I can't help but wonder to what extent our local "cow-boys" will exert themselves to gain a little notoriety as the most obnoxious one of them all. One now has added a Jesse James touch to his act. Not intent to screech his tires and throw stones roof-top high to keep sleepless citizens on edge, he has gone one better and has started "shootin' up the burg." Sunday night shortly after one a. m. tired residents were awakened from their slumber by the screaming of sliding tires. Poking their heads out windows they were alarmed when the driver started shooting into the air. Oh, well, give a calf enough rope and he undoubtedly will hang himself, as the saying goes . . . and from what I hear, it won't be very long.

Emmitsburg anglers appear to be going all out in an endeavor to set a county record for the most and largest trout catch of the season. Rev. Bower thought he was all "set" to cop all prizes in this section last week, when along comes Gene Hardman to top anything to date. Undoubtedly Hardman will cop county honors and possibly state honors with his record catch this week, a big six-pound rainbow, measuring 25 inches. Just imagine, two Emmitsburgians making two of the largest catches of the season within a week. This reminds this old dame of a pre-season promise to display the largest catch of the season in Hoke's Hardware fishing contest. I promised, prematurely, to produce the largest pieces of the season. Well, the two aforementioned gentlemen appear certain to make this type-writer jockey eat her own words. However, boys, the season hasn't terminated yet, but I feel my reputation as an angler slipping. More power to you. Maybe next year will be another story.

A lot of Emmitsburgians were both surprised and proud to see an array of local talent appear on the Chamber of Commerce's television show last Friday. Last minute change of program prevented many of them from personally viewing the show from the studio. Not until the last minute was it learned that the public was welcome to view the program from the Baltimore studio and it was the day that they chartered a bus and make the trip, about 25 made the journey to Baltimore and many who did not get their copy of their favorite newspaper (the Chronicle, of course) didn't even know the show was to come off. It was a grand experience for those involved and it was a pleasure for those local residents who were fortunate enough to be tuned in to witness the fine selection of local talent that was presented. It was later learned that at least two of the performers have been asked to accept a return engagement. More on this later.

The need for a local swimming pool becomes more evident each year. What with Mother Nature urging Old Sol to fry us all, every single spot for cooling off was utilized all this week, with the temperature registering a torrid 95 degrees here. One bad feature of our local swimming spots is the local pollution. Boys are seen wading and swimming, yes and even fishing, in Flat Run. This stream carries lethal pollution from the town's septic tanks and has been "posted" by the Health Department, yet parents continue to let their children frequent the place. We sure hope that when the new Memorial Hall is completed, provisions for some type of swimming pool will be made. It doesn't have to be the most ultra-modern or largest pool around, just so it has the necessary Health Dept. approval is all that is needed.

Well, I see that plans for a gigantic parade are being laid by the Chamber of Commerce for the kickoff to the annual Carnival. Last year a record number of floats appeared in the line of march. Many of

TV Show Well-Received Locally

On last Friday afternoon, a "Salute to Emmitsburg" program was televised over Station WAAM, Channel 13, Baltimore, from 3 to 4 p. m.

First to be interviewed on the program were Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers and James Shields, a descendant of the pioneer Shields family, who is now residing in Harrisburg. Mayor Rodgers stated that although he was a native of Baltimore, he has lived in Emmitsburg for 50 years and is now in his 17th year of service in public office. Mr. Shields gave a brief resume of his relationship to the first settlers of this community.

Jasper Wantz entertained with a piano solo.

Kathleen Irelan and John Roddy Jr., president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, respectively, were interviewed next. Mr. Irelan spoke of the many vacation spots in the community with emphasis on the "best trout streams in Maryland" near Emmitsburg. Mr. Roddy, also registrar at Mount St. Mary's College, mentioned the founding of the colleges and brought out the beauty of the colleges' location.

Miss Ann Waiten entertained with a toe dance number.

Commander Fern Ohler of the VFW Post and Mrs. Robert Daugherty appeared next to be interviewed. Cmdr. Ohler enumerated briefly some of the accomplishments of the local VFW Post, mentioning the excellent ambulance service available to residents of Emmitsburg and vicinity made possible through the VFW, and the memorial playground just recently dedicated. Mrs. Daugherty had a number of old pictures which were shown.

Next on the program was Richard Brock with vocal selection "Because."

Arthur Elder, president of the Lions Club and editor of the Chronicle, with Chairman of the Board or Town Commissioners, Col. Thomas J. Frailey, were interviewed next. Mr. Elder spoke chiefly of the activities of the Lions Club, while Col. Frailey commented on the exceptional educational and religious advantages presented in such a small community.

Guy Baker Jr. entertained with the singing of "The Bells of St. Mary's."

Mr. Roddy then introduced Emmitsburgians who were in the audience. Each rose as Mr. Roddy called his name and they were flashed briefly on the screen. The program ended with the vocal number "Whispering Winds" by a quartet composed of Doris Wastler, Carrie Hahn, Edward Peters and Richard Stambaugh.

Interviewer on the program was Jim Killian of the staff of Station WAAM.

Fire Damages Thurmont Lumber Concern

About $1000 damage was done to the building of the Thurmont Flooring and Lumber Co. on Water St. Ext in Thurmont last Saturday afternoon, June 14, when a fire broke out in a pile of scrap lumber.

Two pieces of apparatus from the Guadiana Hose Co. in Thurmont responded and extinguished the blaze. Damage was confined to the building and to the pile of scrap edgings lying outside the building.

Lee Saylor, owner of the lumber mill, and firemen were at a loss to explain the cause of the fire. The plant does not operate on Saturday afternoon and all the workmen had left, it was understood.

Firemen responded to the alarm about 2:30 o'clock. Damage was done to a cornice of the building, the roof, and two large doors in the plant, in addition to the pile of scrap.

Firemen on the first apparatus took charge of the blaze with a booster stream and a second piece of equipment was hooked up with a nearby stream to furnish additional water, firemen reported.

The lumber company is at present engaged in a government contract producing loading platforms for use in storage for the U. S. Navy, in addition to standard milling operations, it was learned.

Grange Presents $265 Check To Memorial Hall

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held on Wednesday evening at the Emmitsburg High School, 25 members present and Master Edgar G. Emrich, presiding.

All members were reminded that Grier Keilholtz is a patient at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg and Gwenda Creeger also is a patient at the Frederick Memorial Hospital.

The Grange decided to enter a float in the Carnival Parade this year and a committee of John Gartrell, chairman, Morris Zentz, Norman Shriver, Edward Smith, Sr., Raymond Baumgardner, Andrew Eyster and William Wivell, was appointed to handle the details.

The Grange unanimously agreed to go on record as being strongly in favor of a new garbage disposal system for the Emmitsburg District and a committee is being appointed with Norman Shriver acting as chairman.

Charles R. Fuss, representing the County Roads Board, asked the Grange for support in gaining rights-of-way for new roads in the rural sections.

It was announced the Middle Atlantic Lecturers' Conference will be held July 9 to 11 inclusive at the University of Maryland.

The Home Economics chairman, Ethel Baumgardner, announced the cookie and dressmaking contest will be held at her home on the regular meeting night, July 16. All members are requested to bring cookies, as they will be used for refreshments following the meeting. Judges will be on hand for the official judging of both cookies and sewing.

