—BY ABIGAIL—

According to plans revealed to date, the Christmas decoration scheme is to follow along the general line used last season. As usual other neighboring towns have jumped the gun. I can't concur with the idea of placing these decorations a week before Thanksgiving. It drags out the occasion too long and becomes a bit boring as you have to view the same lights, holly wreaths, etc., until after New Year's. However, I do feel that Emmitsburg could do just a bit better than in previous years when it has been the custom of waiting until Christmas week to bedeck the old burg. Let's hope we can get started at bit earlier than usual this year. It is believed that the same organizations will do the trimmings again this year . . . that is the Corporation, the VFW, and the Lions Club, but don't take this as any confirmation of any kind. All I know to date is that the Corporation has ordered its share to proceed the same as in previous years. I haven't heard from the other organizations so far. I imagine this will be the last occasion that the Blinks will be used as an anchoring post for the decorations. At least, it was good for something. Wouldn't be surprised to see some wise yokel place a wreath on it for the holidays.

And while on the Christmas theme, I understand that more home-owners than ever before are planning to decorate their homes appropriately in an effort to win the Chamber of Commerce's monetary awards for the best schemes this year. Last season the competition was rather keen but from what I have ascertained thus far, it will be more than acute this year. Better go to work folks.

Still on the same theme: Congenial Walt Simpson is turning over in his agile brain the idea of holding a holiday band concert, the date to be set. I am told he plans to make it a double-header event with the first half entertainment by the junior band which is not yet quite a year old. This group of youngsters has progressed very satisfactorily and Walt feels they are now capable of exercising their wings and believes the time is ripe for them to strut themselves capably. The last half of the event will be filled in by the Municipal Band, which also has come a long way since its reorganization last year. Officials of the band say that it will be more or less of a graduation exercise . . . that is, the juniors having mastered the fundamentals, will be promoted to the senior organization. The two will merge after the first of the year, to form a 35-piece unit of which Emmitsburg can well be proud.

By the way, another beginner's class is about to be formed and those parents who are interested in having their children occupy a seat in the organization should immediately contact the officials of the band as the class is rapidly filling and it is believed can be started shortly after New Year's. Better act fast, parents. You know of course, that instructions are furnished free and if at all possible, even the instruments. First come, first served.

Oh deer, oh deer. Monday's the big day for those red-decked fellows with the high-powered guns to go afield. You can bank on it that there'll be shooting aplenty, come Monday. The boys are quite perturbed over the rainy spell which so badly hampered their bunny hunting expeditions, not to mention the shut-out they were given by the bears. Something or somebody must pay for this fruitless search and I guess it will be Buck from now on. Oh, deer, oh deer.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Mary C. Rosensteel, E. Main St., were Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel and sons, Phil and Jerry of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Houck, Misses Mary Teresa and Margaret Houck, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Polly and family of Fairfield, Pa.

Prof. and Mrs. Thomas Dillon of Silver Spring, were Thanksgiving Day guests of Dr. and Mrs. John J. Dillon Jr.

Seminary Rector Elevated To Monsignor

Very Rev. Joseph P. O'Donnell, rector of Mt. St. Mary's College Seminary, Emmitsburg, has received notice from the Most Rev. John F. O'Hara, C.S.C., Archbishop of Philadelphia, Pa., that His Holiness has been pleased to honor him with the dignity of Domestic Prelate and the title Right Rev. Monsignor.

Msr. O'Donnell was born in Coaldale, Pa., where he attended parochial grammar school. He came to Mt. St. Mary's Preparatory School in 1923. Following graduation from Mt. St. Mary's College in 1931, he attended Mt. St. Mary's Seminary and was ordained by His Eminence Dennis Cardinal Dougherty on May 30, 1935, for the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. Following ordination Msr. O'Donnell spent 1 year in residence at St. Edward's Parish, Philadelphia, while he taught at Roman Catholic High School.

Between 1936 and 1939, Msr. O'Donnell continued his studies in Rome, first at the Gregorian College, where he received his S.T.L. and then at the Biblical Institute, where he received his S.S.L. in 1939.

Returning to the U. S. in 1939, he was appointed to the faculty of Mt. St. Mary's College and Seminary. In 1948 he was appointed rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary by Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore.

Colonel Frailey Obtains Honorary Reserve Status

Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, USAF, who recently completed a total period of service of 29 years and 10 months in the Army of the United States, including active military duty of almost six years, has been transferred to the Honorary Reserve, an integral part of the Organized Reserve Corps. In connection with this transfer to the Honorary Reserve, Colonel Frailey received a commendatory letter on Nov. 19th from Lieutenant General Edward H. Brooks, commanding general, Second Army, Fort George G. Meade, expressing appreciation for splendid service rendered and conveying the interest and best wishes of the Department of the Army. The communication stated further in part as follows: "Your transfer to the Honorary Reserve indicates that you have completed a period of most honorable service in the Armed Forces of this nation. Your unselfish devotion to duty exemplified by your service in the Reserve program is deeply appreciated by the Chief of Staff of the Army and by me."

Colonel Frailey, a veteran of World Wars I and II, with Reserve Corps service intervening, entered the Army as a private and was promoted through the successive grades to the rank of full colonel. Although his early service was with the Infantry Section, his later military duty consisted primarily of staff and legal assignments.

EHS Alumni Dance Date Set

Carroll Frock Jr., president of the Emmitsburg High School Alumni Assn., announced this week that the annual Christmas dance, held by that body, will take place in the high school auditorium on Dec. 30. Dancing will be from 9 to 12 p. m. and music will be furnished by The Sportsmen. The affair is annually well patronized by the more than 500 alumni of the school and their friends.

Seaman Henry Wivell and buddies, Seamen Max R. Valdez Jr., Edmond Broussard, and Mitchell Martin of Portsmouth, Va., spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell and family.

Mt. St. Mary's Opens Floor Season Saturday

Mt. St. Mary's College will pry the lid off its 1952-53 basketball season when the Mountaineers face Coach George 'Rinso' Marquette's strong Lebanon Valley team in a benefit game at York Junior College Saturday night. The Mountaineers will play a 25-game schedule, most of it against Mason-Dixon Conference foes, with the opener in the conference listed for Dec. 1 with Catholic U. journeying to Emmitsburg.

This year's Mountaineer squad is far and away the cockiest in history. Completely disregarding their dismal 5 and 16 record last year, they've figured that the only way to go is up, and they are already getting their sights for the top spot. They could be right.

Their scrimmage showing has been impressive. Against star studded Indiantown Gap, Georgetown, and Maryland, they gave an excellent account of themselves. And they are certain they'll do better as the freshmen pick up experience and polish.

Last year's weak spots are this year's strong points. Sal Aneglo, 5:4 from Thomas Edison High in Elizabeth, N. J., is a rugged board man. In addition Sal has speed, savvy, good shots, and endurance. Charley O'Donnell, 6:3 from Camden Catholic, is the talk of the campus. Angelo's mate off the boards, the slender O'Donnell looks like a good wind would blow him down, yet he has opposing players muttering to themselves. Tab him for future reference. He looks like one of the most promising freshmen in Mountaineer history.

Charley does everything in superior fashion, and barring accidents should reach stardom even in his freshmen year.

Vinny Gulbin, a bright star last year, is better than ever. Angelo and O'Donnell have diverted the extra attention Gulbin used to get last year, and as a result Vinny has been banging the basket with monotonous regularity. In scrimmage his shooting chart has been close to 50 per cent.

