—BY ABIGAIL—

Well, the fourth annual horse show is now history and it will go down in the archives of the Emmitsburg Lions Club as the most grand and glorious ever promoted. Nearly a thousand spectators gathered at Emmits Gardens to watch the spectacular show, despite the threatened polio epidemic we were experiencing here last week. No doubt about it, the polio scare kept a goodly number of our nearby friends away, but regardless of that condition the show was a resounding success.

It is readily discernible that the show annually is mounting in stature and the number and quality of the horses shown topped everything to date. Most of the exhibitors state that they really enjoy coming here as the people are so friendly and receptive towards them. We are fast gaining a reputation for our hospitality. The Lions couldn't have found a more suitable site for their promotion than the Gardens. It is really a lovely site with the picturesque mountains in the background and the green grass and rolling hills adjacent the surroundings. The white jumps and other equipment really set the show off to the pleasant advantage of all. Financially, too, the club reports that they are far ahead of the previous years in that respect. The show has really brought much prestige to our town. Horsemen from nearby states said they never heard of Emmitsburg before coming here for the occasion and have expressed their pleasant satisfaction with their visit here. It's hoping the Lions never give up the enterprise.

The Emmitsburg Municipal Band was this week the recipient of a valuable musical repertoire donated to them by Prof. William S. Sterbinsky. The volume consists of a good many year's compilation of popular band music which Prof. Sterbinsky has acquired in his many years of association in the musical world. Band members are very happy about the gift and can be heard Monday nights rehearsing the numbers. The band is deeply indebted to Prof. for this excellent gift.

As the fishing season is fast waning, many local sportsmen are now polishing and oiling their trusty, or should I say rusty, rifles! The season here opens Oct. 5, which is Sunday and you are not allowed to hunt on Sundays, so my friends, you'll have to wait until Monday for the jumpy little bushy tails. Don't ask me why the Game Commission adopted this rather irregular opening date. It's possible they have been meddling with the Federal government which is so famous at making things so complicated and downright silly at times. Anyway, be sure to obey all the safety rules.

The local sportsmen's club is again asking the cooperation of the local farmers and other landowners. For the past several years the group has been building good will between the hunters and owners and the action is fast beginning to bear fruit. Many of the owners really don't want to post no trespassing signs, but there has been so much damage to property and danger to individuals in the past, they felt it was their duty to protect themselves, both bodily and property-wise. Now that the sportsmen have been busy instructing their members in the art of respecting other people's things, many of the farmers are loosening up and are granting permission only when they see who is hunting on their grounds and how they take care of the privilege granted them. Hunting by permission only placards are available at many local stores and can be had gratis to any farmer who asks for them.

From the mail sack:

Dear "Abigail"—

I see by the paper today that you are in favor of the removal of the Bunker.

Well everyone has their own opinion so let's not fight about this thing but let's us think real hard which would be the best. To remove or not to remove.

Did you ever stand on the Square and watch these tractor-trailers go by? Well I did.

Horse Show Draws Record Crowd

Playboy, owned by Skippy Dohlmann, Catonsville, won the jumper championship at the fourth annual Horse Show held by the Emmitsburg Lions Club as a benefit for its children's welfare fund Sunday at Emmits Gardens before a record crowd of 1,000 spectators.

Virgil, owned by Carroll Rang, Hagerstown, was the hunter champion. Red Knight, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Hallman, Burtonsville, Md., was the reserve jumping champion.

A number of Adams County and local horses were winners in the show which drew 75 horses from throughout this section, the Waynesboro, Harrisburg and York areas and from throughout this state.

Show Manager Robert Daugherty stated he believed the Lions Club would clear in the neighborhood of $500.

Golden Sovereign, owned by Peggy Long, Gettysburg, R. D., won first in the pleasure class and second in the novice jumper.

Playmour's Fancy Boy, owned by Constance M. Schroll, Fairfield, took second place in the pleasure class; Trigger, owned by Harry Rohrer, was third and Golden Lady, owned by Wilson Clapsaddle, Gettysburg, was the fourth place winner.

Molly, owned by Bernard Walters, Emmitsburg, was first and Robbie, owned by Nancie Valentine also of this place, was second in the local pony class.

Other winners named—Question, owned by Linky Smith of Towson, took first honors in the novice jumper class, with Peggy Long's Golden Sovereign second.

Winners in other events included: Open jumper, Playboy, Skippy Dohlmann, Catonsville, first; Question, second, Indiana, Peggy Warner, Marion, Pa., third; Red Knight, fourth.

Open western and western stake ended in the same results with W. O. of Mt. Tammany Farms, Williamsport, Md., first; Belle Star, Glenn Dietz, York, second; Comanche, Jack Burkholder, Chambersburg, third.

Ladies' hunters—Belle Flag, John Bogar, Harrisburg, first; Virgil, second; Little Darky, Arleen Brooks, third; Catch Me, Nancy DiPaula, Towson, fourth.

Walking horse—King O Cotton, J. H. Needy, Hagerstown; Miss Dixie Rambler, J. W. Ridgely, Hagerstown, second; Boss Man's Princess, Mrs. Brinton Wastler, York Springs, third; Red Hunter, Pat Coldsmith, of Gettysburg, fourth.

Hunter hacks—Bon Bon, Fred Hughes, Catonsville; Collette, Peggy Warner, Marion, Pa.; The Fox, Linky Smith; Catch Me, Nancy DiPaula.

Taneytown Man Heads Lutheran

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mervyn C. Fuss, Taneytown, was elected president of the Brotherhood of the United Lutheran Church in America, at its convention which concluded this week. Principal speakers at the convention were Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church in America and chairman of the executive committee of the World Council of Churches, and Dr. Paul C. Empey, executive director of the National Lutheran Council. The convention was held in Luther Place Memorial Church, Washington, D. C., Ralph Tabor, pastor.

The next convention will be held in Augusta, Ga., in 1954.

Two Locals

Uninjured In Crash

Two local residents were involved in an automobile collision last Thursday evening. The crash occurred on Route 32, west of town, near Miller's Service Station. Involved were Miss Dolores Zurgable, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zurgable, near town, and Norman J. Shriver, Emmitsburg.

It is alleged that the Shriver machine, going west, turned off too abruptly in making a left turn in the path of the Zurgable car which was headed east toward town.

No charges were preferred and damage was covered by insurance.

Potomac Edison Reveals Year's Expansion

A rather extensive industrial expansion is going on in the territory of the Potomac Edison Co. at the present time, President Paul R. Smith told the board of directors at the quarterly meeting held Tuesday in Frederick.

Mr. Smith said the load at Camp Detrick is being doubled. The contract for completion of the "underground Pentagon" near Emmitsburg has been awarded and is in the process of construction. The communication centers to be used in connection with this installation are likewise under construction and the projects will add approximately 7,000 kilowatts to the PE load, the president said.

Letterkenny Ordnance Depot at Chambersburg, Pa., is in the process of enlargement, he reported. The duPont Company has construction of its plant in West Virginia well under way and it will be completed by the end of the year, he said.

Mr. Smith declared the year 1952 may well be looked upon as a year of construction. PE suffered to some extent from shortages of materials and unsettled labor conditions but the injurious effect on work was kept to a minimum.

He said the Albright plant and connecting transmission line from the plant to the PE system at Cumberland may be completed and ready for operation in about 60 days. The 75,000 k.w. unit is now estimated to cost $10,300,000 and the connecting transmission line, with substation equipment, $1,900,000, both less than original estimates.

He said a 132 k.w. line from Cumberland to the Smith plant at Williamsport will not be completed until 1953. He reported a number of new substations completed and rural line construction about on schedule.

PE service suffered a minimum of interruptions from the usual lightning and storm season, Mr. Smith pointed out and while the season was rather severe, the improved protective equipment installed over the system functioned very satisfactorily.

Since the first of the year, 3,300 customers have been added and 138,400 customers are now being served. Total operating revenues for the first eight months showed an increase of 2 1/2%, just above matching expenses.

