Ever since I saw those recent census figures that forecast the decline of Emmitsburg District in population, I have been very downcast and bewildered about the whole affair. I just couldn't lead myself to have any faith in the figures and felt all along there was "something rotten in Denmark." Going downhill was the indication. . . . I looked all over the town and checked homes that formerly housed one family, now had doubled and some even tripled their occupancy. Further investigation revealed that all four extremities of the town had expanded considerably. How, I figured, was it possible to lose some 400 in population with all this expansion going on? Well, we were the subject of ridicule all over the county. According to the first available figures we were in fourth place among the districts of Frederick County. Politicians didn't bother to canvass the district too strenuously in the last election, figuring it a "weak sister."

More recent figures by the Census Bureau in Washington reveal that it was all a mistake. While the town itself appears to have receded in population, the district has risen to almost 4500, not counting the colleges. This is to be expected in Emmitsburg proper. The town has no more building lots and therefore cannot possibly grow any larger. All those new homes just outside the Corporation limits would easily put our total up to 1500 or better, showing a healthy increase. . . . The only way, I figure, in which Emmitsburg can grow is to extend its corporate limits, just as has some other county towns in recent years. A thousand years from now Emmitsburg still will be 1200 in population unless we extend its boundaries. There is just no room to grow in.

Anyway, the new census will make county politicians sit up and take notice. Instead of being fourth largest in population, we are second only to Frederick City, itself. Why it wouldn't be possible to get a local candidate elected to a county job is beyond the realm of my great imagination. If we all voted for the local candidate, how could he conceivably lose with the second largest voting district in the county behind him? Anyway we did lose last year, so now you do a little figuring. Anyway, let's not let this thing happen again and when we go ahead and place a candidate in the field, why not solidify our large vote to the candidate's benefit—and eventually ours?

Emmitsburgians were profoundly shocked this week when a letter to the editor of another county paper was published relative to the history and origin of Emmitsburg. The letter was rather timely in as much as we just recently observed Old Home Week here and paid homage to our esteemed founder, Samuel Emmitt. But according to the letter, we were wasting our noble efforts, because, according to the writer's knowledge, Mr. Emmitt was not the founder of our fair hamlet. The writer, a former native of this town, sternly insists the whole saga about the Emmitt family is pure myth. He asserts that Samuel Emmitt is not even interred in the Old Presbyterian (Tom's) Cemetery. Not only that, but he claims there is no credence to the legend of Huckle's Field, where early pioneer settlers are supposed to be buried. Frederick Welty, of Philadelphia, author of the letter, claims the Huckle's Field story is a fantasia and a figment of the late James A. Helman's disorderly imagination and was appended without explanation to his bizarre History of Emmitsburg, Md. The author claims to have proof that Samuel Emmitt was not the kindhearted, paternal Irishman as represented today. Best evidence, he says, is that really Samuel Emmitt was a land speculator and seldom set foot in the village.

Maybe so, Mr. Welty, but until these facts are authoritatively clarified and this so-called documentary evidence of yours is presented to the proper individuals concerned, we believe Emmitsburgians will continue to believe what they already have learned about the (Continued on Page Eight)

Rosary Crusade To Be Held In Baltimore

The month of October will be marked by many activities concerning devotion to the Holy Rosary, according to announcement this week by Rev. John D. Sullivan, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg. October for centuries, has been the month especially dedicated to fostering devotion to this special form of Catholic prayer, the pastor said. The first Sunday of October this year is the feast of the Most Holy Rosary. The day will be solemnized by a Solemn High Mass, that is a Mass in which the celebrant is assisted by a deacon and sub-deacon and accompanied by the singing of certain parts of the Mass by the celebrant and by the choir. The Mass on this occasion will be celebrated by the pastor, while the duties of deacon and sub-deacon will be performed by seminarians in major orders from Mount St. Mary's. A special sermon on the meaning of the feast will be delivered at the Solemn Mass.

October devotions, as usual, will be held every evening during the month. These devotions were begun by Leo XIII about 60 years ago, and have been strongly recommended by his successors up to the present time. The reason why October has been chosen for the Feast of the Holy Rosary and the October devotions, is because in 1571 the Christian forces, under Don Juan of Austria, won an overwhelming victory over the Mohammedan forces, who at that time, threatened to overrun and destroy all Western Europe, the stronghold of Christianity. The victory which was gained over vastly superior forces, was attributed to the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary as Queen of the Holy Rosary.

Rally in Baltimore

On the second Sunday of October, the 14th, at 3 p. m., there will be a giant rally in Baltimore Stadium, to further interest in the Family Rosary Crusade. More details will be given later concerning this activity. It is hoped that several buses of members of St. Joseph's parish will make the trip to Baltimore for this occasion. The parish chairman of the Family Rosary Crusade have volunteered to act as chairman for the rally. Anyone wishing to make the trip to Baltimore for the Rosary demonstration may obtain reservations by applying to them for tickets. The chairman are Austin Joy, Edward Lingg, Paul Keepers and Donald Stoner.

Will Show Motion Picture

A motion picture entitled "The Family Rosary Crusade," will be shown in St. Joseph's College High School auditorium on the afternoon and evening of October 19. The evening showing will be for adults. It is only by special arrangement that it has been possible to bring this picture to Emmitsburg at the present time. The demand by city parishes has made it exceedingly difficult to obtain a showing in the smaller country parishes.

Food Sale to Be Held

Tuesday, Oct. 11, a food sale will be held at the Fire Hall for the benefit of St. Joseph's Church. An appeal has been made to all parishioners to make contributions of cakes, preserves, candies, pies and other suitable articles of this sale. The public is invited.

Schedule Bazaar for Nov. 10

The date for the autumn bazaar, an annual feature of the social program of St. Joseph's, has been set for Nov. 10.

The quarterly meeting of the Holy Name Society will be held this Sunday in Frederick. The meeting will begin at 2:30 p. m. in the parish hall at Frederick and the men of St. Joseph's Holy Name Society will meet at the St. Vincent House at 1:15 p. m. Cars will take the men to the place of the meeting.

