BY ABIGAIL

It was my pleasure to recently witness one of the nicest little ceremonies I have ever participated in. Recently when I was vacationing at Ocean City, Md., I attended church services in the Catholic Church there. Following the mass the entire congregation sang the national anthem in an inspiring manner. I was deeply impressed by this ritual and thought I would pass it along locally with the hope that it might possibly be introduced here in all the churches. It really gave me a thrill to hear this beautiful anthem sung in the House of God. It made chills go tingling up and down my spine and I feel that it would bring God and country closer to the individual were it adopted more widely than Ocean City. After all, the flag is displayed in most churches right beside the altar, so why not go one step farther and pay homage to our country as well as to God while we are in church? Think it over, pastors!

Just last week I observed a group of local youngsters fishing in Flat Run and they were getting plenty of action for the effort. While fishing is a healthful recreation if done in a healthful environ, Flat Run is the last place in the world where I would expect to see anyone fishing. Certainly the youngsters don't know any better, but all of you parents are aware that the stream is heavily polluted! Do you realize that about one-fourth of the sewage in Emmitsburg flows into that stream? To think of eating anything that habituated that stream nauseates me to the extreme. Please, parents, for the children's sake, make certain that your young ones do not fish, swim or play near that place, let alone in it! It even smells bad. Incidentally the Health Dept. has posted warning signs that the water is contaminated. Need I elaborate any further?

With the opening of the schools in the offing, I am reminded that '52 is fast waning and I also am cognizant of the fact that the State Roads Commission promised major improvements to Route 15 this year . . . absolutely without fail! Not only were the improvements pledged by the Commission, but his excellency, Gov. McKeldin promised the same things when he was here at the Chamber of Commerce banquet not so long ago. We are wondering if this all were just idle promises, the same that have been made in the past? One local wag composed the following riddle which I thought I'd pass on to you for what it's worth: Patch upon patch, a line in the middle, (some places), if you guess this riddle you win the golden fiddle. The answer, of course, is Route 15. A little corny perhaps, but a good space filler.

Well, that time is rolling around again folks. What time? Why of course, Horse Show time! Some friends of mine, members of the Lions Club have told me that this is to be the best one ever. Well for my money last year's show was about as good as they come. Preparations are under way now for the big production. It is hoped to again use the Emmitt Gardens for the affair. To me this show is one of the finest events to be held locally every year. An enormous amount of work is entailed in staging the promotion but the Lions don't care. They work their heads off so that it is possible to raise this money for the children's welfare fund. Not their children, but others in the community. About 20 pairs of eyeglasses were purchased during the past year from the proceeds of the past show. Really folks, you don't know the good your money is doing in the community as the result of this enterprise. Once more the merchants will be tapped for an "ad," but they are more than willing to do their share in the venture and deserve a world of praise for their generous support of such a worthy cause. Without their financial assistance, the show couldn't be produced. The committee reports the advertising fee hasn't been raised in an effort to ease the financial drag on the business.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Emil B. Cekada, Durham, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Althea Grey, to First Lieutenant Charles Edward Rowe, USAF, Atlanta, Ga., son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Joshua Rowe, of Washington, D. C. and Emmitsburg.

Miss Cekada was graduated from the Salem Academy, Winston-Salem, N. C., and attended the Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., and Duke University. She is at present with the Surgeon General's Office in Washington.

Lt. Rowe's present assignment is with the 115th Special Air Missions Squadron at Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., as officer in charge of instrument training. He attended Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and Western Kentucky State Teachers' College.

The wedding will take place Sunday, Sept. 14, in Christ Church, Alexandria, Va.

Sunday's Scores

Taneytown 6, New Windsor 3.

Harney 8, Wakefield 6.

Final regularly scheduled games in the Penn-Maryland Baseball League were played Sunday with Taneytown upsetting New Windsor 6-3, and Harney defeating Wakefield 8-6.

As a result of the defeat handed New Windsor a tie has been created between Fairfield and New Windsor for first place.

Saughnessy semi-final playoffs will start between the first four teams Sunday.

Motorcyclist Injured In Crash

Injured in an accident involving a motorcycle and automobile between Zora and Emmitsburg, 300 feet from the Maryland line Sunday morning were Elmer E. Kalbaugh, 38, Cumberland, J. T. Woodward, 24, S. Washington St., Gettysburg and Richard F. Warner, 21, Taneytown, Route 1.

State police of the Gettysburg detachment said Kalbaugh lost control of his motorcycle on wet roadway and struck a school bus sign on the road early Sunday. Kalbaugh and his companion, Woodward, were thrown from the vehicle.

Robert F. Warner, who was driving his car in the same direction, slowed when he saw the motorcycle leave the road but lost control of the auto and hit a utility pole.

The three men were brought to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg in the local VFW ambulance. Kalbaugh suffered lacerations of the scalp, face and body and a dislocated thumb. Woodward had a bruised nose, lacerations of the face and arm and abrasions of the body. Warner received bruises of the back and left side of the body. Damage to the Warner car was estimated at $500.

Buys New Hose

The Vigilant Hose Company's fire-fighting apparatus received another improvement this week with the arrival of 500 feet of 2½-inch hose. The purchase price of the new hose amounted to $1,000 and brings the total hose footage to 1,500 feet which will be carried on the new truck.

John Quincy Adams was the only ex-President of the U. S. to return to Washington as a member of Congress.

St. Euphemia's Being Repaired For Opening

In preparation for the opening of the school for the fall and winter sessions, the St. Euphemia's parochial school building is being put into readiness for the return of the pupils.

More than 200 children will be on hand for the first classes soon after Labor Day. Additional lavatory facilities have been installed on the second floor for the greater convenience of the pupils whose classrooms are on that floor. It is planned to have new desks for some of the classrooms. The Sisters have returned from St. Joseph's to take over the immediate preparations for the beginning of the school year. Several changes have been made in the faculty. Sister Barbara, who last term taught the eighth grade pupils, has been assigned to the Sisters' School in Norfolk, Va. A new Sister from St. Joseph's will take over her duties.

The cement walk at the rear of the school building is being extended. The brick walk is being replaced by a much wider and better graded substitute. It is hoped that the playgrounds in the back of the school building will be much improved soon after the resumption of the new school year.

The kneelers in the church are undergoing a complete overhauling. A full inch plywood board is being substituted for the present foundation board for the kneeler pads. The brackets supporting the kneelers are being changed to better carry the weight placed upon the kneelers. This plywood base will be covered by sponge rubber pads incased in heavy weight kerosene material which will resist the wear and tear to which kneeling pads are subject.

The preparation for installing the kneeler pads is under the supervision of Mr. Thornton W. Rodgers, who has carefully planned all the details necessary in the project. The cost of the church project is expected to be slightly over $1,000. Work will be completed within the next two weeks.

Plan County School Improvement

The Frederick County Commissioners this week are asking for bids on $325,000 in promissory notes to provide funds to finance school improvements at Lincoln High School, at Middletown, and Thurmont. The bid will be opened Sept. 8 at 11 a. m.

The proposal is for $162,500 for six months and the same amount for 18 months.

It was explained that the money is now needed to meet costs on three school projects, which have been financed to date from State-aid funds received this year.

The notes will be paid off over a two-year period, it was explained, because the Commissioners felt it would be better to spread the payments rather than raise the tax rate next year. It was also pointed out that the county will start paying on its loan from the State next year. It expects to pay about $75,000 on the State loan in addition to about $125,000 on the bonded debt.

It was also explained that considerable pressure has been brought to bear on the officials to use the serial note method of borrowing rather than resorting to sale of bonds. The present Commissioners have opposed increasing the bonded debt, hoping that the County will be free of debt in another decade.

Provision was made in the current budget to finance the East End Elementary and Walkersville school projects and the Lincoln project was added only after the Commissioners had been informed that colored students would enter Frederick High School unless the improvements were made at Lincoln.

Changes made in plans at Lincoln necessitated the expenditure of about $30,000 to relocate the heating plant because of water seepage.

The $325,000 it was explained will finance the Lincoln school work as well as between $8000 and $10,000 for improvements at Middletown Elementary School and about $21,000 for grading at Thurmont High School.

Women probably will outnumber men in the U. S. by about 700,000 in 1960, according to estimates of a survey.

