The following is really nothing to laugh about, but then sometimes matters of a serious nature do bring out the sense of humor, after it is determined definitely that no one was hurt over the instance.

Anyway, it seems that a local gent by the name of Hubert Joy, was traveling in a truck in Baltimore last week. The vehicle was being driven by Hube's son, Bob, and Hube was perched in the rear of the vehicle when suddenly a car crashed into the front of the truck. Hube was tossed completely clear of the vehicle, rolled about 30 feet across the street and of all things, came to rest right beside an ambulance and driver. Knocked woozy by the impact, his teeth shattered and his glasses broken, Hubert was taken on a fast ride to the hospital. In fact it was so fast that it took only three minutes from the time his truck was hit until he was safely deposited in the hospital. It just goes to show you what can happen to a fellow or gal in a matter of three minutes. Anyway we are happy to report he wasn't seriously injured and is about his work as usual.

Middletown officials have undertaken the task of extending the corporation limit, but it is understood that they will meet with the same resistance by suburban residents as did Emmitsburg when the same action was proposed about a decade ago.

Officials have baited the rural residents with the promise of trash collection, street lights, police protection, city water and possible sewerage if and when they agree to become citizens of Middletown proper. Thurmont jumped the gun on other towns in the county about five years ago when it vastly expanded the corporation limits. There are arguments to be had both for and against a measure of this type, but I am of the opinion there is more to be gained than lost by a transaction of this type. Say your taxes do take a $50 a year hike; isn't town water and sewerage worth a great deal? Police protection also is invaluable at times and fire hydrants could reduce your insurance almost the amount of your taxes by entitling you to a "protected" rate. Trash collection is a future certainty and streetlights a must. There are other benefits to be had by becoming annexed to a corporation but we won't go into that right now. The question is when is Emmitsburg going to take in the suburbs? Increases in revenue would be forthcoming from the state in racing funds, car tags, street mileage, dealers' licenses and other sources. We might eventually get a new postoffice and carrier postal service by annexation which would swell our town's population considerably, thereby giving us a larger voice in state and county matters.

Another item on curfew. Just read where a Baltimore city councilman will propose the enactment of an ordinance calling for a 10 o'clock curfew on its juveniles in an effort to reduce delinquency. Several other towns and municipalities in the state have adopted such legislation and report that the results justify the action. Sometimes I think such a move here would be prudent.

Well the Mount officially opens its basketball season tomorrow night and a whale of a contest is on the card. St. Francis of Brooklyn, nationally known cagers, will be the foe and it will be a thriller if there ever was one. The game is a "natural" with the Mounties, state champions, defending their title this year engage the National Invitational Tourney contestants. Indications are that the Mount is "loaded" this year and the grapevine has it that Jim Phelan, the new court mentor, is well pleased with workouts to date. The battle is on and if you want to see some really good basketball Saturday night you had better be present at the curtain-raiser in Memorial Gym. See you there?

Mounties Open Court Season Here Saturday

At the pre-season pep rally held Wednesday night in Memorial Gym at Mount St. Mary's College, Coach Jim Phelan, new Mountaineer mentor laid his season's prospects squarely on the table for the Mountaineer student body.

In as blunt a speech as Mount Saint Mary's students have heard in a long time, Coach Phelan pointed out that he felt certain his squad personnel was capable of defending the Mason-Dixon championship. However, Phelan expressed his disappointment over squad spirit and hustle in pre-season scrimmages and practice sessions. He warned the team before the student body "If you play the same way once the season gets under way, you won't win your Mason-Dixon championship and you will let down the student body famed for its loyalty to its teams. If you hustle, rebound as you should, help one another and follow the patterns of practice, you can again take the Mason-Dixon crown. As a matter of fact, it's about time we looked past the Mason-Dixon games to St. Francis of Brooklyn and Loretto, Georgetown and St. Peter's. You are good enough to beat them if you want to."

Saturday night the Mountaineers play St. Francis of Brooklyn, one of the strongest teams in the East and last year a NIT performer. Coach Danny Lynch of the Terriers, has on record that this year's St. Francis team is better than last year's. The Terriers have excellent height, good speed, a tight defense and superlative shooters. Last year they romped over the Mountaineers, 74-54.

Saturday's preliminary pits the Mount freshmen against St. Francis Prep of Spring Grove.

Motor Code Violation Brings Jail Sentence

The Emmitsburg Police Dept. announced this week that fines levied for motor code infractions for the month of November just ended, totaled $292.40. All cases were heard before Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan, Emmitsburg, and charges were preferred by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas.

One violator, Leonard M. Trent, who led police in a wild chase over mountainous terrain recently, was remanded to the county jail, in default of paying fines totaling $338.00. He was sentenced to 185 days of imprisonment.

In addition to those arrested the Police Dept. said that 10 warning notices had been handed out and two automobile accidents investigated.

The following paid fines: James Joseph O'Connor, Pottsville, Pa., exceeding 25 m.p.h., $11.45; Garland Lee Shull, Emmitsburg, improper turning at Square, $11.45; Robert Ellsworth Stine, Hagerstown, failing to obey traffic control signal, $6.45; Leonard M. Trent, Emmitsburg, reckless driving, 25 days in Frederick county jail in default of fine, $25.75, failing or refusing to obey lawful order of police officer, 10 days, $10.75, operating a motor vehicle while license is refused or revoked, 30 days and 60 days in default of $200.75 fine and costs; Helen Pittentirf, Gettysburg, drunk on the streets of Emmitsburg, $25.80. St. Joseph's High Bests St. John's In Court Contest

St. Joseph's quintet outscored the warriors of St. John's of Westminster in a hard fought contest Monday night. St. Joseph gained a strong lead early in the game and held it all evening against the determined efforts of the invaders from Westminster.