Picks 10 Winners

Frederick J. Bower, son of Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower, W. Main St., came up with a perfect record last week in the Chronicle's Football Contest. Fred had all the winners, 10 out of a possible 10. Honors also were not to be denied Louis F. Rosensteel, E. Main St., who also had a perfect score. However, Mr. Rosensteel chose a 34-to-6 score in the Navy-Yale game, while Bower chose a 27-to-21 score.

The Bank of Manhattan in New York City is 838 feet in height.

Miss Adelsberger Is Bride At Church Wedding

Miss Adele Mae Adelsberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Adelsberger, Emmitsburg, was married to Eugene Engel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Engel, of Yonkers, N. Y., with a nuptial mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The celebrant was the Rev. Father John D. Sullivan, pastor of the bride. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, James O. Adelsberger, wore a white satin gown with an illusion neck line and long train and finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of white pompons.

Miss Mary Martina Adelsberger, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Francis Adelsberger, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Paul Mulvaney, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Ann Roberta Adelsberger, sister of the bride. The maid of honor wore a blue moire taffeta gown and the bridesmaids wore green, pink and yellow moire taffeta gowns. The maid of honor carried pink roses and the bridesmaids white, yellow and pink pompons.

Paul George Mulvaney, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Roy Streets, brother-in-law of the bride; William Dunn, brother-in-law of the bride and Eugene Arthur Adelsberger, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a gray suit with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a black dress with gray accessories. Both wore pink sweetheart corsages.

Mrs. Euphemia Rotering, church organist, played before the wedding and used the traditional wedding marches. Prof. William Sterbinsky accompanied on the violin and Mrs. Marie Rosensteel sang several selections.

A reception was held at the White House Inn. Following a wedding trip to New York City, the couple will reside at Salisbury, Md., where Mr. Engel, a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College, is employed with the General Motors Corp. For traveling, the bride was attired in a light blue suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Concrete Blocks Are Donated To Memorial Hall

The Emmitsburg Memorial Hall Assn. met Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the Fire Hall. President Edgar Emrich presided with Carroll Frock Jr. as secretary.

President Emrich appealed to those present to work for greater interest in the association and to suggest means of raising funds for the proposed building.

It was announced that a community minstrel show was planned later in the winter.

It was decided to send letters to the civic and service organizations, giving them a financial report of the Old Home Week profits and the assurance that the location of the memorial hall will be decided by a popular vote at the next town election.

Will Seek Pledges

Each organization will be asked to pledge a $50 annual contribution to the fund, to build up a sufficient amount to begin the actual construction in another year or two.

Officials pointed out at the meeting that if individuals didn't care to make monetary contributions, pledges of materials would gladly be accepted. Morris A. Zentz, local farmer, has donated 500 concrete blocks to the cause.

BAND WILL ORGANIZE

Director Walter A. Simpson of the Emmitsburg Band has called a special organizational meeting and practice for Monday night at 7:30 in the Fire Hall. It is hoped to elect officers and form a permanent organization at this session. It is believed also, that the band might possibly agree on a sponsor at Monday's meeting. Several requests asking sponsorship have been received.

DONATES FIRST AID KIT

Announcement was made this week by Fire Chief John J. Hollinger, of the donation of a fully equipped first aid kit by Dr. William A. Frailey. The firemen are very appreciative of the Johnson & Johnson industrial first aid kit and plan to carry it as part of standard equipment on the new engine.

Hunting Signs Made Free To Landowners

When the small game hunting season gets under way this morning, hunters of this area will find something new in the way of land posting. The local sportsmen's club has made available several hundred signs which will be given to landowners upon request. The imprinted sign reads: "Hunting—By permission only." Officials of the club hope the signs will encourage sportsmen to take the proper steps before trespassing on farmers' property.

Although some landowners post their premises, they may allow hunting if the hunter would take the time to inquire about using his land. In addition, the club is endeavoring to establish a friendly relationship between the owners and the sportsmen.

The signs to be given free, can be had by applying at the following business places: Hoke's Hardware, Frailey's Store, B. H. Boyle's Store, Ashbaugh's Store and the Chronicle Office.

MAIL CHANGE

Beginning Monday the mail from the local postoffice will be dispatched at 7:30 a. m., 2:40 p. m. and 4:45 p. m., daily except Sunday. Incoming mail will arrive daily at 5:30 a. m., 8:30 a. m., 3:45 p. m. and 6 p. m.

VFW Planning Special Services For Armistice

Thirty-five members were present at the regular meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, held Wednesday night in the post headquarters on the Square, Commander Harold M. Hoke, presiding.

After preliminary business had been transacted, three new members were inducted into the organization. They were Richard E. Clem, Rocky Ridge; Charles W. Widener, Emmitsburg and John J. Doherty, Mt. St. Mary's College.

Cartons of cigarets were ordered sent to two members now patients in hospitals. They are William Topper and Everett Chrismer.

A report on forming a civilian defense group was made by Lumen F. Norris, chairman of the group. Mr. Norris asked for additional volunteers for air raid warning system workers.

Sponsorship of the Emmitsburg Band was discussed and held over for the next meeting pending details as to what equipment and expenditures are necessary for the undertaking. The organization is awaiting information from band officials.

Philip B. Sharpe reported, as the post armorer, that none of the post's rifles will be available for hunting purposes this year. Several requests for rifles for that purpose have been denied.

A committee was appointed by the commander to formulate appropriate services for Armistice Day, Nov. 11, in conjunction with the Legion Post. The committee consists of Roger Zurgable, Gerald Ryder, Jr. and Wayne McClellan.

The commander explained the new interior decorating scheme which enables the club to change the wall decorations with the seasons of the year and that some form of entertainment will be held each Saturday evening in the clubrooms. A membership campaign for 100 per cent attendance is under way. Roll call will be taken each meeting and an effort is being made to obtain new members. Letters inviting all eligibles to join the post will be sent out soon.

The member winning the door prize was absent and the amount has been raised to $10 for the next regular meeting in November.

