

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

A lot of local residents' memories went back quite a few years Tuesday night when the ring of familiar tunes of 20 and 30 years ago rang out at the Fire Hall and many stopped to investigate the source of the music. What was it? They were really surprised to learn that the Old Timers Band has had a renaissance and is preparing for the Old Home Week celebration. Most of the members comprising the unit are from around 20 to 25 years ago when the Emmitt Cornet Band was functioning. Several new faces will be seen in the group, those of some youngsters of the community who have been inspired by the spirit of the celebration. I feel sure that Emmitsburg will be proud of the aggregation when it appears in the big parade scheduled for Aug. 30. Mr. Walter Simpson, who directed the band many years ago, will again wield the baton and after the parade I understand several concerts will be held during the carnival. There is only one deplorable comment on the whole affair. There are many other old members of the original band who are plenty capable of playing good music, but they are too disinterested to show up for practice. I understand another rehearsal will be held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, and I feel sure it would lend inspiration to those now struggling to make this the success it should be.

And what happens after the affair terminates? We certainly need a band here. Most of the players have their own instruments and are more than willing to get back into action. It sure would be a wonderful thing if some civic-minded organization could take this outfit under its wing. The band would practically be self-supporting by playing at local and district going-ons. And to top the matter off, wouldn't it be swell to have a few picnic tables placed around our beautiful Community Field where families could enjoy a Sunday outdoor basket lunch? And say, how about using the local band for a few Sunday concerts at the park. By park, I mean Community Field. There are great potentialities that can be developed there. This would be a fine project for the Corporation of Emmitsburg to undertake, and it certainly would be an inexpensive one considering the fact that most of the grounds there have been cleared for the playground, sponsored by the Lions Club. A few more feet of clearance and a few picnic tables and we'd have a nice place. Ball games, both softball and baseball, horse shoes and many other forms of entertainment could be held there. Surely, it would be a worthy project for some organization interested in the town welfare to tackle.

Once again the annual Block Party of the Emmitsburg VFW has rolled around and once again I feel it is my duty to implore you all to attend the affair and make it the success it should be. Every dollar counts in maintaining the local ambulance. These veterans did not have to do this for their community. They gave their very all for us on the battlefields — two wars and now I feel it is our duty to help them maintain the local ambulance — which they bought for us. Day and night, 24 hours a day, this fine service is available for the sick, injured and dying — FREE. Drivers have gone to school to learn how to treat the injured and render first aid where needed. Like everything else, the cost of maintaining (Continued on Page Two)

Old Home Week Committees Report Progress To Date

The regular united meeting of all Old Home Week and Carnival committees was held at the Fire Hall Wednesday night with a splendid attendance representing every one of the 14 different committees that doing work of planning and preparing for what promises to be the most outstanding event ever held in Emmitsburg.

Bernard H. Boyle, general chairman, presided over the meeting and Guy Baker, Jr., acted as secretary. Reports were given by the committees and these reports were discussed and recommendations made to the various committees by the executive board.

It was reported by Rev. Philip Bower, who is in charge of the religious emphasis, that all the churches are cooperating very splendidly and that Homecoming Celebration services and masses will be held in every church of the community on Sunday, Sept. 2. Pastor Bower also announced that most of the churches were arranging to place floats in the parade on Aug. 30, which starts at 6:30 p. m. Full cooperation is also being given by every church in taking part in the Old Home Week Chorus, which will be directed by William Simpson. The chorus will sing for the community program on Sunday, Sept. 2 at 7:30 o'clock, on the Community Field.

Col. Thomas J. Frailey reported that he has not received a reply from U. S. Senator Herbert O'Connor, to his invitation to be the guest of honor and deliver an address Sunday evening, Sept. 2.

It was reported that the Emmitsburg Firemen will have three engines in the parade, including one now on exhibit at the National Convention in Grand Rapids, Mich., plus the 100-year-old fire rig. It was also said the Vigilant Hose Co. would provide an outstanding band for the parade and also a band for the concert on the carnival grounds on the opening night, Thursday, Aug. 30. The carnival will include games, foods and refreshments, ferris wheel, air rockets, kiddie ride, etc.

The entertainment committee announced that so far they have definitely arranged for a band concert and gigantic fireworks for Friday, the second night, Aug. 31.

Bicycle races will be staged Saturday afternoon and Ralph McDonnell's Range Hotshots will play on the carnival grounds Saturday evening.

On Sunday, Sept. 2, there will be services observing Homecoming at all the churches and a community program at the Community Field, starting at 7:30 o'clock in the evening with a Community Chorus of 75 voices participating. An address will be delivered by a prominent speaker.

On Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 3, there will be a water carnival in the afternoon and music in the evening at the carnival grounds. There will be band concerts Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in connection with the carnival and the chautauqua home talent show, "Craze Daze", will be the main entertainment attraction on the three last evenings, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Sept. 6, 7, and 8 at the local high school auditorium.

The parade committee report made by Guy Baker Jr. and Edward Houck revealed that some of the best known drum and bugle corps are already entered in the parade, including the Chambersburg VFW, Morris Frock American Legion of Hagerstown, and the William P. Larkin American Legion of Frederick.

A number of neighboring fire companies are also planning for entries in the parade. The parade committee stated that it wished to extend a most cordial invitation to anyone or any organization who has not received their invitation to take part in this mammoth parade planned for the opening of Emmitsburg's Old Home Week celebration.

Mrs. Laurence Orendorff, chairman of the historical display, said that she was discouraged because not as much interest was shown in this particular phase of the celebration. After her report was received and discussed, it was voted to begin the decorating of display windows at once and an appeal was made to everyone to co-operate in having their window displays completed by the end of next week. This will serve as a bit of a preview to the entire affair.

The Woman's Club was asked to take charge of the registration of guests and attendance. The president of the club, Mrs. Orendorff, said they would announce later the exact time and place for the registrations.

It was said the firemen special police would serve as police for the entire celebration.

The concessions which will operate at the carnival will include soft drinks, ice cream, pop corn, shooting gallery, bingo, duck game, pork roast, hamburgers, weenies, roast pork and other stands.

Dr. John J. Dillon is chairman of the carnival, Mrs. Roy Bollinger is chairman of the food concessions, Samuel Hays is in charge of the entertainment, and Mrs. Dorothy McKinney will direct and promote the home talent "Crazy Daze" show the final three nights.

Homemakers Club to Gather Historical Articles for Displays

All those persons interested in displaying articles of old time vintage for "Old Home Week" are asked to contact Mrs. J. Laurence Orendorff either by phone or postcard. Mrs. Orendorff, president of the Homemakers Club, announced that she will personally gather up these historical items and return them when the affair is over. The items will be displayed in local store windows during the celebration, Aug. 30 to Sept. 8.

