Rumors are flying as to who the next town policeman will be since it was learned that Chief Bob Koontz has submitted his resignation. They say there is a field of seven in the running and we can't help but wonder what has generated all this enthusiasm for the job that used to go wanting. True, the pay is fairly good, but when you consider the animosity that also goes with the job, I don't see why so many are interested in taking it. Just think. Every time you make a "pinch" you not only have made an enemy, but you have inflamed the guy's whole family and practically all of his relatives to boot. And to "tag" a fellow lady for parking overtime is practically a felony in this burg. Oh well, every fellow to his own trade, and don't say I didn't tell you that it wasn't all gravy and no work, because there are headaches aplenty connected to the job. At any rate, we are sorry to see Bob leave us. We are of the personal opinion that he has done a mighty fine job while in action and want to commend him on the work he has done with the youth of our community. Many a boy has been steered on the right path by Bob's Junior Police Club. The best of luck in your new endeavor, Chief! About all that can be said now, is that Emmitsburg's loss is Taneytown's gain.

We welcome the advent of Trooper Donald Tucker to our midst. A trooper with a brilliant career behind him and a promising future ahead, the Mrs. and the son, expect to move here next week. He replaces an old crony, Ken Bond, who resigned to enter the insurance business. In case you don't know it, Trooper Tucker figured prominently in the capture of those bandits who held up the Liberty Bank near here recently and on top of that he also recently was promoted to trooper first class. Again I say, welcome.

Quite a furor has been stirred up by the finding of a human skull, a ghastly thing to think about, but it belonged to some one of us, whether here or near here, and we should all do as much as possible to help in the identification. First of all, stay away from the scene of the finding so as not to hamper the investigating police. But if you have any clues, such as hearing any strange noises or seeing any suspicious characters in the vicinity within the past year, it might be perhaps of valuable interest to the authorities. Or possibly you know of someone, presumably a woman, who has been absent without some logical reason during the past six months or year. This may all sound a bit silly and inconsequential, but many a case has been solved by just little tidbits of information like these. Even a strange piece of clothing, a rope, axe or gun found abandoned along the road or in a field, might be of some help. If you have any of these clues don't be hesitant about informing the police.

Contrary to the reports you have been hearing that Union Bridge baseball team wouldn't meet our team here, I have been reassured that they will gladly come to wage war here on Tuesday evening, Aug. 11. It was originally believed that the game would take place this Tuesday but that is erroneous. A tense interest has been generated in this game. In a quick rehash of events I'll attempt to bring you up to date, so you, too, can get the baseball fever. Well a glance at the league standings, published every week by the boss, Ye Ed, will show you that Union Bridge is currently leading the league and no opponent to date has had the delight in pasting them one. Another person will disclose that Emmitsburg is tied for second place and apparently is the team to knock off Union Bridge—if it's to be done at all. One attempt resulted in dismal failure. However on the second try we nearly did the trick and the contest was called a draw on our local field. With tension mounting, the rematch a natural, and the hopes of winning a pennant at stake, we are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the August 11 engagement. Don't miss it.

Baseball Team Meets U. B. Here Aug. 11

Action in the Pen-Mar Baseball League continued at the same torrid pace Sunday and practically no changes were made in the standings of the leaders. Frank Apichella's team ran roughshod over a hapless New Windsor aggregation to set a new league scoring record by defeating the enemy, 25 to 0. The locals used everything in the book to pour it on the prostrate foe. Home runs and even the hidden ball trick helped run the score to a record high. The locals still remain in a tie for second place with New Oxford.

Union Bridge Coming Here

President of the league, Dr. D. L. Beagle, announced that the tied contest recently played with Union Bridge, the league leaders, would be played off on Tuesday, Aug. 11, on Community Field.

Defeat Camp Detrick

Emmitsburg conveniently took the Tuesday night benefit game with Camp Detrick here by the score of 12 to 5. Acting Manager Jack Rosensteel used practically every man on the squad in the exhibition contest held for the benefit of the Community Fund.

Union Bridge's Unbeaten League Leaders Won Their 13th Straight

by edging Cashtown at Union Bridge despite being outthru 9-7. Shaffer and Spencer poled home runs for the winners.

New Oxford Topped Thurmont 7-3 in a Game on the Latter's Diamond.

The lone first-division team to bow, Blue Ridge Summit, was an 8-1 victim of Littlestown at Littlestown.

CRAB FEED TONIGHT

The Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion will hold its annual crab feed this evening starting at 7 o'clock at Kump's Dam near town. The menu will include corn on the cob, hot dogs and cheese in addition to the crabs. Members, social members and members of the Auxiliary are invited and are entitled to bring a guest. Admission will be $1 and members are asked to carry their paid-up membership cards with them.

New State Trooper Assigned To District

State Trooper 1/c Donald A. Tucker has been permanently assigned to this district, it was announced this week by the commanding officer of Barracks B in Frederick. Trooper Tucker, who recently figured prominently in the capture of the Liberty Bank robbers, was recently promoted to the rank of trooper first class and replaced former Trooper Kenneth D. Bond, who resigned to enter business.

Trooper Tucker plans on making his home here in early August. He is married and has one son. The Tuckers plan to reside in the Richard Yeomans property on DePaul St., after the Yeomans' departure next week for Utah, where they will make their home for the next several years.

Trooper Transferred

Corp. James Potet, formerly of Brunswick, and recently assigned at Taneytown, has been transferred to duty at Elkton, where Lieut. Truman Moon, formerly of Frederick, is barrack commander.

Honesty Doesn't Always Pay!

An Emmitsburg resident Saturday night turned over to borough police of Gettysburg, a pocketbook containing $28 he found in a store there.

Police, who failed to record the name of the honest Emmitsburgian, called by phone to the name listed on cards in the wallet and it was soon returned to the owner, Ruth M. Wampler, Orrtanna, Pa.