Following the business session, a check for $265.00 was presented to Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers by Master Emrich, representing the proceeds of the recent scrap drive conducted by the Grange, to raise funds for the new Memorial Hall. In accepting the check, Mayor Rodgers, treasurer for the Hall Assn., thanked the Grange for their cooperation and stated the fund now stands at a little over $2,000.

Visiting guests of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Quinn of New Market; Mr. and Mrs. Martin of McKnightstown, Pa.; and Mayor and Mrs. T. W. Rodgers, Emmitsburg. Refreshments were served following adjournment.

Juvenile Grange Meets

The Juvenile Grange held its regular meeting with a good attendance registered, Master John Krom presiding. Youth activities for the Pomona picnic in August at Mt. Tabor Park were discussed. State Juvenile Master Sister Quinn gave instructions in the proper procedure for conducting meetings, etc. Following the meeting the youth joined the adult Grange for refreshments. The next regular meeting for both Granges will be held July 2.

Juniors Trounce Wakefield

The Emmitsburg Legion Juniors, managed by Richard Yeomans, broke into the win column again Sunday after a long absence by trouncing Wakefield, 9 to 4.

Although outthit by their opponents nine to eight, the locals' nits appeared timely and enabled them to come on to victory. Topper and Herring both hit singles and triples at crucial points, giving their teammates added incentive.

The team as a whole, appeared better on the defense, registering only two miscues, while offensively they also showed considerable improvement.

Thousands Greet Eisenhower On His Visit Here

By GEORGE A. MILLER, JR.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower received a rousing welcome from approximately 5,000 enthusiasts in Lincoln Square, Gettysburg, last Friday shortly before noon. The highly emotional crowd broke through police lines to get a closer view of their hometown presidential aspirant. In a short address delivered in the Square, Eisenhower greeted the crowd as "future neighbors" and expressed the desire to "rock out my last days on the back porch under a comfortable and shady tree."

The General was referring to his nearby farm, which he purchased shortly before he took over the SHAPE command in Europe. After his greeting in Gettysburg, Eisenhower and his party, which included such notables as Pennsylvania's Governor Fine and Senator Duff, Republican of Pennsylvania, proceeded with 58 delegates and 60 alternates, and scores of newspapermen to the farm.

Shortly after Ike's arrival at his farm, he personally met and welcomed each individual delegate to his home. Following a personal inspection of the farm, Eisenhower retired to join his guests in a buffet luncheon.

Immediately following the lunch the delegates questioned Eisenhower on such subjects as foreign policy, socialized medicine, civil rights, tariffs and universal military training. In response to his answers the General was given a warming applause by the delegates, and it is highly probable that some were converted to his side.

After the departure of the delegates and the press, Eisenhower enjoyed a brief visit with his friends, former General and Mrs. Arthur Nevins, who manage the farm for him. At 7:30 p. m., Ike departed for Harrisburg where he was to catch a train to take him to Detroit to address the Michigan delegates.

Informal Highlights of Visit

While Judge Sheely was introducing Ike in the Center Sq., Gettysburg, he suddenly was interrupted by a loud, "Hi Ike," and the crowd, Eisenhower, Governor Fine, all joined in the laughter.

The photographers had a field day for this occasion as all of the outstanding news services and magazines were represented. They hindered Eisenhower so much on his tour of the farm that he cut short his excursion and returned to the safety of the house. An interesting sidelight on his tour took place when the General, in order to satisfy the photographers, agreed to pose for them while climbing a fence. As Ike mounted the fence the lower board gave way and he barely escaped falling to the ground.

Mrs. Eisenhower was not present for the affair, but as she arrived in Harrisburg to join the General for the Detroit trip, she expressed a desire to get back to the farm in the near future.

As Governor Fine awaited Eisenhower's arrival at the Harrisburg airport, he was offered an "I Like Ike" button, but he declined wearing it by saying: "When I come to the point where I like Ike, I'll wear it." Later at his press conference, the Governor said he refused because he thought he might be misinterpreted. Governor Fine up to this point, has announced no preference between Ike and Taft.

As Eisenhower approached the Square one could feel the tension of the crowd mounting, and when he came into view of the huge throng, a tremendous ovation went up from the gathering. One Gettysburgian, who is known to be a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, told this writer that when Ike appeared he was unable to restrain himself, and he broke through the police lines, rushed to the car in which Ike was riding, and extended his hand and received a warm handshake from the General, and he muttered, "Good luck, Ike," as he turned away filled with deep emotion. This illustration serves well to demonstrate how the people of Emmitsburg and Gettysburg feel about their neighborhood friend.

Miss Marianne Sanders, Washington, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sanders, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spriggs and family, Mechanicsburg, spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Spriggs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wivell.

Locals Swamp Westminster In Sunday Game

Jack Rosensteel's Pen-Mar ball team came through in slam-bang fashion Sunday to move out of the cellar in that circuit by registering an 18-11 victory over Westminster. Jack Bubrick and Frank Apichella led the locals in the heavy-hitting category each smashing out home runs.

The locals, showing great improvement in the offense, garnered a total of 18 hits in the free-swinging tilt.

Mick was the winning pitcher, Mel Blizzard the loser. Emmitsburg led, 10-3 going into the eighth, made four in the eighth, four in the ninth. Westminster staged an eight-run rally in the last inning. Manager Rosensteel announced the addition of Charles Rosensteel to the roster.

Thurmont moved out in front in the league race by defeating New Oxford, 10-6 while Union Bridge was suffering an 8-4 setback at the hands of Cashtown. The Maryland clubs had been deadlocked for the lead going into Sunday's contests.

Winners of all four of Sunday's games moved up a notch in the standings. While Thurmont was moving ahead of Union Bridge, Cashtown was trapping New Oxford to gain third place, one full game behind Union Bridge and two back of Thurmont.

Fairfield climbed to the head of the second division by winning from Littlestown, 5-2. Littlestown slipped back into fifth place.

He stated he was expecting a reply from the lawmaker momentarily. A letter of thanks was ordered sent to Governor and Mrs. Theodore McKeldin for their recent attendance at the Chamber's annual banquet, at which the Governor was the principal speaker.

MacARTHUR'S PRECEDENT

As an old soldier, though strictly not of the "fade-away" type, General Douglas MacArthur ought to give an example of respect for Army regulations. One of those regulations, No. 600-10, Paragraph 17, forbids for officers on active duty "activity at political conventions, or on political committees, the making of political speeches, the publication of articles, or any other public activity looking to the influencing of an election or the solicitation of votes for themselves or others."

But, though on active duty, General MacArthur has accepted the job of keynote speaker for the Republican convention. He has made several speeches in recent months which are clearly political. He has publicly asked for the nomination of Senator Taft as GOP standard-bearer in this year's presidential election. Still, he has thus far disdained to go on the Army retired list, in which status he would be ethically free to do all the politicking he pleases.

The Army doesn't call the General down for this open breach of Army regulations, apparently for fear of tangling with so popular a hero. The President, who is also Commander-in-Chief, keeps hands off, possibly because he figures the General's conduct, showing as it does the General's disregard for the rules of the game, is but further evidence of the President's wisdom in firing him as Far Eastern commander.