He is serving aboard the USS Minotaur as a gunner's mate. He will receive eight more weeks of advanced training as a gunner. His address is: Robert L. Wivell, S.A. 460-28-11, USS Minotaur (Arb. 15) D-Div. Minecraft Base, Charleston, S. C.

Phone Co. Asks Raise

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City today applied to the Public Service Commission for temporary rate increases under bond to offset higher labor costs resulting from recent wage agreements negotiated with unions representing C. & P. employees.

W. Griffin Morrel, vice president of the company, stressed the filing for temporary rates is separate action "in no way related to or dependent upon" the outcome of the company's appeal from a March 11, 1952 PSC order now before the Circuit Court of Baltimore City.

C. & P.'s rate application noted that its present level of earnings is "substantially below" that which the Commission found to be fair and equitable in its last case. The petition said this earnings level is primarily due to a large increase in the company's labor costs, "the extent of which could not have been foreseen or anticipated by either the Commission or the company" at the time of issuance of the PSC's March 11 order.

The company said the recent changes in wage rates have increased its total annual labor costs by more than $2,400,000 since March 11, 1952. As the result of this increase and "in view of the depressing effect of the company's high-cost construction program," the application stated, C. & P.'s annual net earning income, on a going level basis, is substantially below the rate of return allowed by the Commission in the last rate case.

Pointing out that a hearing on final determination of the company's rates and charges would require more than 90 days of elapsed time, C. & P. said it was forced, "in order to avoid irreparable loss," to seek relief thru PSC approval of temporary rates calculated to produce approximately $1,800,000 in additional annual gross revenues before taxes, or about $830,000 in additional annual net income. The company said this amount would restore its earnings to the level authorized by the Commission on March 11.

The company asked the PSC to authorize it to put the temporary rates in effect under bond pending "a full investigation of any and all such matters as may be relevant to a determination by the Commission, in accordance with the laws of the State of Maryland, of the permanent rates to be charged by the company for the rendition of intrastate telephone service within the State of Maryland."

FUND TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Community Fund of Emmitsburg will be held Monday evening, August 25 at 8 p. m. in the VFW Home on the Square, it was announced this week.

Moses of biblical fame, stuttered badly.

Commissioners Review County Roads Set-up

A complete review of construction to date and expenditures as of July 1 was presented to the Frederick County Roads Board on Tuesday night by Engineer Roger H. Willard.

Several of the programmed roads are finished or are at an advanced stage of construction. Some roads scheduled for this season have only been surveyed and as usual there are some roads which may have to be carried over into next year's program. In all cases the engineer reported, all efforts will be made to complete grading and to lay the first base in order to avoid bad situations with mud over the winter and thawing months.

An oiling and chipping program of surface treatment will begin this week on about 50 miles of county roads. An estimated 90,000 gallons of emulsion will be used in the operation. The cost is estimated at between $15,000 to $20,000.

Total expenditures at the end of June as reported by the engineer were $233,494 which is about one-third of the money that will be spent in this year. This does not include the months of heavy construction. Some of the projects in the figure are Federal aid from which some monies will be returned. A breakdown of the total is as follows: maintenance, $93,916.20; county construction, $24,402; other construction, $84,289.27; administration account, $11,413; shop account, $9,101; new equipment, $4,653.50; road building equipment, $21,042; insurance, $7,745.67; supplies, $140.59; social security, $1212.78.

More Airspotters Are Sought

The need for observers to man Emmitsburg's Aircraft Spotter Station atop the VFW Building on a 24-hour vigilance, was stressed this week by Station Supervisor Lumen T. Norris.

The quota to man the station is 50 short for the one or two-hour shifts. Men and young people from 14 years of age up are already signed up and it was pointed out that women, too, will be accepted for this emergency service.

At present the hours from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. remain open. Mr. Norris said that if enough men and women fill the quota for the observation duty, no one will be required to man the spotter station more than a two-hour period in any one week. The station is equipped with a radio and a telephone for prompt reporting of sighted planes of the types requiring identification.

In World War II the British eliminated the race course and cricket fields at Gibraltar to make way for a modern airfield. Strictly speaking, only the male of the peafowl should be called a peacock. The female properly is called a peahen.

Father Piper Succumbs

A number of Emmitsburg residents and friends attended the funeral services at St. Vincent's Seminary, Germantown, Pa. Wednesday morning for the Rev. Fr. Hulet V. Piper, 78, former assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church here. A requiem mass was offered at 7:30 a. m. in St. Joseph's Church.

Father Piper died Monday in a Philadelphia hospital after a long illness.

The deceased was born at Niagara Falls, N. Y., in 1874 and entered the Congregation of the Missions in 1891. He was ordained in 1897. The early years of his priesthood were spent at Niagara University and in mission work. He was assistant pastor of the local church from 1925 to 1939.

Before coming here Father Piper was stationed at several houses of the Congregation of the Mission. After a brief period of teaching, he was assigned to mission work and following a number of years in this field he became assistant pastor at St. Vincent's Church and the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Germantown, Pa. He also was treasurer of St. Joseph's College, Princeton, N. J., and assistant pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church in Baltimore.

Leaving Emmitsburg in 1931, Fr. Piper was assigned to St. Vincent's Seminary and carried on his duties there until recently, although during the last few years they were curtailed by his failing health.

Interment was made Wednesday morning in the priests' cemetery adjoining St. Joseph's College at Princeton, N. J.

RETURN FROM TRIP

Mrs. Robert Grimes and son, Fred, of Tom's Creek and Mrs. Nilo Del Castillo, and daughter, Eleanor and son, Richard, of Pensauken, N. J., returned Friday from a week's vacation in which they toured the entire southeast section of the U. S. They enjoyed sight-seeing at interesting places such as Rock City, Tenn., New Orleans, La., Gulf of Mexico shoreline, Northern Florida and the Carolinas. They returned home by way of the Skyline Drive.

Church Supper Tomorrow Night

The Elias Ev. Lutheran Church will hold a chicken-corn soup supper with choice of chicken or ham Saturday from 4 o'clock-on in the Lutheran Parish House and a festival on the parish lawn from 7:30 to 10:30 o'clock.

The entire public is cordially invited. A concert will be given on the church lawn by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. and there will be games and refreshments for all.

C. of C. Lists Standing Committees

Results of the recent carnival sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce for the benefit of the Memorial Hall Assn. were announced at the regular meeting of the Chamber held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall. Indications are that about $500 will be netted from the affair and will be turned over immediately to the Memorial Hall building fund.

President Ralph Irelan presided at the meeting and read several communications from industrial concerns interested in locating here. Data concerning facilities for handling concerns of this type are being compiled by the industry committee of the Chamber and will be forwarded to the interested concerns as soon as possible.

Copies of the History of Emmitsburg were ordered sent to the Bedford Mfg. Co., Falls River, Mass., Mrs. David C. Brady, Springfield, Pa., Mrs. J. Hal Patton, Jr., Memphis, Tenn., and Mr. Rosenthal, industrial engineer in Baltimore, all of whom are interested in this community.

Cloyd W. Seiss, local building materials dealer, made a donation of $48.99, which he asked to be placed in the building fund of Memorial Hall Assn. Financial statements were issued to the members present as was also a printed copy of the entire financial proceedings of the recent carnival. The reports were approved and filed.

The Chamber went on record as again favoring the holding of the annual carnival for next year and Bernard H. Boyle, special events chairman, was asked to appoint a committee to map out details for the affair and set a date for approval at the next meeting. Mr. Boyle was authorized to sign contracts for amusements, rides, concessions, etc., immediately so as to have a good selection for next year.

President Irelan announced the standing committees for the ensuing year as follows:

Advertising and information: Advertising, Charles A. Elder, chairman; information, Edward G. Stull; resources, Samuel C. Hays; labor, Louis H. Stoner; transportation, Guy A. Baker, Sr.; education, John M. Roddy Jr.; housing, Cloyd W. Seiss.

Civic improvement and betterment: Col. Thomas J. Frailey, chairman; membership committee, Col. Thomas J. Frailey, chairman; civic health committee, Dr. Joseph F. Baldacchino, Jr., chairman; special events committee, Bernard H. Boyle, chairman; legal committee, Col. Thomas J. Frailey, chairman; safety committee, J. Ward Kerrigan, chairman.