Beer License Issued Tavern

County License Commissioner Gail L. Cutshall Tuesday issued a beer and wine license to Emmitsburg Tavern, Inc., on the Gettysburg Rd., near town. No objections appeared at a hearing, date for which was set some time ago. Thomas L. Cookson, Littlestown, Pa., president, and Frank Fitzgerald, Emmitsburg, secretary of the firm, appeared at the hearing. The beer license of a former operator was revoked six months ago by the commissioner.

Mountain Theater Presenting Comedy

"Years Ago," is a nostalgic family comedy about the teenage life of a now famous actress and playwright, Ruth Gordon. The play, which was written by Miss Gordon in retrospect, highlights the agonies many children must go through to obtain the permission from obstinate parents to seek the stage as a profession. Miss Gordon's parents are certainly no exception and her hard-headed father persists that the youthful Ruth should become a physical culture instructor. The comedy is most suitable for children and parents are urged to take them along. "Years Ago" plays Wednesday through Saturday, July 29-Aug. 1 at the Mountain Theater, Braddock Heights. Reservations can be made by mail or phone at Winchester Hall in Frederick. Phone MO. 3-4461.

Drought Beneficial To Seafood Crop

Although the current dry spell is a serious threat to crops grown on the land, Arthur H. Brice, chairman of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission says it is having just the opposite effect on seafood grown on the underwater meadows of the Chesapeake Bay.

"Whenever we have a prolonged dry spell here in the Eastern States," observes Mr. Brice, "there is less fresh water running down the tributaries into the bay. This results in higher salinities which is conducive to the growth of oysters and other seafoods that respond favorably to increased amounts of salt in their environment."

Coupled with the near drought conditions is the largest State planting of shells ever made—over one and a half million bushels since April—which is providing ample setting surfaces for spat or baby oysters.

"This combination of factors appears likely to result in an abundant set of oysters which should be general throughout most of the Bay," observed Mr. Brice.

Miss S. Elizabeth Rowe, Washington, visited during the week with her sister, Miss Carrie Rowe.

Lions Announce Judges Of Annual Horse Show

President Clarence Hahn presided at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran Parish House. Three guests were present. They were Rev. Philip Bower, Dr. C. R. Williams, and Mr. Harry Reindollar of Taneytown.

Secretary-treasurer Robert E. Daugherty gave a report to date on the progress of the coming Horse Show and Herbert W. Rogger, chairman of the advertising committee for the show, also gave a report of progress and called a special committee meeting. Judges for the show have been selected and were announced as the Messrs. Thomas Mott, Sr. and Jr. of the Eastern Shore.

Philip B. Sharpe spoke on the benefit ball game sponsored by the Community Fund, and tickets were distributed to the membership. An invitation from the Taneytown Lions Club was extended to the group to attend its annual crab feast on Aug. 11 at that place.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Dr. Charles R. Williams, who recently established his medical practice here. Dr. Williams, a veteran of the past two wars, projected colored pictures of interesting points he visited while in Japan and Okinawa.

ANNA C. MORITZ

Funeral services for Anna Catherine Moritz, 93, Gettysburg, R. 2, a lifelong resident of Freedom Twp., who died Friday at Bange's Convalescent Home near Spring Grove, were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the local Evangelical and Reformed Church with the pastor, the Rev. Edmund P. Welker, officiating. Interment was made in Mountaintown Cemetery, Emmitsburg. S. L. Allison, funeral director.

Palbearers were Guy Gordon, Allen Plank, Robert McNair, John Herr, Walter A. Simpson and Melvin Bishop.

Official state flower of Nevada is the sagebrush.

Chief Robert Koontz Resigns; Headed Dept. Two Years

Police Chief Robert L. Koontz of the Emmitsburg Police Dept., officially tendered his resignation to the Mayor and Commissioners of Emmitsburg last week. Chief Koontz plans to make his home in Taneytown where he has accepted charge of the Taneytown Police Dept.

The popular officer has held this position here for the past two years and has enjoyed a wide circle of friends. Town officials have held several meetings screening candidates for the position, but until late this week had not yet agreed on a successor to Chief Koontz, who will remain here for about two more weeks.

Race Horses Bring Good Prices

Harness horses of the late George P. Plummer, near Gaithersburg, brought $27,370 at a public auction held this week at The Green Oaks Farm, which is also open for sale. The sale grossed $33,573.65.

Treasure Hanover, a bay filly by Henry Volo, son of Volomite, out of Goldust Express, and bred to Adios, sire of leading 2-year-old pacers, brought $5800.

Twenty head of well-bred trotters and pacers were sold as well as three lead ponies, which brought $385. Tack sold for $57, farm equipment for $5210.65 and four steers brought $486.

Other sales: Jane Mite, Linda Adois, Josedale Dorcas, Tillie M, Jane Whalen Princess Suzanne, Rose Signal, Sally Patch and foal, Linda Lee and filly, Hollywood Lotus and bay colt, Rebekah, 14-year-old mare by Calumet Adam and a favorite of the Joe Eyer stable for years, $1750.

Holly Oaks, Dale Oaks, Jane Oaks, Direct Oaks, Sally Oaks, Hal Oaks and Linda Oaks were also sold.

The sale was the first dispersal of standardbreds in Montgomery County. John W. Null, who cried the sale with his son, Delbert S., said the crowd was one of the largest ever to attend a public sale in that county. He reported buyers on hand from New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia, Delaware and Maryland. Joe Eyer of Thurmont managed the sale.

Police Investigate Finding Of Human Skull

Maryland State Police still are investigating the finding of a human skull, presumably that of a woman, found Sunday afternoon at Eyer's Valley, about four miles southwest of Emmitsburg on the Mahlon Masser farm.

After a dog dragged the human skull onto the Masser premises Trooper H. J. Brown was notified and began an immediate investigation, assisted by Trooper Donald Tucker. State Police at Frederick said the skull was turned over to the Frederick County medical examiner, Dr. Robert J. Furie, with a request that all information possible be furnished them on the sex, age and race of the person to whom the skull belonged, together with any indication of the cause of death. The skull later was turned over to a Baltimore pathologist for further examination.