Mrs. George Brown celebrated her birthday anniversary last Thursday.

An afternoon of games was held by the Homemakers Club at the home of Mrs. Roy Bollinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Rhodes and family, Baltimore, spent the week-end in town visiting Mrs. Rhodes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Annan, and Mr. Rhodes' mother, Mrs. Edgar Rhodes. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gillelan have returned from a few days' vacation at Ocean City, Md.

Michael Orndorff was admitted as a patient in the Warner Hospital this week.

Hundreds Expected At Annual Event

Grange Building Barbecue Pit For Celebration

The Emmitsburg Grange met Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, Rt. 2, with 35 members present and Master Norman Shriver, presiding. The Old Home Week celebration received a major emphasis during the business part of the program. The Grange has charge of the carnival ground preparations and volunteers were asked to come to the Community Field Thursday evening to help erect a barbecue pit and do carpenter work on stands and finish erection of the pavillion. Walter Simpson was put in charge of the barbecuing with John Baumgardner and William Wivell as helpers. George Martin was assigned to have a float ready for the parade.

An important item before the Grange at this time is the National Grange 1951 Community Service Contest. It is believed, by those in a position to know, that the Emmitsburg Grange is definitely one of the Granges in the U. S. that is at least a runner-up for the grand national prize. This entry was discussed at length and it was announced that all service projects for the 1951 contest must be completed by Aug. 30. Paul Beal and Helen Martin were appointed in charge of a scrapbook project.

The Pamona Master, Bruce Crum, addressed the Grange complimenting them on their community service. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crum were visitors.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, after the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the Emmitsburg High School, on Sept. 5, at 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. Victor Hodges and children, Philadelphia, are spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Timmerman.

LUTHERAN MEN TO ### HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

The Men's Class of the Lutheran Sunday School will hold the annual men's and boys' outing Thursday, Aug. 23, along the Monocacy River, at the former J. D. Adams farm near Six's Bridge. The afternoon will be given over to games and fishing with a ball game in the evening between the men and the boys.

Suppers will be cooked and served by the men at an open fireplace which they construct for that purpose each year. Entertainment and speaking will be featured in the evening. Those in charge of the affair are: J. D. Adams, Ed. Smith, Rev. Philip Bower, W. B. Shank, Clarence Hahn, Ralph McDonnell, Robert Saylor, Roy Maxell, Robert Saylor, Roy Maxell, Robert E. Daugherty, Richard Saylor, Carroll Frock and Harry Troxell.

For the second consecutive year the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Emmitsburg, will stage the gigantic Block Party for the benefit of the local Ambulance Fund. Commander Harold M. Hoke of the local post, announced this week that plans were virtually complete for the affair, which this year is expected to be the best yet. The affair will get under way tonight and will be held tomorrow night, too.

Good food and excellent entertainment, plus music and other novelties, will be highlights of the affair. Contests of all sorts will be staged for the entertainment of those attending.

Cmdr. Hoke said the ambulance was purchased in February of 1948, at a cost of $7500. Since then additional equipment has run another thousand dollars. The local post was the sole purchaser of the entire ambulance and equipment. In the past three years this vehicle has traveled over 20,000 mercy miles, at no cost to those availing themselves of this service. Other nearby communities have also used its facilities free of charge.

Trained personnel operate the ambulance service and to date over 500 cases, emergency and otherwise, have been handled by the volunteer drivers. Officials of the post explained that maintenance costs average $1000 annually and this Block Party is the only means of raising these funds. One item alone, tires, is said to have cost $375. State police and hospital authorities have frequently availed themselves of the use of this vehicle and testamentary letters of its worth are on file.

Drivers explained that calls have taken them as far away as New Jersey, at times. All drivers are trained in first aid by the Maryland State Police and work in close harmony with this constabulary, frequently handling accident and other cases in their charge. The local post has been commended on several occasions by the national commander, head of the State Police, and other dignitaries of the state.

Last year a net profit of $500 was realized from the Block Party and it is the hope of officials in charge of the affair this year that $1000 can be netted.

Seafood, ice cream, french fries, sandwiches, etc., will be available and were a real hit with patronizers of the party last year. Food and candy sales will also be on the agenda. Entertainment, novelties, contests, skill games also will take place during the two-day affair which will be staged on DePaul St., Emmitsburg.

PARTY HELD

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Betty Messner Saturday, Aug. 11, in honor of her daughter, Carol's seventh birthday.

Those attending were Mrs. Betty Messner and daughters, Nancy and Carol; Mrs. Ralph Messner and daughter, Beverly, and sons, Ronny, David, and Larry; Misses Beatrice and Carolyn Umbel, Judy Ridge, Shirley Wagerman, Bobby and Penny Gingell.

CORRECTION

It was erroneously stated in last week's issue of the Chronicle, that Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan made the presentation of certificates at the meeting of the ladies' auxiliary. Instead, Mrs. Ward, Frederick, made the presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Combs are vacationing in Emmitsburg this week.

this excellent service has soared to astronomical figures. For instance, did you know that the ambulance cost the VFW $8000, and do you know that it requires about $1000 a year to keep this vehicle operating. Everything is free, even the drivers are salary-less, so let's all get together and form parties and attend the annual Block Party tonight and tomorrow night . . . after all, it is for OURSELVES. A dime spent on the candy table or a nickel spent playing bingo—it all goes to a good cause. Contributions from as far as Frederick have come into the Fund. This week a donation was received from the Frederick Chamber of Commerce. If outsiders see the wisdom of providing this humane service, surely we here in Emmitsburg cannot remain blind to the fact it is OUR duty, not too much outsiders, to support this worthy cause. Personally, we feel that each and every organization, both large and small, could spare a small donation, and by that we mean $1 or $10 to the cause. YOU may need this valuable service TOMORROW. So plan now to attend the party tonight. I'll be there in person, and if you see me, and can identify me absolutely, I'll buy you a drink—soft, of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sites and children, Ann and Harry, of Pittsburgh, Pa., visited over the week-end with Mrs. Sites' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Gelwicks. While they were here, they attended the Sites reunion held at Arendtsville, Pa., park on Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Sites' mother and sister.

Miss Martha Baumgardner spent several days visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Ohler.

Rural Electrification Well Advanced In This Section

This month the companies comprising the Potomac Edison System are joining other business-managed, tax-paying electric utility companies across the nation in celebrating the near-completion of the job of electrifying the nation's farms.

A spokesman for Potomac Edison stated that the local system has now made electricity available to approximately 92% of the farms in the area served. This figure compares very favorably with practically any in the nation, he said.

