BY ABIGAIL

Well, well, back to see you again after being shoved off the front page last week. I really was amazed at the number of protests Ye Ed received for his use of the scissors on my favorite spot in your favorite paper. He has promised never to do it again, unless we are invaded. However, I hope you will forgive him because I do know that the sheet really was crowded and that if so-and-so's story didn't get in there would be just plain h— to pay.

At any rate it's good to be back into circulation again and as I have a very important bit of information for local property-owners I better hadn't waste too much wordage on my absence.

An item in a recent edition of the Chronicle has aroused my attention. The story is in reference to the town disposal plant which has been accused recently of not being operated efficiently. Well, perhaps that's part of the trouble, but now that the system is in good hands trouble still exists there and from what I understand it's no one's fault but YOUR OWN. By that I mean property-owners who pipe their rain water into the main sewer line. An ordinance prohibiting this has been in existence for almost 25 years, since the installation of the present sewerage system, and yet these property-owners have constantly violated this ordinance. Now comes the pay off. This practice has to cease or the town will be plunged into a considerable debt, meaning of course, that if the rain water continues to be piped into the sewer line, another disposal plant, a larger one will have to be built, costing thousands of dollars. Engineers hired to investigate the supposed inefficiencies of the present plant, say it wasn't intended originally to handle superfluous water via the rainpouts. For a lady who doesn't understand the principles of a sewerage plant this sounds reasonable, as it should to the average layman. Just why the practice was ever begun in the first place is a mystery. It seems that the easiest way to dispose of the surface water would be to just place a splash plate at the bottom of the spout and let the water take a natural course.

At any rate, town officials maintain the practice has to be discontinued, or else it will be coerced to take stronger action than the mild protest issued recently. I'm sure it wouldn't create too much of a problem for local property-owners to correct the present situation to the satisfaction of all. All that would be necessary would be to snip the rainpout at its lower extremity and place a concrete or stone splash-plate under it. It appears to me that this would be the logical thing to do rather than have a generous hike in real estate taxes and sewer charges, wouldn't it?

While on the subject of adequate sewerage, let me inform you that the Solons are busy at the present time, having the situation corrected by taking remedial measures. An engineering concern has been engaged to study what additional lines are necessary and when that survey is completed, Council intends to build as much sewer line as it has money, eventually taking care of the whole town. Let's cooperate with the Council, folks, before someone finally is prosecuted and hard-feelings are unnecessarily made.

For you big husky out-doorsmen, I suggest that you unlimber your artillery and get in a little practice at the shooting match Sunday afternoon being held for the benefit of the Fire Co. You know they say the game is smarter than ever before, and a little practice with the 'old trusty shotgun' would not do you any harm, and besides the firemen could use the "jack."

Three Countians At Bridgewater

Bridgewater College, Va., has enrolled 411 students for the session of 1953-54, according to the registrar.

Of these 411 students, three are from Frederick County. They are Euclid Jones of Emmitsburg, Harold Weybright of Thurmont, and Lee Echard of Middletown.

Dump Fire Threatening Mountain

A privately-owned dump located several miles west of town on the Hornet's Nest Road, is on fire and may well burn for months, District Forest Supervisor Herman Toms reports.

The burning dump, in the dry mountains, is a constant forest fire threat and plans are being made to dig a deep fire line around it with a bulldozer.

The fire apparently started on Tuesday and on several occasions it threatened to spread to the dry woods but the Vigilant Hose Company was called to the scene and checked its advance which had pushed beyond the main dump to the edge of the forest.

Toms and D. Oscar Wolfe, forest warden here, have put a temporary fire line completely about the dump, which covers about a quarter of an acre in a deep ravine, but should a high wind develop there is no telling just how much damage would occur. It is planned to construct a permanent fire line.

Frederick County Health Dept. officials have for some time urged discontinuance of the dump and has declared it a health menace.

Mr. Toms said the dump is like a furnace with frequent explosions which send fire high into the air. Glass often bursts and smaller pieces are hurled all over the place, along with dangerous sparks. He said that even a heavy rain probably wouldn't extinguish the fire which will have to burn itself out and may take several months. It is believed that some child may have touched off the fire.

Hunting Season Not To Be Delayed

Maryland's upland game season will open as usual it was learned this week after Governor McKeldin turned down a request to call off the hunting season because of forest fire danger saying he felt it would do little toward lessening the fire threat.

The governor made the statement in a letter to Milton E. Canter, a Washington attorney, after a conference was held in the governor's office with state forestry and game officials present.

McKeldin said he was been advised by state officials "that hunting is far from being the major cause of forest fires, and that, on the contrary, hunters are frequently instrumental in the extinguishing of fires originating from other sources."

Legion Spook Parade October 31

For the fourth consecutive year the Francis X. Elder Post, No. 121, American Legion, will sponsor a Halloween Parade on Saturday, Oct. 31.

Harold M. Hoke, general chairman of the affair since its inception, said this week that the parade will be enlarged this year with the participation of the Legion Drill Team, the Emmitsburg Municipal Band and other entertaining units.

The parade, which last year attracted more than 700 participants including children and adults, will form at the Memorial Doughboy in West End at 6:30 p. m. for placement and assignment of numbers. It will be led by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band and the American Legion Drill Team and color guard.

Prizes will be awarded to first, second, and third, respectively as follows: Funniest costume, $5, $2.50, and $1.00; best looking costume, $5, $2.50 and $1.00; most original costume, $5, $2.50 and $1.00; funniest costume with pet, $5, $2.50 and $1.00; best looking costume with decorated bicycle, tricycle, or wagon, $5, $2.50 and $1.00. Two mystery prizes of $5 each also will be awarded.

Free refreshments will be served following the termination of the parade at St. Joseph's High School.

Warning Given Local Vandals

Chief Daniel J. Kaas issues the following warning to parents of boys who are pre-celebrating Halloween: All those caught in such depredations will be prosecuted.