The General recently voiced his concern lest a military man be nominated as President (though evidently he had no such concern when efforts were made to nominate himself in 1944 and again in 1948), saying that "The history of the world shows that republics and democracies have a way of passing from civilian to quasi-military rule." He might have observed, however, that this historical axiom holds good only when generals, because of their exalted station, begin to regard themselves as above the law. There is only one military man setting so dangerous a precedent these days—none other than General MacArthur.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

the DECLARATION of INDEPENDENCE—

signed July 4, 1776, has come to be recognized as one of the noblest documents of human aspirations.

The progress we make, as a free and independent nation, toward the achievement of these aspirations depends on the degree to which our citizens maintain the dignity, responsibility and freedom of the individual.

A radically new and effective amplifier, called a junction transistor, although only half the size of a pea, amplifies electrical signals a million times. It requires only a millionth of the power of the smallest miniature electron tube that it threatens to replace.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Waste in government is even a hot subject in Washington these days. Yet some of the very Congressmen who love to rise on every possible occasion and make the welkin ring on the subject are the most reluctant to take definite action.

Despite a bipartisan committee composed of republicans and democrats supporting the reforms in government procedures recommended by the Hoover Commission, C. W. Harder almost three years ago, progress is being made slowly.

Right now, every attempt is being made to get Congress to pass pending bills that would solve many of the government employment problems. The cold, unsupported facts indicate how strongly reforms are needed.

There are two and a half million Federal civilian employees, or ten times more than there were 20 years ago.

Thus, the government is the biggest employer in the world, yet the government is being shown up as probably the poorest employer in the world.

To keep two and a half million working, the government must hire 800,000 people every year, due to the 34% who leave government service because of dissatisfaction.

In fact, a major expenditure of money, about 100 million dollars per year, goes for salaries of government workers who do nothing else but handle personnel problems. In this field, the figures are fantastic and beyond belief.

© National Federation of Independent Business

It has been found that one group of bureaus who jointly have 1,800,000 workers also have 23,000 personnel workers, or one for every 78 supposedly productive workers. In some bureaus it has been found that there is a ratio of one personnel worker to every 38 employees.

The reasons are many and varied. One of the principal reasons for such wasteful confusion is the fact that the government today uses 16,000 different skills, with many of these skills only needed because government socialistic enterprises compete with private business.

Of course, the confusion as to what workers do that is so great, that no one knows exactly who is needed, or why. Neither are there any adequate procedures set up to put the right skill in the right job, or even obtain proficiency at least somewhat comparable to that expected in private employment.

For that reason, people today are being urged to write Congressmen demanding action in the Federal Personnel Recruitment Bill as the first step toward ending the confusion that is costing taxpayers billions.

The bill is being fought bitterly by many bureaucrats, largely for two reasons.

One is that the reorganization of government hiring practices as provided for in this bill would reduce by a heavy percentage the number of government workers needed, and eliminate jobs created as political rewards.

Another reason is that in due time, this reform would clearly indicate that government today is trying to do wastefully jobs that would be done for far less money by private enterprise.

Food Poisoning Can Be Prevented

Food poisoning isn't only a summer hazard. Unfortunately, there is an outbreak of food poisoning in some section of the country almost every day of the year. But the possibilities of food spoilage and contamination are likely to increase in summer months as quantities of food are prepared "ahead of time" for picnics and church suppers.

It seems strange that people get sick and sometimes die of food poisoning in a nation proud of its sanitation laws and refrigeration facilities. But modern laws and facilities cannot always protect food which is prepared or served carelessly.

In every season, food should always be prepared under the most sanitary conditions possible. Utensils should be scrupulously clean, sterilized if possible. The person preparing the food should, of course, have clean hands and fingernails. People with contagious disease—even colds—or those suffering from skin ailments should never prepare or serve food.

Prepared food that is not eaten immediately should be carefully refrigerated until served, particularly in warm, humid weather. The majority of food poisoning disasters can be traced back to a lack of proper refrigeration.

Most of the harmful bacteria which get into food and produce poisoning are little organisms known as staphylococci. "Room temperature," the usual degree of warmth in an average kitchen, encourages the growth and toxic powers of the harmful organisms. While the cold of refrigeration does not kill these germs outright, it prevents their growth and cuts down on their poisoning power.

We are not sure just what foods make the best soil for these offending little organisms.

But an analysis of food poisoning cases in one state recently revealed that improperly prepared or refrigerated meat products, cream or custard filled pastries, poultry, and milk and milk products were the major sources. It is wise, therefore, to exert extra care in preparing and serving such foods.

Many of our food poisoning outbreaks are the result of carelessness in public eating places, over which the consumer has little control. But too many of these accidents are also traceable to home-prepared meals. Our sanitation standards and our famous refrigerators are the envy of less fortunate peoples. We should use both to best advantage so that as far as food poisoning is concerned, eating is always a pleasure, never a hazard.

Dr. Byrd Addresses Homemakers

Over 1250 homemakers from every county in Maryland are attending the 26th Annual Rural Women's Short Course at the University of Maryland this week. The women arrived Monday to begin their week-long educational sessions.

About 800 visitors attended the annual Visitors' Day activities at the Short Course yesterday. Many of the visitors, said Miss Helen Irene Smith, director of the Short Course, were women whose family responsibilities made it impossible to leave their homes for more than one day.

Featured on the morning program was a lecture by Salom Rizk(author of the book, "Syrian Yankee." Mary Brooks Picken, fashion writer and sewing authority, appeared on the stage in the afternoon to discuss "Trends in Fashion," and acted as narrator for a fashion show. The Homemakers held a fiesta in the afternoon and the State Rural Women's Short Course Club served at the annual Silver Tea. Last evening a dance pageant by the Alma Loth Dancers and students of the College of Notre Dame of Maryland was presented. Frank Whitmore, bass-baritone, performed.

Today the regular early morning classes will be shortened and Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, will present certificates to approximately 110 women who have successfully completed four years of Rural Women's Short Course. Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro Jr. will deliver the commencement address.

This afternoon the women will have their choice of three selected tours to nearby Washington, D. C. This evening the week's activities will end with county parties being held in the dormitories.

ANGLING ANGLES BY Old Hi

If those shy, cagey brown trout are giving you a hard time, you can turn the tables on them by fishing at night. That's when they are less wary and more ready to feed and fight.

With the stream or pond hard hit by many anglers during the day, the browns are apt to stay hidden and refuse to sample your lures; but after dark they stir around in search of insects, minnows, small crawfish, and similar natural food.

That's the time for you to rig up an 8 1/2-foot wet fly action tubular glass Golden Rod spinning rod, fitted with a Bradeo fixed spool reel and 100 yards of Old Hi's Nylo-Spin monofilament spinning line, of 2, 4, or 6 pound test, and cast a streamer, feathered spinner, tiny wobbler, or regular wet fly into their midst. If the spot is well stocked you won't have long to wait for action.

If you're out for some extra special sport, though, set up your 7-foot tubular glass Golden Rod spinning rod, fitted with a Bradeo fixed spool reel and 100 yards of Old Hi's Nylo-Spin monofilament spinning line, of 2, 4, or 6 pound test, and cast out a nickel wobbler, Rangley Minnow, Spin Twirler, or Spinning Wonder lure. Brother, there's a sweet outfit, and it will take fish for you!

Old Hi believes he should say that, while it's a fact he has nothing himself to sell, quite a few lines, lures, rods, and other items of tackle have been named after him because he has found them to give good results under different conditions. It's Old Hi's purpose to help you get more fun and success from the fishing gear you use, and from the hours you spend at lake, stream, or sea-side.

