Harry Truman isn't the first United States President to have trouble with a military officer and he probably won't be the last. High officers in the armed forces have always shown a tendency to take matters into their own hands.

The founding fathers suspected that professional soldiers would try to dominate the civil government. That is why they took such precautions as planning a national defense system around the state militia. Distrust of the military led early in our history to the tradition that civilians would head the War and Navy Departments.

Naval commanders in the Pacific, long before MacArthur, were known to act as proconsuls. In the days when poor communications could mean costly delays, they were prone to use their own judgment. Thus Navy commanders supported the revolt against Queen Liliuokalani in Hawaii in 1893. Aguinaldo, the Filipino leader of half a century ago, insisted that Admiral Dewey had promised him Philippine independence after the war with Spain.

General MacArthur could also find a strong precedent for his independence in the history of Gen. Andrew Jackson, who took his troops into Florida without orders, captured Pensacola, and court-martialed and hanged two British subjects on flimsy charges that they had incited the Indians.

During the Mexican War, President James K. Polk had trouble with General Winfield Scott, who wrote embittered letters about the Chief Executive. The general was running unsuccessfully for President during a military campaign. When the right moment came, President Polk summarily gave "Old Fuss and Feathers" his walking papers.

President Lincoln had troubles during the Civil War. A naval officer, Captain Wilkes, acted without orders in boarding a British merchant vessel and removing Mason and Slidell the Confederacy's envoys to Great Britain. War with Britain was averted when the President disavowed Wilkes' act.

Throughout the war, certain Union Army officers tried to undermine Lincoln by collaborating with the obstructionist joint committee of Congress on the conduct of the war. In 1862 General McClellan ignored an order to initiate a general advance against General Lee. Eventually he was supplanted. Union generals in the West proclaimed emancipation of the slaves without instructions, and Lincoln often had to countermand the orders as unenforceable.

President Andrew Johnson had trouble with General Grant who turned the office of Secretary of War over to the deposed Secretary Stanton in flat violation of orders.

General Leonard Wood, prior to this country's entrance into World War I, constantly spoke against the Wilson administration's defense policies, and, consequently, lost an opportunity to serve in France.

In 1925, President Coolidge dismissed the late General William Mitchell for defying orders of his superiors even though he (Coolidge) sympathized with the cause that the General was trying to dramatize.

Mr. Truman is the second President to be troubled by Gen. MacArthur's penchant for writing letters of a political nature. In 1944, when F. D. R. was President and the war was going full blast, certain Republicans were trying to interest the General in running for the presidency.

In response to a message from Rep. A. L. Miller of Nebraska, the General wrote a letter which was widely interpreted as criticism of the Administration and its war policies. There was quite a to-do

Local Girl Gets Nurse's Cap

HELEN JANET ADAMS

Miss Helen Janet Adams, Emmitsburg, and a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, was one of 46 nursing students to receive her nurse's cap at recent graduation ceremonies at St. Agnes' School of Nursing, Baltimore.

SIX WANT TRANSACTION CLARIFIED

Six Emmitsburg district residents have appealed to the Circuit Court to clear up a land transaction of approximately 14 years ago which they fear has put a cloud on title to their properties.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. May, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin W. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Lester Miller are the complainants in a case in equity. The defendants are Edna Kreitz and Paul Kreitz.

The Mays say they own a tract in Emmitsburg district improved with a dwelling which they bought from the Millers. The Millers say they own a tract improved with a dwelling which they bought from Lester Miller. Both were part of a tract of 27 acres which the Lester Millers got from Mr. and Mrs. Allen R. Knott.

The Knotts bought it from George L. Hemler, who acquired it from J. Arthur Schaffer. Schaffer acquired the property, the complainants say through their attorney, W. Jerome Offutt, from Frank J. Campbell, executor of the estate of Andrew J. Kreitz.

Actually, the bill of complaint says, Campbell sold the property in question at public sale to Joseph A. Kreitz for $1130 and the Orphans Court filed an order Jan. 27, 1937, confirming the report of sale.

Then, April 7, 1937, Kreitz agreed to sell the property to J. Arthur Schaffer and Mary D. Schaffer, his mother, who died in August, 1938, as joint tenants. The purchase price was paid and an Orphans Court order passed substituting the Schaffers as purchasers instead of Kreitz. A proper deed was executed.

The Mays say they made application for a loan and it became necessary to contact the widow and son of Joseph A. Kreitz, now deceased. The widow, Mrs. Edna Kreitz, and the son, Paul Kreitz, have asserted a claim to the real estate, it is set forth, asserting the substitution of the Schaffers as purchasers 14 years ago was made after the sale to Kreitz had been ratified and confirmed by the Orphans Court.

While the alleged claim, according to the complainants, has no foundation, yet it operates as a cloud on their title and they ask the Court to perpetually enjoin the defendants from asserting an alleged right to any part of the real estate described, as well as removing the title cloud.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bouey recently moved from the Harner Apts. to their newly purchased home on S. Seton Ave., formerly occupied by the late Mrs. Charles Poulson.

WEYBRIGHT DECLINES MAYORSHIP

The list of candidates for Thurmont's annual election April 23, closed last Friday afternoon with one candidate for president of the board and three aspirants for the two places to be filled on the Board of Commissioners.

S. E. Barnhart, agent for the Western Maryland Railway at Thurmont and for two terms a member of the board, is unopposed for president of the board, which is equivalent to a mayoral post.

Jesse Kirchner, Ross V. Smith and Theodore Beard are the three candidates for the board. Mr. Barnhart and George Black are completing terms next month. Charles Ambrose and Russell M. Flanagan are hold-over members.

Mr. Barnhart and Paul S. Hoffman were nominated for president of the board when the incumbent, D. Saylor Weybright, declined to seek re-election. Mr. Hoffman announced that he is not a candidate.

Mr. Weybright, who was appointed president of the board in 1947 upon the death of Omer J. Dubel and has since been re-elected annually, withdrew his name from consideration for re-election at a primary meeting.

He said his presence as Mayor is no longer acceptable to some residents, who seemed to direct their complaints against him for action which the board has seen fit to take. Some citizens in recent months fought legislation sought by the town officials.

Some citizens sought to get Mr. Weybright to reconsider his announced intention to retire, but he remained steadfast. He expressed thanks to the people for their co-operation during his terms but declined further service as Mayor.

The polls will be open from three to six p. m. Monday, April 23, in the town office.

200th Anniversary Planned By Thurmont

Thurmont's 200th anniversary celebration will be held the last week of July or the first week in August, it was determined this week when Howard R. Damuth, general chairman, announced the names of various committees.

At the same time, he announced that all historical information about Mechanicstown and Thurmont should be in his hands by April 30.

Committees so far announced are: general steering committee—Howard R. Damuth general chairman; D. S. Weybright, vice chairman; George W. Wireman, Jr., secretary; Edgar B. Palmer, treasurer.

History (2 parts)—History of community, Miss Linnie McGuigan; history of churches, Mrs. Howard R. Damuth.

Pageant—Miss Ethel Louise Crawford.

Advertising—Mrs. R. K. Remsburg and Mrs. Ernest P. Hamaker.

Entertainment—Mrs. Virginia Kelbaugh.

Banquet—Mrs. Margaret Carback.

Decorating—General chairman, D. S. Weybright; window displays, Paul Strine and William S. Pryor; street decorations, Guardian Hose Co.

Organizations—Mrs. Anna Weybright, Fraternities—L. C. Mackley. Divine worship—Thurmont Ministerial Association. Industries—Mrs. Lottie Gall and Mrs. Marie Ruch, Parade—Guardian Hose Company.

Frederick Buys New Traffic Controls

A contract was awarded by the Mayor and Aldermen, Frederick, Thursday night for a synchronous interconnected traffic signal system designed to speed the flow of vehicles on both main and intersecting streets in that city.

Mrs. Gladys Martin, Thurmont, spent the past week-end with Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, S. Seton Ave. Also visiting at the Martin residence were Mrs. Kenneth Feester and son, Kenneth, of Westminster.

Noted Individuals Will Address Hood Student Body Saturday

SEN. MARGARET CASE SMITH

GEN. GEORGE C. MARSHALL

General George C. Marshall and Senator Margaret Case Smith of Maine, will address a career conference panel at Hood College, Frederick, Saturday at 10:30 a. m. Gen. Marshall will speak on "Preparing for the Defense of Democracy," and Sen. Smith will give a talk on "Woman's Role in the Defense of Democracy."