Chief Kaas says that several teen-age boys already have removed gates, stolen clothing and destroyed property. Such vandalism will not be tolerated even on Halloween, it is said. Extra police will be hired during the Halloween period, it was learned this week.

Community Show Takes Place Today And Saturday; Large Turnout Predicted

Pictured above is a section of the hundreds of exhibits displayed at last year's Community Show which is sponsored annually by the Emmitsburg Grange. Mr. William G. Baker, general chairman of the affair this year, says the event has greatly been expanded and that more exhibits than ever before are expected when the show gets under way today and tomorrow in the Emmitsburg High School. Attendance last year was estimated at over 1,000.

Family To Feature Austrian Melodies In Appearance At St. Joseph College

Austrian melody will fill DePaul Auditorium of Saint Joseph College on October 29 when the Trapp Family Singers appear there. This heroic family turned a hobby into a profession when it gave up an ancestral estate to flee the perils of Nazism. Since arriving in America the Trapps have been acclaimed by audiences everywhere for unique choral work.

Authentic originals of Tyrolean peasant styles are worn by the family both on and off stage. Wherever they go they wear floor-length dirndls of handsome hand-woven fabric, with aprons shawls and white peasant blouses. Agathe and Maria Trapp fashion these costumes in the family's farmhouse in Stowe, Vermont.

The Trapps are devout Catholics and still subscribe to the old world ideals of close family unity. They preserve many of the folk customs of their native land. Special foods and rituals for various festivals around the church calendar are observed.

His Holiness, Pope Pius XII recently honored Mrs. Trapp with the Benemerenti Medal, a tribute to her outstanding services to the Catholic Church in an exemplar of the Catholic ideal of family life.

The family specializes in a cappella singing, for it has found that it is a perfect medium for the attainment of natural pitch. Selections range from pre-classical church airs and early motets and madrigals to lusty mountain yodels and rollicking folk songs. The a cappella singing is interspersed with groups of music played on the ancient spinet, viol da gamba and the recorder.

Forty-two per cent of the men on duty with the army are regulars.

Conversion To Dial System Progressing In This District As To Schedule

Installation of the dial system in Emmitsburg is going ahead as to schedule and involves activities as far away as Rocky Ridge, Thurmont and Taneytown. Above is pictured Lineman Harry Mossback at work adding additional crossarms on a pole; standing at the truck is Line Foreman George Bell and William Keyser, also a lineman, is in the truck. The scene is near Rocky Ridge and this line, now serving as high as 11 and 12 parties, will be reduced to eight or ten because of additional lines being strung and consequently giving more and better service. Already nine new subscribers have applied for service on this line.

Western Electric installation crews are currently installing the dial equipment in the now completed telephone building located at the corner of Chesapeake Ave. and Potomac Street in Emmitsburg. Completion of the project is scheduled for the latter part of January.

Water Is Low; Restrictions Imposed

Emmitsburg's water supply has dwindled so rapidly in the past several weeks that the Emmitsburg Water Co. deems it advisable to issue restrictions as a means of conserving what volume it has in reserve.

President Samuel C. Hays of the water utility announced this week that the prolonged drought has cut reserves in half and at the present time there is an estimated 14,000,000 gallons of water on hand. Normal capacity of the water system is 28,000,000 gallons. It is pointed out that had the company not had the foresight to construct Rainbow Lake for reserves, the town now would be without water.

Mr. Hays disclosed that for some time now, two pumps have been augmenting the supply but it is not ample to keep reserves in sufficient quantities unless restrictions are invoked. He said that he believed that with the complete cooperation of the water company patrons that conservation measures would provide ample water for the welfare and health of the community and also for fire protection.

Appearing elsewhere in this issue is a formal notice declaring this state of emergency and naming the restrictions as to water usage.

Sgt. Bollinger Interred In National Cemetery

The remains of Master Sergeant Charles Richard "Dick" Bollinger, who died of a heart attack in Korea last July 31, escorted by Chief Warrant Officer Alan W. Johnson, will arrive in Baltimore today.

Graveside services will be held at the Baltimore National Cemetery at 2:00 o'clock today with full military honors. The services will be conducted by the Rev. M. M. Menicon, an Army Reserve chaplain, of Sparrows Point, Md.

Sergeant Bollinger had served for 15 years in the Regular Army. Prior to going to Korea, he had been assigned as assistant unit instructor for the quartermaster units of the Army Reserve at the Fallway Armory of the Maryland Military District in Baltimore.

At the time he was stricken in Korea, he was serving with the 55th Quartermaster Base Depot since his arrival in April, 1953.

His overseas assignments, in addition to Korea, included Hawaii in 1936-38 and during World War II, the China-Burma-India Theater of Operations, 1943-1945, receiving the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious achievement in the latter. Just before and during the early part of World War II, he was stationed for two years at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

A native of Emmitsburg where he was born May 6, 1912, he had made his home in Baltimore since the time of his marriage in June, 1942. He was a graduate of Gettysburg College.

Sergeant Bollinger is survived by his widow, Marie Cox Bollinger, 5631 Reisterstown Rd.; his father, Theodore J. Bollinger; a brother, Thomas Bollinger and a sister, Mrs. Jane Giggell, all of this place. His mother, Mrs. Anna Frances Bollinger predeceased the sergeant about 15 years.

Four Fires Handled By Fire Co.

Dry weather creating potential tinder-boxes kept the Vigilant Hose Co. busy this week. Four times the firemen were called to the scenes of conflagrations.

On Saturday afternoon at one o'clock the hosemen were called to extinguish a grass fire which had started in a field in the rear of the George Sanders property. Hardly had they hung up the hoses when at two o'clock a grass fire, which had spread to an out-building on the Philip Sharpe Research Laboratory on the Tract Road, had to be quelled. Little damage was reported from the two blazes.

On Sunday afternoon another grass fire broke out near the Charles Bollinger property, Rt. 2 which also was handled with little or no damage. Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock a dump in the mountainous section west of town began spreading and posed as a real threat to the dry timberland in that area, until the firemen held the damage to a minimum, and no damage was reported.