According to the utility official, the Potomac Edison System has built over 8,000 miles of rural distribution lines at a cost of better than 10 million dollars. At the same time he pointed out that this figure does not include any of the money invested in the power plants, transmission lines and substations necessary to generate electricity and carry it to rural distribution points.

In commenting on PE's rural program the official stated that, except for the war years when materials were not available, Potomac Edison has pushed rural electrification vigorously. And its interest in farm electrification has not been confined to simply making electricity available to rural residents. Immediately after World War II a farm department was established for the purpose of aiding and advising farmers on problems involving the use of electricity on the farm.

Headed by George Mullan, a graduate of West Virginia University's School of Agriculture, a leader in vocational work in agriculture, and a practical farmer himself, this service has received such an excellent reception from farmers that it is now expanded with the addition of Glen Sites to the Farm Department staff.

The purpose of the celebration, the PE official said, is to direct attention to the tremendous strides made in rural electrification and to pay tribute to the farmers of America who have done such a remarkable job in producing the means of feeding the country in war and in peace. It has been pointed out that electricity is bound to be increasingly useful and important on the farm. New and ingenious applications of electricity to farm use are developing with amazing frequency and the future appears almost unlimited.

During hot weather it's important to store eggs in a cool place.

Bel Air Opens

Bel Air racetrack, where a 10-day meeting of thoroughbred racing opened Wednesday, is the youngest of Maryland's nine tracks for runners. Still, Harford County's picturesque three-quarter-mile oval has been a leader in the improvement of so-called half-mile racing.

It was the first minor league track in the state to offer racegoers the comforts of a clubhouse. It was the first to use the totalisator form of wagering and it also brought the Telautograph, which distributes payoff prices throughout the mutual department in a matter of seconds, to Maryland.

Bel Air brought turf racing on the flat to Maryland for the first time last summer. Now, the major tracks have made plans to follow suit with infield racing over sod and Laurel plans to provide patrons with turf racing this fall.

This year, the progressive Bel Air management has stated the first increase in purses for Maryland's new fall turf season. The increase will amount to $8000 in purses to be offered during the 10 day session.

Bel Air's well-kept stabling has been a beehive of activity as several hundred thoroughbreds from all sections of the country awaited Wednesday's opening.

Sweet Corn Yield Provides Canners With Bumper Crop

Farmers have begun harvesting 35,200 acres of sweet corn for canning and freezing this summer—20 per cent more than last year.

A study of crop statistics by the American Can Co. showed that Free State farmers this year planted 27,460 acres of Golden Bantam and other yellow varieties, 4580 of Country Gentleman, and 3160 of other white strains. It was pointed out that this year's planting easily tops the 29,300 acres in 1950.

The yield of this year's crop appears good except in a few localities where rains have caused some damage. July is generally very good. It was estimated the state's can-making industry would turn out about 48 million cans in which to pack the sweet corn.

"Much of the widespread popularity of both yellow and white corn can be traced to the teamwork between the can company and the National Canners Assn. which developed the inside can-coating enamels to preserve natural attractiveness and taste of both varieties.

By ROGER BABSON

17—I have recently received
10—I have recently received from a devoted father the copy of a letter which he wrote his son on graduation. In it he says:

Lincoln
vs.
Land

"Mother and I are proud of the record you have made in school and college, especially by your continued faith in God and constant association with the church and the things it stands for. Now I have been thinking of what to give you as a graduation present. Mother wants me to give you a fine Lincoln convertible car; but I just don't feel it is right to do so.

"Hence, instead of giving you the car, I am enclosing a deed to 40 acres of good land and worth three times the cost of the car. Land and labor are the basis of all wealth, especially in this day of inflation. Land is more desirable than money. Land will keep getting more valuable if you give it half the attention you would give a car. If you take care of your land, son, it will take care of you. I cannot object to your having a Lincoln, as I have two; but I earned the money with which I bought mine and I want you to do likewise."

Present Unfair Conditions

During the summer I have talked with several high school principals. They tell me that some of their highest and hardest working students have not the money to go to college. They can get partial scholarships, but unless they can live at home, they just can't swing it. On the other hand, students who are much less deserving go to college with an automobile and a big spending allowance.

Large corporations which send their employment managers to the colleges to hire the "best graduates" would do far better to go to the high schools and select their students by their high school record and then help finance these students through college. These corporations are now doing their picking four years late!

Importance of Summer Work

Of one thing I am certain—namely, that how high school students use their summers is of great importance. I have about come to the conclusion that I will employ only those who have worked every summer during high school and college. Those who have earned at least half their college tuition and board are to be preferred. The best young people to hire are those who have earned their entire way through college, with the help of scholarships and summer work.

Home Training Important

A person can do too much for his children or grandchildren. Unless a young person has learned to love work, something is wrong. It may have been careless school or home training, or giving the boy or girl too much money. Certainly more high school young people are harmed by having too much money, rather than too little money.

It is easier for a parent with

Fletcher Named To General Counsel Post

STEPHEN H. FLETCHER

Stephen H. Fletcher, general attorney for the New York Telephone Co., has been appointed general counsel, effective Sept. 1, for the four Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies operating in Washington, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Mr. Fletcher succeeds John T. Quisenberry, who resigned to accept the position of general attorney of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

A native of Provo, Utah, Mr. Fletcher began his telephone career during the summer of 1928 when he worked as a messenger in the Bell Laboratories. In '35 he joined the AT&T as attorney and from 1940 to 1945 was an attorney in the legal department of the New York office.

Mr. Fletcher is a member of the American Bar and New York State Bar Associations.

money to say "yes" rather than refuse; but isn't this pure selfishness on the part of the parent or grandparent? Sometimes I think that families lacking money are more fortunate than those possessing it. Certainly this whole educational and home training problem is topsy-turvy.

Helping the Worthy

The best way to help young people is to give them opportunities to work and earn money. If they stick to the job—or themselves find a better one—then they will come out okay. I sometimes think a young person will do better in a job which he or she finds without family help. But idleness is dangerous to all concerned.

Next to giving young people good opportunities to work, perhaps the best way to help them is to say to the high school principal—"I want to help some worthy student who is anxious to go to college but who must help his family and hence thinks he can't do so. Let me add that I, myself, would like to so help two or three such students who would immediately write me.

What About Trust Funds.

I believe in trust funds for children and grandchildren; but they should serve as insurance in case of sickness, old-age or hard luck. They should not result in making it unnecessary for the beneficiary to work, save and be a useful citizen. The love of work is a blessing.

