MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

PICKEREL
(Esox niger)

Is called "pike" in Maryland, also known in some sections as the Chain Pickerel and Eastern Pickerel.

RANGE: From Canada to Florida and mostly east of the Allegheny Mountains; inhabits streams, lakes and ponds, and fresh tidal waters in Maryland. A popular game fish in the tidal waters of Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Harford and Cecil Counties; found throughout the State.

DESCRIPTION: A dark green and yellow elongated fish with a mouthful of sharp teeth; dark lines on sides forming "links" from which it derives the name "chain pickerel." The gill covers are entirely covered with scales which distinguishes it from its close relative the Northern Pike (Esox lucius) which has scales only on about half the gill cover. Average size about 2 pounds; fish of 5 pounds or over are rare; has more bones than average fresh water fish.

BREEDING: Spawns in early spring, probably heaviest spawning period being between March 15 to May 15, later to the north; deposits eggs in shallow water in long masses like the yellow perch; does not form a nest.

HABITS: Does not travel in schools; feeds mostly on minnows and other small fish, which they generally seize crosswise then turn them around and swallow head first; likes to hide in weeds and dart out to seize its prey; active all winter; does not shed its teeth in summer; best angling in spring and fall.

MANAGEMENT: Little can be done by way of management, however they can be successfully propagated in fish hatcheries; requires some legal protection such as closed season and limits to reduce the fishing pressure if not for biological reasons; pollution is an enemy.

VALUE: Good food fish though bony, but not so much in demand in Maryland as some of our many salt water species. Furnishes good sport to an army of anglers, as well as good food for themselves, their relatives and friends.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Presidential veto of federal pay raise bill insofar as it pertains to postal workers presents interesting viewpoint on current Washington viewpoint.

Veto message stated bill would raise government costs $312 million for which Congress has not levied additional taxes. Presumably, but for this oversight, federal workers would have received raises, regardless of whether entitled to them or whether jobs serve any useful purpose.

But probably in entire history of government there has never been a government operation as efficient as U. S. Post Office.

Vetoed bill included $112 million increase for this vital service, which was turned down because of reputed $437 million deficit in 1954 and because a measure to raise first class postage rates failed.

Yet evidence indicates U. S. Post Office could be run with no, or little cost.

But Congressman James Davis of Georgia claims $232 million of this deficit is in second class mail; $153 million in third class mail. These deficits total $385 million. Without them Post Office would have been only $42 million in red. Undoubtedly plugging of other leaks would put postal service in black.

Third class provides for delivery of catalogs and circulars for as little as 10c per pound, while first class mail costs 48c per pound, parcel post 18 to 32c per pound, according to zones. In addition, for big catalogs that go under parcel post, a special bargain basement rate is given.

Third class mail also gives bargain rates to big corporations seeking to drive out independent regional manufacturers, city by city, by broadcast mailing of cut price coupons to every home.

But even more interesting is second class mail accounting for roughly half the deficit. Back in 1879 Congress set up low second class mail rates for newspapers and other periodicals to facilitate transmission of news through impartial publications of which weekly and independently owned daily newspapers are the only survivors.

But under this 75 year old law, big national magazines printing short stories, novels and other material between advertising charged for at $30,000 or more per page, are given cheap rates.

A half pound magazine containing over a million dollars worth of advertising, is delivered by Post Office for only a nickel. Mail subscribers to magazines pay 13c per copy.

Thus facts appear those who seek to destroy competition by couponing, those who sell through catalogs in competition with local independent business and a few huge magazine publishing combines are subsidized to tune of hundreds of millions of dollars per year.

Therefore, this is interesting.

No mention is made of making these "free loaders" pay for services which create the deficit. Rather, idea is to charge general public more through higher rates, or taxes, to continue these subsidies, if postal worker pay is increased. An interesting sidelight on a current trend.

