Most Anything At A Glance

—BY ABIGAIL—

Emmitsburg was not without the sting of Hurricane Hazel as she whipped through our fair community last week. While no spectacular damage has been reported, as compared to a national scale, many suffered loss and inconvenience in our district. Electric lines to private property were down, as were several trees, small sheds and barn roofs. Trooper Don Tucker had the misfortune of having a tree limb strike his cruiser, causing damage and decommissioning the vehicle for several days. Perhaps the hardest hit and also most fortunate local individual was Dave Martin. Seems as though Dave was headed for the coal mines up in Eastern Pennsylvania in his truck. A short distance beyond Harrisburg he had the misfortune to strike a large tree which the hurricane had blown down and across the highway, wrecking his truck and relegating it to the junk pile. Dave was fortunate in a way, to escape serious injury, but is nursing a sore shoulder and multiple bruises.

Many out-of-town relatives were worried about the local folks as reports spread via newspapers, radio and television, that Hazel was on the warpath in this territory and hastened to call long distance to inquire about the safety of their loved ones. Indications that the disastrous wind would catch us here came early in the afternoon as strong gusts of wind intermittently swept through the district. With each passing hour the threat became more menacing and I ventured to say that between 6 and 7 p. m. Friday evening we took the best Hazel could offer. We have had high winds here before, but to my recollection this was the most sustained and possibly the hardest we have ever had here. I can easily visualize the frightening misery some of our neighbors experienced, with a death toll of well over 200 counted. Truthfully, I was a little scared myself.

Don't forget the Community show, Emmitsburg's own little "fair." A lot of hard work goes into the show and I sincerely believe it deserves your patronage. The show is produced solely for the educational and entertainment qualities that it possesses. Several hundred exhibits will be on hand for you to inspect and it's a good place for you to renew old acquaintances. Let's back this all-community affair and make certain it gets the success it is so deserving of. See you there Friday and Saturday?

Halloween is just around the corner once again and I imagine the "gang" is planning some mischievous capers right at this very moment. Some derive a great deal of pleasure from the occasion while others seek to seek their vengeance on their enemies by doing the nastiest things they can think of to them, mostly in damaging property. I often wonder if it wouldn't be a lot better if these individuals in the latter group wouldn't be a lot better off if they put as much energy into doing something useful instead of destructive? Wouldn't it be much better if they built a float or something along this line and entered it in the Halloween parade? But I imagine they will follow the customary pattern and do their usual dirty work. Oh, well, I guess they will have to learn the hard way.

Police Chief Dan Kaas had his hands full Sunday night. Seems as though trouble never comes but that it comes in bunches. Well, to start the tale of events, the Chief was cruising peacefully about after a comparative easy day. Returning from a trip into Pennsylvania after checking on some speedsters who had eluded him the night before, Dan had to investigate a mishap that occurred when two young local men decided to try and disrupt telephone communications by ramming a pole with their car. Both sides suffered damage. No sooner had he cleared that matter up when another group, apparently in a hurry to get nowhere, had difficulty negotiating the Square and knocked the state road marker.

C. of C. Will Assist In Labor Survey

The Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce pledged all-out cooperation in the labor survey to be made of the community in the near future, under the chairmanship of Herbert W. Roger. This pledge was made at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber held Monday night in the Fire Hall, President Cloyd W. Seiss presiding. Members of the Chamber, the Lions Club, Vigilant Hose Co. and other local citizens will lend assistance during the survey which is being made in the interest of aiding local industry.

The Chamber authorized a $50 donation to the local Boy Scouts to help the completion of the troop's clubhouse located on Community Field. One new member, Dr. Earl Shank, was admitted to membership.

A letter of inquiry concerning Emmitsburg and the state, was received from a resident of Homer, La., seeking data about the town. A history of Emmitsburg will be mailed the writer. Advertising space in the Grange's Community Show program was authorized by the Chamber.

