Once again Emmitsburg's service clubs, the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, have demonstrated their ability to cope with civilian obligations at home as well as military on the battlefield. The two service clubs have established an enviable record of domestic front activities and the dedication of the new Honor Roll this Sunday, is just another milestone in the record of accomplishments. A fine program has been arranged for the affair and a large attendance is anticipated. The clubs have gone to a great deal of expense in erecting this new monument in honor of those who served their country in the last war and the least Emmitsburg can do, in my opinion, is to show up Sunday for the dedicatory exercises and show their appreciation for a commendable achievement. Only the names of those who served in World War II will be displayed on the monument, Veterans of World War I are honored by the Doughboy marker in West End. In addition to paying homage to those who have served their country, these markers serve a dual purpose in showing our respect for those who made the supreme sacrifice and also adding beauty to the town. The marker will become the property of the Corporation of Emmitsburg immediately after the presentation ceremonies Sunday. For this we thank you from the bottom of our hearts Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

Indications are evident that the town's street markers are well on their way. Commissioner Wales E. Rightour, the chairman of the installation committee, has been busy with preparatory plans and already some of the posts have been anchored. It is expected that very shortly now our street corners will blossom out with the new black and white indicators. No longer will you scratch your head when some stranger asks you where DePaul St., or Frailey Road is located. All you will have to say now is go to this or that intersection until you see your street marker. Heretofore when approached for a location, all you could do was raise your hat, scratch your dandruff and mumble: Up thataway a couple hundred feet and turn left, or follow your nose and when you get there ask somebody else. Now, under the new system, all you have to do is drive to the corner marker you are looking for and turn when you get there knock on several doors and wait for the irate housewife who was in the basement washing, to growl: Up street three or four more houses. All this leads up to correct house numbers. What good is a street marker when there are no numbers of the houses? It all reminds me of a giant labyrinth, with its secret passages, blind alleys and dual passages. . . . It all leads to confusion. . . . And what with all these Government and state papers to fill out, a fellow doesn't have much more dandruff to stir up anymore.

Since Charlie Price has declared war on gambling we can't help but wonder what will happen to the good old turkey raffles we so thoroughly enjoyed around Thanksgiving and Christmas? Or the fun we used to derive from the church "corn game"? One good feature will be the elimination of those people, who every time you went down street to get the mail, tagged you with a chance book for some type of function. Pity the poor kiddies who gamble on the bubble gum machines. . . . And say, C. P., how about the fellow who gambles in the stock market? Isn't that a type of gambling? It appears under the circumstances, that a lot of people who voted to

MOUNT STUDENT KILLED IN CAR WRECK

A Mount St. Mary's College sophomore was killed instantly and a classmate was injured at 7:45 o'clock Saturday night when a convertible car turned over on Route 77, about a quarter of a mile east of the entrance to Shrang-La, presidential retreat on the Catoctin Recreational Area, west of Thurmont.

Edward Joseph McGrain, 20, of 8537 112th St., Richmond Hill, N. Y., was pronounced dead at the scene. The medical examiner said death was due to a fractured skull.

Removed to Frederick Memorial Hospital was the driver, Raymond A. McNamara, 22, 70 Drake St., Melvern, N. Y., who was reported improved this week after treatment for shock and back injuries.

State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown said his investigation is being continued. He indicated one or more charges will be placed against McNamara.

Trooper Brown said the two students had attended a class picnic on the Catoctin Recreational Area and were en route back to the college, near here. The car failed to round a curve and went out of control. It went off the highway on one side and then returned to the paved portion before turning over. The machine skidded about 50 feet on its top before stopping. It was headed in the opposite direction when stopped, he reported.

McGrain's body was taken to New York Monday by M. L. Creager, Thurmont undertaker.

Juniors Topped 3-2 In Contest

Costly errors in the early innings last Sunday cost the local American Legion Juniors their second setback of the season.

Victorious was the Fairview team by a 3-2 score.

In the third inning the Juniors tied the count at 2-2 on a single by Collins, who stole second, and a mighty triple by "Fireball" Joy, followed by a double by McNair. The pitchers were rather stingy with their hits. Joy, Junior hurler, gave up eight hits and struck out 12, while Null pitched four-hit ball, striking out 13.

According to Manager Rosensteel, the Juniors had some trouble getting their signals straight. He indicated there will be plenty of practice in this department coming up.

Lutheran Delegates At Conference

Rev. Philip Bower, Supt. Carroll E. Frock, James Sanders, Mrs. Robert Gillelan, and Mrs. Roy Maxell represented the Elias Ev. Lutheran Sunday School at the Western Conference Sunday School Assn. convention, which was held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Burkittsville last Thursday, May 17.