St. Joseph's openers were Miller, Joy, Greco, Stoner and Gellwicks as opposed to Hymiller, Sauble, Mathias, Pourerxis and Sinnott. St. Joe's courtmen went on a scoring rampage in the first few minutes of play, and at the quarter had gained the impressive lead of 15 to 7. In the second quarter, by hard driving, accurate shooting and effective guarding, St. Joseph's scored 10 points while holding the losers to three points.

In the third quarter, having secured a safe halftime lead of 25-10, St. Joe's coach, John Pantalone, began to substitute freely. In the third quarter a revitalized St. John's team scored nine points as opposed to 12 points by a St. Joe's quintet, many of whom were playing their first game. Still at the close of the third quarter, the tally stood 37-18 in favor of St. Joe's.

The only serious threat made by St. John's was in the fourth quarter when an inspired St. John's team scored 16 points against 8 by St. Joe's second string, who played magnificently but lacked the experience enjoyed by their opponents. However, the latter was not quite enough as was amply demonstrated by the final score in which St. John's succeeded in narrowing St. Joe's hard-earned lead considerably.

The supporters of both teams gave moral and vocal support to their representatives on the boards. The supporters of the "men in green" (not meaning Notre Dame) especially welcomed the final reckoning of 45-35 in favor of St. Joseph's.

The Rocky Ridge Fire Co. was summoned and stood by for action in case it was necessary.

Local Man Is Killed In Automobile Accident

A man identified as Earl Lee James, 39, of Emmitsburg, died soon after being admitted to Suburban Hospital at Bethesda Saturday night of injuries sustained in an auto wreck on Maryland 28 near Beallsville.

He apparently is not well known in Emmitsburg. His body was taken from a Bethesda funeral home to Charlottesville, Va.

Montgomery County Police said the car involved was registered in the name of Joseph Casl, St. Vincent's House, Emmitsburg, who reported he did not know James but had loaned the car to another Emmitsburg man.

James died of an internal hemorrhage from a crushed chest soon after he was rushed to the hospital in the Upper Montgomery County Fire Dept. ambulance. Dr. Frank J. Broschart, deputy medical examiner, issued the death certificate.

Officers Leonard Cook and Marion Nicewarner of the Montgomery County Police said the car failed to round a curve about 10:30 o'clock last Saturday evening and ran up a dirt embankment before hitting a pole.

The accident occurred about 2.1 miles west of Beallsville on a sharp curve. The 1949 Chevrolet sedan was reported demolished. James was the lone occupant of the car, the officers said.

The body was removed to Predy's Funeral Home in Charlottesville, Va.

Higbee, treasurer; Miss Louise Sebald, director; Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan, assistant treasurer and Mrs. R. M. Zacharias publicity chairman.

Higbee, Mrs. Ward Kerrigan, Mrs. Carlos Englar, Miss Louise Sebald gave a director's report on a recent trip to a Washington meeting of the national group. Over 2000 members attended the meeting and Mrs. Homer Remsburg of this county, was elected president of the group. Volunteer hostesses at the Christmas party and open house which was held this week, were Mrs. Robert Marshall, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. George Eyster, Mrs. Robert Fietz, Mrs. C. A. Harner and Mrs. Robert Daugherty. The next afternoon of games will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard M. Zacharias on Dec. 9.

Condemnation Proceedings Instituted

Condemnation proceedings have been entered in Circuit Court by the State Roads Commission for land which the commission says is needed for improvement to U. S. Route 15, Thurmont toward Emmitsburg.

Named as defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Jephtha E. Harwood, Thurmont; Mr. and Mrs. Elvin S. Long, Thurmont, mortgagees, and Prudential Insurance Co. of America, Philadelphia, mortgagee.

The suit seeks to condemn 7.24 acres in Thurmont District in fee simple and .52 of an acre in slope and drainage easements. The commission has deposited with the Clerk of the Court a check for $2600, which it deems the fair value of the land taken and damage done.

A court order was signed giving the defendants 15 days to file answers.

Two Diphtheria Cases Are Reported Here

Diphtheria, almost unheard of in the past two decades, made its entrance into this community this week when the Frederick County Health Dept. disclosed that two local teen-age girls had contracted the disease.

The cases were being treated by Dr. Charles R. Williams until his departure on a hunting trip. Dr. James H. Allison, Gettysburg, investigated cultures taken from the girls and turned them over to Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, who is currently treating the cases.

Dr. Forbes Burgess, head of the County Health Dept., has visited the sick a number of times and has definitely diagnosed the infection as diphtheria. He ordered the whole family inoculated against the disease.

Stricken are the two teen-age daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Ridenour whose home home is located west of town on the Crystal Fount Road, near Mt. St. Mary's.

The Health Dept. urged parents to have all pre-school aged children given their "shots," stating that great strides had been made against the disease in the past 25 years by inoculations. Dr. Burgess related that these strides against diphtheria were so great that only 10 cases had been recorded in Frederick County in the past five years, five of them occurring in 1950 and five in the past four years.

Anti-toxin serum was rushed here from Frederick by State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown, of Thurmont. Present indications are that good progress is being made in the treatment of the local cases and that there really is nothing for the public to become alarmed over. Health officials have indicated that almost complete eradication of diphtheria can be accomplished by inoculation against the disease and urge all parents to have their children get these inoculations early in life. No other cases have been reported.

Grange Makes Donations

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange, No. 407, was held Wednesday evening with fair attendance. Worthy Master Edgar G. Emrich presided.