Pridwin Social Activities At College This Weekend

Mt. St. Mary's College will begin traditional Pridwin weekend activities with a round of social events today. At 8 p. m. the St. Joseph's College Glee Club will give a recital directed by Miss Pauline Lisella in Purcell Lounge. A dance will follow the recital.

Saturday an all-star football game between the college's two top hall teams will be played on Echo Field at 2 o'clock. The Pridwin trophy will be presented the winning team. The Mt. St. Mary's band, under the direction of Philippe H. Melroy, will offer a concert following the football game.

The new feature of the Pridwin program will be a buffet supper restricted to couples and held in the freshman dining hall between 5 and 7 o'clock. The annual Pridwin dance will be held in Memorial Gym from 9 to 12 with music by the Frank Garner orchestra. During intermission, the 1955 Pridwin Queen will be crowned.

Weekend activities will end Sunday morning with a Community Mass in the college chapel at 7:45 a. m. and another Mass at 10:30 for students with dates. Pridwin weekend traditionally marks the beginning of the Mt. St. Mary's Yearbook drive. The chairman of the committee is Thomas Curran, editor of the '55 Pridwin. Other committee members are Matthew Stapleton, Leo Galcher, Paul Deegan, Joseph Tague, Paul Morgan, Richard Clancy, Philippe Melroy and Richard Barnes.

Grange Hears State Trooper Give Safety Talk

Booster Night was observed at the regular Grange meeting held Wednesday night in the Emmitsburg public school, 29 members and a number of guests present, Master Edgar G. Emrich presiding.

Corporal Joseph McIsaac, of the State Police, gave a most interesting talk on the operations of the state police and described the radar process of checking speeds. A film on highway safety was shown.

Mr. William G. Baker, chairman of the Community Show, reported on the progress of the event. Everything seemed to be in order, he said, and stands have been set up. The Community Farm Queen will be crowned this evening by County Agent Henry Shoemaker.

The Pomona banquet will be held in Walkersville, Friday, October 29, at the community hall. A report was given by Paul Beale, representing the committee appointed for the ban on the sale of alcoholic beverages on Sundays. Andrew Eyster reported on the meeting of the Citizens' Committee for Public Schools, held recently in Frederick. The FFA boys were the guests of the Grange. The Juvenile Grange held a Halloween party recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Krom. Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. George Gartrell.

Good Neighbors Display Good Spirit To Good Neighbor

Good old-time community spirit and neighborliness prevailed when 20 neighbors with six corn pickers, 12 tractors, and several elevators moved into the Peter L. Shockley farm, near the old Emmitsburg - Harney Rd. and picked and placed in the crib the entire corn crop of approximately 2000 bushels. Starting in the late morning the entire job was completed a little after 12 noon. Mrs. Shockley and daughters served dinners to the entire group.

Those taking part in this neighborly work frolic were Otis Shoemaker, Allen Bollinger, William O. Benschel, John Tyler, Benjamin Rock, Robert Rock, Roy Weaver, Jacob Birely, Vernon Birely, Robert Birely, Clyde Frock, David Hess, David Hess Jr., Frederick Roeleicke, Jr., Richard Weybright, Charles Valentine, Roy Sanders, James Sanders, James Hall, Luther A. Dale, and Rev. Philip Bower.

Mr. Shockley suffered a stroke during the middle of July and is still disabled and confined to the house.

Several of these same neighbors had finished his harvest by bailing and taking in Mr. Shockley's straw.

PTA To Sponsor Carnival Soon

The PTA Assn. of Emmitsburg Public School announces it will hold a "Farm Frolics Carnival" on Nov. 5 and 6 in the school building. Various games and amusements for both young and old will be played during the affair and supper will be served both evenings in the school cafeteria, servings starting at 5:30 o'clock. Magic acts and talent shows have been scheduled for the occasion and many surprises are planned for the amusement of all.

On Oct. 30 the publicity committee will run a store window painting contest and the children will be asked to participate in the event. All paintings will be judged by competent artists. Mrs. Carolyn Wagoner is chairman of publicity, and Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty is general chairman of the carnival.