Grange Enjoys Watermelon Party

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Zentz, with 65 members and guests present, Master Edgar G. Emrich presiding.

The meeting was opened with prayer and group singing. Reduced ticket rates for the state fair to be held at Timonium from August 27 to Sept. 5, were announced and those wishing these tickets are asked to contact Mrs. Clara Harner, phone 58-F-4. The Grange Day at the fair will be September 2.

Master Emrich highly commended the men for their excellent support and cooperation in the building of the Brawner home.

Following the business meeting games and contests were held with all ages joining in the fun. Watermelon was served by the host and hostess, rounding out a most pleasant evening.

Visiting guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zentz, Mr. and Mrs. William Zentz and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lawyer of Thurmont; Mrs. Arthur Martin, McKnightstown, Pa.; and Mr. and Mrs. Stall Smith of Hanover, Pa. The next regular meeting will be held in the Emmitsburg High School.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET

President Everett Chrismer of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club announced that the next meeting of that organization will be of the out-door type and will be held on Community Field at 7:00 p. m. on Tuesday.

Trap, rifle and clay bird shooting matches will be held, it was stated, by the secretary, Harold M. Hoke. Refreshments also will be served.

THAT "BRIEFING" BONER

When all the facts are known, the controversy over the White House "briefing" of Governor Stevenson seems a tempest in a political teapot. But that there should be a tempest at all is largely the fault of the Administration itself, for it botched the handling of what was at base a commendable plan.

The plan, as worked out a couple of weeks ago by Mr. Truman and top military men, was to keep the two presidential candidates informed as to the foreign and military situations so that America's position abroad wouldn't needlessly be hurt during the hot campaign ahead. Specifically, both candidates were to be invited to the White House for separate "briefings," and both were regularly to receive secret intelligence reports. But then, thanks to a series of mistakes, General Eisenhower was given no inkling of the plan until after it had been initiated for Governor Stevenson.

When the Governor went to the White House for his "briefing" it wasn't known that the Administration had earlier figured on extending a similar invitation to Eisenhower. Nor had Eisenhower, because of a slip-up by General Bradley, been informed that secret intelligence reports would be available to him. Thus, the impression grew that Stevenson's role at the White House was more that of crown prince or heir-apparent than candidate. Moreover, the fact that top military officers were closeted with him and the President in what seemed a political meeting looked like a serious breach of the principles of military aloofness from partisanship.

Then, to make matters worse, the White House invitation to Eisenhower to attend a similar "briefing" came after the latter had denounced the Stevenson conference for what indeed it appeared to be. Eisenhower naturally rejected this offer. In fact, the offer was and still is taken by some as a clever White House trick to trap the Republican nominee so that he couldn't raise objections to foreign policy.

The whole mix-up might have been avoided if the President had said publicly at the outset that he would invite both the Democratic and GOP nominees to the White House for a fill-in on the foreign and military situation. Then, if Eisenhower had replied "no thanks," nothing much more would have been heard of the affair.

For that matter, General Bradley could have averted a lot of the political hoop-la that rose recently if he had notified Eisenhower much earlier about the intelligence reports. "Being unfamiliar with political matters," General Bradley said in explaining the delay, "it never occurred to me that the time of notification might become an issue, or I would have gotten in touch with General Eisenhower immediately after my conversation with the President."

And so a case of White House clumsiness and of not passing the word along grew into a rather big political row. However, what counts is that both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson will now receive periodic intelligence reports during the campaign.

Young Local Artist's European Visit Described As 'Fond Treasured Memory'

"There are no specific highlights in my stay of two years in Europe," said Miss Patricia Topper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Topper of Emmitsburg, young American artist who returned to her native land aboard the superliner, United States, recently, after traveling 3000 miles in three days. "All are fondly treasured memories."

Pat, a native of Glenn Ellyn, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, had gone to France in the autumn of 1950 to attend L'Ecole de Beaux Arts, Paris. In describing her first impressions of the French capital, she says: "When I arrived in Paris the trees were angled with gold, the odor of roasting chestnuts tinged the chill air along the Seine, and in the parks the children were sailing their toy boats while their nurses knitted woollens and basked in the last warming rays of the sun."

It was early in October and a mellow haze gave a dream-like aspect to the city. Pat, with the evaluating eye of the artist, took a second look at the city and felt that it was very much like our own big cities, only "leveled three quarters of the way down."

"After looking for some of our modern conveniences which we take for granted," she remarked, "I looked on Paris as a filthy, ancient city that I kept expecting, on awakening each day, to find tumbled down in a pile of rubble."

But the artistic young woman had little chance to know Paris just then, for she became ill shortly upon arrival. She was in a hotel in Paris and when the French physician announced that her bad cold was pneumonia, Chicago seemed very far away indeed. And so, instead of learning more about the land of "la fleur de lis," Miss Topper packed off to the sun-bright coast of France which is close to the Basque country. Here she remained for several months, convalescing in a comfortable and friendly hotel in the coast town of St. Jean de Luz.

In January, 1951, Miss Topper set out for Madrid where she was welcomed with a world of beauty and a never-ending array of vivid subjects for her canvases. Painted In Village

"Madrid," she declared, "reminded me, if you care for comparisons, of Philadelphia regarding its architecture. It is a city of amazing contrasts, both modern and ancient, cleanliness and filthiness, gaiety and sadness."

"In Almunecar," she went on, "a little fishing village near Malaga, on the Mediterranean, I spent three montas painting. Here was Spanish life at its simplest, the suffering heart of Spain, pathos, hopes, the way of life open to all those who cared to see. But most often tourists passed through with only a glimpse of disinterest at its seeming insignificance. Untouched with tourist trade, the natives looked upon their infrequent visitors with trust and open friendliness."

Speaking of the children of Spain, Miss Topper remembered "how they stole roses from gardens to put in her hair and often tossed them up on her balcony" as token of friendship. "I was embarrassed," she said, "for fear that I should be accused of promoting theft."

Other Memories

She explained that life was hard in such a place as Almunecar, living "two or three centuries behind the times." But the people were poignant in their simplicity and the dark-haired young woman was "touched to the heart," as she says, and she went to work, portraying the soul of Spain on canvas. She recalls that she "never saw a toy in all of Spain, yet the children were the gayest I have ever seen — laughing, dancing and singing along the beaches, overjoyed with life itself."

Of course, there are other memories of Spain. There were visits to Cadiz . . . Granada . . . Seville . . . and she remembers the procession during the Santa Semana (Holy Week) during which she made quick sketches of the ancient and sacred pageantry, trying to remember the exact shade of the flaming crimson . . . burnished gold . . . sapphire blue . . . of the ceremonial robes. Someday they would come alive again on canvas!

There is also the memory of the artist, Claude Samson, who worked with the American student for a year and a half. Together they worked and traveled, studying the works of world-renowned artists of all ages. La Padra in Madrid, especially, made a remarkable impression on the two young women. Pat fell in love with the style of Goya . . . El Greco . . . and Velasquez, during her sojourn in Spain.

Returns To Paris

In July, 1951, she found herself again in Paris. This time she really became a student at L'Ecole Des Beaux Arts. Now she speaks of France in a different tone. There her heart "lingered the longest," she said, with a look of remembering in her blue eyes. "There is something there, a part of its mystery which even the French cannot define clearly, which, once given a chance, claims a part of your soul to its heart and sings on with millions of others down through history, the glories of France, long after you have gone."

One of the artist's most enjoyable recollections of "la belle France," was the food and wine, both of which she describes as "superb." There the food is "cooked with such finesse and subtlety of seasoning that even the homely potato and simplest cut of meat was a delight to the eye as well as to the palate."

In Paris, Pat learned to appreciate Picasso's earlier works and found herself inspired immensely by the impressionists. A graduate of the Chicago Institute of Art, Miss Topper is specializing in portrait studies.

Belgium, Italy Next

Included in her itinerary was a visit to Ghent, in Belgium, which she says, "is a very quaint medieval city, teeming in ancient history of the time when knights and Grimm's fairy tales existed. It has a little of the theatrical ambience — possible scenery for a Shakespearean play — streets narrow and cobble-d in their way between massive, grim stone fortresses, castles, town halls, churches and towers, dating from the Middle Ages."