Shooting Match Set For Sunday

The initial shooting match of the fall season which was sponsored by the Vigilant Hose Co., drew several hundred people last Sunday at Emmitt Gardens on Rt. 32, east of town.

Officials of the Fire Co. and general chairman Howard F. Thurmont Thief Sentenced Pleading guilty to an indictment for "petty larceny," the 21-year-old leader of a band of night-riding juvenile thieves, was sentenced to 18 months in the State Reformatory for Males on Wednesday afternoon before Associate Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer, Frederick.

Atty. R. E. Zimmerman for the defendant, M. George Ridenour, Thurmont, pleaded for leniency on the grounds that Ridenour is engaged to a girl who is shortly to become the mother of his child.

In sentencing Ridenour, Judge Schnauffer cited his record as a juvenile, previous incarceration in reform school and State Reformatory for service station robberies and breaking and entering the Thurmont High School.

The judge went on to say: "You are a very fortunate young man in that the indictment on which you plead guilty, is one for petty larceny, for an amount under $25. "Had it been an indictment of grand larceny, I would have sent you away for a long time."

The judge described Ridenour as "the ring leader, who went up into the mountains and got boys 14-15 years of age to commit petty thefts, contributing to the delinquency of these minors who have been before me in Juvenile Court."

Ridenour was arrested by sheriff's officers on July 11 on charges of breaking and entering and assault with a deadly weapon, jail records disclose. He made bond of $3,000 for appearance in the current term of court. Eight members of Ridenour's gang were given suspended sentences.

ANOTHER START IN KOREA

Communist acceptance of a United Nations' proposal to meet at Panmunjom Monday to discuss a Korean peace conference means that Red China and North Korea are hopeful that the UN is prepared to compromise. And unofficial reports of a secret agreement by the Western powers at their London conference suggest that their hopes may be well-founded.

The Western powers are said to have agreed on a new plan that differs from the one originally approved by the UN, which limited the conference to combatants on each side. The new plan would call for a conference to be attended by the Big Five powers and North and South Korea.

If a conference were set up on a Big Five—the U. S., Britain, France, Russia and China—basis, it would mean that Communist China, rather than Nationalist China, would sit in. Since the latter still holds one of the Big Five's permanent seats in the UN Security Council, this would mean, in effect, that the Chiang Government was being by-passed. Thus the stage would be set for the eventual recognition of Red China and her admission to the UN to replace the Nationalists.

Whether or not the report of a secret agreement in London pans out, it has been clear for several days that the Western powers are preparing to back away from their original position on a Korean conference. American Ambassador Lodge hinted recently, that UN representatives were prepared to reconsider the question as to its composition at a meeting in Panmunjom.

It is in the obvious hope of yet having their own way on this issue, then, that Red China and North Korea have agreed to meet with UN representatives Monday.

73 Farm Ponds Built In County

Farm ponds for water control, fire protection, stock watering and recreation are becoming increasingly more numerous in the Maryland countryside, according to a survey by the Committee for Conservation Now.

The best indicator of the growing pond interest is the steady increase in recent years in the number of farm ponds stocked and the number of fish given by the State Game and Inland Fish Commission.

Soil conservation districts, whose U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians help farmers with pond planning, also report increasing requests for assistance. Nearly 1,000 have been built with such help since 1957.

The Game & Inland Fish Commission records show 322 ponds with 134 acres of surface stocked with 142,016 fish in the year ending June 30, 1953. This is the most ever stocked in one year. Commission officials estimate about 20 per cent more ponds are built each year on which they do not have records.

The 1953 record compares with 175 ponds of 121 acres and 66,302 fish; and 1948, 104,283 fish; June 1950, 205 ponds, 190 acres and 104,283 fish; June 1949, 55 ponds, 61 acres and 63,000 fish; and 1948, 57 ponds, 43 acres and 23,806 fish.

Because ponds have a conservation value, conservation districts technicians will help in most counties that assistance priorities have been established.

The June 30, '53 annual record of ponds stocked by the Game and Inland Fish Commission by counties was: Allegany, 6; Anne Arundel, 9; Baltimore, 12; Caroline, 6; Carroll, 32; Cecil, 17; Charles, 4; Frederick, 73; Garrett, 19; Harford, 22; Howard, 17; Kent, 27; Montgomery, 56; Prince George's, 9; Queen Anne's, 1; St. Mary's, 4; and Washington, 8.

Ponds are stocked by the state under three conditions, that farmers comply with state fishing laws, that they allow a reasonable amount of public fishing at their discretion, and that they permit the removal of surplus fish when removal becomes desirable.

Tom Fool Will Race In 'Special'

Appearance of Greentree Stable's Tom Fool in what probably will be his final start before retiring to a career in the stud, is the highlight of the last week of the Pimlico fall meeting. Tom Fool is the No. 1 horse in the $50,000 Pimlico Special, to be run over the mile and three-sixteenths distance. The Special is scheduled for Saturday.

This will be the seventeenth edition of the Pimlico Special, inaugurated in 1937 by Alfred Vanderbilt, then president of the Maryland Jockey Club. The list of Special winners containing the names of most of the top stars since that time, starting with War Admiral and followed by Seabiscuit, Challedon, Market Wise, Whirlaway, Shorts, Twilight Tear, Armed, Assault, Fervent, Citation, Capot, One Hitter, Bryan G. and General Staff.

Despite the many rumors concerning rebuilding of Pimlico, the possibility of it being abandoned and reports that it might be moved, the general public has endorsed the racing at the Maryland Jockey Club plant in no uncertain terms by its attendance during the first portion of the session. Attendance has been running 15 to 20 per cent ahead of last season, which would seem to indicate that the fans like Pimlico where it is and the kind of racing that is offered by the club.

County Firemen Meet At Rocky Ridge

Action on a possible short wave radio setup similar to those operating in nearby counties was tabled until the meeting next January 18 at the quarterly meeting of the Frederick County Volunteer Firemen's Assn. at Rocky Ridge last Thursday evening.