Writer Commends Individuals For Alertness

"Hurricane Hazel," a radio announcer said, "is no lady. She is spreading death and destruction in her wake as she approaches Washington."

As this announcement was made, there was feverish activity in Emmitsburg. Hundreds of residents were busily putting away exterior items which might be blown away, and preparing for trouble. That we had none, was a freak of nature for which we all are thankful, but you, as the now-relaxed citizen might be interested in the behind-the-scenes picture.

I have been through one of these hurricanes. I have seen my beautiful shade trees destroyed. I have lived for days without lights or telephone; without heat since no electricity was available to run a furnace. Without adequate food, since roads were blocked by fallen poles and wires, so one could not reach a store. It is not pleasant.

This time we were prepared. Many people know and are grateful to your local VFW for its ambulance service to the community. Local and State police appreciate its value. A hurricane can keep an ambulance very busy. Emmitsburg should know that the VFW ambulance and its volunteer crew was ready.

Long before the storm arrived, every ambulance driver had been alerted to stand by his phone all evening for an emergency call to duty. Those boys were ready. If one phone went out, others might still be in, so that a man might be reached. Nothing was left to chance. Ambulance Crew Chief Clyde Eyer spent the duration of Hazel in the Fire Hall with the ambulance in case of trouble.

In an emergency, police or individuals phone the VFW for the ambulance. It was arranged for a man to remain on duty to handle those calls. In case of loss of lights, old oil lamps were dug out and placed in readiness and flashlights were checked for service. We were ready.

Long before the scheduled arrival of Hazel, the first trouble hit. Emmitsburg lost lights and power through half of the town. State Police were given the home phone numbers of each ambulance driver for emergency use—those boys, along with our town police, had to be out in the storm for the duration.

Before six p. m., with the storm still in the distance, the VFW phone—the key to emergency service—went dead. The pay station there—a number not released by "Information" was still alive. The Chief Operator in Frederick was notified, and emergency use of the pay station was cleared. The information was relayed to the State Police in Frederick.

Throughout the storm, a post member stood by wind velocity and direction recording equipment, watching the progress of the storm. Temperamental Hazel by-passed Emmitsburg and the immediate vicinity. At peak, the winds averaged only 45 m.p.h. with gusts up to 55. This was less than some of our regular summer storms. When the direction reversed itself, indicating that the "eye" had passed and the storm was half over, we waited. Still no emergency calls. Finally, while most of Emmitsburg wondered what was delaying Hazel, she was gone. The emergency was over. The unsung ambulance boys could relax and put away clothing which which would not be needed.

But the fact remains that they were ready, as always, to serve the community. Ambulance calls are never pleasant. Your VFW has long maintained this community service. Its ambulance crew are all volunteers, but also in "what to do" and the use of special equipment with which your ambulance is provided.

I cannot help but feel proud of this organization, and Emmitsburg should feel likewise.

The next time you see that ambulance start out on a call, remember that day and night, a trained crew of willing volunteer workers, none of them receiving pay, stands ready to serve you at any hour of the day or night. Let's all say "thanks" to them.

Commander

The judging of exhibits by the official judges, Mrs. Cora Cutshall, Mrs. Bruce Crum, Mrs. Howard Quinn, Mr. Louis Ahalt and Mr. Howard Quinn, will take place privately this afternoon.

At eight o'clock tonight the introduction of guests will take place, followed by the presentation of the Farm Queen and presentation of gifts by Henry Shoemaker, county farm agent. A free movie will be projected at about 8:30 p. m.

The show will be open to the public Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. and that night at 8 o'clock the annual square dance will be held in the Emmitsburg public school cafeteria. Refreshments will be on sale by the PFA boys chapter all during the show. A silver offering will be taken up.