Ted Kachnowski and Jim McKoon, the co-captains, are the only senior starters. Kachnowski left 2 pounds in New Britain, Conn., and has been a real spark. His shooting resembles the kind of marksmanship he displayed as a freshman when he was the talk of the league. McKoon, one of the hardest working players on the squad, looks like the all-state New Jerseyite he was in high school. A flock of youngsters from St. Benedict's Prep in Newark, N. J. prep school champs last year, are champing at the bit waiting for the starters to show any signs of slipping. George Donohue and Bill Stanley have played well in scrimmages; Donohue is a good steady performer and Stanley looks like the makings of a top back court operator. Little Eddie Bals, an all-tournament choice of Newark last year, drives like mad. is an excellent dribbler, and a fine set shot. Frank Smith adds depth also.

The opener against Lebanon Valley should present a real test. The Dutchmen present a veteran lineup from the team that posted an 18 and 4 record last year, the best in Lebanon history. If the Mountaineers can get by this one, there's no telling how far they may go.

The key men are O'Donnell and Angelo. Barring accidents to them, the team should improve from game to game. Should either Charley or Sal run afoul of injury, the team would have trouble clearing the boards, although Frank Swaine, who gave some excellent showings last year, might be able to take up some of the slack.

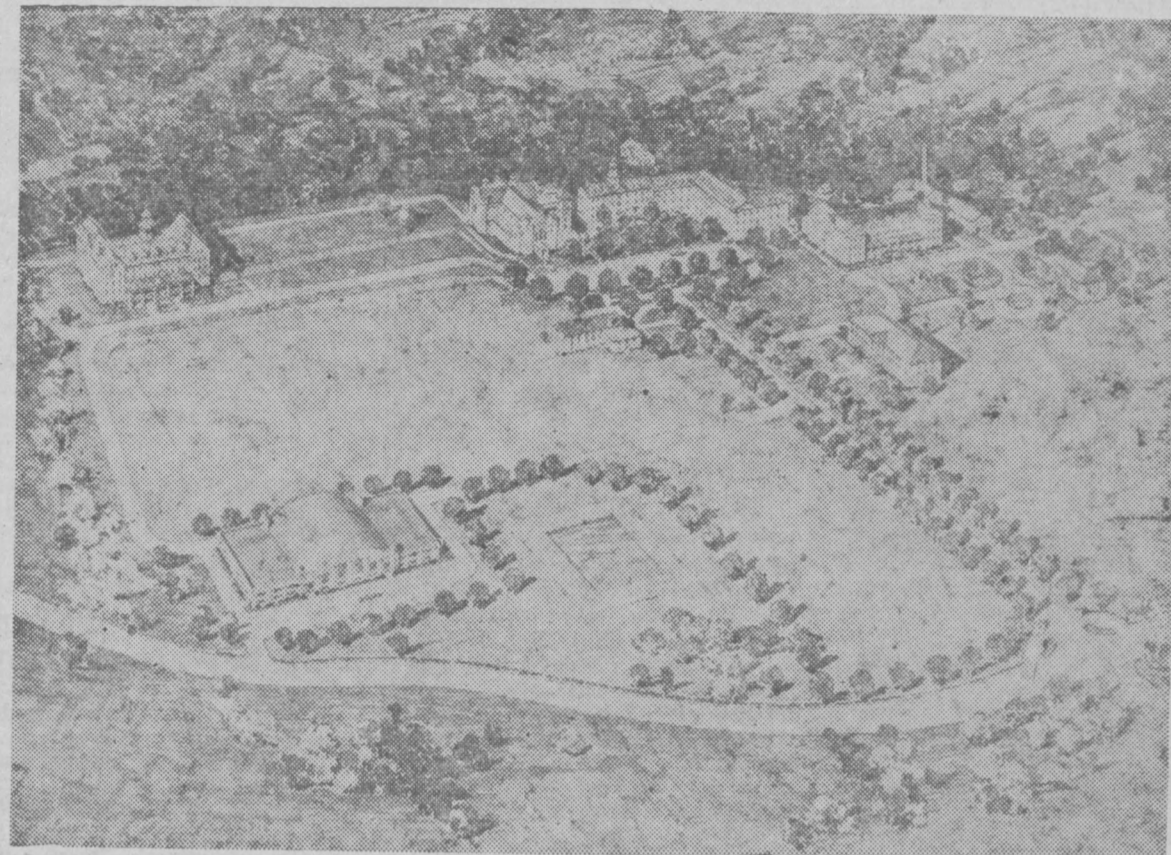

Coach Clarke is wary of predictions. He has been hard put to it to keep team confidence within reasonable bounds. But even Bill has a sparkle in his eye as he watches the performance of his newcomers and the rejuvenated spirit of his veterans.

Scouts Sponsor Bake Sale

Kenneth D. Bond, Cub Scoutmaster, announced that plans are progressing nicely for the bake sale to be held Dec. 6 by that group in the Fire Hall. On sale will be cakes, pies, candies, and other delicacies.

Sportsmen Look For Better Fishing Conditions

An excellent attendance marked the regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, President Everett Chrismser presiding.

A committee, appointed some time ago to investigate possible sites for a clubhouse, reported to the group and a discussion was held, but no action taken. The treasurer reported that the club netted $158.42 from the recent shooting match held at Emmitt Gardens.

New regulations regarding fishing at Rainbow Lake were discussed and will be released sometime in the near future. Previously, permission to fish the lake was granted by the Sportsmen's Club only if accompanied by a member of that group.

Chairman of the fish committee, Robert Stonerifer, reported on recent stock activities and stated that in his opinion, fishing conditions next season in this district looked rather favorable.

A discussion as to the use and benefits of making available to landowners "Hunting By Permission" signs was held and it was the consensus of the group that the plan was working favorably for the owners and sportsmen. The December meeting was canceled in view of the coming holiday season. Rev. Philip Bower projected a film entitled, "Gunning the Flyways," which the sportsmen thoroughly appreciated. Following adjournment, refreshments were served.

Fund To Aid Needy Families

President Paul A. Keepers presiding at the regular monthly meeting of the Community Fund of Emmitsburg held Monday evening in the VFW Home. Mrs. Anna Law's resignation as secretary was accepted and Mrs. John D. White was appointed to complete the unexpired term.

It was agreed upon to buy clothing for needy families of three of the local schools. The president announced that $100 had been set aside for the occasion and that the schools which will share the sum are St. Anthony's, Emmitsburg Public School, and St. Euphemia's.

No Fire; Plenty Of Sparks

The Vigilant Hose Co. responded to a call for assistance at the George Gingell property, Zora, Pa., Tuesday night about 9:45 o'clock, when a short circuit in an electric light switch began throwing sparks about the barn. Apparently some livestock bumped the switch causing the short. No damage was reported.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel were Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel and family of Baltimore, and Mr. Ernest Rosensteel.

Seaman Robert L. Wivell of Bainbridge, Miss Margaret Wivell of Frederick, spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wivell.

Gov. Proclaims "Seal" Sunday

Urging liberal response to the 46th annual Christmas Seal Sale now being conducted throughout the state by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated county associations, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin today proclaimed Sunday, Nov. 30, "Christmas Seal Sunday."

Conducted to raise funds to carry on tuberculosis control work in Maryland, this year's Christmas Seal Sale began on November 17 and will continue until Christmas Day.

Observed annually during the campaign, Christmas Seal Sunday is designated to emphasize the need for all faiths and all races to help combat tuberculosis, which itself respects no race, color, age or creed.

