Well Halloween has passed, I might add, with a minimum of property damage and vandalism. Pranks were played to be sure, and a lot of non-stationary property relocated as usual, but I must admit that the town was pretty well patrolled and it is highly possible that a few of the more destructive individuals were curbed by the extra deputies on duty. Complaints were heard here and there. Some said that practically all the "fun" had been taken out of the occasion by the augmented police force while others were very happy about the whole setup. I really can't say there was anything unusual about the occasion and perhaps the less said the better.

Hearing about the fatality of the Sweeney boy makes me cross my fingers in fear that perhaps sometime in the future the same identical disaster might happen again to some of our school children. While this horrible, regrettable incident didn't occur as school was in progress, nevertheless I feel that there is something missing and that we might be remiss in our duty to our school children insofar as their protection and welfare is involved.

Most of our school children at the public school, St. Euphemia's and St. Joseph's High Schools have to cross treacherous Route 15 to get to and from school. This means that several hundred of our children have to cross this main traffic artery several times a day and also that about 5000 cars a day pass over this road. There is practically no protection for them. Sometimes patrolmen (school children) are on duty and sometimes not. Under the present setup something is eventually bound to happen. It can't miss. Sooner or later we will have a child fatality on our hands, so now is the time to take precautions.

We don't have enough paid policemen on duty to take care of the situation adequately. By that I don't mean to cast reflections on our present police department because it can't be present at three different schools at the same time. So what remedial measures can be taken?

Well for some time I have watched and admired the lady policemen in Frederick and other cities at duty during the school periods. Nately dressed in uniforms they are performing a public duty that is invaluable in my estimation. Many of them are salaryless, just feeling that it is their civic duty to protect the young citizens of tomorrow. Now, what's to be done?

Many service organizations are looking for some community project to occupy their time and also to benefit their community. I am wondering if some ladies' group might possibly equip say, half a dozen members, ladies of course, with uniforms and have them on duty in the morning, afternoon and evening. In all there is possibly an hour or two a day that would be required guarding the children as they cross the dangerous highway and Square. They should be empowered by the Town Council to make arrests of those who violate the safety code. This, in my estimation, is a noble community project and it ought to be done before we are all sorry. It would take only about half a dozen lady volunteer policemen to perform this invaluable public service, so why not think it over ladies, you'll not regret the venture. Shifts could be arranged so that there would be no imposition on any one group. After all we have volunteers for ambulance duty, fire company, blood banks, air raid and civilian defense, etc., so what say we establish a school patrol squad?

I myself, have driven by the schools and have seen children "take chances" while crossing the highways, and I also have seen motorists pass school buses while unloading right in front of the schoolhouse.

Boy, 10, Is Fatally Injured By Bus

Albert William Sweeney, 10, died in the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Sunday afternoon as the result of injuries he sustained an hour earlier on S. Seton Ave., when his bicycle rammed into a moving bus.

The lad, a fifth grade pupil at the Emmitsburg Public School, was pronounced dead of a fractured skull, fractures to both jaws and a fractured right leg. His vehicle was completely demolished as the result of the impact. Albert was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Sweeney of Emmitsburg.

Investigation by State Trooper 1/c Donald A. Tucker, disclosed the boy was riding south on S. Seton Avenue on his bicycle when he pulled out from behind a car he was following and met head on with a Potomac Motor Lines bus, traveling north on S. Seton Ave.

The bus driver was identified as Charles Edward Kauffman, 45, 167 Garfield St., Chambersburg, Pa. No charges were entered after the investigation. The accident occurred at 12:10 p. m. at the intersection of Seton Ave. and Potomac St. The injured lad was rushed to the hospital in the local VFW ambulance.

Albert was a member of Cub Scout Den No. 1, and is survived by his parents, two brothers, Donald Ross Sweeney and Ronald Leroy Sweeney; a sister, Maxine Anne Sweeney; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sweeney, Thurmont, and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ridenour, this place.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning with a requiem Mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, the pastor, Rev. Fr. John D. Sullivan, officiating. The Mass was attended by school children from both St. Euphemia's and the public school. Interment was made in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were George Fisher, Ronald Fisher, Fred Fisher and Randy Valentine. S. L. Allison, funeral director.

Game Director Predicts Good Hunting Season

According to Mr. Ernest A. Vaughn, director, Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission, the coming hunting seasons in Maryland should be good ones, as reports from game wardens and others regarding the status of most upland game are optimistic. In spite of the storms and drought, there seems to be an above average crop of quail and grouse in Western Maryland, pheasants along the Mason & Dixon Line, raccoons and opossums, wild ducks and Canadian geese.

The status of that very popular game animal, the cottontail rabbit, is perhaps not as satisfactory as the Commission would have it, although there has been a gain in some sections.

The wild turkey and rail seasons recently closed were above average, according to hunters. The squirrel season that closed Oct. 31 was below normal in some sections, particularly in the

In Frederick County the Democrats captured four offices and were represented in several others which they lost four years ago. Despite Dr. Harry C. Byrd's convincing defeat for governor by Theodore R. McKeldin, incumbent, most other Democratic candidates fared well, including those for attorney general, C. Ferdinand Sybert, and comptroller, J. Millard Tawez, both Democrats who were elected on the state ticket.

An extremely close race developed for State Senator from Frederick County between Edward D. Storm, former senator, and incumbent Jacob R. Ramsburg with the latter winning the office by a narrow margin of 276 votes. This was Mr. Storm's second defeat in four years at the hands of Senator Ramsburg who outdistanced him in 1950 for the office.