Because of vital facts and figures were not available, it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the executive committee for possible action at the winter meeting.

Vernon M. Cassell, Braddock Heights, president of the county firemen, urged all committee chairmen to support his administration. He placed special emphasis on the constitution and by-laws committee, which will be in charge of drafting proposed changes in the regulations of the organization.

Members of the association pledged their support in organization of the Carroll Manor fire company. It was pointed out that fire protection is poorest in the area to be covered by the Carroll Manor Co., and a unit there is vitally needed.

Following the business meeting a colored film, "Building The Fire Line," was shown by Donald Kendall, forest guard, stationed in Frederick County. The picture depicted the latest methods in fighting and controlling forest fires.

Refreshments were served by the ladies' auxiliary of the Rocky Ridge Fire Dept. Charles Mumma is president of the host company.

Approximately 80 members were present, with all but three of the members represented.

Traffic Accidents Kill 44 Persons

Forty-four persons met their death in traffic accidents during the month of September, Col. Elmer F. Munshower disclosed this week in releasing the accident data compiled by the statistics division of the Maryland State Police.

During the past month 2861 traffic accidents were investigated by the police in the State of Maryland. Thirty-eight resulted in death to 44 persons, 838 resulted in painful injuries to 1279 persons, while 1985 of the collisions resulted in property damage alone. It is estimated by the National Safety Council that these collisions represent an economic loss to the state of $4.1 million.

Ten of the persons killed on the streets and highways of Maryland were pedestrians. Sixteen persons died when the vehicle in which they were riding collided with a fixed object.

Col. Munshower said the number of rural deaths as compared with those in urban areas pointed out the danger of excessive speed. Thirty-four persons died in traffic accidents in rural areas and 10 were killed in the towns and cities of Maryland.

Maryland's 48 traffic deaths brought the traffic toll for the year to 390 men, women and children killed. Eleven more persons have been killed this year than during the same period of last year. Col. Munshower, commenting on the increase in traffic deaths said, "Every driver must do his part in making the highway of Maryland a pleasure instead of a menace. Every driver must learn to obey the rules of the road at all times, to obey all signs, and to be courteous to other drivers. With the cooperation of the citizens of our state, we can make the accident picture less grim in the months to come."

Contrary to popular belief the camel's hump is used to store food, not water.

Your Personal Health

Detective Story

It begins with three words spoken by a child: "My head hurts." That's the time for the detective squad to move in. A child's headache is never to be taken lightly.

The most common causes of headache in children are allergy, digestive upsets, respiratory infection and emotional or nervous tension. A headache may be an early symptom of measles, chicken pox or whooping cough. A severe, persistent pain at the base of the skull may mean meningitis or poliomyelitis. Eyestrain is another possibility.

The line-up of suspects is long. The first thing to be done in the course of the investigation is to put the child to bed promptly and watch him carefully for the next few hours. If an infection is on the way, other symptoms soon will appear. When these are reported to the doctor, he will know whether or not he needs to see the child and prescribe treatment.

The majority of children's headaches have nothing to do with their eyes, but it is well to make certain as soon as possible. In any case, don't wait for a headache to have a child's eyes checked. There can be visual troubles without headaches.

An over-all physical examination by the family physician is important for a child subject to headaches. If the cause is an allergy, sensitivity to certain foods, dusts or pollens, the child probably also suffers from hay fever, eczema or other allergic symptoms. Small sufferers from allergy headaches need expert medical care. In most cases, the doctor will be able to discover the offending substance and it can be banished from the child's surroundings.

Headaches that come from emotional stress can be relieved somewhat by new remedies which ease tension. Every effort must be made to keep the child's life on an even, low-pressure plan. He may need more understanding and love and a greater feeling of being at home, at school and among his playmates. When these needs are filled, it is likely that headaches will decrease and eventually vanish.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

The average support level for Maryland tobacco of the 1953 crop has been set at 50.4 cents per pound, according to George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee. This loan level is the same as announced on Mar. 25 based on the then current parity index. The final decision is based on parity as of Oct. 1 and cannot be lower than the figure announced prior to planting.

Action of Maryland farmers in approving marketing quotas on the 1953 crop in the referendum held last year assured support on the crop now in the barn at 90 per cent of parity. Another quota referendum will be held Oct. 29 to give tobacco growers an opportunity to vote on whether they want quotas continued on the crops to be produced in 1954, 1955 and 1956, whether they want quotas continued for 1954 or whether they oppose quotas.

Issues in the coming referendum narrow down to whether the grower wants to limit his production to market demand in exchange for a guaranteed support at 90 per cent of parity or whether he wants to produce without regard to demand and take his chances on the market, Mr. Martin explained.

If you own property, take heed

(A true story from Company File No. 69L19482)

My wife and I own and live in a two-family house, renting out the upper floor. One day my tenant's daughter came to visit her and stepped on a loose brick which I had forgotten to fix. She crashed on her back. Badly hurt, she later sued me for $25,000!

Papa David Says:

(on NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful")

Summer romances bloom with the daisies and die with the frost. Like the daisies, most summer romances were not meant to last.

Of course, it's hard not to hope that infatuation will flame into love. Hope is essential to love and to life itself. And for some the heartache is very real. But you know,leben, no one dies of a broken heart these days—it isn't fashionable.

Fashion exists in romance. It used to be the knight on the white charger. Later, it was prince charming with a pot of gold... or his opposite, the starving artist.

When the movies became popular, things got a bit mixed up romantically speaking. First romance called for an Arabian sheik, then for cops and robbers. Prize-fighters, too, became romantic.

Nowadays, romantic heroes have become more comfortable, more real. The real hero is the pipe-and-slippers fellow who likes to stay at home, loves his wife, and thinks his kids are wonderful. I think this fellow always was the hero. After all, isn't that how the ladies wanted all their romantic ideas to settle down. And if he couldn't, or wouldn't, why then he was just a summer romance, leben, not meant to last.