Instead of arranging for the young person to get all the income when 26 years of age—it may be better to make him co-trustee with the bank but to move the 26 years up to 40 years. Trustees, however, should have power to use part of the accumulated income to help in case of need.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Tragedy is not always sudden death. Often tragedy is a withered spirit. Such tragedy was written in Washington when Gen. Marshall advised Congress that the World Plan for Futurity that bears his distinguished name, should be given approximately twice as many billions as already squandered.

The tragedy is that long before he spoke, William Foster, head administrator of the Marshall Plan stated the plan has not accomplished the purpose for which billions were taken from American taxpayers.

C. W. Harder

European industrial production is today, thanks to billions of dollars of American gifts, at history's highest level.

Yet, the plain citizen of Europe is little, if any, better off. If people succumb to communism because of lack of material means, then Joe Stalin has won the battle. All he has to do is wait until Americans are bankrupt, thus unable to make any more gifts to Europe, and move in without spending a ruble.

Foster highlighted the problem saying it is impossible for the average man in Europe to be much better off unless European monopoly system ends.

European businessmen he stated, do not produce to provide more jobs, lower prices. They combine to set prices, hold down production, and in all ways conspire to keep out competition.

In Europe this system is legal. In America it is not legal even though practiced. Marshall Plan gifts have aided enormously the big European trusts. Many of the millions have gone directly to the big steel monopolies of France and other nations.

Obviously, when American bureaucrats consistently fail to enforce this nation's anti-trust laws, they are notoriously unable to sell European nations the evil of monopoly.

So the end will be the same.

Regardless of whether American taxpayers are assessed 25 billion, 50 billion, or 500 billion to increase and carry on the Marshall Plan, the evil remains.

Blackmail is an ugly word. Yet it is the only term that fits many Marshall Plan gifts.

For example, ECA Bulletin No. 2 announces Tito's Yugoslavia has just been given another $5,707,000 worth of iron, steel, aluminum, tinplate and other scarce materials, for a total allocation to date of more than 27 million dollars.

No one disputes that Tito's Yugoslavia is as communistic as any country can ever be. The only difference is that Tito and Joe are presently not on speaking terms. As long as Tito can fleece the American taxpayers by not speaking to him, Joe probably feels silence is golden.

Over a hundred years ago, when the nation had a tiny navy, the answer to another gang of pirates, located on the Barbary Coast was "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

And there's the tragedy of America in 1951.

Today, monopolies and many in government would rather bankrupt the entire nation, destroy the entire American system, pile on tax after tax, commit American lives, than go back to the basic fundamentals which made the nation great.

IMPROVED NEW ROLLER MAKES PAINTING EASIER AND FASTER

WANT to re-decorate? Change the color of your walls, perhaps, to one of the new deep tones that combine so well with stark white accessories? If you're timid about attempting the job yourself, you needn't be. . . for a new product, called EZ Paint Roller, makes painting half the work and three times faster.

"The secret of this roller's efficiency," its designers say, "lies in the roller cover of Lonel, a fabric made from science's new wonder-working fiber—dynel. With dynel, the roller holds paint evenly, does not mat or cake, 'recovers' like new after cleaning, and can be used with all kinds of paint including the new rubber-base, water-thinned paints, and even enamel.

The picture above shows the set, which consists of a 7-inch roller cylinder and handle, lonel roller cover of new dynel and a metal tray. To use, prepare surface same as for brush application. Fill tray with paint half-way up slanted surface. Dip roller cover in paint and roll back and forth on tray's dry surface to remove excess paint and prevent dripping. Cleaning tip: Line tray with heavy wrapping paper. Plastering tip: If plastering is necessary, give it two or three days to dry, because paint chips off damp plaster.

In use, EZ Roller lives up to its name. For smoothest results, remove old chipped paint first; then roll easily on surface to be painted. Don't spin at end of stroke.

Dynel makes cover easier to clean and it bounces back like new. Covers are changeable. A "spare" avoids delay when you change to a new color.

The new roller works best if you don't work too hard at it, so you can finish a whole room and be ready for the next without even being tired. (ANS)

Weekly OPS Summary

The OPS has extended the final effective date of the canned vegetable ceiling price regulation, from Aug. 5 to Aug. 20. Any packer desiring to do so, however, may make the regulation effective for his operations on any day he may select up to Aug. 20.

While, at the moment, ceiling price regulation 55 establishes a method for calculating ceiling prices for canned green peas of the 1951 pack only, additional canned and processed vegetables such as snap beans, lima beans, sweet corn, beets, and tomatoes will be included later.

The OPS has announced the exemption from price control the sales of used and reconditioned material, furniture, household goods and other items sold by the Goodwill Industries of America. The order became effective Aug. 13.

New ceiling prices on passenger tire carcasses, $3.50 retail, and $250 wholesale, have been announced by the OPS.

Carcasses are the worn tires to which camelback is applied to make recapped or retreaded tires. Because of the basic tire shortage, a disparity has developed in the price of carcasses, which have been controlled heretofore under the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

Sellers of recapped and retreaded tires will determine their ceiling prices by adding to the ceiling price of carcasses their individual ceiling prices for the services of recapping or retreading determined under the service regulation.

Although livestock slaughter quotas have been cancelled since Aug. 1, OPS reminds Class 1 and 2 slaughterers whose quota period did not end by July that they must keep records of their slaughter of each species of livestock through the July 31 termination date.

When OPS amended distribution No. 1 to eliminate the quota provisions to conform with the Defense Production Act amendments of 1951, the agency added an amendment setting forth the record-keeping requirements.

Sections requiring that slaughterers must be registered with OPS in order to engage in slaughtering operations continue to apply. Registered slaughterers also are required to continue to stamp animal carcasses with their registration number, and to keep records of their operations.

We're Selling Our Freedom

An educator friend of mine, Dr. William T. Bean, of Butler, Pa., has just completed a six months' tour of Europe studying the economic and political aspects of life as lived today by the average European. At the end of his tour, he has written me from London: "For a long time I have heard that an Englishman is the most independent man on earth; that 'his home is his castle'; and that he deeply resists interference with his personal liberties. Well, this is all gone now. Instead, he is about the most completely controlled individual imaginable in a democracy. And he is a perfect example of complete frustration."

The submission to control by the government bureaucracy is the price the Englishman had paid for a long list of government handouts and props—including food and housing subsidies, payment of medical and hospital bills, and all the other Welfare State "benefits." It isn't as good a bargain as he once thought. But he's stuck with it—and he'll be controlled as long as his dependency on government continues.