The members voted to send $5 to CARE and to contribute the same amount to the Children's Aid Society of Frederick County, Inc. Master Emrich reported on the fifth degree which was held in New Market recently.

A discussion was held on holding a food sale and Mrs. George Gartrell will report at the next meeting on the available time for the sale and will help with the program. It was decided to contact the Carroll Manor unit and ask them to exchange gifts with the local unit on Friendship Night, which will be held on our next regular meeting night, Dec. 15.

The installation of officers will be held on January 5, the first regular meeting of the new year. The meeting closed with a discussion on the amendments to the Social Security law and their effect on farmers. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

To Improve Local Roads

Sections of roads were marked for improvement in the Emmitsburg area this week by the County Roads Board.

Thurmont: Kelly's Store Road, 1.35 miles; Eyer's Valley beginning at Flint, 1 mile; Franklinville to Kelbaugh, .7 of a mile.

Pimlico Adds

New Stake Race

A stakes event named The Native Dancer will be added to the Pimlico schedule in 1955, it was announced this week by Lou Pondfield, executive director of the Maryland Jockey Club. Exact nature of the race and its value will be determined at a meeting of the club's directors in the near future. Mr. Pondfield, in making the announcement, said he felt that Pimlico was the proper place to honor the greatest horse owned by a Marylander, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. Native Dancer now stands at stud at Sagamore Farm in Worthington Valley. Mr. Pondfield also added that it is planned to have a unique trophy each year for the winner.

Native Dancer was retired in mid-season of 1954 because of a leg injury. The four-year-old son of Polynesian-Geisha, who was bred by Vanderbilt, won 21 of his 22 starts and was second in the other. He earned close to $800,000 in two and one-half years of campaigning. Native Dancer was undefeated at two, winning seven stakes and at three, won nine stakes including the Preakness. Sigma Phi Epsilon's three-man team—John Beegle, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle, Emmitsburg, Bill Epsy and Len Cleveland, of the University of Maryland—carried home the prize trophy in the Inter-Fraternity Cross

Theta Chi and Kappa Alpha tied for second place while Phi Kappa Sigma and Delta Sigma Phi finished fourth and fifth respectively.

Beegle won the one and one-half mile race in 5:57.

All About BABY

Until a child is about two years old, washing the scalp should be a part of the daily bath routine. Daily lathering, followed by thorough rinsing, is the best way to keep the scalp free of scale, or "cradle cap." If the scale does form, rub baby oil into the scalp at night and wash the head as usual the next morning.

Between the ages of two and three, washing the head every few days should be sufficient to assure scalp health and cleanliness. After the child is three years old, shampooing can go on a once-a-week schedule which should set the general pattern for all the years ahead, with allowance for more or less frequent washing if the hair is especially oily or dry.

Babies, and older children, too, quite naturally object to getting soap in their eyes. As a child progresses beyond the toddler stage his protests may reach a point where shampoo-time tears and temper become a real problem in the home. Trouble on this score can best be averted by using a new baby shampoo that has been specially formulated so that it will not burn or irritate the eyes.

The child's hair is left clean, soft, glossy and manageable. When this is accomplished without a tantrum it becomes much easier to persuade the child to adhere to a schedule of daily, thorough brushing that, along with weekly shampooing, is required to keep hair in good condition. In other words, good hair care habits are more easily formed when the child no longer has any reason to associate hair care with discomfort.

Daily brushing is an aid to cleanliness, for it removes a good part of the scales and dust that accumulate between weekly shampoos. Brushing also stimulates circulation of the blood that supplies materials the hair must draw upon for health and growth, and that give well-cared-for hair its soft and lustrous look.

Every mother should make sure her child understands why proper care of the hair is important. The youngster who becomes accustomed early in life to thorough daily brushing and a weekly shampoo grows into the teen-ager and then the adult whose healthy, well-groomed hair is a source of enduring satisfaction and pride.

BABSON*Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Dec. 2—Part of our Fiftieth Anniversary, celebrated recently in Wellesley, Mass., was spent looking ahead 50 years to the year 2004. Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, a disciple of Steinmetz and long-time engineer-researcher for General Electric and the Radio Corp. of America, made some startling statements. If he and the other speakers did not hold such very important positions today, we would take these statements "with a grain of salt," under the circumstances they deserve attention. Here's what we predict for 50 years from now.

On Our Tremendous Material Progress

Our offspring will look back on the 1954 era as one of primitive existence. Automation will have taken over completely, not only in the factory, but also in the home and on the farm. For example, Dr. Alexanderson predicts that the business executive will live in the country and commute to work by helicopter over a special-frequency airline channel which will pilot his plane automatically and safely to its destination. The busy business executive won't have to go to the office so often, for he will have private TV circuits between his home and his office and can go into conference or look in on any part of his factory by means of numerous television eyes. He will be able to go to his summer place in the mountains and, again by means of private TV circuits, see and talk with his children back home. By the same means, he can look in on his cattle or into his chicken house. A button pushed at his mountain house will carry an impulse via short wave to the chicken house back on the farm, and the chickens will be fed and the eggs collected, sized, and boxed, automatically.

Machines will be powered by atomic capsules, and by 2004 we will consume as much in one year as we did in all the years from 1 A. D. to 1954! Homes and working establishments will all be air-conditioned. Electronic oven will cook our food in seconds. Foods will be wrapped and sealed in inexpensive plastics and will keep crisp, fresh, and deliciously palatable indefinitely. People will be healthier and happier. They will live to be a 100 with no debilitating effects. This age will be known as the atomic age—an era of unprecedented technological advancement and material prosperity.

