

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Well Sunday's the day for the opening of our baseball season here, ladies and gents, and a grand turnout is anticipated. With the few warm days we enjoyed last week I believe most of us have a hankering to witness another of our favorite pastime events once more. The team consists mostly this year, for a change, of local talent, so let's be on hand to greet the boys and lend them our moral, as well as financial support. Most of us were all set for the delightful spring weather when we were treated to a sample of nice sunny days last week and were caught flat-footed and sent scurrying for our winter undies when the cold snap descended upon us the early part of the week.

Hard luck seems to be plaguing local anglers. Fellows and gals who formerly enjoyed generous creeling, have had their "take" reduced by half and in some instances by two-thirds. Something apparently is wrong but the fishing set just can't quite put its finger on the trouble. I'll offer my version about it for what it's worth: Apparently the trout have heard people talking about the weird occurrences that have happened since the hydrogen bomb was released, and have decided to play along with the game!

Well the election is over for another year, the local election I am referring to, and as was expected, only a few turned out to take advantage of the privilege of casting a ballot. It's hard to understand that such a few are interested in their town government. With a total registration of 435, only 91 exercised their privilege. Just what chance would they have in Russia? To me this is a regrettable blemish on our civic pride, if it can be considered we have any. Even if we are satisfied with the government we have locally, I felt certain that more would extend a vote of "confidence." And those who don't approve of the present Council were just too weak-kneed to offer any serious opposition and refused to cast a ballot. I don't mean to create any animosity toward the present officials, but I do think that at least half of the registered voters should have turned out. Anyone who could and didn't take 10 minutes out of the day to vote, certainly can't have the interest of his or her community at heart! What I am trying to put across to you is the importance of using your voting privilege and if I haven't conveyed the idea, I'm sorry. Before I become misunderstood, I want to make it certain that I'm not knocking the present Board. I state boldly that I believe it is one of the best we have ever had. Their accomplishments are many and beneficial to the town. I hope they have many long and fruitful years in office, but I did expect YOU to back them up with a ballot—not indifference.

I like the expression of the local state trooper, Donald Tucker, who made it, I am told, while present at a meeting this week in town. "These are my people, I am one of them, my home is here and their safety is my concern." This kind of friendly expression touches me and arouses my feminine intuition that we have a swell guy among us and that he is working in our behalf and not against us as some believe of all policemen. Certainly some of us perhaps become exasperated when chastised by an officer, but then which one of us doesn't have to be reminded occasionally that we are "out of line"? I like the attitude of the young officer and hope he has a long stay here with us. We are sorely in need of more men like Mr. Tucker, who have the welfare of the community at heart.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mr. and Mrs. Lumen F. Norris, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter Sunday at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa. This is the couple's fourth child.

Mr. J. William Rowe was hospitalized this week.

Mr. John Zacharias was admitted this week as a patient to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg. Miss Shirley Topper spent the week-end in Baltimore visiting Mr. and Mrs. Guy Topper.

Rodgers, Fuss Re-elected To Town Board

As was anticipated, light voting took place Monday when Emmitsburg went to the polls to elect a Burgess and a Commissioner. About 20% of the total eligible registered voters, 435, took the time to cast a ballot, in what was one of the "tamest" elections in some years.

Incumbent Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers was restored to office without opposition, commencing his nineteenth year on the Town Board. Mr. Rodgers polled 80 votes.

Eleven write-in votes were tallied, 10 for Mayor and one for Commissioner. Of the 10 write-ins for mayor two were unqualified for the office by not being property owners and the sole vote for Commissioner also was ineligible because the candidate lived outside the corporate limits of the town.

Judges of Election Charles D. Gillelan and J. Everett Chrismer, reported a total of 91 ballots were cast, one being invalidated.

Charles R. Fuss, incumbent Commissioner, was returned to his second three-year term of office Monday. Commissioner Fuss polled 84 votes and ran unopposed. The following balloting was announced by the judges of election:

COOL—WETZEL

Miss Mary Lillian Wetzel, daughter of Mrs. Bernard Wetzel and the late Wetzel, Thurmont, R. 2, and George Albert Cool, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cool, Emmitsburg, Route 1, were married Saturday morning, April 24, at nine o'clock at a nuptial Mass in St. Anthony's Shrine, Emmitsburg. The double ring ceremony was performed by the assisting pastor, Rev. Francis Kearney, of Mt. St. Mary's College.

The altar was beautifully decorated with multi-colored snapdragons. The wedding marches were played by the church organist, Mrs. Ernest Seltzer, aunt of the bride, and the soloist was George Hemler, Taneytown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Ernest Seltzer, wore a floor-length gown of white fashioned with a tight-fitting lace bodice, short sleeves, a full nylon skirt over tulle. Her finger-tip length nylon veil fell from a tiara of pearls and forget-me-nots. She wore elbow length lace mitts and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds.

The maid of honor, Miss Louise Wetzel, sister of the bride, wore an ice blue tulle floor-length gown with matching mitts and shoulder veil of blue nylon net and carried a yellow rosebud corsage.

Louis Cool, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Brooke Miller and Richard Cool, brother of the bridegroom.

The bride, who is a graduate of St. Anthony's Parochial School, is employed at the Fairfield Shoe Factory. The bridegroom was graduated from St. Euphemia's School and is employed by St. Joseph College. He spent three years in the Army, two and a half of which time he was in Germany. Following the ceremony a breakfast was served the immediate family at the home of the bride. The couple is now residing at their newly-furnished apartment on E. Main St., in the Gelwicks' property.

Phone Service Is Disrupted By Accident

While most Emmitsburgians were unaware that they were completely isolated from the outside world Saturday afternoon, emergency crewmen of the C. & P. Telephone Co. were busily engaged in getting phone service restored to the community.

The trouble occurred when William Joseph Mathews, near St. Anthony's lost control of his car at about 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon and left the road striking a "key" pole near the Swiss Chalet, which disrupted long-distance service for about four hours.

Roger B. Heck, local manager for the utility, said that of all the hundreds of poles in the county, this was the only one he believed that could cause complete failure of phone service. Attached to the pole was a large load coil which handles all long distance calls going south. Mr. Heck reported that 14 toll circuits were carried on this pole, from Emmitsburg to Frederick; three to Hagerstown and Gettysburg, and three from Frederick to Gettysburg. It was about 7:22 o'clock Saturday night before the first quack of toll circuits had been restored to service. Mr. Heck estimated several hundred dollars in damage to the telephone plant.