Dr. Furie told newspapermen a superficial examination of the skull indicated to him that it probably is that of a woman between the ages of 25 and 40 years. Dental work contained in the skull is being checked as another means of identification. Some approximation of the date of death also is hoped for from the examination. Until the report is secured police say they will not hazard a guess as to the identity of the remains. They are checking missing persons files.

Meanwhile police are hopeful of locating other parts of the skeleton and are not willing to locate the spot where the skull was found to avoid having the section trampled over by curious throngs before police have conducted a more thorough search of the area.

Trooper Brown said late this week there are no further developments in the case. No additional parts of the skeleton have been located he said and the medical examiner's report is expected momentarily. The possibility that the dog that carried the skull onto the Masser farm may have robbed a cemetery, is being checked and graveyards in the area are being examined. He (Brown) said reports do not list any persons missing in the area.

Little Damage In Car Crash

Cars of J. E. Mullen, 50, Emmitsburg, and Elton M. Pepple, 38, Cleveland, O., collided at 5:16 o'clock Tuesday evening about 5 miles west of Gettysburg on the Fairfield Road.

Police said Pepple, traveling west, slowed to pull off the highway and Mullen's vehicle, following the Pepple car, ran into its rear. Damage totaled $85.

Elder Michaux Coming To Forest Park

Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux, the "Happy Am I" preacher, with his Choir of 50 Southern Singers, will be at Forest Park, Hanover, Pa., Sunday, Aug. 2, for two services, one at 2 p. m. and the other at 7:00 p. m.

The Elder has been on the Columbia Station, WTOF, in the nation's capital, Washington, for many years, being heard and seen from coast to coast. He has broadcast over the National and British Broadcasting systems to the various parts of Europe for many years.

Elder Michaux is one of the most well-known radio evangelists in the world and has the largest radio and television followings.

At his annual meeting held at Griffith Stadium, Washington, the attendance ranged at times from 20,000 to 25,000 of every walk of life.

The management of Forest Park is highly pleased to have been able, again, to have him come to this district again.

Michaux's last appearance at Hanover drew one of the largest crowds ever assembled there. There will be free admission and free parking for the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Morrell, Bristol, Tenn., are house guests of J. L. Nester. The couple, accompanied by Mr. Nester and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Epperson, will leave today for a two week's vacation in Atlantic City, N. J.

Dallas, Tex., is the largest city of the U. S. not on navigable water.

(No. 10 of a series)

You Judge a road by its smoothness, its appearance, its safety. That's natural, because you can't get down underneath it and study the foundation, which is the really important part of any highway. If You Could study the foundation, you'd be more aware of the fact that the surface is only a small part of a highway. Like the roof over a house, the surface of the road must be supported by a strong foundation. If that is properly built, the surface needs only occasional repairs to remain always new.

Freezing and Thawing... rain... snow... the blazing sun... these wear away the solid rock of mountains. The highways built by man will, in the same way, be affected by time and weather. How well they will resist depends on how well they are constructed and protected.

It is Not Uncommon, like in the picture above, for a newly constructed road to crack up, buckle or heave or, in some cases, to collapse entirely before it has even been opened to traffic! This is because of faulty construction, of course.

One Thing we know about roads is this: boulevard pavements that never feel the tire of a truck wear out at just about the same rate as paving on streets and highways handling the heaviest traffic.

A Reasonable life expectancy for a well-made, well-drained and well-graded highway is about 20 years. But you only get that when you maintain an efficient program of inspection and repairing.

So Don't blame traffic when you see a road break up—or break down. A highway that cannot stand steady usage by not only a normal stream of passenger cars, but of heavy trucks and trailers as well, is not correctly built in the first place.

(On NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful")

"A nasty remark, leben, will drown in silence. If you answer it, chances are it will take on a life of its own and plague you and the person who said it."

"All the apologies you can make can't really ease the hurt of a sharp, thoughtless word. Remember—the tongue is the only part of the body with double barriers—the lips and the teeth. Better you should bite your tongue in silence than loose a friend with a cutting remark."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

Heaven and earth shall pass away; but My words shall not pass away.—(St. Luke 21, 33.)

In these anxious days, when the threat of the man-made destruction of whole cities, whole populations, haunts our lives, our only sure solace is to turn to the immortal words of Christ Jesus—for therein is our only hope of salvation, of peace within our troubled souls.

Advise Keeping Sweet Corn Cool For Best Flavor

Maryland's sweet corn season will continue through August into mid-September, according to Harold Hoeker, University of Maryland fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.

He points out that corn is one of the most perishable of fresh vegetables. Within 24 hours after harvesting, it loses more than half of its sugar content, which averages only about six per cent at the milk stage. However, under continuous refrigeration at less than 50 degrees, the loss can be reduced to less than 15 per cent.

The specialist warns against ripping open each ear of corn to tell whether the quality is good. You can tell more about quality by just looking at the outside.

Look for dark green colored husks. Corn with yellow or whitish husks is old or overmature. The husks should wrap firmly around the ear. Dark brown, moist silks indicate well-filled kernels. Old, poor quality corn has dry or matted silks that crumble at the slightest touch.

If you're buying packaged corn or that stripped of husks and silks, look for plump, glossy kernels in even rows. The kernels of old corn look dull, are on top, or dented in the center.

How can you keep corn sweet after buying it? Give it a drink. Immerse the corn, husks and all, in cold water from 10 to 15 minutes. Then wrap in a damp cloth or film container to keep it moist. Place the corn in the coldest part of your refrigerator and keep it cold. Leave the husks on until you're ready to cook the corn.

The sooner you use corn after it's picked, the sweeter it will be. For best results, plunge the husked ears into boiling water and cook from five to 10 minutes, or until just tender. Omit adding salt to the cooking water since salt toughens corn.

BABSON Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 30—Although I am still cautious as to the trend of business and still believe that the best investment today is in bank accounts, life insurance, and non-taxable bonds—yet I am not fearful of any serious crash from a Korean peace.