On Government and Business
Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States, predicts that one-half of our elective and appointive officials will be women in 2004—half of the House of Representatives, and a third of the Senate. The Secretary of State will be a woman. Through the efforts of women the world over, there will be an effective outlawing of war.

In predicting business trends of the future, considerably more emphasis will be given to sampling, market analysis, and discovering what people think and why they think that way. This kind of analysis will enable us to predict human behavior and business trends far more accurately than is now possible.

On Education and Man
Both Miss Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, and Dr. Alexanderson are concerned about the kind of civilization our technological advances will leave us with in 2004. Both fear that science, if pursued on a straight materialistic plane, will lead man into some real trouble. There is a serious fear in the minds of many educators lest education today is too concerned with teaching facts rather than developing thinking men and women of character and stature who know why as well as how.

A good climate for business and a soundly administered government do not just happen. They are the products of able leadership. And leadership, good or bad, is more closely tied to our religious and educational system than we may like to admit. Good leadership depends on excellence of instruction in church, school, and college. In the last analysis, what we do with our technological advances—whether we shall have peace or war, progress or decline in the art of living in 2004—may well depend on the kind of churches,

Thurmont PTA Bazaar Today And Saturday

The P-TA Assn. of Thurmont will sponsor its annual bazaar-supper on Dec. 3 and 4. This evening a tempting menu will feature a choice between turkey and oysters, while Saturday's menu will offer turkey or ham.

The supper, which will get under way on both evenings at 4:30 o'clock in the high school cafeteria, will also include dressing and gravy, Waldorf salad, pepper relish, cranberry sauce, beets, pickles, carrots and celery, coffee, white and chocolate milk, pie, cake and fresh fruit cups. Since the vegetables—mashed potatoes, lima beans, corn, and sauerkraut—will be placed on the tables, it is a sure bet that everyone will be able to find all he wants to eat.

Meanwhile, in the auditorium, many attractively decorated stalls will offer a wide variety of wares and entertainments, destined to give those who attend an evening of fun and an opportunity to do some early Christmas shopping as well as some occasional buying.

There will be a record booth, a book mart, a fancy work table, a cake and candy counter, Christmas booth, a miscellaneous stall, and especially for the ladies, a glamour counter.

A photographer, with his "candid" camera, will take amusing shots of those who desire to be photographed in a gay mood. A fish bowl, a dart throw, and an archery stall will provide tests of skill, and to test one's luck, there will be door prizes and a grab bag.

This varied array of entertainment and booths coupled with a delicious dinner, it is hoped, will bring to the Thurmont High School on Dec. 3 and 4 a good many people who wish to combine the pleasures of a good meal, an evening of fun, and the chance to help a very worthy cause.

Proper Clothing Fit Is ImportantProper Fit Important In Ready-Made Clothing

When you make your clothes, you go through a process of fitting as you make them. You check the pattern with your measurement, and make adjustments to insure a proper fit before the fabric is cut.

But when you buy a dress, suit or coat, you don't have this opportunity for altering and fitting as it is made.

Here are some points on fitting which you'll want to consider when selecting ready-made clothes. They come from Lavonia Hilbert, clothing specialist for the University of Maryland Extension Service.

First, the collar or neck edge should fit closely at the base of the neck but shouldn't be tight. Neither should the collar ride up or stand away from the body.

Check the shoulder seam, which should be right along the shoulder line—unless the garment has a yoke or unusual design feature. Shoulder pads are used for a smooth shoulder line and to suit the fashion of the season.

When you look at the stamp on the sleeve or armseye—if it is a set-in sleeve, see that the seam follows exactly where the shoulder and arm come together. If the shoulder line extends over the end of your shoulder, make certain that the alterations needed will not affect the correct train lines of the garment.

Take a look at the sleeves of your garment. Can you move about easily in them? You should be able to stretch, bend your arms or move around without feeling that the sleeves are too tight.

Something else to consider is that darts or fullness for the elbow should come at the elbow rather than above or below it. Moving your arms in different positions will tell you if the garment is comfortable at this point.

Your waistline and that of the dress should coincide. And if the skirt fits smoothly, you're all set with a dress that fits as if you made it yourself.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Heiser, of Newville, Pa., visited Sunday with Mrs. Richard M. Zacharias and Mr. and Mrs. George S. Eyster.

Mrs. R. M. Zacharias had as dinner guests, Thanksgiving Day, Mr. and Mrs. George Eyster, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eyster and children, George, Susie and Nancy and Mrs. Esta Miller.

The Eisenhower Way

WASHINGTON, D. C.—For nearly two years the men who constitute the financial brains of the Eisenhower administration have been wrestling with vital problems affecting the present and future and economic welfare of our 165 million American citizens. The experience has strengthened in their minds the conviction that the greatest measure of economic well-being for all the people will be achieved through the wholesome, normal growth of America's production facilities within the framework of the private enterprise system. This is the essence of the report given to me in person by Marion B. Folsom, Undersecretary of the U. S. Treasury and one of the key members of the President's cabinet-rank financial "team."

The U. S. Government's important function in shaping the nation's economic welfare is, in the view of Undersecretary Folsom, two-fold: (1) the creation of a stimulating "climate" in which industry and business will make new investments creating more and better jobs and new wealth (and, incidentally, a broader tax base); and (2) the establishment of governmental policies, including tax reforms, which will make it possible for the Dick, Tom and Harry consumers of the nation to provide a spending impetus challenging to the competitive spirit and ingenuity of American producers.

How It Works

As he sketched in the details of this fundamental economic philosophy of the Eisenhower team, and noted how it has worked in the first two years, we sat in the old Treasury building across from the White House. Ornately framed portraits of William Crawford of Georgia, Secretary of Treasury in 1816, and Ogden Mills of New York, Secretary, in 1932, looked down soberly on Mr. Folsom's broad walnut desk.