According to Dr. G. Canby Robinson, Executive Secretary of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, religious congregations of all faiths are being asked to help combat tuberculosis, which itself respects no race, color, age, or creed.

According to Dr. G. Canby Robinson, executive secretary of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn., religious congregations of all faiths are being asked to observe the weekly Sabbath as "Christmas Seal Sunday." Letters have been sent to the clergy of the state asking their support of this program and requesting them to bring to the attention of their congregations the need for wholehearted support of the Christmas Seal sale in order to maintain an effective tuberculosis control program.

In his proclamation, Gov. McKeldin stated that during the nearly half century of its service, the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. and its affiliates have materially helped to reduce the number of deaths from TB.

Directing their programs toward the prevention, detection, and treatment of tuberculosis, the county associations conduct year-round programs of chest X-ray detection surveys, chest clinics, health education, school health, medical research, and services to tuberculosis patients in the state hospitals.

In conclusion Dr. Robinson said, "The interest of the clergy and church people is essential to the success of our program. Their continued support will help make possible our goal of complete eradication of this public health menace."

Want Uniform Phone Number

A uniform dial number for citizens throughout the State in reporting a fire is wanted by the Maryland Fire Chiefs Assn., which met in Baltimore this week.

The chiefs discussed the possibility of trying to persuade telephone companies to adopt some easily remembered, easily dialed number such as 111.

The association also resolved to ask the General Assembly to provide state compensation for volunteer firemen who have joined regular departments as a Civil Defense measure.

Local Magistrate Kept Busy These Past 18 Months

Business has been brisk these past 18 months. Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan has statistical data to prove this. In an interview with a Chronicle reporter this week, the magistrate revealed he has tried well over 500 cases of all types since he took office May 7, 1950.

Broken down, these figures disclosed that to date the magistrate has tried 456 motor vehicle violation cases; 88 criminal trials, and 11 civil cases. This, of course, it was explained, is no criterion of the demeanor of local residents as the figures included cases of out-of-towners and out-of-staters.

The judge has held trials all hours of the day and every day of the week. The large number of cases tried is confirmation of the vigorous activity of both the state police and the Emmitsburg Police Dept.

Mount Floor Schedule Released

Mt. St. Mary's College basketball schedule, released this week, reveals that 12 home games will be played and 12 games away.

The schedule:

Two Drunken Drivers Fined

Two district men were arrested and charged with driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor. State Trooper 1/c Kenneth D. Bond and Chief Robert L. Koontz, making the arrests, charged Vernon McNelly, Friends Creek, and David Turner, also of Friends Creek, with drunken driving. Turner is alleged to have lost control of his car and struck the porch of the Bud Warthen house on W. Main St. late last Saturday night, completely demolishing the structure.

Both were fined a total of $127.30 each Monday at hearings held before Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan, Emmitsburg. In default of paying the fine, McNelly was committed to the county jail.

In a Sunday hearing before Magistrate Gillelan, James F. Moore, Washington, D. C., pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to obey a traffic device, entered by State Trooper Bond. He paid a fine of $10.75.

Lions Again Will Sponsor Christmas Party

Santa Claus will officially come to Emmitsburg Wednesday, Dec. 24, it was announced Monday night by J. Ward Kerrigan, president of the Emmitsburg Lions Club. The announcement was made at the annual Charter and Ladies' night of the local club, held in the Lutheran Parish House. The occasion marked the 24th celebration of the club's local charter presentation, and 50 Lions, Lionesses, and guests attended.

George L. Wilhide, general chairman of the affair, constructed the following program: Call to order, President Kerrigan; "America," group singing; pledge to the flag, by all; invocation, Rev. Philip Bower; introduction of toastmaster, President Kerrigan; toastmaster, Dr. John J. Dillon Jr.; piano selections, Prof. William S. Sterbinsky; group singing; introduction of guests, President Kerrigan.

Official guests of the club were Deputy District Governor Edward N. Derr of New Windsor, and Zone Chairman Samuel Bowman of Union Bridge.

Dr. Dillon, in his capacity as toastmaster, was well received. His witty remarks and jovial provocations kept the audience intensely interested throughout the program.

Of the original 20 chartermembers forming the organization in 1929, only 11 are living today. They are: Dr. W. R. Cadle, Clarence G. Frailey, Robert H. Gillelan, Charles A. Harner, J. Ward Kerrigan, Francis S. K. Matthews, Wilbur J. Raffensberger, Ernest R. Shriver, M. F. Shuff Jr., George L. Wilhide, and Dr. Oscar Wolfe. Deceased members are: John D. Elder, Herbert L. Gilling, J. Edward Houck, Lawrence L. Mondorff, Charles P. Mort, John H. Rosensteel Jr., Ralph S. Sperry, Michael J. Thompson, and William H. Treiber.

In making the announcement that the Lions will again sponsor the Kiddies Christmas Party, President Kerrigan appointed the following committee to handle the affair, Herbert W. Roger, chairman; J. Ralph McDonnell, Francis S. K. Matthews, Clarence E. Hahn, C. A. Elder, and Dr. D. L. Beegle. It is believed the program will follow that of other years, with the free movie, free lunch, and distribution of gifts by Santa Claus at the conclusion.

Local Girl Places In Contest

Shirley Willhide represented St. Joseph's High School in the "I Speak for Democracy" Contest held at Middletown High School Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 8:00 p. m., and was awarded the second prize of a $25 government bond. Frederick schools walked off with first and third places. The competition was among five representatives of the Frederick County high schools.

School closed for the Thanksgiving holidays Wednesday and classes will be resumed Monday.

Highlighting the events of Thanksgiving week was a Freedom Dance held at the high school Wednesday evening. The dance was sponsored by the junior class under the auspices of the P-T-A.

Film slides showing the various kinds of birds and their habitats have been shown to the biology class in conjunction with their projects of illustrated essays on how different animals live.

A movie, entitled "The Quarterback," produced by National Assn. of Manufacturers was shown the upper classes last Friday. The movie portrayed how it takes hard work and high ideals to succeed in life.

Career Day panel discussions on teaching and nursing were attended by Joan Reaver, Margaret Rocks, Saranna Miller, Nancy Wichter, Patricia Dukehart, Margaret Kane, Maureen O'Toole, and Joan Walter. The Career Clinic was held on the campus of St. Joseph's College last Saturday.

Scouts To Sell Christmas Trees

Scoutmaster Franklin Wastler announced this week that the Scouts will sell Christmas trees this year in an effort to raise funds for the completion of the clubhouse, now under construction. The trees have been generously donated by A. W. McCleaf. Anyone wanting to purchase a tree can do so by placing their order with either the Scoutmaster or any of the Scouts. Delivery service will be rendered.

Charles Town Opens Winter Meet

Owing to confusions with Wheeling Downs and Bowie, Tuckwiller intends interviewing all available mutual clerks today, the day before the start of the 10 day race meet ending Dec. 20.

A "dry-run" will be made today on the mutual plant, particularly on the "tote" daily double automatic machines. Because of the rapidity in handling "double" tickets with the machines it is possible to prolong wagering. Windows will therefore close at 12:55 P.M., five minutes before Art Caccese, of Franklinville, New Jersey. He was the leading this concluding session to the Eastern racing season is trainer conditioner at the Waterford Park meet, saddling 13 winners in 25 days.