Effect On Employment

It is a fact that a large number of industries are benefiting from war work. Marginal people who otherwise would be unemployed are now working. Almost every reader of this column knows someone who is directly or indirectly engaged in war work. Studies show that the inefficient workers add up to much less than one would think, probably to a total of only two or three million persons. This is less than five per cent of the total employed today. The poorest workers of this group will lose their jobs if the Korean War ends and no other war starts. These will be people not interested in their work or those who are asking wages in excess of their real worth.

By far the greater fear of unemployment will come to those who are working on goods sold largely on installments or other forms of credit. This includes automobiles, refrigerators, television sets, homes and other things of which there is now a surplus. There may be a considerable turnover of employment when the Korean affair is cleared up, both from those engaged in war work and those dependent on the installment business. Good workers, interested in their jobs and earnestly striving to give their employer more than a dollar in value for every dollar received, have nothing to fear. Korea Has Not Been

Too Expensive

It is not healthy for the morale of the country to have inefficient people able to get jobs as easily as they are doing today. As I have said before, the next panic will not be a banking panic, or a railroad panic, or a stock market panic, but rather a consumers' panic, due to an excessive boom in jobs, mortgages, and a too rapid increase in wages. Avoid debt if possible. Pay your bills promptly and don't waste time on TV or anything else.

As a further check upon the situation, I find that the gross national product of the U. S. for 1953 is estimated at over $360 billion. It is generally agreed that so long as the cold war with Russia lasts, we will spend at least $30 billion annually on national security. This means a decrease of only $27 billion if active fighting on all fronts should cease. This figure of $20 billion is less than six per cent of the total given above. I still insist that we have seen the peak of business and employment for the next two or three years unless further war breaks out. On the other hand, I am more optimistic on the situation than I was a few months ago. Instead of flying a "danger signal," I would fly a "caution signal."

Wars Stimulate Inventions

It, therefore, will be seen that peace in Korea will bring an improved situation to many to offset the hardships to others. In other words, we are slowly changing from a war to a peace economy and every reader of this column should conscientiously consider how it will affect him or her, whether a banker, manufacturer, merchant, wageworker, or sales clerk, remembering that all of us are consumers. The purchasing power of the dollar is gradually increasing; prosperity is holding up better than anticipated; although, of course, it is impossible for the dollar to increase in value unless present abnormal wages at least level off.

Wageworkers fail to realize that their increased wages during the past war years have been due to new machinery. War always stimulates inventions which either reduce costs or improve the product. If we draw a line showing the money spent on research and new machinery by any company, it will usually show how much the company can pay in higher wages. None of us realize what we owe to the inventors of our country. The wonderful new machines, products, and processes about to come on the market keep me from being a pessimist.

Knowledge is Power

(1) Apparently not. During World War II a crew of technical experts from Amtorg Corp., the Russian agency, were on full-time duty in the U. S. Patent office. They combed the files of our Patent office and picked out what they wanted. During those years we sent to Russia, through them, patent reprints on bomb sights, tanks, airplanes, ship controls, helicopters, ammunition and bullet-resisting armor. They were still looting our country of its technical secrets four years after the war ended.

Major George Percy Jordan reveals this wholesale looting of our secrets in his book, "Major Jordan's Diaries." Among other things, we gave the Russians an entire plant for fabricating artillery shell cases, an entire tire plant, an aluminum rolling mill, a repair plant for precision instruments, a petroleum refinery, five plants for making synthetic rubber, two neoprene rubber factories and one factory each for styrene, Houdry-method butadiene, and Houdry catalysts. Recently the Russians announced that they now lead the world in synthetic-rubber production.

(2) It's the civilian eyes of the air force. Volunteer members of Operation Skywatch stand in lookout posts two hours a week watching for planes. Oddly enough, reports Jim Bishop in The Sign magazine, "We have not enough patriotic Americans who will spend two hours a week watching for planes and reporting them."

(3) The palace has about 600 rooms, according to an article written by Blake Ehrlich for This Week magazine. Queen Elizabeth has a large retinue of officials and servants who see to it that the palace is operated smoothly and efficiently. Among the hundreds of maintenance jobs which must be performed is that of the Royal Clock Winder, who single-handedly keeps the 300 Buckingham clocks going.

It's Fine To Be Fooled - Sometimes
Handy Peters entertained for the ladies of the Auxiliary the other night—and had the ladies believing for a while that he's the best marksman ever.
Handy put on a great act. He set up a whole bunch of balloons on a muslin backdrop and then took out his pea-shooter. He shot blindfolded, standing on his head, every which way—and broke a balloon every time!
No wonder Handy impressed the ladies. What they didn't know—till the show's end—was that Buck Mulligan was hiding behind the backdrop improving on Handy's aim with a hatpin.
From where I sit, we all get things "put over" on us now and again. When it's good-natured—fine! But, some folks would like to fool the rest of us into believing it's wrong to enjoy an occasional glass of beer—just because they prefer something else. For real American tolerance and neighborliness these people are simply "off target."

YOU and YOUR CONGRESS

Sponsored by Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce

WASHINGTON — Congress is, as they say at the race track, in the stretch.

The tiring legislators are driving for a much-desired July 31 finish but there is considerable doubt among them that they will make it. What they are in reality is a steeplechase and the feeling is that there are too many obstacles remaining between now and the adjournment finish line to reach it by the end of this month.

Its Republican leaders still think Congress can quit by the target date if it changes its pace. Putting it bluntly, House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (Mass.), says it will require "more action and less talk."

But some of the remaining obstacles on the course, which the leadership insists must be cleared before Congress can call it quits for the year, are certain to produce a great deal of time-consuming talk before there is any action on them.

Foremost among these are the bills to increase postal rates, as requested by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, and the measure to admit to this country under a special immigration quota 240,000 European refugees, as proposed by the President.

The Senate is waiting on the House to act first on the postal rate increase request. Many members of the House Post Office Committee wanted to wait until next year to consider rate increases. In fact, it was only after Chairman Edward H. Rees (R-Kan.), intervened to break a 10-10 tie vote that the Committee opened hearings on Summer-field's request.

What bothers many members of Congress most about Summerfield's recommendations is that he wants to boost the intercity first class rate from three to four cents. The three-cent stamp, of course, is the one most widely bought by voters.