"And Bruges dates back even farther into history and unreality," she revealed. "Here were the legendary swans floating along the picturesque canal of a lovely Gothic city. From the moment you enter the city across the ramp that bridges the canal like a moat that surrounds this medieval fortress, you are completely captured by these jewels of Belgium."

Audience With Pope

"A year would not be sufficient! The galleries in Florence and Rome are perhaps the richest in the world. My favorite gallery in Florence was that in the Chapel of Medici and, of course, it was thrilling at last to be before an original Michelangelo and to feel with my hand a cold marble to be so alive."

"The height of my visit to Rome," she declared, "was my audience with the Holy Father. It is unforgettable!"

In looking back over the last two years, the artist fell into a reflective mood as she told us that she always "liked to compare Italy, Spain and France to the hours of the day—Italy as the sunrise, bathed in golden lights—Spain as broad daylight in its brilliant splash of color—and France as evening twilight in its fine, soft gray tones that descend on the soul like music and poetry."

To Exhibit In New York

"I had the good fortune to wind up my journey on the maiden voyage of the United States," she smilingly told us. "We zipped along through the Atlantic as if jet-propelled. Perhaps the longest and hardest hours I spent were those last few when we waited in the harbor between Brooklyn and Staten Island all night with the knowledge that my family was waiting for me within a stone's throw of the ship."

Mrs. Werner Asserts "Government Is Servant of People"

Appearing in a non-political as a guest speaker at the Bittinger picnic in Garrett County Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Stella Werner of Chevy Chase, Democratic candidate for U. S. Congress from the Sixth District, stressed that government is the servant of the family and as such must have the same constant and responsible direction accorded any "hired hand."

Mrs. Werner, a native and life-long resident of Maryland currently serving as a member of the Montgomery County Council, drew on her own experience as wife, mother and public official to develop her subject, "Your Family and Your Government."

"In traveling about the Sixth District I have visited literally thousands of homes," she said. "Whether they are temporary quonsets, apartments, farm houses or pretentious mansions, these homes have in common the fact that they are the cornerstone of our civilization and government works to serve them. But no one ever got the best results from a servant by showing him some attention every two or four years, forgetting about him in between."

Mrs. Werner pointed out that government serves a child from the day he is born by protecting him from communicable diseases, that the young couple intending QUESTION: I would like to know the name, cause, and cure of the white powdery deposit on the inside wall of a fieldstone fireplace, apparently as result of winter frost. Is there any way of treating field-stone fireplaces to bring out the color of the rock?

—E.N.R., New York City

ANSWER: The powdery deposit is called efflorescence, a result of moisture in the rock bringing chemical salts to the rock to the surface. The moisture evaporates, leaving the salts behind. Scrubbing with muriatic acid, diluted 1 part to 8 parts water, will remove it. Rinse thoroughly with clear water. This treatment will also bring out the color of the rock by removing all such deposits and minute films of dirt which blur the coloring of the rock crystals. Protect hands and eyes while performing this cleaning job.

QUESTION: How do you prime galvanized metal drain pipes so that paint will not peel off?
—T.K., Clifton, N. J.

ANSWER: A coat of shellac, thinned about 50% with alcohol will serve as a primer coat to make virtually all outside paints adhere.

QUESTION: Our house is finished in imitation brick with white mortar lines. I would like to know if you consider a white trim with the window moldings royal blue suitable. The roof has four colors—blue, black, red, and green—and I thought the blue window trim would bring out the blue in the roof.
—R.R., Beverly, Mass.

ANSWER: We think a white trim on the window molding, would be better than blue, since two dark colors on the walls will take much of the liveliness from the appearance of your home.

majestically from the morning haze, shimmering above the river, was a welcome sight, indeed! I shall never forget the ovation heralding the approach of the "new queen of the seas." Planes roared overhead and other vessels in the harbor welcomed the blue ribbon ship with shrill whistles. Music sounded from bands on deck and on shore.

Snap beans were in the limelight recently when 300 bean growers and packers from Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania flocked to the Foard Brothers Farm, Hydes, Md., to witness a demonstration of a new mechanical bean picker developed by the Chisholm-Ryder Co., Niagara Falls, N. Summer Stewers

Those summer stewers are plentiful on the market now. They are good buys for chicken fricassee, chicken a la king, or cold treats like chicken salad, or a club sandwich.

Stewing chickens need long, slow cooking in water below the boiling point or by steam. A bird takes three to four simmerings for a tender product. Meat is juicier if allowed to stand in broth to cool after cooking. Cool rapidly to prevent spoilage. Since warm broth spoils easily, remove bird after one hour.

Try this chicken casserole for your family.

Chicken Casserole

Three tablespoons chicken fat, four tablespoons flour, one and one-quarter cups chicken broth and milk mixed, one-half cup grated cheddar cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one and one-half cups diced cooked chicken, one-half cup buttered bread crumbs.

Melt chicken fat, add flour and blend. Add chicken broth and milk all at once. Cook, stirring constantly until thick. Add cheese and heat until cheese is melted. Add seasonings and chicken. Pour into quart casserole. Top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Serves four to five.

To avoid catching, freshly laundered curtains on a curtain rod, put the finger of an old glove over the end of the rod. Use the wrapping paper from lard or other fats to grease baking pans.

Cool milk-egg dishes quickly, keep them covered and cold, and use them soon.

QUESTION: I have a small building with an attic I had not planned on using. Now, however I'd like to convert this to storage space. The joists are 2x4's and I'd need extra support. Can the roof be used to hold an added load, or what is a better plan?

—E.T.M., No. Agawam, Mass.

ANSWER: Roof rafters cannot be made to carry this extra load without bracing that would interfere with your use of the space. Lay 2x6's alongside each 2x4 joist, spiking them together. Extend the new timbers to the wall plates. Lay your floor over these new timbers.

QUESTION: To save space, I'd like to have my children raise their bicycles in the garage on block pulleys with a ratchet. Is such an arrangement possible? Is it safe for children? Where are such pulleys obtainable?

ANSWER: We'd be against the idea on general principles since children manage to get themselves into trouble enough without adding the hazard of a heavy bike hanging overhead. You can probably find such pulleys and all the necessary accessories at marine supply houses—choosing devices similar to those used in hoisting sails, etc. up the mast of smaller boats. Standard rigging equipment is usually heavier caliber.

QUESTION: When my original concrete basement floor was poured a year ago, it failed to set properly, after which a 2-inch grout coat was poured over it. Now a great number of fine cracks have appeared in the grout coat. I want to paint the floor, but would like your advice on what kind of paint to use, and what should be done to the floor before painting.

—W.E.M., Shelby, Ohio

ANSWER: A rubber-base deck paint should solve your problem, filling the hair-line cracks and providing a good protective covering. No paint will adhere, however, if your floor is damp, or if the cracks were caused by water pressure under the floor.

MAKE YOUR OWN PICNIC "ICEBOX"

WONDERING how to keep picnic foods fresh and cool and carry ice for cold beverages? Here's a tip from the makers of Sylvania Cellophane: make your own portable picnic "icebox" in an insulated paper bag cooled with cellophane-wrapped trays of ice cubes. Right before your "take-off" for the picnic grounds, take solidly-frozen trays of cubes from your refrigerator and wrap them in two thicknesses of moistureproof cellophane, sealing edges with cellophane tape. Put these wrapped trays in a large-sized insulated bag. Use this handy ice-box to carry your beverages—also your butter, salad greens, hamburger, and other perishables, all wrapped in cellophane. The ice will keep everything cool 'till you're ready to eat; the cubes can then be used to ice your beverages. Cellophane wrappers will prevent leaks, and keep foods from exchanging their odors!

Leafy tops of young beets and turnips, also kale, spinach, mustard and kollarids, are cheap sources of Vitamin A and contain iron and other minerals. Chopped onion adds flavor to sandwich fillings.

Keep dried and candied fruits in tightly covered containers on shelves where the temperature is fairly cool.

Fairfield GI Now In Korea

Cpl. Reynolds F. Whitmore, whose wife, Betty, lives in Fairfield, Pa., was recently assigned to the 728th Military Police Battalion in Korea.