All the officers were re-elected for another year, including Charles W. Mumma, Rocky Ridge, president; Dr. Roger Fiery, Hagerstown, first vice president, and Claude Ahalt, Burkittsville, second vice president; Mrs. Roy Keiser, Detour and Miss Lulu V. Birely, Keymar, were elected secretary and treasurer, respectively, and Vernon Zimmerman, Westminster, statistical secretary.

The main speakers were Dr. Frank Fife, Baltimore, president of the Maryland Synod; Miss Catherine Juram, Philadelphia, Pa., Parish and Church School Board representative, and Rev. Howard Reisz, Baltimore.

A special item of business was the vote of the convention to come to Emmitsburg for the 1952 annual convention when the Elias Ev. Lutheran Sunday School will be the host.

Approximately 250 delegates and visitors attended the Thursday convention, which was the largest convention ever held by the Western Conference Assn.

Retail Businessmen Must File Price Chart By Wednesday

Maryland OPS Director Hugo R. Hoffman today warned retail businessmen subject to the provisions of Ceiling Price Regulation 7 that they must file a pricing chart with his office by May 30. Under their regulation, retailers who fail to file a pricing chart by that date may not continue to sell the commodities covered until an acceptable chart is filed. "In other words," said Mr. Hoffman, "the merchant who fails to submit the chart by the date outlined is out of business temporarily since two 30-day extensions have already been given. We wish to give every possible assistance in helping businessmen to comply with Ceiling Price Regulation 7. Our staff members at OPS headquarters, 306 W. Franklin St., are available to give all possible aid."

Ceiling price regulation 7, the retail mark-up order, covers clothing, furniture, rugs, lamps, household textile commodities and other items. In addition, hundreds of items are also covered by an amendment to the regulation. Some of these are: radio and television sets, musical instruments, phonographs and records, housewares, notions, luggage, sporting goods, silverware, chinaware, glassware, jewelry, watches, and clocks.

OPS also says that merchants whose yearly volume of business is under $20,000 have the privilege of selecting either Regulation 7 or the General Ceiling Price Regulation for establishing ceiling prices. However, once a decision is made, the retailer is bound to continue pricing under the regulation he chooses.

Business firms doing a yearly volume of $50,000 or more must also file a copy of Public Form No. 3 with their pricing charts.

Agriculture Classes To Be Guests Of Local Grange At Meeting

The Emmitsburg Grange will meet Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Emmitsburg High School. After a short business session, an open meeting will be held and Mr. F. G. Lodge, Purina representative from Frederick will show three movies: "Milk Production," "More From What We Have" and "Calf Starting."

The films are based on work being done at Purina experimental laboratories by Dr. A. W. Peterson, University of Minneapolis. Dr. Peterson's work with milk production is recognized world-wide.

The program is under the supervision of Mr. William Baker, agriculture teacher at EHS, and who is a member of the Grange. Guests at the meeting will be the agricultural classes of Thurmont and Emmitsburg High Schools. Parents and friends of the classes are invited to attend the showing.

LOCALS BLANK CASHTOWN, 5-0, IN CONTEST

Emmitsburg climbed back into the win column again this week when Tuesday night they defeated Cashtown in a shutout, 5 to 0. The contest was postponed Sunday because of rain and was scheduled for Tuesday evening.

Wayne McLaughlin hurled one of the best games in two years, as he held the Pennsylvanians to three scattered hits, while his mates were garnering six hits in timely fashion.

Cashtown started Kane on the mound but he was replaced early in the contest by Kitzmiller.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Geoffrey Zurgable celebrated his fourth birthday anniversary last Sunday, May 20, at a party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zurgable.

The little guests entertained were Donnie and Gwennie Shorb, Jerry and Tommy Rightour, Paul Joe Humerick, Harry and Sissie Hamer, Joe and Julie Eckenerode, Tommy Zurgable, Lynn, Mike, and Karen Shorb, Terry Ohler, Ronnie Elliot, John Balmer, Tommy and Dottie Shorb, and Gregory and Geoffrey Zurgable.

Games were played, after which refreshments were served to the group.

BUS WILL HAUL PICKERS

The I. Z. Musselman Orchards of Orrtanna, Pa., have announced that free bus transportation will be furnished this year for cherry pickers from this area. The schedule will be announced later.

Officials of the company said this week the crop is exceptionally large this year and many pickers will be needed to harvest the crop.

The cherry picking is expected to start late in June and will continue until late July.

Saccharin might be called a "condiment," one of the many flavors like salt and pepper which are used for taste.

IMPROVEMENTS TO ROUTE 15 APPEAR CERTAIN

The State Roads Commission will definitely make some improvements to U. S. Route 15 between Emmitsburg and Thurmont in the 1951 roads program.