It was learned that over 125 long distance calls had been intercepted by the phone manager and testman working in the local dial exchange during the mishap. Patrons were politely advised as to why their calls couldn't get through. Complete service was restored by Tuesday morning.

The committee in charge of the party is composed of Louis F. Rosensteel, Andrew T. Shorb, William Sanders, Robert Myers, Pius McGlaughlin, Clarence Shorb, Thomas C. Harbaugh, Joseph Sanders, and Charles B. Harner.

The Legion drill team will participate in services held in Emmitsburg Memorial Day. Cmdr. McCullough urged all Legion members to turn out for this affair. All members of both the VFW Post, who join the Legionnaires in this event, are to meet at the Home, from whence they will place a wreath at the Legion Honor Roll, a wreath on the VFW plaque, then they will march to the Doughboy where a wreath will also be placed. Following this they will attend Memorial Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church at 10 a. m. The drill team has thus far received seven invitations to participate in parades this year.

Louis F. Rosensteel read two communications from Mrs. Joseph Wivell and Mrs. Viola Eyer, thanking the Legion drill team for bestowing military honors on their respective brothers, Albert Gelwicks and Jesse Poulson, who died recently. Thomas C. Harbaugh thanked all those who donated blood for Edward Long recently.

Ward Kerrigan, George Danner, Robert Daugherty, Robert Myers, William L. Topper, Andrew T. Shorb, William Sanders, Allen Kreitz, Joseph Sanders, Frank Topper, Donald Topper, and Richard McCullough.

The door prize was won by Vincent L. Topper. Following the business meeting, refreshments were served.

Miss Nancy Wachter, St. Joseph's School of Nursing, Baltimore, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wachter.

Local Baseball Season Opens Here Sunday

Community Field will take on a gala air Sunday afternoon when the curtain-raiser of the new season gets under way with Cash-town as the opponent for the first home baseball game of 1954.

President Howard F. Carty, of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn., has announced that Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers will toss out the first ball at 2:30 p. m., following a brief flag-raising ceremony by the Boy Scouts. On hand, as usual, for the opener, will be the Municipal Band, to furnish stirring martial music for the occasion.

Tied for top honors, at the present time in the Pen Mar Baseball League by virtue of their win last Sunday, the locals have the appearance of a first-division aggregation. They looked "good" in winning handily last Sunday over New Windsor on the latter's diamond. Emmitsburg measured the Carroll Countians 12-to-4. Manager Dee Saylor used numerous substitutions and practically every man on the club saw some action Sunday.

Manager Saylor has released this probable starting lineup for Sunday's contest with Cashtown before the local fans:

Wastler, 2b; Sanders, 3b; McKeon, 1f; Clarke, 1b; Saylor, rf; Gillelan, ss; Hollinger, cf; Joy, c, and Donnelly, pitching.

Hitting star of Sunday's contest was robust Tom Saylor who clouted a triple and two doubles, to take honors in that department.

Union Bridge, last year's champions, opened the campaign by nosing out Cashtown 3-1 at Cashtown. The game was a close affair all the way with Union Bridge breaking the deadlock, 1-1, with a pair of runs in the fifth inning. E. Kane and J. Spence divided the hurling for Cashtown while Gilbert went the distance for the winners.

Fairfield squeezed past Blue Ridge Summit at Blue Ridge, 8-7 while Thurmont edged New Oxford on the latter's field, 8-7.

Grange Holds Open Meeting; Films Shown

An open meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held Wednesday evening in the Emmitsburg Public School, 43 members and guests in attendance.

The safety committee with Mr. Joseph Gelwicks as chairman, presented a program on civil defense. Through the courtesy of the Red Cross a film, "Survival Under Atomic Attack," was projected. The film was followed by a second one, "First Aid For Burns in Civil Defense." A representative group from the Vigilant Hose Co. was present to view the films and Fire Chief John J. Hollinger, speaker for the group, expressed the hope the Grange would be successful in its efforts to revitalize the civil defense program in the Emmitsburg area.

Ann Hobbs, assistant lecturer, gave some highlights on the recent Middle Atlantic Lecturers' Conference held in Atlantic City which she attended as a delegate.

Since the anonymous donor of $50 has not responded to appeals by the Grange as to disposal of the sum, it was voted to give the money to Mr. Gearhart, brother of Mrs. Cool, to be used at his discretion for the needs of the Cool children.

Paul Beale gave a report on the recent meeting of the Frederick County Citizens Committee for Education. The Grange Youth Camp will be held July 24-25 at Racks, Md. On June 2, the roads committee will present the program with Charles R. Fuss, as chairman of the group. The cookie and sewing contests were held with Mrs. Anna Stoner and Mrs. Helen Daugherty acting as the judges. The following winners were announced:

Ice box cookies, (1) Mrs. Morris A. Zentz, (2) Mrs. Morris A. Zentz; drop cookies (1) Ann Hobbs; (2) Mrs. Mary Krom; sewing, one-piece cotton dress (1) Mrs. Rose Wivell; (2) Mrs. Clara Harner; (3) Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner; juvenile cookie contest: (1) Paul Krom; (2) Harriet Hahn.

Deaths
On Highways
Shows Decline

Paul E. Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission this week announced that the State of Maryland has a 24 per cent reduction in highway deaths for the first four months of 1954 as compared with the same period of last year. This April, 37 persons lost their lives in Maryland in comparison to 54 in April of last year. In the first four months of 1954, 142 persons were killed as against 186 for the same period of 1953. This reduction in highway deaths also represents a $4 million economic saving to the people of Maryland.

For the first three months of this year, Maryland stands 14th in the nation per hundred thousand and population death rate with 16.6 average—the nation's average was 23.2. Mr. Burke further stated, "While we were very pleased with this tremendous reduction in deaths we are still not satisfied with the terrible number of collisions occurring daily on Maryland's streets and highways resulting in death and injuries with much grief and sorrow."

This "Slow Down and Live" safety campaign will be carried on from Decoration Day through Labor Day. Fifteen million warning leaflets have been prepared and will be distributed in these 24 states and the District of Columbia.

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
It is with pleasure that I forward to you the following resolution passed unanimously by the Board of Directors of the Frederick County Chapter of the Red Cross at its quarterly meeting held in April.