Headed by the six-year-old West Milton, the Caccese trained a string of 12 horses also includes Airolo, Better Buy, Bay Buy, Jersey Sickle, Miss Vineland, Golden Meteor, Sand Run, Dream Again, Curtain Time, It Girl and Blooming Lire. The stable was recently transferred here from Chester, West Virginia's Waterford Park.

Your Personal Health

Are You Eating Too Much?

Thanksgiving Day ushered in the holiday season. Once again we'll be laughing and reminiscing with old friends and relatives around the "groaning board," blissfully unaware of how much we are eating or drinking. Most of us will take the extra helping of turkey with stuffing or the second piece of pumpkin pie in stride as part of the holiday fun.

Eating, of course, should be fun. But overeating is something else again; it never did anybody any good. Worrying unnecessarily about what you eat won't help either. Eaters in good health can usually offset too hearty a dinner by resuming smaller, but still regular, meals the day after. Still the holiday season, when the temptations of rich food are traditionally with us, is a good time to take stock of our eating habits.

Most of us tend to eat too much, especially fried or starchy foods, and to eat too fast. Too often the penalty is digestive troubles, or worse. Overeating usually results in overweight, and overweight, as your doctor will tell you, puts added strain on the heart, kidney, liver and other vital organs. It may result in high blood pressure, or such serious illnesses as heart and circulatory diseases, diabetes and arthritis. Doctors have reason to believe that excess weight, especially in persons over 30, can actually shorten life.

For the great majority of us the best way to avoid overweight is through sensible eating habits. The most healthful diet provides the proper balance between proteins and carbohydrates, supplies minerals, fats and vitamins, and the needed number of calories. These needs vary with the individual, according to his size, build and physical activity, but most of us eat more than we need.

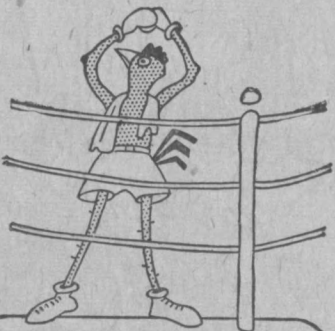

The best meals are appetizing, nourishing and varied. Holiday meals need not be an exception. Most of us can benefit from main dishes like turkey, taken in moderation and from the variety of vegetables and fruits usually served, including the traditional cranberry sauce. But we also can benefit by taking it easy in sampling rich dressings and gravies and heavy, calorie-loaded desserts like mince pie and plum pudding.

A closing word of caution to those who want to lose weight. There are no shortcuts. The best advice is to see your doctor. He can prescribe a balanced and appetizing diet for taking off excess pounds and also for improving your general health.

Operating Costs Take Most Of Farmers' Dollars

Frederick County farmers spend about $50 out of every $68 they earn per acre of their farms on operating expenses, according to state average estimates computed by the Committee for Conservation now.

On the basis of the committee's records, the average 150-acre commercial farm in the county earns about $10,000. Operating expenses run about $7,100, leaving approximately $2,900 for the farm family. Allowing a return of five per cent on investment, the average 150-acre farm produces $1,400 annually on the investment, and $3,150 for farm operator and family labor.

Operating costs for the state's 36,000 farms add up to around $1,965 million out of annual income in the neighborhood of $2,750 million. This leaves approximately $775 million for farm family income. Crediting $36 million for return on investment, $39 million is left for farm family labor.

The committee explained that this cost situation is significant because it shows average farmers are not unduly profiting from food prices. Cost figures also show the importance of farm spending to the business economy. To the farmer, a cost breakdown can be a guide in planning operations.

The percentage ratio of many farm expenses can be reduced by conservation farming practices, the committee said. Good soil management will produce greater yields of feed and prevent waste of fertilizer, for example, and farming on the contour rather than up and down slopes saves on labor and operation and upkeep of farm machines.

Operating costs for the average 150-acre farm amount to about $2,000 for livestock and poultry feed, $1,500 for labor $1,000 for depreciation of buildings and equipment, $400 for fertilizer and lime, $350 for property taxes, $330 for gasoline, fuel and oil, $220 for tractor and machinery repairs, $200 for seeds, bulbs, plants, and trees, $200 for building maintenance and repairs, $150 for machine hire, $150 for mortgage interest, $100 for insurance and $500 for other costs such as supplies, fees, electricity, horses, mules, and veterinary services.

Because these figures are average, they do not necessarily apply to individual farms. The figure for labor cost, for example, varies considerably above and below the average, and the degree of mortgage debt determines interest cost.

For the state as a whole, farm operating costs amount to $55 million for livestock and poultry feed, $40 million for labor, $25 million for depreciation, $12.5 for fertilizer and lime, $10 million for property taxes, $9 million for gasoline, fuel and oil, $6.6 million for tractor and machinery repairs, $5.5 for seeds, plants and trees, $5 million for building maintenance and repairs, $4.5 for mortgage interest, $4 million for insurance and $15 million for others.

The figures are based on data from the U. S. Census and the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture and checked against state records of the college of agriculture at the University of Maryland.

Odds And Ends

By ANNABELLE HARTMAN

For a day and a night our Canadian Pacific train took us northeast across southern British Columbia into an increasingly rugged country, bringing us finally to Field, a little town on the western slope of the Canadian Rockies, its origin linked with the momentous first crossing of the mountains by the railway. Here we left the train and set off in chartered buses for a sight seeing trip continuing, with one night's stop at a luxury hotel and two at a bungalow lodge, for three breath-taking days, as it took us through the three most famous scenically of Canada's 19 National Parks.

Partly, because I should like readers to see what the official bulletin on the National Parks of Canada (not a travel folder), prepared under the auspices of several governmental departments, has to say about these three areas, and partly because my own words seem inadequate to cope with such scenery, I now resort to a selection of quotations, tied together with a bit of personal commentary.

"Foremost among the scenic mountain regions of British Columbia is that comprising Yoho National Park . . . Its majestic snow-capped peaks rise to tremendous heights, and its lakes, sparkling like jewels in emerald settings, are unbelievably beautiful in color. Surpassing all, however, is the splendor of its valleys, mantled with evergreens and hung with glaciers, down whose sheer walls foam rushing torrents or tumble high water falls." This is just a general description of the first of the areas visited, with its headquarters there at Field, at the base of one of those towering mountains (Mount Stephen). Yoho Valley in particular is "one of the wonder spots of the Rockies," with the turbulent Yoho River in its midst and Takakkaw Falls in the most noted among many snow-white cascades. Among the lakes, Emerald is most famous—not the setting in this case, but the lake itself being described in its name: "It has been said that one may count in its depth 20 shades of green at one time, but never one of blue." I was charmed by the coloring, but did not check on the shades.

On the eastern edge of Yoho Park, between the Provinces of British Columbia and Alberta, runs a section of the Continental Divide, and over it we drove by way of Kicking Horse Pass on the wide motor road known oddly as Kicking Horse Trail (that kicking horse which is said to have caused an accident to the leader of an exploring party farther down the mountain some 100 years ago, has named not only a road and a pass, but a river and a valley in the Park!) And there was another of the many thrills of the trip when we saw a huge sign high across the road that read "Great Divide" and saw, off at the side, a little mountain stream dividing and flowing off in the opposite direction.