LOOKING AHEAD

By Dr. George S. Russell
DIRECTOR - MARYLAND EDUCATION PROGRAM
Bowie, Adams

Educational Soul-Searching
Many schools throughout America have begun to place in proper perspective the responsibility they owe to the preservation of our great nation and the political and economic structure which has made it great. An encouraging report on such action has just come to my desk. It is worthy of passing along to parents and teachers everywhere. It is from Hammond, Ind. When the 685 teachers in Hammond gathered on Sept. 7 in convocation opening the new school year, Supt. Lee L. Caldwell announced as the theme for the year: Human Freedom—the True End of Education in Our Century. "At no time in the history of the world," Supt. Caldwell said, "was there ever a crisis as far-reaching and destructive as the current struggle between communism and freedom. The current crisis includes more people; it comprehends more vital issues; it will determine whether the people of the world are to be free or slaves. Stake is Freedom. The place of the United States among the peoples of the world makes it imperative for American education to take a long, careful look ahead. Let it be repeated, again and again, that the education and training of this generation of children and youth now in our schools could determine the outcome for the freedom of mankind. The big question is: Can American schools educate and train a generation of men and women who will keep the United States the strongest nation in the world in resources and character?"

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

The final price support loan rates and purchase agreements for the 1954 Maryland corn crop have been announced by George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization Chairman Martin pointed out that one of the important alterations in the loan program for the 1954 crop is a change in interest rates from four per cent per annum to three and one-half per cent.

He said the loan rate for terminal-stored and farm-stored corn under loan and purchase agreements is $1.78 per bushel in the State's 14 commercial corn counties, and $1.34 per bushel in non-commercial corn counties.

The ASC chairman explained that these rates apply to Class I (yellow), Class II (white) or Class III (mixed) corn produced in 1954 if the corn: (1) grades No. 3 or better, (2) grades No. 4 in test weight but grades No. 3 or better in all other respects, (3) does not grade "weevily" and (4) contains not more than 20.5 per cent moisture if tendered from the time of harvest through February 1955; 19 per cent moisture if tendered during March 1955; or 17.5 per cent moisture if tendered during April 1955.

Loans and purchase agreements will be available through April, 1955 and will mature in Maryland on May 31, 1955 or earlier on demand. Farmers must repay the amount of the loan note plus interest or deliver the corn to CCC by this date. To be eligible for farm-stored loan, machine-picked corn must have been in the granary or bin at least 30 days before it is inspected by the authorized person. Hand-picked corn must have been in storage 15 days. Also, the storage bin must be approved by a loan inspector from the county ASC office.

DELEGATES

Your Vote and Support Will Be Sincerely Appreciated

The Goals
"1. A better understanding and appreciation of the meaning of human freedom. We need to consider: a) What is freedom—for me, for you, for others? (b) What is its source? Is it God-given or only a concept of the human mind? (c) How may it be expressed, in human action for human welfare? (d) How may it be best established by institutions of law and order?"

To answer these questions, Supt. Caldwell told the teachers of Hammond's 18,000 youngsters, "we must begin with certain basic assumptions, which have been established in the higher reaches of human mind, namely: (a) Man is more than a biological species; more than a physical being. (b) He is a being of creative mind and spirit; separate and distinct from all animal species in mind and spirit. (c) All of history reveals that he desires to be free to live his life without bondage—free to follow his own way of life and culture. (d) All human progress was and is motivated by man's desire for freedom. (e) The Hebraic and Christian concepts of man have developed the highest concepts of human freedom. "My Native Land"

"2. More complete knowledge and better understanding of other people, and appreciation of their needs, cultures and situations (is needed). This means broadening our knowledge of geography, history, cultures and world economic situations.

"3. Faith in our country and way of life, and appreciation of our American heritage.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
"Who never to himself
hath said:
"This is my own, my native land!"

"4. Discipline—for self-realization and self-expression.

"5. Moral and spiritual growth."

Hammond, Ind., with these splendid objectives being held up as a pattern of education for its children, will be strengthening America, its priceless human resource, and our heritage of freedom.

NO ATHLETE'S HEART

"Athlete's heart" is a myth, judging by results of a series of tests made recently on former champion athletes. It used to be said that athletes suffer enlarged hearts and die of heart disease before their time. The fact is that former athletes are in better condition than the average middle-aged man.

The average former athlete tested had a more efficient heart and blood circulation, better feet, stronger hands, wider shoulders, smaller hips, and less bay window than others of his age. Their general condition showed they are more ready for action and better able to tolerate stress. They are more agile and have better muscular endurance.

They were, of course, a few exceptions—men who, after winning a title, lapsed into a sedentary life, ate heavily, smoked and drank too much, and so tore down the magnificent physiques built up by athletic training. Those who kept active, however, are physically superior, and so is the average of all the champions tested.

