern industrial areas and the things seen and heard would strengthen anybody's confidence in the USA. America has potentially the brain power, the industrial might and the moral strength to become unconquerable. I was never more certain of that.

It will require high caliber leadership to properly channel these elements, but it can be done. In direct circumstances they would somehow mobilize themselves. Last week I spent three days talking to some of the top industrial executives in America and found them already subordinating every other interest to the growing urgent problem of making this nation militarily strong. A full day was spent at the big La Grange (Illinois) plant of General Motors Electro-Motive Division where 11,000 men and women employes and an in genious management team are daily performing production miracles.

Tumultuous Order As I walked through the clattering, tumultuous buildings housing Electro Motives interconnected assembly lines and saw huge streamliner diesel locomotives rising out of the mile-long jungles of automotive and electromotive parts, it seemed impossible that there could be any strict organization, any pattern or disciplined order whatsoever in all this ebbing and flowing commotion. But as I paused to closely watch the activities of a unit of men at work and noted the precise movement of materials into their particular orbit of action, then turned my eyes here and there and became aware of the same thing happening all about me, a thrilling tingle began to creep up the muscles of my back. Revealed in bold relief was the miraculous rhythm controlling the whole sweep of activity in this sprawling giant of mass production.

Citizens Know The Score

Millions of parts-for the powerful diesel motors, the big copper electrogenerators, and the sleek locomotive bodies in which they ride—are manufactured in this La Grange plant. It even makes the greater part of the thousands of machines on which the locomotive parts are manufactured. Loads of raw materials flow into the plant throughout the day. Astonishingly, every two hours there emerges a brightly painted, streamlined, diesel locomotive.

.The Psychological Corp. has just concluded a nationwide study which revealed that 73 per cent of the people appreciate the part such big industries are playing in improving the American living standard and as bulwarks of our military strength. These people say they want the big companies thus disagree with those government officials and politicians who are constantly atness and industry, apparently for political purposes.

Benefits of Bigness With my visit to the GM loany one of our countrys several thousand such big plants without seeing and understanding clearly that they are the pacemakers and the very sinew ress. While the big companies Hargraves, Arlington, Va. have been having their swiftest growth, the little ones have are nearly 4 million. The big ones make business and customers for smaller ones; in fact, GM buys from more than 100,000 smaller companies.

At Electro-Motives La Grange plant, as elsewhere in American industry, shrewd management and sound operational policy have directly improved the lot of employes. Available at Electro-Motive is a splendid hospital, a cafeteria which serves 2400 meals in 12 minutes (soup 8c, Salisbury steak dinner 55c), showers and lockers, recreational facilities, free m o tives, insurance, pension benefits, etc. Outside the plant as I departed after addressing its 1500 foremen stood 3500 automobiles waiting to carry their employe owners to comfortable homes. Communism cannot win American men and women like these. And backed up by our great American industries our nation will not easily be conquered by any mili-

Flu Epidemics Despite New Drugs

Despite the millions of lives lost over the years during influenza epidemics, it is believed that the disease itself is rarely responsible for fatalities. However, complications which often follow influenza may cause death. The most commo of these is pneumonia. Influenza may also have an adverse effect on tuberculosis.

There are various types of influenza, all of which are caused by a virus, or tiny germ. The milder forms of influenza resemble a severe cold, with chills and fever, extreme exhaustion, and aches and pains in the muscles.

The severe form of influenza most often occurs in epidemics, when the disease spreads rapidly through the community, or throughout the nation, as it did in 1918. High fever, prostration, and excruciating muscular pain accompany the severe form.

Influenza is believed to be spread from person to person, most commonly through "uncovered" coughs and sneezes of the sick person when droplets of moisture containing the influenza virus are sprayed into the air and inhaled by those near the patient.

