—BY ABIGAIL—

If you like delicacies and pastries, don't forget to attend the bake sale tomorrow in the Fire Hall sponsored by the Fire Scouts. State Trooper Ken Bond, who bosses the youngsters, not that they are that bad they need a policeman, says the funds derived from this sale are badly needed by the youngsters for the club's activities. Better make it a date, folk.

And speaking of good eating, Saturday's the date of the Lutheran bazaar and supper. I know hundreds of all religious denominations who wouldn't miss this setup for all the tea in China. Go and enjoy yourself folks, I'm confident you'll have a good time.

Looks as though we're in for a rough winter which hasn't even officially begun as yet. Starting last Saturday night there hasn't been a respite granted in the cold and snow. Many people are of the opinion that since we had such a dry fall that it will be evened up this winter. I don't usually take any stock in this school of thought, but then again maybe they have a point. Time alone will tell. The weather is getting as unpredictable as the debate effect of atomic and hydrogen bombs. Anyway, the garages, filling stations, and clothing stores have nothing to complain about. Just take Tuesday morning as a result. At least four cars were jerked out of ditches between here and Mt. St. Mary's College, keeping local tow-wagons on the go all morning. Yes, it's an ill wind that blows no good. The cold and snow apparently has no effect on local deer hunters who took to the mountains despite the inclemency and who were consequently rewarded with the usual catch, or kill. While rabbits were more than scarce this year, the deer herd seems to be about up to par for this district. In all about a hundred deer will be felled before the short season is terminated.

What with all the hustle and bustle of the Christmas shopping spree, local stores and homes seem to be slow in getting their decorations placed. At this writing barely a half dozen appear to have taken any action on the matter. However, just as sure as the sun rises and sets daily, there'll be plenty of them in the near future. Just haven't the time I guess, getting ready for Christmas.

I was really amazed to read of the number of cases tried by our local magistrate. Over 500 in a year and a half. The judge evidently hasn't been letting any grass grow under his feet, what with handling better than one a day, and the fines. Boy, if we just had them to place in the Memorial Hall Building Fund, it wouldn't take so long as we are led to believe it will.

Early Morning Crash Takes Two Lives

Two Thurmont men were killed as the result of an automobile accident at 2:15 a. m. last Thursday morning on the Emmitsburg Rd., six miles north of here, and a third was in serious condition in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa.

James B. Kelly, 35, Thurmont, was killed instantly. His body was thrown out of the car when it struck the end of the bridge abutment over Marsh Creek.

Delmar R. Delphy, 35, Thurmont died at 3:30 o'clock last Friday morning in the Warner Hospital.

Paul R. Freshman, 37, Thurmont, believed to have been the driver of the automobile, is in the Warner Hospital with a compound fracture of the nose, fracture of the right arm, and lacerations of both legs.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said Kelly's death was due to a fractured skull. He also suffered compound fractures of both legs and other injuries.

All three men were believed to have been riding in the front seat of Freshman's 1942 Pontiac sedan, with Kelly on the right side. His body was thrown over the bridge wall into Marsh Creek, 30 feet below, state police said.

Delphy and Freshman were taken to the Warner Hospital in the ambulance. Delphy suffered a fractured skull and fractured tibia and fibia of the left leg, and internal injuries, Dr. Crist said. He said inquests would be held in both deaths.

The automobile, according to state police, was traveling south. It was turned around after the impact and came to rest in the center of the highway, completely demolished. The car struck the end of the concrete bridge railing on the west side, between the right wheel and the radiator grill. Police said the motor was pushed back to the front seat and the entire front of the car was torn off.

The Panama Canal runs north and south through much of its length.

SRC Agrees To Resurface Town Streets

Emmitsburg's alleys are in the process of stoning and black-topping and work will continue so long as favorable weather prevails, Street Commissioner Charles R. Fuss reported Monday night at the regular session of the Town Council, Chairman of the Board Thomas J. Frailey presiding. One commissioner was absent.

Town Clerk Louise Sebald presented the tax, parking meter and treasurer's report, in addition to the secretary's monthly report, and all were approved as presented. The Town Solons discussed the delinquent tax situation and while the number of delinquents is not large, it is their intention to collect from those in arrears. Some of the delinquents are local businessmen and if the taxes are not paid by the next period, their trader's licenses will not be granted.

Chief Robert L. Koontz reported parking meter revenue for November as $316.79.