A complete new slate of County Commissioners, all Democrats, was voted into offices from which they previously were ousted. Winners are Edward F. Holter, Delbert S. Null and Mehrl H. Ramsburg.

An interesting race for State's Attorney took form between Samuel W. Barrick and Murray H. Fouts, with the former, a Democrat, sliding in comfortably by a 9,818-to-8,504 vote.

James H. Falk, incumbent unopposed, amassed a total of 13,322 for County Treasurer on the Democratic ticket. Register of Wills, Harry D. Radcliff Jr., Republican, also unopposed, ran well and garnered a total of 12,568 votes.

Of the three judges to be elected to the Orphans' Court, incumbent Mary H. Gregory was the only Democrat to be victorious. The two other judges, both Republicans, are Samuel Q. Ausherman and Frank C. Shook.

As usual the race for the House of Delegates took on a torrid aspect with the result that the seats were evenly divided, three Democrats and three Republicans. Victorious were Clifton Virts who led the balloting with 11,570 tallies; Gary L. Utterback, Charles H. Smelser, Jr., Melvin H. Derr, Joseph B. Payne and S. Fenton Harris.

Ellis C. Wachter, Republican incumbent and unopposed for Clerk of the Circuit Court, won comfortably from his Democratic opponent, C. Burton Cannon, Jr., by 9,739 to 8,500.

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, incumbent, easily out-distanced his Democratic opponent, Edward J. Ryan by 9,917 to 8,094.

Horace M. Alexander, Republican incumbent had no trouble defeating his Democratic oppoent, Arthur R. Hoffman, for the office of Sheriff. Alexander piled up a total of 10,845 to his opponent's 7,524.

Cattle Sale Brings Good Prices

Sixty-one head of registered Holstein cattle brought a total of $20,661 at the 23rd annual autumn sale of the Maryland Holstein Breeders' Assn. at the Frederick Fair Grounds last Friday. The sale attracted a large crowd of buyers representing Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware and North Carolina.

Largest individual buyer was John S. Teeter and Sons, Taneytown, who paid $4740 for 11 head, including the top bred heifer for $525.

Top bull of the sale was consigned by Filbert Farm, German town, and was purchased by M. A. Adams of Buckeystown for $415. The bull is a grandson of western part of the State, but in many other sections was equal if not better than the 1953 season. The exact cause of the scarcity of bushytails in some counties is not known at this time. Many reasons have been advanced, such as shortage of food, the drought, migration and disease.

Dunloggin Woodmaster and was undefeated junior yearling this year.

Twenty-six cows averaged $445; 18 bred heifers $536 and seven open heifers $203.

R. Charles Backus, Mexico, N. Y., was the auctioneer, assisted in the ring by Emmert R. Bowls, Frederick. Sale manager was Howard C. Barker, Frederick.

Master Emrich congratulated and thanked Mr. Baker and the FFA boys for the big part they played in making the show the success that it was.

A letter from the Home School Assn. of Frederick High School was read requesting the Grange to consider their resolution for drivers' training in the high schools of the county. The local group favored the course after such other educational needs as vo-ag, business courses, etc. have been met.

A resolution of the Frederick Jaycees, submitted by the education committee of the Frederick Junior Chamber of Commerce, asked that the election of a non-partisan Board of Education for Frederick County be tabled by the Grange.

The annual election of officers was held with the following results: Worthy Master, Richard Florence; overseer, Harry Swomley; lecturer, Ann Hobbs; assistant lecturer, Joseph Gelwicks; steward, Greer Keilholtz; assistant steward, Ray Harner; chaplain, George Gartrell; treasurer, Edward Smith, Sr.; secretary, Mrs. Clara Harner; gatekeeper, Louis Smith; Ceres, Mrs. Mary Krom; Pomona, Mrs. George Gartrell; Flora, Mrs. Greer Keilholtz; lady assistant steward, Joan Hobbs; executive committee, John Baumgardner, Maurice Zentz and Edgar Emrich. The sessions will be held at the Farmers Cooperative building in Frederick and will be conducted by Gareth B. Lease, who recently attended a five-day conference on census methods.

Prospective enumerators expected to take the course include Robert Saylor of Emmitsburg; Marshall McCauley, Braddock-Tuscarora; George Grossnickle, Jackson-Middletown; Mrs. Florence Boller, Creagerstown-Lewistown; Harry Blickenstaff, Catoctin; Dorsey Lovel, Havers; Allen Flanigan, Woodsboro.

Council Votes To Retain Same Local Tax Rate

While most other towns throughout the state and nation have raised, and some doubled, their real estate tax, Emmitsburg can go back more than a decade and boast of no raise. Town officials have kept the present rate, despite rising costs of municipal government, and in addition, have two laborers employed full time and has an established police department.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners held Monday in the Fire Hall, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners Thomas J. Frailey presiding, it was decided to once more retain the present real estate tax of 50 cents on the $100 and also the same sewer tax of $5 per annum.

Town Clerk Louise Sebold presented the reports of the secretary, clerk, treasurer and tax collector, all of which were accepted as presented.

Parking meter revenue was announced for the month of October as $333.63. In addition there were $62 in fines of various descriptions and $32.25 in traffic violations, making a total of $427.88. All current bills were okayed for immediate payment.