The battalion is responsible for traffic and refugee control. He will enforce the laws and regulations, and give aid in the investigation of crime on the peninsula.

Cpl. Whitmore is presently assigned to Company C. He entered the Army in May, 1943.

Among his awards he has received the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star, the UN Ribbon, Army of Occupation Medal for duty in Germany, World War II Victory Medal and the Good Conduct Medal.

At the outset today, fellows, Old Hi would like to greet many new friends who have joined our little gab-fests this season. We're happy to have you with us, and would be glad to hear from you often.

Just drop a line to your old guide, in care of this newspaper, if you have any questions you'd like answered, or if there is some angle you want dwelt upon. My whole aim is to make these weekly gatherings of interest and value to you... so let me know what phase of fishing concerns you the most.

Laziness, you know, is one of the biggest causes for ruined tackle. You have to put a bit of effort into cleaning the reel, line, and rod after each trip if you want to prolong their life to the fullest extent. Grit, fish slime or blood, and water scum have to be washed off or these clog the mechanism or eat into the finish.

If you fish in salt water it's especially necessary to wash off all salty residue that has collected on your reel, line, and rod; otherwise these will corrode quickly. If you have any doubt of this, just fail to clean your tackle in fresh water after one ocean angling trip and you'll regretfully note the results.

Be sure to keep the hook points sharpened, and you'll land more fish. Test the snells and also the nylon leaders; don't take chances on worn or brittle connecting links. After fairly long usage, reverse the lines on your reels so that the strongest portions are at the fighting end.

If you surf cast, still fish, or troll for the ocean species along the Atlantic or Pacific Coast, and are wondering what size hook is best suited for certain fish, just drop a postcard to Old Hi and he'll be glad to send you free copies of his illustrated booklets called "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing." A lot of fellows are trying their luck along the seashores for the first time each season, and the books mentioned tell what tackle and methods are most successful.

Did you know that spin fishing is really going over big in taking many of the inshore varieties of ocean fighters? Just give it a try on stripers, bonafish, weakfish, salmon, shad, mackerel, etc. this year... and you'll see what I mean!

You can now get a spinning rod especially adapted for salt water sport. It's the new Sea Master tubular glass ocean spinning rod with 6 graduated guides on the tip. It has a 19-inch lower grip and a 6 1/4 foot tip. This rod weighs 9 ounces, and can handle some rugged scrappers.

For bass and trout fishing thrills, and an insight into the making of solid tubular glass rods, be sure to see Old Hi's new colored movie called "Fishing With H-I Power Glass Rods." You can see it free of charge by getting your tackle dealer to arrange for a booking date, then rounding up a bunch of your fishing pals for a showing.

Here's your chance to see Old Hi in action, and know what makes your glass fly or bait casting rod outlast those of other types.

Iced Coffee Is A Real Hot-Weather Pleasure

EVEN when the weather isn't hot, iced coffee tastes mighty good. And when the temperature soars—well, there's nothing quite like a tall, frosty glass of iced coffee.

To be just right, iced coffee should have a rich, refreshing flavor. That means that it must start with good hot coffee. Here are the two expert-approved ways to make it:

Pre-Cooled Method

1. Make coffee regular strength—one Standard Coffee Measure (or its equivalent, two level measuring tablespoons) of coffee to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of freshly-drawn water.

2. Cool in a non-metallic container for not more than three hours, or, if the container is tightly covered, chill in refrigerator.

3. Serve in tall glasses with ice, adding simple syrup or sugar and cream to taste.

Quick Method

1. Make coffee double strength by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee.
2. Pour hot into tall, ice-filled glasses. The extra-strong coffee allows for the dilution caused by the melting of the ice.
3. Serve with simple syrup or sugar and cream to taste.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Aug. 21—A lot of people have recently asked me whether we are headed for a boom or a bust next year. I am going to try to give the answer with a few economic facts of life.

Business today is not so bad as some would have us believe. Even so, it may be later in the economic cycle than you think! Some phases of business, such as textiles, shoes, consumer soft goods, will improve during the next few months. Consumer durables, such as automobiles and washers, will remain off from last year. There will probably be a moderate improvement in the volume of business by the third quarter. The Babson chart index now stands at 125 per cent of the 1939 and 1947 average. This is close to the low point for the past two and a half years. However, the current level of business is still higher than in much of the 1940's.

What happens to business next year depends largely on earnings rather than upon politics. I believe that both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson are good men. I now see no reason for fearing any drastic change immediately after Nov. 4. No President will intentionally encourage deflation. The military program should continue to hold up gross business. We, however, could have a period of "profitless prosperity."

Will Props Drop?

By 1953 we shall have about completed our tooling up and our plant expansion to handle government contracts. We are already beginning to see defense plans curtailed. Further cuts are anticipated between now and the end of the year when government spending will reach a high of $66 billion. By late 1953, assuming present plans and conditions, it will taper off to $58 billion. Government curtailment of spending may slow down fast by late 1953 and early 1954. But this depends upon Uncle Joe and not Uncle Sam.

Boom or bust for '53-'54 first becomes the problem of inflation versus deflation. During a boom, such as we have all recently witnessed, the buying public wants goods more than money. During a recession or depression the opposite is true. Booms cause depression; depression brings about further deflation. What, then causes the boom? The most important cause of the booms of the past has been inflation.

Simple Economics Explained

If the supply of goods available had kept up with the supply of money, we would have had no inflation. But because of shorter hours and unnecessary strikes, production fell off; then the value of the dollar fell likewise. People wanted to buy goods with their high wages; goods were scarce. Prices shot up; we had creeping inflation and an artificial boom.

There is a point in this cycle where people, banks, insurance companies, and other financial houses begin to get worried about earnings. Experience tells them that boom times can't last forever. We may be approaching this point now. Already, many plants across the country have cut back to a 40-hour week. Some workers are being laid off. But no definite forecasting regarding 1953 should be made at present. It looks now as if we must await 1952 net earnings—that is, how much corporations and families have left after paying their bills, wages and taxes.

Sane Religion Needed

During this kind of a period, people begin to worry. They again want money more than they want goods. Mortgage rates and business loan rates become higher voluntary credit restrictions begin to set in. This puts a camper on good business. People no longer have so much money or credit with which to buy goods. Sales drop; production is cut back; and unemployment is on the way.

I am especially troubled by the lack of religious interest today. This lack always precedes a financial crash. The desire to get something for nothing—so prevalent today—is a bad sign, whether by investors, employers or wage-workers. When attendance at church declines and attendance at races increases, look out for trouble. Hence, proceed with caution, clean up your debts, build your liquid savings and work harder at your job.

Papa David Says:

(on NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful")

"When a man searches his conscience after he has done something he shouldn't, it can be a little late, maybe—but it won't be entirely useless if he profits by his soul-searching!"

"You hear folks say that someone is too conscientious and, sure, that can be a fault, but try to remember that it is a fault of degree—not intention."

"If you yourself are your hardest taskmaster, you don't have to learn to be responsible, son—but you may have to learn how to play!"

"All too often, leben, men get too preoccupied with false values, born of their desire to get ahead, and forget that the major goal to be attained is happiness. They defeat their own purpose when they strive constantly for more. Rather, they should learn how to make use of what they already possess and in so doing they will learn that life can be beautiful."

Engagement Announced

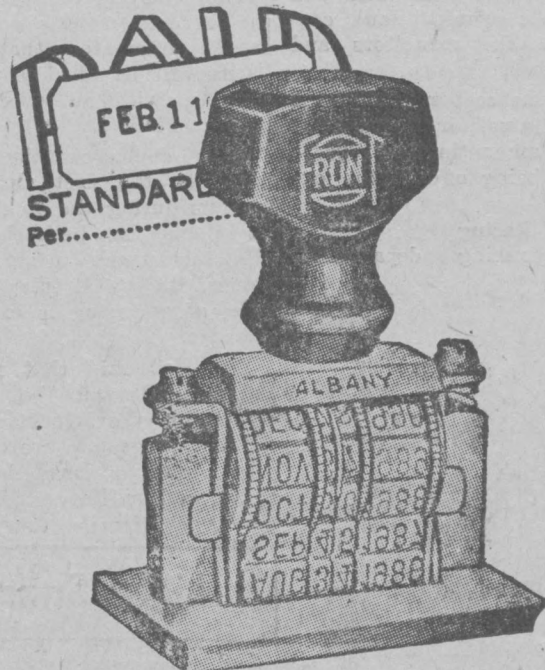

Dr. and Mrs. Emil B. Cekada, Durham, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Althea Grey, to First Lieutenant Charles Edward Rowe, USAF, Atlanta, Ga., son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Joshua Rowe, of Washington, D. C. and Emmitsburg.