Annually the show draws about 700 spectators with its hundreds of exhibits and fine entertainment and this year expectations are that a larger attendance will be recorded as the show has been greatly expanded with additional features and exhibits. The show is a non-profit venture on the part of the Grange and any revenue over and above actual promotional expenses is laid aside for next year's production. The public is invited to attend the "fair."

No. 1 Fire Truck Equipped With Two-Way Radio

Fire Chief John J. Hollinger announced that the newest fire engine has been equipped with a two-way radio system and thereby has become an important cog in the state civilian defense machinery. The engine was driven to Frederick Wednesday where the installation was effected. Similar paraphernalia for Engine No. 2 is under consideration at this time. All calls will emanate from the Frederick County Civilian Defense in Frederick.

Another fire-fighting school for members of the Vigilant Hose Co. was started last evening in the Fire Hall. Fire Chief Hollinger stated that 21 members had enrolled in the school and that openings for several more were still open but should be filled immediately. The course is under the supervision of trained personnel of the University of Maryland. A similar school was held two years ago which resulted in a fire insurance premium reduction to local property-owners of about 10%.

The course will be of 20 weeks' duration and upon completion, will mean that the local fire company has no less than 40 "college" members trained in the latest fire-fighting methods.

other things the book reveals that a factor in the loss of China was the Communists' ability to hoodwink an important number of teachers and students in China's colleges and universities. Ambassador Stuart, who was president of Yenching university for 27 years, confesses that he himself had a "rude awakening" about the Communists after they victoriously entered Nanking.

"The Communist propaganda was exceedingly skillful," he wrote in describing the events preceding the Red victory. "And the Kuomintang (anti-Communist government) propaganda was incredibly stupid. . . . Student strikes and demonstrations, many of them Communist instigated, became more frequent."

A Red Target

It is well to observe that wherever the Communists have sought to seize control of a nation from within, they have worked hard to win over the teachers and students with propaganda. Students misled by Red propaganda paraded in Guatemala for the Communists. They paraded in China. They have paraded and rioted for the Reds in nation after nation. Why have teachers and students in these nations been such easy prey for the Communists' propagandists? It's an important question. Here are a few thoughts on it:

Teachers represent a profession built largely upon scholarship—education out of books and life in the cloistered atmosphere of the campus. Communist writers are cunning; they paint glowing pictures of a "paradise" for "the intellectual workers"—as the teachers are called. Students as a rule are idealistic; all are immature, with plastic minds. The crooked Communist propaganda promises an idealistic world, a world of comparative ease, without conflict, and with economic plenty for all. In so many countries, the students and teachers getting this Communist come-on have not developed a genuine respect for the existing government and economic system, whatever its merits or demerits may be. Therefore, they have little, if any, resistance against the propaganda.

In America Too

The Communists and Socialists in America have directed much of their propaganda at students and teachers. That's why I have been recommending for years that we strengthen American citizenship education throughout our entire school system. Several years ago the Brookings Institution searched for but failed to find a single high school or college economics textbook which favorably compared the American private enterprise system with other systems. Recently, however, educators have been demanding textbooks which contain the favorable facts about our system.

At Harding College in Searcy, several textbook projects are underway. In these projects scores of texts now in use have been studied. Some of the books contain brazen propaganda against the American system; others subtly undermine basic American principles. It is a genuine pleasure to find a book written by persons who obviously love America and respect its constitution and basic economic principles. Such a book is "Fundamentals of Citizenship," an eighth grade civics textbook, by G. L. Blough and David S. Switzer (Laidlaw Brothers, publishers.)

Good Teachings

It unashamedly teaches the need for "moral fitness"—the age-old virtues of honesty, courage, sincerity, self-control, initiative; the attribute of thrift and the value of self-reliance. It speaks of our founding fathers with highest respect. It places God and country in their proper perspective in the allegiance of American boys and girls.