Council discussed and authorized the installation of two street lights to be placed in the North Alley in the rear of the Charles D. Gillelan property. A communication from a local resident concerning the planting of trees within the corporate limits and in front of property located on Main Street, was received and read. It was pointed out that the State Roads Commission has jurisdiction of the highway to the curbs and the Corporation from the curb to the property line. The matter is being taken under advisement.

A test of the local drinking water was run by the State Health Dept. recently and the analysis was presented to Council for its information. Council concurred with a proclamation by Governor McKeldin, designating Wednesday, Dec. 15 as Safety Day. Mayor Rodgers, who was absent from the meeting due to illness, will issue a subsequent proclamation in the near future.

The Police Department was authorized to purchase a fire extinguisher and first aid kit for the cruiser and also to purchase warning signs for local schools and sharp curves in several of the alleys. Council agreed to make the usual preparations for Christmas decorations and workmen will erect same at the appropriate time.

Christmas Seal Sale Starts

On November 22

With but three weeks remaining before the opening of the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale on Monday, Nov. 22, pre-campaign activities throughout the State are nearing the climax of many months of preparation.

The annual drive for tuberculosis funds will be conducted by the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. and its affiliated county associations and will mark the 50th anniversary of the founding of the National Tuberculosis Assn., the first lay-medical group organized to combat a specific disease.

Final preparations for the mailing of this year's Christmas Seals are being made by thousands of volunteers through the state.

The Frederick County chairman is Edward Hart Etchison of Frederick.

Dr. Russell Nelson, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn., stated that while deaths from tuberculosis have shown a sharp decline in the last decade, newly reported cases have remained fairly constant. This indicates that the prevention of the spread of TB has not kept pace with the prevention of deaths.

Thus, Dr. Nelson pointed out the great need for continuing the services of the tuberculosis associations, which include tuberculosis detection, education, special services to TB patients, and medical research.

To meet this need, Dr. Nelson said it is hoped that the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale will exceed the total of $450,711.21, which was raised in Maryland during last year's campaign. Of this total $289,064.77 was raised by the county tuberculosis associations and $161,646.44 by the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. in Baltimore City.

Construction Started On Pangborn Building At Mount

The cornerstone for Pangborn Hall, the new senior residence at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, was laid last Sunday at 2 p. m. by the Most Rev. John M. McNamara, auxiliary Bishop of Washington. One of the largest gatherings of Mountaineer Alumni attended the ceremonies.

In presenting the building to Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of the college, Thomas W. Pangborn, president of the Pangborn Corp. and chairman of the Pangborn Foundation, recalled the illustrious history of Mt. St. Mary's and remarked "the spirit of Mt. St. Mary's is the spirit of youth, full of lofty enthusiasm dedicated to inspiring goals, touched with high ideals. We—John and I—are proud indeed, that we are able to have some small share, in all for which Mt. St. Mary's has stood for 147 years.

"Pangborn Hall, my friends, is no selfish monument to our fame. It is a humble symbol of our strong belief in the ideals, which Mt. St. Mary's has fashioned through the years, for they happen to be our ideals also and the ideals of every responsible Christian gentleman.

"To us a Catholic college—if it is worthy of the name—is a bounteous reservoir endlessly enriching our society, our nation, and our church. Throughout its existence, youngsters of every social and economic background, draw on it that they may grow in wisdom, and grace, and age before God and man!

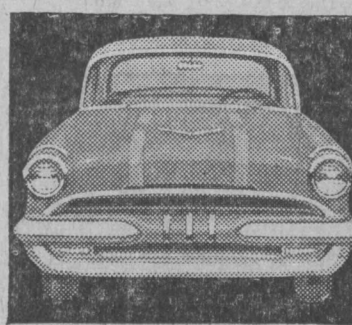

"Here at Mt. St. Mary's the future guardians of our nation are taught the necessity of integrity, the simple grandeur of honest labor, the nobility of character. They live with charity and aspiration and godliness. And these noble virtues—if they are true sons of Mt. St. Mary's—they take with them into the storm and stress of the troubled world, outside the limits of this beautiful campus. They testify by all their nations, to the noble truths, which they have learned here."

The gift was accepted by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. L. Sheridan on behalf of the College Council. Msgr. Sheridan called attention to the fact that it has always been the policy of the College to consider aid to deserving students as its first objective rather than the enlargement of present facilities. He said "this College from its foundation in 1808 has been dedicated to giving a Catholic education to all who ask it. Within the limits of our ability we have always been true to that founding spirit. Over the past few years our student aid program has cost us well over $150,000. Without public aid or significant private endowment, we have been hampered in enlarging our physical plant so that these foothills might teem with new buildings of all sorts.

"It has been our way rather to use what money and what surplus we have to give room and board and tuition to those who could sometimes ill afford it. We have always kept our student costs at the lowest level possible. We have given scholarship help in part or in whole to deserving students throughout our history. We have helped with jobs. We have, in a word, expended our assets on men rather than on mortar.

"For that reason, we are all so delighted with this gift of Thomas and John Pangborn, a gift most remarkable because it comes from two great men who themselves never had the advantages of higher education. Now we will have quarters for 129 more Mountaineers. Without

Air Raid Alert Is Cancelled

Maryland's participation in "Operation Quick Kic," the surprise State-wide air raid alert scheduled to be held sometime on Nov. 8, 9, or 10, has been cancelled, Shirley Ewing, State Civil Defense Director announced early this week.