But what of the man who has never been an athlete, who has led a sedentary life until reaching middle age? He is somewhat overweight, has rising blood pressure and sluggish circulation, doesn't sleep well—just doesn't feel very well. Can he change his ways and starts to improve his condition, or is it dangerous for him to begin to be physically active so late in life?

He can and should begin to re-

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 14—Almost everyone—including boosters for California, Arizona, and New Mexico—will agree that the Florida winter climate cannot be beat. Up to the present time, however, readers have heard no praise of Florida's industrial possibilities.

Any state which lacks industries usually lacks available jobs. This means that before moving to Florida you had better arrange to have a check from a pension fund or from invested funds sent to you from the North each month. Don't go to Florida now without either money or a promised job. This may apply also to other states; but I know Florida, having spent 30 winters there.

The main reason Florida has lacked jobs is because it has lacked heavy industries. The main reason it has not held its own industrially is because of its lack of natural gas—absolutely essential for industries which require a large amount of heat. Only four of our 48 states are operating with this handicap.

The first reason to this question is because natural gas has not been found as yet in Florida. It will be found some day; but when, no one knows. The second answer is that the constantly increasing demand for natural gas by the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, and other states lessens Florida's chance for supply by pipelines.

The situation has become worse since the big pipelines have been extended to the industrial East. These new pipelines mean more gas used at higher prices. This discourages the building of big pipelines into and through Florida to take natural gas into the state from states bordering on the north.

Florida May Have An Industrial Boom

Through work being done by Willard L. Morrison, a famous engineer of Lake Forest, Illinois, supplemented by the work of the Florida Research Group, at Babson Park, Fla., I believe Florida will get a great supply of natural gas from Venezuela. This gas will be compressed at Venezuela—on the basis of 600 cubic feet of gas being made from one cubic foot of liquid gas.

Gas Will Be Shipped By Water
This liquefied gas will be shipped in barges. They will be towed singly or in pairs from Venezuela to Tampa. The barges will be used for storage of the gas while it is being vaporized. Remember, one cubic foot of liquid gas will make 600 cubic feet of natural gas. Florida may well have the cheapest natural gas of any state.

Already Mr. Morrison is making contracts for sale of this liquefied gas to the Stock Yards of Chicago, after towing it from New Orleans up the Mississippi River. Yet, Florida is 2000 miles nearer Venezuela than is Chicago. Yes, Florida is headed for a great industrial development.

The Value of Refrigeration
When the condensed liquid turns into gas, a tremendous amount of cold is produced. Mr. Morrison has selected the Chicago Yards as his first customer instead of many other nearer cities because of the Stock Yards' demand for refrigeration. But, certainly, Florida needs refrigeration as well as natural gas! It is needed not only to freeze citrus juices and to preserve other products, but to "cool the entire state in summer." If natural gas is discovered in Florida, or piped in, such gas will give the needed heat, but not the needed refrigeration. Liquefied gas, however, will provide both warmth in winter and coolness in summer, together with the terrific heat needed for industry throughout the year. For further details contact any Florida Gas Co.

Candidate For

CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT

This office is of the utmost importance to every citizen of Frederick County. Training and experience are absolutely necessary. The business of the Court is such as to demand that its transactions be carried on effectively and efficiently. Its proceedings cannot be delayed while someone endeavors to learn what to do.

The DEEDS to your homes and the preservation thereof are entrusted to the care of the Clerk of the Court. This is vitally important to every family. Why risk inexperience on a matter which so deeply concerns every home owner in this County?