Legion Will Sponsor Second Annual Halloween Parade

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121, American Legion, was held at the post home on N. Seton Ave., Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Approximately 40 members attended and Eugene T. Rodgers, commander, presided.

Jack Rosensteel gave a report on the Junior baseball team sponsored by the Legion. The post approved payment of the dental bill of Richard Yeomans, who was injured by being hit in the mouth with a batted ball, breaking his jaw and causing the loss of several teeth.

The membership committee consisting of Francis Sanders, Louis F. Rosensteel and Andrew Shorb announced dues for 1952 are now due. Commander Rodgers urged everyone to do his part in bringing in new members. It was agreed to continue contributing and giving gifts at Christmas to veterans who are in hospitals.

The Legion will sponsor a Halloween parade. Harold Hoke was appointed chairman of a committee consisting of Richard Yeomans, E. T. Rodgers, Thomas Gilling, Wayne McClellan and C. D. Gillelan for the Halloween parade. Similar to last year's affair, the prizes for the parade will be given to those having the best costume, etc. After the affair a dance will be held in the post home for all members and members of the auxiliary.

The organization decided to have entertainment every other Friday night, consisting of a dance or floor show, beginning on Oct. 19.

BOOSTS BUILDING FUND

Dr. James H. Allison, local doctor and winner of last week's football contest, sponsored by this paper, has returned his $7 winning check and requests that it be turned over to the Memorial Hall Assn., as a personal contribution.

Town Council Asks For New Main Streets

Emmitsburg's Town Council met Monday evening in the town office in the Fire Hall, Chairman of the Board Colonel T. J. Frailey, presiding. Attending were Mayor T. W. Rodgers, Commissioners Charles R. Fuss and T. J. Frailey.

Treasurer Louise Sebold's report showed a verified bank balance of $11,739.21. Revenue from the parking meters totaled $384.77 for September. It was pointed out that the parking meters, installed two years ago, have almost completely paid for themselves. Costing a little over $4,000 there remains only a balance of $73.39.

The regular monthly report of Chief Robert L. Koontz contained several suggestions for the betterment of traffic regulation within the corporate limits of the town. He asked for a no "U" turn sign to be placed at the Doughboy monument on W. Main St.; no parking signs on the north side of E. Main St. near Broad Alley and from Hays' alley to the stop sign near the Pastry Shop on W. Main St. He also requested a stop sign for the intersection of DePaul St. and Broad alley. The report also indicated he wanted the Council to set a specific fine for parking on side walks, parking at physicians' signs and for children causing a disturbance on streets late at night. No definite action was taken on the matter. The matter of paying the local trial magistrate for hearing local violations was discussed but no action was immediately forthcoming until the situation is explored legally.

Payment of $100 to the Frederick County Commissioners for the repairing of 600 feet of the Frailey Road, that portion within the corporate limits, was authorized. It was decided to ask the County Roads Board for assistance in repairing the alleys which lately have become almost impossible to travel safely.

To Change Meters' Time

After a lengthy discussion as to changing the operating time of the parking meters, it was decided to keep in operation all meters until 9 o'clock on Saturday night. Previously the meters on the Square only, operated until 9 p. m., while the others discontinued operation at 6 p. m. New plates with this change on them have been ordered.

Want Main Street Regraded

In an attempt to establish a definite curb line for the sidewalks and building frontage on East and West Main St., the town solons are going to petition the State Roads Commission for a hearing in the near future. They contend that no definite line can be established until the street is reggraded and resurfaced. Implication is the street was never properly laid back in the 1920s.

Community Show

Scheduled for 2 Days

The Emmitsburg Annual Community Show will be held this year on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26 and 27 at the Fire Hall.

The show, sponsored by the General plan, will follow the same general plan of other years, it was said.

It is expected there will be hundreds of exhibits in approximately 15 different classes. Norman Shriver, Master of the Grange, and William Wivell, chairman of the general committee for the show, and Mrs. Charles Sharrer, chairman of entries, wish to emphasize that exhibits are welcomed and solicited from the entire community. A large number of entries is desired to make the show a success and credit to the community.

Exhibits of farm products, including grains, fruits and meats; garden products, including fresh and canned vegetables; flowers; fruits; jellies; preserves; baked products; needle work; sewing; antiques, etc., are solicited from the farmers and residents of the Emmitsburg Community in accordance with the rules of the show.

It was said approximately $175 in cash prizes will be offered. Rules and details governing entries will be published later.

Seven-year-old Charles Gibson of St. Louis, recently found a sack containing $250 belonging to an ice cream firm. His reward was all the ice cream he and his family could eat in a month. Charles consumed approximately 15 gallons.

The meeting opened with singing of the National Anthem and prayer by the chaplain, Morris A. Zentz. A report by the committee in charge of the exhibit at the Frederick Fair was given and it was announced that the Grange exhibit won 12th place and that the exhibits were all very close in points. A float had been entered in the Old Home Week parade, sponsored a German exchange student, took a leading part in having the death curve at Toll Gate Hill on Route 15 eased, added 20 new members and participated in every community program for the year.

Home economics chairman, Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner explained the duties of her department and announced that during the year her committee had held a box social netting $35 profit for the Grange and also a cookie contest, earning $45.

Rodgers Appointed Bond Drive Head

T. Eugene Rodgers of W. Main St., has been appointed to the American Legion's State U. S. Defense Bond Drive Committee by Benjamin J. Wolfson, Maryland Dept. Commander.

As head of the Legion's Bond Drive for Frederick County, Mr. Rodgers will work in close cooperation with W. Clinton McSherry, president of the Western Maryland Trust Co., Frederick, the county's general chairman. The first U. S. Defense Bond Drive, now under way, closes Oct. 27.

Mr. Rodgers is serving with 26 other Legionnaires on a state committee headed by George W. Hoffman of Baltimore.

"It is the job of every American Legion Post chairman to see that all members of the Legion are personally contacted by their officers and bond committee during this all-important drive," said Mr. Hoffman. In a letter to Legionnaire Rodgers, the state chairman said:

"The American Legion has always come to the aid of our country in times of emergency. The men of the Legion have served our country in World Wars I and II; now our country is calling on us to purchase U. S. Defense Bonds systematically."