A donation of $250 was authorized for the Vigilant Hose Co., which is considering the purchase of a portable lighting unit for night fire-fighting, the cost of which is around $500. The purchase of 5000 feet of wiring for the town's Christmas lighting was authorized. When strung out about the town, the circuit will be independent from any homeowners and will be attached to a separate meter and switch. Heretofore, the town paid those residents who permitted the hookup to their meters, a small sum to help defray the cost of current consumption. This will cancel that system used in the past. Ralph McDonnell is making the installation.

A communication from the State Roads Commission was read and announced that sometime next year, possibly mid-summer, that the two main routes, 15 and 32, which intersect at the Square, will be resurfaced, contingent upon the removal of the Blinker and the installation of a stop-and-go light.

The Council ordered all parking meters and street signs to be strengthened and will purchase a hydraulic device to do the job. Street signs have been bent in every describable shape by vandals and many of the meters likewise, have been bent crooked by careless motorists.

Beginners Sought For New Band

Officials of the Emmitsburg Municipal Band announced this week that a beginner's class will be begun shortly after Jan. 1. A meeting has been called for this Saturday night of all parents and children interested in becoming members of the new class.

Just about a year ago a class was formed, and it is now about to become a member of the parent unit. About 12 are in the class.

Officials of the band will be on hand Saturday night to interview and talk over the plans with those present. The meeting has been called for 8 o'clock in the Fire Hall.

It was believed a good idea to hold this session before Christmas, so that parents who could afford instruments could purchase them as gifts. However, the band has several instruments available free to those desiring them. Lessons are provided free of charge by members of the band.

Mr. Walter A. Simpson, conductor of the unit, says interest has been keen and that already he has a few applications for membership. Following the induction of this year's crop of beginners into the big band, that organization is expected to number about 35 pieces.

Special Services

Elias Ev. Lutheran Church will celebrate Christmas with five special services this season. There will be a children's service Sunday morning, Dec. 21 at 9:30 o'clock in the Parish House and a Festival of Christmas music in the church at 10:30 a. m., Sunday, Dec. 21 by the choir, directed by Mrs. Reginald Zepp. The traditional Christmas Eve Candlelight Service will be held in the church Christmas Eve at 11 o'clock, to midnight. The final service will be a Christmas play by the adults on Sunday night, December 28 at 7:30 p. m.

Homemakers'

Housewives can expect average food prices to be about the same next year, although, by taking advantage of lower prices for some commodities, they may be able to reduce their food budget. But balancing the diet is as important as balancing the budget. The best bets for good food buys next year are: beef, veal, chicken, fish, frozen fruit juices, and fresh vegetables, and perhaps lamb and mutton. Expected to be higher-priced are: eggs, butter, cereals, bread, turkeys, fluid milk, and canned vegetables.

These predictions are based on existing stocks and expected production. Unfavorable growing weather could change the supply picture, especially on fresh fruits and vegetables.

Agricultural economists point out that increasing marketing costs may cause the grocery bill to be somewhat higher than this year, while prices farmers receive remain about the same.

A Message For All

One fall day 50 years ago, two men sat on a bench watching a small open hearth steel furnace in the American Rolling Mill Co. plant at Middletown, O. One was middle-aged, the other very young. The older man was George M. Verity, founder and president of the company. His companion on the bench was 22-year-old Charles R. Hook.

Young Charlie Hook had begun work a few years earlier in a Cincinnati steel mill as a $2-a-week office boy. He had an eagerness to learn the steel business and a great capacity for work. In a comparatively short time he had worked himself up to become foreman of a steel mill in Indiana. Mr. Verity had got into the steel business on a shoestring. He had sent for Charlie Hook as a promising young man to help build a great industry. He offered young Hook a job and a wonderful opportunity. He wanted men, he took Hook, to help him build "an organization based upon faith in men, on cooperation through understanding, on the application of the Golden Rule as a guide for business as well as for daily living."

Applied Golden Rule

Charlie Hook took several days to consider the offer, then he accepted. He started to work in the winter of 1902 as night superintendent of the plant whose total employment was 325 and whose production was 5900 tons of steel. As he rose gradually up through the company, and began to take a hand in its direction, his close personal relationship with the employees and his application of the Golden Rule in those relationships became traditions that have gone unbroken through the company's constant growth.