The Law of Subsidy
It couldn't be otherwise. Our own U. S. Supreme Court officially acknowledged a basic unwritten political law when, in 1942, it held: "It is hardly lack of due process for the government to regulate that which it subsidizes." (Wickard vs. Filburn-317 US 111, page 131.) Even the Bible says: "The borrower is servant to the lender." (Proverbs 22:7)

The English people reached their present state of control gradually. A long time ago they were offered their first government subsidy. The tiny bit of freedom they gave up for it was scarcely noticed as a loss. When they got used to this tiny crimp in their freedom, a second subsidy was offered. It too extracted only a minor degree of individual freedom. Bit by bit a new way of life was established—with government doing more and more for the individual and his independence gradually shrinking—but almost unnoticed.

Fractional Loss
When the Labor-Socialist government was voted in six years ago, the people by then felt the subsidy idea was okay. And since then the government has let the growth of Socialism be gradual—as painless as possible. But it has already grown so far that the structure of freedom in England has probably been fatally injured. Dr. Bean says that even the Conservative Party fears that the necessary private wealth and incentive for restoring private enterprise have been dissipated to the vanishing point.

The people who are pushing America along the pathway followed by England are using the same technique the bit by bit government subsidy and government control. It is insidious because here, as in England, the loss of the tiny bits of freedom go along unnoticed. And when we, who are speaking out in warning against this encroaching Socialism, are challenged to show where "anybody in America has lost any freedom in return for Federal government aid," we must deal in fractions. It is only when the small fractions are added up that the total of lost freedom make an impression and wakes people up. The problem is to awaken enough of them before it's too late.

Significant Decree
The Federal government, in the person of Security Administrator Oscar Ewing, has just decreed that the State of Indiana will henceforth be denied its portion of Federal Welfare Funds which are granted to the states to supplement each one's payments to its welfare recipients. Why? Because the people of Indiana wanted to exercise their freedom of self-government by having qualified representatives examine the welfare rolls for the purpose of weeding out unjustified claimants and otherwise cutting down on the welfare load. Their legislature passed a law opening the rolls to such inspection. If public security isn't permitted, politically-administered spending bureaus can run rampant with tax money.

But NO! The people of Indiana didn't have this freedom. They had lost it when they accepted the Federal welfare handouts. Mr. Ewing made it clear this freedom had been taken from them. If they accepted the Federal money, he decreed, they would have to take the control that went with it, and keep their rolls secret.

This kind of Federal control and tiny loss of freedom exists in every state accepting Federal funds. This is a small fraction. It is hardly noticed. But there are many, many other fractions. In next week's column, we will bring other fractional losses of freedom into focus and perhaps do a little adding up.

Repair Poultry Houses Now For Winter Layers

In August, poultry raisers should give the laying house a thorough check, because the pullets of range will soon be ready for production. By making housing preparations now, raisers can avoid hasty repairs and the possible extra work which may come later.

Things To Do
The first step in preparing for housing is to make whatever repairs are necessary in the laying house. Plugging up cracks and crevices, replacing broken windows, and nailing down loose boards will help eliminate drafts. Examine the roof for any needed repairs. Give the entire building a thorough going-over and make a list of the things that will have to be done and the materials you will need to complete the repair work.

When the house is in good shape, take all movable equipment outside and give it a thorough cleaning and disinfecting. Then allow it to dry in the sun.

Remove all loose litter and droppings with shovel and broom. Then take a hoe and give the floor and droppings pits a thorough scraping. Sweep the ceiling walls, nests and floors, eliminating all cobwebs, dust, and other filth.

Sanitize the House

Next, scrub the floor and roost areas with hot water and strong soap. And while the interior of the house is still damp, spray the walls, floor, and fixtures with a reliable disinfectant. Then allow the house to air and dry.

Now you're ready to place litter on the floor. Many poultrymen cover the floor with a thin layer of sand before adding the litter. This practice, they say, prevents litter from sticking. Se-

After litter has been placed in the house, put all equipment in place and get ready to bring the birds off the range.

Strong language

From a 1919 telephone directory: "Ringing on a line before 6 A. M. or after 10 P. M. is positively forbidden, except for a doctor. Subscribers must not hold the line for more than 5 minutes. Butting in, interrupting a conversation, whistling, or making other noises will be deemed cause for removal of telephone." Things have come a long way since then. Today, modern equipment and methods make the telephone more readily available to more people... and there's more and better rural service.

Off the hook

A telephone off its cradle, or a receiver off the hook, will cause your line to register "busy" to anyone calling you. And if it's a party line, all telephones on your line will be "busy." Care about this small detail will help both you and your neighbors enjoy better service. And that goes for a long list of calls, too. Spacing them out makes it possible for others to reach you quickly... often with calls you wouldn't want to miss.

Speaking of Bowls

The Rose Bowl, the Cotton Bowl, the Orange Bowl, the Sugar Bowl, the Yale Bowl, plus Yankee Stadium and Soldier's Field, plus much more space would be needed to assemble the 600,000 people who work together throughout the nation to give you such excellent telephone service. That's a lot of people—but there's a lot of work to be done. In times like these, the nation is hurrying. And the telephone, Long Distance especially, hurries with them and for them. This vast network of Long Distance lines is one of the first, and strongest, of our national defense lines.

Report From Washington

By U. S. Senator H. R. O'Connor

One of the matters of utmost importance to national security at the present time is the ferretting out of disloyal persons, both citizens and aliens, in our midst. The record of Communist infiltration and ultimate seizure of various governments now under Communist domination reveals all too clearly the necessity for precautionary measures in this field.

Closely allied to such efforts are activities which it has been my privilege to direct, as chairman of a Senate subcommittee, looking to the exclusion of undesirable aliens who come to this country to engage in activities which would endanger the public safety.

Two facts of special significance developed from the hearings held in New York and Washington, demand attention — and correction.

One fact is that some 3,616 visas have been issued in less than four years to aliens from Iron Curtain countries and that, of those so admitted, adverse security information has since been obtained on 85 of the aliens. Of these 48 were connected with consulates and embassies, and 37 were affiliates of an international organization.

In addition, the State Department recently requested the admission into the United States, temporarily, of 21 Communist aliens coming to the United Nations who were subject to exclusion under the immigration laws.

Another fact that disturbed the members of the subcommittee was that no action had ever been taken by the U. S. to restrict or control travel throughout the country by aliens coming to the United Nations, despite the fact that in the agreement on the UN headquarters site there was provision for such an arrangement.

As a result the subcommittee is recommending:

- 1—That a vigorous program of enforcement be instituted to exclude considerable and dangerous aliens from this country, and to deport aliens already here, irrespective of their diplomatic or other status, who are a danger to the nation and,
- 2—That the State Department be called upon to negotiate an agreement with the United Nations, to fix the boundaries of the U. N. headquarters area so as to permit control by the U. S. of travel by aliens into other parts of the country.