From France—With Love

Many friends wrote me about the recent strike in France, all of them asking, "How did you manage?" Well, it wasn't bad at all. The biggest problem, for travelers, of course was transportation. A lot of common sense and cooperation solved it. Since private concerns were not affected, the bus companies came to the rescue admirably. In some cases the use of buses meant a change in routing but this was taken in good grace by most tourists.

A real contribution to everyone's convenience was made by the travel agencies who improvised new schedules for their tours with wonderful efficiency. And in the resort areas, particularly Brittany, Normandy, the Riviera and the Basque Coast, life proceeded normally. I think the most important contribution was made by the tourists themselves by their courtesy and cooperation. The French appreciated it and did their best to make their guests comfortable in spite of the strike.

Paris, which was the most affected, fell back on the old reliable—the Paris taxicab. Reliable is perhaps not quite the word, indestructible would be more accurate. However, they are fun to ride in any time.

Happily, the strike is over. From the tourist's point of view this means a return to the comfort and convenience of regular transportation to the multitude of attractions in France. Since September thrift season rates are making travel in France an economic attraction as well. Hotel accommodations are easy to obtain, rates are lower particularly in the provinces. In Paris the International Salon d'Automobile is in full swing. And of course the Fall is the exciting theatre, opera and concert season.

Throughout France there are fairs and new wine celebrations, some of them quite elaborate. From every point of view the Autumn is a perfect time to travel in France.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 22—Let me name some new discoveries and inventions which are based on plastics which will not bend or rust, crack or split. These are now progressing: (1) Indestructible certain new chemical compounds. They will be used for everything, from houses and bridges down to automobiles, and even soft goods.

(2) The production and use of new metals and alloys. There are less than 100 elements, but these can be put together in millions of different alloys, of which only a small fraction has now been tested. These new alloys offer great opportunities for development.

(3) Commercial isotopes, some of which the Atomic Energy Commission has released to the public. They are now being used by hospitals. The time is coming when these isotopes will be used for all kinds of industrial work, to find flaws in machinery, in metal rails, textiles, etc. They may develop into a great industry.

(4) The "do-it-yourself" industries, which have a promising future. With the shortening of hours, everyone is given more opportunity to work at home. If I wanted to open any kind of store, I would have a store which would handle materials to help people get along without carpenters, painters, electricians, etc.

(5) The mechanical brain—an invention with great possibilities. The time is coming when these new mechanisms will do much of our thinking and analyzing, and may become almost as common as the adding machine.

(6) Watch superonics. By this I mean very rapid mechanical vibrations which are faster than sound waves. Superonics may completely eliminate present washing machines and other household utensils. They have the power of cleaning metal and even cutting metal. We first had the electrical age; we are now entering the electronic age; and will some day enter the superonic age.

(7) Vending machines. Some years ago we had vending machines in railroad stations and on street corners, but the industry got into a bad rut because so many of the machines were broken and the products and money were stolen. Now, with the introduction of self-service, the vending machine is protected within the store. It is again coming into its own.

(8) Electric power. The time is coming when electric power, sufficient to run home appliances, may be broadcast like radio. Some even claim that we will buy our electricity in batteries, which will be brought to us once a month like bottled gas. This may give us electricity for the household cheaper than we could get it from the big central power stations.

(9) The conveyor belt, coming into use more for both people and goods. This will develop into a new industry, especially after the synthetic rubber plants are returned to private industry. A belt is now being devised to carry people from the Grand Central Station to Times Square, New York City.

(10) I am particularly interested in getting power, heat, light, and refrigeration from solar radiation. Statistics show that the amount of sunlight on an acre of land is equal to a thousand horsepower. A very complete report on the future of solar radiation appears in the September issue of Fortune Magazine.

(11) Automatic factories should permit decrease of prices and should allow workers more time for study and leisure. They are destined to increase rapidly in number. The printing industry is already on the verge of revolutionary changes whereby it can get along with a fraction of its present number of employees. Shoe factories, cotton mills, and others will enter the push-button stage where practically the entire operation will be done automatically. This will solve the union labor problem.

In conclusion, Economics is my specialty. All this talk about making prosperity permanent by legislation is sheer nonsense, although Congress can temporarily extend same. In the long run, prosperity is dependent upon us developing spiritually and having better knowledge self-control, with a determination to render service. Too few of our people have these all-

S. S. Is More Than Old Age Security

"Don't make the mistake of thinking of social security insurance only as old-age protection," W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office, cautioned this week.

"Because old-age comes first in the title of the program, many people overlook the fact that it is survivors insurance, too," he said. The survivors protection feature of the program is of great importance to the younger worker. While the time when he can retire and get monthly payments is many years away, his widow and children would get monthly benefit payments if anything should happen to him at any time while he is insured under the law, Mr. King declared.

Mr. King pointed out that under the survivor's insurance portion of the social security program, monthly benefits were being paid to over 1.1 million widowed mothers and minor children at the end of July. "In many families," Mr. King said, "social security insurance payments are making it possible to maintain the home and educate the children after the untimely death of the breadwinner."

Mr. King said that more than 66 million workers are now insured under social security. They will continue to have this protection if they work in covered employment or self-employment for a length of time equal to at least one-half the time after 1950 and up to the time they reach age 65 or die. No more than 10 years covered work is required in any case, however.

Atomic Chairman Is Fruehauf Director

Gordon E. Dean, 47-year-old recently retired Chairman of the United States Commission on Atomic Energy who directed the nation's vast operations for development of the hydrogen and bigger "A" bombs as well as atomic power for peaceful purposes, has been elected a director of Fruehauf Trailer Company.

Dean, brilliant, scholarly and precise, resigned from the Commission on June 30 to enter private business, after having successfully managed for four years America's 12-billion-dollar atomic program which owns some of the biggest plants in the world and which has much to do with the military destiny of the country.