Lions Club Hears Report On Horse Show

Near perfect attendance marked the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish house. Only one member was absent. The session was presided over by the president, J. Ward Kerrigan, who thanked the members and committees for their splendid support in making the horse show a success. One application for membership was received and will be acted on by the membership committee.

A letter from the local Boy Scouts was read, appealing for funds to erect a clubhouse. The Lions sponsor the local Scout Troop. Present plans call for the erection of the building on the site of the old playground. The club agreed to make a donation to the cause.

President Kerrigan and Secretary Robert Daugherty reported on the district meeting of officers held at Hagerstown last Sunday and also at a zone meeting held at Liberty Tuesday evening.

Invitations to a testimonial dinner at Westminster on Oct. 2, were extended to the membership and at least half a dozen contemplate attending.

George L. Wilhide informed the membership in a report on the progress of negotiations with a factory wanting to locate here. His report was very encouraging and he announced that a committee would visit Hanover Shoe owners in Hanover that same night in an effort to determine if the local factory building can be purchased. A committee of three Lions and three members of the Chamber of Commerce expect to visit Boston in the near future to continue negotiations with the concern and to accomplish the locating here if at all possible.

Secretary-Treasurer Robert E. Daugherty gave an incomplete report on the horse show and stated that beyond a doubt it was the most successful ever held. It is believed about $500 will be netted from the affair. The November meeting will find Emmitsburg the host at a zone session. Perfect attendance is urged.

New Car Dealers Will Provide Voters Free Rides

Convinced that citizens will vote if they can get to the polls to do so, new car dealers throughout the country are being urged by their National Assn. President J. Saxton Lloyd to offer free transportation to all who need it Nov. 4th!

And, reports the National Automobile Dealers Assn., thousands of dealers have already expressed their intention to offer transportation in their communities.

Keynote of this non-partisan community service is "Vote as you please—but VOTE!" New car dealers will display posters and window strips urging all who want transportation to ask for it, and folders titled "Why you should vote" are being distributed. These folders emphasize the importance of every vote and offer a "lift" to the polls if it's wanted.

Both political parties have expressed the belief that the next president will be elected by the millions who have not voted in past elections. In 1896, 79 per cent of those eligible voted, however, the sorry fact is that this figure has declined to a shocking all-time low, 44 per cent in 1950.

Many groups are urging that everyone vote. They should, and the efforts of these groups will undoubtedly be of value. But like the weather that "everyone talks about" it remains for new car dealers to put into motion a program of action. If you need transportation to the polls, Nov. 4, call your new car dealer.

Gettysburg Girl Injured In Wreck

A 16-year-old Gettysburg, Pa., girl sustained a puncture wound in the back and severe shock last Sunday morning about 12:15 o'clock when the automobile in which she was riding overturned on Route 15 about a mile north of Emmitsburg.

The injured girl was Miss Jane Deardorff, 16, of Gettysburg. She was removed to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., for treatment.

Driver of the car, Wilbur D. Kaufman, Waynesboro, Pa., escaped with slight cuts. He was charged with drunken and reckless driving and fined $110 and costs by Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan in Emmitsburg on Monday. In default of payment he was committed to jail.

According to the investigation made by Troopers Kenneth D. Bond and H. J. Brown, Kaufman, proceeding north, failed to negotiate a left curve, ran off the road on the right side of the highway and then overturned in the road. Damage to the car was estimated at $500.

Kaufman was also found guilty on a charge of assault and battery on Lois Wolfe, Westminster Route 2, at a tavern near Emmitsburg prior to the accident and fined $15 and costs.

Local Men

Narrowly Escape Injury

Four local residents narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday as the result of an automobile crash that occurred near Salisbury, Md.

The four were on a fishing trip to the "Shoe" when the mishap occurred. Occupants of the car, a station wagon owned by Mr. B. H. Boyle, were Russell Funk, Mr. Boyle, Dominic Greco and Robert L. Ksontz.

The wreck happened when another car rammed into the left rear of the Boyle station wagon, which was badly damaged but managed to complete the trip.

Scouts Plan To Build

Scoutmaster Franklin Wastler of the local Boy Scouts announced this week that construction of a new clubhouse for the Emmitsburg Troop would begin immediately. Several donations have been made by local organizations and individuals to help defray the cost of the project and more are needed. Local building mechanics have agreed to donate their services. The building will be 20x24 feet in size and made of concrete block. It will be situated on the site of the old playground on Community Field.

Miss Cekada Becomes Bride Of Lieut. Rowe

The historic Christ Church in Alexandria, Va., was the setting September 15 for the marriage of Miss Althea Grey Cekada of Hunting Towers, Alexandria, and Durham, N. C., daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Emil B. Cekada of Durham, to First Lieut. Charles Edward Rowe, U. S. Air Force, of Atlanta, Ga., son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Joshua Rowe of Washington and Emmitsburg.

The Rev. O. V. T. Chamberlain performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception at the George Mason Hotel.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an antique ivory satin gown, designed with a sweetheart neckline, the midriff emphasized by vertical insets of the same satin, with long sleeves, and a full skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her heirloom veil of rose-point lace was arranged in cap fashion and she carried white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Richard Gwynn Long of Rixboro, N. C., the former Miss Betty Layne Hollinshead of Rochester, Minn., and Durham, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Mildred Patton of Durham, Lillian George of Spartansburg, S. C., and Alexandria, and Mrs. James W. Carter, Jr., of Washington, sister of the bridegroom.

The honor attendant wore a bouffant gown of avocado green, the bodice with a halter neckline and fitted bolero of satin, the skirt of floor-length nylon tulle over taffeta. Her hat was of matching velvet and she carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums tied with rust ribbon. The bridesmaids were attired in similar gowns and carried arm bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums with avocado green satin streamers.

Lieut. John N. Harding of Langley Air Force Base, Va., was best man and the ushers were Captains Benjamin N. McCullin, James C. Manley and James S. Reynolds of Bolling Air Force Base, Mr. Thomas Nelson Carter and Mr. John E. McMurtagh of Washington and Mr. Emil Lewis Cekada of Durham, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Rowe is the grand-daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Clellan Lewis of Kentucky and is a descendant of Betty Washington Lewis of Kenmore, Fredericksburg, Va. She was graduated from Salem Academy, Winston-Salem, N. C., and attended Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Va., and Duke University. Until recently she was with the Surgeon General's Office in Washington.

The bridegroom attended Mt. St. Mary's College and Western Kentucky State Teachers College. Since his return from overseas duty, he has been stationed at Bolling Air Force Base until his recent transfer to the 115th Special Air Missions Squadron at Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., where he is officer in charge of instrument training.

Following the wedding trip the couple will reside in Atlanta, Ga.

ATTEND GOP MEETING

A group of local women attended the recent Republican luncheon-meeting held at the Hotel Frederick, Frederick. Those attending were Mesdames Thomas Frailey, William Frailey, Charles Hoffman, Marie Rial, Luella Cunningham, and Ada Sperry. Guest speakers were State Senator Jacob R. Ramsburg and Congressional Candidate DeWitt Hyde. Mrs. Bowlus, state president of the Women's Republican group, also was a speaker.

SHELLS AND BELLS

Sea shells take the place of church bells in Kyoto, Japan, where Shinto priests call the people to worship by blowing into giant conchs, which produce a sound similar to that of a foghorn.

Local Girls To Model At Fashion Show

Miss Jean Topper and Miss Elizabeth McCullough are among those who will model the fashions for the benefit Card Party-Fashion Show being held for St. Joseph College on the college campus tomorrow at 2:00 p. m.

Miss Jacqueline Hemler of Hanover, also will be among the students and alumnae who will model.

The table prize committee has announced that attractive prizes will be awarded the high scorer at each table of bridge, "500" and canasta and many door prizes will be given away.

Refreshments will be served from a tea table that will carry out the fall theme. A sweet table will be a special feature, where cake, candy and cookies may be purchased.