He feels that one way this can be done is by offering you free copies of his illustrated booklets "Fishing For The Millions" (on game and pan fish of fresh waters), "Salt Water Sports Fishing" (along the Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico Coastlines), and "Pacific Coastal Fishing." Just address a postcard request to me, in care of this newspaper, and your copies will be sent pronto.

Another direct, personal way of helping you is to answer your questions. So if you have any problems on fish or fishing, just cast them to your Old Guide and he'll be glad to be of service.

By the way, if you can't seem to get walleyed pike interested in your live baits by drift-trotting in daylight, give them the spinning rod treatment at night, as suggested for brown trout. Walleyes are also heavy night feeders, and either spin casting or regular plug casting with shallow running lures will hang up some nice fish. Try one of those new Get-Fish lures on walleyes; it's got a wiggle that sets the fish wild.

From word that has drifted in, a lot of you fellows are enjoying the new colored movie "Fishing With H-I Power Glass Rods," which shows Old Hi in action and describes how these popular fiber glass fly and bait casting rods are made. If you haven't seen the movie yet ask your nearest H-I tackle dealer to write in for a booking. You can see it free of charge.

Next week we'll have something to say about the exciting sport of fly rod fishing for Atlantic salmon and their landlocked relatives, the oregonian. So let's meet here again then.

WASHINGTON—Notes on the outlook for a seizure law:

There still is no definite indication of whether Congress will or will not enact this year a law authorizing the President to seize and operate private facilities to end or preclude a national emergency arising from a labor dispute.

If and when such legislation is enacted, it very likely will not be part of the Defense Production Act, which authorizes the various economic and production controls program.

The Senate, in approving an eight-month extension of the DPA, which is due to expire June 30, refused to include any interim authority for seizure of the struck steel industry or any long range seizure legislation.

That refusal came directly after the President appeared in person on Capitol Hill to request authority to seize the steel industry. The Senate not only declined the request but adopted a DPA amendment calling upon the President to use the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel dispute—something he had refused to do.

The House awaited a cue from the Senate after the President had made his request to a joint House-Senate session.

Almost as soon as the Senate had acted to rebuff the President, the House Banking Committee, working up its version of a DP extension bill, rejected a proposed DPA amendment to give the President interim authority to seize the steel industry.

At the same time, the House itself, in voting to extend certain of the President's emergency powers, refused to extend the present power to seize railroads and other public utilities.

Against that background, it also appears likely that no seizure legislation will be enacted, if at all this year, before members of Congress retire to Chicago for the national political conventions next month.

The Senate, having refused to amend the DPA to include seizure authority because the President had not used the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel dispute, is not expected to approve this month any separate seizure legislation—although there is considerable pressure in the Senate for such action.

The Senate Labor Committee has held hearings on seizure legislation but it is doubtful that any bill which the Committee recommended could be debated to the finish in time to adjourn at the end of the month for the conventions.

There are, meanwhile, other factors, such as remaining appropriations bills and the possibility of new debate over sending troops to Europe, which indicate a recess rather than adjournment for the political conventions.

In the case of recess, there would be no problem with regard to seizure, many members of Congress feel, because the 80-day injunction clause of the Taft-Hartley Act, if invoked, would carry over until well after the conventions were ended and Congress was back here finishing up its year's work.

The Taft-Hartley Act is distasteful both to the President and his supporters among organized labor and, this being an election year, it would be invoked only as a last resort. The President has been attempting to get the steel industry and union to agree to keep in operation enough of the production facilities to supply the vital needs of defense pending settlement of the dispute.

Success in that endeavor would relieve Congress of any pressure to enact seizure legislation this month even if it decided that adjournment by June 30 is possible. It is widely felt in Congress that, barring a real crisis in steel, no long-range seizure legislation will be enacted this year.

Fascinating Fashions By Judy Seaton

for a weekend trip, your indispensable traveling companion will be a smartly tailored, nylon suit. Completely washable, wrinkle-free, cool and so simple to care for, nylon suits provide a perfect solution to presenting a fresh, well-groomed look in the hottest, most sticky weather.

Summer suits are tailored in many styles for all types of figures but, according to Virginia Kaye, you must be careful to choose the most becoming style for your figure type. "For instance," Ginny, who plays the leading lady on CBS's daytime serial, "Rosemary," points out, "a double-breasted line is best suited to a tall, slim figure; full skirts require height, pencil slim skirts are more flattering on a well proportioned figure as they are apt to give the illusion of dumpy-ness on a too rounded form. Many of this season's suits have a softly gored skirt, which is graceful and flattering to most figures."

When you plan your trip, don't overlook the smart and sturdy luggage made of plastic. Closely resembling leather, this luggage has all the advantages of plastic. Light in weight, a major consideration when you play to fly, plastic does not nick either. Be sure, though, to use a protective coating of wax or saddle soap on any luggage to insure against scarring or a sudden downpour.

Start Spraying Plants and Flowers Early!

CHICAGO—Home gardeners were advised recently to start spraying early in the spring to protect their gardens and flowers against insect pests. The annual onslaught of these destructive hordes regularly plays havoc with vegetables, shrubs and flowers.

Added impetus was given to vital home gardening when Charles E. Wilson, director, Office of Defense Mobilization, said: "I should like to give my hearty support to the program of the Secretary of Agriculture for expansion of home gardening and home food preservation, as a contribution to the country's mobilization for defense."

"Here is one of the tangible ways in which individuals can identify themselves with the national defense effort and, at the same time, engage in an activity which is both profitable and pleasurable."

Letter To My Congressman

An Associated Press dispatch in my newspaper reports that the House of Representatives has "voted tax relief to all members of Congress." As one of your constituents, I am perfectly willing to approve your action if you will vote exactly the same tax relief to all of us back home. Otherwise you and your colleagues in Congress are being unfair; you are setting yourselves up as a "vested interest," voting yourselves special tax exemptions not applicable to other citizens.

Such action is not only unfair; it is dangerous. It sets you apart from the people you represent. By escaping taxes that you have voted to levy on "the people," you escape the financial problems that are a constantly expanding part of our lives as government grows bigger and bigger. You lose the common touch. You cease to be a true representative of the people. You become a special class. You shirk your part, a citizen's part of the tax load. Thus, to you, taxes lose their true nature, their paralyzing effect, their inherent danger. "Unrecorded" Vote

The AP dispatch says that by an "unrecorded" vote the House has voted its members and the members of the Senate permission to deduct all "living expenses" incurred in Washington when you make out your income tax return. "Unrecorded" means that no Congressman stood up to be counted publicly for or against the "Tax - Relief-for-Congressmen-Only" Measure—doesn't it?

Nearly all representatives and Senators live in Washington year-round, only periodically visiting the district which they represent. Therefore this special exemption you're voting yourselves means, in effect, that most of the expenditures in the Congressman's family budget can be deducted. In fact, the AP dispatch says that the income Tax People in Washington interpret the term "living expenses" in the "Tax-Relief-for-Congressmen-Only" measure to mean food, housing, transportation, and "other expenses." Therefore, Congressmen might not have to pay any income tax at all.