Parking Meters To Remain Off Another Month

Emmitsburg's Town Council met in regular session Monday night in the Fire Hall, chairman of the board of commissioners Thomas J. Frailey, presiding over a full Council.

A delegation of local merchants, mostly members of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the Council in an effort to make provisions for the safety of the large crowd which has been attending the weekly drawings held on the Square. In the future, it was decided, the section will be roped off and parking banned between 8:30 and 9:00 o'clock to provide ample space for the gathering. Extra police have been engaged to handle the large gathering which appears to be gaining in numbers.

Town Clerk Louise Sebold presented the reports of the tax collector, secretary and treasurer. They were approved as presented. Chief Daniel J. Kaas reported parking meter revenue for April amounted to $300.58, in addition to $54 in overtime parking fines.

Council was notified that the new street signs had been shipped and that arrival was expected momentarily, also that new paint for curbing and traffic lines was on its way. The Councilmen again re-elected Col. T. J. Frailey as chairman of the board of commissioners for another year. In other action taken at the meeting, it was agreed to ask the State Roads Commission to erect No Parking at Anytime signs on certain sections of E. Main St., where it is claimed a traffic bottleneck is being created by parked cars. A raise of $10 a month was granted the town clerk.

Mayor Rodgers reapportioned Miss Louise Sebold as town clerk for another year and at the same time extended the appointment of Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas for another 12 months.

It was agreed to extend the trial period of the parking meters being shut off Saturday nights for another 30 days. The extension was sought by a group of merchants who recently opposed the nine o'clock operation of meters on Saturday evening, claiming it was detrimental to business. The group asked for the extension in order to arrive at a fair solution to the matter. It was noted that during the past month when the meters were discontinued, that revenue dropped about $70 and also that overtime parking fines declined about $30, resulting in an approximate $100 loss to the Corporation's treasury.

It was estimated that at this rate revenue from the meters would cost the town a loss of about $1220 annually. It is expected that a permanent decision will be handed down at the next monthly meeting.

Council ordered a letter sent to the Baltimore concern currently making a survey of the town's sewerage requirements, requesting an early conclusion of the survey, preparatory to letting of bids for actual construction of the sewer system.

Mayor Rodgers announced the annual town clean-up will be held on two days, May 25 and 26. Residents are asked to clean up their yards, cellars and attics, ridding them of all possible fire hazards and other unsightly refuse. The refuse will be hauled away at the expense of the town.

OF A NUMBER OF THINGS

Pan American Day—(Concluded)

So much for the series of name-changes that took place between 1890 and 1948 along with the gradual building up of the machinery and procedure for more effective inter-American cooperation. The changes of course reflected something of this progress, especially the gradual evolution of "Commercial Bureau" into "Pan American Union." But there is a good deal more to be reported, and that can most simply be done in an outline statement of the nature and working of the final permanent union established by a charter (later ratified by member nations) by the Ninth Inter-American Conference. (I have already mentioned this as a kind of crystallization of all preceding ideas and efforts in this direction.)

The Present Organization of American States (OAS)

I. The Permanent Agencies

A. The OAS Council

Executive body of the Organization, functioning thru three organs on which all the Member States are represented: (1) the Inter-Social Council; (2) the Inter-American Council of American Economic and Jurists; (3) the Inter-Cultural Council. Its business: to direct and coordinate the work of all the inter-American agencies. Regular meetings thruout the year at the Pan American Union Headquarters.

B. The Pan American Union
The secretariat or central working agency, constantly busy at its PAU Headquarters; headed by a Secretary-General, with a large all-America staff. Its business: to keep records and the instruments of ratification of inter-American agreements; to put decisions and programs of the OAS into practice, and to promote in various ways (thru publications, special programs, etc.) the economic, social, and cultural development of the Member States; also to arrange for the inter-American conferences, regular and special (see below)

C. Specialized Organizations

Created by the OAS to carry out special programs and projects in their respective fields. Examples: the Pan American Sanitary Bureau; the Pan American Institute of Geography and History

II. Its Representative Assemblies

A. The Inter-American Conferences

Supreme authority of the OAS, highest forum of our American Regional System. Made up of representatives from all the present 21 American Republics. Meetings every five years except when postponed for emergencies (as during and following First and Second World War) in different capitals of the Republics, their business: to hear reports on the progress of the OAS since previous meeting, and other reports on special studies made by experts on subjects previously decided on; to consider agreements previously made (treaties, etc.) with a view to strengthening them, and new agreements that seem advisable; to discuss and decide on policies and action - programs for the next five years

B. Other Special Conferences

Made up of smaller groups from nations especially concerned in the problem to be taken. Meetings as called in different countries

C. Consultations of Foreign Ministers

Meetings at request of any of the Republics to deal with international emergencies.

But the development of a good Regional System of cooperation would be of little account, however worthy its aims, if there were no specific worthwhile results to accompany it. Happily, however, the significance of Pan American Day is greatly increased by a long series of worthwhile results of the System that had its not-very-strong beginnings on April 14 sixty-four years ago. And these may be grouped under the aims that Simon Bolivar especially had in mind sixty-four years earlier than that, i.e., (1) achievements in the interest of peace and security, and (2) achievements in the interest of the general welfare of the Americas. These two I can only summarize briefly.

Achievements in the Interest Of Peace and Security

These comprise action to defend America against aggression from without, and action to settle inter-American disputes by peaceful means, such action taking the form of treaties and other agreements made thru the above-listed OAS agencies and assemblies, and thru the techniques of peaceful settlement carried out by commissions of neutral nations. Here are a few typical examples out of a long and truly impressive-looking list (the real importance of which I of course cannot properly estimate but is vouched for by authorities of the Pan American Union):

1. The agreement at the First Inter-American Conference to abolish war and substitute peaceful means for the settlement of disputes between the American Republics (1890)
2. The settlement by mediation of disputes between the United States and Mexico (1914, 1916)
3. A series of treaties for "the Maintenance of Peace" between the United States and other American Republics (1915)
4. Settlement by arbitration of a long-standing dispute between Peru and Chile (1929)
5. Establishment of a truce following open war between Paraguay and Bolivia (1935) and final ending of the war by a peace treaty (1938)
6. The "Declaration of Lima" preceding World War II expressing the determination of the American Republics to maintain solidarity against all foreign intervention or aggression.