Other participants in this benefit are the Baltimore, Harrisburg-York and Washington chapters. The benefit committee for the Emmitsburg chapter include: Miss Elizabeth A. Fitzgerald, general chairman, Emmitsburg; Miss Patricia McCaffrey, Frederick; Mrs. Thomas Arcidiacono, Hagerstown; Miss Mary Louise Callahan, Gettysburg and Mrs. Mark Redding, Hanover.

Tickets are on sale through local alumnae or at Houser's Drug Store, and at the door.

Time Changes

Daylight saving time will officially end for the season in Emmitsburg Sunday, Sept. 28, at 2 a. m. Clocks are turned back an hour as DST winds up, meaning that residents get an extra hour of sleep to compensate them for the hour lost when "fast time" began in April.

Democrats

Open Headquarters

Frederick County Democratic headquarters for the current political campaign was opened this week at 19 N. Court St., it was announced by Thomas S. Glass, campaign chairman. The office will be maintained throughout the campaign. W. Jerome Offutt in campaign treasurer.

Plans also are being completed for a big rally on Oct. 15, when George P. Mahoney and Mrs. Stella Werner, candidates for the U. S. Senate and Congress, respectively, will tour the county and speak here.

KERSCHNER—CULP

The marriage of Miss Mary Elizabeth Culp, daughter of Mrs. Charles T. Culp, of Vandergrift, Pa., and the late Mr. Culp, to Dr. Alan Motter Kerschner of Arlington, Va., son of Mrs. E. M. Kerschner of Burlington, N. J., formerly of Bellevue and the late Mr. Kerschner, took place at noon Saturday in the chapel of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Rev. Stuart Nye Hutchison, pastor emeritus of the church, officiated at the ceremony which was followed by a wedding breakfast in the University Club in Pittsburgh.

The bride, who was escorted by her brother, James T. Culp, of Webster Groves, Mo., wore a street-length dress of turquoise blue, a small white hat, and a white orchid corsage. Her only attendant, Miss Louise Kerschner of Burlington, sister of the bridegroom, wore a gold silk dress with matching hat and bronze pompons.

Henry G. Siegrist of Bordertown, N. J., was Dr. Kerschner's best man. Ushers were Dr. John W. MacMillan of College Park, Md.; Dr. Ray C. Hackman of Bethesda, Md.; Dr. Alexander C. Williams of Champaign, Ill., and John S. Peake of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Kerschner, a graduate of Wilson College and the Columbia University School of Journalism, was formerly assistant to public information at Wilson. An alumnus of Gettysburg College, Dr. Kerschner received his M.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Maryland. The Kerschners are visiting the Poconos on a wedding trip and on their return will live in Arlington, Va. They have relatives and friends in Emmitsburg.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Houser, Col. and Mrs. T. J. Frailey, Mrs. Alice H. Frailey and Mrs. H. P. Freeman attended the Eisenhower Day celebration at Frederick yesterday afternoon and heard the general give a talk.

Sportsmen Consider Building Lodge

Members of the Indian Look-out Conservation Club met in regular session Tuesday evening at the Fire Hall. About 50 members were present and President Everett Chrimer presided. Secretary Harold Hoke's minutes were approved as presented.

During the meeting a discussion was held concerning the erection of some type of meeting lodge and a suitable location, possibly near a body of water. President Chrimer appointed a committee to investigate the possibilities of such a building. The club agreed to purchase pheasant eggs for hatching next spring and subsequently will release them in the mountain game preserve in an effort to stimulate the growth of this type of bird in this locality, with an aim at better hunting in the future.

Again the club will have printed "Hunting by Permission Only" signs and will make them available free, to local farmers and property-owners desiring them. Members feel that these signs have been cultivating goodwill between the club and land-owners as the granting of privileges of hunting are more widespread in recent years since this method has been in effect.

Plans for a shooting match were formulated at the meeting and it was decided to promote such an activity on October 26, at 1 p. m. at beautiful Emmits Gardens. As is the annual custom, Rainbow Lake will be closed to all fishing at the end of September. Fishing has been by permission only and anglers were to be accompanied by a member of the sportsmen's club. Recently Mr. William Rowe landed a big 18 1/2-inch large-mouth bass at the spot.

Weldon B. Shank and several members of the local archery club displayed hunting by archery exhibits to the members and explained their use and nomenclature. Later Mr. Shank showed colored slides of the many phases of the popular sport.

Couple Celebrates 40th Anniversary

An Emmitsburg couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bell, E. Main Street, celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary Tuesday, Sept. 16, at a party tendered them by friends in the Presbyterian Chapel. Sixty-two attended the affair.

The color scheme of the evening was red and white and the room was appropriately arrayed with an abundance of beautiful flowers.

Red rosebud corsages were worn by Mr. and Mrs. Bell while Miss Frances Ogle and Mrs. Charles Valentine, who served the refreshments, wore red carnation corsages. A three-tier wedding cake with bride and bridegroom, adorned the table, with large white candles.

A short devotional and business meeting of the Mite Society was conducted by the acting president, Mrs. Bell.

The master of ceremonies for the evening was Mr. Samuel C. Hays, who presided with song-group singing and a quiz.

The happy couple received many beautiful and useful gifts and cards and flowers.

Financial Help Provided

For Re-interment

When the body of a serviceman who died overseas after June 24, 1950, is brought to the U. S. for reburial, the Social Security Administration may repay part of the cost of the reburial, in certain cases, according to Mr. Wilbur King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office.

Ordinarily, a claim for the social security lump sum for burial expenses must be filed within two years after death. Recent amendments to the social security law, however, provide an extension of the time limit in cases where the body of a serviceman who died after June 24, 1950, is returned to the United States for reburial. In these cases the reimbursement may be applied for within two years of the date of burial or reburial rather than within two years after the date of death.

Where the serviceman is survived by a widow this provision will not ordinarily apply, since in these cases the lump sum is paid to her regardless of who pays the burial expenses.

LI, CHOU AND PORT ARTHUR

If history doesn't repeat itself, it certainly is filled with funny coincidences. A first class example of this is contained in the announcement that Russia is not, after all, going to turn Port Arthur back to the Chinese at the end of this year.

Port Arthur is a fine harbor and naval base at the foot of the Liaotung peninsula which is now and has always been of the greatest strategic value to China. No government of China, whatever its political complexion, can be happy to see Port Arthur in the hands of a foreign power. Yet according to the Soviet news agency Tass, the Chinese foreign minister, Chou En-lai, actually asked the Russians to stay on. The persuasiveness of the Russian negotiators at the recent Moscow conference must have been something wonderful to behold.

The port first became an international problem following the victory of Japan over China in the war of 1894-95. Japan secured Port Arthur by the peace treaty, and the Russians at once dispatched an outraged protest to Tokyo. Virtuously indignant, the Russians asserted that the cession of Port Arthur would imperil the independence and integrity of China, and demanded that the Japanese get out. Since the Japanese at the time didn't feel strong enough to take on the Russians, they gave in and returned Port Arthur to China.

After a suitable delay for the sake of appearance, the Russians suggested that they could better defend China against renewed attacks by Japan if the Chinese would surrender Port Arthur to the czar. The Russians gave China five days to think over their suggestion, and in order to smooth the path of diplomacy they offered a bribe of five hundred thousand taels to Li Hung-chang, the principal Chinese negotiator. In the words of the leading authority on this period, "Li protested, but not too much." Russia got Port Arthur.

As it happened, Russia did not keep Port Arthur very long. In the war of 1904-05 the Japanese gave the Russians a thorough beating, and Port Arthur was part of the spoils of the victory. Japan held Port Arthur until 1945 and the end of the war in the Pacific, which the Russians entered barely in time to sign the armistice.

