Something is definitely lacking in the public spirit realm of Emmitsburg. Here we are, possibly the laughing stock of the county, because no one wants to be Mayor of our little town. I can't ever recall when interest in town affairs was so low. I've seen quite a few local elections in my time but never under these existing circumstances. Perhaps it has occurred before, but not in my recollection.

There's something seriously lacking when no one is interested enough to run for a public office. The situation isn't a healthy one and something really embarrassing could happen. All it would take would be for a few pranksters to write in the name of some local "character" and he would be our next Mayor. Action, quick action is needed at once and that means before Monday, which is very short notice. To be able to combat and offset chances of such a thing happening it will be necessary for interested citizens to get behind one or two capable individuals and work hard for a write-in vote, substantial enough in numbers to insure the defeat of any "undesirable" character interested in sneaking into office because of the present conditions.

The present confusion leads me to believe that our election, or nominating law is outmoded, or else entirely wrong. I feel it would be a lot safer and more inviting to potential candidates if a nominating committee were appointed each year. This committee could obtain the consent of two or three of our outstanding citizens to run for office with a guarantee of a certain amount of backing. As it is a fellow is "sticking" out his neck when he files under the present. Often he is subject to ridicule when it is learned he has filed for an office. With official blessings and backing more individuals might possibly be induced to seek office.

Personally, I am very sorry to see the present board split up as it is. In the past five years much has been gained in public benefit by action of the present group and they are to be highly commended for their action while in office. The present Board is responsible for our nice new main highways, even though they are state-owned, our surfaced alleys, traffic and school signs, street markers, parking meters, lining of parking stalls and pedestrian crosswalks, stoplight, police department, purchasing of a town lot, restoration of the town's disposal plant, survey of extra sewerage needs and oodles of other things. All these improvements have taken place in the past five years. No wonder then, that the town will miss Colonel Tom Frailey and Mayor Thornton Rodgers. A rising vote of thanks to you two gents for a job well done!

No doubt about it, the town is in better shape, both physically and financially than it has been in a lifetime and if we want it to stay this way, or improve even more, it is our responsibility to see that responsible men are placed in local offices. The only way that can be accomplished is by you voting Monday. If you are asked by anyone to write-in a name, consider the move deeply, and if in your opinion, he is capable and trustworthy, then go ahead and vote for him. At any rate, vote!

In my opinion one of the first moves the new Town Fathers should make is to revise our present election law. It is easy to see the advantages a new law would provide and I'll bet my bottom dollar that this predicament will never occur again. See you at the polls on Monday?

Folks the Little League needs your support, both morally and physically. If you haven't already placed a donation in those canisters placed in the stores do so right away as money is badly needed to pay for equipment already being used. An interesting movie on Little League baseball will be shown tonight at the Emmitsburg Public School. You all are invited to see this film and hear a Little League baseball talk and explain its operation. Let's make a good showing as this representative is coming a long distance to be our guest and it certainly warrants an excellent turnout.

County-wide Clean-Up Tomorrow

If the enthusiasm shown at a meeting of the Frederick County 4-H older youth leaders, district chairmen and representatives of organizations held last Friday to check progress of plans for Clean-up week, is any indication the roadsides of the county will shine after Apr. 30.

The last day in April is the day in which the roadsides are to be "picked up" and trucks carry away the trash collected to designated dumps where it will be disposed of. The work that day will be culmination of the Clean-Up Week being held Apr. 25-30 in connection with the "Keep Maryland Beautiful" campaign.

The meeting was conducted jointly by Roger H. Willard, county roads engineer; Robert Stansfield, assistant county agent, and Mehrl H. Ramsburg Jr., president of the 4-H youth group. On hand to lend his support was William E. Hardy, a member of Gov. McKeldin's "Keep Maryland Beautiful" committee.

Practically every area in the county was represented at the meeting and most of these places need additional assistance. Young Ramsburg expressed the hope that any organization, church group or civic club not yet contacted, get in touch with the leader nearest them and volunteer assistance or donate the services of a truck on Apr. 30.

Boy Scout troops, under direction of Chester H. Childs, executive, will fill in where more workers are needed, he announced. Safety is to be stressed during the day—everyone is being cautioned to drive carefully when so many young people will be on the highways.