How has it worked? "In the third quarter of this year (July, August, September)," Mr. Folsom said, "the nation experienced the largest personal expenditures in history. More people spent more money than ever before, and living costs leveled off. Both of these factors benefited the people; they had more money to spend, and the dollar, plagued so long with inflation, was becoming stabilized in its worth."

Improving Welfare

Added to this improving picture was the whopping $356 billion national product, the continuing expansion of production facilities in industry and business, steadily increasing wage rates, and (believe it or not) a decrease in the expenses of government—permitting the first tax cut in years. It seemed to me, as I told Mr. Folsom, that all this was on the good side of the ledger. But how about the national debt? I, for one, had been disturbed by the Administration's failure to balance the budget.

Here's the way Mr. Folsom explained this failure: The No. 1 problem was to avert a depression as the nation cut down its huge expenditures and switched from a predominantly war economy to a peacetime economy. There were predictions of a depression by expert economists, and in fact the first symptoms of recession actually appeared. With the large cuts in spending, it was both feasible and prudent to proceed with tax cuts. These tax reductions increased the capacity of individuals to spend, save or invest and enabled business enterprises to increase their expenditures on modern plants and equipment and develop new and better products.

Balanced Budget Promised

"We couldn't reduce taxes and at the same time eliminate a $9.4 billion deficit (in the last Truman year)," Mr. Folsom said. "A very rapid drop in expenditures without tax reduction would have caused too great a dislocation in the economy which was artificially supported by very heavy Government spending. We cut Government expenses and began to trim down the budget deficit; then we put more dollars in the hands of the public by cutting taxes. Inflation began to taper off, the dislocations of production and employment were cushioned, and we're beginning now to see a stable and healthy economic situation."

"Tax reductions this year totalled $7.4 billion, the greatest dollar reduction in any one year in this country's history. At the same time the size of the deficit has been greatly reduced. With the nation's economy healthy, and standing more and more on its own feet we certainly are sticking to our goal of a balanced budget, and are continuing to work for it. We look forward to a growing national income, which will improve the general welfare for everyone, the Government included."

Congressman Hyde To Visit Islands

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, who is chairman of a special subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, is leaving today for Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Jamaica to conduct hearings on the administration of the Immigration and Nationality Act as it affects residents of that area. Many problems have arisen with respect to migratory movements between the English-owned islands and the American-owned islands.

The Committee is also delegated to check into the administration of a new provision in the Immigration Law which has caused visa difficulties in the migration of natives of those colonies to the U. S.

Blind Artist Paints From Memory

Salvatore Massimino, 48-year old blind superintendent of an apartment house located at 410 East 74th St., in Manhattan, shows one of his colorful landscapes to Dennis James, emcee of "On Your Account." The above scene took place during the blind painter's appearance on the CBS-TV "Interest" program. Stricken with blindness twenty years ago, Mr. Massimino underwent treatments that restored one eye to 20/400 vision. This impairment, which permits the self-taught artist to discern only fuzzy and colorless forms, constitutes blindness in the legal sense. Nevertheless, Mr. Massimino blends his pigments from memory to achieve amazing detail and striking color effects in his large, expressive canvases. He began to paint after his slight degree of vision returned "in order to keep a grip on reality," he told Dennis James.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has announced the proclamation of a marketing quota of 39 million pounds for Maryland tobacco produced in 1955. The proclamation was made in conformity with the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, which requires the proclamation of a quota for any kind of tobacco for which a quota was proclaimed for the immediately preceding marketing year.

More information on the quotas was released by George J. Martin, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. He said that on Dec. 17 a referendum in which growers may vote 'yes' or 'no' on quotas will be held. "Maryland tobacco growers will decide at that time whether marketing quotas will be in effect for their 1955 crop. Marketing quotas will be in effect only if they are approved by two-thirds or more of the growers voting in the referendum. Under existing law, price supports are not available on any crop of tobacco for which growers disapprove marketing quotas."

The announced quota of 39 million pounds will result in acreage allotments of approximately 47,000 acres for the 1955 crop. By comparison, the 1954 crop quota, which was disapproved by the growers voting in a referendum on Oct. 29, 1953, was 40.7 million pounds and the acreage allotted under that quota amounted to 51,700 acres. In that referendum, 3514 of the 5171 growers voting (64.1 per cent) favored quotas on the crop produced in 1954.

As in the past, a small reserve will be held from the 47,000 acres for allotments to eligible new tobacco farms and for adjustments of old farm allotments that are lower than allotments for similar farms on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for production of tobacco. A relatively small acreage, in addition to the 47,000 acres to be allotted under the quotas, will be used to increase small allotments as required by the Act.

A 1955 crop quota of 39 million pounds is in line with recommendations to the department by grower representatives and other segments of the Maryland tobacco industry.

A notice of the individual farm acreage allotment will be mailed to the operator on each farm on which Maryland tobacco was grown during one or more of the past five years, according to Chairman Martin. These notices will be mailed by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committees in advance of the referendum in order that farmers may know how the quota announced today will affect their individual farming operations for 1955 in the event the quota is approved in the referendum.

In addition to regular review procedure on farmer requests for adjustment of allotments, the ASC county and community com-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

One curious aspect of Washington life is abundance of political pundits and prophets who almost as soon as the polls close rush to explain the results.

Immediately after recent election, there was usual rush of conflicting predictions on results. Some said it was due to anti-McCarthy, some pro-McCarthy, some said it was Charles Wilson remarks, some said it was mid-term tradition, some said it was public power vs. private power, some said labor, some said farmers. If someone had interpreted results on grounds public resents Private Schine has not been promoted to general yet it would have made as much sense.