"Those of us who cannot serve in the Armed Forces, work in defense plants, etc., can lend a hand by investing now in U. S. Defense. Defense is everybody's job."

Chairman Hoffman pointed out that the purposes of the Drive are to (1) encourage continued practices of thrift and savings by all, (2) maintain and increase wide distribution of the national

State Roads Will Be Inspected

In company with newspaper editors and radio men, Governor McKeldin next week will start a series of tours to inspect this year's progress on road projects and other public improvements throughout the state.

The tours will be a 1951 edition of the "Seeing Is Believing" trips inaugurated by the State Roads Commission in 1949 and repeated last fall, to give Maryland editors and radio reporters first-hand acquaintance with the state's highway modernization program.

This year the itineraries of the several tours will be broadened debt, (3) discourage inflationary spending, and (4) raise the money for defense purposes in the 'safe', sound, and patriotic voluntary method through increased investments in the Bonds of our country by all citizens."

Each Legion member is asked to participate in the First Defense Bond Drive by enrolling in the payroll savings plan, purchasing a bond-a-month, or purchasing an extra bond for defense.

at the governor's request, to include various projects, other than road jobs, that are in progress.

Roads Commission Chairman Russell H. McCain and Commissioners Avery W. Hall and David M. Nichols will be the hosts to the governor and the tour parties, which will include editors of weekly newspapers in the respective areas to be covered by each tour.

The Case of the Hitchhiking Dog

"Rex" the hitchhiking dog who adopted Pfc. Allan J. Lott, of Ridgewood, N. Y., for his pal and rode with him the 450 miles from Pittsburgh to Camp Atterbury, in Indiana, poses with him at the USO Club in nearby Franklin. "Rex" traveled by himself the 150 miles from Erie, Pa., to Pittsburgh, boarded a train and went to Camp Atterbury with Pfc. Lott, then loped 12 miles from there to Franklin following the bus which took the private and a buddy into town. He made his home at the Franklin USO until his real owners, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mazzone, of Erie, were located and the mystery solved.

LOOKING AHEAD
by GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Note: Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is probably the best informed man in Congress on fiscal affairs of the Federal government. He has graciously accepted my invitation to write a guest column. Senator Byrd has been my valued friend for many years. In Congress he has distinguished himself by studiously applying his fine integrity, intellect and energy to some of the most disagreeable tasks of a Senator, and by a constant use of an unusual degree of foresight. — Geo. S. Benson.

By SEN. HARRY S. BYRD Immorality Has a Source

No one will deny that we are in a national crisis, perhaps of magnitude and duration such as we have never before experienced. General Eisenhower estimated the present emergency may go on for 20 to 30 years. We are faced, therefore, with the necessity for unprecedented long range defense expenditures.

In one breath the President seemed to realize this, when, on Jan. 15, he told Congress that "the government must practice rigid economy in its non-defense activities." Yet a week later he submitted his budget increasing domestic-civilian spending to its highest level. Surprising as it may seem in view of the international situation, Congress was asked to approve adoption of vast subsidy schemes for federalizing health, farming, food, housing, etc.

Shortcutting the Constitution Our great freedom heritage is the Constitution of the United States. And we have every reason to consider the American system of free enterprise as the world's greatest deterrent to world conflict. Our productive system is a more dependable guardian of peace than the United Nations ever will be. It is the only force in the world that Russia recognizes and fears. It is a creature of democracy. Neither democracy nor our free enterprise system can survive in insolvency.

In recent years there have been give-away programs on top of give-away programs, by which the government has been taking money from people, giving them back less than it took, and in the process making them think they are getting something for nothing. Through these programs we have gradually centralized power in a gigantic sprawling bureaucracy which is just too big to audit. This centralization of power in Washington is still increasing. The President is constantly asking for more and more power to be taken from the states, from the localities and from the source of all power—the people.

Immorality's Breeding Grounds Actually it is difficult to determine whether these continual attacks on our constitutional institutions and fiscal responsibility have bred immorality in high places or whether the immorality in high places has brought about the attacks upon our institutions. But in any event, the moral situation in Washington has grown so bad that James A. Farley, one of the most honorable of men, recently summed it up by saying: "We are told that if the act of a public official is not illegal, it is necessarily proper and always excusable."

It is unnecessary to go through all the revelations of the RFC investigations; the five-percenters investigations; the situation in which the army officer said he was "just one who was caught;" the patronage peddling in Mississippi; the revelations of the Crime Committee and the tie-ups between government activities and the underworld, etc.

A code of political ethics has been proposed. But if the time has come in America when we must pass a law and appoint a commission to establish a code of ethics to tell public servants they should be honest, to tell public servants they should be loyal to their government, to tell public servants they should not barter public trust for greedy personal profit—if the time has come when Congress has to set up a commission to rewrite the Ten Commandments with special applications to political opportunists, then the basic virtues of our form of government have been crucified. In the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia, there is an old saying: "You can't measure a snake until it's dead."

Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Ohler and family left Saturday for a 10-day visit to Florida. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. "Gus" Ohler of Taneytown.

Report From Washington

BY U. S. SENATOR HERBERT R. O'CONOR

Residents of the various counties of the state will have an opportunity in the weeks to come to meet and hear at first hand from their Senior Senator regarding activities of the Congress during this and past sessions.

Breaking precedent, Senator H. R. O'Connor will carry into every section of Maryland a personal "Report to the People" of the details of the vital matters handled by Congress in the present session.

Admittedly an unusual step, the county-by-county tour by the Senior Senator will be made after adjournment of the present session and will include a discussion with citizens of all walks of life of the "whys and wherefores" of the various programs established to meet the emergency.

In the state-wide roundup, he intends to go directly to the people with his message. He will address civic and business groups, veterans, labor and educational bodies, supplementing these talks with unscheduled discussions with citizens in towns and villages, in crossroads stores and wherever the opportunity offers.

Departing from the whirlwind variety, usually the type when a state-wide tour is made, this will be an unhurried trip, thus affording the Senator opportunity to chat with farmers and workers as well as with housewives and other citizens in every part of the state.