We had driven over the Divide straight into the second of the great park reservations on our sight-seeing schedule, the oldest of them all (first part set aside in 1885) and the best known, Banff National Park. "Sitting on the eastern slope of the Rockies . . . the park covers an area of 2585 square miles and contains regions of scenic splendor probably unsurpassed in the world." And only a few miles away and quickly reached, was Lake Louise, the center of one of these regions, "superb among the beautiful lakes of the Rockies." The following sentence is true as far as it goes, but strangely omits one of the main elements in the unusual beauty of the scene, the snowy ice-river wedged into a great "V" between mountain peaks and coming down to the edge of the blue lake which it feeds: "Camped in a vast amphitheatre of lofty mountains, this water jewel shimmers in ever-changing hues, mirroring the reflections of forest, sky, and peak." And there, with millions, it seemed, of bright yellow poppies and stretches of fresh green grass right down to the water's edge on the opposite side from the glacier, stood the huge massive pile of Chateau Lake Louise, one of the great "luxury hotels" in the heart of the Rockies!

But it was at another of these remarkable examples of modern progressiveness that we were to make our night's stay, so presently off we went through a panorama of splendid scenes to the southeast, on the way to Banff Townsite—series of huge mountain ranges with "hundreds of lofty peaks, many of them snow-crowned or glacier-hung" (one, Mt. Eisenhower, closely resembling a great turreted castle), and "between the ranges . . . beautiful valleys mantled by forest growths and coursed by foaming streams, or studded with lovely lakes . . ." We were on the lower end of the famous Banff-Jasper Highway, not long completed, and tomorrow would repeat this part of the trip as we drove the whole length of the way up to Jasper Townsite in the largest of all Canada's National Parks.

Banff townsite is famous not only for its picturesque setting, "nestled in the green valley of Bow River . . . walled in by a great circle of peaks, most of which rise more than a mile from the floor of the valley," but for a variety of tourist attractions, of which I can mention only the hot sulphur springs and swimming pools, the ski run on nearby Mt. Norquay (we could see the lights of the chair lift there at night from the hotel), and the great Banff Springs Hotel, our stopping place for the night, in the "luxury" class like the Chateau at Lake Louise and like it, perfectly located to give a perfect view. Our brief stay here, including dinner and breakfast, had, for me, much of interest constantly mingled with amazement, but the record has no room for those details.

At the upper end of Banff Peak, the next morning still, as all along the way, in the beauty of bright sunshine, we crossed Sunwapta Pass, and soon after the great Columbia Ice Field came into view at the left, with huge mountain peaks around it and the Athabasca Glacier, down in front, (where, two days later on the way down the Highway, I was to have the novel experience of a ride in the snowmobile, as already reported out of turn.)

I shall quote only part of the opening sentence from the "Parks" booklet describing the general character of Jasper National Park, for that will sound familiar, and so would all the rest of the paragraph, with its mention of the same general features we have been hearing of all along the way of this trip—the innumerable lofty peaks, the glaciers, the rivers, etc. We are told of Jasper that it "contains 4,200 square miles and includes an immense area of superb mountain grandeur"; but although the details that follow are the usual ones, there is also, properly, a special emphasis on the unusually grand scale of all this, and at the end of the paragraph there is mention of something not previously noted by me that readers of this record may have wondered about (it is true also of Banff on a smaller scale), i.e., that "within its boundaries, thousands of wild creatures roam unmolested" — Rocky Mountain sheep and goat, mule and white-tailed deer, caribou, moose, elk, and black, brown, and grizzly bear. (Let me say at once that this imposing list was taken from another part of the article from which I've been quoting, having almost no basis in personal experience, for, alas for our hopes, all the wild creatures kept themselves successfully out of the way of the tourist buses except two moose seen along a stream, and several black bears that made themselves at home around the garbage cans at our bungalow lodge—not to mention the grizzly that had been seen there the week before. I must record a real disappointment for a good many of us did not even see one Rocky Mountain goat on all that tremendous expanse of Rocky Mountains!)

Our stay of two nights and a day at comfortable Elkara Lodge, just above Jasper Townsite and the terminus of the Highway, was taken up with a variety of activities, of which I need mention only two sight-seeing trips to wonder-scenes off the main Highway, including the far-famed Jasper Lodge, where only the foundation of the lodge house itself now remains, although the beautiful bungalows and other features that have made this a place of super-luxury, continued to attract those guests who can pay the price (a car and chauffeur are among the things included in that). The central building, I may add, had burned down completely some weeks before, within 45 minutes, while the band played on!

And now, at longer last than I had intended, I record the beginning of the end of our conducted tour when the buses with all the passengers and all the baggage, a double item of no little responsibility for the tour—leaders on such a trip, finally set off down the Highway for the train at Banff Station, a 185 miles to the south. All the way, of course, we seemed to be seeing a new series of scenic wonders, thanks to the different point of view. The exciting stop at Ice-Field has already been described, and I need mention only the happy climax of the other memorable incident of this final drive—the safe arrival at the Athabasca Chalet, where the rest of us were anxiously waiting, of the group from the bus that had gone off the road, and the postponed dinner that followed, a real Thanksgiving dinner some three months before the regular day!

Power Substation Completed Here

Potomac Edison crews have now completed construction of a $100,000 transmission line project from Thurmont to Emmitsburg, and from Emmitsburg to Taneytown.

In addition, a new substation has been erected in Emmitsburg and new substation equipment was added to substations at Thurmont and Taneytown.

The total cost of the 15-mile line job and substation installations was $150,000.

This work provides a "power loop" for PE customers in the 3-town sections, which will provide two-way service. This means that customers will not be dependent on one line as the only source of power. Current may now be routed, in case of emergency, around the power loop from either side, providing a reliable source of current at all times.

Surveys for the new installations were made in early 1951, but the government refused allocation of necessary material until the first months of 1952.

Substation work on this project included the installation of a 1500 kva transformer bank at Emmitsburg, and a 34.5 kv oil circuit breaker at Thurmont.

Hospital Unit To Hold Winter Social Event

Largest social event of the Christmas season will be the "Snow Ball," given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Frederick Memorial Hospital in the Hood Gambrill gymnasium Monday evening, Dec. 22.

Preliminary plans for the party have been announced by Mrs. Edward P. Thomas, general chairman, following a meeting recently.

More than 200 men and women volunteers already are busy with details for the "Snow Ball" which it is hoped, will become an annual event and a highlight of the holiday calendar. Auxiliary members plan to make the successive balls their sole public fund raising project. This year proceeds will go toward purchase of air conditioning equipment for the operating rooms of the Frederick Memorial Hospital, the recently formed auxiliary's first special project.

Fredericktonians will be joined at the ball by many guests from Baltimore and Washington; from Montgomery, Carroll, Howard, and Washington Counties, and from Leesburg, and Winchester, Va. Already many hostesses are planning preliminary cocktail and dinner parties from which guests will go on to the "Snow Ball."

The occasion will mark appearance in Frederick of one of the country's top-flight name bands—Tony Pastor and his orchestra. In addition to dancing, facilities will be provided for bridge and canasta, and a special committee will offer for sale corsages and refreshments. Portions of the gymnasium will be devoted to "boxes" where special seats will be sold.

The entire affair is expected to set new attendance records for such charity events and is being anticipated as one of the most festive parties of the Christmas season.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PAK, Mass., Nov. 26—Headache No. 1 is Korea. The sad feature of the election is that his landslide may have come from parents and young people who dreaded Korea. If so, may not this be a sign of ardice which may likewise show itself in other problems.

Headache No. 2—The Weather
Certain states are now severely suffering from drought. This was one factor which brought on the Hoover depression of the 30's, following several bountiful years under President Coolidge. When Ike reads the 41st Chapter of Genesis his headache must become worse.