Reason for the change in plans was that the District of Columbia has announced it will not sound the public warnings or have public participation exercises, Mr. Ewing said.

CORRECTION

It was inadvertently stated in Oct. 22 issue of the Chronicle that the VFW Auxiliary sponsored the card party held in the VFW Home on Oct. 28. Instead, the Legion Auxiliary held the affair. We regret the error.

Bob White Bird Tremendously Popular

Here is a bird beloved by sportsmen, bird watchers, farmers, artists and musicians and probably disliked by no one. It has been coddled, persecuted, neglected, studied, protected by law and by popular opinion, fed, starved, helped and hindered. It has vanished from much of its original range, increased in numbers in some areas, established itself and been introduced in others. It stays by its home territory the year round and survives fire, heat, storm, flood, ice and snow. It needs to be better understood and the National Wildlife Federation in part thru this sort of article hopes to help toward that end.

BOB WHITE
© 1954 National Wildlife Federation

The bob-white quail is about 11 inches long with a wing-spread of about the same amount. It may weigh up to nine ounces but commonly has about a six-ounce weight. It has a short tail, generally mottled brown appearance with light underparts and rather conspicuously contrasting light and dark areas on the head and throat. Where the male is black on the head the female is brown.

The range of four subspecies covers most of the U. S., these subspecies including Florida, the Key West, the Texas and the Eastern. Its enemies are man, foxes, birds of prey and disease but its greatest numbers may be reached in areas where its enemies are abundant if ample cover is available for the needed protection. Under intelligent management and strict following of known rules providing survival, it may maintain itself with suitable harvestable surpluses. Its value as a destroyer of insects and weed seeds, as an inspiring songster and as a friendly neighbor must not be overlooked in any evaluation of its qualities.

A pair of bob-white may remain as mates for over a year even though the cock may find it necessary to win his bride each year. The cock builds the nest on the ground though several birds may use a common nest. The hen lays from seven to 25 eggs just over an inch long and these are incubated by both birds for 23 to 24 days. The average hatch is about 86 per cent of the eggs laid.

If a nest is broken up or the young are killed early, a second brood may be established. Both parents take part in the rearing of the family. Survival in winter is possible largely through the cooperation of the members of a flock, it being rather essential that the size of the coveys do not drop below 10 birds. The family usually remains together thru the first winter with the break-up coming with the spring breeding season. The individual range of a bob-white is usually about one square mile for its lifetime.

Game managers have evolved many ingenious methods of getting information on the abundance of these splendid birds and if their recommendations are usually followed there is an excellent chance that the birds may remain to please all of their many admirers. It is doubtful if there are many forms of wildlife that rank so high in popularity with so many persons of different interests. Long may we hear bob-white over a generous portion of its suitable range.

There must be a levelling off in operational costs immediately, if baseball is to continue to be a prosperous business both for the owners as well as the players. That's the word from one major league club owner, in an exclusive interview with J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of The Sporting News, the national baseball weekly. This club magnate, who for obvious reasons insists on remaining anonymous, says the clubs cannot continue to make concessions financially and still maintain salaries at their present high figures.

Thurmont Lions Observe Charter Anniversary

The Thurmont Lions Club celebrated the 25th anniversary of its Charter last Thursday evening at Peter Pan Inn. The Club was sponsored by the Frederick Lions Club in October, 1929, with 25 charter members who took an active part in the affairs of Thurmont and promoted many charitable and progressive ways to improve the status of the town. Its growth was steady and today there are 50 members who are continuing to follow the high standards of liberty, intelligence and safety, the motto of the Club.

The active charter members are Allen C. Creager, Frederick Tresslet, Raymond E. Creager, Wilbur R. Freeze, Ernest P. Hammaker, and D. Saylor Weybright.

The toastmaster was Charles V. Main, and Dr. Dan J. V. Martin, International Director, Greenville, O., delivered the address. Guests from the various Lions Clubs in District 22W attended.

Walter Dohrmann, William Mahoney, Charles Futterer and Stephen Sohonyay, Ted Alexander, Frank Brignola, and James Mulligan have supporting roles.

are making operation of a big league club more difficult each year, the club owner told Spink that one of the most costly will be the curb on night games.

The informant pointed out that reduction in the number of night games on the 1955 schedule in the two leagues remains to be seen, since the final schedules have not yet been drawn.

But, he continued, this much is certain: There would be additional night contests if the players did not insist on the regulation that there can be no night games on getaway days, and also that there cannot be night games before doubleheaders. If it weren't for that regulation, he said, there would be a lot more Saturday night games.

The night game restriction isn't the only revenue of which the teams are deprived, the club owner told The Sporting News publisher. "The players also have exerted pressure so that we now will not play any spring exhibitions before Mar. 10. That may cost us quite a bit of money some years, because it means the elimination of that first weekend in March when we used to open our schedule."

The informant, summing up, says it's hard for the owners to understand why the players persist in making it difficult for the clubs by constantly cutting off some of their revenue.

Eventually, he repeats, it will force the clubs to try to get by with less players. "And don't think a big league club can't get by with only 21 men," he asserts. "That would break down to nine pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and four outfielders, or probably five infielders and five outfielders. It would mean the end of two-platooning. But that might be a blessing, too."

First state to abolish capital punishment was Michigan in 1847.

Pimlico Presents Two-Year-Old Classic Race

Two-year-olds will strive for the richest prize of the Maryland fall racing season at Pimlico on Saturday, Nov. 6, when the Pimlico Futurity will have its 32nd running. The race will gross more than $65,000 and with a dozen starters, the winner's share will go beyond $54,000.