The Postmaster General estimates that increasing it to four cents would bring in an additional $150 million a year — the largest single portion of the $240 million in additional sales revenue he seeks to help reduce his prospective $515 million deficit for the current Federal financial year.

Objecting members of Congress point out, however, that the three-cent letter is the only class of mail on which the Post Office does not lose money. They ask why the increases should not be made mainly in the other classes of mail.

The House committee is less than half-way through the list of nearly 100 witnesses who want to be heard on the matter. And Chairman Rees says the fact that hearings are under way does not necessarily mean there will be final House action this year.

On the other hand, Republican Congressional leaders, prodded by Summerfield and the President, have labeled this legislation a "must" for pre-adjournment action. So it becomes a real obstacle.

The refugee bill, also a "must," is equally tough. For one thing, it is opposed by both Senator Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) and Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) They are co-authors of the country's basic immigration law and carry great weight among their colleagues — party lines notwithstanding — on the subject of immigration.

Walter estimates that, because most of the Europeans would be refugees from behind the Iron Curtain, the bill would admit at least 50,000 communists, despite safeguards of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act. Many members of Congress can be expected to ponder that possibility carefully in spite of pressure from various nationality groups for approval of the legislation.

The complaint also is heard in Congress that the bill would be unfair to foreigners who have been waiting a long time to get this country under regular nationality quotas.

At this point, therefore, it is felt by many that the refugee and postal rate bills alone hang a big question mark on that July 31 adjournment target date.

Meanwhile, the pre-adjournment "must" list also includes such items as appropriations, renewal of the reciprocal trade program legislation, establishment of a Small Business Administration, a bill to let the President give surplus food to needy foreign countries, reorganization of the basic Federal credit system for farmers which the Farm Credit Administration directors and leasing of submerged lands in the continental shelf beyond historic borders of coastal states.

Having hit the stretch, Congress is in high gear and driving hard toward the finish—prodded no little by Washington weather that finds thermometers flirting with 100 degrees. The House and Senate have been meeting earlier than usual in the morning and staying at work well past the normal early evening quitting time.

And whether he says so long to Washington for the year on July 31 or later, the fact remains that your Congressman very likely will arrive home a tired man.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

A truce in Korea, as this is written, is reported to be only a matter of hours away, and all of us should be thinking about just what a truce will mean.

The first thing, and the reason we are so anxious to obtain a truce, is that the actual fighting and shedding of blood will stop. Being a peaceful people we regret the tragedies of wars, even when we realize that there is no other alternative.

End of the fighting will be a blessing to the families who have sons in Korea and those who have sons about to enter the armed services.

Other results of the truce will probably be of more questionable value.

President Rhee, for very good reasons of his own, was opposed to a truce on the conditions originally suggested, but now that he has been given renewed assurances by President Eisenhower that this government will continue to work for the unification of Korea, this time by peaceful means, he has grudgingly given his consent.

The U. S. enters into the negotiations in complete sincerity and as Secretary of State Dulles said, "We are not suppliants. We are ready for honorable peace. But if the Communists want war we must be ready for that too."

In other words, the future peace in Korea, and for that matter the rest of the world, is strictly in the hands of the Communists. Because of their past conduct, I am sure none of us are too confident that they will abide by the terms of the Korean truce.

Providing that there is no new outbreak of the war this government will be faced with a number of new problems in Asia immediately after the armistice is agreed to.

The entire future of Asia will be at stake, and the future of Asia is directly dependent upon the future of Europe, and primarily of Germany.

In other words, if the West should lose Germany to the Soviet zone of power, the Communists could use that country's tremendous industrial potential to promote its aims in Asia.

Without increased industrial capacity it is unlikely that the Communists could successfully wage a large campaign throughout Asia. But with the resources of Germany at her command, our position would be greatly weakened.

Among the other problems which will confront us is that of Red China. We may expect a move by some of our allies to ease the embargo and other restrictions against the present Chinese government.

Several of our allies have had extensive trade with China and other countries in the Orient, and their economy is severely affected. Japan too will most likely be looking toward the Chinese markets to find a place for its products.

This will put us in a ticklish position because we want to continue opposing Red China, yet at the same time we desire to see the economic prosperity of our friends and Japan.

To deny them the right of the Chinese markets might put us in a position where we would be forced to grant increased foreign aid under the Mutual Security Program—a program which the Congress desires to see ended as quickly as possible.

How well we Americans handle these difficult problems may well determine the security of the world, and while I am confident no one has all the answers at this time, we may be sure that the midnight oil in the State Department and the White House will be burning throughout the months to come.

HARBAUGH REUNION

The Harbaugh reunion will be held Sunday at St. Jacob's Church, Fountandale, Pa. The occasion will be an all-day affair with a basket lunch. Rev. Claude Corl, Sabillasville, will be the speaker. Memorial services will be conducted by the vice president, Harvey C. Gordon, Sr., of Hagerstown; Mrs. Edgar Harbaugh, Sabillasville, is in charge of the program and Mrs. Harry C. Gordon, Jr., Hagerstown will be in charge of games. Mr. L. D. Harbaugh, York, will present the gifts.

A dedication of a bronze plaque in honor of historians will be in charge of President W. E. Harbaugh of Red Lion, Pa.

Stars of the Hollywood Ice Review enjoy summer outings, such as backyard turkey barbecues, while practicing for their fall and winter skating performances throughout America. Star performers on ice and stars of barbecuing at outdoor fireplaces are Carol Lynne (standing) and Dee Larkin, both of Chicago. Carol applies the barbecue sauce to a quarter of a turkey while Dee holds turkey on long-handled fork used for turning the birds during barbecuing. The girls insist that barbecuing, unlike ice skating, requires no practice.

Summer Change

"The Railroad Hour" (NBC, Monday evenings) is offering listeners throughout the summer a series of delightful original musical romances built around well-known stories and familiar music.

Singing star of the program, Gordon MacRae, will share honors for the summer performances with soprano Dorothy Warenskjold, the Norman Ludoff Chorus, and Carmen Dragon's orchestra.