But cold unheated fact finding reveals real reason for results.

Truth appears to be campaigns lacked positiveness with material based on side shows. As carnival men know, side shows soon wear out their interest.

For example, much was made of U. S. help in settling Trieste dispute. Average citizen was never concerned over Trieste. In fact, wonder is expressed why all the fuss over city of 296,000 population. In the U. S. there are more than 35 cities of comparable size and Trieste's population probably does not equal U. S. population in coal mining areas in distress because of imports of cheap foreign fuel oil. Others wonder, as U. S. did with Louisiana Territory or Alaska, why over the many years Italy or Yugoslavia did not buy the other out. Many feel both nations have been given enough U. S. cash through foreign aid to swing a deal.

But with all the talk about Trieste, nothing was said about one of the greatest accomplishments of past two years, the creation of the Small Business Administration now making great strides in breathing new life into battered hulk of American independent enterprise.

Great campaign stress was also made that administration has not hired any communists. The people are still concerned about communists, but in 1952 when they felt that there was laxness toward communists, they hired new bunch of boys to handle situation. Naturally, they expect that job to continue. But communities don't organize Main Street parades every time police jail a criminal. They rather expect police to do the obvious.

Yet no mention was made of fact Stanley Barnes, head of anti trust division of Justice Department has shown in recent steel merger situation, other instances, full understanding of anti-trust laws, intentions to enforce them.

Concentration on sideshows, failure to accent the positive, created many voter doubts, even fears, post-election study shows.

There was feeling that with reluctance to campaign on Small Business Administration benefits, plans are in wind to bow to demands of big financial interests to abolish SBA. Reluctance to talk about Stan. y Barnes was taken as sign that perhaps as was done in previous administration when able H. Graham Morrison was "resigned," similar plans are afoot. After all, a football team is not judged by the fumbles it didn't make, rather by yardage gained, points scored.

GM Celebrates Greatest Production Record

Symbolic of General Motors' 50,000,000th car produced in the United States since 1908 is this 1955 Chevrolet Bel Air sport coupe. T. H. Keating, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division (left) is shown handing the key to the car to Harold H. Curtice, president of General Motors. Behind Mr. Curtice is the design of GM's official 50,000,000th car medallion, emblematic of the greatest production record in transportation history. Painted and plated with gold, the car came off the Chevrolet assembly line at Flint, Michigan, on November 23. At that time GM celebrated with an "open house to America" in all of its 125 plants and training centers across the country.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Not many stretches of our Atlantic coastline are still much the way they were when first sighted by white men—wild and primitive, the home of fighting game fish and migratory waterfowl. One of the few such "ageless" sections is the region off North Carolina known as the Outer Banks. This area has now been set aside and preserved for all time as our nation's first national seashore.

We have many national parks, but the Cape Hatteras National Seashore is the first effort to keep intact and unspoiled a bit of coast to remind Americans what the New World used to look like. The area runs along the coast for about 70 miles and will contain 28,500 acres.

Nags Head... Wabone... Oregon Inlet... the sands of Hatteras... Ocracoke—these are hallowed names to surf casters and big-game anglers. To the hunting fraternity they mean ducks and geese that follow the Atlantic flyway.

News that the region is being turned into a national seashore may come as a shock to them—all this will be lost to them forever! But that's not true. In fact, claims Bill Wolf in an article in Sports Afield magazine, turning the Hatteras country into a national seashore occurred just in time to keep this sportsman's paradise more or less as it was.

In the last 15 years some distressing changes have taken place there—the extension of "civilization." But now, modern developments will be restricted to specific areas around the few existing towns in the 70-mile stretch. The rest of the area will be kept as it is, except for a few bathing beaches and campsites that the National Park Service will provide and maintain. Fishing and hunting will continue almost unchanged.

You can reach the new national seashore by highway, by air (there is a good landing strip near Manteo on Roanoke Island), by the Inland Waterway, or by ferry to Ocracoke. The National Park Service is constructing, or will construct, parking areas to give access to the beach from the paved highway. Camping sites, hiking trails, and swimming beaches eventually will be included, and boating and sailing will be encouraged. All the rest will be preserved as a wilderness area.

Poultry Products

Expected To Remain Costly

The cost Maryland poultrymen will have to pay in 1955 to produce eggs, turkeys and broilers are expected to be about equal to 1954 costs, according to a recent outlook report by Dr. Harold Smith of the University of Maryland department of agricultural economics.

"If costs remain the same," Dr. Smith adds, "then changes in the poultrymen's net profit in 1955 as compared to 1954 will be principally determined by changes in prices he receives for his products."

The poultry marketing specialist notes that 1954 was a very unfavorable year for Maryland poultrymen, as well as for poultrymen across the country. Prices received have been low, mostly because production has been exceptionally high.

"No one can say definitely what adjustments poultrymen will make in production next year," Dr. Smith says. "However, we expect them to react in the same way they have in the past under similar circumstances."

So far as eggs are concerned, prices are likely to continue unsatisfactory to producers until late spring of 1955. The large number of layers now on farms means production will be high—and prices low—at least until that time. A natural reaction to this long period of low egg prices would be for egg producers to purchase fewer chicks in the spring. This would result in fewer layers going into production next fall, and a probable increase in egg prices during the fall and winter of 1955.

Turkey production has also been high in 1954 and prices low. These low prices will probably result in a smaller crop of turkeys in 1955 and somewhat higher prices. Whether or not growers react in this manner will not be known until late spring of 1955, when poulters are purchased.