"Fundamentals of Citizenship" gives the American youngster an understanding of a system he can respect and defend. It says in conclusion: "Government in America has preserved and has developed the best in civilization. The key that unlocks the door to its enjoyment is American citizenship. . . . If we want to continue our way of life, each generation must continue the principles upon which this way of life was built." American youngsters taught from sound textbooks will never parade for the Communists; but will, on the contrary, be more likely to develop the moral strength and the resourcefulness necessary to defeat Communism and preserve freedom.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The current national foxhound champion is an unusual winner. He is Osage Eddie, owned by Frank Jacobs of Oklahoma. Before his entry into the National Foxhound Championship stake at Clarksville, Tenn., last November, the field trial world knew little about Eddie. He had won the Cimarron Valley Derby at 13 months, but this was run on wolves and over a terrain much different from the Tennessee hills.

But the dark horse from Oklahoma scored heavily on the first day. When the final scores were totaled, the unknown Eddie was comfortably out in front, having performed remarkably well in hunting and trailing, speed and driving, and showing rugged endurance.

It is not unheard of for an unknown to win an important field trial. But it is a pretty safe bet that the tried and true fox dogs of known and proved ability will garner the "High General Average" honors.

The big surprise came when Mr. Jacobs announced that to his knowledge Osage Eddie, the new champion, had never smelled a red fox trail until he competed in the championship event. He had been trained and hunted exclusively on wolves! Another unusual fact is that Eddie was less than three years old when the stake was run.

However, no breed of dog has any corner on versatility. Beagles and bassets are frequently used in pheasant hunting. Yet it is strange to see a pointer treeing a coon, or a hound being used in bird hunting, or a setter herding cattle. Yet Henry Davis, sporting dog authority for Sports Afield magazine, has seen such things.

A farmer cousin of Davis sent his setter after the milk cows at the end of a long day of quail hunting. And few bird dogs could find more feathered game, or handle it to greater perfection than this fellow. Besides his great ability as a quail dog, he was a master of treeing squirrels, and when hunted with coonhounds at night he could be counted on to carry his share of the load, both in training and at the tree. He was a natural retriever and was frequently used in duck hunting. He would lie under a tarpaulin with his teeth chattering from the cold, but when a duck dropped he would dive into the water as if it were a summer day. He was, of course, an exceptional dog.

New FORD THUNDERBIRD

A personal car of distinction
...with Trigger-Torque performance

You'll be delighted at the wealth of conveniences the Thunderbird offers. Two tops are available: a disappearing fabric top . . . and an easy-to-lift-on hard top. The extra-wide vinyl upholstered seat is foam-rubber-cushioned . . . power-operated 4 ways. Windows roll up . . . by power, if you like. There is a tachometer . . . and a clock with a sweep second hand. There is a telescoping steering wheel. And you can have power steering and power brakes.

Come in today for complete information

Something totally fresh is here—a bewitching new all-steel beauty that sets the styling keynote for other Ford cars to come.

But, styling gives the merest hint of what the Thunderbird has to offer. In traffic and on the open road the Thunderbird's Trigger-Torque performance is literally a revelation. Here is hair-trigger response . . . fleet, liquid agility . . . backed by a reserve of swift, sure power to meet safety's every demand. Trigger-Torque performance stems from Ford's new Thunderbird Special V-8—a high-torque engine with 4-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, wide-opening valves and Ford's famous low-friction design. And you can have the Thunderbird with the transmission of your choice—Conventional, Overdrive, or new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic.

Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension not only velvet-cushions your ride, it also allows the Thunderbird to handle with utmost ease—to corner with greatest stability.

But, more important, the Thunderbird is the product of the same advanced engineering . . . the same manufacturing skills that have made Ford products so dependable, so value-full and so desirable to so many.

BABSON

Writes...

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 21—An analysis of retail sales shows some very interesting

Figures from Jan. 1 thru Sept., 1954, sales declined about 2 per cent from the same period last year. There, however, was a modest pick-up during September. This was due largely to the cool weather and to this year's extensive store advertising.

More Money Than Ever

The decline in 1954 has been in the face of more money available for spending than ever. Individual's savings are at the highest level in history. Wages also are higher than ever before. Most prices are reasonable and storekeepers are trying hard to please their customers.