Here's the schedule for July and August: "Starlight," a nostalgic review of oldtime vaudeville, with some of the music that made it great;

LOOKING AHEAD

By GEORGE S. BENSON President—Harding College Scarv, Arkansas

We Commend The Clergy

In view of the recent furor in Washington over Dr. J. B. Matthews' American Mercury article, "Reds and Our Churches," reporting that 7000 Protestant clergymen have been listed on the rolls of Communists fronts, some additional facts should be considered:

1. There are 254,191 Protestant clergymen in the U. S. Thus 7000 is only 2.8 per cent of the total. A similar percentage of the 22,459 Catholic clergymen would be only 628; and of the 2350 Jewish Rabbis, only 65.

2. Much of the Reds' front activity is shrewdly calculated to attract the sympathy of churchmen. They seem to be constantly agitating on behalf of the underdog, the "downtrodden." The "downtrodden" were the special concern of Christ and naturally a great concern of conscientious Christian churchmen.

3. Not many people are well informed on the tactics of the Communist conspirators. Americans have been slow in learning that the respectable-looking front organization is a trap through which the Reds get money to finance their underground work, foment strife between factions, and recruit converts to the Communist ideology.

When all these facts are considered, I think any fair-minded person would commend the American clergy as a whole for recognizing and remaining immune to the strong but bogus humanitarian appeal of the Communist front apparatuses.

Part of my time throughout the year is spent in the pulpit, in Arkansas and other states. In preaching the Gospel we preach the brotherhood of man. And we endeavor to live it by supporting good causes that give a helping hand to all those who need it.

Years ago I began to study Communism and its tactics because it openly declared itself a world-wide atheistic force challenging God. Karl Marx advocated trickery as a part of aggressive atheism. The Communist front has become the center of the Red trickery in America. The hundreds of organizations which the Reds created have been a vital part of the apparatus with which they are determined one day to establish Communism as the ruling force here.

The same day Dr. Matthews' resignation from the Senate committee was announced, the Dept. of Justice, designated 2 additional organizations in this country as subversive Communist fronts, working, through trickery, for the Communist cause. This is in addition to the 192 organizations previously cited as subversive. The American citizens who are non-Communists but who have been listed as members of any of the 254 organizations now officially cited as Red, have of course been unwittingly aiding the Communist conspiracy. Some are preachers.

Various sources have for years recognized that some preachers were Communists. Some were secret Communists before they became preachers. They became preachers to infiltrate the church and influence large numbers of people in church congregations. J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has confirmed this fact. So has Herbert Philbrick, a loyal, courageous American citizen who served as an FBI counterspy in the Communist underground in Boston. He said several preachers belonged to his underground Red cell.

"These individuals," he told a Congressional committee, "were all Communists prior to their becoming ministers. I actually sat in at a cell meeting at the home (name given) . . . one of the heads of the Communist

A Measure of Man

Papa David, the philosophical bookseller on NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful," sees a measure of man in the books he buys. "Some come in for books on their work—they're industrious. Some buy books to pass the time—could there be a better way? Some buy books to put on a shelf unread—foolish, but they're happy. A few buy books for wisdom and understanding—these people know Life can be beautiful."

What about booksellers? "Booksellers you judge by the books they don't sell—especially the ones they can't part with because they are like old friends."

Don't keep honey in your refrigerator. Cold honey granulates rapidly.

Party . . . and a member of our cell was a young Communist about to be planted in a seminary to study to be a minister and infiltrate into the religious field . . . that was one of (our) main projects."

This unchallenged evidence doesn't detract from the fact that the Church is the one great force that ultimately must spell the doom of Communism, and that the vast majority of American clergymen are diligently working toward that end.

Stars of the Hollywood Ice Review enjoy summer outings, such as backyard turkey barbecues, while practicing for their fall and winter skating performances throughout America. Star performers on ice and stars of barbecuing at outdoor fireplaces are Carol Lynne (standing) and Dee Larkin, both of Chicago. Carol applies the barbecue sauce to a quarter of a turkey while Dee holds turkey on long-handled fork used for turning the birds during barbecuing. The girls insist that barbecuing, unlike ice skating, requires no practice.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Often major Washington explosions are triggered by a circumstance obscure to the public. Thus, recent request of major airlines could set off probe. Major airlines have applied to CAB, the Civil Aeronautics Board, for permission to reduce commissions paid thousands of independent travel agencies. CAB has authority on everything pertaining to civil aviation.

CAB has in the past taken many steps to block independent airlines from competing with the majors, so they apparently feel it will be a routine matter to secure approval for the plan to cut down the independent travel agent. Yet, the issue, from the airlines' standpoint, is so petty, it may be the straw that breaks the camel's back.

Independent travel agents are credited with doing a great selling job for air travel, but in addition travel agents have become almost indispensable to the traveler. Buying transportation through an experienced travel agent who knows facilities, connecting lines, and other data, the traveler avoids standing in line in an airline ticket office, the often futile attempts to seek information from a green clerk and other harassments.

For this service, the travel agent receives a 5% commission. Thus, on a cross country trip, the average commission to the agent for all his services is only $4.95. But now the major airlines want to cut this to $1.50.

Your Personal Health

NO SHORT-CUT

Modern medicine has advanced so rapidly in the control of disease in the past 50 years that we get into the habit of expecting it to do miracles overnight.

Tuberculosis is a disease which can be prevented and can be cured, but there is no easy short-cut. From time to time new methods of prevention and treatment have been acclaimed only to end in disillusionment. The history of the campaign against TB is full of false hopes raised and then dashed.

One of the greatest hopes for the defeat of tuberculosis lies in the discovery of a vaccine which could be used to make everyone resistant to the germs which cause tuberculosis. The problem has been worked on ever since the tubercle bacillus was discovered in the last century. One vaccine, Bacillus Calmette-Guerin, called BCG, has been valuable in special cases, but there is still no vaccine for TB which is completely safe and which gives the degree of immunity produced by smallpox vaccine and diphtheria toxoid against those diseases.