Twenty alumnae of Hood College, who have achieved distinction in a variety of fields will receive citations tomorrow at the convocation on the Defense of Democracy which opened today at Hood.

Given for the first time by the college, the citations will be presented immediately following the 10:30 a. m. address of Gen. George C. Marshall, Secretary of Defense, who will speak on "Preparing for the Defense of Democracy." They are being awarded "in recognition of outstanding achievements and services which reflect honor" upon Hood.

A career conference, panel discussion on "Career Wives—Assets or Liabilities?", dinner and assembly for pastors and layity of the Ev. and Reformed Church, with which Hood is affiliated, fill today's convocation schedule. Tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. Margaret Case Smith, Republican Senator from Maine, will discuss "Woman's Role in the Defense of Democracy" at two o'clock.

Both Gen. Marshall and the senator will speak in Hodson Outdoor Theater on the campus if weather permits.

Phantoms Top Senators In Bowling Playoffs

The Phantoms whipped the Senators, last year's winner, by 18 pins Tuesday evening, in a roll-off for the 1950-51 championship at the Emmitsburg Recreation Center.

The Phantoms won the crown in the National League, while the Senators clinched the pennant in the American League.

In Tuesday night's game, the American Leaguers lost the first second and third game out of a five-game series. The scores were 520-508, 506-504, and 522-518, with a total pinfall for the Phantoms, 1548, and 1530 for the Senators.

Frank Kreitz paced the winners with a 336 set, and Paul Eline's 339 featured the loser's performance. Ira McClain rolled the top single game for the losers with 130, while Frank Kreitz chalked up a 120 score.

The Phantoms, while winning the championship for the Recreation Center, went into the game the underdog by 43 pins, because the average for them was dropped to about 478 average due to one of their bowlers, Francis Little and Roy Baker. The Senators, R. Sanders, 298; Russ Hull, 273; Paul Eline, 339; I. McClain, 308, and Jayson Sanders, 312.

During the regular season, the Senators had a total of 67 wins against 17 losses, while the Phantoms won 57 and lost 27.

On April 26, there will be a roll off of the first four teams of the "National League." Prizes and trophies will be awarded the same night. Following this, the manager, Charles A. Harner, will give a party.

LUTHERAN MINSTREL APRIL 26-27

"A Mighty Minstrel" is the title of the strictly local talent show, directed by Henry Charlton, to be presented to the public next Thursday and Friday nights at the Emmitsburg Lutheran Parish Hall for the benefit of the music fund of the church.

The affair, which includes a cast of about 40 men and women, will recall the olden days when Emmitsburg staged real entertainment with strictly local talent, and promises to be a real production giving a big surprise performance.

A chorus of 30 which will open and close the show will sing frequently throughout the evening, featuring Keith Janicke, Doris Wastler, Harry Troxell, George McDonnell and Richard Frock as soloists.

A number of short skits as "School Days," presenting Kathleen Wantz and Clarence Hahn in a duet will be included. Other features will be a girls' dancing chorus, "Rain Drops" by a women's quartet.

The show which will be entirely amateur, reaches the level of professional in the dialogue and acting of Endmen Carlos Anglar, William Baker, George McDonnell and James Hays, and in the "Barber Shop Quartet" with Harry Troxell in the lead as the singing barber.

Rev. Philip Bower, pastor, wishes to personally welcome and solicit the entire public to attend one of the shows either on Thursday or Friday night, April 26-27.

Fish There—But No Can Catch 'Em!

Favored by ideal weather—even though the temperature was a little too low for comfort at first—hundreds of anglers and fly fishermen greeted the opening day of the trout season at 5:30 a. m. last Sunday morning along Frederick County streams.

At 6:30 a. m., an estimated 600 were strung out along Fishing Creek and 350 cars were counted in that area, reported Deputy Game Warden Durward Kettells and Glenn Butts who roamed that stream from 4:30 to 9 o'clock.

Big Hunting Creek drew a proportionate number, and similar conditions prevailed along Middle and Friends Creeks, which were the scene of early patrol by Regional Warden Benjamin Phebus and a deputy from an adjoining county.

A number of violations were reported by Warden Kettells, several along Little Hunting Creek in the restricted Catoctin Recreational Area. A few fishermen were found with improper licenses, Warden Kettells said. All violators were summoned to appear for hearing before Magistrate William M. Houck at Thurmont.

First day results, however, did not live up to expectations of last year's take. A very few had their limit of 10 by 6 a. m.; others hadn't succeeded in getting the limit much later in the day, and still others had landed none at all.

Dr. Thorning Honored

Last Sunday in the Colombian Embassy, Washington, D. C., Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Thorning, associate editor of "World Affairs," was invested with the insignia of Colombia's national decoration, the Cross of Boyaca, by Ambassador Eduardo Zuleta-Angel.

The ceremonies were witnessed by high State Dept. officials, congressional leaders, foreign diplomats and leaders from Washington and Maryland society. In making the award, the Colombian ambassador emphasized that "Dr. Thorning was always doing his best to promote friendship throughout the Western Hemisphere. In Colombia, we regard North American scholar as the Good Neighbor Padre."

Miss Lillian Gelweics spent three days during the past week visiting with friends at Fort George G. Meade.

C. OF C. WILL HOLD FOUNDERS' DAY BANQUET

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President B. J. Eckenrode presiding over a well-attended session.

President Eckenrode prevailed upon the nominating committee for their recommendations for officerships for 1951-52. The committee presented the following nominations: President, C. A. Elder and Samuel C. Hays; vice president, B. J. Eckenrode and Clarence G. Frailey; secretary, Guy A. Baker Sr. and John M. Roddy Jr.; treasurer, John A. O'Donoghue and Harold M. Hoke. Election of new officers will be held at the next regular session on May 22.

A vote of thanks was extended Col. Thomas J. Frailey for the valuable assistance rendered the Route 15 project. Col. Frailey drew up the resolution calling for improvements to the highway.

C. A. Elder, chairman of the Founder's Day banquet of the organization, commemorating its first anniversary, reported on plans for the affair and announced it will be held at the White House Inn on May 15 at 6:30 p. m. Entertainment and speakers are planned.

A report on the new community hall was presented by B. H. Boyle, organization representative on that committee. He reported good progress. Herbert Neighbors gave a resume of activities concerning the removal of the blinker on the Square and reported the matter resting with the State Roads Commission for consideration.

An explanation of the recent increase in water rates was given by Samuel C. Hays, president of the Emmitsburg Water Co. Following a period of questions and answers on Mr. Hays' version, the Chamber apparently thought the raise justified.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the town's new street markers and stanchions had arrived and were awaiting immediate installation, possibly sometime next week.

Agronomist Addresses Grange

The Emmitsburg Grange met at the High School building Wednesday night with about 50 members and guests in attendance. Master Norman Shriver presided at the business part of the meeting, when it was decided to hold the meeting at 8:30 p. m. during Daylight Saving Time.

Prof. William Baker introduced Stanley Stabler, agronomist of the University of Maryland, who was the speaker for the evening. Mr. Stabler gave a talk on "pasture management and pasture production in general." He said that the main problem was an all-season pasture production adequate for normal grazing needs in this area. Pointing out that blue grass and timothy with a clover mixture, is the type of pasture mostly raised in this section, did not grow sufficiently in mid-summer to give the needed pasture. He advocated growing an additional pasture of orchard grass and sudan grass, which grows better in hot mid-summer weather to fill in the gap. Mr. Stabler said that experiments had shown that more than 200 to 400 pounds of lime and fertilizer was needed every two years on blue grass pasture and every year on other types of pasture for best results. He said the extra yield would pay for the fertilizer and lime and stressed the plan of combining pasture with grass silage.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, May 2, at 8:30 p. m. Dr. George Green will be the speaker.

Mr. William S. Annan, former employe of the Chronicle Press, has accepted employment in the laboratory at Camp Detrick, Frederick.

Staff Sergeant John T. Garner, U. S. Air Force, stationed at Greenville, N. C., spent the week-end visiting his mother, Mrs. Agnes Garner and friends.

Report From Washington Indicates Concern Over MacArthur Removal

Unprecedented interest in Washington this week is centered around Gen. Douglas MacArthur. This order of the President, as Commander-in-Chief, relieving Gen. MacArthur from the four highly strategic and vitally important posts which he has held so successfully in the past five and a half years has evoked a national reaction among the citizenry of our country, the like of which has not been seen in my time in Washington and has seldom if ever been equaled in the entire history of our country.