Other treaties and agreements bring this phase of the record down to 1954 and the meeting of the Tenth Inter-American Conference convened on March first at Caracas, Venezuela, when the main topic for discussion and decision was that of "Peaceful Relations" (which included the subject, among other pertinent ones, of a proposed Inter-American Court of Justice) and another important topic, "the intervention of international Communism in the American Republics." (I trust some readers will be interested in hearing later some report on the accomplishments of this important Conference, publicity on which, so far as I can judge, was almost limited to Secretary Dulles' brief stay in connection with the topic last mentioned, one out of 28 on the agenda.) And now for a still briefer summary of the second group of achievements.

Achievements in the Interest Of the General Welfare

Action in this large field began as far back as the Second Inter-American Conference in the form of a resolution to attack the serious problems of malaria and yellow fever by calling a special Sanitary Conference, which in turn created the Pan American Bureau (1902) under the sponsorship of the OAS. In cooperation with other agencies, especially the World Health Organization of United Nations (WHO), the Bureau has done much to bring about a steady rise in the health standards of the Republics. Direct work, as we know, has been one in the Latin-American countries, but the indirect benefit to our own country is very important. And the same is true in the education and economic divisions of this field, where fine achievements like the following are typical: the establishment of (1) a "fundamental education" center in Mexico to prepare teams of teachers to work for such education for adults; (2) a Latin America Bureau at the PAU to produce materials, like teaching units, for such education; (3) an Inter-American Institute of Agricultural Science in Costa Rica to give advisory aid in soil conservation, livestock raising, production of coffee, etc., etc.; (4) the Aftosa Center in Brazil for the control of the foot-and-mouth disease; (5) a Housing and Training Center in Colombia to work on reduction of costs in designing and building houses and so make decent homes available to millions more Americans.

In cultural affairs (art, music, literature, etc.) our own country has been directly and greatly benefited by the work of the OAS thru the Pan American Union and other agencies, as have our Latin-American neighbors. But details on the interesting and important activity must be saved for some later column. A.E.H.

Test Tube Miracle

Practically 100 per cent fatal. That was the verdict on military tuberculosis only seven years ago. It meant swift death to hundreds of children who seem especially susceptible to this acute form of TB in which the disease spreads like wildfire throughout the whole body. But that "wildfire" has been checked by the steady progress of medical research.

In one hospital where many children with TB are treated, Bellevue in New York, only one child has died of military tuberculosis since Jan. 1, 1947. What has worked this miracle? Chemicals, developed by patient men in white coats working in research laboratories. But that was only the beginning. Drugs which fought tuberculosis germs in test tubes might be too powerful to use on human beings. Tests had to be made first on laboratory animals and then on people.

The first of the drugs which checked the growth of TB germs was streptomycin. Available less than a decade, its value in treating military TB was quickly recognized. Results were good and were even better with the advent of two more drugs: PAS (para-aminosalicylic acid) and, more recently, isoniazid, often used in combination with streptomycin.

One of the most tragic characteristics of military tuberculosis is the possibility of its developing into the dreaded tuberculous meningitis which is often fatal and can leave children with partly paralyzed limbs and lowered mental capacity. The new anti-tuberculosis drugs are now being used to help prevent both these severe forms of TB.

Cancer Drive

Near Goal

The Maryland Division of the American Cancer Society has reached 90 per cent of its State goal of $31,000, it was announced this week at the final report

Successful use of these new drugs depends to a large extent on early recognition of suspicious symptoms. These acute forms of TB are usually complications of the more common pulmonary TB. The family doctor, in his regular physical examinations, will be on the watch, but if you have any reason to suspect the possibility of TB, consult him at once and he will make the necessary diagnostic tests.

luncheon held in Baltimore.

Most counties, according to W. R. Tabler Jr., chairman for the counties, began their drive later than Baltimore City and a final report will be later. They have reached about 70 per cent of their goal.

Those counties leading in the Cancer Crusade are: Harford, with a goal of $15,000, has raised $15,339 or 102.2 per cent of its goal; Montgomery, with a goal of $11,000, has raised $11,353 or 103.2 per cent; Baltimore County, with a quota of $27,000, has reached 87.3 per cent of its goal, $22,720; Anne Arundel County has a goal of $9,000, and to date $7501 or 83.3 per cent has been reported; Wicomico with a quota of $4500 has reached 81 per cent of its goal with $3647.

Accent The Positive

Fifteen years ago when I first began to speak upon the great spiritual values embedded in the American way of life and to warn of the growing influence of Socialist and Communist propaganda, very little was being done in a positive way by any segment of our society. In 15 years many millions of Americans have been aroused and are participating to some degree in efforts to strengthen our nation through education and to safeguard the basic principles about an active awareness of subversive propaganda.

We haven't won the propaganda war with the forces of the Left, but each year in the last 15 we have gained ground, and we can win—if we mobilize our manpower strength still further and use our intelligence, enterprise, resourcefulness, and imagination. Throughout the country people continue to ask me how individuals and local groups can be most effective in the ideological conflict. My answer has been: "Accent the positive!" In other words, put the emphasis on spreading the positive facts about the American way of life.

Best Defense
We must continue to expose and root out the Leftwing propaganda, but at the same time the best defense, as the football coach says, is "good offense." The best authorities in America on Leftwing propaganda, including men who once helped produce it, have told me over and over again that the strategy of the Leftwing forces is to undermine the faith of Americans in their own political and economic principles and institutions with subtle propaganda. Therefore if we get across to all citizens, especially the youth of America, a clear understanding of the American way and the great advantages it brings to all, the propaganda of the Left will roll off like water on a duck's back.

Where should the offense, the positive educational program, begin? It should begin first with the very people who are most interested and want to do something for their country. Actually few Americans know the facts about the American system well enough to be a "power-house," a "home-run slugger" or a "triple-threat halfback." To be most effective we should know our system like we know our ABC's.

Citizenship Responsibilities
When we are sure we know the facts and can clearly explain them, then we like to spread them to everyone we can reach. In the business and industrial world, employers have the responsibility to take the facts to their employees. The task here is two-fold: giving the employee a clear understanding of the workings of their own company, its sales and profit statement, how its income is divided, how much goes for raw material, how much for labor, how much for taxes, and how little for dividends; and giving them the broader story of the American system.

At the community level the individual and the local group should be carrying the Americanism facts to the citizens through speeches, through radio and television, through forums, study and discussion groups and in many other ways. In our National Education Program workshop at Searcy we have available many educational materials. We have developed a dramatized defini-

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By U. S. Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Our national security remains the first and primary consideration of the Congress and Eisenhower administration.