Broilers in 1954 have followed the same pattern of high production and low prices. "There is some feeling, however, that broiler production will stabilize," Dr. Smith says. "Broiler placements are dropping a little bit this month, which means January and February supplies may be somewhat lower and prices may strengthen a little."

He adds that if 1955 broiler output continues to increase, prices will inevitably remain low. Broiler meat will undoubtedly be faced with stiff competition from lower priced red meats and other farm chickens.

Social Security Questions Answered

BY WILBUR S. KING

This week I want to use this space to answer some of the most-asked questions about the provisions of the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Q. Can a wife or a widow draw benefits when she is 60 years of age?

A. Only if she has in her care children under 18 years of age. Otherwise, she cannot receive benefits until she is 65.

Q. If I am now receiving benefits, how much may I earn without my payments being stopped?

A. For the rest of 1954, benefits cannot be paid if you earn over $75 in wages in a month or if you average over $75 a month from self-employment. Also, for the rest of this year, benefits can be paid regardless of how much you earn if you are 75 years of age or older. Beginning with 1955, the amount you are allowed to earn without loss of benefits is $1200 a year provided you are under 72 years of age. If you are 72 or older, benefits are paid regardless of how much you earn.

Q. My pay has averaged $250 a month for the past four years.

I am 67 and my wife is 65. If I retire now, how much could we receive from social security?

A. Your monthly benefit would be $88.50. Your wife would be paid $44.30. The two of you would get $132.80 monthly.

Q. I am 58 years of age and disabled. Am I entitled to my social security?

A. No benefits can be paid until you are 65. Early in 1955 you may apply for a disability determination. If disability can be established you may have your social security account "frozen" during your disability, which would prevent a reduction in your benefit amount as well as preserve your insured standing.

Q. I am now receiving benefits but am employed in a job not covered by social security. Will I still be entitled to my benefits in 1955?

A. Not if you earn over $1200 in the year. For each $80 or fraction of $80 your earnings exceed the $1200 amount, you lose one month's benefit. If your earnings amount to over $2080 no benefit is payable.

Q. I hire a woman one day a week to work in my home. Her pay is $6 for the day. Must I report her pay for social security purposes?

A. No, not at the present time. If she were working on two different days in a week for as long as a three-month period, the answer would be "yes." Beginning with January 1955, however, you must report her wages and pay social security taxes for each three-month period you pay her cash wages of $50 or more.

Q. I have a farm hand helping me now and then. I do not have enough work to keep him regularly employed. How can I determine whether his work comes under social security?

A. Regular farm workers have been under social security since 1954. Beginning with January 1955 your farm hand is under social security when you pay him cash wages totaling $100 or more in the year. Wages of $100 or more paid at anytime during the year by the same farmer to the same farm hand puts the work under social security.

Safe-Driving Day December 15

At the request of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has appointed Paul E. Burke, as director for the State of Maryland's "S-D" (Safe-Driving) Day, to be held on Wednesday, Dec. 15.

At a special meeting of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, held in Baltimore on Oct. 27, officials of Maryland schools completed plans to have the safety patrol boys and girls distribute safe driving and walking pledges to the 450,000 Maryland school children to take home for their families to sign.

The Maryland Traffic Safety Commission has voted to extend this campaign from Dec. 15 until Jan. 1, hoping to reduce the terrible death and injury, toll which occurred during this joyous holiday season last year when 716 Marylanders were seriously injured and 27 were killed from automobile collisions during the 16-day shopping and holiday season.

Physicist to Lecture

Going—Going—
But Not Gone!

Saturday they got set to auction off "Sis" Brown's house for non-payment of taxes. Buck Stone was the auctioneer. Everybody who came to the auction knew that "Sis" is a war widow.

When Buck began the bidding he said, "Anybody can bid. Just remember 'Sis' and three nice kids live here. Now who's going to start the bidding?"

There was silence. "Sis," standing in back, got the point. She reached into her purse for just about all the money she had in the world. "I'll bid $75," she said.

"Sold," bellowed Buck and "Sis" had her home back.

From where I sit, Buck Stone used a helping hand instead of a gavel. It was real neighborliness. You know, even in something as small as respecting another's choice of beverage, a person can be neighborly. You might like buttermilk. I'm "sold" on a temperate glass of beer. And I can't "buy" anyone's telling me I'm wrong.

Harness Racing

Gaining In Popularity

The prosperity of the harness racing sport in this area was under-scored at the recent Harrisburg Standardbred Horse Sales when buyers or agents from Maryland, the District of Columbia and Delaware had the final bids on approximately 96 horses totaling more than $142,000.

The Harrisburg auctions reached a record high of $1.7 million for a total of 916 horses, indicating that the standardbred sport also continues to boom on the national level.

A major highlight of the sales found Maryland in the spotlight, as 121 horses belonging to the estate of the late William E. Miller, Oxon Hill, went for prices totaling $205,325.

Maryland buyers or agents accounted for 33 horses totaling more than $560,000 including the sensational $30,000 purchase of Hilltop from the Miller estate by Mrs. Alice Miller, widow of the late horseman.

Trainer-driver Joe Eyer, Thurmont, annually one of the most popular campaigners on the Maryland circuit, purchased the bay colt Dynamite Eden for $4,100.

Delawarians accounted for 62 purchases at some $82,000. Johnny Amato of Harrington made the final bid of $10,000 for the 2-year-old colt Titan.

Seal Sale

Needs Stronger Public Support

Strong public support of the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale has been urged by Gov Theodore R. McKeldin.