Miss Cekada was graduated from the Salem Academy, Winston-Salem, N. C., and attended the Mary Baldwin College in Staunton, Va., and Duke University. She is at present with the Surgeon General's Office in Washington.

Lt. Rowe's present assignment is with the 115th Special Air Missions Squadron at Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., as officer in charge of instrument training. He attended Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, and Western Kentucky State Teachers' College.

The wedding will take place Sunday, Sept. 14, in Christ Church, Alexandria, Va.

Moves Up With Phone Company

Changes in the organization structure of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City designed to further improve the effectiveness of the utility's operations by providing greater local authority and substantially broadening the responsibility of officials in charge of the Maryland company were announced this week by H. Randolph Maddox, C. & P. president.

W. GRIFFIN MORREL

Under the new plan of organization, W. Griffin Morrel has been elected vice president of the C. & P. of Baltimore City by the board of directors, effective Aug. 15, and will report to the president. The title of vice president and general manager, formerly held by Mr. Morrel, has been discontinued.

Mr. Morrel was elected a member of the board of directors effective the same date.

In another change, the position of auditor has been discontinued and E. R. Koogle, formerly auditor, has been appointed to the newly-created position of controller of the company and will report to Mr. Morrel.

According to Mr. Maddox, the change in the form of organization is being made in order to place under the new vice president the responsibility for all of the company's operations in the state, including the accounting functions together with all other departments. At the same time the new position will carry increased authority to go hand in hand with the enlarged responsibilities.

Mr. Maddox said the change would enable "the company to better serve the telephone users of Maryland by providing the organization at all levels with greater freedom of action in meeting day-to-day problems."

Mr. Morrel began his telephone career in 1930 as a traffic clerk for the C. & P. of Virginia. After holding positions of increasing responsibility in the traffic department, including general traffic manager, he was transferred to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in 1946 as traffic employment engineer. He returned to the C. & P. group of companies in May, 1948, when he was elected vice president and general manager of the C. & P. of Baltimore City.

Famous Irish Horse To Race At Laurel

Word reached Laurel Race Course this week that Mrs. John Thursty's D.C.M., an Irish horse, and Max Bell's Indian Hemp, racing in England for his Canadian owner, would leave the British Isles on Sunday, Sept. 7, by plane on the first leg of their journey to America, to compete in Laurel's $50,000 Washington D. C. International on Saturday, Oct. 18.

According to plans mapped out for them, the two three-year-olds are heading this way via Pan-American Lines. The plane will pick up Indian Hemp at London Airport on Sept. 7 and will stop at Shannon, Ireland, the same day to take on D.C.M. as a passenger.

It is scheduled to reach Idlewild Airport near New York City the next day. Following a short, routine customs inspection the pair will board a van for Laurel where General Manager George H. Martin is preparing special quarters for their stay in this country.

Indian Hemp, a chestnut son of Nasrullah and Sazby, had a brilliant two-year-old record last season in England.

He won the Windsor Castle Stakes at Ascot and the Tattersall Sale Stakes at Doncaster. He was second in the Exeter Stakes at Newmarket, the Culler Stakes at Hurst Park and the Summerville Stakes, also at Newmarket.

The Royal Lodge Stakes at Ascot saw his finishing third and he was fourth to Windy City in the Gimrack Stakes at York.

As a three-year-old early this season, he took third behind Chavey Down and Monark More in the Newmarket Stakes.

D.C.M. was bred in Ireland and was purchased by Mrs. Thursty for $2,719.50 as a yearling. As a juvenile, the chestnut son of Distingue and E.G.K. raced in Ireland and was a winner.

This year he won the Irish Two Thousand Guineas and was third in the Irish Derby at the Curragh.

Nellybelle, the jeep comedian Pat Brady rides in the "Roy Rogers Show" on NBC-TV, has become such a personality in her own right that fans clamor to see the sturdy little vehicle whenever Roy, Dale and Pat make a personal appearance tour with Trigger and Bullet. So, for the troupe's Sept. 24-Oct. 19 appearance at the Madison Square Garden World Championship Rodeo in New York, Pat eschewed fancy traveling accommodations, personally escorted Nellybelle cross-country on Route 66 in order to give the fans a chance to get personally acquainted.

Use Suds Like Yardstick To Measure Cleaning "oomph"

By ANN GAOY-ANS Features

FEW PEOPLE are rash enough to sally forth in their cars without a gasoline gauge—except possibly those headed for lovers' lane! To wrestle with the family washing without suds as a gauge is just as imprudent. For suds' big job, according to Tide Washing Clinic, is to serve as a yardstick of cleaning power. Just as the gas gauge cautions the driver when to "fill-up", so suds warns the housewife when her washing solution is running out of "gas."

A SMART HOUSEWIFE can take a pretty accurate reading from the foaming suds that tops her wash water. When suds spill over it warns her she's been heavy-handed; too thin a suds tells her there's not enough soap or detergent to do the job. And when her suds collapses, she knows that the dirt has worn out the "oomph" in her Tide.

CLOTHES WILL not wash sparkling clean without thick and active suds. They must hold up to the last gingham apron or the dirt will go back into the clothes. Though there is no arbitrary formula, a good rule of thumb is to have at least two to three inches covering the surface of the water. It takes more soap or detergent to wash a hamper-full of dirty overalls than slightly soiled bed linen; for dirt breaks down suds. More is also needed to make rich suds in luke-warm water than in hot.

THE COMMON practice of washing load after load in the same wash water leads to dingy-looking laundry for obviously the suds are loaded with soil. It's best to change suds as soon as the water starts to look dirty.

FRESH AND FEMININE is the fashion, regardless of the Lilly Dache or Hattie Carnegie you wear... but it can't be done when the temperature jumps to 90 and you're unprepared. Nor is it smart to dash out frantically and buy the first cool dress you see, without thought of style or line, only to get hot under the collar later when you look at it.

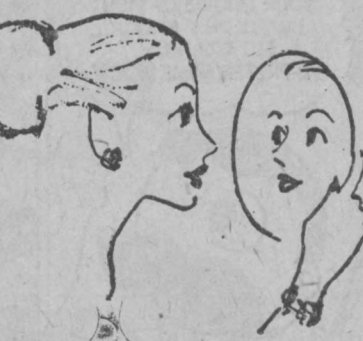

Science can't control temperatures but, bless them, they have created the much talked of hexachlorophene which rids you of bacteria that causes perspiration odor. One jump ahead of the little red thermometer is the new Fresh Deodorant Soap, one of the new cosmetic discoveries to hit beauty row. It contains the new miracle ingredient hexachlorophene. The soap has a heavenly lather and washes the skin to soft perfection, eliminating the perspiration odor before it starts.

STAY "BATH FRESH" all day long with this new type deodorant soap. It's a beauty treatment as well for face and body complexions, because it washes away germs that cause those troublesome surface blemishes. The new soap is a sister product of Fresh Cream Deodorant the old stand-by for underarm use. The latter has a "moisture control" formula which stops odor and checks perspiration longer—a pair of friends indeed, to protect you thru the long warm summer days.

BEAUTY NEWS & VIEWS

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS Features

ANCIENT TIPS FOR MODERN LADIES have been brought up to date this summer by the makers of a miracle-working series of cosmetics. Cleopatra held the key to this secret but she didn't have the benefits of today's science to adapt it to virtually every type of beauty problem.