In an effort to secure the expressed views of persons in every section of the state, Senator O'Connor during recent years, has sent our periodically questionnaires to invite the opinions of the people. Between 10,000 and 12,000 have been contacted from time to time in this manner and their views sought on pending questions. The effort was made to "sound out" the views of persons in every nook and corner of the state and a surprisingly large percentage of the people replied to the letters. The questions set forth in the letters will be the subject of discussions by Senator O'Connor as he goes about the state.

In addition to the county-by-county tour, Senator O'Connor also will make a series of appearances in Baltimore City. He plans to address civic clubs, parent-teacher associations, as well as service groups and city-wide clubs. This will afford an opportunity to talk directly to citizens on national and international topics. As a part of his speaking program the Senior Senator will state the reasons behind the votes he cast on major legislation in the 80th, 81st and 82nd Congresses.

Among the subjects he plans particularly to discuss are:

- 1—National Security both from the angle of increased military forces and from the angle of Communist infiltration.
- 2—Sound fiscal policies for a strong economy.
- 3—International cooperation to achieve world peace.

Beware "Health Cures"

The traveling medicine man, selling bottles of elixir or panacea, is largely a thing of the past. Today we are amazed that people of past generations were "taken in" with claims of cures by these charlatans.

As a result of public education and legislation, comparatively few people nowadays are victimized by peddlers of false "health cures." But despite nationwide efforts to protect the public against harmful or useless drugs, contrivances, and cosmetics for which extravagant claims are made, a few quacks still sell fake medicines and "medical devices."

The fact that people waste money on these fake cures is serious enough in itself. But the real danger of these fraudulent claims is that they tempt people to "doctor" themselves instead of seeking professional advice, frequently with tragic results.

Certain limited, small-scale forms of self-medication are harmless. Most of us keep iodine, bandages, and headache remedies and laxatives in the medicine cabinet for minor accidents and ailments. But even in matters of headache relievers and laxatives (which can be habit-forming or dangerous) the guidance of the doctor should be sought. The doctor is the one qualified source of advice and treatment for disorders, especially in the event of symptoms or suspicions of serious illness.

For example, with so many people seeking, slim, youthful figures, sources of companies have "reducing remedies" on the market today. Again, whether his overweight be due to gland or gluttony, a person can reduce safely only under the advice and supervision of the doctor.

Incredible as it sounds, some swindlers try to get away with selling fake drugs or devices to "cure" serious illnesses like cancer, arthritis, tuberculosis, and kidney disease. Even if the "quick cures" are worthless rather than dangerous in themselves, much harm is done when the sick person substitutes purchase of the useless product for a visit to the doctor.

But the Federal and local laws made to protect the people against such frauds are constantly being strengthened. Moreover, post office employees and reputable advertisers and businessmen are always on the alert to crush this modern version of the old-time "medicine man." The consumer himself can help in this crusade by refusing to patronize medical frauds and reporting them with out delay to the proper authorities.

Social Security

By ED. R. YOUNG

Hagerstown Social Security Office

Monthly benefits under old-age and survivors insurance are intended to help replace the income lost when a person who is regularly employed or self-employed retires in old age or dies. If the worker does not retire and therefore lose his employment income, benefits are not paid to his family, even though he may have reached 65 years of age. Nor does a family member (such as a wife, widow, or child), while employed, receive benefits on the worker's record.

An injured person who is 65 and retired may become entitled to benefits for any month in which the law considers him retired. Thereafter, payment of the benefit may be stopped for any month in which he works in a covered job and has a certain amount of earnings.

The test of whether a person is considered retired or regularly employed is the earnings test. The law provides that no benefit may be paid to a beneficiary—either a retired worker or a family member—for any month in which he receives more than $50 in wages for work in employment covered by the Social Security Act. (A similar test is made for earnings in self-employment). You will note that the test applies only to earnings in covered work. In 1950, when additional employment became covered by the Act, earnings from newly covered employment were also taken into consideration for this test of retirement.

The earnings test does not apply for any beneficiary who is 75 or over. This provision is of special interest to self-employed persons who often continue to be at least partly active in business for many years after they reach 65.

Benefit payments are also suspended, or stopped entirely, for other reasons than work. A woman under 65 who is receiving a wife's or mother's benefit gets the payment only for the month in which she has a child beneficiary in her care. The benefits are suspended during any period in which she does not in fact have such a child in her care.

Monthly payments for any beneficiary end when he dies. A wife is no longer permitted to receive a wife's benefit if she is divorced from her husband, and a husband no longer receives a husband's benefit if he is divorced from his wife.

A child's benefit stops at age 18, since it is presumed a person of that age can support himself. The mother's benefit stops when the youngest child reaches age 18. With some exceptions, a child's benefit will end if he is adopted by another person, since his support is undertaken by the adopting parent. If a child, surviving part of the city with a park.

mother, widow, widower or parent marries, his or her benefits are stopped.

Men Are Outnumbered!

For the first time in 40 years, females are in the majority in Maryland. Population figures for 1950 reveal that there are now 100 females for every 99.2 males in the State. Ten years ago, the males held a 101 to 100 advantage.

Homemakers' PRICE FACTS

Hugo R. Hoffman, Maryland District Director for the Office of Price Stabilization, announces that as a result of the newly amended Defense Production Act recently passed by Congress, the national office in Washington has just released a new schedule of retail beef prices which went into effect Monday. The new prices are dollar-and-cents ceiling prices.

The revised regulation adjusts prices in retail stores in line with price increases at the meat packer's level. These increases were recently granted in order to comply with the amended DPA that requires packers to receive a fair margin of profit.

It is pointed out that recently, due to a decline in the price of hides and tallow which the packer also sells as by-products, the margin of profit for the packer decreased and it became necessary under the law to restore it to its former level.

In giving new dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on the price of beef, the regulation also as before defines beef by grade and cuts for sale in the retail stores, but adds certain new cuts of beef which were not permitted under the previous regulation. As a result, meat dealers may now sell: tenderloin, top sirloin, bottom sirloin, boneless rolled rib roast, boneless rib steak, skirt steaks, and predicted stew meat.