Headache No. 3—Labor Unions
Ike realizes that wage-workers should receive their share of the profits—but they should do so by increasing production—not by striking. During the past 10 years labor leaders have usurped the powers of government. They will not give up power without a struggle. Yet, Ike will consider it his duty to curb this dangerous situation. We must back Ike up in his efforts.

Headache No. 4—Foreign Imports

Ike knows that to keep Europe and Japan from going Communist we must accept their goods graciously. To raise tariffs would be suicidal, he believes. Yet, U. S. manufacturers will make a concerted drive upon him for higher tariffs.

Headache No. 5—Excess of U. S. Manufacturing Capacity
Fear of World War III has caused a great expansion in manufacturing space. This has greatly stimulated the building trades—lumber, steel, and the other 27 industries which go into building. Barring World War III, this expansion is ending. Accompanying unemployment appears inevitable.

Headache No. 6—Real Estate Outlook

Last year five times as many houses were built as during a year 10 years ago. This would be encouraging if these houses were paid for—but they were built on a shoestring. When unemployment comes a million of these houses could be vacated and come back on the market. This could ruin the market for houses, as well as throw millions of carpenters, bricklayers, painters, and others out of work.

Headache No. 7—Inflation

Ike has promised to stop inflation and he won millions of votes thereby. But can inflation be stopped without deflation? Does anybody want deflation? Solving this problem will be a real headache, but here again we must stand behind our new President.

Headache No. 8—Stock Market
Unfortunately, a steadily declining stock market, commodity market and real estate market will give millions of people—as well as Ike—a headache. Most bankers believe that such declining markets will come in 1953 or 1954. However, these bankers may be wrong.

Headache No. 9—Congress

For real progress Ike must have a friendly Congress. He will start with one as did Herbert Hoover in 1928. But too many Congressmen think only of themselves, rather than the nation's good. Ike could lose the Congressional elections in 1954 unless we fight for him from now on. His election will not be definite until November, 1954.

Headache No. 10—Corruption And Inefficiency

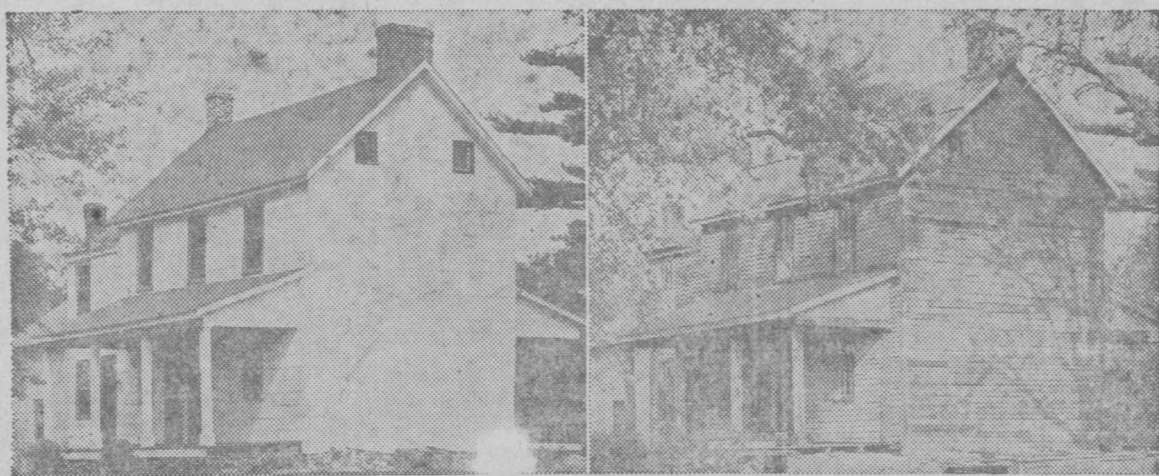

Ike will try to clean house and increase efficiency at Washington; but every Government employee has many Congressional friends who will beg Ike to retain these friends—especially if general unemployment is increasing. Taxes, cannot be decreased without mass discharges of government employees. This will cause unemployment. President Hoover tried it. It started his collapse and the depression which followed.

Headache No. 11—Religion

Ike well says that America's greater need is for a spiritual awakening; but thus far in the past only "hard times" have brought such about. This, however, may not be necessary if we all work for the New Administration and willingly put the good of the nation ahead of our own selfish wishes.

The cottonwood is a kind of poplar tree.

Old House Made New for Second Century

A good example of how an old house can be given new life with today's economical building materials is this home in Kingsville, Md., which was built about a century ago by slave labor. New roofing and siding were applied to the house to start its second hundred years. Asphalt shingles now protect this historic dwelling from weather and fire. The dark roof also offers pleasant contrast with the white asbestos-cement siding, and it helps to make the house look lower than it actually is. A light or bright roof would make the house seem higher.

GETTING BACK THE CRUMES

Star Recipes

Those zany lovable screwballs of the screen, JERRY LEWIS and DEAN MARTIN, were accosted on the Paramount lot where they were just finishing their latest picture, "Scared Stiff." When asked for their favorite dish, Dean quipped, "Dorothy Lamour." "Serially speaking," cut in Jerry, "I like snowballs. You take a snowball, add a pinch of salt and bake in a hot oven." But it turned out that Jerry was half right. Snowballs ARE one of his favorite desserts and also one of the favorites at the Paramount Studio Commissary where they are served. Here's how to make them.

JUST FOR FUN SNOWBALLS

1 quart vanilla ice cream
1 cup shredded coconut, cut
Currant Jelly Sauce

Scoop ice cream into balls. Roll balls in coconut. Place in freezing tray of automatic refrigerator for about 1 hour. Serve with Currant Jelly Sauce. Makes 6 servings. Currant Jelly Sauce: Place ¾ cup currant jelly in a small bowl. Add 1½ tablespoons hot water and stir until blended. Makes ½ cup sauce.

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS Features

IT ISN'T THE COST nor the size of the Christmas gift that counts, as we all know, for quite often several small gifts, or even just one, give more pleasure than the grandest of gifts . . . because of the thoughtfulness behind them.

Here is a "pin-up" girl of several men, who finished her gift shopping for $1.75. She found that both Chap-ans and Chap-Stick and a Chap-ans will be found under the tree, from Dad's "pin-up" girl, since out-of-door hands call for an honest-to-goodness man's hand cream.

Much thought and total expenditure about $1.75. Two Chap-ans at 60c and two Chap Sticks at 25c each, plus tax of course, and that extra lucky penny for Mom's bag. All taken care of right at the drug counter, leaving her free to go about her busy holidays.

THE MORAL of the story is: Buy gifts that fit the situation. Put a little thought behind them, for it's worth infinitely more than the dollars one has. An expensive ring for Dad or Brother or a bright red lip-stick for Mother couldn't be appreciated more than the personal comfort gifts our "pin-up" miss figured out on her budget.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

For the first time, action is being taken in Washington to curb the discount practices which have been liquidating independent business firms.

Washington courts now have the case of major tire makers vs. Federal Trade Commission.

While tires are the commodity in the present case, its outcome will have a vital bearing on the entire future of independent business.

So important is the outcome, some organized independent business leaders say victory will cure more than 60% of the evils confronting independent business.

Here is the background.

In 1936, Congress considering the Robinson-Patman Act, realized any effort to enforce fair play in the market place would fall unless control were exercised over the extent of secret prices, and preferential discounts manufacturers could extend to a few huge outlets.

Congress considered writing into the law that the maximum discounts allowed must apply to a carload purchase.