In announcing the election, Roy Fruehauf, President of Fruehauf Trailer, stated: "In his post as Chairman of the Atomic Commission, Mr. Dean successfully managed a tremendous business with great skill and understanding. His outstanding experience will make him a valuable addition to the Fruehauf top management team."

With Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission has promised that he will leave "no stone unturned" in replacing non-career Federal employees with career employes, many of them Marylanders, who have been fired.

This was his answer to a letter I wrote him demanding that government department heads be ordered to protect career people in the Civil Service during the current reduction of the Federal payroll prior to the lowering of taxes by the Eisenhower Administration.

The day after Mr. Young wrote me he sent the order, with the President's backing, to every Cabinet officer and agency head, warning them to make sure they carry out the Administration's policy of protecting career employes as they cut down their staffs. He said there are 700,000 non-career people working for the government, and that right now there are 492 career employes in the Washington area who have been fired through no fault of their own.

While this is a bread-and-butter problem to the government workers living in our Congressional district close to Washington, it's also important to the rest of us because we are entitled to know that our government is being administered by the most capable and conscientious people—those who have made government service their careers.

No crime in a generation has caused so much shock, grief, and sympathy among Americans as the kidnap-murder of six-year-old Bobby Greenleaf in Kansas City. The man charged with this terrible offense has a long record of arrests for minor law-breaking, and evidently this is another example of the failure of the authorities to recognize an habitual criminal.

Sentences in jail are like pills for a head cold; they stop the trouble temporarily, but give no assurance that it won't happen again. Some states have laws providing that after so many offenses a man is judged an habitual criminal and he can be sent to prison for life. Perhaps every state should have such a law.

But what is really needed—to treat a common cold or a habit of crime—is to determine the cause, then stop it before it begins. Many individuals and groups in and out of the government have tried to solve this problem. Lately a Senate committee headed by Senator Hendrickson of New Jersey has begun an investigation of juvenile delinquency. Perhaps if they hold hearings, and broadcast and televise them, the reality of the situation will provide more incentive for all of us to really try to solve this problem.

Pruning Shears Needed
Russia, with the H-bomb and a swiftly expanding striking force, constitutes a very grave and constant threat to our survival. There is no doubt about that. But the threat isn't something new. At least two years ago we knew that Communists who had been permitted to infiltrate our super-secret government projects had sent to Russia all the necessary data to build the H-bomb, and it was publicly acknowledged that the Reds could build it.

Yet in recent weeks confirmation of this fact has brought on talk among some governmental leaders of vast new borrowings, of big out-of-balance spending, of postponed tax reductions so that the "new danger" may be met. In all the Washington pronouncements I've read there has not been one suggestion that the sprawling spending mechanism of the Federal government be drawn tightly together and substantial cuts made in all functions except those essential to a sound economy.

Facing An Emergency
If we have such a dire emergency then let's face it. Families along the Florida and Gulf coasts were told recently that Hurricane "Hannah," roaring up from the Caribbean probably would strike them with destructive force. What did they do? They took emergency measures. They'd had years of living in a world in which the Hurricane "season" is a clearly seen reality.

Through the years they had made their homes and businesses as possible—with special construction, with removable battens, and with storm cellars. As "Hannah" was charted closer and closer to the coast, families gave up all of the enjoyments and most of the "necessities" of life. Parents gathered the children in the safest haven, Johnny's home work, Susan's toothache that needed a dentist, and father's "big deal" at the office—all were subordinated to the problem of survival. They would be properly attended to—but not until the dire threat from the hurricane had subsided.

Strength Impressive
The threat of Russian Communism with the H-bomb may not subside for a long time. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, supreme commander of NATO, who has spent three years in Europe close to the seat of Russia's power, said just last week that the Soviets would not strike so long as we maintained our strength. This seems to be a common sense conclusion based both on the military facts and an understanding of the Communists' thinking.

Russia's dictators are realists. They remember vividly what happened to Hitler when he miscalculated the strength of the America which turned the tide against him. They do not wish the same fate. They will bide their time, seeking to undermine our strength. Dr. Marek Korowicz, the Polish UN delegate who deserted the Reds a few weeks ago in New York and now is being given sanctuary here, said the Soviet master strategy is to avoid war at present, and use every under-cover means available to undermine the economic, political and cultural foundations of the free world.

The Facts
History shows that the surest way to injure a nation from within is to force it into bad financial practices. Our real strength, in peace or war, rests upon financial stability. We cannot maintain financial stability if we engage in great new spending for H-bomb defense on top of the already tre-

Red Cross Spending

The American Red Cross spent $38.1 million last year for servicemen, veterans, and their dependents, assisting in 2.3 million cases that required help in personal, family, and financial problems. Disaster expenditures totaled $21.1 million, the American

Peoples Encyclopedia 1953 Year-book reports.

"The public will get tax reduction if it is willing to forego extravagances in city, county, state and national affairs." — Press, Hamilton, Ill.

Red Cross spending, the taxes for which are sapping our vigor for wholesome industrial growth. Lenin, Russia's first Red leader, said: "We shall force the U. S. to spend herself into bankruptcy."

Certainly we need to build defenses. But in view of the lessons of history and Russia's known plan for undermining our strength, shouldn't we give careful consideration to safeguarding our shaky financial condition? Heavy emergency pruning throughout the Federal government would release adequate money for H-bomb defense. It would mean throwing overboard a lot of "pet" projects backed by special group interests. But it is the sound and safe way to preserve our strength and stall Russia's master plan.