Pity the Congressmen
We citizens know what you are up against. It's tough trying to live in Washington on $10,000 a year, with taxes what they are and with inflation sapping the purchasing power of the dollar. But if you think living in Washington on $15,000 is tough, you ought to come home and find out what it's like here on $4,000, $5,000, and $6,000—before taxes! The statisticians report that Federal taxes alone now are taking $477 on the average each year from every man, woman and child. For the family of four, it averages $1,908.

Another way to put it is that total government taxes now use up 32 per cent of the total annual income of all the people and all the companies in America! And still another way to state it is that taxes now claim an amount equal to the total income of all the people and companies west of the Mississippi River. If you think this isn't hurting us, in spite of the allegedly painless tax extraction methods of payroll deduction and indirect taxation on consumer goods, you need to come home and look the taxpayers squarely in the pocketbook and bank account. What About Us?

Yes, Mr. Congressman, it is high time to do something about tax relief. But with your "Tax - Relief-for-Congressmen-Only" measure you're not shooting square. Nor are you facing up honorably to a bad situation. Your trouble is that Federal taxes are too heavy. You're fixing things so these crippling taxes won't cripple you.

But we citizens are in trouble too. What about us?

This letter is being mailed to my Senators too. They are hereby asked to reject the "Tax-Relief-for-Congressmen Only" proposition. Together the House and the Senate can cut your taxes and ours too by drastically cutting down the size of the Federal government and by exposing and kicking out the grafters and the big spenders. All the people I know will back you to the hilt in this.

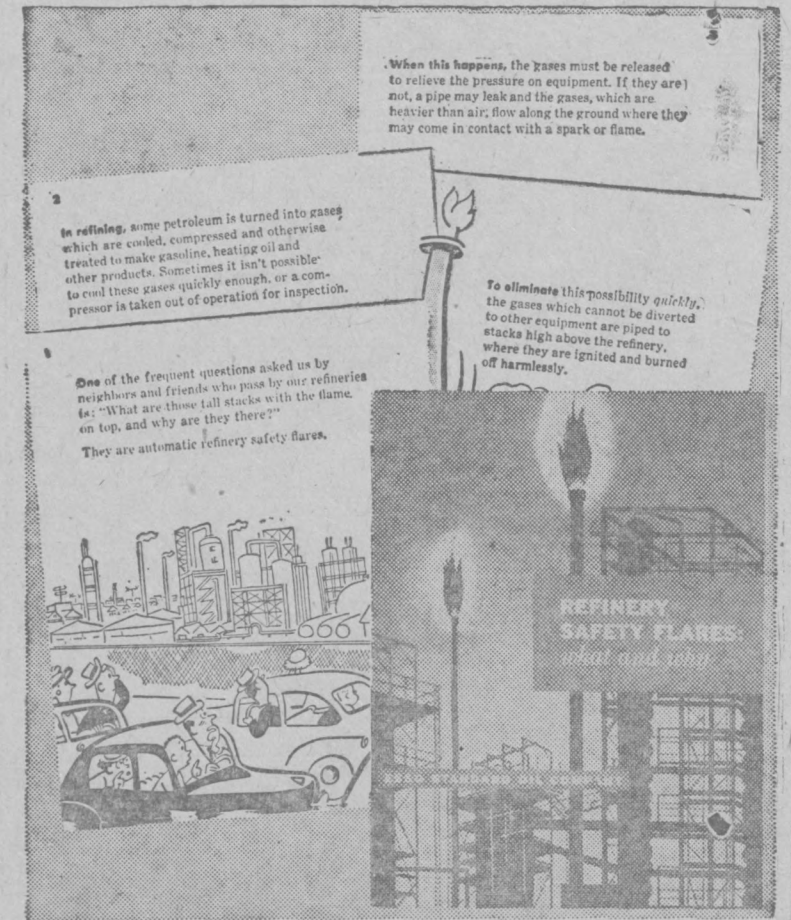

P.S.—The time has come for sincere, honest Americans to stand up and be counted on all votes. I am writing out of deep concern for my country's future.

This is the eighth in a series of articles telling basic, important facts about indications which should put you on guard against the possible presence of cancer.

By DR. W. R. CADLE

It is important for you to be sensible about Danger Signal No. 7—as it is with all the danger signals. The last of the signals is ANY CHANGE IN NORMAL BOWEL HABITS and it is one of the common symptoms of cancer of the intestine.

Temporary situations such as traveling, change of diet, water, etc., all are capable of changing regular habits. However, a change in an otherwise routine life should arouse suspicion on your part and your doctor's and should lead to a proper study.

As with other internal conditions, your physician may have to rely upon special examinations and X-rays in order to complete his investigations.

But cancer of the intestine, when treated early, has become one of the most curable of early cancers. The part you play in this is important. By recognizing early symptoms and seeking prompt advice your doctor's investigation of early symptoms could well be the difference between success and failure.

In succeeding articles we have discussed symptoms popularly called the Seven Danger Signals. Emphasis must be given again on the fact that the presence of

Rights Being Nullified By Treaties Says Sen. O'Connor

Economic and political rights of U. S. citizens are in danger of being nullified by treaties entered into or pending with other nations, Senator Herbert R. O'Connor told members of the Maryland University Dental School at their annual banquet held in Baltimore.

Sen. O'Connor is co-sponsor of a proposed constitutional amendment to bar treaties which would abridge rights of individuals, and presided over hearings, ending recently, at which leading jurists and others emphasized the dangers in such treaties.

"Since the inception of the U. S.," Sen. O'Connor declared, "and under the great urge to use this world organization for the benefit of people everywhere, treaties have been made, or are under consideration, whose effects would be more far-reaching than is by any means generally appreciated. Because such treaties could have a very definite effect upon the profession of dentistry it warrants your attention.

"It must be realized that such treaties pose the grave danger that the freedoms now enjoyed by the American people under the Constitution can be restricted or altered by treaty. It is not enough to say that two-thirds of the Senate would never permit this to happen, in this era of confused thinking on such matters, the rights and freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution must be protected by positive assertions in the Constitution.

"For example, at our hearings a professor of Harvard University Law School discussed a treaty which the U. S. concluded with a foreign country which entitled nations of either country to engage in professional activities within the territory of the other party. This treaty expected the practice of law, but a proposed treaty with another foreign power contains no such exception.

While, under these treaties, nations of the other treaty country may be required to pass state tests for competence, such nations would not be subject to state requirements of citizenship. Nor would they be required to take oath of allegiance to uphold the Constitution of the U. S.

"State laws regulating the practice of the professions would, to this extent, be invalidated by treaty. Further, this would not be true only as to nationals of the treaty countries, because treaties with other nations contain clauses which can entitle such nations to the benefits accorded nationals of the treaty countries. At the hearings on the treaty making power, it was disclosed that 35 nations have treaties with the U. S. containing a 'most favored nation' clause."

In the treaties brought forth to date under the UN, Sen. O'Connor pointed out, there would seem to be the desire to regulate by treaty the rights and duties of every human being in the world. Boiled down as to its effect upon the U. S., he emphasized "this would simply mean that a world body, in which the U. S. would be a wealthy minority whose political or economic possessions would be an incentive for ever increasing assaults by less favored peoples, would have authority over many matters of purely national interest."

Culling Flocks Requires Systematic Supervision, Care

Culling is a phase of poultry management that should be practiced regularly. But it also should be practiced properly. Below are a few suggestions on how to prepare for this important management duty.