Homemakers Clubs in each district or area are preparing to serve lunch to the workers in their area.

Emmitsburg 4-Hers, Boy Scouts and other interested groups will meet at 8 a. m. on the Community Field, and from there proceed to the areas to be cleared of rubbish. Anyone willing to volunteer a dumping site is asked to contact Richard Florence, Emmitsburg. The county will furnish equipment to restore the dump site to its original status.

Another thing that would help greatly, the committee says, is if the farmers had time to go over the edge of their fields a little and throw over bottles and other debris to the bank alongside the roads, it could be gathered faster and more of the fields could be covered.

Conservation Club Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club of Emmitsburg was held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, with president Franklin Wastler presiding.

President Wastler and members of the organization were commended for their fine work in building dams on Hunting Creek, near Thurmont. This was the first project of its kind of club members to take an active part in the conservation of water for better fishing through the summer months.

Prospects for augmenting the supply of wild rabbits in this area were also discussed at Tuesday's meeting. Interested sportsmen would raise the rabbits and release them in local areas, after first securing permission from the game commission.

More Boosters Added To List

Miss Patricia Lingg, treasurer of the Emmitsburg Baseball Club, announces the following list of boosters of the club to date:

Sperry's Garage, Mrs. W. R. Cadle, Neighbours Esso Station, Zurgable Bros., Frailey's Store, Orendorff's Store, Dr. D. L. Beegle, Dr. W. R. Cadle, Dr. Earl M. Shank, Jr., Bollinger's Meat Market, Roger Liquor Store, Village Liquors, Houck's, B. H. Boyle, Emmitsburg Recreation Center, Wayne Chrismer, East End Garage, Welty's Meat Market, and Joseph W. Sullivan.

lish to the Mountaineer campus on Thursday, May 12, at 8:15 p. m. when it will present, in company with the Georgetown School of Nursing, George Bizet's "Carmen." The production will feature a cast of 75 men and women, colorful costumes, and the lively songs of George Bizet.

The title role of "Carmen" will be sung by Miss Ann Sinclair, Washington, D. C., mezzo soprano, who has had wide concert experience in addition to radio and television performances. James Coyne, Salem, N. J., will sing the role of Escamillo, the Toreador, and Charles DiMeglio, Chester, Pa., will sing the featured tenor role of Don Jose.

"Carmen" offers a fine variety for the music lovers: The Toreador Song, The Habanera, The Seguidilla, several love duets, and vigorous chorus numbers.

LOCALS DROP INITIAL CONTEST

Emmitsburg went down to defeat last Sunday at the hands of Fairfield by a lop-sided score of 19-5.

The foe registered 20 hits off the offerings of three local hurlers, Topper, Newcomer, and Donnelly, while the locals gathered nine hits off the enemy twirlers. Five errors contributed heavily to the Emmitsburg defeat. Fairfield had two miscues.

Elsewhere in the league, Cash-town, attired in their new white uniforms and jackets, trimmed in orange and black, won at Union Bridge, 8-2. The game was delayed by rain which fell intermittently throughout. Spence hurled a brilliant game for the winners, giving up but three hits, fanning five and walking one.

Blue Ridge Summit defeated Thurmont on the latter's diamond. The box score:

J. E. Houck and John S. Hollinger, representing the Chamber of Commerce, were present at the meeting to try and organize some sort of effort of cooperation by the two clubs to hold a joint benefit affair to raise money for the hospital building fund drive. JOY—ORNDORFF

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Gertrude Orndorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Orndorff, Emmitsburg Rt. 2, to Pfc. Francis G. Joy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert L. Joy, S. Seton Ave., was solemnized last Saturday morning, Apr. 23, at 9 o'clock in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg. The pastor, Rev. Vincent J. Tomalski, performed the double ring ceremony and officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli. Mrs. Ernest Seltzer, church organist, played the traditional wedding marches and also accompanied the soloist, Robert Wetzel, Thurmont R.D.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white imported French princess lace and nylon tulle over satin. The nipped-in bodice was fashioned in a sweetheart effect neckline with a stand-up collar. The sleeves were long fitted and pointed. Her fingertip length veil of silk illusion was held by a Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls and satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Pauline Orndorff, sister of the bride, wore a full-length gown of blue taffeta, with a scalloped neckline and an overskirt of net. She wore matching mits and headband and carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Pfc. Donald V. Joy, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Clarence Orndorff, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Joy, brother of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride for the immediate families.