This appeal was made by the Governor as he proclaimed Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 4 and 5, "Christmas Seal Sabbath," a special observance held during the annual campaign being conducted by the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. and its affiliated county tuberculosis associations to raise funds for tuberculosis control work in Maryland.

In his proclamation, Gov. McKeldin pointed out that tuberculosis is a public health problem, which took the lives of more than 400 state citizens in 1953, and in the same year, attacked over 2100 new victims.

Although deaths from TB have declined sharply in recent years, the annual number of new cases of this disease has remained fairly constant, indicating that the prevention of new cases has not kept pace with the prevention of deaths.

Gov. McKeldin pointed out that the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn., celebrating its 50th anniversary, has helped materially to reduce the number of deaths from tuberculosis during its half century of service through its program of tuberculosis detection, medical research, education, and special services to patients.

The clergy of all churches and synagogues of the state are being asked to stress on the Christmas Seal Sabbath, the importance of the tuberculosis control activities financed by Christmas Seals.

HEALTH DEPT. WANTS TO EXPAND FACILITIES

Provisions for a new clerk-typist and sanitarian for the County Health Dept. have been made in the budgets recommended by the health department to Frederick City and County for the year beginning Jan. 1.

The proposed budget as submitted by Dr. Forbes H. Burgess, county health officer, to the county commissioners totals $31,928.75 over the present county appropriation for the year ending Dec. 31.

Dr. Burgess, in a letter to the county commissioners explaining his need for a new sanitarian and clerk, said that there has been "a tremendous increase in demands of the sanitarians."

Home construction in the county has increased, and the sanitarians are being called on more and more to assist with planning for water system and sewage disposal systems, Dr. Burgess stated.

In addition, the health officer said that recent enforcement of regulations governing dairy farms shipping milk to Washington has placed more demands upon the sanitarians. These regulations pertain to water supplies on dairy farms, which must now meet Federal government standards before milk can be shipped into the Washington market.

Dr. Burgess said the sanitarians in the past few months have been overburdened in helping

Seeks Gifts For Wounded Vets

"Mother" Clarke, Thurmont, who has aided wounded war veterans for the past decade by sending them gifts and visiting farmers to make needed corrections so they can resume shipment of milk. "It has been extremely difficult to promptly meet all requests for assistance from milk shippers," the health officer said adding that restaurant sanitation work has been neglected by the sanitarians because of these demands.

The health officer said that the various programs of the health department have received much assistance from volunteer health groups, veterans organizations and service clubs.

During the past four years about $4000 worth of equipment and supplies have been donated to the health department. In addition, volunteer workers have assisted in screening and transporting persons at clinics and have given money for supplies.

them while they are hospitalized, announced this week that she again is interested in obtaining gifts for the wounded and hospitalized veterans, and hopes to boost their morale by presenting these gifts to them at Christmas time.

We've heard of some zany traffic laws—but here's one that ought to raise a lather. In Tylertown, Miss., it's illegal to shave in the center of Main Street. That might prevent close scrapes with pedestrians any way.

Almost anyplace you can call somebody a snake in the grass. Even in Toledo, Ohio. But wait—in that city it's against the law to throw reptiles at another person.

If you see a youngster anywhere in North Dakota creeping furtively out of a candy store, you'll know why. In that state it's illegal to sell candy cigarettes.

Ever play one o' cat? Well, in Springfield, Ill., it's okay to play it, but don't throw the cat out. The law clearly states that it's illegal to abandon a cat for any reason in that city.

Bet you often wanted to get even with your dentist. So... go ahead, unless you happen to live in Yukon, Okla., because in that town a patient is forbidden to turn the tables by pulling his dentist's tooth.

Wonder if there are any bathtubs in Topeka, Kan! Because in that city it's against the law to install 'em.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL NOW CLOSED

Another chapter of Frederick County history was brought to a close this week when Mrs. Eugene Gray, of near Clarksburg, Monday became the mother of the last child to be born at the Emergency Hospital in Frederick.

Under an order of the State Board of Health, no new patients can be admitted to the hospital. However the arrangements for handling all births at Frederick Memorial Hospital were completed several days ago and Mrs. Gray was the last maternity patient to be admitted to the county-operated hospital.

Since the hospital was opened 20 years ago, a total of 5,540 births were recorded there, according to records compiled by E. Brooke Parkinson, administrator of the institution.

The order of the State Board of Health in effect abolished the obstetrical division of the hospital. No more patients will be taken on until certain alterations are made to the building.

The decision on the future of the hospital depends on the new board of County Commissioner

WHY $50 BILLION?

(First of a series)
There's been a lot of yelling... plenty of headlines... a lot of just talk... about your highways.

For years now, the state of America's highways has been like the weather... much talked about... but little done about.

Now, maybe something will happen... and maybe the nation's highways will be fixed up... at long last.

President Eisenhower, himself, is sparking the drive. He's come up with a Grand Plan which he figures will cost the States and the Federal Government $50 billion in the next ten years.

The nation, Eisenhower says, is that far behind in its highway network. It will take that much to "build a properly articulated system that solves the problems of speedy, safe transcontinental travel; intercity communication; access highways and farm-to-market movements; metropolitan area congestion (bottlenecks, parking)."

While $50 billion is certainly a lot of money it isn't all that will be needed. Road experts say it will take several billions more in the next decade for operation and maintenance of our highways.

How did a rich, progressive country like the USA fall so far behind in its highway program. For one thing World War II cancelled highway projects for five years. There also has been steel shortages, shortages of materials and manpower, Korea and defense needs.

And even today we're spending only 18 percent annually over what we did before the war years... while the number of motor vehicles in use has gone up 81 percent.

Why do we need to spend over $50 billions. The next two columns will try to answer this question.