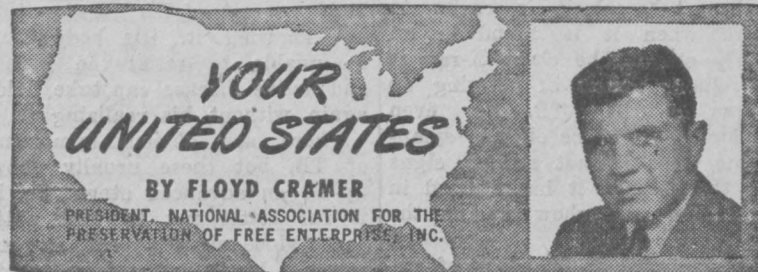

THE PATH to a lovelier skin cannot be traced through any "magician's handbook." It can be found right in front of your own mirror where, day by day, the careful application of lanolin-soaked cream and make-up will help to reveal a smoother, softer, more youthful you.

WHEN CLEO recognized the potency of lanolin's work, she probably didn't realize that the simple reason for its effectiveness as a beauty aid is the fact that it, more than any other ingredient, closely resembles the body's natural oils. Since these oils show an BOTANY BRAND "oil balance" cosmetics include a Lanolin Triple-Action cream and a Lanolin Soap to reach deep below the surface of your skin and cleanse it thoroughly. A Lanolin Formula 70 for overly dry or sensitive skin for overnight use, a Lanolin Lotion to lend a protective foundation to your make-up and a Lanolin Face Powder and Lanolin Lipstick to add the finishing touches to a sweeter, smoother you.

The greatest single achievement of the Free Enterprise system is its success in adjusting the conflicting claims of employer and employee.

At the root of the whole idea of Free Enterprise is the realization that capital and labor both need each other and are both parts of a unified whole, and therefore must arrive at understandings that both can live with. Capital and labor alike know that neither can wholly dominate the other without at the same time bringing ruin to all hands.

There have been periods in our history when Capital seemed to be on the road toward complete domination. Today there are people who believe organized labor has too much power. But in whatever direction the pendulum may be swinging at any particular moment in our national life, the operation of the Free Enterprise system guarantees that corrective measures will be taken before too long.

And so long as American citizens continue to rely on their own bargaining power, and as long as they refrain from turning their private affairs over to the government, our free American way will continue, and we will continue to pass laws to curb whatever abuses either side may be guilty of.

It is greatly to the credit of both Capital and Labor in this country that we have been able to hammer out a continuing story of economic progress. We have not fallen for the Fascist line, in which Big Business dominates government; nor for the Socialist line, in which Big Government dominates both employer and employee.

Under Free Enterprise, beginning shortly after the war between the states, American workers have established their right to organize. In many industries, strikes have become infrequent because both sides come to realize that early settlement pays better than conflict.

Under Free Enterprise, the American who works is protected in his job, while still retaining freedom to exchange it for another. His earnings are high, his children educated, his home made secure.

And under Free Enterprise, the American employer is growing steadily toward a better and better understanding that the big buying power that comes from good wages is preferable to the temporary profit which might be derived from low wages. And he also realizes, more and more, that assurance of the future of his employees, in their sickness and old age, is "good business" for them, for him, and for us all.

all our industrial strife, the American Free Enterprise system will solve any problem free men may have.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

County Agricultural Mobilization committees begin drive to increase plantings of winter cover crops. According to James A. Cottman, acting chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State committee, the campaign is aimed at providing every acre planted to row crops with winter cover this year.

To aid in achieving this goal, county PMA offices are authorized to write orders on local suppliers to help defray the expenses of planting winter cover crops. The government will pay 14 cents a pound toward the cost of crimson clover or hairy vetch seed and eight cents per pound for rye grass seed, if the seed is used to establish a cover crop this fall.

The tour, sponsored jointly by the Soil Conservation Service and Production and Marketing Administration, was attended by representatives of the Extension Service, Farm and Home Administration, Game and Inland Fish Commission, State Dept. of Forests and Parks, and the Farm Bureau, in addition to the sponsoring agents' representatives.

The main emphasis was on the co-operation of the interested agencies in drainage, forestry and game preservation activities.

Need A Chest X-ray?

A chest X-ray, a "shadow picture" of an individual's lungs, reveals any abnormalities of shape, size, and position of these organs of respiration. The chest X-ray is also a valuable aid to the doctor in diagnosing diseases of the lung, particularly tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis is a serious communicable disease which leads all diseases as a cause of death in this country among young people between 15 and 35. These are unnecessary deaths, however, because TB can be prevented and it can be cured.

But tuberculosis is easier to cure when it is found in an early stage. The chest X-ray is a reliable means of showing up signs of early TB. For even though TB has no obvious symptoms when it first strikes, signs of the damage it has started in the lung will show up on the X-ray.

Of course, a diagnosis of tuberculosis is never made on evidence of a chest ray alone. When X-rays show suspicious shadows, the doctor makes additional tests to ascertain whether or not a person has tuberculosis.

The question is often asked, who needs chest X-rays? The answer is that every adult, 15 years of age and over, should have a chest X-ray at least once a year.

There are an estimated 400,000 cases of active tuberculosis in this country. Of this number, about 250,000 are known to health authorities, and, presumably, most of these are under treatment. But the remainder—approximately 150,000—are "unknown," and many of them do not know they have the disease because of TB's symptomless onset.

These people who do not know they are ill are unknowingly losing their own health and at the same time may be innocently spreading the disease to others. Thus a person may receive a bombardment of TB germs without knowing it. His body may be unable to resist the germs and active disease can take hold, again without his realizing it.

There are obvious symptoms of TB, but these usually show up in an advanced stage. So it is far better not to wait until the obvious signs appear. A person has his best chance of finding TB early, should it strike, by getting chest X-rays regularly, at least once a year.

TB can strike anyone, at any age, in any walk of life, because it is a communicable disease which is spread from person to person. Who needs chest X-rays? Every member of our adult population, 15 years of age and over.

The Egg and the Englishman

When an egg falls and breaks and its white and yolk run to gether, all the King's horses and all the King's men cannot put it together again. Events in England today seem to be proving that a way of life built upon the structure of private property, private enterprise and the profit system cannot be reconstructed once its foundation is destroyed and its substance wasted away by Socialism.

It was a year ago that the Churchill government took over. When the Welfare State was being formed step by step Winston Churchill opposed every step with all the great power of his leadership. But after six years the Welfare State was so deeply entrenched and the private enterprise system so critically injured that in last year's elections the Conservatives did not promise to abolish the Welfare State. They were as helpless as a man would be trying to put the white and the yolk of the egg back together.

The Conservative Party's principal anti-Socialist proposal was to turn the steel and iron industry back to private ownership. The Labor-Socialist government had operated the industry only a short time, and the Churchill group thought it could be desocialized without so much difficulty. But after almost a year the steel and iron industry still is owned and operated by the government. England remains a Welfare State. Its Welfare State functions go on, and its once great wealth continues to flow away. Here is a striking fact for the world to see: no matter who operates it, the Welfare State takes its people down, down, down. And when halfway down the hill, it may be too late to turn back.

Six years of Socialism have so far proved to be too damaging. The egg white and yolk are too scrambled. The structure and the substance of a broken private enterprise system have not been put back together by the new government. On my desk is a late report on conditions in England. When Churchill took over, Britain's gold and dollar reserve was $3.5 billion, considered alarmingly low. Today it is less than half that amount. In the first quarter of 1951, the national budget produced a $47 million surplus; but the first quarter budget in 1952 found a $546 million deficit.

Reluctant Quitters

The Churchill government hasn't operated the Welfare State any better than the Socialists did. As a result the nation's electorate gives every indication of turning again to the Labor-Socialist Party, the creator of the Welfare State. One of London's most conservative publication foresees the crumbling of the Churchill party. "As a party of half-hearted planners and only rather more reluctant quitters, it has no future," the London TABLET says.

The Labor-Socialist have won all recent election tests. If they are returned to power, the way of life founded upon private property and individual freedom will not likely return to England in the time of any of us. The London TABLET says that if defeated in the next general election, the Conservative Party "will never again hold office."

The Fatal Pattern

The most foreboding fact is that an English population which was blinded six years ago by the glitter of the Labor-Socialist promises of "fair shares" and government-guaranteed "security," now is giving signs of choosing as its "Deliverer" the extremely radical Laborite, Aneurin Bevan. Bevan seems gradually to be gaining power in the Labor-Socialist Party. He hates capitalism (and America) to a degree matched only by the Communists. If he should become Prime Minister of Britain under a radical Socialist government he would be the Strong-Man type like those heading the dictatorships.