Pending a study of cost estimates, the nature of the work has not been finally determined but commission sources indicated that a relocation at Franklinville is a real possibility.

It was at Franklinville bridge that a tractor-trailer toppled on a pleasure car last year, killing three occupants. The double curve into and off the Owens Creek bridge has been the scene of many bad accidents.

Any relocation at Franklinville would mean construction of a new bridge over the creek, but officials and residents of the section feel it would be worth it to get rid of the present series of serious curves.

There are a number of curves between the two towns which have been the source of complaints. Any improvements, it appeared, would involve the other curves, a chief target of the Emmitsburg-Thurmont Route 15 Improvement Association, which has met with roads officials to urge action on modernization of the highway.

Some surveys have already been made and cost estimates will be studied by the roads commission before action is taken.

Motorists are already using, to some extent, the unfinished relocation of Route 15 on the southern outskirts of Emmitsburg, Toll Gate Hill, where the road has been cut through land made available by St. Joseph's College. A bare course has been placed on the relocation but no blacktop has been installed as yet. That probably will come this summer.

The relocation eased and reduced a severe 90-degree curve. Work was done through prison labor, with grading by Contractor E. E. Russells, Frederick. Another danger spot in front of St. Joseph's College has been reduced by raising the road bed there, several feet.

60 Streams Are Stocked

Sixty major surface water impoundments in Maryland, of five acres in area, have been stocked with warm water fish such as largemouth blue bass, bluegills, white suckers, black crappie, and forage fish. Sportsmen will find the lakes, ponds and reservoirs amply stocked by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission as a result of their intensive hatchery and commercial bass purchase program during the past year.

Fishermen may be amazed to find a silver jaw tag with "MD" and a number inscribed thereon when they try their favorite haunts this season.

The Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission has marked more than 3000 of the 30,000 largemouth bass adults released this year. These fish tip the scales at some two to five pounds.

Tags of fish caught should be returned to the county game wardens whose names and addresses are listed in the Angler's Guide.

To stimulate commercial and club interests, a prize might be well offered for the fisherman catching a certain designated numbered tag.

No Mail Wednesday

The Postoffice lobby will be open on Memorial Day from 8:15 a. m. to 9:15 a. m., only. There will be no window service and no mail is delivered on the rural routes on that day. One outgoing mail is dispatched at 7:30 a. m., Postmaster Louis H. Stoner announced this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sites, Orrtanna, Pa., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Robert Dean, Mrs. Sites is the former Miss Patsy Tressler, daughter of Mrs. Edna A. Tressler of Emmitsburg.

Discharged from the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., this week was Mrs. Matthew Gibney and infant daughter, Emmitsburg Rt. 1.

Thurmont Man Is Ordained Priest

Ordained Saturday at the Basilica of the Assumption in Baltimore, Rev. Thomas R. Kincaid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhea T. Kincaid, Thurmont, celebrated his first Solemn Mass Sunday in Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church, in Thurmont. A breakfast for the visiting clergy which assisted the Rev. Kincaid in celebrating the mass, family and close friends followed at Cozy Club, Thurmont.

Father Kincaid was born in Ewing, Va., in 1926. A convert to the faith, he received instructions from Father Ryan at Ellicott City during his junior year in high school. He received his elementary and high school education in the public schools of Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland.

He made his theological studies at St. Mary's in Roland Park, receiving the Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree.

Father Kincaid's parents are well-known in Frederick County. Rhea Kincaid, his father, has long been identified with the Soil Conservation Service and his mother, Mrs. Loretta Kincaid, is a teacher at Sabillasville. A sister, Mrs. Clyde Kefauver, is a county public health nurse. Rev. Kincaid celebrated mass here at St. Joseph's Catholic Church Monday morning.

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

Roger W. Babson

NEW BOSTON, N. H., May 25—Senator Kefauver has done this country an invaluable service, not just by exposing a bunch of crooks, but by turning the spotlight into the dark corners of our national morality, and showing us up for what we really are!

There has been a lot of loose talk about freedom and the greatness of this country. Recently the Office of Defense Mobilization announced to the papers that we shall be mighty in two years! Just what does it mean by "mighty"?

The things that made America great cannot be packaged by a government agency and handed out to us like Social Security checks. In a democracy, nobody but the individual—you and I and the fellow on the other side of the tracks—can make America great. And whether or not it becomes great is a matter of national morality. Only if our society has the moral fiber, the national character, will we be great.

Character And Our Schools Character isn't something you study in school, do a few problems, and presto!, you have it. Character springs and flourishes in a friendly home environment. Morality is the end product of character. Our children's character traits are determined by the way in which WE think, act, and believe. Character is taught by example. The Dept. of Defense can buy airplanes, ships, tanks, and munitions, but it cannot buy character which is sorely needed today to make us "mighty."