A brilliant military leader; a strong advocate of American interests first, last and all the time; and the staunchest opponent of Communist aggression in the Far East during these critical years of Communist efforts for expansion, Gen. MacArthur is coming home ready to tell the Congress and the people of the United States why he is convinced that a policy of aggressive action against Communism should be pursued rather than to permit Korean hostilities to end in a stalemate.

Few men in American history have had the remarkable military career of Gen. MacArthur. Few, indeed, have ever more courageously and brilliantly achieved such success against our nation's enemies as has Gen. MacArthur.

No general of the United States has ever been called upon to rule a defeated people as completely or for such a length of time as he has. And I doubt whether all world history has ever shown an instance where a conqueror has been faced with more difficulties in ruling a conquered people or has won the affections of the people he ruled so completely as has Gen. MacArthur.

The entire story underlying the recent action affecting Gen. MacArthur must be told so that the American people can decide the issues. I have strongly favored the appearance of Gen. MacArthur before a joint session of the Congress because I believe that he is entitled to the opportunity to state the case fully, as he has seen it at close range. In addition, I have urged that arrangements be made for him to appear in executive session with Senate and House committees. This would enable him to give privately much valuable information which he could not disclose publicly for security reasons. Certainly, his recommendations on what should be our course in the Far East are based on knowledge and understanding of that area and its people that is not surpassed by any other individual in this country.

The security of the United States is inextricably interwoven with events in the Far East today. American policies in that area have not prevented the loss of China to the Communists. It is the people of the United States who must fight against Communism, whether it be in Korea or anywhere else in the world. It is their right to be fully informed as to what danger threatens and to have the considered views of one who has been so closely involved in every development in the Far East in the last crucial 15 years.

The people of our country deservedly are preparing for Gen. MacArthur welcomes of such a nature as to impress upon him their admiration and their appreciation of his vast services to America and to humanity. In the final analysis they must be given all the facts as Gen. MacArthur sees them, so that they then can make their own judgment as to whether his policies, or the policies which he has opposed so bitterly are to be the future policies of the United States.

Plan To Aid Merchant Marine
The United States Merchant Marine, as the outbreak of Korean hostilities so recently emphasized, is vital to the economy of the United States in peacetime and to our security in wartime. It is gratifying to be able to report, therefore, that the Long Range Shipping Bill to rehabilitate our country's shipping and shipbuilding industries, which I introduced in the last session, and reintroduced this year, has just been reported favorably by the Senate committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and now goes to the Senate for consideration.

It has been contended by high officials that we need not be too concerned about our merchant shipping—that we can depend upon our allies in case of emergency. I dispute this argument completely. Even now when the question of sending wheat to India is discussed, there is danger of a shortage of shipping. And certainly were it not for the American merchant ships that were pressed into service to move the mountains of supplies that have been necessary in Korea, our American and United Nations forces there, under the leadership of Gen. MacArthur, could never have achieved the success that has been theirs.

There is much misunderstanding about the Merchant Marine among our people and among legislators. This undoubtedly explains why American shipping has been allowed to disintegrate to a point of real danger. Briefly, let it be pointed out that America has the highest wages by far of any nation in the world and nowhere is this more apparent, and more of an aid to our competitors than in the shipping field.

Nations whose pay scales for merchant seamen are far below ours, can undercut American shipping rates. As a result they have almost driven our ships from the seas.

Theories as to what should or should not be done sometimes have to give way to realities of what actually is being done by other nations. My Long-Range Shipping Bill recognizes this and attempts to bring about conditions under which private capital can be encouraged to construct and maintain merchant shipping, to carry American products on the seven seas, and to serve as auxiliaries and troop ships for our military forces in times of dire need.

New Pyramid Coat

This cleverly designed pyramid coat by Thermaster, has adjustable push-up sleeves and a high-buttoned crisply flaring collar. Of light-weight gabardine, it laughs at changing temperatures, for the contrasting Milium taffeta lining gives all-weather comfort. Ideal for vacationers . . . for, just as Milium gives extra warmth without extra weight in cool weather, so, its insulation properties work in reverse in hot weather, reflecting the sun rays away from the body.

For a trick to save work come dish washing, use a small pan and rack when broiling just a few chops or line the broiler pan with aluminum foil which can be thrown away without washing.

CRAWFORD—ECKER

Mrs. Ann Starnier Ecker, daughter of Arthur N. Starnier and the late Mrs. Starnier, Emmitsburg Rt. 2, became the bride of William L. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford, Westminster, last Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Elias Ev. Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of the bride, Rev. Philip Bower.

The bride wore a blue taffeta and marquisette afternoon gown with blue accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds and iris.

Mrs. Robert Daugherty was matron of honor and wore a beige chiffon over lavender taffeta, lavender accessories and a corsage of lavender and yellow rosebuds. Robert Daugherty served as best man.

Miss Ruth Shuff, church organist, played the traditional wedding marches and George McDonnell, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," "Because," and the "Lord's Prayer."

A small reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride. The bride is employed at the Taneytown Mfg. Co. and the bridegroom is in the U. S. Army, stationed at Camp Gordon, Ga.

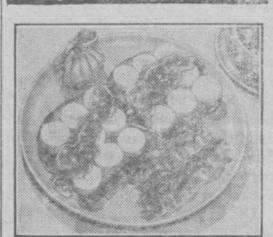

Ball Game Here Sunday

Two teams entered in the Penn-Maryland League have scheduled a baseball game Sunday.

The local team, sponsored by American Legion Post, will oppose the Fairfield Shoe factory. Jack Rosensteel, manager of the Legion team, stated this will be the last try-out for the local team and all boys are requested to report at 1 p. m.

Game time has been set for two o'clock.

Nancy Holmes SUGGESTS

WHEN it's a bright and beautiful Sunday morning, start off the day with a special breakfast. And when we say special, we mean just that for what could possibly be more palate pleasing than luscious Fruited French Toast, as inviting as sunshine itself. Here is the recipe, all tasted and tested by Nancy Holmes and her staff of home economists in the Best Foods consumer kitchens. "Tastes so good," she says. And we know you'll agree.

Fruited French Toast
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup orange juice
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup vitaminized margarine
8 slices bread
3 to 4 bananas, sliced
Maple syrup

Combine beaten egg, orange juice and nutmeg in a shallow bowl. Melt vitaminized margarine in a skillet. Dip bread in egg mixture, turning to coat both sides. Brown bread on one side in margarine. Turn, top with banana slices and continue cooking until bread is brown. Serve hot with maple syrup and broiled bacon or thin slices of broiled ham. Serves 4.

A Neighborly Gesture For Spring

SUNSHINE streaming through your window, a bowlful of yellow-hearted daisies—that's pure magic any spring afternoon! Everybody knows that magic is much more fun if it's shared, so why not invite your favorite neighbors in for an afternoon chat? Make up a plate of cookies, get out your prettiest coffee cups and you're all set to really enjoy an hour or two of springtime leisure.

Of course, you'll need a recipe for magic cookies to match the season and our Magic Chocolate Circles are somehow just right. Moreover, they are a perfect accompaniment for the fragrant, steaming coffee that is such a natural part of any afternoon get-together. The cookies are really two cookies, baked together, with a chocolate rum wafer between. They're so downright delicious that you'll be wise to double the recipe if you want them to last through the day!

Speaking of coffee, there's just nothing like it along about mid-afternoon. As a reviver of the spirit, it has no equal. Just be sure that you make it fresh and strong, serve it piping hot.

Magic Chocolate Circles
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup cold double-strength coffee
Chocolate rum wafers

Cream butter or margarine; add sugar. Cream until light and fluffy. Add unbeaten egg and beat thoroughly. Mix and sift flour, cocoa, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Add dry ingredients alternately with coffee to creamed mixture. Wrap dough in waxed paper; chill several hours. Roll out on floured board at least 1/4 inch thick. Cut in small circles with cookie cutter. Put one chocolate rum wafer between 2 cookies. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F., 8 minutes. Cool; frost, if desired, with pink-tinted confectioner's sugar frosting. Yield: about 2 dozen.

Auto Exports Decline

Exports of American passenger cars continued to decline in 1950. A total of 145,000 cars were shipped abroad in 1950, or seven per cent less than in 1949. Truck exports in 1950 numbered 135,000.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON
NEW YORK CITY, Apr. 20
—New issues of corporate bonds bearing the highest interest

Roger W. Babson and materials.