In England we see the historic pattern of the Welfare State. First there was Socialism disguised as government "doles" and other economic handouts and aids; then the Labor - Socialist government won and began gradually abolishing private property. The Socialist economy went from bad to worse under first one party and then the other. The last step in the pattern would be for the people to turn, in desperation, to a totalitarian "leader" who would sooner or later establish an iron dictatorship.

But could such a thing happen in England before our very eyes? Yes, it could. And it could happen—in America—in the bog of a Welfare State.

Farm Building

Assessments Higher

Tax assessments against farm buildings have been increasing at a more rapid rate than they have on land during the last 10 years. Building assessments now represent one-half of the total farm real estate assessment, according to a recent report released by the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

The use of unit methods in assessing buildings is emphasized in the report, which concludes that dwellings are, in general, assessed more carefully or in greater detail than other farm buildings. Unit costs are being used as a basis for assessing farm dwellings in various counties.

However, the findings show that unit cost methods are also used in assessing other farm buildings. In general, new or modern buildings are assessed by the unit method, either on the square foot or cubic foot basis. Other buildings or those in poor condition are often "lump sum" assessed.

Unit assessment methods are used more on modern dairy barns than on other barns. Tobacco barns in the Southern Maryland counties are assessed by both unit methods and the "spot" or "lump sum" method. The latter is generally the basis for bank barn assessments.

The study points out that in some counties a 35 per cent maximum depreciation factor is applied in assessing dwellings. In other counties assessors continue to depreciate buildings beyond this point. This is a source of inequality in the final assessments.

The report also states that "since buildings are becoming a more important part of farm real estate investment, building assessment procedures should be as consistent as possible in an effort to eliminate resulting inequalities. After unit rates are applied the factors of location, depreciation, and obsolescence need to be carefully considered before assessments are finally determined." Even with the technical aids, however, the authors caution that assessors must depend largely on their judgment.

How to Make New Chairs From Old Ones

By ANN GARY—ANS Features

Here's a sensational new idea for the budget-minded homemaker who wants to bring those old chairs up to date and give her home a colorful modern look.

There is a new webbing called "Tufweb" which is used to replace that old faded upholstery and the worn-out woven bottoms and backs on your chairs. It's for use both inside and outside the house, is "as strong as the Rock of Gibraltar" and comes in every imaginable color, and color combination desired to match up with drapes, rugs and other upholstered pieces in your home. There are 29 clear colors and combinations in all—opaque blue, maize, kelly green, ivory, tuft brown, white, orange, elm green, red, aluminum, emerald green and combinations of these colors.

Directions on how to remove the old upholstery, how to sand down the rough spots of the bare frame, fill in the tack holes, paint the wooden or metal frame and do the weaving, come along with "Tufweb" and are so complete that even the least experienced can do a professional job.

Your rejuvenated chair not only gives you a sense of accomplishment but has advantages unknown to homemakers in grandma's day. It is easily cleaned with soap and water or any cleaning fluid, resists sun, heat, fire and flame, does not stretch or sag, is not affected by moisture, chemicals, spilled drinks or even the jam smears from Junior's hands and the "built-in" colors stay color-bright through repeated cleansing. Result is a good looking piece of furniture far less expensive than a new one, plus the fact that it is easier to do than shop for a new chair.

"Perry Mason" on Baker Street

Sherlock Holmes' Victorian living room at 221 B Baker Street, dear to the hearts of Holmes' fans, was recently visited by present-day fictional sleuth, Perry Mason, whose adventures are heard over CBS. However, Perry didn't have to go to London for the visit—since the living room, complete with Sherlock's pipe, the dagger he used to impale letters, his chemical apparatus, and all the other fascinating clutter mentioned in Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's wonderful stories, was brought over here and placed on exhibit in New York City by Doyle's son, with opening day proceeds going to the Cerebral Palsy Fund.

Meet "The Doctor"

The hero of television's latest dramatic serial is a sympathetic, hard-working, underpaid family doctor—in short, a figure whom most of us know well in our daily lives. With Warner Anderson as the star on NBC-TV's new Sunday night program, "The Doctor," the story deals with the life of a man who must put aside his personal problems to be almost a father confessor to others—but who often has as many worries and emergencies in his private life as do his patients—but usually must keep his own counsel.

Drought Causes
Drop In Milk Production

The sustained drought that scorched pastures in many parts of the country apparently took its toll in milk production for July in the area that supplies Philadelphia handlers. According to reports of these handlers under Order No. 61 submitted to the market administrator, average daily deliveries per producer dropped 2.18% under July last year. This compares with a reported drop in total production statewide for the same period of 2% and for the United States, 3%.

During July these average daily deliveries per producer were 359 pounds compared with 367 pounds last year and 398 pounds during the previous month June. Total receipts from producers for the month were 92,678,027 lbs. (2,989,614 pounds daily), a decrease of 9% under the 101,779,214 pounds (3,283,200 pounds daily) for July last year and 10 per cent under the 100,543,224 pounds (3,351,441 pounds daily) for the previous month June. However, five plants that were under Order 61 last year have been withdrawn this year.

The weighted average of the uniform prices to be paid producers for this milk delivered during July is $5.737 per hundredweight of 4% milk, f.o.b. Philadelphia. This compares with $5.384 for July one year ago and $5.216 for the previous month June. The July price is computed on the basis of $6.24 for Class I milk (fluid) and $4.261 for Class II (milk for manufacturing purposes). This increase in the weighted average of the uniform prices for July is due both to a higher Class I and Class II price than those in effect for July of last year and June this year.

The total value of the milk delivered by producers during July (31 days) amounted to $5,316,660 compared with $5,479,598 for July one year ago and $5,243,932 for June (30 days) this year.

Daily Class I sales in the area for July were 1,913,008 pounds, an increase of 3.85% over the 1,842,063 pounds for July last year and a decrease of 3.12% under the 1,974,523 pounds for June of this year.

Nursing Scholarships
Are Available

Scholarship applications for September classes at the Franklin Square Hospital School of Nursing must be received by August 30. This deadline is announced by the office of the director of nurses. Applicants must be high school graduates between the ages of 17 and 35 years.

Prospective student nurses are urged to make immediate inquiry by writing, telephoning or calling at the hospital, Calhoun and Fayette Sts., Baltimore 23. An illustrated folder giving complete data on requirements, curriculum and residence is available. Requests should be addressed to the director of nurses, Franklin Sq. Hospital School of Nursing.

During a three-year course, the school, established in 1900 and fully accredited, aims to give the student the basic principles, techniques and skills for efficient care of the sick, prevention of disease and promotion of health. In addition, it attempts to inspire gifted students to continue their studies toward higher medical goals.

Pentagon Work

Progresses

Further details on the construction work at the "Little Pentagon" U. S. Defense Dept. communications center at Fountaindale, six miles west of Emmitsburg, were revealed this week.

Work has begun on a "receiving station" which will include a tunnel, at Tilghmanton District, near Hagerstown. The Joseph H. Nebel Co. of Washington was awarded the $687,000 contract. Work also has been begun on a $1,200,000 "sending station" near Greencastle. Buildings and barracks are being constructed at both places. The two stations will be linked with the Fountaindale tunnel.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OUTING

The annual men's outing sponsored by the men's class of the Lutheran Church will be held along the Monocacy River at the former J. D. Adams' farm, Thursday, Aug. 28 from 1:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The program will include fishing and games in the afternoon with supper prepared over an open fire and served by the men of the class. All neighbors and friends are invited and no charge is made for the supper, but contributions are asked to meet the expenses.

SON BORN

A son was born at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Monday, to Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Frock, Jr., Rocky Ridge, Route 1.

New Team on "Those Two"

Pinky Lee not only has a brand new gal on his NBC-TV show, "Those Two"—but they are starting out on a completely new life together. On video, that is, where the three times a week comedy show has taken on a different comedy format. The new format features lovely Martha Stewart, singing star of Broadway, Hollywood and now television, as a hostess in a summer resort—a role which will give her opportunities for singing and dancing, as well as comedy romancing with Pinky. Pinky portrays a general handy man who wants to win Martha—and also to become a permanent member of the resort's entertainment crew.