Oddly enough, seeing that the Soviets had disavowed the imperialistic schemes of their czarist predecessors, it soon became apparent that Stalin was just as interested in holding on to Port Arthur as Nicholas had been. In February, 1950, the Russians made a treaty with the Chinese and agreed to evacuate Port Arthur by the end of 1952, but by the new agreement this is not to be, and the reason given is one honored by time and long usage: "conditions have arisen," says Tass, "favorable for a reiteration of Japanese aggression."

Even so, it may be wondered whether Chou really went so far as to invite the Russians to remain in Port Arthur. In the secrecy of the Moscow talks Chou may have even argued a little, for he is Chinese and therefore must be aware of what Port Arthur means to his country. But if Chou did protest, it is quite clear that, like Li before him, he did not protest too much.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Price support on the 1953 wheat crop will be not less than $2.21 a bushel, national average, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan has announced. This compares with a support of $2.20 a bushel for the 1952 crop, now eligible for loans and purchase agreements.

If the wheat parity price as of July 1, 1953, is higher, the support level will be increased to reflect 90 per cent of the wheat parity price at that time. Minimum price supports are announced at this time in accordance with "forward pricing" provisions of authorizing legislation.

According to James A. Cottman, acting chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee, wheat prices will be supported through farm and warehouse storage loans and purchase agreements, available from time of harvest through Jan. 31, 1953. He urges farmers who have had trouble getting storage for their wheat this past season to give serious consideration to the construction of additional storage capacity.

The 1952 winter wheat acreage goal for Maryland has been set at 275,000 acres. Mr. Cottman pointed out that it is important that farmers don't exceed this goal, since overplanting the national goal by any substantial amount would result in acreage allotments for wheat in the fall of 1953. "If all states cooperate in the slight reduction asked by the Dept. of Agriculture, wheat allotments can be avoided," Mr. Cottman said.

The national wheat production goal for the 1953 harvest calls for 72 million seeded acres, which, at average yields, would produce about 1080 million bushels. This compares with 77.5 million acres seeded for the 1952 crop and an estimated production of 1298 million bushels. Total wheat supplies for the 1952-53 marketing year which began July 1 amount to 1577 million bushels, the third largest in history. The carry-over next July 1 is expected to be about double the 254 million bushels of mid-1952.

New Social Security Law Affects Minors Of Deceased Vets

Changes made in July in the social security law have special importance for minor children of men who died in military service after Sept. 16, 1947, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office.

Until the new law was passed service in World War II could count toward social security payments but service after the end of World War II did not. The new law extends the social security credits to cover military or naval service after the end of the war, so that now service at any time from Sept. 16, 1940, to Dec. 31, 1953, may count toward benefits.

Children are not the only dependents who may get monthly payments, Mr. King pointed out—widows over 65, and widows under 65 with minor children in their care may also be entitled to them. Dependent parents may be eligible if the serviceman is not survived by a widow or child.

Social security credits for military service after the end of World War II will be used in figuring monthly benefits beginning in September. They will not count toward lump-sum death payments where death occurs before September 1952.

Mr. King suggests that some member of the family inquire at the social security office about the social security account of every deceased veteran or serviceman who had military service after July, 1947, and is survived by a widow, child, or dependent parent.

Dentists, Physicians In Priority 3 To Be Inducted

Instructions were issued last week to all Maryland Selective Service system boards to order all priority three physicians and dentists in Maryland to report for physical examinations as quickly as possible, Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of selective service, said. Those physicians and dentists who are not yet 51 years of age, and who have not had active service in the armed forces since Sept. 16, 1940, are in priority 3.

Col. Stanwood said further, that this directive is designed to accomplish several things. It will provide the physician or dentist with the knowledge at the earliest possible date, that he is or is not acceptable for service in the armed forces. This will enable him to make necessary personal arrangements before being called into the service. Then, too, it will enable Selective Service boards to complete required classification actions applying to these professional men, and to be ready to accomplish their entry into the armed forces without delay when the Dept. of Defense indicates that they are needed. This procedure will also make it possible for communities to take preliminary steps for replacing physicians and dentists who will be needed by the armed forces and who must later be taken from their present practice. In this connection, Col. Stanwood pointed out that this does not mean a blanket withdrawal of physicians and dentists from any community. When a Selective Service induction call is issued later, the youngest men in priority 3 are called first, the number so called being dependent upon the needs of the armed forces at that time.

FUND TO MEET

The Community Fund of Emmitsburg will meet in regular session Monday evening at 8 p. m. in the VFW home on the Square, it was announced this week by President Paul A. Keepers.

Rev. Dr. Gommard DePauw Added To Mt. St. Mary's Faculty

The Rev. Dr. Gommard De Pauw, Belgian scholar who was captured and escaped from the Germans in World War II, was named professor of moral theology at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary.

The appointment was announced by the Very Rev. Joseph F. McDonnell, rector of the seminary.

At the age of 17, Dr. De Pauw was graduated from the Catholic College of St. Nicholas-Waas in Belgium. His family helped settle New York in the 17th Century.

His studies were interrupted by World War II which he served with the Belgian Army and was taken prisoner during the Battle of Dunkirk. He later escaped from the Germans and managed to complete his theological studies at the seminary of Ghent. He was ordained at 23.

Dr. De Pauw also saw active service with the Belgian underground army and the Free Polish Army, taking part in the liberation of Northern Belgium and Southern Holland in 1944 and 1945.

He came to the U. S. in 1949 as a curate at St. Stephen's and St. Clare's parishes, New York City. He completed his works for the doctorate in the School of Canon Law at Catholic University last year.

Skelton and Son

Red Skelton's friends are still telling the story of the wayward bus—the school bus, that is, on which Red's small son Richard was going home in a routine way when his famous Dad joined the crowd of small fry. Red, who loves youngsters, promptly put on an informal show for them and the bus driver was hours getting any of the small audience to leave the bus! A natural story teller, Red's urge to delineate interesting characters extends to brush and pen work, too—and his sketches and paintings of clowns, in particular, are famous.

Your Personal Health

EXIT CAMILLE

The legend of Camille dies hard. Many people still believe that tuberculosis is chiefly a disease of young women. Whether this can be traced to the influence of Dumas' dramatic novel and Verdi's tuneful opera in which the Lady of the Camellias coughs her life away in the last act, or whether it was once really true, is difficult to know. Statistics today tell a different story.

If you are a man in your late forties, you are the central figure in the TB drama today. The median age of those who died from tuberculosis was 33.3 in 1924. It has risen steadily since then to 48 in 1949. Add to that the fact that twice as many white men as white women die from TB, one and a half times as many Negro men as women, and you see immediately where you stand.

If, in addition, you live and work in the city your chances of catching the disease are even greater. Stop a moment and picture your crowded living and working conditions and you will see your chances of coming into close contact with an active case of tuberculosis—the only way you can catch the disease.

There are still other factors that may make you peculiarly susceptible to TB. It is believed that tension and anxiety, only too well known to men of your age, weaken resistance. And if you are one of those men who grab a cup of coffee in the morning before running for the bus to work, eat a hurried sandwich for lunch, figuring to make up with a heavy dinner at night, poor nutrition is adding to your danger.

When middle-aged men break down with TB special problems are created for the family and the community. No one has to underline what loss of income and loss of the father's stabilizing presence can mean to a family. The community suffers because of loss of the man's work and the possible cost of compensation, pension, and relief payments.

The personal problems for the man himself are heavy indeed. He may worry about his job and his family's security, and worry can menace recovery from TB. He must face the fact that, to some extent, he will have to change his accustomed way of living after he is well enough to leave the hospital. He may even have to find some new kind of work that will not overtax his strength.

There are people ready and able to help him solve his problems. But there's no blinking the difficulties. Prevention would be

Air Force Helping Civil Air Patrol

The U. S. Air Force is making available to its civilian auxiliary, Civil Air Patrol, world aeronautical charts to be used in the Maryland CAP training program.

The charts, used in the training of CAF cadets, provide practical application for the plotting of aeronautical courses and recognition of many symbols.

Maps are available to CAP units throughout the State by contacting the Maryland Wing, CAP headquarters, at Friendship Airport.