Just as the old belled ram leads the rest of the flock, so does the government bond market point the way for corporate bond prices. About a month ago it was announced that the feud between the U. S. Treasury and the Federal Reserve had been ended. Both parties to the long disagreement had "reached full accord."

Now, the thing upon which they had agreed was that a new issue of long-term government bonds should bear 2 1/2 per cent interest instead of the 2 1/4 per cent figure that had been the going rate for similar issues.

Immediately a tremor ran through the financial world. As it became clear that the Federal Reserve had really "won the argument" over raising interest rates, government bond prices softened. At the same time, corporation bonds began a price decline that is still in progress. Commercial bankers became frightened and have now been casting an increasingly wary eye at all applications for loans. Even the stock market has lost its pep. A glance at the course of the popular stock "averages" will show you that, since early March, stocks have been reactionary. That is why I say: Watch government bond prices; they are the bellwether for finance in general and for the bond market in particular.

Possible Effects On Stocks

Going back through the years, you will find that a persistent and drawn-out decline in bond prices is frequently followed by a good-sized slump in stocks. Studies show that the time lag between the fall in bonds and the later descent in stock prices varies widely. Sometimes stocks follow bonds down only a few weeks later. At other times, close to two years have been passed before stocks have taken a tumble. The reasons for this are not hard to find. As bond prices fall, the yield therefrom rises and narrows the gap between the return on bonds and the income from stocks. If the old relationship between the two is to be re-established, stock prices must decline. Only during periods of feverish speculative activity are buyers willing to overlook the need for getting a considerably bigger income from stocks, as compared to bonds, to "pay them back" for the greater risk that stocks carry. Different This Time

However, some of my friends tell me that it is going to be "different this time." They point out that the spread between stock and bond yields, even after the recent rise in the latter, is much greater than usually exists. Therefore, they say, the return on bonds could rise quite a bit higher without greatly disturbing stock prices. They also cite the fact that very few stocks are being carried on borrowed money and that higher interest rates will not cause any amount of selling on that score.

These objectors may, of course, be right. But, I should like to leave this thought with you: When storm signals are flying, wise skippers heed them. Likewise, when old-time financial warnings appear, wise investors will diversify their funds carefully among sound well-selected common stocks, and hold a sizeable reserve in cash and high-grade short-term bonds against an "unexpected" shift in the trend.

Advice On Bonds

My father told me years ago, "Never send a boy on a man's errand!" This advice fits today's bond buyer. Whatever you do, don't build an investment reserve of all long-maturity bonds, no matter how high the quality. A one-per cent rise in interest rates can wipe out a number of years'

Forest Park, Opening Sunday, Announces Coming Attractions

Forest Park, Hanover, Pa., will open for the season Sunday, April 22. During the winter months, workmen have been busy readying the rides and other amusement features, and overhauling the picnic grove and tables for outings and family reunions.

In connection with school days, the management is preparing to issue approximately 35,000 tickets, good for free rides, reduced rates on others, reduced skating prices and prizes.

The schedule of school days is

We might as well be sensible about it, fellows. If you want to make good catches of speckled trout during the early part of the season, where the streams are high and rocky, better sink a live bait close to the bottom.

Sitting on a red and lively garden worm, small crawfish, tiny minnow, bee, or a grasshopper if available. Run the worm on so its ends are free to curl, and keep the point of the hook covered. Add a fresh worm whenever the old one has been mauled or becomes listless.

With a minnow, pass the hook through its mouth, out one gillcover, and impale it in the skin at the base of the tail, or back of the dorsal fin—so the minnow is slightly curved and will twirl in the current. Brother, this is one means of exciting any cooey trout into grabbing hold. I've taken big brooks, browns, and rainbows alike in this manner when other baits went untouched.

Did you know that the brook trout is also fond of salt pork, dried cod fish, liver, and strips of other meat? He'll also gobble up preserved salmon eggs, but in some regions this bait is not allowed. The slab from the side of a chub or sucker, with fin attached, sets up an attractive motion when twitched along near the bottom of a pool, and the trout charge it like a bunch of wild buffalo.

If you run out of live bait, and the water is too high and swift or colored for regular wet flies, hitch on a long, bright colored streamer fly, a trout-taker spoon, a nickel or copper Colorado spinner, a troutwiper, or a spinner-and-fly combination. Work these along near the bottom, for the trout feed at that depth under the conditions.

To have the best sport with these baits or lures, rig up a 3-piece president tonkin bamboo bait rod 9 1/2 feet in length, or the new sportsman 6-piece rod that will fit into any pack basket or large fisherman's pocket. The sections are 17 inches long, and when assembled the rod is 8 1/4 feet in length. It's just what the hiker-angler needs.

Drop a card or letter to Old Hi, in care of this newspaper, and I'll be glad to tell you more about this ideal rod for "back of beyond" fishing. At the same time ask for your free copy of the illustrated booklet "Fishing For The Millions," for it will give you plenty of inside dope on how to reel those lusty trout of the deep pools and rippling rapids.

For Old Hi's many friends who live along the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Coastlines, and who like to tangle with the tackle busters of the ocean, send for your free copy of "Salt Water Sports Fishing," which tells what rods, reels, lines, and lures to use for the large and small game species, and when and where to catch these fish.

If you ramble up and down the West Coast, or intend to have a fishing vacation there this spring or summer, ask Old Hi for his free copy of "Pacific Coastal Fishing." It will help you have more sport both inshore and offshore.

as follows: April 28, Hanover Day; May 5, Parochial Day; May 12, Adams County Day; May 19, York County Day; May 26, Maryland Day; June 2, Colored School Day.

Free entertainment, featuring Mike and His Twilight Entertainers, who will present a free show in the bandshell, both afternoon and night of the opening day.

There will be a big amateur show presented on Sunday, May 6, both afternoon and night, with Gilbert Celehouse, as master of ceremonies. An applause meter will be used to judge the winners.

A number of picnics and reunions have been booked for the season. The skating rink will continue to operate every Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday nights, and also Sunday and picnic afternoons. Public and private skating parties will be held on other nights.

Fertilizers will help increase the yields of many farm crops.

Crochet A Posy Bonnet

All eyes will be on this gay flower bonnet and the girl who wears it. Brilliantly colored posies against fresh white, make this pert and feminine chapeau fun to crochet and even more fun to wear. It's right in line with this spring's flower-decked fashions, and equally good for summer, with or without the posies. The materials needed are Kentucky All Purpose, a lustrous rayon yarn, and millinery wire to stiffen the brim. Yachtsmen Are Urged To Co-operate With Health Dept.

Yachtsmen and small craft owners have been urged to co-operate with public health officials in an attempt to keep the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries free from harmful pollution, according to an announcement made by George L. Hall, chief engineer of the State Dept. of Health. Their help is being sought to protect the health of our residents and to preserve the economic and recreational assets of our tidal waters.

In particular boat owners have been requested to avoid discharging sewage into waters adjacent to bathing beaches and oyster bars. Human wastes flushed from boat toilets in proximity to bathing beaches are a direct threat to the health of swimmers and bathers. Sewage discharged near oyster bars can contaminate oysters and may cause typhoid fever among persons who eat them, regardless of whether they are consumed near their source or shipped to remote markets.

A message sent to the members of yacht clubs also points out the fact that pollution jeopardizes one of Maryland's major economic assets. Thousands of families derive their livelihood from the oyster industry and grave pollution of our waterways would constitute a direct threat to their financial security.

Finally, an appeal is made to preserve the beauty and wholesomeness of a priceless recreational resource. Our tidewater regions, it is stressed, can continue to give pleasure to residents of this State and to many others who vacation in Maryland only so long as the waters remain free from dangerous pollution.

Old Gridders Plan U. of M. Banquet

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, former U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings, and Dr. W. W. Skinner are among the many well-known old grads who were captains and managers during the first 20 years of football at the Old Line institution, 1892-1911, who have been invited to be honored guests at the Alumni "M" Club, 1951 varsity sette at College Park on the night of April 27.

Dr. Byrd captained the 1907 team, Dr. Skinner was captain in 1892 and manager in 1894, and Mr. Tydings was manager of the 1909 outfit that was led by Col. O. H. Saunders, U. S. Army (retired), who is a native of Kent Island.

A barbecue dinner at 5:30 will provide a get-together for the alumni and their friends.

From Little Items Grow . . .