I have just come from a trip through our great industrial cities. Here is what I heard over and over again from different business executives who are hiring thousands of youngsters every year: "The young people today aren't reliable. They make the same kinds of mistakes over and over, and they don't seem to care . . . they lack industry. They aren't uncomfortable when idle. They give the impression that what they want most is a quick, easy buck. We have failed to teach him to follow a path successfully to the end—no matter how difficult the going gets. Graduates today give up too easily."

Careless Parents May Make Careless Employees "Our schools themselves have succumbed to a philosophy of mediocrity by passing children each year whether the quality of work is good or bad. The training in the schools that there can be reward without hard work has led to irresponsibility. In this sense our schools have failed to discharge their whole duty . . . and in so doing have failed to develop moral virtues . . . character."

In the last analysis, however, it is the parents who are at fault. The average parent today has great difficulty trying to develop industrious children. He won't make his children mow the lawn or wash the car or put on the screens. Junior rebels because Joey down the street doesn't have to do these things, so why should he? The real ailment here, of course, is a lack on the part of the parents of moral courage which comes from religion. When hiring young men employment managers should give some consideration to the applicant's parents.

Gen. Marshall's Forecasts More than anything else today American business, the Federal government, and our schools and homes need men and women of character—individuals whose search for life's realities goes beyond the thin veneer of men and machines. This country can remain great but only if we sustain its moral fiber, and remember, in a democracy that is an individual responsibility. Don't take too seriously the forecasts of the Dept. of Defense.

(These opinions of Roger W. Babson are published in the Chronicle every Friday.)

Precision Grazing Paying Dividends To Farmers

Precision grazing is the term applied to the type of management required by modern pastures which can furnish up to three times as much feed as the pastures found on most Maryland farms a few years ago.

Specialists report that the new type pastures containing orchard grass and ladino clover or tall fescue and ladino can produce as much as three tons of dry matter per acre. The old bluegrass-white clover pasture did well to produce a ton per acre.

However, to keep such pastures, the modern farmer must manage them correctly. A rule of thumb given by the specialists is "10 days on 30 days off." This means that a pasture should be grazed down to one and one-half inches in 10 days and then given a rest period of a month or more.

Four pasture areas are necessary to provide this rotation. Each lot should be clipped after the stock is removed if weeds or ungrazed areas are evident.

In fact, the agronomists state that if you don't rotate the grazing on such pasture, you may soon lose the ladino clover and have only a grass pasture left. However, they add that rotation of bluegrass-white clover pastures increases yields by only 10 per cent and may not be worth the cost of the extra fencing.

A neighbor-saving device for musicians who live in apartment houses was announced recently by music teacher Jesse Roope of London. It silences pianos, trumpets, and violins, except for listeners wearing earphones.

Recommend Early Culling

When chicks are five to six weeks old, or whenever you can easily distinguish the cockerels, it is time to separate the sexes. Remove the male birds and place them in a separate enclosure, finishing them off as broilers. Retain only those cockerels needed for breeding purposes.

Removal of the males gives pullets additional room and eliminates crowding at the feed troughs. They will do better as a result. And the poultry raiser realizes a saving in feed costs.

Keep in your flocks of medium and heavy breeds only one male to every 15 females. For Leghorns and other light breeds the ratio should be about one rooster to every 20 hens.

Retain Good Breeders Keep the best cockerels for breeding stock. To pick the best males, here are some guide rules to follow:

(1) High quality chicks are the cheapest in the long run. If you haven't already purchased your chicks, plan to get the best available at your hatchery.

(2) Look for good fathering. Mark all chicks which have long pin feathers in their wings at hatching time or tail feathers at 10 days of age.

(3) Keep for later selection the largest cockerels at eight to 12 weeks of age.

(4) Retain all cockerels that are free of standard disqualification and have no body deformities. Look for points on the sides of the comb and feathers on shanks, toes and between the toes. Get rid of any with these disqualifications. Eliminate the runts and slow-feathering birds.

When your pullet flock begins laying, do not house males and females together until the production of hatching eggs is started. It is best to produce market eggs which are infertile.

Free Film Available

The Hagerstown Social Security Office has just received a new 16-mm sound film on the revised Social Security law which is available without charge to interested groups in Frederick county.

According to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown office, this is the first film made on the 1950 amendments to the Social Security law. It explains how these amendments changed the law and what effect they have on all workers including the self-employed. The purpose of the film a running time of about 20 minutes is to promote better understanding of all citizens of their rights, benefits, and obligations under the Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance provisions of the Social Security Act.