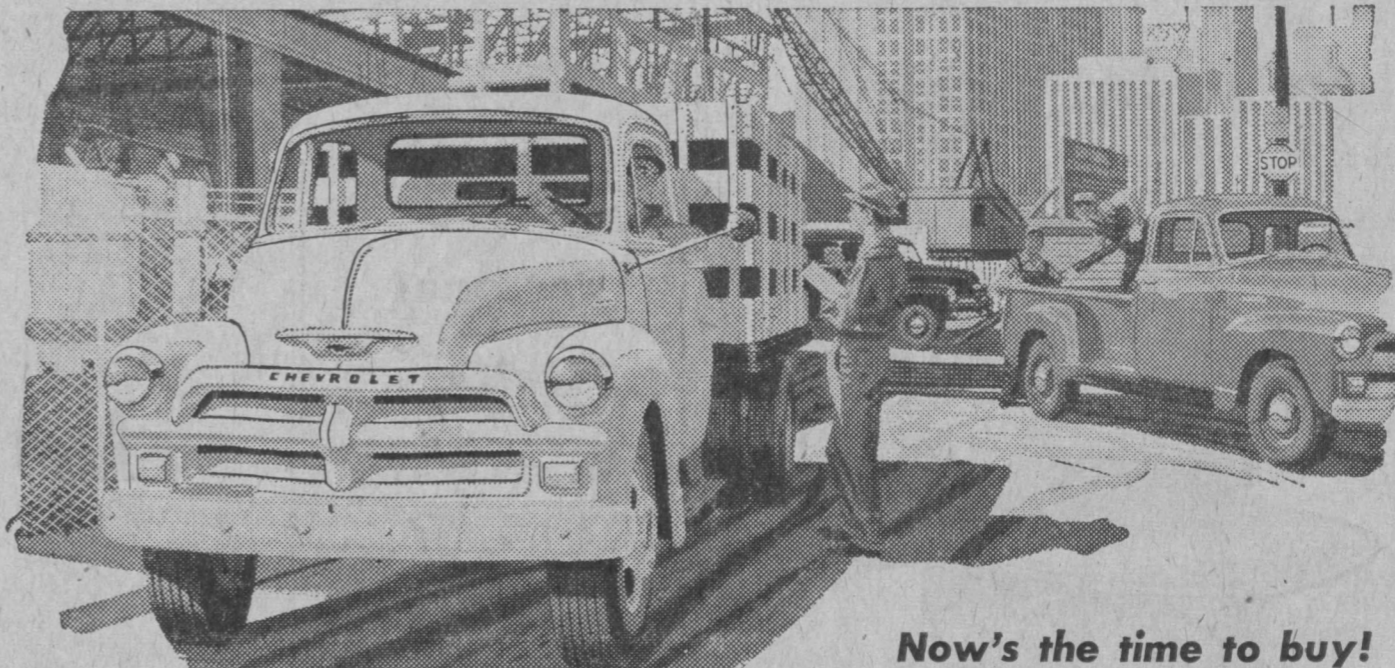

My record demonstrates that my handling of these important duties has been thoroughly satisfactory.

Vote November 2nd, 1954, for a man who is and will be Clerk in fact as well as in name.

HIGH FEES TO MCKELDIN FRIEND BLASTED BY BYRD

Candidate Favors 'Local Option' Plan On School Problem

Harry C. Byrd's campaign for the Governorship of Maryland continued in high gear this week as the Democratic candidate repeated his demand for an "explanation and investigation" of "extravagance, waste and favoritism" in the administration of his Republican opponent, Governor McKeldin.

The Democratic candidate, in a statement from his Baltimore campaign headquarters, also frankly stated his opinion that public school problems "should be handled, as far as legally possible, on a local basis by the school boards of each county."

He termed it "unwise to take such drastic steps as to end immediately an educational plan (separate but equal facilities for white and colored children) that has worked with increasing benefits to all concerned for many years" and pointed out that the Supreme Court has delayed a final decision in the segregation cases until all States have an opportunity to make suggestions for solving the problem.

Byrd said the Court had recognized that "in the various States, conditions and thinking on this subject differ and that such differences exist even between various counties of the same State."

As evidence of extravagance in the State Republican administration, Byrd called attention to a contract between the State Roads Commission and Baltimore real estate men, who, the Commission itself admitted, stand to make nearly $750,000 on the deal.

One of the parties to the contract is David M. Nichols, whom Byrd described as "a close personal friend of the Governor". Nichols, a former member of the Roads Commission, would split, equally with William Martien & Co., of Baltimore, a fee amounting to 7 1/2% of the cost of acquisition of land for rights-of-way of the approaches to the proposed Baltimore Harbor Tunnel. Byrd demanded that the contract be rescinded and declared:

"It is difficult to see just what work the Martien Company and Nichols will perform to entitle them to these big commissions. The contract provides that the Roads Commission, with its staff of lawyers and right-of-way personnel, will perform almost all of the difficult and expensive part of the work of acquiring this property—at the expense of the taxpayers."