Mr. Hoffman stated that the prices of beef is not the same all over the country. One reason for this is that prices are fixed by zones depending on the cost of transportation of the meat from the source of supply to where it is sold across the retail counter. Six pricing schedules cover the entire country. The other reason for this stems from the fact that stores are placed in different classifications depending upon their volume of sales.

There are general rules covering the sale of beef. The ceiling price at the point of sale must be put on display. Beef cuts must be placed in separate trays, compartments or sections of the showcase or package, according to the difference in grade, even though the beef cuts are of the same kind. The grade must be posted so that the customers can read it.

Regular ground beef (containing no more than 25 per cent fat) may be sold alone. However, if lean ground beef (containing no more than 12 per cent fat) is sold, regular ground beef must also be offered for sale.

Mr. Hoffman stated that these are some of the things a consumer can look for to be sure the butcher is in compliance when selling beef.

Mr. Hoffman also announced Monday that his office has received new wholesale ceiling prices on pork from the national OPS office in Washington.

"The new pork prices went into effect Oct. 1 and the order will place dollars-and-cents ceiling prices on wholesale pork cuts at a level intended to reflect farm parity for live hogs.

The order makes provisions for wholesalers to adjust their pork prices upward, to cover any advances at wholesale provided in the new ceilings. National OPS

MARYLAND HOME FRONT

Summary of Support Prices

A complete summary for all the support prices applicable to crops grown in Maryland during 1951 have just been made available by Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee. The following prices have been announced:

Wheat—$1.70 per bushel grading No. 3 or better with not over 20.5% moisture.

Wheat—priced by grades with No. 3 garlicky, our normal grade, set at $2.43. Moisture not over 14%.

Rye—No. 2 or better or No. 3 on test weight only $1.66 per bushel if stored in Baltimore or Philadelphia terminal warehouses or $1.42 on the farm. Moisture officials pointed out that hogs have been selling for less than parity during most of last year.

Because more hogs are being raised than at any time since 1944, the all-time record year, officials of the OPS predicted that hog prices probably will sell below parity this fall.

When this occurs, it is predicted that pork will sell at less than the new ceilings. The new regulation requires retailers to drop their prices whenever wholesale prices decline.

The new regulations will permit wholesalers to realize their normal operating margins and in addition they take into account current costs of operation including recent wage and salary increases in industry.

Oats—No. 3 or better 83c per bushel stored in warehouses or on the farm. Moisture not over 14%.

Barley—No. 5 or better stored in terminal warehouses in Baltimore or Philadelphia $1.43 per bushel. Stored on the farm $1.26 per bushel. Moisture not over 14%.

Kobe lespedeza—12c per pound of cleaned seed. Requirements—98% purity, 85% germination, maximum weed seed 1%, maximum other crop seed 4.5%.

Cover Crop Seed Orders Heavy

Several county Production and Marketing Administration offices report that orders for cover crop seed are coming in so rapidly that they are already out of funds that were originally set aside to support this part of the program. Many Maryland counties, however, still have ample funds to take care of the local needs for cover crop seed, according to the chairman.

Farmers interested in getting seed of hairy vetch, crimson clover or annual ryegrass, the three types of seed on which credit may be gotten, should contact their county offices immediately.

Will Give Tobacco Figures

Tobacco farmers in Maryland

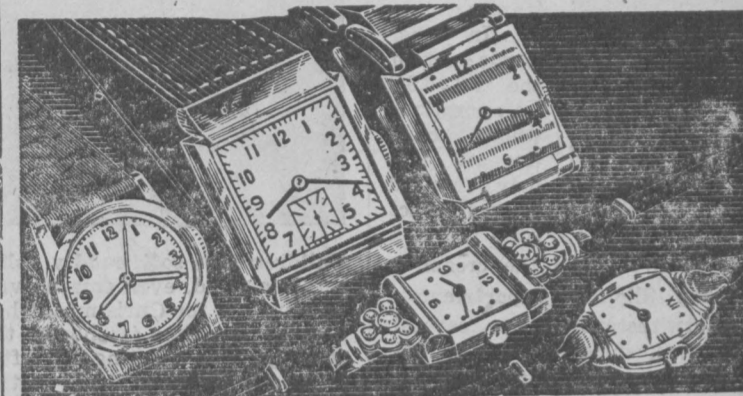

have been notified they will undoubtedly be called upon to vote on acreage allotments and quotas in a referendum this fall. All growers in the state are to be notified before Oct. 15 concerning the acreage figures upon which the individual quotas will be based.

Wheat Loans' Policy Changed

According to the chairman a change in policy concerning the cost of storage of 1951 wheat under price support loans will take place. It was said that the Government has ruled that it will not refund the storage cost to the farmer regardless of whether the loan runs to maturity or whether the farmers pay their notes and sell the grain. Department of Agriculture representatives pointed out that the Government does not own the wheat that is under loan and, therefore, is not obligated to pay the storage or elevation charges.

GOOD "EATS" FOR HALLOWE'EN

Everything else may be a mystery at your Hallowe'en Party, but there's no question about good eating when the party table reveals big plump hamburgers with all the trimmings and gingerbread muffins topped with grated orange rind.

Mr. F. Wayne Chrismer and Mrs. Philip Bowser, Bel Air, Md., visited Saturday with his parents, Mr. C., where she is a medical laboratory technician at the Duke University Hospital.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 4—The Babson Organization has 2000 corporations on its

Roger W. Babson

Master List which it constantly watches. In other words, out of the 16,000 corporations whose securities are publicly traded in, we select 2000 which we believe to be the cream.

Curing Slipping Departments

Notwithstanding our careful selection, some of these corporations are at times suffering from one department slipping. This naturally worries the head of the department. The more he worries, the more the department slips; the more it slips, the more he worries. If this continues too long he has a nervous breakdown or a heart attack. This is a loss to the corporation and its stockholders.