Racing patrons who attend the fall meeting at Pimlico, Nov. 4 through 20 will find the new clubhouse in use. This structure which goes to the height of a seven-story building is expected to increase Pimlico's overall capacity from 30,00 to 40,000 fans. Escalators and an elevator are available to carry patrons to the upper levels, a new cafeteria is open in the clubhouse section and there are 325 boxes, each seating four.

Does Dollar Diplomacy Pay?

As the signs of an ever growing leftward trend in England and Europe mount, many American thinkers are beginning to re-examine the "dollar diplomacy" which has characterized our foreign policy since before World War II and up to the present time. One of the most searching examinations is contained in a book just published by Henry Regnery Co., Chicago. It is entitled "The Dollar Dilemma." Its author is the internationally known and high respected economist, Dr. Melchior Palyi.

He wrote the book as a supplemental text in college economics courses. But it ought to be read not only by students and professors, but by every citizen interested in his and her country's welfare.

Dr. Palyi, Hungarian-born and educated in Europe, was chief economist of the Deutsche Bank, Berlin, during the administration of President Paul Von Hindenburg. Hitler's ascendancy led to his leaving Germany. Since 1932 he has taught and lectured at leading American universities and colleges, has contributed to numerous professional journals and published a number of important books.

The conclusion of Dr. Palyi's detailed examination and analysis of the economic and sociological plight of England, France and Italy is that the program of American financial aid, and the accompanying fiscal manipulations of our government and theirs, has impeded rather than promoted Europe's self-reliance; that, in other words, Europe's chance for economic and social stability has been weakened rather than strengthened by the billions taken from American taxpayers and given to France, Italy and England.

The real economic trouble in Europe, he says, stems from a reluctance of the Socialist governments of Europe to insist on increased individual work and greater productivity. He says that the British coal industry alone could if properly managed, go a long way toward eliminating the dollar shortage over which the European politicians so loudly cry as they seek additional billions in gifts from the U. S. A.

Work Needed

"By bringing a reasonable number of Italians into Britain," he asserts, "and by 'inducing' the English and Welsh miners to work, say five per cent harder—just by stopping wild strikes, slowdowns and unnecessary absenteeism—her coal output could have been raised sufficiently to cut her dollar shortage to the bone. In due course, the 'rationalization' of Britain's fuel consumption would do the rest. This increase in coal production would go a long way toward solving her balance of payment problems. The Continent, too, would be greatly relieved of dollar worries by being able to rely on an ample supply of British rather than the twice as expensive American fuel."

Actually, Dr. Palyi observes, American gift money has not been going into channels which help promote the genuine economic strength of the European nations. "Overwhelmingly," he notes, "it was given to foreign governments. . . . But the recipient governments were usually bent on building up their nationalized industries, taking over more plants, and on competing with, or at least directing the investments of, private business."

U. S. Responsibility

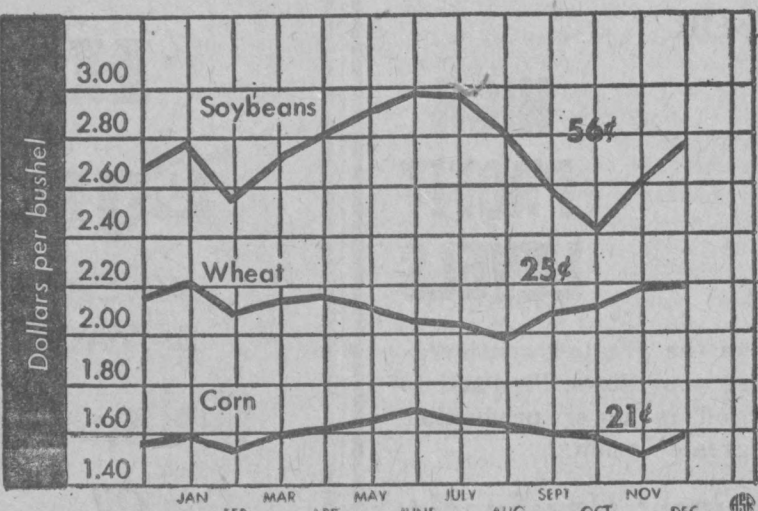

"The compound effect," he says, "was not only to strengthen—with our help!—state and private monopolies which burden the taxpayer with their deficits or the consumer with excessive charges but to reduce the scope and limit the profit chances of free enterprise. As American aid during the war saved the Communist regime in Russia, and enabled it to become a threat to our national security, so American aid after the war made possible Europe's collectivistic and semi-collectivistic experiments. It is a reasonable inference that without American dollars the planners of Europe would have had to curtail their schemes, and Europe would have lifted itself up from the war by the simple and effective process of going to work and conserving its capital."

Dr. Palyi sees as America's international responsibility: "to bring the nations of the Old and New Worlds back to common sense and self-reliance—by letting them work out their own problems. America . . . owes leadership to the world, leadership in the direction of restoring sanity. The one way to accomplish that is to stop all aid to Europe other than in specific cases of emergency."