Mr. King said that his office will be glad to arrange for a showing before any interested group or organization in Frederick County.

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

The Baltimore feed market weakened during last week. Weakness was most pronounced in 17% dehydrated alfalfa meal which declined sharply almost four per cent—$4 per ton less than a week ago. Wheat mill-feeds declined over three per cent while standard bran—$2.71 per ton less, and standard middlings, $2.97 per ton less. 50% meat scrap declined almost three per cent. Distillers' dried grains increased over three per cent—$2.46 per ton higher. Brewers' dried grains increased over two per cent—$1.52 per ton higher. During last week, DelMarVa broiler producers paid an average of 105.76 per ton for feed and received an average of 27.7 cents per pound for broilers. Based on this average retail cash price of 20% broiler mash on lower Eastern Shore, one pound live weight of broilers would buy 5.2 pounds of feed.

National Feed Markets Grain markets continued weak and prices made further declines last week, according to reports to the Dept. of Agriculture. Beneficial rains in the winter wheat belt, more favorable conditions for planting corn and other feed grains, continued plentiful offerings in the cash markets and a less active demand for most grains were the principal weakening influences. Wheat prices declined two to three cents per bushel while corn was down one to two cents compared with the previous week. Oats held independently weak and harvesting of the new crop began in the southern producing area. Barley and grain sorghums were steady to slightly weaker. Soybeans held at ceiling levels but flaxseed dropped 20 cents per bushel at Minneapolis reflecting slow demand for oil and meal.

National Grain Markets Baltimore grain markets weakened last week with weakness noted in all grains listed. Soybeans remained at ceiling level. Garlicky wheat lost about three cents per bushel. No. 2 yellow shelled corn declined about one cent per bushel, while yellow ear corn dropped about five cents per bushel. No. 2 barley declined about two cents per bushel. No. 2 western white oats declined about two cents per bushel.

Prices of the principal feed stuffs continued to decline during last week, largely as a result of plentiful market supplies and a seemingly slow demand. Pastures have improved and are furnishing a good supply of feed for dairy cows and other livestock. Movement of the Canadian feed wheat into eastern and the New England states have reduced the demand for domestic wheat market feeds and poultry operations in that area. The index of wholesale feed stuff prices declined three and one-half points to 241.8 compared with 242 a year ago. The feed grain index declined four points to 246.7 against 210.6 for the corresponding date last year.

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

"Farmers with enough storage for their grain on their own places will be relatively independent of increasing transportation and commercial storage difficulties," says Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee.

The Chairman points out that each year more and more of the small grains of the country are being harvested with combines. As a result more and more grain must be stored on the farm since transportation and commercial storage cannot keep pace.

In the Chairman's words, "If a farmer has storage on his own farm there will be no question about his having a place to put his grain. If his grain is dry, he will be able to get a price support loan. In that way he will be able to get money to pay current expenses and still be in a position to hold his crop for future sale."

Farmers interested in constructing additional grain storage on their farms still can borrow up to 85 per cent of the money needed for that purpose through the county PMA committee, the Chairman explains. Information on such loans can be obtained from county PMA offices.

Improving Pastures Conserve Feed Grain

"A penny saved is a penny earned." This adage has a special meaning at this time for Maryland farmers in connection with current feed reserves, states Mr. Blandford.

As he sees it, the big problem this year is to produce all the feed grain we can and at the same time make our reserves go as far as they will by making maximum use of our pasture and hay land. This does not mean cutting down on livestock production through reduced feeding but it does mean checking waste and using available feed efficiently.

He points out that of 10, through improving pastures, a considerable saving in feed grain can be made. "Every pound of meat and quart of milk that can be produced from pasture is that much grain saved. In the face of increasing livestock numbers and stepped-up feeding operations, there is need for making the best possible use of all sources of livestock feed."

For this reason, the chairman explains, pasture improvement practices are receiving special emphasis in Maryland this year in the Agricultural Conservation Program, both to provide feed and to protect the land.

Practices being stressed are use of lime, phosphate and potash. Detailed information about use of these practices for pasture improvement is available at the county PMA office in each county.

Safety Needs Are Stressed

About 18,000 farm people die in accidental deaths each year and more than 1.5 million disabling injuries are suffered.

This loss of time and manpower is particularly serious in this time of national emergency, according to Mr. Blandford.

He points out that President Truman has called for observance of National Farm Safety Week during the week of July 22.

In this connection he points out that unprecedented changes affecting manpower on farms have taken place in the last 10 years. During that period the number of farm workers has decreased by over one million. More than twice as many tractors and trucks are now used on farms and only half as many horses and mules. Eighty-six per cent of all farms are now provided with electrical service. Due to this increase in mechanization, together with better varieties, better methods, and other factors, the output per man-hour is 50 per cent higher than it was as recently as 1937.