But because there is a vast difference between a carload, for example, of farm machinery and a carload of pins, Congress gave FTC power to set the quantity for any commodity which would be required for the maximum discount.

In 1947, the National Federation of Independent Business asked FTC to invoke this ruling in the tire industry.

Big Tires has all but run all other manufacturers out of business, and through private deals with oil companies, auto makers, chains, and their own company stores, have demoralized independent competition in the industry.

After exhaustive study, FTC ruled that any one buying a 20,000 carload of tires is entitled to the maximum discount permitted by the manufacturer.

FTC acted only after finding evidence that independent tire dealers are being squeezed out on purpose. There is also evidence indicating the public is paying excessive prices for tires.

Major tire makers have challenged the FTC ruling in court.

In the opening legal round, a victory was won by independent business when the court agreed to permit the vice president in charge of the Washington office of the National Federation of Independent Business to appear in court to aid the Federal Trade Commission.

A complete victory in court on the tire case will open the way for similar rulings in other industries, as this is the first time the 16 year old section of the Robinson-Patman Act has been used.

Much hangs in the balance. Other sections of the anti-trust laws prohibit monopoly, but are unwieldy to use because often conspiracy must first be proved.

Conspiracy is much like sin.

Nobody professes belief in conspiracy, even those deeply immersed in conspiracy. But use of the maximum quantity discount rule will remove a great part of both the temptation and opportunity to conspire.

Good For The Country

Congressman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas' 2nd District, addressed our Kiwanis Club last week and he put his finger on an economic problem which could cause great hardship, the problem of unemployment which he foresees when the huge government expenditures for armaments slacken off. He is one of our best informed Congressmen on fiscal affairs due to his long service on the House Ways and Means Committee. He frankly said he didn't have a quick and easy solution to offer for the problem.

Sometime in 1954, Congressman Mills observed, a substantial portion of the nation's steel production which now is going into armaments will be available for civilian markets, and, he expects, the civilian markets will not have sufficient demand to keep the steel mills operating at full capacity as they are now doing. Thus some of the steel mills will be obliged to cut their work force. Such unemployment in the basic steel industry could be dangerous to our economy if it should spread to other areas of the business world, the Congressman reasons.

Steel For Armaments

At the present time 50 per cent of the nation's record-breaking steel production is going into the armament program. Steel production has been expanding gradually as needed over the past 50 years. The rate of expansion was sharply increased during World War II. A number of companies continued normal expansion after the war. Then came the Korean War, and expansion was again speeded up.

Some government executives and economists have constantly demanded a bigger expansion in the steel industry than has occurred, even threatening to build government steel plants. Steel industry leaders have resisted the "splurge" type of expansion, warning that it could lead to a far greater capacity than the nation normally could use. Their advice to the government armament bosses was to cut down on the volume of steel going into civilian channels, when war production is really urgent, instead of rushing through production expansion that might soon become idle and thus pose an economic problem. It was sound advice.

Need Gradual Reduction

We certainly could expect an economic recession of dangerous potential if the entire multi-billion defense spending were to end all at once next January, or the next. As Congressman Mills pointed out, about $6 billion of the present $80 billion Federal budget is being spent on the Korean War and about $50 billion on getting ready for any possible future war. With such vast amounts in circulation everybody temporarily benefits. If such spending were to be suddenly cut off, commerce would be staggered and everybody would feel the result.

On the other hand if the big government spending could be reduced gradually over a period of years the transition from a war production economy to a peacetime one should not cause a drastic change in the economy. We would feel it — yes. Money wouldn't be quite so plentiful. There would likely be some temporary unemployment and business dislocations. But if government under the new administration would give solid encouragement to private enterprise, and thus establish a promising outlook for anyone who wants to go into business or expand his present business, any slack in progress would be short lived. The economy as a whole would very soon be sounder and more dynamic than it has been in many years.

A Good Goal
Government in America today is spending more than 32 per cent of all the money being spent. It thus is an overwhelmingly decisive force in the commerce of our country. In 1930 less than five per cent of all money being spent was being spent by the Federal government and only about 12 per cent by the county, state and Federal governments combined. In 1940 about 11 per cent of the national income was being spent by the Federal government and about 20 per cent by all three levels.

In some of the periods of this nation's soundest progress government at all levels spent less than 10 per cent of the national income. That's a goal that we the people of America might well seek — whittling government down to a point where in normal times, its expenditures do not exceed 10 per cent of the national income, 10 cents out of every dollar we we earn. And the time to start whittling is now. We might not reach the 10 per cent goal but every step of the way would be good for the country.

County Officials Study Budget

The County Commissioner soon will begin to learn what the cost of county government is going to be in the calendar year 1953.

The commissioners announced that they will sit as a Board of Estimates for the purpose of receiving estimates of appropriations for the various county departments for the coming year.

It is expected that some of the large county estimated budgets, such as the Frederick County Board of Education and the Frederick County Welfare Board, will be forthcoming. It is known that the Board of Education is placing its budget in shape for presentation.

The commissioners will consider the budgets several weeks before determining how much money can be allocated to each department for the fiscal year 1953. The tax rate will probably not be set and the entire county budget adopted until just before the old year closes.

The commissioners said all estimates of expenditures must be in their hands by Dec. 1.

Bennett Heads County's March Of Dimes' Drive

George L. Radcliffe, state chairman of the March of Dimes, has announced the volunteer county campaign chairman for 1953.

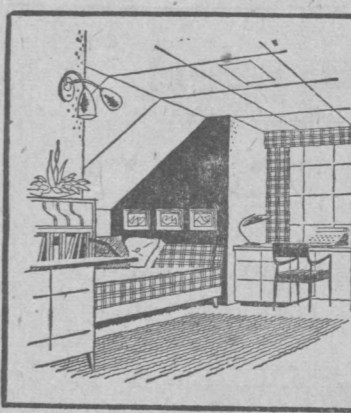

Mr. Radcliffe told the newly appointed chairmen that the 1953 March of Dimes "must be our greatest effort. Despite the great strides made in polio research, 1952 saw the worst polio epidemic in our history."

Last year over $28 million was spent nationally on care for new and carry-over patients, on iron lungs, and other life-saving devices, Mr. Radcliffe stated. "These patients must continue to receive care," he continued, "new epidemics must be foreseen and vital polio research must go on if our fight is to be won."

Last year Marylanders contributed $678,097.90 to the March of Dimes. In spite of this, Maryland received $339,865 in emergency funds during 1952.

The new Frederick County Chairman is Alton Y. Bennett of Frederick.

BEALL SPENT $42,221

Senator-elect J. Glenn Beall reported campaign expenses of $42,221 compared with contributions of $43,349, a statement filed with the Baltimore County Circuit Court showed this week.

The report said that the balance just about covered the unpaid bill of $1200.

YOUR HIGHWAYS
by JAY SCOTT

Americans are a nation of motorists. We have more cars and more trucks and more drivers than any other country in the world. We also have more roads, by millions of miles. In the interest of keeping taxpayers informed on the subject of the highways they pay for, this newspaper will soon publish a series of columns on the subject. They will start appearing shortly. Look for them!

Speeders Face Stiff Penalties As Crackdown Begins

Well in advance of the past Fourth of July period. No such long week-end holidays, a warning was issued to motorists that there would be a 15-day driving license suspension following any convictions for violating the speed laws in Maryland.

This week, Thomas B. R. Mudd, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, summed up the results achieved by the special two holiday driving license suspension action. A total of 748 motorists were apprehended for speeding on July 4, 5, and 6. Of this number, 330 were residents of Maryland and 418 non-resident drivers. One hundred and fifty Baltimoreans were included in the grand total.