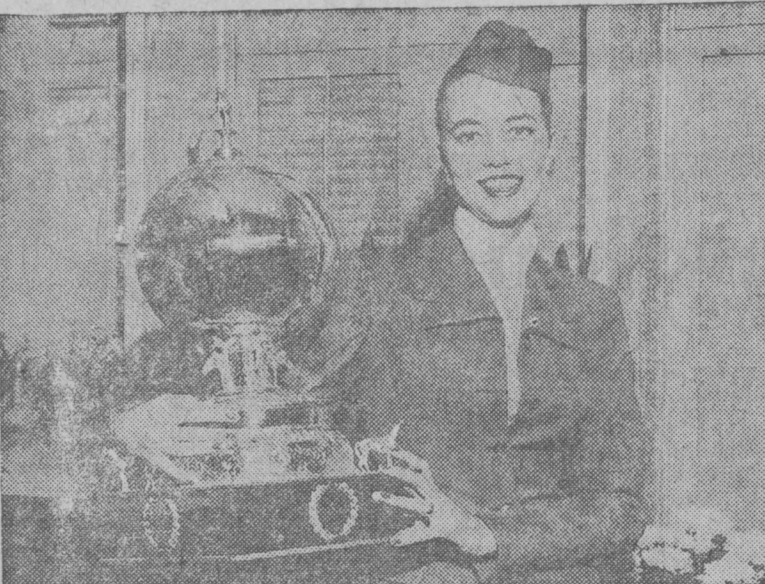

Jack McClellan, John Beegle and Paul Harner, University of Md. students, visited their parents here over the weekend.

Miss Ann Eckenrode and Miss Ann Pfeiffer, Baltimore, visited last week with Miss Eckenrode's father, Prof. Bernard J. Eckenrode, S. Seton Ave. extended.

Selling-Time Key to Farm Profits

Every farmer who sells his crop at harvest-time loses money. Prices are always lowest when the supply is greatest—harvest-time. The chart above shows how prices of grain crops rise in the months following harvest. Grain storage buildings, such as Quonsets, frequently pay for themselves in one year because of this rise in prices. Farmers who stored their soybeans in any of the past five years and sold them at the later year's high price made a profit each year which, on the average, was far more than the cost of their grain storage buildings. Even without a government support program, grain storage buildings are real money makers.

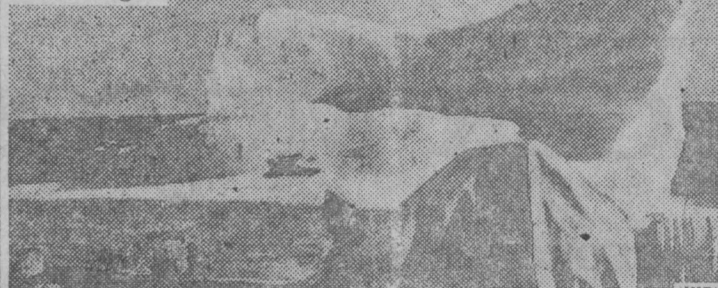

TWO BEAUTIES—Jean Paul, 21-year-old attendant in Laurel's Turf Club, holds the Washington, D. C. International trophy which will be presented to the winner of the $65,000 Turf Classic on November 3. The third running for the International trophy has attracted Queen Elizabeth's Landau for the mile and a half grass race.

Agriculture Census

Maryland farmers will soon be asked to co-operate in the 1954 Census of Agriculture. Co-operation, on the part of individual farmers, means filling out a questionnaire which is being mailed by the U. S. Dept. of Commerce.

Census taking begins in October and November all over the U. S. Nov. 8 is the starting date for Maryland.

The purpose of the census, as explained by Arthur B. Hamilton, agricultural economist in the University of Maryland Extension Service, is "to gather basic information about an industry that provides food, shelter and clothing for the nation."

He urges Maryland farmers to fill out the questionnaires as completely as possible as soon as the mailman delivers them.

"Farmers themselves have something to gain by getting the census over quickly," Mr. Hamilton adds. "The longer the census takes the more it costs, and farmers are helping to pay for it."

He also points out another reason why farmers should give the questionnaire prompt attention: None of the census information is released to the public until the enumeration is finished. And census data is helpful in planning farm operations. Practically all of the figures farmers receive on crop and livestock production is based on census data.

The census obtains information only for totals for a county or state. Law prohibits the Bureau of Census or any of its employees or past employees from releasing information about an individual farm.

An agricultural census is taken every five years. The 1954 census is the first to be taken in the fall months. Formerly, it started in January.

After farmers receive the questionnaire they will be visited by an enumerator who will assist in completing the questionnaire, if assistance is necessary.

Even though milk is not bringing what it used to, many dairymen will tell you they're still making a good living. SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Sportsmen in every state of the Union have been demanding to know what has happened to the $35 million collected since the origin of the Duck Stamp in 1934. So Sports Afield asked Cleveland van Dresser to find out.

He reports that the Fish and Wildlife Service has never spent Duck Stamp funds in any way that was not legal. The Act clearly states that funds collected by the Duck Stamp tax are to be used for acquisition, development and maintenance of waterfowl refuge areas. The Fish and Wildlife Service did just that—but did considerably more development and maintenance than acquisition. Never has the Service spent Duck Stamp money on acquiring and developing any refuge areas other than those directly concerned with waterfowl.

(As a matter of fact, through land transfers and other types of purchases, the Service has obtained a total of 2.1 million acres of land suitable for waterfowl management without spending a single cent of Duck Stamp money).

But the Service is in a difficult situation. Whenever an administration goes economy minded, the first agencies to receive cuts are those dealing with our natural resources. The present administration is certainly no exception.