While these changes have enabled us to increase agricultural production substantially, they have at the same time increased the hazards of farm operations. For this reason it is more important than ever that farmers follow safe practices in their work.

Defense needs also emphasize the importance of farm safety. Farm workers are now more highly skilled and replacement more difficult. There is little reserve manpower to meet the need for increased output. This year there will be some replacements of trained farm workers by younger or older men and women who are less experienced and these persons will undoubtedly be more prone to accidents. Prevention of accidents on farms is an essential part of our defense program.

Mrs. Laura Beard Diehl, of York, Pa., and formerly of Emmitsburg, who has been ill, is reported much improved.

Discharged from the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, this week were Mrs. Robert Koontz and infant son.

Community Chorus Planning Concert

The Frederick Community Chorus and the Frederick-Hood College Orchestra will present Gabriel Faure's "Requiem Mass" at their spring concert Sunday evening, May 27, in the Gambrell gymnasium at Hood College. Dr. Earl Blakeslee, head of the music department at Hood, will conduct.

The first half of the program will be devoted to secular orchestral compositions by George Frederick Handel, Johann Sebastian Bach, W. A. Mozart, and Ambrose Thomas. Following intermission the orchestra will perform Max Bruch's "Kol Nidrei" with cello solo played by Bernard Siegert of Hagerstown. This composition is based on a traditional Hebrew melody of the same name which is sung once each year in every synagogue and temple. The program will be concluded with a rendition of Gabriel Faure's "Requiem," scored for orchestra, chorus and soprano and bass soli. It is believed that this choral work has never before been performed in the Frederick area.

The Secret Of Prosperity
 Preparations for national defense have again thrown the spotlight on the mutually beneficial interrelationship of big business and small business. These two segments in our American business system form the productive team which safeguards our nation in wartime and gives our people their unparalleled living standard in peacetime. The manner in which they work together in peacetime goes almost unnoticed. In wartime it is dramatized by urgency and gets written up in newspapers and magazines.

Almost everyone has read the story of the T41 tank—the "Walker Bulldog." The Army needed lots of them, and in a hurry. No "small" industry, of course, could undertake such a huge job. And yet the big industry that got the job was utterly dependent upon hundreds of "small" industries for parts and raw materials. The manufacture of several hundred parts in the Walker tank was "farmed out" to that many shops and fabricating plants, or "suppliers."

Works Both Ways

The dependency works both ways. In peacetime, especially, the small suppliers look to the big ones for their "meal ticket" business. Many people would no doubt be astonished at the number of families of working people in America who are affected each day by the successful operation of, say the DuPont chemical company. In peacetime it buys materials and products from—believe it or not—30,000 other companies! If each had only 100 employees, that would be three million people, plus their families, whose economic welfare is dependent to some degree on DuPont's success.

Again using DuPont as an illustration, the pay envelopes of a great many other people are affected to some degree by the continuing stream of new products developed by the big company's research program. Du Pont spent 10 years and $27 million developing and manufacturing its first ounce of nylon staple. The new synthetic fiber then created hundreds of new businesses, and literally thousands of business expansions—new hosiery mills and dress manufacturers, sales force expansions and a hundred-and-one other kinds.

By The Pound
 Nylon fibre sells at about $1.50 a pound. My wife and daughters wear some garments made of it. Among them is a nylon dress—cost $32.95. It weighs a pound and three ounces. The textile mill which spun the 1.3 pounds of fibre into yard paid DuPont $1.95 for it. The difference between this $1.95 and the $32.95 my wife paid for the dress went as wages and profits to the employees and owners of a number of small businesses. These include the spinner who spun the fibre into yarn, the throwster who twisted it, the weaver who made the cloth, the finisher who dyed it, the designer, the cutter, the seamstress—and finally all the people and companies in the channels of wholesaling and retailing.

Of course big industry is dependent upon the small industries for its production progress and its market. But the biggest beneficiary in all this is the consumer. Mrs. Benson says her nylon dress will outwear two silk ones. And the man who pays the bills at our house says it cost less than the silk ones used to, and its upkeep is nil. Instead of meeting the cleaning man at the door with his long paper bag and a bill, I find the nylon garments at our house frequently hanging from the shower curtain rod, drying after a quick wash in the basin, and being automatically pressed!

Memorial Day Opening For Braddock Heights

Braddock Heights Park will open May 30 for the 1951 summer season, it was announced this week by park officials. Braddock will again feature the many attractions that have proved so popular in the past.