SRC'S Duties
 "For instance, the Roads Commission must supply any surveys or drawings which may be needed; the State's lawyers must perform any legal work and draw up any papers required; the taxpayers must pay the cost of any title searches; the Roads Commission must handle all actual settlements with property owners; if condemnation proceedings are necessary, the State must prosecute them."

"In fact, the State even has the responsibility of determining who owns the land and furnishing Martien and Nichols with the names of the proper persons with whom they are to negotiate."

"Then, since their fees are a percentage of the cost of acquisition, the higher the State pays for the land, the higher the fees to Martien and Nichols."

Social Security Amendments Beneficial

The amendments to the Social Security Act which President Eisenhower signed into law on Sept. 1, 1954, are of particular importance to both farm operators and farm workers in Frederick County, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown Social Security district office.

The new law extends social security protection to almost all farm families after this year. Self-employed farm operators will be covered for the first time in much the same way as other self-employed persons already under the program. Many more hired farm workers will start building old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families on Jan. 1, 1955.

This means that by the time they have worked through two more crop years, elderly farm people may be insured, so that they can receive monthly social security checks after age 65. A farmer's family will be protected, too, so that if he should die, at any age, the widow and young children would receive monthly payments. For a retired farmer and his wife, the payments will be from $45 to almost $163 a month, depending upon his earnings, while the family of an insured worker who dies will receive from $45 to $200 a month.

The amended law does away with the complicated "regularly employed" test whereby a worker had to be continuously employed by a farm operator before his work started to count toward social security. Also eliminated is the provision that he must then be employed by the same farm operator on a full-time basis for at least 60 days during the following quarter. The amended law replaces this test with the requirement that, beginning Jan. 1, 1955, an agricultural employee will be covered by social security in any calendar year in which he is paid as much as $100 in cash by one farm employer.

While this amendment to the Social Security Act will bring coverages to many more farm workers, the new law does not cover most intermittent or short-time workers, and does not impose on the farm employer the burden of reporting small amounts of wages. However, the farm operator who employs farm help will have an obligation to report the employee's covered wages and remit the social security tax (two per cent deducted from the worker's cash wages; two per cent contributed by the farm operator.) The farmer will send the report and the taxes for his employee to the District Director of Internal Revenue.

Mr. King pointed out that the farm operator will earn social security credits in the same way as all other self-employed people who are under the program, with one notable exception. For farm operators whose gross income is less than $1800 a year, there is a special simplified reporting procedure. The farm operator will report his income for social security and pay his first social security self-employment tax on his 1955 earnings. The social security tax is a three percent tax which is due, with the social security income report, at the time the farmer pays his income tax. This date is Apr. 15, 1956.

Farm operators and workers who have never been in employment or self-employment covered by social security and have never had a social security account card, or have lost their card, should get in touch with the nearest social security district office, Mr. King declared. The office for Frederick County is located at 74 W. Washington St., Hagerstown. If it is not convenient for a farmer or farm worker to visit that office, he can get an application blank at the post office and mail it to the above address. A representative from the Hagerstown office is in Emmits-

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible. The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.—(Romans 8, 2.)

Born in each of us is the God-given power to choose between right and wrong. When we choose to do or think evil, we are enslaving ourselves into misery; when we choose God, good, we free ourselves for joyous living.

In January, 1783, Great Britain recognized the independence of the United States by the Treaty of Paris.

For you of the masculine gender, you can do a lot to help the Community Fund if you'll attend the shooting match Sunday afternoon. The Fund is in dire need of financial assistance and your help is needed so that the Fund can help others. No outright donation is being asked. All that is asked though, is that you attend the match and fire a couple of rounds so that a little profit can be made to bolster the shrinking treasury of the Fund. This little organization has done a whole of a lot of good in the five years it has been in existence. Every cent earned is spent right here in our community. Perhaps you will be indirectly aiding a relative, a friend, or even yourself? I don't engage in such a frightening and noisy sport, but I can't help but wondering if some of you other women aren't better shots than your husbands. See you there Sunday?

Tips Given

On Telephoning

Tips on how to save time and money, especially on long distance telephons calls are being given by Miss Ruth Bowman, C. & P. Telephone Co. chief operator in Frederick.