Figures in the Federal budget have become so awesome in size that many a John Q. Citizen taxpayer who wants to protest waste, extravagance and non-essential government spending finds himself almost speechless. The average fellow is scarcely able to cope with multi-billion dollar lump-sum items. As a matter of fact, I recently heard a government official tick off the multi-billion dollar lump-sum figures in the budget and, with an almost defiant challenge, say: "All right, tell us where YOU would cut it!" This tactic of using the overwhelmingly big figures as a psychological block to would-be critics has frequently been successful.

But in all government budgets, no matter how awesome, the big figures are made up of a lot of smaller ones. The following tidbits of information show, to some degree, what goes to make up the big figures in the present Federal spending budget. Any taxpayer can cope with any one of these tidbits—and each item answers the challenge of "tell us where YOU would cut it!" (Some of these tidbits were dug out by the Tax Foundation, others came from the staff of the Congressional Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures, headed by Sen. Harry Byrd; and from the Hoover Commission.)

Mismanagement

The new $6 million Veterans' Administration hospital at Clarksburg, W. Va., opened three and a half months ago. One month later it had 133 employees and total expenses of about $500,000 a year—but not a single doctor or a single patient! Another brand new $6 million VA hospital, at Beckley, 120 mile from Clarksburg, which also was dedicated about three months ago, had two doctors but no patients 30 days later—yet its 160 employees were costing taxpayers $40,000 a month!

Civilian employment in the Executive branch of the Federal government during the 28 days of February increased 62,610, bringing the total civilian employment to 2.3 million. The increase in February averaged more than 2200 employees each day! The salaries for this army of civilian Federal government employees make a rather awesome figure—$700 million a month, or $8 billion a year.

Money Wasted

Federal budget expenditures of the Dept. Agriculture increased 120 per cent from 1941 to 1949, reaching the awesome lump-sum of $2.7 billion. A tidbit from the Agriculture Dept.'s "petty cash" account: For the first five months of fiscal 1951, losses on government dispositions of surplus food—including turkeys—plus carrying charges, amounted to about $22.4 million a month—or more than enough each month to purchase 100 new light tanks at $200,000 each!

Federal government expenditures for the five years 1929-33 combined were $4.9 billion less than government spending for the single year 1949. A tidbit: The Dayton, O., Daily News reported Mar. 11 that the Federal government was "educating" 120 persons at Wright-Patterson air base who could not type or take shorthand. The government hired them, then sent the 120 to local business colleges, paying their tuition while at the same time paying each of the 120 a minimum of $43 a week salary for learning to type or take shorthand. After the employees got their training, there was no legal barrier to their quitting their "jobs"—thus obtaining a business college course and $43 a week as a gift of Uncle Sam.

Non-Essential Brass

The Overstaffing Subcommittee, reporting on wasteful expenditures for to-heavy government staffs, found that at Coast Guard headquarters there were assigned the following: Eight admirals, 32 captains, 50 commanders, 49 lieutenant-commanders, 55 lieutenants, and two ensigns . . . total: 205 officers. During February, 17,251 additional civilian employees were put on the payroll by the Navy; 18,136 by the Army, and 17,416 by the Air Force.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Keep an open mind about the excitement over disclosed apparent irregularities in the operation of certain phases of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Do not condemn the institution because of the actions of two or three individuals. There has been some serious blunders made in the White House, but nobody wants to burn down the White House because of them.

Undoubtedly, Sen. Fulbright (D. Ark.) has performed a great public service in unearthing certain matters that are deplorable. But full investigation to come will prove that not only has RFC operations, from the overall picture, been profitable, but RFC loans have been the salvation of many small businesses that are successful today.

That is one reason why hue and cry is so loud. Big Business and Big Finance, soundly entrenched, are trying to use deflections of a few as excuse for disbanding RFC.

The silliness of this approach is evident. There has also been reported cases of incompetence in the field in Korea, but nobody has argued that because of this, the United States Army should be disbanded. Replacements of irresponsible, closer supervision, can do wonders.

Big Business and Big Finance, with a mobilization program assured whether or not general war starts, are trying to shut off any source of credit which will enable independent business to get share of defense business; get established for competition when normal conditions again arise.

This is not supposition. Concrete examples happening right today furnish proof.

Right now Sen. John Sparkman's Small Business Committee holds hearings on the strange happenings in rubber. But look for the committee to investigate shortly the happenings that relate to Western States Refining Company, an independent oil refinery in North Salt Lake, Utah.

These happenings are more than strange; they are weird.

After the war a group of substantial men saw an opportunity to provide a needed service, create a business where none existed.

They pooled their resources and talents and broke barren Utah ground for the construction of an independent oil refinery.

The plan of Western States Refining is to pipe in crude from adjacent fields in Wyoming and Colorado, refine it, and through pipelines send refined products to Pacific Northwest markets.

The Pacific Northwest markets have long been almost exclusively controlled by two Oil Bigs, and the subsidiary of one of them.

Despite many strange handicaps, Western States got into operation, proved its worth.

So next week this column will relate the weird Washington maneuvers that threaten to close the refinery, even though a large share of its output is going to defense needs.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

The Baltimore wheat market was steady last week. The average price of No. 2 red winter garlicky wheat remained unchanged with quotations showing a wider spread than the previous week. No. 2 yellow shelled corn advanced about a cent a bushel. Yellow ear corn strengthened with an advance of about four cents per bushel. No. 2 western white oats were steady to higher with an advance of about one cent per bushel during the past week. Soybeans are at ceiling price level.

National Grain Market

Grain markets were unsettled and price movements were irregular last week, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Uncertain crop production and political developments in respect to the Korean situation were the principal disturbing influences. Drought danger to winter wheat was the strengthening factor in the markets for that grain, but this was largely offset by slow current demand and a relatively large stock for domestic use or for exports. Winter wheat markets declined slightly, but spring wheat markets strengthened. Corn prices advanced two to three cents per bushel with an active inquiry for the slightly smaller offerings. Little change occurred in the market situation for other feed grains and soybeans.

Maryland Feed Market

The Baltimore feed market weakened slightly last week. Feeds showing declines of approximately three per cent and over were gluten feed, $2.50 per ton less; distillers' dried grains, $2.50 per ton less, and brewers' dried grains, $2 per ton less. Wheat millfeeds strengthened, partly offsetting the declines noted. Standard bran, $1.63 per ton higher, and standard middlings, $1.92 per ton higher advanced over two per cent.

During last week, Delmarva broiler producers received an average of 29.8 cents per pound for broilers and had to pay an average of $104.88 per ton for feed, based on the average retail cash price of 20% broiler mash in lower Eastern Shore. On this basis, one pound live weight broilers would buy 5.7 pounds of feed.

National Feed Market

Feed markets strengthened somewhat toward the close of

Sen. Byrd's committee reports there already are 1.2 civilian employees on the military payroll, almost 400,000 more than a year ago.

It takes more than $10 worth of paper work (red tape) to complete a governmental purchase order—yet half of the 3 million items purchased yearly by the civilian agencies are for less than $10.

If the waste and extravagance were stopped and the non-essential items trimmed off the Federal budget, the lump-sum items wouldn't be quite so awesome and our tax bill, in time might even be cut in half.

Proper Care Of Chicks Now Make Fall Layers

The chicks you're starting this spring will require proper care and treatment in order to grow normally and develop into good layers by next fall. To reach maturity in good laying condition, they must be kept free of flock disturbances and given the benefit of careful flock management.

By way of assuring your flock proper care throughout the growing season, keep the following chick-raising suggestions in mind as you make those daily check-ups on your young flock. You will find that by applying sound management methods such as those mentioned here you can greatly eliminate the causes and conditions which lead to flock irregularities.

Brooding Pointers

Remember that the most important factors in brooding are proper temperature, plenty of room, and thorough sanitation. Strict attention to these factors, plus the enforcement of a nutritious feeding program, will greatly aid the development of a top laying flock.

You should also concentrate on housing conditions, taking care to provide chicks with well-protected, well-ventilated quarters. Every effort should be made to eliminate drafts and to make the house as comfortable as possible.

Separate Chicks

Separation of chicks is almost always advisable, since older birds tend to crowd the younger ones, sometimes hindering their growth and development. Separation of the chicks, according to sex is also commonly practiced. The time or age of separation is usually dependent on the breed, but generally cockerels of the lighter class, such as Leghorns, can be separated from pullets at six to eight weeks of age. Those of the general purpose class, such

Bond Issues Signed By Governor

Bills to provide bond issues for Walkersville and Woodsboro and to extend the powers of taxation in Thurmont were among those signed last Friday by Gov. Theodore McKeldin.