As constructive evidence for the need of such action by our government the subcommittee cited the case of a Polish alien, president of a Polish steamship line, who, in previous hearings over which I had presided, was shown to have conducted subversive propaganda by radio and who, although forced to leave the country at that time, was readmitted a year later.

Certainly when American officials, newspaper men and others are thoroughly restricted in their travels in Communist countries, where they would have no reason to engage in subversive activities, it is unwise, indeed, to continue to permit persons who we know are coming here for subversive activities to enter and roam around the country without supervision.

Such a policy is an open invitation to our enemies to engage in subversive activities and every effort must be pursued to prevent

HOMEMAKERS' CORNER

Don't Be Fooled By A Blush

With the peach season at its height, home economists offer these peach pointers:

Don't judge ripeness by the blush of the peach. It's the color back of the blust that counts. Ground color should be creamy white or yellow. Avoid a peach with shriveled skin. Chances are it was picked too green and never will reach its prime.

To keep fresh peaches from discoloring after they're cut, sprinkle with orange or lemon juice. Or let them stand in a weak brine made of one teaspoon of salt to one quart of water.

When the family has had its fill of raw peaches, try serving broiled or baked peach halves with the meat dish. Place peach halves, pit side up, in a greased shallow baking dish, brush with melted butter or margarine, sprinkle with brown sugar, and bake or broil until heated through and lightly browned.

Save Ironing Time

To prevent stubborn wrinkles that take extra time at the ironing board, fold each article smoothly and evenly as you feed it into the wringer of the washer. Clothes that are put through the wringer in a lump will come out with wrinkles that may be difficult to remove. Then, too, the fabric or wringer may be damaged.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Betty Messner, on Saturday, Aug. 11, in honor of her daughter, Carol, who celebrated her seventh birthday. Attending were Mrs. Betty Messner and daughters, Nancy and Carol, Mrs. Ralph Messner and daughter, Beverly and sons, Ramon, David and Larry, Misses Beatrice and Carolyn Umbel, Judy Ridge, Shirley Wagerman, Bobby and Penny Gingell. Games played were "Drop the Hankey," "Catchers," "Bull in the Ring." Delicious refreshments were served and the little hostess received many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Keepers and daughters, Marie and Barbara and Mrs. Edward Rosensteel, spent Wednesday at the zoo, in Wash., D. C.

continuation of present conditions. Oatis Case Holds Spotlight

Action by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is being urged from many sides on a resolution I recently introduced to direct positive action by the government looking to the release by Czechoslovakian authorities of William N. Oatis, AP correspondent, now in jail for alleged spying.

Newspapers, press associations, publishers groups and the public generally are insistent that the U. S. take a firm stand on this case and let the Communist governments know in no uncertain terms that America will not accept a continuance of such outrages against its citizens.

McMAHON—DEATHERAGE

A lovely mid-summer wedding was solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 4 at 7 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, when Miss Wanda Jeannette Deatherage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex T. Deatherage, W. Main St., became the bride of John Joseph McMahon, son of Mrs. Peter Scalabrini, and the late Mr. McMahon, of Walden, N. Y. The single ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Francis J. Stauble, C.M.

Guy Baker, Jr., friend of the couple, sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and Schubert's "Ave Maria" before the ceremony. Jack Wantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wantz, DePaul St., presided at the organ and played "Panis Angelicus" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was dressed in a white organdy ballerina-length gown with a finger tip veil falling from a wreath of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a bride's fan of white marceissus, gladiola centered with a white orchid.

The maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Miss Hilda Deatherage, who wore a ballerina gown of lavender organdy with mitts and headdress to match. She carried a colonial bouquet of lavender gladioli and scotch heather. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Clyde Bowling, cousin of the bride and Mrs. James Livezey, a friend. They wore ballerina gowns in yellow and green respectively and carried identical colonial bouquets of yellow gladioli and yellow rosebuds. All of the bride's attendants wore rhinestone bracelets, gifts of the bride.

The best man was John Warthen. Ushers were Don Deatherage, cousin of the bride, George McDonnell, John Hollinger and William Sterbinsky. Vincent Topper was witness for the ceremony.

For the wedding the brides mother wore a navy blue and white print dress with blue accessories and wore a white gladioli corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a chocolate brown street-length dress with matching accessories and a peach gladioli corsage.

A reception for relatives and friends was held at the White House Inn following the ceremony.

The bride attended Emmitsburg High School and the bridegroom is a graduate of Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind., and is a teacher at Bullis Prep School,

For her going-away outfit the bride wore a pink-dotted Swiss dress with white accessories. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Anthony Romaine, Bogota, N. J., aunt of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Scalabrini, Walden, N. Y., mother and step-father of the bridegroom, Seaman Clyde Bowling, stationed in Philadelphia and Sgt. James Livezey, Quantico, Va., husbands of the bridesmaids.

Representatives of religious, civic, and other groups are to be invited to attend public meetings at which various agricultural programs will be discussed. The public meetings are being called by the Country Agricultural Mobilization committees, on instructions from Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan.

The purpose of the meetings, according to Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the State Agricultural Mobilization committee, is to give farm people and others an opportunity to tell what they need in farm programs. "Specific recommendations on what should be dropped, what should be changed, and what should be added, are wanted," says Mr. Blandford.

Interested farmers and other citizens can get complete details from the local office of any agricultural agency.

A total of 12 agencies are to be discussed at the meetings and written reports of all meetings will be filed with the State Agricultural Mobilization Committee and with the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Special attention will be given to services offered the family farm.

Walkersville Boy Contest Winner
George C. Stauffer, of Walkersville, has been named area winner in Maryland's Green Pastures contest. This was announced this week by Mr. Blandford.

Your Personal Health

The doctor can say "cured," but it is a family responsibility to make sure that a woman with a household to watch over stays well when she leaves the tuberculosis hospital and returns to her home. Naturally, the patient must guard her own well-being, but her entire family should help her keep well for her sake, and, incidentally, for their own.

First of all, through acquiring a knowledge of the disease, family members can appreciate more clearly why a housewife who appears well and whose illness is arrested, cannot immediately go back to assuming heavy responsibilities. Conservation of her energies is a "must" and a friendly family discussion of her daily jobs usually will reveal some surprising, energy-wasting flaws in household routine. For example, all tasks should be analyzed and questions like these asked:

result justify the time and energy use?

Where should it be done? In the kitchen? The cellar? Or could an outside source, such as a laundry, help?

When should it be done? For instance, could the children's lunch be prepared while dinner is cooking and save the next morning rush?

Who should do it? Would another member of the family enjoy sharing the job?

What is the best way to do it? Are there better, labor-saving methods and is the equipment the best?