Out! Horrid Stain . . . and It Comes Out Fast with Bleach

During late summer and early fall, fruit and berry stains, mud spots, soft drink stains are common occurrences. They seem to have a positive affinity for table linens, for junior's clothes, your own play cottons and dresses. However, it's also a fact that most common stains, discouraging as they may appear, can be removed easily with chlorine bleach—especially with the new safe, dry form of chlorine bleach. Since it comes in granule form, this new chlorine bleach is lighter to handle, easier to measure, easier to use and takes less space to store than the long familiar liquid bleach. Pouring from the jar, it can't splash any dry granules spilled can be brushed up with no harm done to fabric or floor. Also, added ingredients boost its cleansing efficiency and that's a help, too, in removing spots. In using the new chlorine bleach for stains, simply do this: (1) Rinse stain in cold water (2) Then dissolve 1/8 cup dry bleach in a quart of warm water. (The convenient sprinkle-pour top on the jar makes measuring easy.) (3) Soak stain in bleach solution for 5 minutes (4) Rinse well If stain is extra stubborn, repeat the process. Stains on white and fast-color cottons and linens respond quickly to this treatment. So do stains on white 100% nylon. However, if the spot is on a colored fabric and you're not sure the color is fast, it's wise to test a small piece of the fabric first. And never use chlorine bleach on silk, wool or rayon or fabric mixtures containing them.

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, JR.

It is becoming increasingly clear that the fate of the Republican Party in next year's Congressional elections is going to depend on two things. First: How successful the Administration will be in getting its legislative program through the House and Senate . . . Second: How effective the Eisenhower Administration will be in selling its record of accomplishments to the public.

Many Republicans who have been traveling through the country are returning to Washington actually astounded as to how little the public knows about what the Eisenhower Administration has done since it took office. These Republicans report that the Fair Dealers have distorted the record to the point that many people are of the opinion that no campaign promises have been kept and that things in government are continuing to move just about as they did under the last two administrations . . . And this conclusion is drawn: That the Republicans in contests for both the House and Senate will be in major trouble with the voters in areas won or lost last year by slight margins.

Here are some highlights of things people are reported not to realize: That a reduction is scheduled for Dec. 31 when the excess profits and individual post-Korean income boosts expire. (The Republicans hold that these cuts could not have been effected if Truman spending had continued) . . . that the big drop in farm prices (about 18 per cent) occurred before Mr. Eisenhower took office . . . that a cut of more than $14 billion below the Truman budget has been effected . . . that two commissions are studying how to cut the size of government, eliminate government competition with private business, and return to the States as many functions now performed by the Federal government as is possible.

Now the Republicans making such reports also point out that the big job of the current administration is developing and enacting policies now in the study stage and then selling them to the country. The four major issues listed are: a farm policy, a labor policy (revision of the Taft-Hartley), a tax policy, and a foreign trade policy. To these four could be added revision of defense policy in view of Russian possession of the H-bomb and a definite shift from foreign economic aid to military aid. It is the opinion of those who have been talking with the voters that the public generally approves what has been done after it has been explained to them . . . and that the public also will approve what the administration

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Time will tell if Sir Sidney Palmer is stupid, or a self-assured Briton who knows he knows how to handle Washington.

In few months, American public will get idea who controls Congress. Apparently, Sir Sidney thinks he does.

Sir Sidney, representing Malayan rubber interests, wants Congress to raise synthetic rubber price now.

Synthetic rubber now G.W. Harder sells at 23¢ per pound, keeping natural rubber down at 21½¢.

This, Sir Sidney doesn't like. Low natural rubber prices foment communism, he says. If U. S. hikes synthetic price natural rubber will jump in price, too. This, he claims, will strike bitter blow at Communism. He doesn't mention what it will do for the profit picture of British and Dutch combines or Big American rubber interests with foreign plantations.

Sir Sidney wants to spring the same trap twice. In 1949, when Dean Acheson headed State Department, an International Monetary Conference decided to curtail U. S. World War II rubber plants to beat communism. Synthetic production dropped to its lowest level in years. Apparently Kremlin didn't know production cut would stop communism.

In fact, Kremlin soon started Korea. Immediately British and Dutch rubber interests jumped in to deal a still harder blow at communism. With U. S. needing rubber badly, rubber price soared to over 70¢. But higher natural rubber prices didn't seem to stop communist shooting.

The U. S. took steps to reduce rubber price but taxpayers paid millions for the big gouge.

But now Sir Sidney says to stop communism, more money must be paid for natural rubber. He says government should raise synthetic price now to level that will prevail when private interests buy government plants.

Thereby hangs a tale.

Forthcoming sales of plants must be confirmed by Congress. Many Congressmen feel private enterprise should be favored.

But 9 of 13 plants are operated by Big Rubber for big fees with major oil companies also cut in.

Prospective buyer, cannot fully inspect properties operated by majors, eliminating chance for free intelligent bidding.

Big profits are at stake. In 1952, government made $62 million profit. If subject to income tax, it would have still left $31-million.

Sir Sidney is sure when private companies take over plants, synthetic price will jump 4 to 6¢.

Sir Sidney may have something. John Dulles, State Dept. head, says "friendly nations find it hard to believe that the U. S. the champion of free enterprise, competes with their natural rubber resources."

It's the same tune sung by same department. And so many seem confident that when Big Rubber completes monopoly by owning all U. S. synthetic production, prices will zoom.

Action Congress takes in confirming sales of plants will be indicative.

Final vote may show Sir Sidney not as stupid as he appears. Unknown to most Americans, he may know Pennsylvania Avenue is a suburban extension of Downing Street, the great thoroughfare of world cartelists.

"Looking at the record peace-time deficit in the fiscal year ended June 30, the taxpayer may well wonder when relief is coming. The plain truth is that once plans to do if again it is properly explained. And most emphasis is placed on the two words properly explained.

But the Republicans will not go into this winter's crucial session of Congress as strong and united as they should or could be. There is much dissatisfaction on Capitol Hill over some of the presidential advisors at the White House who are termed the Palace Guard. This dissension is showing up in consideration of Taft-Hartley changes and it is likely, if the Palace Guard has its way, that the Republican leadership at the Capitol will lose the support of many Southern Democrats. If this split in the old Republican-Southern Democratic coalition (which enacted Taft-Hartley over Mr. Truman's veto) should occur, the Administration would be in major trouble.