In 1930, the man who had begun his business career as a $2-a-week office boy became president of the American Rolling Mill Co. which by then employed 8800 people and produced 665,000 tons of steel annually. Today, at age 72, he is chairman of the board. The company, now named Armco Steel Corp., employs 30,000 people and annually produces 3.2 million tons of highest grade steel. In the parent company and its direct offspring there has never been a labor strike. Charles Hook has repeatedly been honored by his own employees and by national organizations for the inspiring record of harmonious management-labor relations at Armco.

A Benefactor
Fittingly enough, I met Mr. Hook for the first time one night many years ago in Cleveland at a meeting of Ohio citizens who were interested in the welfare of their state. After addressing the meeting I had a long visit with Mr. Hook in his hotel room. What he said to me then, and his friendship through the intervening years, has been a constant source of inspiration to me. I have never met a finer gentleman nor a man more deeply rooted to his religious and social convictions. He truly has been a benefactor to his country and his countrymen.

The latest issue of the "Armco-operator," a magazine for Armco men and women, devoted its front cover and three inside pages to "an important Armco event"—the completion of Mr. Hook's 50th year with the company. Ironically, the issue reached the chairman's desk in his absence. President Truman and Secretary of Commerce Sawyer had asked him to go to Europe with a group of six Americans to study ways of stimulating back-and-forth trade with European countries as a means of keeping our wheels of commerce rolling full speed when the defense spending slacks off.

Looking Ahead
Before he left for Europe, the 72-year-old industrialist dictated a message to Armco employees, noting his 50-year milestone and looking ahead with enthusiasm. "I believe our standard of living, as we now measure it, will increase in the years ahead," he said. "This will come about by finding better ways to increase the production of each person in an hour, a month, a year . . . we shall learn new skills . . . new and better ways of training . . . there will be more competition, not less, but the rewards will be greater for those companies who are able to stay at the head of the parade of progress."

"There are of course many 'ifs' about the future. Such things as the threat of government control of industry, unwise demands by selfish labor leaders, poor planning by management. But I am generally optimistic concerning the

Predict Low Poultry Prices Next Year

"Make 'em eat and you'll make 'em lay!" That advice is often given to poultrymen for raising poultry more efficiently and producing eggs more plentifully. Although the poultryman should watch his feed costs—and wastes—carefully, he should aim at high feed consumption among his birds. By stimulating layers to eat more, he also stimulates production.

A good laying hen will certainly eat more than a slow-laying one, but the percentage of profit definitely lies in the good layer. Although the good layer may eat more, she also requires less feed to lay each egg. That is, her egg production greatly offsets the extra feed she may consume. On the other hand, the loafing layers eat a lot but fail to lay many eggs.

Increase Consumption

There are a number of factors influencing feed consumption, but some of the more important things you can do to increase consumption are: feed mash and grain oftener during the day; stir the mash more frequently; provide increased feeding space; and feed wet mash at noon or night. It is also a good idea to put an edge on birds' appetites with a good poultry tonic. Layers given this kind of care and treatment should perk up quickly. But if loafers appear, do not hesitate to cull them immediately. They not only have a bad influence on the flock, they cut deeply into your egg profits.

A Balanced Ration
Good egg production depends not only on the quantity of feed consumed, but also on its quality as well. See that your birds get a balanced ration of properly blended, high-quality ingredients that include the essential proteins, fats, carbohydrates, minerals, and vitamins. A balanced ration provides for the body requirements of birds and also the actual make-up of the eggs.

Since an egg is about 65 per cent water, keep plenty of water before the hens at all times. During the cold weather keep the chill off the water and make sure there is enough space at the fountains so that all birds have equal opportunity to drink.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 4 — During my recent trip through the Central West I heard much complaint due to the drought. Some sections of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas have not had a drop of beneficial rain for six months.

Good pasture and good crops need sunshine and rain, as well as good soil and cultivation. Especially, without sufficient rain, the crops fail. This, in turn, means less feed for the cattle, hogs and other livestock, forcing them to market at lower prices. Furthermore, the longer a drought lasts, the more serious are the results.

Hence, everyone is asking: "How long will the drought last?" Statistics indicate that no one can answer with certainty. Some droughts last only six months; others have lasted three years. Due to the many recent fat years which the Central West has enjoyed, it is logical that a drought is now due and that it may last longer than we all hope. Certainly, our new President cannot make clouds; even scientists cannot make rains where there are no clouds.