There is no doubt but what the Fourth of July holiday license suspension campaign played some part in bringing about a substantial reduction in the number of motorists found guilty of speeding during the 3-day Labor Day holidays. Maryland arrests totaled 487. Of these, 225 were resident, 265 non-resident. Baltimore contributed 81 persons to this total.

There were 261 less arrests over Labor Day than during the Fourth of July and Labor Day, pension action was taken against non-resident motorists.

In conclusion, Commissioner Mudd said, "I am convinced from police reports from various parts of the state that the two holiday license suspension campaigns brought about a reduction in accidents and arrests. Enforcement officials did a good job in patrolling the highways and apprehending law violators. I can further state not one exception was made in suspension of any motorist's license."

Oh that I were as in months past, as in the days when God preserved me.—(Job XXIX, 1.)

So cries many an unhappy man and woman who, once having been in the grace of the Lord, is now without it, through stubborn willfulness. It is wonderful, though, that the way back into His love, guidance and help always is open, to the seeking heart.

Knowledge is Power

1. HOW CAN YOU PUT CHRIST BACK INTO CHRISTMAS?
2. ARE FOOD PRICES REALLY SO HIGH?
3. DO DRINKING AND SMOKING AFFECT YOUR WEIGHT?

(1) Last year a group of volunteers succeeded in changing the emphasis on Christmas to something approaching its original meaning. How the community did it is detailed by Alice Collins Hamm in the November Catholic Digest. The committee's suggestions for the family were these: "Read the first-Christmas story from the Bible to the children. Have a family Christmas crib. Go to church on Christmas day. As a family, do some special works of charity and friendliness at Christmas."

(2) Maria Sermolino seems to think so, and with good reason. In her book, "Papa's Table d'Hôte," she describes his Gonfarone's restaurant in New York some 40 years ago, and lists prices he paid for meat and vegetables. Gonfarone's customers paid 50 cents for a seven-course dinner, but wholesale foodstuff prices were low, too.

(3) Smoking and alcohol can retard gains, Ruth Leverton maintains in her book, "Food Becomes You." If you want to gain weight, "smoke and drink after you eat, if at all," she advises. "When you use them for a pickup between meals or before meals, they satisfy your hunger and you lose interest in food."

HOW TO MAKE FUN GIFTS OUT OF PRACTICAL ONES

By ANN GARY—ANS Features

WITH A BIT OF WIRE, some Christmas wrappings from last year, a few cones or other props you can find around the house, you can make a flesh brush into an amusing Santa Claus, a men's hair brush into a snow man and a lady's hair brush into a ballet dancer.

It's really quite easy and you'll make a practical gift amusing and fun to receive, by following these suggestions sent to us by Stanley Home Service.

Above, a flesh brush is used to create an amusing Santa, a men's hair brush for a Snow Man, a lady's hair brush for a Ballet Dancer and tooth brushes for angels.

MR. SNOWMAN is still easier to make. All you have to do is make a hole in a tennis ball and work the ball down over the handle of the brush. Paint a face on the ball or glue on three buttons at a rakish angle. A bright dunce's cap does well for a hat. A bit of string will hold his cone arms on. If you want to whiten the bristles just run them across a bar of white soap. Then put some buttons on with straight pins.

MISS BALLET DANCER is made in much the same way except a plastic spoon has been fastened on to the brushes to look like a head. Cone arms are wound on with heavy thread or string. And a bit of tissue paper makes an appropriately fluffy skirt.

And if you want to hang your tree with something practical for each member of the family cut out angel wings and attach with string or scotch tape to the backs of toothbrushes.

TO MAKE THE Santa Claus cut out two strips of Christmas wrapping—about ten inches long and two inches wide. If you have pinkish shears you'll give the trousers an extra flounciness. Work the strips so that they fall over the handle of the flesh brush and disappear around the back of the brush itself. Two red candles make wonderful arms and will stay on if you wind the bottoms with string and then wind the string through the brush at the spot where the brush goes in. Now work some cotton into the bristles and shape into a nice long beard. A small piece of red stiff paper can be folded into a nose and inserted into the open space in the top half of the brush. Top Santa with red hat held on by pins and put some eyes on the same way and you have a merry old gent.

Noted SingerTo Concert*At Hood

Frederick, Md., Nov. 27—John Jacob Niles, eminent folk-singer, will present a program of Anglo-American ballads, carols, street songs, work songs and nursery rhymes at Hood College on Tuesday, December 2, at eight p. m. in Brodbeck Hall.

Dr. Niles, who accompanies himself on the dulcimer, one of the most ancient of musical instruments, uses songs that represent a collection of century-old music from England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland that was handed down by oral transmission from those countries. Today, this music still lives in the Appalachian Mountains, in remote corners of Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina and Tennessee.

Dr. Niles, a native Kentuckian, started his career in his youth. At the age of nine, he memorized 17 verses of "Barbary Ellen" for a schoolchildren's contest in Louisville, and soon after he accompanied his sheriff-father to the Cabbage Patch and took down the Negro songs in his musical shorthand that his mother had taught him. Since then he has been collecting and arranging the folk music of his home state and of the remote corners of the Appalachians. While in France, where he was one of the original 77 U. S. Air Force cadets, during World War I, he recorded songs the American soldiers sang. Today, he has a storehouse of over a thousand songs and their variants which he is now coping for the rare-book collection at Harvard. Like its other programs which the college presents for community and campus enjoyment, the concert is open to all interested at no charge.

PE Employees Banquet

Employees of the Potomac-Edison Co. in this area held their 1952 Beneficial Assn. dinner-meeting last Thursday in Frederick where they heard a talk by President R. Paul Smith and honored fellow employees, who have completed 15 years of service with the company.

Virgil E. Riggs, a PE salesman and chairman of the beneficial association, presided and told the audience that it was always a privilege to honor those who had served for 15 years with the utility company.

President R. Paul Smith also congratulated those entering the company's 15-Year Club and stated it was veteran employees, such as the group being honored, who were responsible to a great extent for the company's growth and development through the years.

A total of 137 P-E System and Blue Ridge Lines employees received 15-year service pins and certificates at the meeting.

Basketball Clinic

A women's basketball clinic will be held Monday, Dec. 1, at 7:30 o'clock at Hood College for players, teachers, and officials of this sport. It is presented by the Frederick Board of Women's Officials and is intended for basketball enthusiasts throughout central and Western Maryland.

Rule changes, interpretation of rules, demonstration of the technical and personal fouls will be presented at the clinic, plus a demonstration game for the techniques of officiating women's basketball games.

The program also includes a basketball film on play techniques and skills. The 1952-53 rule books on women's basketball may be purchased at the clinic.

SUNDAY SCHOOL is a pleasure for the kids at the Manhasset (N.Y.) Congregational Church where the teacher is none other than Al Hodge, who is seen as "Captain Video" every weekday on the Dumont Television Network. Attendance at the Sunday School took a sharp rise ever since Hodge became Captain Video, for the regular pupils bring new ones and proudly introduce him—not as Mr. Hodge, but as Captain Video!

Mr. and Mrs. James Wivell and children, Jamie and Phyllis, and Mrs. Roy Wivell spent a Sunday recently with Mr. and Mrs. C. Sheffield and Mrs. David Guise of Baltimore.

Mrs. David Guise spent last Monday afternoon visiting her daughter, Mrs. Roy Wivell.