Air minded youngsters throughout the State are eligible to become CAP cadets if they are between the ages of 15 and 18 years. While actual flying lessons are not given, cadets are encouraged to learn to fly and are giving instructions in the theory of flight, navigation, weather and aircraft recognition.

CAP is augmenting its cadet program in Maryland in order that young Marylanders may better adjust to the age of flight and take their places in a world where aviation has changed all aspects of living.

A good diet, plenty of sleep, moderate outdoor recreation, clothing suited to the weather to prevent colds, keeping away from crowds as much as possible, avoidance of unnecessary strain, a physical check-up with a chest X-ray, at least once a year, and, finally, cooperation with community efforts to check the spread of TB—these are your best protection against the tragedy of tuberculosis.

O'Connor's Fight To Restrict Shipments To Red Countries Bears Fruit

Agreement by the U. S. and 11 allied countries to clamp stringent controls on trans-shipments of strategic products and materials to other countries was hailed recently by Senator Herbert R. O'Connor as a belated but none-the-less-welcome security measure.

The Maryland senior Senator, as chairman of the Senate subcommittee on export controls and policies investigating such shipments, had recommended more than a year ago that such action be taken by the non-Communist nations, under U. S. leadership.

"Everyone who appreciates the magnitude of the Communist threat to U. S. and world peace will applaud this agreement," Sen. O'Connor declared. "Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and officials of international trade are to be commended warmly for their patience and determination in finally effecting this vital move despite the many obstacles encountered."

"Certainly it was an indefensible situation where highly strategic products from this country and other Allied Nations were permitted to be shipped to various countries when it was well known that a great proportion of the products were being trans-shipped subsequently to countries under Communist domination in Eastern Europe or to Red China.

"Our subcommittee developed a wealth of factual data revealing the vast extent to which Communist aggression in Korea was being furthered by materials and products thus trans-shipped. It is welcome news, indeed, that this loophole will now be plugged."

Under the 11-power agreement, Sen. O'Connor pointed out, foreign exporters must certify to their own government that strategic goods from the U. S., or elsewhere, will not be re-exported without permission.

As far as American exporters are concerned, Sen. O'Connor further emphasized, they will not be permitted to ship strategic materials to any of the 11 countries until Commerce officials here have received from the foreign importers the required guarantee against trans-shipment.

Among the 11 nations which are parties to the agreement just announced are Great Britain, Belgium, and Western Germany, which have been the object upon various occasions of special criticism by Sen. O'Connor either for trade agreements making available strategic materials and products to Russia and other Communist countries, or for their lack of precaution against trans-shipment through their territories to enemy areas.

Other nations which have joined with the U. S. in opposition to trans-shipments of strategic materials are Canada, Luxembourg, France, Italy, Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, and Portugal.

"Our subcommittee was able to help bring about a complete embargo on shipments of strategic items to countries in the Soviet bloc in December of 1950," Sen. O'Connor asserted, "and efforts immediately were initiated at that time to close the door to such shipments and trans-shipments from the nations joined with us under the UN flag in Korea. It has been a long, and at times, a discouraging fight but it finally has been won, and I am convinced that this new agreement will represent a real body blow to the aggressive power of Russia and her satellites."

YOUR UNITED STATES
BY FLOYD CRAMER
PRESIDENT, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF FREE ENTERPRISE, INC.

During this campaign, just as in every other, we have been hearing a great deal of oratory about majority rule. I wonder if some of the orators mean what they say, or even understand what they are saying. To judge by their words alone, they seem to believe that a majority of the people of the U. S. can do anything they want to whenever they feel like it. Such statements are inaccurate and un-American.

America is the country where all men, including the minority, have inalienable rights which not even the majority can take away from them as long as our Constitution stands.

The Founding Fathers listed three of these rights in the opening passage of the Declaration of Independence as "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Then in the first 10 amendments to the Constitution, which we popularly refer to as the Bill of Rights, they spelled them out in more detail, putting definite limits to the powers of Congress so that minorities might be protected.

The Founding Fathers guaranteed us freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly and many other rights in addition, for two reasons. First, they knew that without such specific freedoms real liberty was impossible. Second, they foresaw the possibility that demagogues might from time to time capture the majority temporarily.

For these reasons, the powers of the majority were sharply limited in order that minorities might remain free.

Certainly, our Constitution is not iron-clad. It can be amended; it has been.

But the process of amendment is one which requires time and Who's Kidding Whom?

Don't make the mistake I did! While browsing through some old newspaper files I came upon a grocery store advertisement in a 12-year-old newspaper. This is what was advertised: No. 2 can of tomatoes, 5 cents. Head of lettuce, 7½ cents. Round steak, 25c per pound ($1.25 per pound today!) All the other groceries were priced unbelievably low. This ad would shock anyone. Its significance was bolstered by an article in the Sept. issue of the American Legion Magazine entitled "Why You Have Trouble Making Ends Meet."

The article was written by Donald R. Wilson, national Legion commander. The subheadline explained its contents: "What you should know about our phony prosperity, and the danger it presents to every one of us and to the nation as well." Commander Wilson takes up the case of a typical GI couple, Jane and Joe Thompson. The successes, the setbacks, the hopes and the disappointments of this couple strikingly show what a "prosperity" based on war spending and government borrowing really means in terms of the

The regular meeting of Elias Ev. Lutheran Church Council will be held at the parish house Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, at 7:30 o'clock. family budget.

"Stage Money"

Before the war Joe made $25 a week and he thought it fair pay for a youngster. In 1946, just out of the Army, he got $55 a week. The cost of living was 40 per cent higher, and Joe married Jane. Joe got raises periodically, but the rise in prices ate them up. The first Thompson child was born in 1948. Expenses mounted. A second baby came in 1950. Joe now was making $75 a week, but he was now paying $32 income taxes annually in spite of exemptions for the children. In January 1951, the Thompsons figured that, financially speaking, they were about where they were in 1946.

Joe got a $5 raise in January, 1952, $260 a year increase. And the central purpose of this American Legion article is to show "how much of that $260 is theirs to keep, and how much is just 'stage money.'" The answer, says the American Legion, will apply to a lot of other people too. "For Joe, with his $75 a week," the article says, "isn't far from being the average U. S. wage earner. And Jane, with two children to bring up, is about the typical U. S. housewife."

Taxes Bite Hard

The first big bite into the $260 raise is taken by Federal taxes. Partly because of the rise, and partly because of a tax rate hike, Joe's income tax jumped from $326 to $405 in 1952, an increase of $80. That left $180 to the good. But the rising cost of living began to whittle away. The Thompson family of four required about one-third of Joe's earnings for food, and between January 1952 and July 1952 food prices rose, and they continued to rise after July.

About 13 per cent of the Thompson's money went for clothing. Apparel dropped slightly the first six months, but then began to rise early in the fall. Approximately 20 per cent of Joe's income was earmarked for rent, fuel, and house furnishings. Their coal bill went up, and furniture and appliances did too, the Legion article says. The remaining 30 per cent of Joe's income was earmarked for "miscellaneous" doctor bills, gas for automobile, cigarettes, utilities, family spending money; and it simply doesn't go as far as it did in 1951.

Make-Believe Game

Legion Commander Wilson says most economists expect the cost of living to go up something like five per cent in a 12-months period. The rise doesn't come in a straight line. Prices may hang steady, or drop a bit, along with the rises. But from January to January the result will be an increase of about five per cent.

So there goes about $175 for the Thompsons (five per cent of income, after taxes). The Thompsons, then, have only $5 left out of the $260 raise! "What has happened," observed Commander Wilson, "is that Joe and all the rest of us have been playing an elaborate game of make-believe and playing it on ourselves. We have been blowing our incomes up—and blowing prices up right along with them. And we have been kidding ourselves that somehow we were getting ahead in the process." But when we strike a balance, we see that most of us aren't getting ahead. High taxes and other government policies which feed inflation and make the future stability of the dollar shaky are actually holding back progress—and if permitted to continue long enough they will kill this nation's capacity for progress. We must quit kidding ourselves and work toward a sane stable economy.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The controversy over the 400 page Federal Trade Commission report on worldwide oil monopoly, released to the Senate Small Business Committee continues to draw the top billing in Washington.