The Woodsboro bill provides a referendum on a $100,000 water system bond issue. The Walkersville measure provides a $50,000 loan to finance purchase of the Walkersville Water Co. The Thurmont bill extends taxing powers of the town throughout its corporate limits.

Other bills signed included:

Increasing the pensions of retired school teachers in Frederick County by $8 a month.

Declaring Federal rent control no longer necessary in Carroll County.

Authorizing the sale of Camp Ritchie to the Federal government, part of the proceeds to be used for the organized militia.

Partially exempting manufacturers machinery and inventories from taxation in Frederick and Anne Arundel counties.

Providing for confiscation of money seized in gambling and lottery raids in Washington, Carroll, Howard and other counties named.

Authorizing the Carroll County sheriff to appoint as many deputies as he needs.

Injury to your cows can result from improper use of the milking machine.

Thousands View Crusaders' Procession at St. Joseph's

With "Mother Seton, Maryland Missionary" as the theme, crusaders of the Blue Ridge Conference, CSMC, held a mission rally pilgrimage to the shrine of Mother Seton Sunday at St. Joseph's College.

Processions, presentations of awards to outstanding members of mission units, and a tour of the shrines of the college grounds was climaxed by solemn benediction in Seton Gardens.

William Turnback, of Mt. St. Mary's College, was marshal of the procession, which formed on the avenue approach to the college at 3 p. m. Members of the clergy, seminarians from Mt. St. Mary's, students from St. Joseph and Mt. St. Mary's College, St. Mary's High School, Hagerstown, St. Joseph High School, Emmitsburg, St. John's High School, Westminster, St. John's High School, Frederick, Sisters and lay people marched to the Seton Gardens where Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mt. St. Mary's College, presented the Paladin Jewel and Archbishop medals to students and moderators who have done exemplary work for the CSMC during the year. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth, Baltimore, director of the Propagation of the Faith, announced the winners.

After the sermon by the Very Rev. Joseph P. O'Donnell, rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, Myrtle Sullivan, president of the Blessed Clet Mission Unit of St. Joseph College recited the Crusaders' pledge. Following these ceremonies, the procession resumed to the statue of Mother Seton, where Helene Dunne, president of the Blue Ridge Conference, placed a basket of flowers in tribute to this first missionary to the Valley.

One of the recipients of the Paladin Jewel included Leo

Michael Boyle, St. Joseph High School, Emmitsburg. John A. Walter, St. Joseph High School, Emmitsburg, received the Archbishop's Medal in recognition of his work for the CSMC.

Special moderators' awards were presented to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, Very Rev. Joseph P. O'Donnell, Rev. Charles W. Dausch and Rev. Herbert R. Jordan, Frederick.

Grandma had a way with greens that is still hard to beat for a flavorful spring economy dish. In this old-fashioned recipe you can use any kind of greens, including spinach, kale, beet tops, and dandelion. Simply put one-fourth cup of meat drippings and one-half cup of vinegar in the pan for every two quarts of greens. Then cover and cook until the greens are nicely wilted, add seasoning.

BUTTONS MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

No longer is a button used to hold two sides of a garment together. Today, buttons are very important as a fashion accent. Below, B.G.E., one of the largest quality button houses in the country, shows how the right button can give your homemade dress a chic perfection.

This skirt buttons over one-piece shorts. The B.G.E. button is a transparent lucite which picks up the color of the fabric. A gay matching bracelet is made of these buttons strung on a gold cord. The pattern is Butterick No. 5766. (ANS) Lovely B.G.E. jewel buttons give dramatic impact to crisp white pique. The buttons are handpainted cloisonne imports and are also made into earrings for a coordinated costume look. The halter and skirt are Vogue patterns Nos. 7355, 7172. (ANS) On this crisp linen dress, a large two-tone B.G.E. button is used effectively at the hips and on the smart cuffs. The button has an outer rim of dark grey lucite and the center is a milky white pearl. The pattern is Simplicity No. 8402 (ANS)

Polio Drive Nets Largest Amount Of Money in History of Organization

With contributions still trickling in to the 1951 March of Dimes, State Chairman George L. Radcliffe, announced that receipts at the Maryland headquarters totaled over $500,000, the largest contribution ever made by the State to fight poliomyelitis. Mr. Radcliffe expressed his appreciation to the thousands of citizens who came forward to meet the record-breaking demands on the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis during the worst polio epidemic in history. "We want to congratulate everybody who had a part in the most successful campaign we have ever conducted in Maryland."

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Maryland farmers are planning to plant 28 per cent more sweet corn for processing and 24 per cent more snap beans than last year. This compares to national increase of 40 and 10 per cent respectively called for in the production goals established by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Maryland figures show an indicated acreage of 37,500 acres of sweet corn as compared to 29,300 acres planted last year. The snap bean intentions show 13,000 acres compared to 10,500 planted in 1950.

Corn Acreage Up

The latest figures available, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee, show that Maryland farmers intend to plant about four per cent more field corn than last year. This is three per cent less than the national increase requested by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

In commenting on the figures Mr. Blandford said, "We feel that a four per cent increase is about all that Maryland farmers should aim at."

"We join in the general recommendation made by the Extension Service and other agricultural agencies that the Maryland farmer should strive to use each acre to the maximum that is possible without endangering his soil and water conservation program. For some farmers this may mean the production of other grain crops or of hay and pasture. Anything that is done in the Free State to increase total feed production will eventually help the corn situation."

Developments in Housing Of Conservation Agencies

The program of coordinating the conservation service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, announced recently by Secretary Charles F. Brannan, provided specifically for joint housing of state and county offices of the Soil Conservation Service and the PMA. It also recommended that the Extension Service, the Forestry Service, the Farmers Home Administration and other credit agencies be included whenever possible.

Mr. Blandford reports that 17 of the 23 counties are now housed together or have plans for immediately getting together. The other six counties are studying their respective situations with an eye to carrying out the Secretary's instructions.

He expects that all of the counties will have completed arrangements within the next 12 months.

In discussing the proposed moves, Mr. Blandford commented, "Fortunately, here in Maryland, we are not faced with a handicap of the agencies not wanting to get together. We fully appreciate the value to farmers to be able to service their full conservation programs at the same location and at the same time, instead of having to develop their plans piece by piece. The net result should be a greater volume as well as a higher quality of conservation."

ARBOR DAY

IF THE ROOTS ARE DEEP, NO FEAR THAT THE WINDS WILL UPROOT THE TREE.

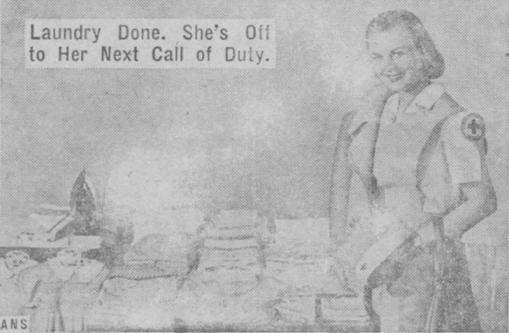

DEEP IN OUR NATIVE SOIL, THE FATHERS OF OUR COUNTRY PLANTED THE TREE OF FREEDOM.

WATCHED AND TENDED FOR 160 YEARS, IT HAS GROWN, STEADILY AND STURDILY, ITS ROOTS EXTENDING FURTHER AND DEEPER, ITS TRUNK AND BRANCHES REACHING HIGHER AND WIDER INTO THE FREE AIR.

STRONG THOUGH IT IS, THE TREE OF FREEDOM MUST STILL BE TENDED WITH CARE AND PROTECTED AGAINST DISEASE AND DECAY. BUT NOURISHED THUS, THERE IS NO FEAR THAT THE WINDS OF ADVERSITY OR THE STORMS OF DANGER WILL EVER UPROOT THE TREE.

WASHDAY SHORTCUT

Laundry Done. She's Off to Her Next Call of Duty.

Laundry Done. She's Off to Her Next Call of Duty.

Hats off to the American homemaker who has found time to answer the call for volunteers in our community. It's a proud day when we join the civilian army and contribute at least a few hours each week to the defense effort as a nurses' aide, or in one of the many other services needing help so urgently. But how to find those necessary hours, with so many demands on our time at home? One way has come to light recently... the "No-Rinse" Surf way. Explanation? Well, the big news is that with this washing shortcut, we no longer have to rinse our clothes, which not only saves all the water and fuel required for rinsing, but the time and energy as well.