There are threats of wars and rumors of war, and one can almost hear at times the ghostly, anguished cry of Patrick Henry's "peace, peace, but there is no peace."

The Senate has now received a bill appropriating $28.6 billion for the operation of the air, ground and sea forces for the next fiscal year beginning July 1.

Secretary Dulles is in Geneva attending the Asian conference endeavoring to maintain at least a semblance of Western unity against the determined onslaught of Communists aggression by diplomacy.

President Eisenhower has pointed out repeatedly the importance of Indo-China to the free world, and this beleaguered country is now referred to as the cork in the bottle—which, if removed, would permit the forces of Communism to pour throughout the rest of Asia.

The President recently explained that the U. S. at this time is steering a course between two extremes—the one unattainable and the other unacceptable.

As the President put it, to arrive at a completely satisfactory answer to problems with the Communists would be unattainable; and it would not be acceptable to this country to see the whole anti-Communist defense of Southeast Asia collapse.

The line between war and peace is at this time a fine and devious one, and the President and the Secretary of State must make use of all their skills and abilities in order to lead this nation through the dangers and risks of war.

The President has given renewed assurances that the U. S. will not go into any war except through constitutional processes, involving a declaration of war by Congress.

If it becomes necessary to defend the free world by force, then we must be prepared and that accounts for the huge peace-time defense budget which the Senate has received. However, the defense appropriation now in Congress is $5.6 billion less than last year's, and $1.2 billion below the original budget estimates.

Our military strength is very great, and growing; and as Representative Dewey Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, stated, "If a possible enemy attacked us today, God pity them."

In concluding, I believe the American people will attach particular significance to President Eisenhower's statement that this country will not become involved in any war except through the Constitutional process of a declaration by Congress—which means that both the House and Senate would formally act on a declaration of war.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Independent businessmen favor greater grassroots control of money and credit.

In just completed nationwide membership poll by National Federation of Independent Business, voting was 75% in favor of companion bills by Senator Capehart and Congressman Multer.

These bills seek to place bank holding corporations on same footing as independent banks.

Holding corporations would be barred from controlling both banks and non-banking enterprises; from adding branches without securing same approval required of independent banks.

For many reasons, independent business wishes independent banks made more secure. One reason is local control of the communities cash and credit by people with firsthand knowledge of local conditions is better for all. Another major reason is belief bank holding corporations have aided local governmental extravagance. Much extravagance has been at the local level, as local politicians love to spend money, too.

A political subdivision, wishing to issue bonds to pay for any scheme thought up, usually finds who will buy the bonds before an election is decided upon. Politicians know how to bullyhoo across bond elections, but don't want to end up with a batch of bonds that can't be peddled. In contemporary times, local politicians have found bank holding corporations very helpful.

As bonded indebtedness is a © National Federation of Independent Business lien on all the real estate in a subdivision distant financiers, faced with huge sums of cash siphoned off from many sources, are only interested primarily in whether the total assets of the community adequately back up the bonds; not in a long range viewpoint of community needs.

Thus, even with grandiose schemes that no local banker will endorse, politicians can go to a bank holding corporation.

With a constant feel on the community pulse, the local banker knows whether or not the county can afford a gold plated courthouse at this time, or whether it should settle for a more modest structure, and reserve some of its bonding capacity for needs of the near future such as more schools.

But when politicians can hook the community assets with a distant financier on the basis of cold balance sheet figures, and thus the wise counsel of local bankers conditioned by an intimate knowledge of local needs is lost to the community, local political subdivisions are in for future trouble.

Even today some communities with urgent needs have found their bonding birthright already pledged by politicians in a manner that would have never been possible if the sale of bonds had depended upon the judgment of strong local banks.

Thus today, a few bank holding corporations through ownership of federal, state, county and city bonds, own much of the U. S. Government. Tomorrow the whole world may pay interest to Caesar. And that is why independent businessmen want this trend stopped; want not smaller, but much bigger locally owned independent banks.

"Loan rate schedules for some classes of wool are above the rates of last year and some are below, and most of the increases are for fine wools," explains George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Martin adds that the loan rates are based on the average support price of 53.2 cents per pound, grease basis. This support price is equal to 90 per cent of parity, which is the maximum support permissible under the Agricultural Act of 1949.

The state chairman suggests that if wool producers want loan rate schedules, they should obtain the schedules from local ASC county offices.

Under the 1954 program, non-recourse and advance loans will be available on shorn and pulled wool (wool pulled from pelts of slaughtered sheep and lambs) from May 1, 1954 through Mar. 31, 1955. Nonrecourse loans will mature on Apr. 30, 1955. Advance loans will mature in six months from the date of disbursement of loan proceeds or on Mar. 31, 1955, whichever is earlier. Advance loans may also be converted to nonrecourse loans. Making loans available on pulled wool is a departure from the 1954 program, which provided for support on pulled wool through direct purchases.

Program operations are similar to those currently in effect. Loans will be made available to producers through handlers who represent producers or producer pools. Handlers approved under the support program will serve all major wool-producing areas of the U. S. Loans will be available through approved private lending agencies as well as through CSS Commodity offices, as under the current program. Nonrecourse loans will be made following appraisal to determine value based on shrinkage, grade, and other factors. A fee will be charged for appraisal. The rate loaned per pound will be based on the loan schedule. Since this schedule is on a Boston basis, transportation costs to Boston will be deducted in determining the loan rate to individual producers.

To be eligible for a loan under the 1954 program, the wool must be put in a merchantable condition and stored in an approved warehouse prior to Feb. 28, 1955. The storage cost will be paid by producers while the wool is under loan. The appraisal request, preparatory to making a loan, must be made by Feb. 28, 1955. Pending appraisal, advance loans on a recourse basis can be obtained to reimburse handlers for advances they have made to producers. These loans will not exceed 70 per cent of the estimated value of the wool.

Chairman Martin points out that if new legislation is enacted for wool price support, the new method could be made available to producers before the end of the marketing year even though the 1954 program is in operation. Wool not pledged for a loan would be eligible for payments under the new program. The USDA contemplates that wool already placed under the 1954 program also would be eligible for the new support method, provided the loans were redeemed by producers.

Seal Drive Is Still Short of Goal

More than $22,000 is needed before the 1954 Easter Seal campaign meets its $125,000 goal for the State of Maryland, it was announced this week by Murray T. Donoho, chairman of the appeal.