Culling offers the poultry-raiser a good opportunity to increase his knowledge and improve his ability in regard to the judging of poultry. By concentrating on such points as rate of growth, feathering, body shape, freshening and egg production, he can learn something new every time the flock is culled. This also gives youths on the poultry farm a good chance to learn about poultry. And since culling usually requires several persons to do the job, it really is an excellent time for them to take a lesson!

Equipment Needed

Some of the culling aids the poultryman can make good use of in carrying out his task are (1) a catching crate; (2) a catching hook; (3) a catching net; (4) a wire or wooden panel for keeping chickens in corners; and (5) a scale for weighing. Although all these items are not necessary, they can be of considerable help in doing an efficient job of culling.

A catching hook or net, whichever the poultry-raiser may prefer, is very useful for catching individual birds. However, when using the catching hook, the handler should be careful not to injure any of the birds. Many raisers have a catching hook or net in the poultry house so that any bird showing signs of unthriftiness can be removed immediately.

A Good Procedure

Here is a good procedure to follow when culling flocks. First, confine the birds to the house. Then cover most of the window space with burlap sacks or the equivalent. This helps prevent excitement in the flock.

Also, provide catching crates with lifting or sliding doors at each end and a sliding door in the top. These are handy for culling birds of all ages. Place one end of the crate next to the door through which birds enter and leave the poultry house.

A piece of heavy wire netting is very satisfactory for driving chickens toward the door. However, be careful not to crowd the birds toward the door or into the catching crate, because some may suffocate.

At all times handle the birds carefully. When removing birds from the catching crate, take them out headfirst. Make certain coops or other crates are handy, to hold the birds that are culled.

Homemakers' Corner

A Chicken Change-About

Fried chicken is delicious but so is chicken fricassee and, the latter dish is almost as easy to prepare. Here's the recipe to help add variety to the poultry fare you set before the family.

Chicken Fricassee

One 3 to 5-pound chicken, two tablespoons fat, one cup chicken stock or water, one tablespoon flour, one bay leaf, one-half cup milk, and salt and pepper.

Cut the chicken into serving pieces, brown in a pan with butter. Cover with chicken stock or water, then season and simmer until tender, about one hour. Strain and to the cooking liquid add flour mixed to a paste with cold water. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring continually. Pour the sauce over the chicken and serve.

Dry Bean Time-Saver

Many homemakers have hesitated to cook dry beans in a pressure saucepan because the vent pipe could become clogged and the pressure hard to control if there was an overload of swelling beans or if the foam rose high.

Experiments have shown, however, that the beans will stay within bounds if beans and liquid together occupy not more than one-third of the saucepan's capacity at the start of the cooking.

The best way to keep dry beans from foaming high during pressure cooking is to add one tablespoon of salt pork drippings or other fat to the cooking liquid for each cup of dry beans. A good cooking method is to bring the soaked beans, liquid, fat, and seasonings quickly to a boil in the pressure saucepan and let steam escape for one minute. Then adjust the pressure indicator and over low heat bring pressure up slowly to 15 pounds (250 degrees F.) Next, regulate the heat and hold the pressure steady and time the cooking according to bean variety. Great Northern, large lima or red kidney beans take three minutes, pea beans, five to 10 minutes, pintos, 10 minutes. Remove saucepan from heat and let pressure go down at room temperature.

Earl M. Glass, M.M. 1/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Glass, near town, who has been spending a 10-day furlough at his home, has returned to Brooklyn, N. Y., to take up his duties on the U.S.S. Waccamau, which is sailing for the Mediterranean Sea and other points for a six-months' cruise during July.

Word has just been received that Herbert A. Glass, Q.M.1, who is aboard the U.S.S. Requisite, has sailed for Alaska and other points north on a four-months' cruise.

QUESTION: Our walls are finished in a texture paint finish with a stippled surface. We would like to remove this for papering. Can you tell the best way to go about it?

ANSWER: Unless covered with water-proof paint, the surface can be well soaked, scraped as nearly level as possible, and when it has dried, sanded smooth. A power sanding machine used on the dry wall will accomplish the same purpose. In both cases, fill remaining depressions with spackling compound to level the wall for paper.

QUESTION: My house, stuccoed with a scratch coat and an outside coat of 1/2-inch white sand and cement, has broken at the chimney and two corners. I've had this fixed once, but it has broken off again. Can you offer any solution?

ANSWER: Stucco repairs often fail due to application of stucco to oily or dirty surfaces. Best way is to apply strips of metal lath to the broken area, anchoring them to the masonry, then applying new stucco to this lath.

QUESTION: I added a room to my brick home, but could not match the shingles. Could you tell me where I can get a stain to match the asphalt shingles on the rest of the house?

ANSWER: Neither water nor oil stains are apt to penetrate waterproof asphalt shingles—at least with any degree of permanence. Paint that would adhere and color would also be quite conspicuous—probably worse than no stain at all.

QUESTION: Would painting the bare wood with aluminum paint before I put up insulation improve its effectiveness?

ANSWER: While aluminum paint does provide a certain amount of heat-reflective quality, it cannot be accurately measured when so applied. Regular foil insulation reflects a measurable 90% by tests, making further treatment unnecessary.

A good rule for better service

If something were invented to make party-line service better, it would make real news! But that something already exists. It's called "co-operation"... which simply means treating others as you'd like them to treat you. BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 19—Investors seem to feel that last week's Supreme Court steel decision was a victory for them against the labor unions. This, however, is a mistake. The Supreme Court decision was a victory for every reader of this paper.

It means that a President cannot become a Dictator without an express Act of Congress, and that this Act must be constitutional.

Just now, with a President friendly to the labor leaders, they are disappointed; but these labor leaders should realize that the time may come when someone may be President who is unfriendly to labor. If the Supreme Court had upheld the seizure of the steel industry, it could then become very harmful to labor. Therefore, all should be very happy with the decision. Furthermore, we should become immune to these strikes. They have been with us since the days of Cain and Abel and will continue for another 1000 years.

Pension Funds For Workers

One of the basic problems now connected with strikes applies to pension funds for employees. Naturally, I feel that pension plans have their usefulness in the case of faithful executives and employees of long standing. Like everything else in this world they have, however, disadvantages as well as advantages.

I surely believe that all pension plans should be approved by the stockholders before adoption and should be very carefully considered from every angle. Unfortunately, too many executives are rushing these pension plans in order to "get aboard" themselves.

Two Different Plans

The first question for a corporation to decide regarding pensions is whether (1) to have the fund administered by a bank, or (2) to have it handled by an insurance company. A corporation which is willing to consult a courageous and experienced investment adviser constantly, can secure a higher rate of interest for the employees and can vary the payments according to business conditions and, at times, buy some of its own stock, by having the fund administered by a bank. This I advise for my own companies.

If, however, there is a temptation to buy too many stocks at a critical time like this, it would be better to use an insurance company. By so doing the corporation would avoid the perilous kickbacks due to the shrinkage of assets by a carelessly self-administered pension fund.

Is This Request Crazy?

Among letters from readers I am asked: "Why pensions for officers, executives and everyone else but the stockholders?" One suggestion is that stockholders of 20 years or more should—under certain circumstances—be entitled to a pension! I am not now advocating this, but it may be a fair question. I don't know.