After all the counseling of our mothers and grandmothers about careful rinsing, it is difficult for us to realize that such a revolutionary washday change is possible. But this is no overnight development. Rather, the result of more than five years of steady striving by the Lever Research Laboratories to perfect a product that will give all the advantages with no rinsing that we get with the ordinary detergent and two or three rinses.

This washing miracle extracts the soil from the fabric, holds it in constant suspension in the wash water, and never permits it to get back into the cloth. White clothes and colors alike come out sweet and clean... just as bacteria-free with the no-rinse technique as they do with the old-fashioned method. All of which adds up to a saving of some 2½ hours on the week's wash alone—a good start for one of the interesting defense assignments awaiting our enrollment.

A question that immediately occurs to us... Isn't a detergent powerful enough to perform such magic harmful to clothes? The answer... Rigid tests have proved that "No-Rinse" Surf may be used for finest nylons and lingerie as well as heavily soiled work clothes. Less handling and wringing gives longer life to household linens at a time when conservation is becoming the keynote of our defense economy.

SMART HOUSEKEEPING

By Margy McNeill

Don't waste food! — take advantage of modern packaging materials which make it easier for you to keep things fresh.

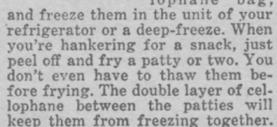

For instance, how many times have you had to throw away part of a bag of potato chips, pretzels or cookies which became soggy after they were opened?

Keeping Foods Fresh

Sylvania Cellophane's packaging specialists offer the following advice for keeping these foods fresh once you have opened the cellophane bag: when you have removed the required amount, just fold the top edges of the bag down twice and hold them with a paper clip or a strip of cellophane tape. The sealed, moisture-proof cellophane bag will keep the food crisp and fresh, even on the most humid days.

Re-Use Cellophane Wrappings
Save your cellophane bread-wrappers. You can use them for wrapping all kinds of food that needs moisture-protection in the refrigerator or deep-freeze. It's perfectly all right to re-use moistureproof cellophane wrappers unless they're badly torn or crumpled. Just wipe them clean with a clean, damp cloth, make sure they're dry, and use them again, being sure to seal the edges by applying heat or using cellophane tape.

Snack-Idea
Be prepared for snacks. Buy several pounds of hamburger, and make it into patties, using one of the new patty-ring molds for uniform size and shape. Then stack the patties with double thicknesses of cellophane between them, pop them into a cellophane bag, and freeze them in the unit of your refrigerator or a deep-freeze. When you're hankering for a snack, just peel off and fry a patty or two. You don't even have to thaw them before frying. The double layer of cellophane between the patties will keep them from freezing together.

Family Councils

If your family is like most families, problems will arise from time to time that can cause much unnecessary annoyance and irritation if left unsolved. To prevent hurt feelings and "grudges" in your home, Mrs. James S. Moehm, family relations specialist at the University of Maryland, advises that a council be called to straighten out the problem.

At a family council, says Mrs. Moehm, each person should have an opportunity to express his own views and then with an open mind listen to the other members of the family give their opinions. Then the group as a whole should decide the matter.

In this way children can be taught consideration for the rights of others. Then, too, the family that solves smaller problems by the discussion method will often find it an invaluable aid in times of real trouble.

A good family council cannot be had if Father, Mother, or any other participating member goes into it with his or her mind already made up concerning a situation. The problem should be viewed from the eyes of other family members before a decision is reached.

If the situation to be discussed is fairly pleasant, like deciding when and where to take a trip, the discussion, says Mrs. Moehm, can be held at mealtime. In case the problem is knottier, however, the council might best be held in the evening or some other time when the family can be gathered.

News And Activities Of Students Of Emmitsburg High School

Yesterday afternoon was a big day for all agriculture boys in Frederick County. Emmitsburg ag boys sponsored a "chicken judging contest." Three contestants from each school took part. Mr. Wilkins served as judge, and $20 worth of prizes were awarded.

Everyone in the senior class is busy getting ready for its play, "Live and Let Live." The play will be held Friday night, May 4, at eight p. m. in the auditorium. A short preview of the play is as follows: Mort Lester is a small town newspaper editor whose philosophy of life is live and let live. But his wife, Julia, doesn't see things that way at all. She's one of the Worthingtons, a very old New England family, and also a member of the Daughters of the Mayflower. Extremely conscious of her social position and fiercely ambitious, she keeps nagging at Mort, wants him to leave their little city of Lawrenceville for New York, where, she tells him, he will have proper scope for his talents. Mort is able to resist her until the newspaper for which he works changes hands and he finds himself without a job. At the same time, Julia has almost succeeded in breaking up the match between Ginnie, the Lester's charming daughter, and Tony Pulaski, a boy from the wrong side of the tracks. How Mort succeeds in thwarting his wife's petty scheme, teaching her a lesson about the real value of life, and winning back his job on the paper, provides a powerful and stirring climax to an exceptional play.

Well, it's come again, last week our report cards were given out. The honor students for this term were: 12th grade, Lola Liller; 11th grade, Carrie Hahn, Barbara Fisher, and Richard Stambaugh; 10th grade, Shirley Troxell, Lois Keilholtz, Norma Hartle, and Darlene Brewer; 9th grade, Mary Shields and George Springer.

The junior and senior classes met last week and decided to hold their prom on May 26 at the White House Inn. The orchestra has not been decided upon.

Varsity baseball practice is in full swing — catching, pitching, sliding, etc. We have hopes of a better team. Those who are playing this year are: Franklin Fisher, Euclid Jones, Thomas Hays, Warren Zentz, Lloyd Herring, Billy Umbel, Richard Frock, Donald Herring, and Lewis Hahn.

The eighth grade is planning a food sale on April 28. The ninth grade activity will be announced later.

ROBERT LEE TROXELL
Robert Lee Troxell, 79, died at his home on W. Main St., last Thursday at 7 p. m. A native of near Emmitsburg, he had lived his entire life in this community and was a retired farmer.

A son of the late Samuel and Sophie Colliflower Troxell, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Anna Moser Troxell; these children: Mrs. Frank Long, Thurmont; Roy L. Funeral services were held on Monday morning at 10, Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of the Lutheran Church, officiating. Interment in Lutheran Cemetery.

MRS. ORA M. WAGGAMAN
Mrs. Ora Maude Martin Waggaman, widow of Roy Waggaman, and a native of Emmitsburg, died last Wednesday night at 11:30 o'clock at her home in Garden City, Mich., aged 73 years. She was a daughter of the late James P. and Anna Bollinger Martin. Surviving are a son, J. S. Waggaman, Garden City; three sisters, Mrs. Quincey Shoemaker, Mrs. John Kump, both of Emmitsburg and Mrs. Norman Riley, near Fairfield, Pa.; two brothers, William M. Martin, Rocky Ridge, and Jacob A. Martin, Smithsburg. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Reformed Church, Rev. Edmund P. Welker, officiating. Interment was made in Mountain View Cemetery.

Saint Joseph's High School News

On Sunday afternoon approximately 50 students attended the Mission Rally, which was held at St. Joseph's College. James Tresselt and Charles Baker carried the new pennant which was donated by the alumni association for such occasions as this. The pennant has a blue background with gold lettering. The program was as follows: Procession to the Seton Gardens and the presentation of awards by the Right Rev. Msgr. Louis C. Vaeth to the students and seminarians who had done outstanding missionary work during the past school year. Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed after which the pledge of the Crusaders was said by the president of the Blessed Clet Mission Unit, Myrtle Sullivan. After the ceremonies at the Seton Gardens the procession continued to the various shrines on the campus. Michael Boyle and John Walter received the Paladini and Archbishop medals respectively from St. Joseph's High School.

proved. Following the appointment of the flag bearers for the Mission Rally, the meeting was turned over to Saranna Miller. Miss Miller was the chairman for the Missions in Latin America program. Others participating in the program were Joan Walter, Charles Baker, and Esther Sprinkle. The meeting closed with the singing of "Queen Immaculate."

Career Day was held on Tuesday in the auditorium. The speakers from St. Joseph's College were introduced by Donald Rodgers. Miss Rose Mary Power was the chairman of the program. Miss Nancy Johnson spoke on the topic of teaching; Miss Ruth Murphy, religious vocations; Miss Margaret Smith, home economics, and Miss Doris Skidmore, on secretary and stenographic positions.