The giant 12-car ferris wheel will again be spinning over the park, offering riders an unequalled view of the beautiful Middletown Valley.

The swimming pool, the roller skating rink, the bowling alleys, and other attractions have been completely overhauled and will be ready for use on the 30th.

Braddock's miniature train, pony rides, giant slide, merry-go-round and kiddie rides will also all be open for business on Decoration Day.

The famous Mountain Theatre, located on the park grounds, has announced as its stage schedule for the 1950 season such favorites as Boy Meets Girl, The Silver Whistle, Happy Birthday, and Born Yesterday.

Stage shows at the Mountain Theatre will start June 20 and run through Sept. 1. They are offered each week, Wednesday

DuPont last year was on new products developed in the last 20 years through pure and applied research. Competition spurs such developments. There are 9000 other chemical companies in America, including some that have grown up from little companies to big ones in recent years—such as Union Carbide and Carbon, Monsanto, American Cyanamid, the Dow Co., etc. Of the 758,000 jobs in this chemical industry today, nearly all of them grew out of research.

This exploring of the almost limitless horizon of development is constantly being done by the big companies who have the resources to carry on extensive research. And it guarantees a continuing growth in the field of little business as well as big. Although the Socialists will simply close their eyes and not believe it, the U. S. Census Bureau reports there are almost a million more businesses and manufacturing plants in America today than there were 20 years ago, a growth of 33 1-3 per cent, and most of the new ones are small. This growth, through teamwork under the private enterprise system, is the secret of American prosperity — your prosperity and mine.

Hood College Plans Money Drive

Mrs. Edgar H. McBride and James H. Gambrill III, both of Frederick, will direct the Frederick County phase of the Hood Forward program which will begin next month to raise $750,000 for Hood College, according to an announcement made this week by R. Paul Smith, general chairman of the organization.

The campaign, first made known by President Andrew G. Truxal at the April convocation, calls for the solicitation of this county during the month of June. About 350 workers, many of whom have already been enlisted, will canvas the area.

In addition to raising funds sufficient to complete the new chapel, toward which an anonymous donor has already given through Saturday, with curtain time at 8:30 p. m. (DST).

It was also announced by Braddock Heights officials that the mountain-top dance pavilion will be available to groups and clubs for rental. Those wishing to secure the pavilion or reserve picnic tables may do so by calling their local power company offices.

$150,000, the campaign will seek additional money for scholarships, laboratory, and library improvements, remodeling old Brodbeck Hall, and general endowment.

Down the Line with Johnny Bell

The big "operation"

The first large-scale demonstration of television in full color took place in an Atlantic City hospital operating room recently. In a hall half a mile away, doctors attending the American Medical Association convention watched details of an operation for appendicitis. The transmission, handled by the Bell System's technicians, beamed the pictures through the air by microwave radio.

Help yourself to better telephone service

When you have a number of calls to make, it's a good idea to spread them out, so that others on your line can use their telephones in the intervals. It works to your advantage, too, for it gives others a chance to reach you . . . often with calls you wouldn't want to miss. Friendly sharing of the line makes party-line service better for everybody concerned.

Give them time to answer

People you call can't always answer the telephone instantly. So it's a good idea not to hang up too soon—give them a chance to answer. When your telephone rings, answer it promptly. Patience when calling, promptness when called—a good rule to avoid the loss of important calls!

"Reduction of the fly population can contribute immeasurably to the health and comfort of our human population," Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Dept. of Health, recently pointed out.

"Elimination of breeding places is the most effective way of keeping flies to a minimum. Since garbage provides a favorite breeding medium for flies it is important for housewives and foodhandling establishments to store their garbage in dry, clean metal cans with tight lids and for communities to dispose of collected garbage by means of sanitary landfill operations or incinerators instead of depositing it upon open dumps.

"Insecticides should be used to kill existing flies to prevent their reproduction. It is important to spray outdoor garbage cans, barns, chicken houses, dog houses and privies regularly, preferably once a week.

"To keep flies from entering human living quarters houses should be protected by adequate screens that are sprayed with insecticides at regular intervals. It is, of course, especially important to protect food supplies from contamination by flies, and nothing that is to be eaten should stand uncovered if there are flies in the room.

"When these summer pests first appear, usually in May or early in June, it is important to kill every fly seen, destroying them by means of sprays or swatters. They can also be killed less directly by eliminating their feeding places. Their destruction not only shortens the life of the individual fly but also prevents it from breeding. An unmolested

Abbott and Costello have signed a five-year contract with NBC for radio and television. Deal is supposed to involve $15 million during that period. Meeting of the American Mothers Committee with Actress Peggy Wood, star of CBS-TV's Friday night series, "Mama," at lunch abroad the US luxury liner America, found the group of 20 prominent women firmly united in the stand that mothers everywhere must work harder than ever to bring permanent peace to the world.