The subject of "pensions for stockholders" could well be one for discussion at conventions and government tax conferences. The Federal Treasury allows corporations to deduct, as an expense, their contributions to pension funds for officers and employees. But why not allow this (which means that Uncle Sam now pays 50 per cent of the contribution to a pension fund) for faithful stockholders of 20 years standing?

An Important Warning

Without now taking sides in any pension discussion, I must remind corporation officials of this: Since the approval by stockholders should be secured to get pensions for officers and employees, the stockholders could block any pension fund which did not include them, the same as employees can strike for pension plans.

One thing is certain—either we are headed for an unjust and unwise socialistic system, or else greater consideration must be given to both employees, as well as to the stockholders who build the plant, pay for the machinery, and provide the working capital. The present unfair setup, with double taxation of dividends, could ultimately result in unemployment, due to insufficient capital.

Here is one compromise suggestion: After a common stockholder has held stock for 20 years, he could have the option of exchanging it for a preferred stock, which would give him, in part at least, preferred security.

Quick cooking of dressed poultry is necessary for preservation of quality.

1776—A FAMILIAR RING!—1952

Knowledge is Power

(1.) One man did. George D. Wolfe tells how in "Ships & Sailing" magazine. In 1923, Walter Canaris, head of Germany's secret police, was already preparing for the next war. He sent his veteran naval officer Alfred Wehring to Switzerland to learn watchmaking. By 1927, Wehring was an expert. He entered England on a forged passport, and set up business in Kirkland, the town nearest the naval base at Scapa Flow. As years passed, Wehring became a respected and prosperous jeweler. Yachting and fishing took up his leisure time. When war came he was first to buy bonds. He became a British citizen. Then one day he closed up shop, went home, and sent the message that brought a U-boat in the night. His message told Canaris what only highest officials knew. Obstructions guarding entrances to Scapa Flow would not be in place that night. Wehring met the submarine and guided it to Britain's largest battleship, the Royal Oak. Two torpedoes finished it. The submarine escaped.

(2.) In 1863, according to the "Catholic Digest" magazine, Salmon P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury, wrote to the director of the Philadelphia Mint, "No nation can be strong except in the strength of God, or safe except in His defense. The trust of our people in God should be declared on our national coins." Various slogans were considered. The one arrived at, "In God We Trust" is a variation on the fourth stanza of our national anthem, "And this be our motto, 'In God is our trust'."

(3.) "Nation's Business" magazine tells how a mother-in-law was put on a paying basis. A lawyer hired his 63-year-old mother-in-law as a baby sitter. He paid her $50 every three months for 24 days' work during the summer months. She thus was a "domestic" under the new Social Security law. He will continue the arrangement until July 1, 1952, when she will have six quarters of coverage. He will then quit and go on social security payroll for the rest of her life at $20 a month. Such an annuity at 65 would have cost $3700.

YOUR UNITED STATES

BY FLOYD CRAMER
PRESIDENT, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF FREE ENTERPRISE, INC.

It has been well said that the men who wrote our Constitution would be thunderstruck at today's version of the government they created.

But in spite of all our discussion of the swollen powers of the nation's Chief Executive, we have overlooked the astonishingly simple manner in which those powers have been permitted to expand.

Our predicament today exists chiefly because Congress has surrendered so many of its legislative powers. Moreover, Congress surrendered its powers because we, the voters, elected too many Senators and Representatives who have only a dim idea of how our economy works.

Because individual members of Congress don't have adequate knowledge, they have let the executive branch take over. The result is that the heads of executive bureaus make more law than Congress does, and our Congressmen seem to have nothing left except to launch one investigation after another.

It is time we gave consideration to the type of men we place in Congress, lest even worse evils come about.

For this reason, we must not allow the emphasis on foreign affairs to obscure important domestic issues.

Moreover, we must not let the excitement and glamor of the Presidential race divert us from the other offices which must be filled.

Much consideration should be given to the men we vote into Congress. They are the men we will depend upon to reflect our views directly. And they cannot reflect our views unless we tell them what we want and unless they are able, conscientious, intelligent men.

We must elect men who are aware of their duty as legislators, lest we end up with a one-headed government.

We must elect men who have the intelligence and the will to study details rather than willfully turn over their powers to some bureau or agency.

We must elect men who have a sound working knowledge of finance and our economic system or they will forfeit our future through ignorance.

And above all, we must elect men who are proud of America, who have faith in her future and who place her sound, secure destiny above all else.

For if America is mortally wounded by high taxes, inflation, and wild spending, it won't matter how well-informed a Congressman is on Indonesia nor how good an investigator he may be.

This is the year for all Americans to protect our national future, economically and constitutionally. This can be achieved when Americans get together to preserve our basic form of government which encourages freedom of enterprise and progress.

A sound Congress is the prime necessity of the hour.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Preliminary price support rates on the 1952 Maryland wheat crop at terminal markets in Baltimore will be $2.13 after deduction for grade, storage, and garlick, according to James A. Cottman, acting chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee. This rate applies to No. 3 garlicky wheat. Garlick-free wheat will be 15 cents above this figure, while No. 2 grade wheat will be two cents above.

Mr. Cottman suggests that the farmer compare these figures with terminal market quotations to determine the method he should use to market his crop.

Freight, elevation and drying fees will be deducted from the prices quoted above. In most cases, Mr. Cottman points out, these deductions would be made if the wheat were sold when it reached the terminal.

Price support rates for farm-stored yellow and green soybeans have been set at $2.50 per bushel for all Maryland counties, according to Mr. Cottman. This is for the 1952 crop of soybeans grading No. 2 or better with moisture not in excess of 14 per cent. Mr. Cottman says this price will not apply on weevily soybeans, although discounts or premiums will be considered on the basis of test weight and moisture.

Farmers can apply for loans on soybeans at their county PMA office until Jan. 31, 1953.

Low Gasoline Tax Being Sought

The Frederick County Petroleum Industries committee held its annual meeting last Friday evening at the Peter Pan Inn, Urbana. The oil men, after a full discussion, adopted a six-point program calling for a reasonable tax on gasoline, protection of road funds by constitutional amendment, opposition to road bond financing, competition in sale of petroleum products on all highways, promotion of highway safety and repeal of Federal automotive levies when world conditions permit it.

"We in the oil business fully recognize our obligations to our motorist customers to keep the special taxes collected for highways at a reasonable level," J. P. Lanigan, executive secretary of the Maryland Petroleum Industries Committee, the principal speaker, declared. "We further recognize that automotive tax receipts are necessary for highway improvements. But the motorists were told back in 1947 that the tax increases levied at the time would completely solve all our highway difficulties. But now there are good indications that the highway advisory council and the State Roads Commission will ask the General Assembly for more funds to complete the highway improvements. This will be done in spite of the fact that special tax payments by motorists have greatly exceeded the most optimistic estimates.

"Before the General Assembly approves any further increases in the present burdensome taxes now paid by the motorists it is expected that many questions will be asked concerning a road inventory, highway planning and the existence of a priority scheduling which will obviate the construction of highways which start nowhere and end the same place—nowhere."

Of importance on the list of objectives of the committee is a solution of the problem of service facilities on limited-access highways. Mr. Lanigan explained that the oil men have submitted a plan to the State Roads Commission and are now awaiting a conference with the Commission.

The following officers, all from Frederick, were elected: G. David Garber, chairman; C. Oland Meitzer, vice chairman, and Harold A. Twenty, secretary.