As it appears now, the basis for the worldwide oil monopoly by which five U. S. and two British companies control the major share of both reserves and production, was started in the U. S. in the mid-thirties.

Around 1936, the report states, under the guise of conservation of oil, Congress passed an act permitting states to control oil production.

At that time, as now, more oil can be produced than can be consumed. However, Congress was stampeded into passing the necessary legislation as a means of saving oil.

Actually, the result has been somewhat different, FTC says.

Oil production has been slashed, it is found, when prices go down due to ample supply and before the law of supply and demand reduced prices.

The FTC reports that there has never been a real shortage of petroleum. For example, the committee quotes January and February 1947 when Eastern homeowners froze because of a supposed heating oil shortage.

At that time the major oil companies had in storage 220 million barrels of oil which could have been refined by the independent refiners. They were seeking work, because enforced curtailment of production kept them from getting crude from independent producers.

The only way that the independent refiners could get any of this vast supply was to agree to exorbitant terms set up by the major companies holding the surplus, in an oily version of the dog in the manger story.

Without the government giving power to control U. S. oil production, it is held doubtful that the present international oil cartel could have been built. The FTC report states that "conservation" was the missing link that was needed by the major U. S. companies to forge themselves into a world cartel.

The report further states that when government acts to curtail production, it breeds monopoly.

For this reason, one of the solutions of the present scandal brought about by the release of the FTC report after months of secrecy, will possibly be legislation removing all legal restrictions on oil production.

It is not believed that if oil prices go down due to the collapse of monopoly pricing control, that everyone will rush out and buy an extra automobile in order to use more oil.

But such a move, coupled with strong protection of independent oil producers and refiners through the application of the anti-trust laws, might result in the public having a wider choice of brands, grades and prices on gasoline and oil.

Perhaps some Congressmen have over simplified the problem but here is their feeling on the entire oil situation.

"There is no problem that a little, free, independent old fashioned competition won't solve."

GM to Sponsor Football Telecasts

General Motors will sponsor the television football "Game of the Week" this year on the nationwide-63 television station network of NBC. In co-operation with the National Collegiate Athletic Association, GM will televise 11 selected games on successive Saturdays during the football season, concluding with the traditional Army-Navy game in Philadelphia November 29. The first game to be televised will be the Kansas-Texas Christian game at Lawrence, Kan., September 20. William F. Hufstader, GM vice-president in charge of distribution staff, is shown signing the contract for the games as Asa S. Bushnell, NCAA official (center), and Paul Garrett, vice-president of public relations staff for GM, look on.

General Motors Sponsors Grid Games

Another standout contest in the General Motors sponsored TV Football Game of the Week series will delight sports fans across the nation when NBC trains its cameras on the Princeton-Columbia struggle tomorrow, at Baker Field, N. Y. Selected by the NCAA as the most important game of the date, it will be the only college game to be telecast nationally. The season's opener for both colleges will find Princeton defending its unbroken run of 22 victories against a somewhat green Columbia eleven. The game, which starts at 1:45 p. m., will be carried on the full NBC-TV network.

The Bi-State Area Business Review Page

Opportunity Given To Win Prizes!

On this page there appears "Business Review Stories" about firms in the area served by the Emmitsburg Chronicle. Each of the "Business Review Stories" is concluded with a question that pertains to the firms that are described. In order to compete, it is necessary for residents of the respective communities to call or visit each of the firms that are described by the "Business Stories" on this page, obtaining from the firms the correct answers to all questions.

After getting the answers to the questions from all of the concerns on this page, it is then necessary to write a brief story in your own words, about any of the firms. Mail your set of answers and your essay about the firm with which you are most familiar, to Business Review Story Editor, care of this paper. All entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, one week from date of publication. Decisions of the judges are final and all letters become the property of this newspaper.

Cash prizes of five dollars each are offered residents of our area. The best essay from any community, on each story printed here, accompanied by a full set of answers to the questions asked at the end of "Business Review Stories" will be adjudged the winning entry.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Sept. 25—As this is my last week in Gloucester, for this summer season, let me speak of the wealth of the sea. So many pessimistic articles are being written as to the waste of our land resources, let me call attention to the fact that three quarters of the earth's surface—namely, the oceans—are an undiscovered world of riches. The sea offers great opportunities to students, wage workers and investors. Owing to good harbors and other advantages, I believe Gloucester, Newburyport and other seaports have a great future. Minerals in the Ocean

Today there are few plants taking magnesium, iodine, and bromine from the sea; but there are great quantities of aluminum, boron, calcium, chlorine, copper, fluorine, lithium, potassium, selenium, sulphur, and zinc, not to mention sodium chloride. There is even gold! The sea contains enough of these minerals to last a thousand years and I visualize these seaports becoming great centers of these new industries.

When I was a boy, the cod, haddock, and mackerel business was at its height, while rosefish (now known as ocean perch) was thrown away. To illustrate how times change, the catching, filleting and freezing of ocean perch is now Gloucester's leading industry. Gloucester, however, is handicapped by the fish moving out further from the coast. They may later be attracted back by artificial lighting or the use of fertilizers.

New Kinds of Fish

The next great development will be the catching and processing of "waste fish," such as pogies, squid, skate, etc. These are now used for fish oil and chicken food, but they have excellent nutritional qualities. Later we will be gathering, processing and canning planktonic organisms. This industry has a great future. Seaweed products will also be produced and sold.

The sea is very rich, due to the drainage accumulations from the land for millions of years; but it is now rapidly increasing for food values. While the farms of the West are gradually getting poorer through erosion and cultivation, the sea is constantly becoming richer. Every rain throughout the great agricultural West washes minerals, vitamins, and other food products from the soil into the rivers and finally into the sea. A large portion of fertilizer being put on the soils finally goes into the ocean, while the rich sewerage of our large cities is making the sea a great storehouse for future foods. Readers who are interested in these new possibilities should talk with Dr. Henry B. Bigelow of the Oceanographic Institution at Woods Hole, Mass., or the Scripps Institution at La Jolla, Calif.

Lessons of History

During the early days of Gloucester, the chief industry was the cutting of timber, the sawing of boards, and the building of small vessels. Most of Massachusetts was then heavily wooded. By 1800 the timber of Cape Ann had largely been cut and shipbuilding moved to Essex. The next industry was the granite industry. Most of the Federal buildings of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and other large cities were built of Cape Ann granite. The "waste" was made into paving stones, which paved the streets of these cities. But concrete and asphalt came along and killed the granite business.

Although the fishing business had always existed in a small way, yet it was not fully developed until the granite business began to peter out. Later came the "summer people." Unfortunately, due (1) to the fish changing their habits of abode, (2) to unreasonable labor demands, and (3) in increasing foreign importations, the fishing business, as now conducted, may be on the decline. But I am not worried as to the future. I believe that with the establishment of the new School for Fisheries the wealth of the

Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Kerigan, Philadelphia, visited last Thursday with Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, E. Main St.

Sea will continue to make Gloucester and other seaports prosperous. Instead of filleting plants, Gloucester will have chemical works, pharmaceutical factories and will can the small planktonic organisms heretofore neglected.

Certified Baking Co. Operating Modern Bakery

The great advantage of modern baking methods over those fifty years ago is in the remarkable control bakers now have over selection of ingredients, production methods, processing and distribution. Every process, every method, every machine and every ingredient is always under control. Temperature and humidity, so important in baking quality products, are controlled to the exact degree. The precise standards set up for any product are strictly adhered to. The modern way of baking combines intricate machine processes with skillful human supervision.