Changing Climate and Temperature

Businessmen are not only watching the rainfall (or lack of it), but also the temperature. Whether traveling in the U. S. or Canada, people tell me that both the winters and summers are getting warmer. This is true with the exception of Florida, which is having cooler winters and more rains. Believing the above is a permanent change, some investment counselors are advising their clients to sell out their fuel oil business, woolen factories and even certain stores—but to re-invest in air conditioning, synthetic fibers and soft drink stocks!

While in Gloucester, Mass., last summer, I found the fishermen much disturbed because the fish had gone farther north and forced the vessels to go much farther to fish. This, they claim, is one reason for the higher price of fish. In some places—off the coast of California—the fish have left altogether and scores of great canning plants are idle. Also, fish which heretofore were found only in southern waters are now being caught off New England.

What Are The Facts?

Without doubt the temperature of certain portions of the ocean has increased. This, however, does not justify the common belief that this change to warmer weather will be permanent. It is true that the mean temperature of the U. S. and Canada and adjoining waters has increased three degrees during the past 100 years. But this is nothing for us now to get excited about. This three degrees is not the cause of fish going north, nor a cause for you to change your business.

The changes in temperature from year to year which you, the cattle and the fish recognize are due to the changing winds. What causes these changes in the direction of prevailing winds is debatable. It may be sunspots, but I believe gravity is the basic cause of the warm winds blowing over the Northern Hemisphere. The fact that more cold winds are, at the same time, blowing over the Southern Hemisphere should interest every farmer in the study of gravity. In the meantime, don't believe that we will not have more early frosts.

Jesus As A Weather Prophet

When discussing the winds with a famous weather expert, he referred me to Jesus' comments on the winds of 2000 years ago. In the Eighth Verse of the Third Chapter of St. John we find Jesus saying: "The wind bloweth where it will and thou hearest its sound, but dost thou know from where it comes"—or a better translation is "why it comes."

Jesus discouraged His followers from depending upon the weather or other material things, urging them to "be born again"—this time to be born "of the Spirit." This surely is the advice America needs today. Only by a spiritual rebirth can we forge ahead—as did the founders of our nation—irrespective of weather, stock markets, businesses, or even foreign nations.

When making griddle cakes, many good cooks like to beat the yolks and whites of the eggs separately, then fold the whites into the batter last. This method usually makes the griddle cakes extra fluffy.

County Firemen
Seek Increase In State Funds

Increases in appropriations which would total around $9900 for the volunteer fire companies of Frederick County were asked recently by members of the steering committee of the Frederick County Volunteer Firemen's Assn. in a long conference with the County Commissioners.

The increases are being sought for the new budget year, which begins Jan. 1. The commissioners, after discussing the proposal at length with the committee, made no commitment. Any new schedule of county appropriations would have to be approved by the Legislature and State Senator Jacob R. Ramsburg was also present at the request of the delegation.

The group, which was composed of Vernon Cassell of Braddock Heights, Ray C. Galdhill of Middletown, and D. Saylor Weybright of Thurmont, told the commissioners that the companies find a constantly-increasing number of homes and other properties in their areas as a result of the great expansion in building in recent years. As a result, there are many more properties which are subject to fire in the company areas than there were several years ago. Moreover, operating expenses of the companies are constantly increasing, it was pointed out.

The yearly increases being asked are: Middletown, from $1000 to $2300; Braddock Heights, from $800 to $2100; Myersville, from $1000 to $1400; Thurmont, from $1000 to $2200; Emmitsburg, from $1100 to $2300; Brunswick, from $1100 to $2650; Walkersville, from $1000 to $2000; New Midway, from $750 to $1750; Rocky Ridge, nothing at present to $1000.

It is understood that the county association at its last meeting directed the steering committee to appear before the commissioners with the request for additional county assistance.

The county, it was learned, still has some estimated budgets for the coming year to be received from certain agencies. The Frederick County Welfare Board and the Frederick County Childrens Aid Society budgets are among those which have not yet come to the office.

Officials said that the current expense budget of the Board of Education, received last week, asked approximately $100,000 more than was granted to the schools for operations this year from county funds. The appropriation sought for 1953 from the county is $1.08 million. A member of the commissioner board said the total amount provided for current expenses for the schools this year was $970,175.

A budget recently received was that from the C. Burr Artz Library trustees. For the first time in some years, an increase is sought in this appropriation in the amount of $2500.