There should be more customers than ever, as a result of our net gain in population of 225,000 each month. Births are increasing and sickness is decreasing. More children are going to school and are dressing better at school. The only "out" is that parents do not have so much overtime money as they did in 1953.

Reasons For Declining Sales

This means that certain parents have had more time to do needed work at home. The do-it-yourself industries have boomed! People have been buying tools, paints, wallpaper, plywood, etc., instead of spending the money on movies and entertainment. Families are cooking-it-themselves more, and going out to restaurants less.

Some cities which have many parking meters have trained parents to visit the shopping centers together in couples, but always leaving one person in the car to listen to the radio or read a picture magazine, or eat a nickel candy bar. This growing new habit has increased sales by drawing more people into the shopping district and eliminating their fear of getting parking tickets. Both persons can take their turns shopping, and also at watching the parking meter and dropping in another nickel at the right time. Other stores have boys or girls with sundries of nickels to watch their customers' cars.

Poor Sales Due To Poor Parking

An analysis of sales shows that they have varied in accordance with parking facilities. Stores in which customers can trade without any parking problems show increases. The other stores have shown decreases. Since current high factory employment is impossible to maintain without high retail sales, it will be seen that unemployment figures of the entire country may be considerably affected by the availability of adequate parking facilities.

The truly self-service stores have shown the greatest increases. In these, the customers need not wait for change or wrapping. They can shop quickly and pay at the check-out door. Hence, self-service is also helping the employment situation for the entire nation, as well as the well-being of each city. Local governments should remember that the retail merchants—not the factories—are the lifeblood of every city and every nation.

What About Parking Meters?

Parking meters are useful in preventing all-day parkers from hogging the streets; but otherwise they hurt retail business. A woman leaves home with a large list of things she wants to buy. She finds a vacant parking space and drops five cents in the slot. Then she starts to get her supplies; but she is continually worrying about her car. The time goes too quickly. She is thinking of the car instead of her purchases. She goes home with half of her shopping list bought.

Every merchant should fight for free parking lots, or else lots that provide two-hour parking for five cents. In other words, cities must not only provide parking, but must also eliminate the worry and hurry of shoppers. The present idea of the customer to get back home as soon as possible is absolutely wrong. The setup and aim of the stores should be to keep her in the shopping district as long as possible.

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers has returned to his home here after being hospitalized for the past month at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

State To Observe

United Nations Week

The United Nations Assn. of Maryland begins today, Oct. 22, in Baltimore as its observance of United Nations Week, a mammoth and unique three-day Exposition which means another "first" for Baltimore, for nothing of this sort has ever been undertaken anywhere else in the world.

According to official announcements, "Sixty colorful displays (representing the present UN member - nations) will picture something from the lives of people from over the world." For example, six of the 60 national exhibits will include (1) the woder fish telapia flown from Thailand, (2) a Chilean copper mine, (3) an African tribal dance, (4) an authentic Chinese temple, (5) Belgian lace making, (6) the Johns Hopkins Science Lab.

In addition there will be other exhibits showing the people of the UN's specialized agencies working with the people of the respective member-nations on important welfare problems (the long-range peace efforts); such agencies as the World Health Organization (WHO), the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), and the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF).

Each of these displays will be prepared and manned by a different major civic, religious, or educational organization, including the Baltimore group of Boy and Girl Scouts, of the American Assn. of University of Women, of the YWCA, of the Lions Club, etc., etc.

There will also be a continuous movie showing "The United Nations at Work," also international music.

The Exposition opens at 3 p. m. today (with a pre-viewing for Baltimore school children) at 10 a. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. Sunday, closing each night at 10:30. Admission is free.

Not Necessarily Noble

The rare, inherited bleeding disease, hemophilia, is often thought of as a defect of European royalty. However, one baby in every 50,000 in the U. S. is born with it, although we have no hereditary nobility. As yet, doctors have found no way of curing this tragic disease, but they are constantly learning better ways of preventing its worst consequences.