They left on Sunday for Ayers, Mass., and will reside at their newly-furnished apartment at 41 E. Main St.

The bridegroom enlisted in the U. S. Army in January in '54 and is now stationed at Fort Devens, Mass., with the Army Security Agency.

The movie, "Julius Caesar," will be featured tonight (Friday) and Saturday night, at 7 o'clock.

Copra is the dried meat of coconuts from which oil has been extracted.

Corporation Election Monday

Emmitsburg voters will go to the polls Monday to elect a Burgess and Commissioner in the annual election of the Corporation.

A light vote is anticipated inasmuch as apathy of local citizens to run for office was prevalent during the past week when no one filed his intentions to run for the office of Burgess.

The deadline for filing for the offices was reached at midnight last Friday. One citizen filed for the office of commissioner. He was J. William Rowe, retired local merchant, former town clerk, and president of the Emmitsburg Baseball Assn. Mr. Rowe also is vice president of the Vigilant Hose Co.

Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, present chairman of the Board of Commissioners, did not seek reelection and did not file.

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers, incumbent and veteran of 18 years of public service to the community, did not file for reelection and his refusal to do so created the dilemma which now exists. A good many citizens had anticipated Mr. Rodgers would once more file for the town's highest office and when he didn't, the deadline passed before anyone else could declare his or her intentions.

It has been learned that a good many friends of Mayor Rodgers intend to write in his name on the ballot. Rumors have it that one, possibly two write-in movements have been started. It is explained that the individual receiving the largest number of write-in votes will win the election and will be the new Burgess.

Emmitsburg has a total of 438 eligible voters, and it is predicted that less than half of this number will turn out for the election.

Polls will be open from 7 to 7 p. m. Monday and balloting will take place in the Fire Hall.

PTA Nominates For Next Year

The April meeting of the Public School PTA was held Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria, President Norman Shriver presiding.

The treasurer reported a balance of $427.29. The activities group consented to serve the Alumni Banquet in June. A number of problems were discussed and placed in committee. The group approved a $100 donation toward basketball uniforms for the boys' team. Mrs. Leary reported on the recent polio inoculation.

The nominating committee appointed was Mrs. Mary Scott, chairman, Mrs. Naomi White and George L. Wilhide. Officers will be elected at the May meeting.

The program was in charge of the Shop and Home Economics Departments. Mr. Wood gave a brief but interesting explanation of the shop program and there were exhibits shown of the work done in these departments.

The attendance banner was won by the Sixth Grade. Mrs. Scott's home room. Following adjournment refreshments were enjoyed.

bers of the Mt. St. Mary's newly-formed dramatic club. The proceeds of the production will go to the Sesquicentennial Development Fund of St. Joseph College.

This last major production of the year is the story of Tsai-Yong, a brilliant scholar, who leaves his father, mother, and wife to further his education at the Palace of Prince Nieou. Here, Tsai-Yong wins the favor of the Prince and is forced to marry his daughter, Princess Nieou-Chi. Troubles strike the home of Tsai-Yong. His young wife leaves home in search of her husband and learns of his re-marriage, thus evolving the complicated plot.

Tsai-Yong will be portrayed by Philip Lawver, and Alhen Ehren-sing will enact the part of Tchaou-Niang, wife of Tsai-Yong, the role taken by Mary Martin in the Broadway hit. David Ives will play Prince Nieou, while Constance Ehrsam will portray his daughter, Princess Nieou-Chi.

Your Personal Health

A chest X-ray is no cure for tuberculosis, but it could save your life.

When the mobile X-ray unit comes to your community offering free miniature chest films, you are taking a chance with your life if you pass up the opportunity. You say you'd rather not know if you have tuberculosis? You don't really mean that. Maybe you're a little bit afraid of what the eye of the X-ray will see.

If you are worried that you might have tuberculosis, here is something you should know. Pulmonary tuberculosis is a disease which gives its victim very little trouble in its early stages. Once established in the lungs, the germs usually go to work quietly to destroy lung tissue. Rarely is the host aware that anything is wrong. Yet it is in just such an early stage that TB can most easily and surely be cured. With modern treatment, an early case can often be restored to health in only a few months.