Success and happiness depends upon health and health depends largely upon the quality of food that we eat. Good bread and pastries are essential to every man, woman and child and in these modern times the responsibility of such firms as the Certified Baking Co., at 134 West Third Street in Waynesboro, backed by its efforts to make ever better bakery products, offers the people of this bi-state region goods of unsurpassed quality.

All products produced by the Certified Baking Co., are baked under the most wholesome conditions and only the purest of ingredients are used. The firm also makes a specialty of cakes of any type for all special occasions. Nothing is used in the process but the best grades of flour, sugar, pure milk, and other elements mixed and baked by scientific machines and with experienced workmen.

The Certified Baking Co., formerly known as the Wyand Baking Co., has served this region for some 35 years and is today under the capable management of Mr. John Roland. The business is conducted in a most progressive manner, and prompt, convenient service is rendered at all times, whether the bakery or in the attention to specialties for memorable occasions. This concern is truly Waynesboro's home of the best baked goods, and is rightfully famous for the flavor and quality of its products. Do you know how many different types of pastries are baked by the Certified Baking Co.?

G. C. Middour Co. Leading Asset To Area Prosperity

In the comparatively short history of our nation we have taken the ascendancy and forged ahead of all other nations on the globe because we have met competition both within our borders and in world markets, with superior services and superior products. The diversity and distribution of our industries insure our future leadership and the permanent solvency of our country. While this national security is of utmost importance, more closely affecting us, as individuals, are the industries of our own section, enterprises whose activities tend to convert materials and resources into liquid funds.

Such concerns as the G. C. Middour Co., with office and plant on Walnut Street in Waynesboro, manufacturers of aluminum storm doors and windows, are truly assets to their entire region. Inevitably it follows that with progress there is prosperity for individuals who reside there. Thus each, and every resident may well lend their aid and good will to such concerns, if only for their own benefit. Representing this firm in the Emmitsburg area is Mr. M. F. Shuff Jr.

To meet present day competition requires, of course, business acumen but, as never before success comes only through the creation of superior products. Scientific improvements, constant research, designing by ever-better trained minds, continually improved types of equipment; these things have been responsible for the luxuries we enjoy in countless numbers—which are so common place that we only recognize them through comparison with other nations.

The products of this firm have met wide favor, as is evidenced by their distribution throughout the entire eastern section of the United States. Mr. G. C. Middour, the general manager of this concern, and personnel are to be commended upon the leading asset this firm has been to area prosperity since its establishment in 1949. Do you know how many different types of aluminum storm doors and windows are produced by the G. C. Middour Co.?

Hess Farm Equipment Fulfills Agricultural Needs

The services of the farm machinery dealer are one of the most important to any agricultural trading region and as such he must be in a position to fulfill the needs of the farmer promptly and at reasonable prices.

The Hess Farm Equipment firm, located in Quincy, Pa., has proven its worth to the farmers by virtue of four years of continuous service and by offering a complete sales and service in anything relating to Minneapolis-Moline and Ferguson tractors and equipment, and Fox implements. Here, too, they carry a complete line of parts and accessories and render complete repair service on all products handled.

In attempting any resume of the advancement highlights in farm machinery manufacture, the names of Minneapolis-Moline, Ferguson and Fox, stand out as ones which have contributed many improvements designed to soften the many burdens of the farmer, and hence afford him more leisure hours for self-improvement. At the Hess Farm Equipment firm, they are in a position to give you judicious assistance in selecting that piece of equipment that will best "do the job."

The Hess Farm Equipment firm is under the personal direction and ownership of Mr. Joseph Hess, and he and his organization deserve commendation for the admirable policies that they have followed in the conduct of the business and for the way they aid in the agricultural advancement of this section. Do you know how many different attachments can be purchased for use on Ferguson tractors?

Zuckerman Iron & Steel Rendering Beneficial Service

The Zuckerman Iron and Steel, at 345 West Fourth Street in Waynesboro, is an up to the minute establishment that renders an unusual and advantageous service to the people of this section. Every territory must have an outlet for such a grade of merchandise as scrap metals, old machinery and various other types of junk, otherwise there would be too much loss from waste materials. This prominent company very ably salvages this and thus saves a great deal of money to many patrons.

In the yards at the Zuckerman Iron and Steel, all the materials bought by them are catalogued as to price paid, and space allotted in their yards. They pay the highest prices for all junk and will gladly quote prices on request. If you have anything in this line you will find it to your interest to consult with this local establishment before you dispose of it.

This reputable company buys and disassembles machinery, deals in non-ferrous metals, I-beams, angles channels, used pipes, and tanks, etc. You can reach them by telephone and prompt response is given to all calls. The firm has established an enviable reputation throughout the trade area because of its straightforward business methods. Ninety percent of all scrap handled by this firm goes to plants to be used for defense purposes.

The Zuckerman Iron and Steel is under the ownership and direction of Mr. Max Zuckerman, who has operated this 38 year old firm for the past ten years. He is deserving of commendation upon the manner in which his business is conducted and people of this area should acquaint themselves with this firm and the benefits that we all derive from their years of experience. Do you know what current prices are being paid by this local concern for non-ferrous metals?

Has America enough POWER ?

The U.S. today uses twice as much electricity as before World War II. Is there enough for defense, for civilian needs and for such giant jobs as A-bomb manufacture? Here's how the electric light and power companies are meeting—and staying ahead of—these huge needs.

NO JOB TOO BIG Some people say that the really big electric power projects are jobs only the government can handle. The facts disprove this. Five local electric companies have offered to develop all additional power available at Niagara Falls with a giant new power plant. Five other business-managed companies are completing one of the largest single power plants ever built at one time—a project that will supply power to the new A-bomb plant at Paducah, Ky. Fifteen companies are ready to handle an even greater project for the Atomic Energy Commission. The electric light and power companies are ready and able to do the nation's power job—and they can save you and other taxpayers many millions of dollars by doing it!

PLENTY OF POWER. The electric companies have kept pace with the fast-growing demands for power. These companies met the unprecedented needs of World War II. And now, in the midst of their greatest expansion program, they have already doubled that wartime supply! The only real shortages of electricity are in countries where national governments control the power industry.

ERA OF TEAMWORK. The electric companies, where there is no interference from the federal government, work together with municipally-owned power systems and farm electric groups. Electric companies' rates and earnings, of course, are closely regulated by state commissions or local authorities. However, federal electric projects are not subject to such regulation.

ORIGINALLY, IT TOOK THE BILE ACID OF 40 CATTLE AND 37 COMPLEX STEPS TO PRODUCE ENOUGH OF THE WONDER DRUG, CORTISONE, TO TREAT ONE ARTHRITIS PATIENT FOR A SINGLE DAY.

NOW, THE COMMON BREAD MOLD, RHIZOPUS, ENABLES UPJOHN'S SCIENTISTS TO PRODUCE CORTISONE CHEAPER AND IN GREATER QUANTITY.

Cortisone Production Increased

The same busy microbes that cause bread to become moldy have contributed to the solution of one of the most intricate chemical puzzles of our time. They have made available to the crippled, pain-tortured arthritis sufferer greatly increased supplies of the wonder hormone cortisone. Up to now, cortisone was invaluable in many diseases in addition to arthritis, has had to be made by about 20 very complex steps from scarce ox bile acid. Scientists at the Upjohn Company, Kalamazoo, Michigan, had a hunch unlimited quantities of cortisone could be made efficiently by fermentation—like beer and anti-biotics. To do this a mold was needed, a group of microbes that could perform the one step in the process that baffled chemists. It was a tricky problem; hundreds of molds were tested. Finally found one with the unlikely name Rhizopus, of the same family as the bread molds. It did the trick. When fermented with chemicals fermented from such sources as soybeans, yeast and Mexican yams, it produced a giant shortcut to cortisone, allowing the Upjohn Company to market it at 20 per cent below prevailing prices.