The strange feature of hemophilia is that only women can pass it on, although they are never afflicted with it. Only a fifth of the children born with hemophilia ever grow up. A cut that would pass almost unnoticed in a normal child may be fatal to one of them. Bleeding may be either internal or external and, worse, it can start spontaneously without being caused by any known injury. The hemophiliac child must have no toys with sharp edges, no clothing with pressure from buttons, buckles, or tight waistbands. Everything about him must be padded. He can't join in rough and tumble play with other youngsters.

Hemophiliacs often grow up to be exceptionally brilliant men, perhaps because they must concentrate on intellectual pursuits. They usually have fewer hemorrhages as they grow older, because they learn to live with their condition.

The usual treatment for hemorrhage in hemophilia is trans-

U. S. agricultural exports during the 1953-54 fiscal year gained four per cent over the year before, but still were 28 per cent under the all-time high reached in 1951-52.

George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, points out that larger cotton shipments were the chief factor in the export gain during the past year.

He notes, however, that wheat exports in 1953-54 continued to decline, falling 32 per cent from the 324 million bushels exported in 1952-53. Shipments in the past two years have been smaller than in earlier postwar years because of increased competition in commercial markets and improved supplies in importing countries.

Export figures show that farm products comprised 19 per cent of U. S. exports in 1953-54, the same percentage as the year before.

fusion with whole blood. Another is the injection of plasma, together with some of the blood's protein components. Treatment with clotting elements of blood is often valuable. Perhaps the most important element of treatment is teaching the hemophiliac to adjust to his handicap.

With good management, many children with hemophilia are being kept alive today and are even able to attend school and take part in normal childhood activities. In time, medical research may find a way to cure hemophiliacs, whether they are princes or paupers.

Safety Council Honors State of Maryland

Last week the National Safety Council made a safety presentation to the State of Maryland, which was accepted by Gov. McKeldin. Maryland won the first place in the entire Nation, in the field of public information, and receiving a rating of 100 per cent. This is the first time in the 42-year history of the National Safety Council, that any State has ever accomplished this.

Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, in thanking everyone, on behalf of Gov. McKeldin and the members of his Commission, stated that they were grateful for the cooperation received from this media, and they believe it was only through this type of public information and education, that a reduction of the terrible death and injury toll in Maryland was made possible.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Smitty's
Not-So-Silent Partner

Dropped into Smitty's gas station last week and met his new partner who turned out to be a real talker.

"What'll it be?" asked Smitty.
Before I had a chance to answer
I heard a strange voice "Fill her up! Fill her up!" And there was Smitty's partner - one of those parakeets perched next to the gas pump.

"Took me a month," Smitty said, "but I finally taught him to say those magic words. It's sure paid off - he's had a good influence on my customers."

From where I sit, Smitty's bird may be good for business - and may get him a few laughs. But when people act like parakeets, they're not so funny. For instance, those who keep insisting over and over again that their neighbors shouldn't have a glass of temperate beer with their supper now and then. They're simply repeating their own ideas, without any regard for the rights of others.

er by the Postoffice right smack down to the ground. Well upon completion of that investigation another yokel decided to "cut loose," tearing up and down the alleys and streets at highly insane speed, endangering life and property. Dan settled that matter by slapping two charges against the offender who at the time of his apprehension, wasn't feeling so spry. Just to show you that Dan's heart is in the right place, he forgave one of the three possible charges on the offender. I often wonder if it pays to be kind to such fellows? Well anyway, along about 1 a. m., Dan was able to call it a day.

SJHS News

The Junior Class of St. Joseph's High School will hold a dance this evening. The annual Halloween dance held by the Sophomores will be next Friday, Oct. 29. Already eerie pictures are in sight as the second year students prepare decorations for the dance.