Knowledge is Power

1. DO AMERICANS APPRECIATE THEIR RIGHT TO VOTE?

2. WHY DIDN'T JOE LOUIS RETIRE UNBEATEN?

3. HOW CAN YOUR CHURCH RAISE MONEY?

(1) Apparently they do not. Take the 1948 presidential election, for instance. Just 51 per cent of the eligible U. S. voters actually voted. In 1944, 57 per cent voted; in 1940, 63 per cent. Apathy toward the right to vote seems to be getting more pronounced. Put these percentages alongside those in foreign countries during recent elections, and what do you find? In Canada, 75 per cent of the eligible voters voted; Sweden, 80 per cent; Israel, 72 per cent; England, 83 per cent; Japan, 70 per cent; and Italy, 80 per cent.

Ringed doorbells to get-out-the-vote is fine, but it isn't the complete solution. Uninformed voting, write Walter Myer and Clay Coss in "America's Greatest Challenge," may be worse than none at all. "The first job is to encourage . . . as many citizens as possible to become informed on the big issues of the day."

(2) Because he owed the government $220,000 in back taxes on his boxing income. In 1949 he retired unbeaten, reports Alistair Cooke in his book, "One Man's America"; but he decided to go back into the ring to raise enough money to pay his back taxes. Finally Ezzard Charles and Rocky Marciano defeated him.

(3) The method used by a Baptist church in Lockport, N. Y., is described in the November Catholic Digest. "One Sunday, ushers . . . handed out 230 $10 bills to the people. 'Put this money to work,' the minister said. 'Members used it to make baked goods for sale, to set up hot-dog stands at the county fair, and for dozens of other little enterprises. Seven months later, the $2,300 had grown to $14,100.'

Experts Predict Beef Price Decline; Record Volume On Hand

An all-time record number of 93 million cattle on American farms by Jan. 1 is expected to result in a decline of beef prices in 1953, predict agricultural economists from the University of Maryland. Price declines are expected to be moderate.

Increases in slaughter are expected for better grades of grain furnished cattle as well as medium and lower grade cattle marketed off grass. There will probably be an abundance of the medium and lower grades of beef.

Next year's hog prices will probably be slightly higher than in 1952, even though lower beef prices and a weak demand for lard will prevent a marked increase. Although hog price increases may be small, profits may improve considerably, because of lower corn prices.

With the exception of corn, over-all feed prices can be expected to remain the same or increase slightly, the economists say. Continued strong demand for high protein feeds will hold prices for these feeds at high levels.

Rouse Named to Head State Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation

Clarence W. Miles, who for the past two years has served as president of the Maryland Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, announced this week that the board of directors of the chapter have elected Willard G. Rouse, assistant treasurer of the Mathieson Chemical Corp., as the new president of the Maryland Chapter.

Mr. Rouse, a native of Easton, has lived in Baltimore for the past seven years.

In accepting the presidency of the Maryland chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, Mr. Rouse stated: "The fight against arthritis is urgent not only to us in Maryland but to the country as a whole. It is vitally important that the arthritic diseases be controlled, and that the millions of people afflicted with arthritis benefit from the recent medical discoveries which have given new hope for a cure from their crippling affliction. This is a hard fight. Arthritis does not kill immediately, and, therefore, has been neglected for the fatal diseases.

"However, there are more persons suffering from arthritis and rheumatism in the country today than suffer from tuberculosis, heart disease, cancer, and diabetes combined. "Arthritis, said Mr. Rouse, "can mean a life of crippling torment, of poverty, and helplessness. But today 70 per cent of the crippling caused by arthritis can be prevented.

The Maryland Chapter was formed two years ago. It has established arthritis clinics in all but two Maryland counties. These clinics supplement the two Baltimore clinics at the University and Johns Hopkins Hospitals which were formed independently of the Foundation but which now receive support from it.

The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation was founded nationally four years ago and now consists of 31 chapters in 29 states. Research seeking the cause of and cure for arthritis is the No. 1 item of the Foundation's national program. The other three fronts along which the Foundation and its chapters are constantly attacking are: better care for the millions now suffering from the disease, rehabilitation of those disabled so as to permit their gainful employment, education to acquaint medical and lay persons with the early symptoms of the disease.