By no means should the family look upon the housewife who has had TB as an invalid. It is essential for her to feel part of the close family group and to participate in all its activities. But conservation of her strength is vital. She must follow the doctor's advice and continue the regular rest periods, preferably in bed, which were such a major part of her hospital treatment. Family friction should be avoided. Wholesome, outside-the-home interests are beneficial. Numerous women, for example, are gaining social relaxation plus helpful information at homemaking clubs, which are springing up in ever-increasing numbers throughout the country.

Family teamwork can indeed take the drudgery out of housework and build a healthier, happier, and easier existence for all and will lessen the chance that the housewife who has had TB will relapse.

When serving cooked carrots, include the cooking liquid with the vegetable, because it catches some minerals and vitamins during cooking.

IT'S AN OLD STOCKYARD CUSTOM TO USE "EVERYTHING OF THE PIG BUT THE SQUEAL."

IN TODAY'S EMERGENCY, BOTH IN THE DAY-TO-DAY LIVING OF OUR FAMILIES AND IN GOVERNMENT, THERE IS NEED FOR THAT SAME EFFICIENCY IN USING EVERYTHING WE HAVE AND ELIMINATING WASTE.

THAT'S WHY IT IS SO IMPORTANT FOR GOVERNMENT TO TRIM NON-MILITARY EXPENSES—AND FOR US, AS INDIVIDUALS, TO BUY ONLY WHAT WE NEED AND STEP UP OUR SAVINGS, GOVERNMENT BONDS AND LIFE INSURANCE.

IT WILL MEAN WORK, THRIFT AND SACRIFICE—BUT LET'S LEAVE THE "SQUEAL" TO THE PIGS.

Your New Social Security

By ED. R. YOUNG

Some very important changes were made in 1950 in the Federal Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance program of the Social Security Act. It is very likely that they will affect you, since the program now covers three out of every four workers and their families.

A national contributory social insurance system to protect workers and their families against sudden loss of income did not exist in the U. S. until 1935, soon after our most serious depression, when the Social Security Act established a program of insurance protection against unemployment and old age. Unemployment insurance is a system of separate State-Federal programs; old-age and survivors insurance is a Federal government program operated through the Federal Security Agency and the Treasury Dept.

The 1950 amendments strengthened the Federal old-age and survivors' insurance program in three ways. First, about 10 million more workers were covered by the program, including many persons who work for themselves. This brings the total number of workers covered to about 45 million. Household and farm workers who are regularly employed are among the new groups covered automatically. Some groups are not covered automatically, but may be covered by special agreements. These include persons who work for State and local governments if they are not under retirement systems and employees of non-profit organizations, such as private hospitals, welfare agencies, religious societies, etc.

The second important improvement is the increase in benefits payable to all eligible persons. About three million persons already receiving benefits under the old law had their benefits raised to the high amounts provided by the new law. For example, a retired worker and his wife who previously received $45 are now receiving monthly benefits of $81. The third group of important changes provides for payment of benefits in many cases where no benefits were payable under the old law. Benefits are now available to many older persons who could not receive payments under the old law. Benefits may also be paid to dependent husbands and dependent widowers; and to children of insured women in many cases where the payments could not be made before. Lump-sum death payments are made in cases where the insured worker dies even though immediate monthly payments are also made. Persons receiving benefits may earn as much as $50 a month in covered employment and continue to receive benefits (previously benefits were suspended if the person earned more than $14.99). However, those who are 75 years of age or over may receive their benefits regardless of how much they earn.

Federal old-age and survivors' insurance is a self-supporting program, paid for by a special tax on wages and self-employment income up to $3600 a year. In the case of wages, the tax is now 1½ per cent for the employer and 1½ per cent for his employee. A self-employed person pays 2½ per cent.

If you are an employee, your tax is deducted from your wages each pay day by your employer, who then adds an equal amount of his own tax and sends the entire amount to the Federal Collector of Internal Revenue. If you are self-employed, you will pay your tax at the same time you file your Federal income tax return. The taxes so collected go into a special old-age and survivors insurance trust fund which is used to pay all the benefits and administrative expenses of the program. The wages and self-employment income shown on the tax returns are entered on individual accounts maintained by the Bureau of Old-age and Survivors' Insurance in Baltimore for each worker and self-employed person. This record of earnings is used to determine your eligibility for benefits and the amount of your payments.

It Depends On Which Side You Look At It

MARYLAND FEED & GRAIN MARKETS

Summary for Maryland

Market trend: stronger undertone; demand good; market condition, steady to firm; supply, moderate. Significant increases—Brewers' dried grains about 5%, 50% meat scrap and 32% dairy feed about 4%. Significant decreases—Standard bran and 16% dairy about 5%, standard middlings about 4%. Broiler-feed ration was down slightly.

National Summary

Feedstuff markets continued to weaken during the first week in August and at the close of prices of the principal grain byproduct feeds and oilseed meals were relatively lower than feed grains, reports to the Dept. of Agriculture indicate. The index of wholesale feedstuff prices dropped 6 points to 232.7 while feed grains advanced nearly 3 points to 242.1 or 10 points above the feedstuff index. A year ago the feedstuff index was 234.7 and the feed grain index was 212.7. Continued relatively large production of wheat millfeeds, soybean and linseed meals, and increased offerings of new cottonseed meal, together with a limited demand from feeders and feed manufacturers were the principal weakening market influences for these feeds. Bran averaged about $1 per ton under a week ago while middlings and shorts dropped $4-$5 a ton. Soybean meal declined $3-3.50 and cottonseed meal $1-$2 a ton. Prices of most other feeds were unchanged to slightly higher. The market for commercial mixed feeds weakened materially because of seasonal slackening in demand.

Summary for Maryland

Comments on Baltimore market: market trend, steady; market condition, firm, except soybeans. Terminal storage was very tight. Offerings of nearby grains excepting wheat limited. Specific comments—No. 2 red winter wheat (garlicky): firm, up about 2 to 3 cents per bushel. No. 2 yellow corn (shelled): firm up 2 to 3 three cents per bushel. No. 2 soybeans, unsettled.

National Summary

Grain markets were unsettled during the week ending Aug. 9 with wheat prices down somewhat, particularly on protein

Quotations

The following quotations are those paid at the weekly Tuesday auction of the Woodsboro Livestock Market, Inc.:

Butcher heifers, medium to good, up to $27; butcher cows, medium to good, $22.65-$25.85; butcher cows, canners and cutters, $17-$20.50; butcher bulls, up to $29; stock heifers, $75-$190; stock bulls, per head, $85-$170; dairy cows, per head, $150-$299;

types, while the principal feed grains made moderate to sharp gains, reports to the Dept. of Agriculture indicate. Prospects of liberal supplies of high protein feeds, as a result of recent hot weather in the spring wheat belt, caused a sharp drop in protein premiums. An active demand brought from producers and feed manufacturers strengthened the corn markets. Good inquiries for oats for storage, shipping and feed manufacturing and for barley from malsters strengthened the market for feed grains. Grain sorghums remained weak while prices of oilseeds held at about the previous week's levels.