The baseball team has proven that it is worth the time to practice, because on Tuesday afternoon they won over Taneytown for the second time with a score of 8-7. Eddie Collins hurled the entire game, only to be relieved by Linwood Mick in the last of the seventh inning.

A movie, "Farm in the Valley," was shown to the World Geography class on Monday.

HAVE A BETTER KITCHEN

Have you considered the addition of a kitchen snack bar to your kitchen? If you have remodeling plans, or are dreaming about a new house, the snack bar is something to keep in mind.

It provides eating space and can take the place of a bulky table and chairs in the kitchen, providing additional space for cabinets or just giving you more room in which to move about. When not in use as a dining surface, the bar can serve as convenient work area.

A snack bar can easily be made from standard steel kitchen equipment, as this illustration shows. Length of the bar is determined by the amount of room available. At one end of the bar is a standard base cabinet, with storage drawer and compartment. At the other end is an attractive half-round, open-shelf cabinet. It's not only good looking, but its sturdy shelves provide space for keeping a toaster, and other small appliances, cook books or decorative objects.

The snack bar counter is 24" wide and is made of steel covered with either linoleum or a colorful vinyl material that will give years and years of service.

MRS. JASON C. RENNER
Mrs. Mattie Martha Renner, wife of Jason C. Renner of New Midway, died last Thursday at 4:50 a. m. in Frederick Memorial Hospital following an immediate illness of two weeks. She was born Nov. 15, 1884 in Middleburg, a daughter of the late Alexis and Katherine Knipple Bowers, and was aged 66 years. Besides her husband, she is survived by three children, Mrs. Annie C. Green, Mrs. Lillie M. Anders of Emmitsburg; Miss Edna B. Renner, at home; five grandchildren and one great grandchild, and a sister, Miss Alice Bowers, New Midway. She was a life-long member of the Rocky Ridge Church of the Brethren and took an active interest in its affairs until her illness. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at the late home at 1:30 p. m. with further services in the Rocky Ridge Church at two o'clock. Elders S. R. Weybright and Arthur Rice officiated with interment in the Church cemetery.

STRAUB—GILLELAN
Miss Amy Gillelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gillelan, Emmitsburg, and Edward Straub, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Straub, Manuet, N. Y., were united in marriage last Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Gillelan home, by the Rev. Robert Rau, of Gettysburg College. The home was decorated with white candelabra and spring flowers. Corporal and Mrs. Jack Bartlett, Gettysburg, were the attendants. Mrs. Straub is owner and operator of Nellie's Beauty Shoppe, Gettysburg, Pa. Mr. Straub graduated from Gettysburg College in 1950 and is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He is employed in the aeronautical engineering department of the Fairchild plant at Hagerstown, Md. The couple will reside in Gettysburg.

Local Students Honored By Optimist Club
Boy and girl of the month awards were presented to students from the Emmitsburg High School at a joint meeting of the Frederick Optimist and Optimists Clubs last Thursday. Arvin P. Jones, principal of the school, presented the merits of the two youths, Mary Shields and Richard R. Stambaugh, prior to the presentations. Mr. Jones spoke to the group on education of young people. He stressed the importance of awakening in the pupils of today a realization of the value in their future lives of obtaining a maximum benefit from secondary education. Another responsibility of the school system is that of stimulating the interest of the more capable students so that they use their full capacities. Mr. Jones recounted numerous successes and failures in dealing with children who might be classed as "problem students." He closed with the thought that if the personal interest taken in boys' work by the Optimist Club, through their Boys' Club, were successful in making good citizens of only a few youths, then that effort would be well repaid. The presentation of the Certificate of Award and engraved loving cup was made to the Girl of the Month, Mary Shields, by Mrs. Victor S. Palmer. A similar presentation to the Boy of the Month, Richard R. Stambaugh, was made by Mr. Charles F. Ritchie. These youths were chosen by the faculty of the high school for both scholarship and citizenship.

Farmers Should Immediately Check SS Status
W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown Social Security field office, reminds Frederick County housewives and farm operators that they should file their Social Security tax returns for their employes by the end of April. A housewife must file a tax return if she employs a regular household worker. To be considered a "regular" domestic worker, a person must work on at least 24 different days in your home and be paid at least $50 in cash wages in a calendar quarter. A calendar quarter is a three-month period beginning Jan. 1, April 1, July 1, or Oct. 1. A farmer must file a tax return if he employs a farm worker who works at least 60 days on a full-time basis and earns $50 in cash wages in a calendar quarter. Before a farm worker can be "regularly" employed, Mr. King advises he must serve a qualifying quarter. In order to acquire a qualifying quarter, a farm worker must be employed continuously by the farm operator for the entire calendar quarter. A worker will not receive Social Security credit for farm work during the "qualifying" quarter, but if he works on a full-time basis for at least 60 days and earns at least $50 cash wages during the next quarter, he will receive Social Security credit for that quarter. If you have already filed your application for an Employer's Identification number with the Collector of Internal Revenue but have not yet received forms on which to make your tax return, Mr. King suggests that you contact your local collectors' office before the end of April. Employers who have not yet filed for identification numbers should do so immediately by contacting their local social security field office or collector's office. Miss Mary Kessler, Baltimore, spent the week-end visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kessler. Mrs. Robert L. Topper, Mrs. Ray Topper and Mrs. Marie Rosensteel visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ned Topper of Baltimore.

Sportsmen Announce Turkey Stocking
Officials of the Indian Look-out Conservation Club of Emmitsburg announced the stocking of the game refuge on the Emmitsburg Reservoir last Friday with 27 young turkeys. Nine hens and 18 gobblers were released by the local sportsmen under the supervision of State Inland Fish and Game Commission representatives. President Weldon B. Shank stated this was the first of a series of stockings planned and the ultimate goal of the association is to provide abundant hunting sometime in the next two years. Mr. Shank asked for cooperation of the public in helping with the preservation of the game and said that any birds that possibly might stray be returned to the refuge, where sufficient supplies of buckwheat, chufa bulbs, and corn are being maintained for the existence of the fowl. Miss Mary Rosselle, Wilmington, Del., returned to her home on Monday after spending several weeks at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Roddy Jr. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Arthur Malloy. Mrs. Charles Wachter underwent an operation last Saturday at the Annie Warner Hospital. Her condition is reported as satisfactory.

Ample Steel For Defense
Asserting that American steel capacity is triple that of Russia and her satellite countries, Irving S. Olds, chairman of the U. S. Steel Corp., declared in his 1950 report that "no enemy could present any real problem to this nation so far as steel for defense is concerned."

Freak Laws
Freak laws abound in the United States, according to a recent magazine article. For instance, if you sing at a bar in Wisconsin, drive a red automobile in Minneapolis, marry your mother-in-law in the District of Columbia, or arrest a dead man for a debt in New York, you're liable to be jailed.

"World's Smallest Woman" Gives Birth To Son

Game Commission Calls Public Hearing
The State Game and Inland Fish Commission announced this week there will be a public hearing concerning changes in several of Maryland's hunting laws. The meeting will be held in the Fire House on Friday, April 27, at 7:30 p. m. in Princess Anne. To be discussed is the following proposed regulations:
1—That Regulation No. 10 adopted Jan. 6, 1950, concerning the hunting of deer in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Cecil, and Worcester Counties only, be rescinded and substitute in lieu thereof the following:
"It shall be unlawful to hunt, pursue, catch, kill, trap, shoot or attempt to hunt, pursue, catch, kill, trap or shoot any deer in the State of Maryland, except that male deer, with two or more points to one antler, may be hunted in Garrett, Alleghany, Washington, Frederick, Cecil, Worcester, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Dorchester, Wicomico, and Somerset Counties during the lawful open season, whether or not the ground is covered with snow, and subject in all other respects to all restrictions and conditions of law."
That Regulation No. 15 (a) adopted Jan. 6, 1950, concerning the hunting of squirrel, statewide, be rescinded, and substitute in lieu thereof the following:
"The Commission shall set a season within the dates of Oct. 1 and Nov. 30, whereby it shall be lawful to hunt, pursue, or kill any squirrel in this State."

Mrs. Ruth Shoemaker and sons moved last week from the third floor apartment of the VFW Bldg. to an apartment in the Elder Bldg., S. Seton Ave. Mrs. Thomas Gephart, Bon-neville, Pa., spent the week-end visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Alen Gelwicks.