The Maryland Chapter is now engaged in its third annual appeal for funds to support this program. Plans for the future include: providing clinics in large Maryland industries, training centers for general practitioners, fellowships for young physicians desiring to specialize in arthritic diseases, rehabilitation projects, visiting nurse programs, mobile physio-therapy units. The completion of this program and additional projects depend upon the support received from the people of Maryland during the current appeal which runs through Dec. 14. Please mail your contribution to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, 1026 Mathieson Bldg., Baltimore 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Rhodes and family, of Baltimore, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Annan, Jr. and Mrs. Edgar Rhodes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bittle, Baltimore, were guests over the holidays of Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson.

Mr. Thomas Hays, Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Hays.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Since the election, this column has received a flood of mail from all over the country, asking questions on what small business wants from new administration.

Most of the varied questions have been answered by majority independent businessmen through regular polls conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business with the individual signed ballots sent to Congress. Here are some of the questions asked, and the majority vote of independent businessmen.

"What new legislation do independent businessmen want?"

By and large, none. Naturally, in common with most businessmen would like stronger laws against communism.

"Do independent businessmen want anti-chain legislation?"

The majority answer is no. Independent businessmen feel attacking business solely because it's big is sheer demagoguery.

"Isn't this stand inconsistent?"

No. Independent businessmen only want long-existing anti-trust laws enforced, especially the sections prohibiting secret discounts, and other undercover practices between manufacturers and some big retail outlets.

where the owner is the active on-the-ground manager, if both operations have the same prices and rebates from suppliers.

"How can this be done?"

Appointment of a competent assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division with immunity from pressure, thus ending constant dismissal of competent men from this post as witnessed in the past.

"Is this goal possible?"

Yes. In new Congress Small Business has many champions needing only strong public support.

"What about controls?"

All controls, OPS, etc. should be abolished. Not only failing to accomplish any good, they are harming independent business by imposing a costly burden of overhead. Besides wasting taxes, they are also nurturing Socialists with power.

"What about taxes?"

Independent businessmen want taxes cut NOW, nationally, and at state, county and city levels.

"Do independent businessmen feel that one of the major political parties has a stronger regard for independent business?"

No poll has been taken on this. During last GOP reign antitrust law enforcement was lacking. Many feel this caused depression. During last 20 years much bipartisan progress at Congressional level was blocked at administration level. Both Democratic and Republican Congressmen, backed by organized independent business, have done some outstanding work for free enterprise, but too often the march to economic freedom, bipartisanly organized on Capitol Hill, has run into booby traps enroute to Constitution Avenue.

Christmas Tradition

The red double-barred cross, emblem of the people's 20th Century crusade against tuberculosis, is traditionally featured on the Christmas Seal. Adapted from the historic Cross of Lorraine, it is the registered insignia of the National Tuberculosis Assn. and the 3000 affiliated state and local associations in the annual Christmas Seal sale to support their year-round programs for the control and prevention of tuberculosis. This year's sale continues until Dec. 25.

This year the red double-barred cross is more prominently displayed than ever before, occupying nearly half the Seal's surface and lighted by a candle set in an old-fashioned brass candlestick. There's a special reason. This is the 50th anniversary of the double-barred cross as the international symbol of the war against tuberculosis. It was adopted as the world emblem on Oct. 23, 1902, by unanimous vote of the first International Conference on Tuberculosis, held in Berlin and attended by medical and lay leaders from 20 nations, including the United States.

On May 17, 1906, the National Tuberculosis Assn. formally adopted the double-barred cross as its official emblem, and in 1920, in order to identify it unmistakably with the voluntary associations' war on tuberculosis, the NTA registered the double-barred cross as its trademark.

To millions of American families the red double-barred cross means life, hope, and knowledge. It means that tuberculosis, killer that it is, can be defeated. Under the double-barred cross, it is estimated that 6 million lives have been saved in half a century. But TB today kills more Americans than all other infectious diseases combined. It kills more persons between 15 and 35 than any other disease. It kills at a rate of 34,000 persons a year, persons of all ages. About 400,000 Americans have active tuberculosis today, and at least 115,000 new cases are reported every year.

Yet tuberculosis can be cured and it can be prevented. Toward this end the NTA and its affiliates are fighting tuberculosis in every part of this country through case finding, including wider use of chest X-rays to find unsuspected cases of TB, through health education, medical research, and rehabilitation of the tuberculosis, including special services in meeting their social, economic, and employment problems. Under the double-barred cross, the NTA and its affiliated