Lots of people, she said, use more of their time than is necessary in placing a call. And time is money, for example:

Some people say "Operator, this is John J. Doe of the Jones and Doe Auto Co., my number is HI 7-3401. I would like to talk with Mr. Richard R. Roe of the XYZ Gadget Co. in New York and their number is 9900."

If that is the way you are going about it, you are wasting about half your time and using a lot of unnecessary words. In addition, you are delaying your own call.

The first thing to tell the operator, explains Miss Bowman is the name of the town and state you are calling. Then the number you want and, only if it is a person-to-person call, the name of the person you want. That's all.

As soon as you give the number you are calling, the operator will start the call on its way. While the bell is ringing in the distant city she will ask for your telephone number.

Telephone operating practices have been streamlined through the years by the company, so that a call to San Francisco, which took 14 minutes to complete in 1925 and cost $7.55, now goes through in a matter of about a minute or less and costs $2.00 for a three-minute night station-to-station call.

Another point brought out by Miss Bowman is the time lost when a person doesn't give the operator the number he is calling. This means that he waits while a separate call is put thru to "Information" in the called city and not until the number is obtained can the local operator start completing the call.

"We furnish a free, handy, Blue Book for keeping a personal record of telephone numbers," Miss Bowman pointed out, "and we are glad to mail out copies, upon request."

A real money saving tip given by Miss Bowman is the use of reduced night rates, which start at 6 p. m. These reductions, which range up to 25% are also in effect all day Sunday, she said.

NOTICE—Rev. Gideon Galambos will report on "The World-Wide Assembly Conference" at Evanston, Ill., during the month of August, which he attended. He will speak Thursday, Oct. 28 at 7:30 p. m. at the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church. All denominations cordially invited.

Mahatma Gandhi was assassinated in India by a Hindu fanatic on January 30, 1948.

Albert Einstein, German refugee, arrived and settled in Princeton, N. J. on October 17, 1933.

Monticello was the name of Thomas Jefferson's home. The Dionne quintuplets were born on May 28, 1934.

Help For The Parkinson's Patient

Few chronic diseases strike their victims with such merciless impact as Parkinson's disease, also known as shaking palsy. Nearly 1,000,000 Americans suffer from this ailment which deteriorates key nerve centers in the brain and, while leaving the victim in full possession of his mental ability, subjects him to extreme physical handicaps in the form of muscle rigidity, severe trembling and a mask-like facial expression.

Beginning with a slight quiver, usually in the right arm or hand, the disease progresses until the shaking may become so violent it interferes with normal living. With the trembling come periods of muscle rigidity and stiffness that make even walking extremely difficult and produce the characteristic shuffle of the Parkinson's victim.

The almost total lack of control makes what to the normal person is the simplest habit a discouraging, near-impossible task for the person with Parkinson's disease. Simple functions, like drinking a glass of water, opening a door, and dressing, become major problems. Speech too is affected. There is a slurring and running together of words. Facial expressions become fixed; blinking is reduced.

The cause of the deterioration of the key nerve centers is known in some cases; the virus causing sleeping sickness is responsible in some instances; hardening of arteries in the brain in others. Often, however, the cause is a mystery. There is, unfortunately, as yet no cure for Parkinson's. There is much that can be done, however, to relieve the victim, both of the debilitating symptoms, and the crushing emotional effects of the disease.

Many drugs are available to ease the trembling and to relax the stiffened muscles. One of the most recent, Parsidol, has been particularly effective in relieving the rigidity and providing some relief from the tremor as well. More than 87 per cent of 300 patients in test studies were benefited by the drug, some to a remarkable degree.

As one might expect, massage and heat treatment have an important role in the treatment of shaking palsy when applied carefully and under a physician's supervision.

Recently, a new surgical technique, which involves cutting and tying a small artery in the brain, has been successful in relieving many of the symptoms, although it is still too soon to evaluate this procedure.

Finally, there is much the doctor is able to do to help the patient "live with the disease," explaining its nature, suggesting activities and hobbies to keep the mind occupied and to increase dexterity, and, in general, bettering the patient's outlook on life, an all important need of the Parkinson's victim.

Even though there is as yet no cure for Parkinson's disease, it is encouraging that medical science has succeeded in easing the damaging effects of it, both physically and emotionally.