The real purpose of my story is to emphasize that men are more important than machines—in fact, all machines were invented by men and we must depend upon men for coming great inventions. I have in mind electronic devices which should reduce prices and increase the wages of intelligent workers. The value of foreman and department heads is not fully recognized by many corporations. Their accumulation of experience will take many years on the part of their successors to duplicate.

Entitled To More Rest

Corporations judge employees by their hours of work and—directly or indirectly—by their production in physical units. But a department head or foreman may be able to develop original ideas in a few hours that can be worth large amounts to the corporation. To accomplish this, however, such a man should not be worried, and should keep himself in good health. If I should tell the president of the corporation that he could save thousands of dollars annually by spending $1000 on repairing a certain machine, he would gladly do so; but most corporation heads can't see this when it comes to repairing or keeping them in A-1 condition.

When I tell the corporation president that he could save and make large sums by spending $1000 to give the head of a slipping department a complete rest for a month, the president often fails to see the point. Of course, this rest must be away from home and under supervision. Yet, such an investment by the corporation would produce more in dividends to stockholders than if spent in any other possible way. This is the next great lesson which corporations must learn.

Preventing Heart Attacks

During the past year, I have been especially distressed because so many of my friends and clients are dying from heart attacks. This is not only a loss to the family, but often a severe loss to the corporations with which such men were connected. Often the death of such a man is ultimately unfavorably reflected in labor relations, sales programs and the earnings of the corporation; and hence a loss to stockholders. With special interest in the 2000 corporations above mentioned, I am anxious for the support of all attempts to reduce these heart tragedies.

Doctors tell me that these heart attacks are unnecessary and could largely be prevented if corporations would insist on annual physical audits of their head executives. When finding one of their executives threatened with a heart condition, the corporation would find it an excellent investment to give this executive a supervised vacation with pay at a restful spot catering to the "tired businessman." This is not charity or of a "welfare" nature. It is sound, hard-boiled business sense.

Repairing Versus Preventive Tests

The so-called "six weeks" cure for heart attacks can be taken at home or at a hospital if the patient will absolutely obey the doctor's orders; but this is not true of preventive heart repairing. Those showing a tendency to heart trouble, but who have not yet been attacked, need not stay in bed. They should, however, be away from home and office, in a restful spot in the woods until all these symptoms vanish.

In this connection let me say

Christmas Dolls Are Fun To Make

Children love soft, cuddly dolls—the kind they can drag around, throw around, even smash, without breaking. If such an item is on your list for Christmas, why not make it yourself? Start now, because the time is shorter than you think. Make it of cotton chambray, or sheeting, or left-over dress material which can be washed with other items in the family laundry, says Winifred S. Carter, who directs the Household Information Service for Procter & Gamble. Then it will be no problem for Mothers to keep the toys clean.

Use a pattern, or make up your own. As long as the doll has a head, arms, and legs, it will make some child happy. But for your own fun and satisfaction, you'll give it a face, hair, and clothes. Mouths and eyes can be embroidered or painted with fabric paint, and if yarn hair is sewed directly into the scalp, it will prevent the doll from becoming bald when it is dragged cave-man fashion. Be original about hair color. Left-over yarn of blue, green, purple, as well as yellow and brown, makes very acceptable hair, adds fun to the appearance of the doll and fancy to the child's imagination.

Mrs. Carter advises washing cloth toys in warm water and a gentle soap or detergent like Ivory or Dreft. If you add them to the family laundry, tie the dolls or the toys in a pillow case before putting them in the washer. (ANS)

Odds And Ends

By MISS ANABEL HARTMAN

This is not the "Odds and Ends" column originally planned for October but the result of the writer's attempt to carry out a special request from a member of the Library Committee to "Write something more about libraries in your next column." (I should like to think that other Chronicle readers were interested in the closing paragraph of my last column, about a reference book and its connection with our Emmitsburg Library; if not, then I must hope for better luck this time, with a whole column on the same general subject.)

But why this particular week for more talk about libraries? The answer, which I did not know until the committee member explained, is worth passing on as my first point. Just 75 years ago (the year of the great Philadelphia Centennial celebrating our Declaration of Independence), the American Library Association was organized; so this is an anniversary year for the association. But it is a day in this particular week, Thurs., Oct. 4, the date the A. L. A. was founded, that was chosen to be observed all over the country as National Library Day. Some suggestions sent out for marking the day the Emmitsburg Library could not well carry out: "Secure radio time from your local station for a talk"—"Hold an informal 'open house' in the library"—but there was the always cooperative Chronicle ready to help carry out another suggestion, to present some "suitable material" in an article. Under the circumstances the A. L. A. would not mind if its "Day" was marked a day late; the Chronicle could scarcely be expected to change its publication date!

It is also a point worth making here, I think, that there is real significance in the association's coming into being in the year 1876, and at the time our emergence as a free nation was being commemorated, for it is certainly a true fact that libraries are one of the pillars of American democracy (column readers may pause here and think why) and the A. L. A. has been committed from the beginning to the improvement of libraries—in personnel, in equipment, in services. The true in honor of those whose patriotic vision saw the need of such an organization but a plan to bring libraries and their services to the community, and their need of cooperation from the community to everyone's attention.

Always interested in backgrounds and contrasts, it seems impossible for me to resist the urge to turn back now to ancient times—I do not mean to follow the fascinating story of library development from those days down to our own times; that would be impossible here, even if condensed from an encyclopedia's condensed account—but just to list some striking differences between the earliest libraries and that great progress is being made by physicians in detecting posing heart troubles. The electro-cardiograph is now being supplemented or anticipated by "flicker tests," blood tests and ingenious gadgets which give an executive a warning to take a rest and avoid further trouble.

CARBAUGH—TROXELL

Miss Margaret Jane Troxell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Troxell, Thurmont, Route 2, and James R. Carbaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carbaugh of Thurmont, Route 1, were married Friday night, Sept. 21 at Apple's Reformed Church at 8 p. m. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Edouard Taylor, pastor of the bride, in the presence of the immediate families.