There is much speculation over how the new Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will fit into this Taft-Hartley situation. In this connection it should be borne in mind that the Secretary of Labor is expected to look out for the interests of labor. Aside from this, those who know Mr. Mitchell give this appraisal: He will be favorable to labor . . . will try to make himself acceptable to labor . . . will represent a liberal viewpoint . . . too liberal to suit business . . . but will not be a crusader . . . will be glad to talk with business and, as one person expressed it: Mr. Mitchell will be a better appointment for business as Secretary of Labor than Harry Hopkins was as Secretary of Commerce.

Local Youth Recitalist

Jasper L. Wantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Wantz, 206 DePaul St., presented an organ recital last Sunday evening at St. James Lutheran Church, Union Bridge. The service of dedication of the recently installed organ was conducted by the Rev. Dixon A. Yaste, pastor of the church. The guest speaker was the Rev. J. Frank Fife, president of the Maryland Synod.

Mr. Wantz's selection included numbers of European composers of the past as well as selections of contemporary artists. The recital was based upon the festivals of the church year, beginning with Lent and climaxing with Christmas. During the recital a number of familiar hymn tunes were played and several vocal selections were presented by Mrs. John Spangler, of Emmitsburg, who was guest soloist for the occasion.

Mr. Wantz has studied organ and piano for several years and has been very active in church music. He is a member of St. James Lutheran Church, Gettysburg, and is a member of the senior choir there. He plans to make music his career.

Grange Finishes Rebuilding Barn

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held on Wednesday evening in the Public School, Master Edgar G. Emrich presiding with 71 members and guests present.

The Pomona banquet will be held Oct. 29 at 6:45 p. m. in the Community Hall in Walkersville, National Master Hershel Newsom being the speaker for the occasion. The next Pomona meeting will be held at the Carol Manor Grange in Adamstown, Nov. 7.

Work has been completed on the Gelwicks' barn with a total of 817 man-hours contributed by Grangers.

Booster Night will be held at the next regular meeting Wednesday, Nov. 4. This program is promoted mainly to acquaint everyone with the workings of the Grange and everyone interested is cordially invited to the meeting and enjoy the program.

William G. Baker, chairman of the Community Show, reported everything in readiness for the big event, starting with an assembly yesterday afternoon with a movie and crowning of the Farm Queen selected by the local FFA Chapter. A Square Dance will be held Saturday evening. This event is going to be bigger and better than ever before and everyone is requested to bring in their entries early this morning. Raymond Baumgardner has been discharged from the hospital and is recuperating nicely at his home.

Following the business meeting the first and second degrees of the Grange were conferred on Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Ann Hobbs, Joan Hobbs, Lewis Smith, Leslie Cregger, Ray Harner, Richard Toms, George Gartrell and Wilhelm May, by the Glade Valley degree team.

Pomona Master Bruce Crum congratulated the new members and gave brief remarks about coming events. The Juvenile Grange joined the parent group for refreshments, served by the hostesses, Mrs. Daniel Nail, Mrs. Clarence Hahn and Mrs. Luther Cregger. The Juvenile Grange placed first in the Frederick Fair with their display booth.

Hood College Plans Series Of Educational Classes

"Problems of Community Health and Welfare" that influence the life of every American will be the subject matter for the evening classes in adult education to be offered this year by Hood College.

Doctors, sociologists, teachers and research workers from Baltimore, Washington, and Frederick will conduct the classes, which will be held on Monday evenings at 7:45 o'clock, beginning Oct. 26.

The first series will run through Nov. 30. The second will start on Tuesday, Feb. 9, and thereafter will be held on Mondays, continuing through April 5.

"Cancer" and the "Care of Handicapped Children" are scheduled for the October-November series. The second series will consider "Mental Hygiene," "Juvenile Delinquency," "Vital Records" and other community problems.

Speaker at the first two sessions will be Dr. J. R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda. Moderator for this program will be Mrs. Margaret Deringer Barrett, Ph.D. of Bethesda, a Hood alumna who has worked with Dr. Heller in cancer research.

Learning to manage his money is one of the most important things a child can master during his school years.

Delinquents Low In Numbers For County

Incorrigible and delinquent children between 10 and 17 years of age are fewer per capita in Frederick County than in most parts of the country, a comparison of figures with those just released by the U. S. Children's Bureau shows.

One out of every 50 children in that age group throughout the county winds up in the juvenile and other courts, and juvenile delinquency has increased 10 per cent in 1952 over 1951 and 29 per cent over 1948 throughout the nation the Bureau reports.

As compared with the government's overall figures Frederick County has had comparatively few children in court and though there has been an increase during 1952 over 1951, it is not very appreciable. Mrs. William C. Rodenrick, county probation officer said. Last year 200 children were referred to her for investigation, and of those only 30 had to be taken to court, of whom five were feeble-minded and were brought in for placement in the state institution.

"We have been fortunate in being able to adjust matters without haling the youngsters into court and have been given great help in this phase of our work by the Children's Aid Society. This along with other Community Chest supported agencies has been responsible in large measure

Harry Hahn Heads LOYAL Group

The LOYAL Group of Elias Ev. Lutheran held its annual box-lunch social meeting recently and elected the following officers for another year. Those elected were Harry Hahn, president; Catherine Eyler, vice president; Ada Hahn, secretary; Millie McNair, treasurer. The next meeting will be a roast turkey supper affair.

for Frederick County's record. The Aid Society's family counseling and parental guidance program dovetails in with the youth training given by the YMCA, the Boy and Girl Scouts, and the Salvation Army. The end result of it all is a far better-than-average youth population and hence more security for our people and less expense for crime suppression. In the matter of crime prevention alone, the Community Chest campaign is worth many, many times the amount its Red Feather volunteers will bring in," Mrs. Roderick said.

Fiction Figures

A total of 2,097 new fiction books were published in 1952, the Yearbook for 1953 of the American Peoples Encyclopedia reports. This was a decline of about 2 percent from figures for the preceding year. Of these new books, 410 were mystery and booksdetective stories, 213 were westerns and 61 were in the field of science fiction.