STARLITE: John Conte, dark-haired baritone, singing star of his own 15-minute musical variety television program twice week on NBC-TV, decided to make a living in show business after he sang "Ole Susanna" in a grammar school production. He studied voice in Lincoln High School and joined the Pasadena Community Playhouse after graduation. Played in Katherine Cornell's touring troupe of Romeo and Juliet and later in A Tale of Two Cities.

MUSIC FESTIVAL PROVES HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

About 400 persons filled Elias Ev. Lutheran Church to its full capacity Sunday night for the Festival of Music sponsored by the pastor and choir of the church. Nine choirs, including the host choir, with 110 voices, participating choirs were as follows: Fairfield Lutheran, Mt. Joy Lutheran, Emmitsburg Reformed, Tom's Creek Methodist Men's chorus, Thurmont Lutheran, Moravian choir of Graceham, the Catoctin Parish Episcopal choir and the Rocky Ridge men's chorus.

A piano solo was given by William Stitley of the Catoctin parish. An offering was received for the benefit of the music fund of the host church. The service was conducted by the pastor and Miss Ruth Shuff, served as the organist with Mrs. Reginald Zepp directing the combined choirs singing two closing numbers.

LIVE WIRES: Morton Downey will drop out of CBS-TV show, Star of the Family, next season in order to do exclusive radio-TV appearances for his soft-drink sponsor, Fred Allen may take over Morton's emcee chores. Actress Mirian Fofe, who has specialized in witches, villainesses, and other evil females on radio and television, makes a switch when she turns heroine in the upcoming stanzas of the futuristic Captain Video—heard weekdays on the DuMont network. Flash! Hollywood males have stopped looking at women's legs! Well, temporarily, anyway. This phenomenon is caused by the latest movieland craze—eye-catching socks for men. Nowadays even Betty Grable might be ignored, as the competitive fellows enviously ogle each other's unique footwear. Gordon MacRae, of NBC's The Railroad Hour, is one of the pace-setters in the footwear department—and his bright socks have clocks which really are clocks, and not just embroidered arrows!

THE RADIO NEWSREEL: Phil Regan moves his Saturday afternoon Army camp shows from NBC to CBS on June 3. Johnny Desmond has an MGM record hit in his I Fall In Love With You Every Day and the flip-over Mr. and Mississippi. Robert Montgomery has renewed his contract with NBC as executive TV producer for 100 G's a year. Billy Rose is collecting a similar salary as video consultant for that net work. Freddy Martin and his Band of Tomorrow will be seen via NBC-TV this summer.

Domestic Workers Should Review Their Social Security Status

By ED. R. YOUNG

Hagerstown Field Office Under the recent amendments to the Social Security Act, provision was made to include most domestic workers, as of Jan. 1, 1951. This law includes maids, cooks, practical nurses, laundresses, chauffeurs, gardeners and others.

If you have a servant in your home, she is now covered by the Social Security Act. She is covered if she works on at least 24 different days in your home in a calendar quarter after Dec. 31, 1950, and is paid at least $50 in cash wages for that period. The value of room and board is not counted as wages.

Many women who have never had anything to do with the business world before, now find they have to keep some records.

The record you have to keep is very simple. Every time you pay your maid or other servant, be sure to deduct 1 1/2% from her salary. After three months have passed, you report how much you paid her. This report is made on a special household report form. On this report you show the worker's name and number just as it is on her Social Security card. You also show how much she earned during the three-month period. This report form can be secured from the Collector of Internal Revenue.

4 Million More Workers Needed

More than four million additional persons must be employed by next year to meet the nation's defense mobilization goal, says Dr. Frank Graham, Defense Manpower Administrator. Graham reports that 63.1 million persons are now employed or in the Armed Forces.

Qualified College Students Are Entitled to Induction Delay

Col. Henry C. Stanwood, director of selective service for Maryland, said today that qualified colleges and university students were entitled to further postponements of induction under present regulations if:

- 1—They are full-time students in recognized colleges, universities or other similar institutions of higher learning; and
- 2—During the current school year they have received an order to report for induction, and such order was postponed to the end of the current academic year.

All such students are to receive an additional 30 day postponement beyond the expiration of the current postponement, but in no case beyond Aug. 20, 1951. This time is being granted the qualified students in order that they may have an opportunity to furnish their local boards with the necessary evidence of their scholastic standings, or their test scores made on the college qualification tests, or to enlist in a branch of service of their choice.

For students who are graduating at the end of the present academic year, an opportunity is afforded them, in this 30-day period, to obtain employment in essential industry in a critical occupation.