BCG is especially useful for immunizing groups of people who are particularly vulnerable to TB and heavily exposed to the germs: doctors, medical students, and nurses; hospital and laboratory workers; people unavoidably exposed to infection in the home, and children and certain adults who are believed to have poor resistance to TB and who live in communities where the disease is unusually prevalent.

Until the ideal vaccine is discovered and given to all the peo-

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Recent proclamation of a national wheat marketing quota by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson means that wheat farmers will soon be called on to decide whether to use controls in marketing their 1954 crop.

George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee, reminds farmers that a referendum on the quotas will be held Aug. 14. At least two-thirds of the farmers voting must approve quotas before they can be put into effect.

At issue also is the level at which the government will support the price for the 1954 wheat crop. Legislation directs supporters at 90 per cent of parity if quotas are approved. However, if farmers disapprove marketing quotas, the support drops, according to law, to 50 per cent of parity to those farmers who comply with their wheat acreage allotments.

Officials point out that the Secretary had little choice in the matter of issuing the wheat quota proclamation. Legislation directs that such a proclamation be made whenever the total supply of wheat exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 per cent. The normal supply consists of estimated domestic consumption plus exports plus a 15 per cent reserve.

The supply of wheat this year is now estimated at 1760 million bushels, about 52 per cent above normal supply.

All wheat farmers who are subject to quotas are eligible to vote in the wheat referendum, Mr. Martin explained. A farmer is subject to the quotas generally if the acreage classified as wheat on the farm in 1954 is more than 15 acres, or if the farm has a normal production of 200 bushels or more on the acreage planted for harvest.

Wheat acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1954 crop of wheat. Allotments are not affected by the outcome of the quota referendum.

Promising Jockey Rides At Charles Town Track
Eastern racing fans will probably all be staring with interested surmise at cherub-faced Henry Block. He bobs with such excited alacrity on the withers of a thoroughbred, and gets so much run out of an animal, the veteran horsemen at the Charles Town race course predict " . . . he should make a top notch rider."

He's doing alright now as leading apprentice with 18 winners at the oval. If he makes the grade in New York, where he's bound for after the Aug. 8 close, he'll join the group comprising Arnold Kirkland, Carson Kirk and many more top flighters who began at the Shenandoah Valley track.

"It may sound odd but I would not change places for a million bucks," says the 19-year-old, 104-pound Block.

"I get a kick out of horse backing. Always wanted to be a jockey. At first, though, it was sort of tough to get started. I tried for a year to just get inside a race track. You see, Garden

A Measure of Man

Papa David, the philosophical bookseller on NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful," sees a measure of man in the books he buys. "Some come in for books on their work—they're industrious. Some buy books to pass the time—could there be a better way? Some buy books to put on a shelf unread—foolish, but they're happy. A few buy books for wisdom and understanding—these people know Life can be beautiful."

What about booksellers? "Booksellers you judge by the books they don't sell—especially the ones they can't part with because they are like old friends."

State is practically in my backyard—I was born in Camden—and after school hours I went there, didn't have enough money to pay my way in, and was told to get a pass. I said, 'let me in, then, to get a pass'—no dice." Block employed ingenuity. Usually a youngster's ambition is to sneak into a circus. Block used the same technique. He sneaked into a race track. Met owner Art Caccese and through him came in contact with a trainer. Non-plussed at answering in the affirmative when asked if he could ride, the diminutive Block swung atop the horse and so impressed the trainer that the lad finally wound up with Phil Goodwin, a prominent jockey in his own right in his day. Beginning the spring of 1951, and under Goodwin's tutelage, Block applied himself to learning how to become a jockey. In 1953, during Garden State's spring session, he got his big chance, the thrill that comes once in a lifetime to a jockey—that of piloting his first winner, astride Peleliu. He's been riding sensationally ever since. Guided home four winners out of six tries last Friday for his best day so far.

Governor Proclaims Land Week

Governor McKeldin last week signed a proclamation naming the week of Aug. 9-15 as the third annual Maryland Land Week. When signing the proclamation in Maryland's historic old Statehouse, the governor urged citizens of the Free State to support and take part in activities to be held during Land Week.

Gov. McKeldin pointed out that the "healthy, prosperity and welfare of all our citizens, both rural and urban, is largely dependent on the land and its resources," and that "wise use and conservation of our natural resources is essential if we are to continue to make available food, clothing, and other agricultural products for our citizens of this generation and generations to come."

The Governor hailed the accomplishments of such agencies as the 23 soil conservation districts in the furtherance of soil and water conservation measures, and pointed out the challenge of "large areas still being wasted through erosion, lack of drainage and improper use."

The Rev. Hugh J. Phillips, librarian of Mount St. Mary's College, preached the Sunday sermon at the first solemn mass of the Rev. William Fontinell in St. Patrick's Church, Scranton.

Father Fontinell began his theological studies at Mount St. Mary's Seminary but was transferred by the Most Rev. William J. Hafey, Bishop of Scranton, to the North American College in Rome, Italy, after completing his second year. Ordained in May, Fr. Fontinell has only recently returned to this country.

Careless Smokers Create State's Biggest Fire Hazards

Nearly half the 487 forest fires recorded in Maryland in 1952 were caused by careless smokers, according to American Forest Products Industries. The 487 fires reported last year burned 2503 acres.

During the previous year, a total of 419 fires burned 2345 acres. The 1952 rise in fires and acreage burn was reflected nationally by a 15 per cent rise in forest fire occurrence.

A total of 220 of Maryland's 1952 fires were caused by smokers, and 89 by careless brush and debris burners. Two fires were caused by lightning.

"Despite quite high rises in forest fire occurrence and acreage losses in other parts of the nation," said James C. McClellan, chief forester for AFPI, "Maryland managed to hold its own with its forest fire record. The fact that all the state's forestlands are under protection, plus the efficiency of that protection, played a large part in keeping the Free State's fire losses low." Stating that nationwide 500 forest fires a day were reported in 1952, the AFPI chief forester declared that ". . . 99 per cent of those fires were caused by man's carelessness and indifference." The AFPI report, based on U. S. Forest Service figures, stressed the need for increased realization of the public's role in preventing forest fires.