Try-outs for a play to be enacted at the Nov. meeting of the CSMC at St. Joseph's were announced at the monthly meeting Tuesday. Other projects for our missionaries were also discussed at the meeting such as the collecting of greeting cards (used) and stamps (cancelled).

Senior commercial class members are preparing Marian Anthologies as a class project. Maria Kramer and Robert Portner are taking great pains to make their booklets complete by drawing all pictures by hand. Other members of the class are making artistic designs with the typewriter.

Individual student pictures were taken Oct. 21 by a school photographer.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

One of the major achievements of the 83rd Congress and the Eisenhower administration was stopping the trend toward a Federal superstate and reducing government ownership and control of business. Representative DeWitt S. Hyde asserted last night.

Mr. Hyde, speaking at a dinner meeting of the Montgomery County Soroptimist Club at the Kenwood Country Club, said that when the GOP was sworn into office, the Federal government owned or had a stake in $130 billion worth of factories, railroads, ships and countless other enterprises.

Piecemeal encroachment of the government upon the preserves of private enterprise had made the government the country's largest insurer, largest lender, largest tenant, largest warehouse operator, largest shipowner and largest truck fleet operator. Between 1929 and 1948, he pointed out, government wealth grew 278.5 per cent while private wealth increased only 78.7 per cent and the total economy only 108.8 per cent.

Government's huge business empire—which had to be supported by tax money—was taking about 70 per cent of the total taxes, leaving only 30 per cent to states, counties, and municipalities. Only a few decades ago, he said, the Federal government required only about 30 per cent of the total taxes.

President Eisenhower's philosophy is that government should do only what private enterprise cannot or is unwilling to do. His resulting curtailment of government's business activities is a give-away program—a give-away back to the people, Mr. Hyde said.

He pointed out that these enterprises which were and are being liquidated drain billions of dollars in taxpayers' money, and their disposal will reduce the demand for taxes and provide cash to offset the government's budget deficit.

As one of 14 examples of the Eisenhower administration's curtailment of business activities, he cited disposal of the Inland Waterways Corp., which had lost more than $15 million in tax money in 29 years operating tow boats and barges on the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. Sale of this operation netted $9 million for the taxpayers, he said.

Other actions of the GOP have returned to the States functions which should properly be under local authority, Mr. Hyde said. He also stated that government's business-type activities are costly, unprofitable affairs which cost taxpayers and consumers far more than if operated by private enterprise.

There are those, he said, who favor more government operation and controls. They will not agree that lightening the tax burden for the "little guy," severing the bonds to permit business to expand and create more jobs and a better economy, and reducing government interference, are achievements. But, he added the mass of people will.

HARRY CLIFTON BYRD
Candidate for Governor

For
These Things I Stand

Appointment of a State Industrial and Economic Commission to relieve the deplorable unemployment situation in Maryland.

To help small towns, through use of State credit, to obtain adequate water and sewerage supplies.

Establishment of a Commission to get new business satisfactory to replace business lost by certain communities in Maryland.

To give to the people of the State a balanced budget.

To repeal the tax law which will make every Marylander pay from $5.00 to $7.00 more, beginning next spring, on his automobile license tag.

To give labor representation on State agencies in which it has a special interest.

Protect and develop, through conservation methods, the State's resources.

Develop plans for increasing health services and further develop our public school system with adequate salaries for teachers.

Develop a State Roads system under which more highways will be built at lower cost to the State.

Give women a larger place in government.

Study the operations of the Public Service Commission and State Tax Commission with a view to providing better transportation and a more equitable tax program.

Increase volunteer firemen's compensation for injuries and increase pensions for those families who have lost loved ones in the line of duty.

Increase the retirement income of State employees and of those under the State Teachers' Retirement system.

Above all, I stand for the elimination of the extravagance, waste and the favoritism which has characterized the government of the State of Maryland for the past four years, and which has cost you taxpayers millions of dollars. I want a Government for Maryland operated on the same carefully planned basis that you housewives plan your weekly budget and on the same sound economic basis on which you voters operate your businesses.