Large Field Named For Pimlico Special

Six of the 23 horses eligible for the 16th running of the Pimlico Special on Saturday, Oct. 25, already have accepted their invitations to participate in this sporting event. The Special is run at a mile and three-sixteenths and the winner takes all of the $25,000 offered by the Maryland Jockey Club in this championship affair, it was announced this week by the Maryland Jockey Club.

Acceptances have been received from Greentree Stable for One Hitter, who won the Special in 1950; from C. V. Whitney for Counterpoint, horse of the year in 1951 and from Mrs. W. M. Jeffords for One Count, Mrs. J. P. Adams for Mico, Sam E. Wilson Jr. for Royal Mustang, and Cain Loy Stable for Armageddon.

Since almost a month will elapse before the running of the Special, many of the others are expected to accept. This group includes To Market, Crafty Admiral, Next Move, Real Delight, Mark-Ye-Well, Hill Gail, A Gleam, Alerted, Blue Man, Carlie McAdam, Epigram, General Staff, Sun Bahram, and Master Fiddle.

Eddie Arcaro, generally rated No. 1 jockey of the nation, is expected to be in action in the Special on one of the Calumet Farm horses and he will be seeking his fifth triumph in this race. Eddie won it on Challedon in 1939, Assault in 1940, Shut Out in 1943, and Citation in 1948.

The 19-day meet at Pimlico will open on Saturday, Oct. 25.

Strange Wagons To Appear In Lincoln Pageant

GETTYSBURG, Pa.—A strange looking wagon, which will be included in the re-enactment of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address here on Saturday, Oct. 18, today brought up a new one of the great heartbreaks of Lincoln historians about a photographic "scoop" that never came off.

Arthur Mayberry, stage manager of the two-hour pageant being directed by Adele Gutman Nathan, said that the wagon will be included in a procession of some two dozen horse-drawn vehicles which will be a part of "Mr. Lincoln Goes to Gettysburg," sponsored by the Western Maryland Railway, the road which carried Lincoln to Gettysburg 89 years ago.

The simulated vehicle will be a photographer's wagon of the type used by Matthew Brady and his men when they journeyed from their studios. Large enough for a man to stand inside, with black curtained sides and drawn by two horses, the wagon carried the equipment and supplies needed to process photographic plates, a job that had to be done immediately in those days.

Brady sent two of his men, Bachrach and Gardner, to Gettysburg and they used such an odd wagon to cover Mr. Lincoln's visit. They managed to get set up, took their pictures and did their job, but it's doubtful if they ever did get a picture of Lincoln himself. They had pictures of the 15,000 persons gathered at Cemetery Ridge on Nov. 19, 1863, when Lincoln spoke, but no one has ever been able to find any pictures of Lincoln at Gettysburg.

According to John D. Lippy, of Gettysburg, secretary of the Lincoln Fellowship of Pennsylvania, the legend persists that Gardner and Bachrach had one broken photographic plate with Lincoln on it, but, search as he and other Lincoln scholars have, no one has ever been able to locate it.

Mr. Mayberry said Victorias, surreys, farm wagons, a Jenny Lind buggy, Lafayette gig, one-horse shay, doctor's buggy, pony cart, do-see-do trap and a brake will also be included in the horse-drawn vehicles. He spent better than a month tramping to remote farm houses in Adams County to find the vehicles, which are to be repainted and repaired here by Western Maryland Railway workmen from Union Bridge, Md.

More than 50 horses, single- and double-hitch, as well as riding horses for "Mr. Lincoln," to be portrayed by singer, actor, Ray Middleton, "military aides" and townsmen will be needed for the pageant, Mr. Mayberry said. These he located through farmers in Adams and York Counties, and through people who show horses at the York, Carlisle and South Mountain Fairs.

For the benefit of the newcomers—that is, persons less than 80, Mr. Mayberry said a Jenny Lind buggy, named for Barnum's famous singer, has a square top with side curtains and seats two people. The do-see-and-do trap is a topless buggy with high wheels, seating two couples back to back. The brake is similar to buckboard, with a flat bed and single seat, used to "brake" horses, the term in use 100 years ago which, modernized, would be spelled "break," as in "breaking them in."

A locomotive and cars used in Civil War days will bring "Lincoln" to the Western Maryland Railway Station on Carlisle St., Gettysburg, on Oct. 18. He will be greeted by more than 500 persons in costume of the day, will call at the Wills House, where Lincoln stayed overnight, and then ride horseback to the cemetery to deliver the speech in the authentic program which is to be staged here.

School Board About To Let Contract For Schools Improvement

The Board of Education this week was authorized by the Board of County Commissioners to proceed with the award of contracts which will add four classrooms at Thurmont and Emmitsburg schools in approximately 60 days for slightly over $26,000.

The school board last week opened bids on the conversion of the old auditorium-gymnasium at Thurmont and Emmitsburg schools into classrooms. Watkins Construction Co., Inc., Frederick, was the low bidder on both projects.

The low bid on the Emmitsburg job was $14,172.78 and the low bid on the Thurmont conversion was $12,394.

No contract award was made pending consultation with the County Commissioners. Under the approval granted this week, the Board of Education will arrange for financing of the project for the remainder of the current year and the construction cost will go in the 1953 school budget.

Both of the large rooms to be converted into two rooms are located on the second floors of the Emmitsburg and Thurmont schools and have been supplanted by new auditorium-gymnasiums. An upper grade elementary classroom and a home economics room will be provided at Emmitsburg and two high school classrooms will be developed at Thurmont.

CANARY "RADAR"

Canaries are raised primarily for their beautiful singing voices, but they have been used to detect dangerous gases in coal mines, as well as poison gases on the battlefield.

From the time of its formation, a lake is destined to disappear, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

200 Antique Cars Pass Through Here

A parade of old-time automobiles passed through Emmitsburg Tuesday heading south to Washington in the 1952 Glidden Tour of ancient cars.

No advance notice was given that the motorcade would come through here, so there were few spectators lined the streets to watch the carefully-preserved antiques roll along the highway.

The cars, traveling singly and in small groups, left Harrisburg early Tuesday and attracted much attention along Route 15 as they passed through Gettysburg, Emmitsburg, Thurmont, and Frederick. It is a 115-mile drive from Harrisburg to the nation's capital.

The touring relics were driven by proud owners, some of them wearing the goggles and white dusters that marked the courageous automobiler of half a century ago. The caravan of some 200 antiques, some sputtering and chugging, was led by the oldest car, a 1900 Dedion Bouton, driven by Sully Garganigo, of Shrewsbury, Mass.

Other makes and models seen as they passed through town (most of them bore placards with the name and year), were a 1910 Winton, 1915 Crane Simpler, 1910 and 1912 Pierce Arrows, 1911 Packard, 1916 Overland, a 1911 White, an Alter, Hudson, Rolls Royce, Chevrolet, Moyers, Fords, Cadillacs, Dodges and a McFarlan. They bore license plates from such states as Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio and Maryland.

In Washington they took part in a parade planned in conjunction with the Automobile Association of America's golden jubilee.

The Glidden Tour was originated in 1904 to prove the reliability of the then new fangled auto. The tours were named for Charles Glidden, a New England industrialist, who offered a handsome trophy to the winning team.

"Rare earths" actually are not very rare, but because of their chemical similarity, it has been difficult to separate them from each other and, as a result, their production and study has been rather limited.

And do believe me that if you remove that Blinker these fellows will just speed that much more. The Blinker helps to cut their speed some and I believe that we should let it there.

Do this with the Blinker. Get the flasher system working. Have an electrician install an electric system in this Blinker just as you see flasher lights at any other dangerous intersection.

The Town Fathers ought to have enough money to put this system into effect. Let's give it a try before we jump too far.

You have a speed limit in the town so let's enforce this with these speeders before some school child is injured. Take a look some time and see how fast some of these drivers come through town. I don't have to be the only one to tell you this. Ask any one that lives on the Square. Or any one that is around the Square on Sunday to observe the traffic. Abigail, everyone has their opinion of this thing. So let's all work together and see what is the best for the town. As ever,