Although the acute stage of influenza usually has a short but severe period of a week or less, it often leaves its victim exhausted for several days. To avoid relapse and regain his lost strength, the recuperating patient should rest completely before returning to routine tasks for as long as the doctor thinks neces-

At the first sign of symptoms that might mean influenza, the sick person should go to bed and call the doctor without delay. The dangerous complications of influenza can usually be avoided if the doctor is called in time and if his advice is carefully followed.

Visitors should be kept away from the influenza patient, for their own sake as well as for the good of the sick person, since the disease is contagious. Moreover, even seemingly healthy visitors can bring germs into the sick room which might complicate the patient's fight against his influ-

There is not yet a specific preventive against influenza, although medical science continues its search for a protective vaccine. Right now, the best defense we know of against influenza is good personal hygiene, including adequate rest and sleep, a wellbalanced diet, and the avoidance of chilling. While observing the rules of good health does not guarantee that influenza will never strike, it lessens the likelihood of contracting the disease.

That decision was that the Clayton Act did not prohibit a monopoly from buying up the assets of a small competitor. Don't be misled by the first official public apathy to the pre-Christmas speech made by Herbert Hoover on the need for this country to prepare to defend itself militarily and economically, and to stop trying to carry on with a global WPA.

Hoover's speech bit deep; will be referred to again and again in debates coming up in even greathe new Congress convening on Congress.

A significant victory for those | Monday. His speech was well received by the majority of small business, especially when he so strongly pointed out that if Europe and America are to be united in joint defense, Europe must put up an equal share. In the meantime, American boys should be kept at home.

As it stands now, America is at an economic crossroads. But signs are encouraging.

Strongly organized independent business could become the key factor in the defense program. The new Congress may take steps to assure that the nation's independent business receives a greater share of government orders.

There are some who take the viewpoint that the appointment of the head of a big corporation to head up defense production, Charles Wilson of General Electric, makes such a move doubt-

But Wilson, hailed as a production genius, is accustomed to operating mass production lines that depend on hundreds, thousands of parts suppliers. Besides, in the past, Wilson has been very cooperative with small business. He could engineer a plan whereby thousands of small manufacturers in towns all over the nation would turn out the produc-

BY MAJOR GENERAL ROY H. PARKER?

Chief of Chaplains, United States Army

Almighty God, the Creator and Preserver of all mankind, we commend to Thy special care and keeping those serving in our Army Though they be in the midst of dangers, do Thou send Thy guardian angels for their protection Walk beside them as they go through the valley of the shadow of death.

Knowing that all good things come from Thee, grant them courage and loyalty, through a firm faith in freedom's cause, in the present conflict. When sacrifices are called for, let them be made in the knowledge that Thou art the rewarder of Thy servants Enable them to live valiantly and serve nobly, in the full realization that no man liveth unto himself Grant them clear minds, strong bodies, resolute wills, and pure hearts free from hatred and bitterness, renewing them each and every day with strength, like strong men of old, who against enthroned wrong stood with confidence and courage.

Awaken in them a lively faith that will keep them close to Thee. Enable them to rest their cause upon Thy Word that though the foe be strong, yet knowing the cause as they battle for the right, they can never fail Fill their hearts with the assurance that with Thee nothing is impossible and that all things work together for good to them that love Thee

If it be Thy will that injuries be sustained, let them exper-lence the touch of Thy healing hand and do Thou bless the means and the ministries employed for the restoration of their health.

In these difficult times, when the forces of evil are running rampant and many hopes seem about to be crushed, fill their hearts with an abiding sense of Thy reality and the certainty of Thy continual presence Enable them to look to Thee when loneliness and longing overtake them; fulfill their yearnings by granting them Thine own companionship and fellowship. Enable them to realize the full meaning of Thy promise, "Lo. I am with you always.

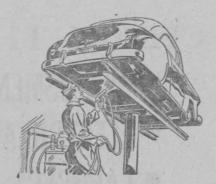

Thou who are the Protector and Helper as well as the Giver of victory, grant unto them every good gift of body and soul and unite us with them in faith and love unceasing Amen.