V.F.W. BLOCK PARTY

ANNIE M. WARNER COUNTY HOSPITAL

Gettysburg, Pa.

August 5, 1951

Commander, VFW Post, Emmitsburg, Md.

Dear Commander:

I cannot emphasize too strongly the importance of a community ambulance and its efficient operation for the general welfare of the public. Your Emmitsburg VFW ambulance has been representative of such a service and its value and importance in your community have been commented upon time and again in hospital circles.

It is symbolic that a veterans' organization such as yours, whose membership represent those men and women who fought for their country in overseas engagements, should assume the responsibility of purchasing and operating an ambulance for the community of Emmitsburg. It is an indication of the unselfish objectives of the VFW and its veteran members. You have rendered a noble and enviable service to your citizens, all of whom, I have been assured, have access, when required, to the service of your ambulance without charge. It is like the friendly grasp of a neighbor's hand when, in an emergency, one can turn to the VFW and know that an efficient ambulance service is available at all hours, day or night.

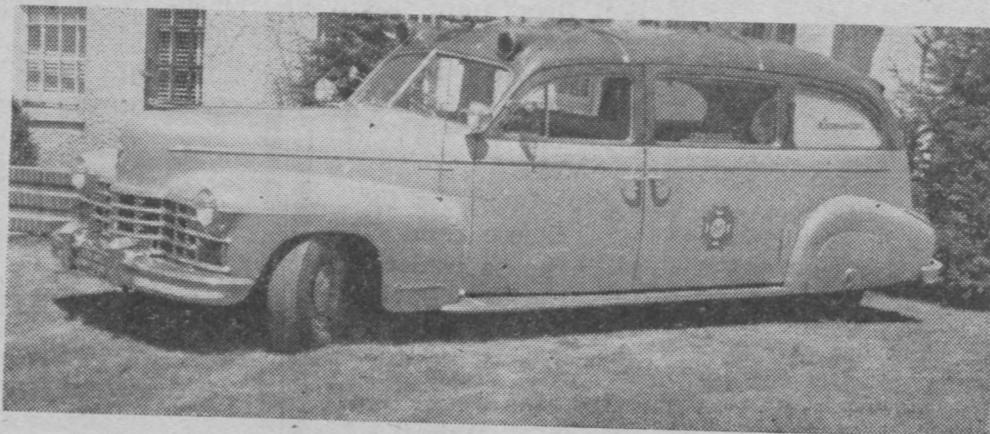

I sincerely hope that finances will be made available to the VFW post to assure the continuance of this splendid service for many years to come. Please be assured that such unselfish service is highly regarded and respected by the nursing, medical and administrative staffs of the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

Sincerely yours,
WALTER R. DOUD
Administrator

Veterans of Foreign Wars
Gentlemen:

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate the Emmitsburg Memorial Post No. 6658 on the fine service they are rendering to their community and to surrounding communities in supplying prompt and modern ambulance service, not only to veterans, but also to others in need of transportation to or from a hospital.

With many thanks for the numerous personal favors granted me in the past, I am

Veterans of Foreign Wars
Emmitsburg, Md.
Gentlemen:

We of the Maryland State Police fully realize the value and importance of the VFW ambulance to Emmitsburg and Frederick Co. Time and again we have called upon the Emmitsburg VFW for ambulance service, and they have always responded quickly and efficiently.

We can not emphasize too strongly the need to back this annual drive for the VFW Ambulance Maintenance Fund. This $8,000 vehicle costs over $1,000 a year to operate and it must be kept on the highway.

The drivers and members of the Emmitsburg VFW offer their services day or night without any charge. In return, they ask only that you, the public, support their annual drive for maintenance funds.

Make it a point to attend the VFW Block Party on August 17 and 18, at Emmitsburg.

Signed,
CAPT. CHARLES W. MAGAHA
Commanding Troop B, Md. State Police

JAMES H. ALLISON, M.D.

Emmitsburg, Md.

August 2, 1951

To the Commander, VFW Post 6658:

I should like to take this opportunity, as the time for the annual ambulance fund drive approaches, to point out the immense value of the ambulance to this community from a doctor's point of view, and to add my word to those of others who would strongly urge the full cooperation of the community in this drive.

First of all, let me say that unlimited praise and thanks must be given to the volunteer drivers, who never fail to answer a call, no matter what hour of the day or night it may be. It is great consolation to know that when the call is made, it will be answered promptly. Then too, as the drivers are trained in first aid, one has the sense of security in knowing that because of this training, these drivers will know how to properly handle the patient, and even be able to undertake certain emergencies, should they arise.

Accident cases, where broken bones are often only made worse by the patient being bent and shoved into a car, can now be taken to the hospital comfortably, and being none the worse for the trip.

Often the hospital stay of patients can be shortened because of the fact that they can be transported comfortably home by ambulance, whereas their condition would warrant their returning by car.

Another important feature of the ambulance is the very excellent oxygen equipment carried at all times. Patients who may be in need of oxygen can be given adequate amounts as needed during their entire trip. Even patients who might develop infantile paralysis and be unable to breathe voluntarily, could be kept alive with this equipment until they could be gotten into an "iron lung" at one of the larger hospitals.

Then too, as part of this oxygen unit, there is a resuscitator or "pulsator," which could be used in cases of drownings, or where someone was overcome by smoke or fumes of any type, in order to revive the patient. This part of the unit, to my knowledge, has never been used, but it is great consolation to know the unit is close at hand whenever needed and when a matter of several minutes may mean the difference between life and death.

Thus, to me, the ambulance is much like insurance—you hope you never need to use it, but when you do, it's mighty nice to have available. I sincerely hope that everyone will lend his support to the drive, and give generously.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES H. ALLISON, M.D.

VFW Post No. 6658

Emmitsburg, Md.

Gentlemen:

I understand that due to circumstances beyond their control, the VFW is finding it impossible to continue the maintenance of free ambulance service for Emmitsburg and vicinity without seeking assistance from the citizens in general. There can be no question whatever that the loss of this excellent service to the ill and injured people in this community would be a great step backward. The generosity and promptness with which this service has been furnished in the past has been a tremendous asset to the community, and its loss would be most acutely felt.

It may be that we have come, to some extent, to take this service for granted without actually realizing the expense entailed. Personally, I would like to urge everyone to do whatever they can to aid in the continuance of this excellent project.

Most sincerely,
W. R. CADLE, M.D.