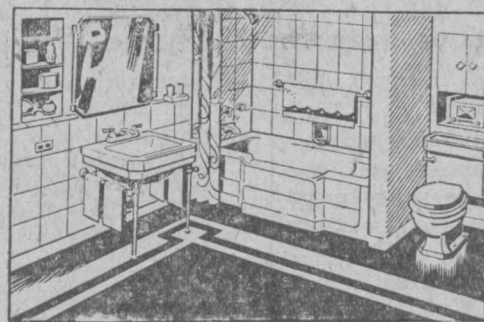

Acreage Of Corn For Canning Will Top '51 Levels

Free State farmers are planting an estimated 36,000 acres with sweet corn for canning and other processing this year, an increase of nine per cent over last year's 33,100 acres.

Maryland now ranks fourth in acreage and production among the 29 states that grow corn for commercial canning and freezing, according to L. M. Goodwin, Maryland sales manager for American Can Co., which perfected a process for coating the inside of containers with enamel to preserve the natural taste and attractive appearance of corn.

More Maryland acreage is devoted to the production of sweet corn than to any other major canning crop. Last year Maryland growers received more than $1.5 million for nearly 72,000 tons of sweet corn sold to processors, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reports show.

"The importance of canning to farmers and the state's agricultural economy is shown," pointed out Mr. Goodwin, "by the fact that it provided over 95 per cent of the income growers received from the sale of sweet corn last year."

Luncheon Scoops

by Wendy Warren

A confirmed candid camera fan—Red Skelton has made those around him self-conscious to a point summed up by a friend who had been shot by Red three times in one day. "Every time Red points a camera at me, I feel I must put an ear on upside down!" he muttered uneasily, as he straightened his tie and gazed apprehensively into a mirror.

This yen of Red's to snap pictures stems from his tremendous interest in people—and also a desire for perfection in his chosen craft.

The lively comedian, whose NBC-TV "Red Skelton Show" is viewed Sunday evenings, also collects stray bits of conversations. The snaps of his friends and acquaintances taken when they are relaxed and natural—the bits of conversations—are part of research on comedy characterizations for his repertoire.

these same participants of last season's promenade have expressed a willingness to enter in the competition this year and a few already have begun work on their exhibits. Soon organizations and individuals, merchants and the like, will begin to rake their brain to determine what will win the float prize. Always a welcome addition to any parade, these floats require quite a bit of work and cost a sizeable amount of money. However, interested individuals seem to have taken a pride and delight in entering their exhibits competitively, and we hope that this year's affair will be the largest ever. Better get ready now folks, you have less than a month to complete your entry.

Sen. Saltonstall To Be Guest Frederick Speaker

Leverett Saltonstall, U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, one of the avid supporters of Dwight D. Eisenhower for Republican nomination for President, will be the principal speaker at an Eisenhower for President rally in Frederick on Tuesday, June 24.

The rally is scheduled to begin at eight p. m. at Baker Park band shell, and in case of rain will be held in the Armory.

Sen. Saltonstall, who is a former governor of Massachusetts, was secured as speaker by the Eisenhower for President committee of Frederick County. Other invited guests for the program include Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and Rep. J. Glenn Beall.

Sen. Saltonstall has made a number of appearances on behalf of the candidacy of Eisenhower. Dr. Edwin H. Sponseller, chairman of the Eisenhower committee for Frederick County, stated the committee members were pleased by Sen. Saltonstall's acceptance to address county citizens interested in Eisenhower.

Eisenhower supporters in Washington, Montgomery, and other Western Maryland counties have been invited to attend the free public meeting. The Frederick rally is the only Eisenhower rally in the state open to the general public where one of the foremost supporters of the candidate has been secured as speaker.

The Misses Leota and Adele Topper, visited over the weekend in New York City, where they attended the jubilee mass of Rev. Salvatore M. Burgio, vice postulator of the Mother Seton Cause, at St. Peter's Church, Barclay St., New York City. They also attended a reception for Father Burgio held at the Columbus Club in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Reader Express Appreciation

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:—
Dear Mr. Elder:

To congratulate you, Mr. Elder, and all of the brave members of the group who so ably represented Emmitsburg on television at Baltimore last Friday, the 13th of June.

I was impressed by the sincerity and ability of those who took part in this notable affair, particularly the younger people, who were a credit to the schools of the town in their deportment and quality of character evidenced in the rendition of their parts in the program.

It is a matter of regret to me that I made such poor use of the wonderful opportunity offered to tell the world more about Emmitsburg, one of the garden spots of this earth, and also what it means to me in memories—kind and understanding parents, friendly and honest neighbors, the fine teachers at Annandale School, Miss Constance Kershner, Miss Ruth Hoke and Mr. Thomas McBride — their patience was endless. Also the beauty and grandeur of the brooding, protective bulk of the great mountain wall should have been stressed, this great barrier, breaking the force of winter storms, and tempering the heat of summer, is a symbol of strength and eternal constancy that stirs the imagination.

From the valleys of this benevolent protector flow an abundance of the purest water in the world, for the use of the people of this favored spot. Our ancestors in seeking a home in the new world, realized the great value of the springs and streams of this region, clean and unpolluted, as they were then. Turkey Run, in Hampton Valley, had four mill dams, the first at the lower end of the old reservoir. The mill race can still be traced, the second below the old Taylor mansion, this one built about 1760 to provide water and power for the first blast furnace to operate in the State of Maryland. The second one or possibly contemporary, was located at Westminster. The one Hampton Valley used up the ore deposit there and then was moved to Catocin in 1765. It was an important source of iron for the Continental Army. The third dam was used by what is now known as Wagaman's Mill. The fourth, immediately west of Annandale School, was used by the Annan's to provide water for their tannery and other operations there. Nearby to the East, on Tom's Creek, a dam furnished power for Hartman's Mill, now a hole in the ground on the north side of the road east of the bridge.

I have already exceeded a reasonable amount of space, so will close with all good wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely,
JAMES F. SHIELDS

Fire Damages Thurmont Home

Assistant Chief Harry O. Miller, Guardian Hose Co., Thurmont, estimated $4,000 damage, covered by insurance, was done to the residence of Edgar Boller, E. Main St., Thurmont, by fire which originated in the basement from a kerosene hot-water heater, about noon Wednesday.

Two engines from Thurmont, one each from Emmitsburg and Frederick, were called to fight the stubborn blaze which ran through partitions and between flooring of the first and second floor rooms.

All furniture was saved, Miller reported. Definitely there was no explosion starting the fire, Chief Miller stressed. He said the flame on a kerosene hot-water heater crept up without knowledge of the occupants and caught fire to basement partitions.

From there, the flames continued upward to the second-floor ceiling and branched into joists and flooring between the first floor and second floor. The blaze was kept out of the attic of the eight-room dwelling occupied by the former Thurmont town policeman and his family.

FIREMEN WIN PRIZE

Warns Shooters

County authorities are going to take legal action to break up an apparently growing practice of discharging firearms along public highways and shooting from bridges.

Sheriff R. Paul Buhman has said a number of complaints have been received that boys are promiscuously discharging weapons along county roads, endangering lives and that others are shooting at targets, such as marked bottles, along streams and from bridges.

Such shooting is against the law, he said, and violators, when arrested, will be charged and tried. The sheriff also said complaints have been received that some persons are dumping refuse in creeks near bridges, which also is against the law.