The 21st annual drive, which ended officially Easter Sunday, seeks funds to aid the State's 75,000 crippled children and adults.

According to Easter Seal campaign officials, a total of $120,296 has been received in contributions to date.

"We have learned from past years that many contributions will continue to trickle in weeks after the campaign has ended," Mr. Donoho said. "However, the sum needed to meet the goal—much less go over the top—is discouraging."

"Maryland has set a record as being one of the states to more than match the Easter Seal goal," he said, "and we sincerely hope that this is not an indication that the record is to be broken."

Mr. Donoho urged all those who have received Easter Seals in the mail to send in their contributions promptly.

The Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and its affiliates, including the Baltimore League for Crippled Children and Adults, support such activities as a sheltered workshop for the crippled, diagnostic facilities, and cerebral palsy nursery school, educational programs, camping sites, and research and treatment centers.

Of every dollar contributed in Maryland, 91.7 per cent remains within the State. The other 8.3 per cent will be used to help a national program of education, research and direct service.

Give Mom Breakfast in Bed on Mother's Day

WHAT NICER WAY TO START OFF MOTHER'S DAY than for the children to give Mom breakfast in bed. Boys and girls alike can fix a bright tray with a pretty linen mat and napkin, her favorite flowers and their self-made cards. Even a seven-year old can pour juice and put strawberries on Mom's Sugar Crisp in the shape of an "M"—for Mother, Mom or Ma. And Dad or big sister can add a serving of French Toast in place of the automatic variety.

Way back when...

Remember how far ten miles in the country used to seem? And twenty miles, why, that was quite a journey! Now, of course, it takes only a few minutes by automobile and only seconds by telephone. Yes, the telephone leaps the miles to save you time and trouble—helps you avoid unnecessary trips into town—gets you the information you need—keeps you in touch with friends and relatives. When you stop to add up all it does for you you'll probably say, like so many others, "My telephone is worth more to me than it costs."

Gets things done

Remember the story of Tom Sawyer, and how he got his pals to give him a hand whitewashing the fence? Thanks to the co-operation, he got the job done in no time flat, and was off to the old swimming hole. Co-operation works wonders on the telephone party line, too. When party line users co-operate by sharing the line considerably, the value of the service goes up for all concerned. And when one party line neighbor starts it, all seem to take the hint and return courtesy for courtesy. That's when the service does the most for everyone!

Polio Problem Being Whipped

The 16-year battle against polio now is in its most promising stage, yet at the same time faces its greatest challenge, George L. Radcliffe, Maryland state chairman of the March of Dimes, declared recently.

Mr. Radcliffe had just returned from New York, where he attended a national conference of big-city March of Dimes volunteer directors.

The nationwide vaccine field trial that began on Monday, Apr. 26, the day the polio volunteers assembled, was cited as representing both aspects of the current fight.

"With the trial vaccine we have great hopes of final victory, while an increased supply of gamma globulin adds to our chances of protecting our children during the coming polio season," Mr. Radcliffe said. "But Joseph F. Nee, director of fund raising for the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis, told us this two-part program will add as much as $26.5 million to our normally heavy responsibilities.

"Nor can we forget, in our optimism, our duty to those who already have been crippled and those who must yet come down with polio. We cannot fail to meet this challenge and we will not, as long as anyone needs our help."

The future of polio prevention was discussed at the meeting by Basil O'Connor, president, and Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director, of the National Foundation.

Even if the current field trial proves that the vaccine is effective, it was said, vaccine cannot be made available generally before next year. It will be even longer until millions can be inoculated, Mr. Radcliffe reported.

The use of gamma globulin as the stop-gap preventive was explained at the conference. Up to $19 million worth will be made available to the Office of Defense Mobilization by the National Foundation this year. The ODM will allocate it to state and local health officers for use among groups (larger than a family) in polio stricken areas.

Each year, until an effective vaccine is in general use, epidemics will occur and leave behind its paralyzed victims, Mr. Radcliffe said. The past five years have been high-incidence years, and there were more than 66,000 cases at the beginning of 1954 who needed continuing financial aid for care and treatment.

Cumberland, have written to Russell McCain, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, that we think it would be a good idea for the commission to move immediately to plan highway construction between Cumberland and Hancock on Rt. 40.

This is supposed to be a defense highway, yet the present road would be terribly inadequate if it had to handle any heavy evacuation traffic in an emergency. Now that Congress has completed action on the new Federal highway assistance act, we feel that Maryland should be planning to make immediate use of part of its share of the Federal funds for this project.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, May 5—Railroad unemployment, the Cumberland-Hancock Highway, and an attack in Congress on the director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons are three problems with which I have been concerned in the past week.

Railroad layoffs which have resulted from modernization of equipment and the use of fewer men in train maintenance crews can be partially helped by lowering the eligible age for retirement benefits from 65 to 60. There are bills pending in Congress to achieve this, and while my position on them is nothing new, I want to restate my support of this legislation.

I am not a member of an appropriate Congressional committee to speed up action on this matter, but when it comes to the floor I will be among its supporters.

Senator Beall and I, after a conference several days ago in

Last week I was distressed when one of the members of the House made a personal attack on James V. Bennett of Maryland, who is director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons in the Dept. of Justice. The criticism did not square up with the facts.

It was charged that Bennett coddled a prisoner who is a former 'top Communist leader, by transferring him from the relatively tough Atlanta penitentiary to the prison at Danbury, Conn. Conditions at Danbury were alleged to be much more pleasant.

However, I was able to inform the House that the transfer was made at the request of the chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board, who wanted the prisoner moved nearer his attorneys to prepare him for testimony in an investigation of the Communist Party which the board was conducting.

Furthermore, the prisoner was kept in solitary confinement at Danbury and allowed visits only by his mother and his attorneys.

I feel that members of the House should test their criticisms of individuals with appropriate committees of Congress or execu-

PITCHING

By

*Carl Hubbell

From the book "How to Play"

published by The Sporting News

Chapter 6

NATURAL DELIVERY BEST

The best way for a boy to learn to do it right, so that he doesn't have to stop and think on every play, is to picture himself as the pitcher whenever he is on the bench, or just watching a game. Figure out from pitch to pitch just what you would do if you were the pitcher and a play came your way. Then you will be playing the game all the time, and not make a mistake on the mound because you already have made it on the bench and found yourself to be wrong.