This year the Bureau of the Budget made cuts in refuge maintenance, law enforcement and wildlife research; Congress made more cuts. The Post Office department got into the act by raising the price of printing Duck Stamps from $32,000 to more than $155,000.

Every time a slash is handed down to the Fish and Wildlife Service, comes the decommutation, "Take it out of Duck Stamp money." These recommendations are endorsed by the Secretary of the Interior, and amount to direct orders.

Sportsmen thought that Duck Stamp money would be used as an extra fund to buy and maintain more refuge areas. But this money had to be used to finance activities that previously had been paid for by Congressional appropriations from the general tax fund.

It is absolutely impossible for the Fish and Wildlife Service to limit Duck Stamp money to refuge programs alone and still do the other things it is supposed to do.

The Fish and Wildlife Service, on Duck Stamp money alone, simply can't follow the directives of the present administration and at the same time pursue a decent waterfowl refuge program. The blame—and the cure—for the situation is in the laps of Congress, the Bureau of the Budget, and the Secretary of the Interior.

meantime the advice of the medical profession is to save your money. Or better, spend it to make sure your family gets a balanced diet containing the protective foods. See that they get enough sleep, rest, and recreation to help ward off infection. At least try to keep them in warm, dry clothes.

There are a few reasonable steps to avoid contagion. Stay as far away as possible from people you know have colds. Never share drinking or eating utensils, towels or toilet articles. Wash the hands well with soap or water before eating or handling food.

If, in spite of all precautions, you do catch cold, play safe and take a day of rest, preferably in bed. If any member of the family seems to have frequent colds, consult the doctor. The trouble may be an allergy or some other condition that can be corrected.

Miss Phyllis Bower, Baltimore, spent the weekend with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower.

NOW IN NOVEMBER

We might as well face it. We may have a few of those crisp, bright days that fool us into thinking winter won't be so bad this year. But it will. Now in November begins the triumphal march of the common cold.

Wherever as many as three people are gathered, there will be at least one sneeze, one sniffle, or one cough. And that one will be multiplied many times. It's all very well to advise people to avoid gatherings in order to avoid colds. Few of us can or want to follow the advice. The children must go to school. The breadwinner must take the crowded bus or streetcar to work. Church, club meetings, parties, movies — the American people aren't going to stay home till spring comes.

Then what can we do to prevent the round robin of colds from making this winter a season of misery. In the first place, no saline, nose drops, gargle, laxative, vitamin pill, or vaccine on the market can be depended on to prevent or cure the common cold. There's hope, but

Our Town Makes Good in New York City

Couldn't place a new subscriber named Clark, but I found out who they were last week when they dropped in The Clarion's office.

"We're native New Yorkers," Mrs. Clark said, "and all our friends there are originally from other places. We always felt left out when they talked about things 'back home.'"

"That's why we 'adopted' your town and to get all the news we subscribed to The Clarion. Now we have a 'back home' to talk about—and we think it's the most wonderful town there is!"

From where I sit, just about everyone thinks his own home town is best. Picking your town comes natural. The right to do this "picking," though, is what really counts. Whether it's a favorite town, a favorite cut of meat, or even a choice of a beverage — say between beer and buttermilk, it's respecting the right to this freedom of choice that makes a good neighbor. I hope you subscribe to that!

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 4 — Twenty-five years ago I made a well-known forecast about an impending big break in the stock market. (Reprint of the article which appeared in the New York Times in 1929, recording my statement, will be sent to anyone free on request.) At the close of the previous day in 1929, the Dow-Jones Industrial Stock Average stood at 380. The market immediately began to weaken and shortly plunged down swiftly, closing at 230—a decline of 150 points in less than eight weeks. Today the Dow-Jones Industrial Average is 358, within six points of the highest figures since 1929. In fact, it has moved up over 100 points since September 1953.

Reactions To Be Expected

I expect another severe reaction sooner or later, of at least 50 to 75 points. Surely, present stock yields are now too low, when 1954 Federal taxes are deducted. Such a break in the market could occur even during a period of good business activity such as I am now forecasting. Stock prices have of late demonstrated that they can move independently of both business and earnings. It is well to recall that, in 1929, there were few outward signs of the stock market crash ahead.

Investors were then anticipating larger dividend returns with a reduction in risk thru diversified Investment Trust holdings and promised mass production and inventions "such as the world had never seen before." The research laboratories of our great industrial concerns were also then depended on to bring these miracles about. In short, a "New Era" was then confidently anticipated. Basically, there was weakness, but it was most apparent in stock market speculation.

Conservative Advice
The current market presents much the same irregular picture as was present in 1929. The so-called blue chips have outdistanced the bulk of the issues on the market, due to concentrated buying, much of it by Institutions, Pension Funds, and Mutual Investment Trusts. There are in addition many new currenents in the market that did not exist in 1929. We have armanent activity and other government buying, heavy spending, support of farm prices, and especially the intense new advertising programs, which I consider very important.

It is clear that the economic picture and the trend in the market can change abruptly and snowball rapidly to an unexpected degree. The real purpose of my column this week is to bring to your attention that the market may soon be in as vulnerable a position as in 1929, especially if the capital gains tax should be repealed, for which the "bears" are striving. Those who were unprepared in 1929 had no chance to take the profits they thought they possessed. Nor did they have purchasing power when the market reached the unbelievable bargain levels of 1932.