Gettysburg Sales Days Will Be Held Friday and Saturday

The third annual Gettysburg Sales Day, sponsored by the Gettysburg Retail Merchants Association will be held today and tomorrow.

Over 40 merchants will participate to bring a parade of bargains to their customers. In addition, prizes of all sorts will be offered to lucky patrons. Each participating merchant will give prizes at his own place of business on each day of the sale, and all of the merchants have contributed to make possible the Grand Prize awards.

Tickets for the Grand Prize drawing will be given during the sale with every dollar purchase at those stores displaying the Sales Days emblem. Prizes will be awarded at 9 p. m. tomorrow evening in Lincoln Square.

The first grand prize is a new GE room air conditioner valued at $300; second prize, a Westinghouse 220-V. clothes dryer, valued at $240; third prize, a Daystrom chrome breakfast set, value, $130; fourth prize, $50 in credit; fifth prize, $25 in credit. Over 75 other awards will also be made.

All stores will be open Friday and Saturday evenings to allow all patrons to take advantage of the biggest savings event of the year.

Before you wash any synthetic fabric, think of all the angles. How a garment is constructed, it's color, the way the fiber is woven all play a part in whether to hand or machine wash.

That's because all synthetic fibers react differently to washing, according to clothing specialist Helen Shelby, University of Maryland Extension Service. For example, fiberglass must be hand washed, but the situation varies with other synthetics.

Miss Shelby says most synthetics come cleaner when machine washed. When hand washed the material just doesn't get clean, nor is the soap rinsed out thoroughly. However, the garment may require hand washing. So many nylon garments are tagged "wash by hand" because of their fragile construction.

In nylon there is little or no shrinkage, and you can wash white nylons in water as hot as 140 degrees. That's hotter than the hand can stand. Colored nylons take a water temperature of about 120 degrees.

Because nylon generates static electricity, it shouldn't be mixed in the laundry with colored clothes. The electricity draws dyes from other fabrics. This electricity also attracts dust and grease easily, and that's why nylons soil so quickly.

You'll want to avoid putting synthetic materials through a wringer. Once deep wrinkles are formed, they're difficult to remove. Instead, drip your nylons and acetates. A little finger pressing and shaping helps give the unpressed garment a smoother appearance.

Heat setting is the secret of permanent pleating. Heat treated nylon, for example, has more body and it prevents fine wrinkles that can't be pressed out.

RUSSELL MAGUIRE Russell Maguire, New York industrialist and Chairman of the Board of the American Mercury, has been named National Chairman of the Glen Eyrie Endowment Fund to develop Glen Eyrie at Colorado Springs, Colorado, as an evangelistic headquarters for the nation. The property will be used as a retreat house and for research and study by the members of the Billy Graham and other religious youth groups. Glen Eyrie was built by General William J. Palmer, pioneer railroad man of the West and the founder of Colorado Springs, and was completed in 1940. It comprises a castle and numerous other buildings which lend themselves ideally to the purposes of the evangelistic movement headed by Billy Graham, who is Honorary National Chairman of the fund.

Summer Change

"The Railroad Hour" (NBC, Monday evenings) is offering listeners throughout the summer a series of delightful original musical romances built around well-known stories and familiar music.

Singing star of the program, Gordon MacRae, will share honors for the summer performances with soprano Dorothy Wareskjold, the Norman Ludoff Chorus, and Carmen Dragon's orchestra. Laurence and Lee are responsible for "The Railroad Hour" scripts, with Murray Bolen directing.

Here's the schedule for July and August:

"Starlight," a nostalgic review of oldtime vaudeville, with some of the music that made it great; "The Golden Empress," the story of Carlotta and Maximilian of Mexico; "On Wings of Song," story and music of Mendelssohn; "Tribby," a musical version of the Du Maurier thriller; "Roaring Camp," a dramatization of the Bret Harte story, with music of Anton Dvorak.

Miss Naomi Harbaugh, Baltimore, spent the weekend with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Troxell.

Miss Louise Adams, Washington, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Felix Adams.

A son was born last Thursday at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little.

Weekend visitors of Mrs. Ray Topepr were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Topper and daughter, Susan, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Topper and son, Ray, Jr., all of Ferndale, Md.

The hawk moth not only is capable of swift, darting forward flight, but can fly backwards, dodge sidewise, stop abruptly in mid-flight and hover motionless in the air.

Spoon drop biscuit dough into small muffin cups and you'll have well-shaped biscuits.

What does the future hold for me? That's a question we all ask ourselves at one time or another. Well, the answer is... security... relaxation... happiness... if we save and invest our money wisely now! And what investment could be easier... safer... or wiser than United States Savings Bonds! When you invest in United States Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, your saving is automatic! Each payday your "fund for the future" grows larger and larger! And, as it grows, more and more interest is added. So—for your future—invest in United States Savings Bonds!

POLIO PRECAUTIONS. DON'T mix with new groups. DON'T get overtired. DON'T get chilled. BUT DO keep clean. Gamma Globulin—obtained from human blood—gives protection for a few weeks. However, it is in VERY SHORT SUPPLY. A vaccine is not ready for 1953. But there is hope for the future. Meanwhile—when polio is around—follow these PRECAUTIONS. Mrs. Joseph Peddicord, Baltimore, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little. The Misses Margaret Bouey and Mary Theresa Houck are spending a week in Chicago. They made the trip by plane from Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Grier Keilholtz, Taneytown and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Keilholtz, E. Main St., have returned from a 1,500 mile trip through Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Canada. They spent a day at The Thousand Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Matt J. Paidakovich, Silver Spring, are vacationing in Emmitsburg and Pittsburgh, Pa. Susan Crouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crouse, Center Square, is recuperating at her home from a deep wound in her left leg and brush burns sustained recently at Caledonia Park. She was on a platform swing with other playmates and upon getting off the swing, fell and was caught under the platform section and dragged to and from. She was treated in Chambersburg by a physician.