I might relate here how we judge pitchers at Melbourne, in order to prove that you do not have to be a baseball genius to start your career in a minor league.

We have the facilities at our base to give tryout pitchers plenty of time to run and get their legs in shape before they pitch. About the fifth day they warm up with the catchers and put a little something on the ball. After a week we hold squad games, and the test begins.

Our Giant observers like to see a comparatively good fast ball—not necessarily a fireball—pitched with a smooth delivery. Then they look for baseball instinct. After that, they want to know whether a boy can throw a curve, or seems the adaptable type who can learn to throw one readily.

That's all. You can see you do not have to be a highly scientific pitcher to win a chance in the major leagues.

You may wonder why we do not demand a good curve from our prospects at Melbourne. The reason is that we have learned that most boys do not have much of a curve, because they try to throw it as fast as the fast ball. That simply will not work. The ball will spin, but it will not break.

Too many young pitchers ignore the purpose of the curve. It isn't meant to be thrown past the batter. The curve is intended to deceive the hitter, first because it is a change of speed from the fast ball, and second because it does break.

There is not much point in throwing a curve unless you are sure it is going to break. You must make certain that it will break, because the curve which doesn't, and hangs over the plate for the hitter, is the pitch which will kill you.

The curve is snap and spin; snap of the wrist and spin on the ball.

If a boy never threw a ball in his life, he would make his first pitch in the way which felt best for his arm, and which was natural for him. That is your best delivery, and it is also the best for a big leaguer.

Your natural throwing motion will enable you to put more on the ball, and come closer to the strike zone than any other way.

Do not become a pitcher who throws from several angles—one sidearm, one three-quarters motion, one overhand. I have never seen a pitcher who used two-three kinds of delivery who had good control, and that applies to the major leagues, too. No pitcher can have confidence in so many deliveries and if he has to wonder which will give him his best chance to make a strike, then he is going to have trouble getting one.

The same thought is true of the number of different pitches a boy tries to use. I never saw any pitcher with five or six kinds of action on the ball who could get all his pitches over the plate consistently. Even if a boy can learn as many as five different pitches, these will be no good to him unless he can put them in the strike zone.

I have seen pitchers in Organized Ball experimenting with new pitches during a game. There is no worse fault. In competition you must stick to the pitches you know will work. Remember this principle: If you are facing a good hitter, you are not likely to cross him up with a different kind of pitch, and you may be giving him something much easier to hit.

Stick to the three sound pitches we have discussed. With the finesse in speed which you will pick up, you will have everything in the world you need to succeed. Just one more point about delivery. Always grip the ball the same, no matter what the pitch. If you hold the ball across the seams for your fast ball, then hold it across the seams for the curve, slider, knuckler, or whatever you throw.

As related to Joe King.

This is the sixth in a series of articles to help give proper instruction to boys in How to Play Baseball. Future columns will include Infielding, Catching, Outfielding and Base Running.

Chapters prior to this are available from this newspaper, or you can order "HOW TO PLAY," consisting of 112 pages, from THE SPORTING NEWS, 2018 Washington Ave., St. Louis 3, Mo., for fifty cents a copy.

BABSON

Writes...

By ROGER W. BABSON

NEW YORK CITY, May 6—The newspapers are discussing Geneva, London, and Paris in relation to Indo-China. It is interesting to note what the leading columnists and the radio-television commentators have to say. But let me pass along the conclusions of a short, narrow alley in New York City—called Wall Street. This little street goes haywire sometimes—but not often.

Present Wall Street Prices

We cannot go by prices alone when the newspapers headline the financial news: "Highest Bond Prices of the Year"; or, "Highest Stock Prices Since 1929"; or, "Commodities Continue to Advance." For many investors have stocks and bonds which still show them a loss; while some farmers and manufacturers are selling their products below cost. Why this inconsistency?

As I have said before, the high stock prices are caused primarily by the thousands of Mutual Trust salesmen who are selling their Funds' shares all over the country. The money received for these Investment Trust stocks which you buy goes into securities selected by the Trusts' managers. Most of this money is placed in a few "blue chip" nationally known stocks, perhaps in only 65 stocks selected from about 1500 listed on the New York Stock Exchange. These 65 are used by the newspapers as the Dow-Jones stocks. What is said about these is true—they are very high. The rapidly growing pension funds are also causing present high prices for these 65 popular Wall Street stocks, even though many other stocks are going down.

Another Reason for High Prices

There, however, is another reason for high prices. Prices are high because Wall Street thinks that we are to direct a "shooting war" against the Chinese and threaten to use atomic bombs. Already we are supplying the Indo-China patriots and French with airplanes, guns, shells, etc., the same as the Chinese are supplying the Communists of Indo-China with war material without involving Russia. Our Defense Dept. argues that, as a last resort, we could also supply the Indo-China arm with atomic bombs, without involving Russia, or without starting World War III.

Neither Eisenhower nor Wall Street wants a World War III or a long Indo-China war. Both dread the use of atomic bombs by either the U. S. or Russia against the other. But no one wants our foot soldiers involved in another "Korea" fought with our troops. Hence, I believe that we will get the soldiers of Formosa, Korea, the Philippines, Australia, and other bordering nations—directly interested—to do the fighting while we supply the arms.

Wall Street Believes This Possible

If so, it would cause commodity prices to strengthen; it would increase employment, and it should result in a Republican congressional victory this coming November. Under such conditions, Eisenhower could not balance the budget, but does Wall Street really want it balanced? Hence, notwithstanding the very high prices at which the 65 Dow-Jones stocks are now selling, Wall Street is bullish today.

I, therefore, make three forecasts:

- (1) That Mr. Eisenhower will not ask Congress for permission to send foot soldiers into Indo-China, at least before the November elections.
- (2) That the talk of using atomic bombs may so buck up the French and so scare the Chinese that they will all quit.
- (3) That, instead of such a negotiated Peace making the market go up, as Peace should, Wall Street may see its pet 30 Dow-Jones Industrials go down before 1954 ends!

Daily big events on the program will be the Black-Eyed Susan for three-year-old fillies, scheduled Saturday, May 15.