General Conditions Now Good

The banks are now sound; employment is now good; profits in most lines are fair; while very few stocks are being "bought on margin"; all must have a margin of at least 50 per cent. Home building is actually booming, and the inflation since 1929 has justified higher prices for both homes and stocks. Again, I commend the importance of today's advertising.

The boom in home building is, however, becoming a possible source of danger. This is a new factor which did not exist 25 years ago. Where the danger signals of 1929 are not now evident, this new danger signal of the "building boom" is surely with us. Furthermore, today's building is mostly on borrowed money. Only the Federal government can prevent a wave of mass foreclosures some day.

Installment Purchases
This brings me to another present danger, namely, installment purchases. These purchases are today not increasing rapidly. They, however, are still very heavy. Curiously, they are now being encouraged by the banks which would have nothing to do with small loans 25 years ago.

Another different condition today relates to labor unions. Every right-thinking person must approve the general usefulness of labor unions in their place. Unions are justified in striking if necessary to eliminate bad working conditions and to get a fair wage. The present system, however, of demanding more money merely because a union has a monopoly of a certain industry is wrong and could ultimately bring on a panic.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has announced the designation, until Dec. 31, 1955, of 10 Maryland counties as an area where the Farmers Home Administration may make emergency loans to eligible farmers whose farms were damaged by the recent hurricane.

The department said that the hurricane which occurred Oct. 15 caused heavy damage and losses to crops, buildings, and other farm property.

The 10 Maryland counties designated are Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles, Prince George's, St. Mary's, Caroline, Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico, and Worcester.

Applications for loans can be filed at the Farmers Home Administration offices serving the designated counties. In applying for assistance a farmer must certify that because of substantial losses from the hurricane, or due to economic factors, he is unable to get from local private or cooperative sources the necessary financing to repair his buildings and continue his normal operations.

The emergency loans will be made at three per cent interest rate. The period of the emergency loan may run for 10 years. For exceptionally heavy losses, the loans may be financed over a period of 20 years.

Ralph Clarence Long, Rocky Ridge, and David Richard Turner, Emmitsburg, were recently inducted into the Armed Forces.

William Howard Taft was the first president of the 48 states.

And speaking of improvements, did you know that today more than 75,000 telephones are in use in the rural areas of Maryland we serve? More farm families than ever before enjoy telephone service, and your telephone company is working hard to make it even more valuable and useful.

Tommy is a big help around the farm. He feeds the pigs and chickens, gives the dog his breakfast and runs errands for Mom. On a farm, co-operation is the key word. Party-line telephone service is good because of it, too. When you share-and-share-alike, and when you hang up carefully after every call, it gives you and others on your line more value—more for your telephone dollar.

WHAT'S YOUR EYE-CUE?

IS your job efficiency slipping? Golf score going up? Then check to see when you had your last eye examination. Maybe it's time for another. And maybe you'll find, like most people do, that one pair of glasses is not enough to meet all your needs for work, recreation, hobbies, and outdoor wear. Ophthalmic scientists from the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. point out that with modern eyewear you can have lenses tailored to meet the visual requirements of each job - near point vision for reading and close work; arms' length vision for most manual tasks; distance vision for driving and most outdoor activities. Good quality sunglass lenses protect your eyes from harsh sun glare, cut haze on dull days or may be softly tinted for light-sensitive eyes. For hazardous jobs or where breakage danger is great, as in your home workshop, there are hardened lenses to guard your eyes. Eyeglass frames, too, can be chosen to suit the occasion and the job. Your eye care specialist can advise you on the types of frames and lenses best for all of your needs.

Legion Holds Regular Meeting

The Francis X. Elder Post, No. 121, American Legion, held its regular meeting Tuesday night in the Post Home with 53 members present. Commander Charles B. Harner presided.

T. Eugene Rodgers, drillmaster of the local Legion drill team, announced that the last parade of the year will be held at Brunswick on Sunday, Nov. 7, at 2 p. m. The annual Armistice Day parade, sponsored by the Brunswick Legion Post, is one of the biggest parades of the year and urges all members to attend.

Thomas C. Harbaugh and Louis F. Rosensteel, co-chairmen of the Legion Emergency Blood Bank, asked for volunteers to give blood for "Chic" Rosensteel, who is a patient at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and for Edward Rosensteel, who is a patient at Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg. Many men responded to their appeal for blood.

New members voted into the Post were Francis Smith, Frederick; Charles McDonald, Buckystown; Francis B. Hart, Mt. St. Mary's, and John E. Murphy, Chester, Pa.

The Post voted a $10 donation to the Emmitsburg Municipal Band for its participation in the American Legion Halloween parade held last Saturday, Oct. 30.

Cmdr. Harner thanked Harold M. Hoke, chairman of the Halloween parade, and his committee, composed of Everett Christner, Allen Bouey, T. Eugene Rodgers, William Topper, Thomas C. Harbaugh, Louis F. Rosensteel, Robert Myers and Clarence Shorb, for their making the parade a wonderful success.

The door prize was won by William L. Topper.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served.

THE MAGIC IN THE BREW Back before medical schools and laboratories and modern pharmacies those who brewed remedies in pots over leaping flames were practicing "magic." Today, the magic is still here. We, as pharmacists, mix and compound—but it's in the open with "wonder" drugs and strict formulas, refrigerated biologicals and no mumbo-jumbo. We keep up-to-date on the newest in drugs so we'll be ready when your doctor prescribes them. Our prescription department is clean, modern and organized to give you prompt, careful service. The magic is your doctor's. We'll be happy to compound the "brew."