The couple was attended by Miss Lilly Carbaugh, sister of the bridegroom and Richard Troxell, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a navy blue dress with navy and black accessories and a red rosebud corsage. Miss Carbaugh likewise was dressed in navy blue with navy and black accessories and a corsage like the bride's.

Following a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Carbaugh are at present residing at the home of the bride's parents. Both are employed at the Cannon Shoe Co., Thurmont.

Emmitsburg Library is the fact that it can secure books and materials from Pratt through the library extension service.

You have recently been reminded in "Emmitsburg, Md." that our own Emmitsburg Public Library was organized near the beginning of this century (45 years ago) and under the auspices of the editor of the Chronicle at that time, the very public-spirited citizen, Mr. Sterling Galt. It began as a subscription library and it still is partly that, but almost from the beginning the Library Committee was obliged to resort to a variety of money-raising activities and also from an early period of its history individual Emmitsburgians (some indeed not residents of Emmitsburg) and town organizations have from time to time supplemented a budget never sufficient to enable any committee to carry out their dreams and hopes for their own town library.

I wish it were possible to mention all the members of all these library committees that have carried on so devotedly for nearly half a century (many names appear again and again and still again, and almost no one served for only a year) and to mention also those individuals and town organizations that have helped to keep the golden thread from breaking here, but that is not possible. All of them at least have the personal satisfaction of knowing they could hold up their hands if the roll of all "Helpers of the Library" should be called; and all of them should feel pride that library history is still being made here in Emmitsburg.

A chance for "development" in the real sense of the word—an enlargement and improvement in equipment and services—perhaps a permanent home for a much-moved organization—seems now to be at hand. A chance for these things, I said, not yet an assurance. Don't we really all want to help to make it that?

P. S. "On my own" I append the names of the present library committee; you may wish to contact them to find out what you can do: Mrs. Margaret Wasilifsky (president), Mrs. Helen Rowe Annan (treasurer), Mrs. Frances Stinson (secretary), Miss Louise Sebald (librarian), Mrs. Louise Gillelan and Miss Ruth Shuff.

A. E. H. (*The gifts from the Women's (now the Homemakers') Club and from the municipality itself (thru the Mayor and Commissioners) have become regular.)

Who ASKED you?

Who asked you to pay for electricity used by people you never even heard of, a hundred or a thousand miles away?

Nobody! But you do help pay the bills for hundreds of thousands of favored people and hundreds of privileged businesses using electricity from certain federal power systems. Your taxes helped build those systems. Your taxes are used to subsidize service to their customers.

Who asked you to foot the bill as that ~~the~~ country could have socialized electricity?

Nobody! Yet, there are 72 federally owned power systems already in operation, under construction, or authorized at a total cost of over 10 billion dollars—and hundreds more are planned at a total cost of about 60 billion dollars. That's your money that's financing socialism!

Who asked you for permission to keep on building expensive socialistic power systems when every tax dollar and every pound of critical material is needed for defense?

Nobody! But the backers of socialized power are planning to use more of your tax money to build costly electric lines that actually duplicate facilities of business-managed companies! Why? To put the government further into useless and killing competition with business-managed companies.

Who asked you whether you have enough electric power or not?

Nobody! The "planners" who favor socialized electricity speak vaguely of a "power shortage." Yet, the business-managed companies have more than doubled this nation's power supply since Pearl Harbor. And they've got a lot more coming!

Five Stake Races Scheduled At Laurel

Big-time racing returns to Maryland next week, with the opening of Laurel's 14-day session on Wednesday, and every indication points to a highly successful meeting. New stables with fine horses are on hand; the five stakes to be contested have all drawn fine nominations and the introduction of turf racing is expected to add much zest to the programs which will be presented. Post time has been set for 1:30 p. m.

President John D. Schapiro is optimistic over the prospects. Laurel will have the film patrol in action as an additional safeguard for horses and riders and at the same competent staff of officials which guided the spring meeting, again will be on duty.

Laurel is not stopping with the track. Variety Club Day is a mere presentation of stakes and overnight races. In addition to the introduction of grass racing, there will be numerous other special events to keep the fans on their toes and interested in what goes on at the track.

Two ladies' days will be held on Friday, Oct. 12 and Oct. 19. Women fans will be admitted upon payment only of the tax and there will be mementos on the occasion for the first 2000 feminine patrons each day.

Latest in fall fashions will be displayed by a group of models on Thursday, Oct. 11. In addition to Ladies Day, Oct. 12, will be Defense Bond Day when Laurel will stage a program on behalf of this worthy cause. It is expected the program will be used as a model for similar productions in other entertainment fields.

Heart Fund Day is down for Monday, Oct. 15 and on Thursday, Oct. 18, Elks from Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia will hold their day at down for Wednesday, Oct. 24. And don't forget, Saturday, Oct. 20, is Amateur Handicappers Day, with the person picking the most winners receiving a sizeable amount of Defense Bonds for his or her skill.

Chiropractors Attend Annual Convention

The 36th annual convention of the Pennsylvania Chiropractic Society, was held at the Hotel Sterling in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., over the past Sunday. More than 350 members attended, including Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle, Emmitsburg.

The principal speaker was the State of Pennsylvania's Secretary of Commerce, Andrew J. Sordani.

One of the first in the country to employ chiropractic in industry, Sen. Sordani confined much of his address to the benefits that chiropractic has given the employees of his own enterprises. He observed that knowing the accomplishments of chiropractic through personal experience, he would be remiss in his duty not to provide these chiropractic treatments to his employees as well as medical care. Mr. Sordani employs five chiropractors for weekly treatment to his employees in much the same manner as preventive maintenance is provided for construction equipment. He declared that regular chiropractic treatments have worked out successfully, increased employee efficiency, lowered absenteeism due to illness and have helped tremendously toward making for healthy, happy employees.

Sordani paid tribute to many present at the convention nationally recognized as leaders in the profession, including Dr. Leo Spears, founder and director of the Spears Sanatorium, Denver, Colo.; Dr. J. N. Firth, president of Lincoln School of Chiropractic, Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. Herbert Hender, dean of Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Ia.; Dr. Thure Peterson, dean of the New York School of Chiropractic and many others.