Helpful Hints For The Gardener

By The Master Gardener

Gladiolus are among the easiest to grow of the tender, summer-blooming bulbs. They should be planted in full sun in a location where they do not have to compete for plant food or water with trees and shrubs. Good drainage is essential; they cannot stand "wet feet." Planting may begin as soon as the soil is dry in the spring. Large corms should be set in a trench at a depth of 6 inches in sandy soils, and from 4 to 5 inches in clay soil. Unless the soil is very poor, it is not necessary to work in any plant food at this time. The smaller corms are not set so deeply. A good rule is to set them at a depth roughly four times their diameter. Keep the soil loose and friable at all times around the plant in dry seasons. If there is a choice between using the hose and the hoe, use latter.

After the plants reach a height of about 6 inches, apply Vigoro in a trench about 6 inches deep and 4 inches to the side of the row, at the rate of 2 pounds per 50 feet. After the flowers have been cut, another side dressing of plant food will help in developing a stronger corm for next year's planting.

Before cutting the blossoms, remember that next year's flowers will be determined by the growth made in the new corm after the flower spike has come and gone; therefore, retain all leaves possible to act as manufacturing organs for next year's bulb.

The proper time to cut the spikes is when the first (lowest) floret shows color. Do the cutting in the early morning or late afternoon. Then in a cool location allow additional flowers to open before using them in arrangements.

Don't wait too long to begin harvesting the bulbs. Usually about 4 to 6 weeks is needed for new ones to form after the bloom is gone. Dig the plants before they turn brown and cut off the old top with a knife. Then let the corms dry in a fairly warm place for about 3 weeks, out of the direct sun. Then the old corms can be broken from the bottoms, and the new ones dusted with End-O-Pest and stored in a cool, dry place over winter.

Jet Fighters At Camp Detrick For Armed Forces Day

The roar of modern jet fighters will augment Camp Detrick's Armed Forces Day open house, Capt. Joseph Schwimer, project officer, announced this week.

Eight F-95 jets will fly over the post at 6:50 p. m., Capt. Schwimer said. The open house begins at 4:30 p. m. and ends at 8:30 p. m. on Friday, May 14.

Dozens of exhibits are planned parade ground. In addition, several buildings, such as the enlisted men's barracks, the mess hall, post library, and signal office, will be open for public inspection.

A formal retreat parade, preceded by an address by Mayor Donald B. Rice, chairman of the Frederick City Armed Forces Week Committee, will feature Detrick's observance.

Exhibits will picture the work of the Army's Chemical Corps, Quartermaster Corps, Transportation Corps, and Corps of Engineers, as well as the Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force.

Co. A, 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard, and the 302nd Signal Construction Battalion, the Frederick Army-Air Force recruiting station, and the Frederick Chapter of the Reserve Officers Assn. will also have exhibits.

Included in the Chemical Corps displays will be exhibits from Detrick divisions. Safety division will show some of the methods it employs in furthering safety in the laboratory. Elmer A. Highhouse, Detrick glass blower, will demonstrate how he piles his trade.

Title I Loans Near Record

During the first eight months of 1953, the Federal Housing Administration insured more than $735,000,000 worth of property improvement loans, making certain that the year will be the biggest ever for the Title I program.

The eight-month total is already larger than any other full year except 1952, and the 1952 figure of $848,000,000 is expected to be exceeded by the time October loans have been compiled.

Under the Title I program, a home-owner borrows money from a bank or other private lending institution and the government insures repayment. No down payment is necessary for such improvements as reroofing a home with asphalt shingles.

Repayment of a loan can be spread over a three-year period. The maximum amount the FHA will insure is $2,500.

Renew Linoleum With Floor Enamel

Old linoleum can be given a fresh look by painting it with floor enamel.

Before applying the enamel, scrub the linoleum to make sure it is free of all dirt and wax. The enamel will not adhere to a waxy spot.

After the base coat of brush-applied enamel has dried, the floor can be stippled with a special stippling sponge. This gives a marbled effect that will not show dirt marks as readily as a solid color will.

Heavily Soiled Clothes No Problem This Way

What can you do about heavily soiled clothes that don't get clean with regular washing?

Try a special pre-soaking, suggests specialists of the University of Maryland Extension Service. Proper soaking—suited to both soil and fabric—helps loosen stubborn soil and prepares fabric for successful laundering.

Contrary to popular belief, it isn't thrifty to put off washing until fabric is badly soiled. Whenever possible, it pays to wash clothes before dirt is ground into the fabric, making it difficult to remove.

Try these soaking methods for easier, more efficient laundering: Soak greasy overalls and badly soiled cotton work shirts, covered with hot suds water containing a half cup of ammonia for 15 to 20 minutes. For convenience, soak in the tub of the washer, then spin or wring out the clothes and wash.

Oversoiled cotton slip covers, curtains or play clothes should be soaked 10, to 20 minutes in warm water, or in warm water containing a detergent or non-precipitating water softener. (Use one-half to one teaspoon for each gallon of water.) After soaking extract the water and wash as usual.

For soiled collars, neckbands and cuffs, especially on men's shirts, work suds into the soiled places gently with the hands, a soft brush or sponge. Use the same detergent that will be used in laundering.

Metal and bamboo rods should be waxed before you use them in salt water.—Sports Afield

Social Security Card Is Valuable Asset

Do you know that there's a number that is yours alone and that no other person has one just like it?

This number never changes; it is yours as long as you live. It is your key to future monthly benefit payments for you and your family.

"This is the number on your little blue and white social security card," says W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security office. "The Social Security Administration uses this number to keep a record of all of your earnings that count toward old-age and survivors insurance."

This record is used to figure the amount of the social security payments to you and to your family in your old age, and to your family in case of your death at an age. The amount of the payment depends on the amount of earnings listed under your social security number by the Social Security Administration.

This number, like your army serial number of the number of an insurance policy, identifies something that is yours. Mr. King points out that a person's name alone is not enough to enable the Social Security Administration to keep a record of his earnings. "Many different people have names that are similar, or exactly the same," he declares. "However, no two people have the same social security number."

Mr. King says that every worker should realize the importance of his social security card and of the number it shows. "He should take care of this card as he does other important documents; if he loses it, he should ask his nearest social security office for a duplicate card. The renewed card will bear the same number the old one had."

"There are three things to remember," Mr. King added. "One, be sure to get a social security card. Two, show your card to your employer when you go on a new job and make sure that he copies your name and your social security number just as they appear on your card. Three, ask for a record of our account from the

WIVELL—ORNDORFF

Miss Mary Iva Orndorff, daughter of Mrs. James Orndorff, Thurmont RD, and the late Mr. Orn-dorff, became the bride of Charles Edward Wivell, son of Mr. and