Most of the people X-rayed in community surveys of apparently healthy people are found to be just as healthy as they look. However, every case found and treated is an important step toward eradication of tuberculosis. The longer a case of TB goes undetected and untreated, the more dangerous it is to the health of the individual and to those close to him. By the time serious

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

Air Force Secretary Talbott's arbitrary decision to move the Air Research and Development Command from Baltimore to Dayton, O., is a matter of prime importance to all of us. It may seem to be of no concern to those who live apart from the Baltimore area. I think it is.

If such a move, involving over 800 civilian employees and approximately 1500 officers and enlisted men, can be made from Baltimore on what amounts to a moment's notice, it can happen in any other part of our State.

Perhaps the transfer is in the best interests of our country. It could be that the nation's taxpayers would benefit even though Marylanders would suffer.

On the other hand, it could be an inter-departmental struggle within the Air Force with a resulting loss for all concerned.

I intend to find out which concept is correct and if there is any other reasoning in the background.

At this writing my latest symptoms are apparent, the disease has usually progressed to a point where it is more difficult to cure.

It is important to remember that tuberculosis in its early stages often has no outward symptoms. You may feel perfectly well and still have TB. With modern treatment, doctors can cure the disease. Even a person with an advanced case has a better than even chance of getting well. You can give yourself the best possible chance by taking advantage of the opportunity offered by the life-saving X-ray.

fort in this respect has been to appear before the House Appropriations subcommittee on Defense. Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) assured me that his group would make a full investigation of any Air Force request for funds involving the ARDC transfer and in addition question them as to the use of any allocated funds which may be destined for this purpose. This was done at my request.

I have also made the suggestion that it might be good business for the Air Force if the ARDC were set up a separate agency.

It is well known that the only way to ascertain the facts on a given subject is to keep plugging at it. That is what I am doing.

BRIGHTER LIVING

By Jan Reynolds

WANT THE SUNNY SOUTH right in your home when the snow flies? You can hardly create a sandy beach in the bedroom, but you can set up a sunlamp for use by the entire family. Not only will you look like you should be wearing a hibiscus in your hair, but you'll probably find the family in better health. It's a good idea to make a sunlamp standard equipment in the nursery, too. It supplies that very important bone-building vitamin D, particularly essential to tiny tots.

HANDLE WITH CARE is useful advice in the care of electrical cords. Electrical product manufacturers consider it nothing short of "shocking" to disconnect lamps or appliances by pulling on the cord. This method loosens the wires in the plug. Grasp the plug itself when you remove plug from outlet. Try to avoid: running cords over or under radiators, under carpets and in door jambs. Heat dries the insulation, and can result in cracking. Cords under carpets are apt to be broken when walked on—a short circuit could result! The same applies to cords placed in door jambs.

MODERNIZE YOUR HOME with light. An inexpensive method can be found in the very popular valance lighting. Ready made fluorescent units, which can be plugged into the nearest outlet eliminate extra wiring. A valance is easy for the amateur carpenter to build, and it gives the effect of indirect light. Easy on the eyes, its soft glow lends a new warmth to a room. Of course, you'll want to use portable lamps, too—floor and table lamps—for reading, sewing, card playing, and all the other activities that are a part of your own family life.

AND SPEAKING of fluorescent lighting, did you know that there are several colors of "white light" available in fluorescent? To find your choice easily, try under each of these fluorescent lamps, swatches of the paint and fabric which are a part of your home decoration. You'll be amazed at the difference these various fluorescent "whites" can make—they affect your own complexion, as well as fabric tones.

HERE'S A BRIGHT IDEA for a birthday boy or girl who's having a party. With used flashbulbs, make a charming place-card to identify the table places of little cake eaters. Here's how: Use a special cement, available at most art supply stores, and yellow yarn to put a blonde wig atop the bulb—long for girls, short for boys. Cut small circles of black masking tape for little round eyes, a square for the nose.

Cut a crescent-shaped sliver for a smiling mouth. Bind the neck of the bulb with black masking tape. Cut a narrow card for the name and cement that at the bulb's neck. Press the bulb into a small ball of modeling clay to make the place card stand on the table.

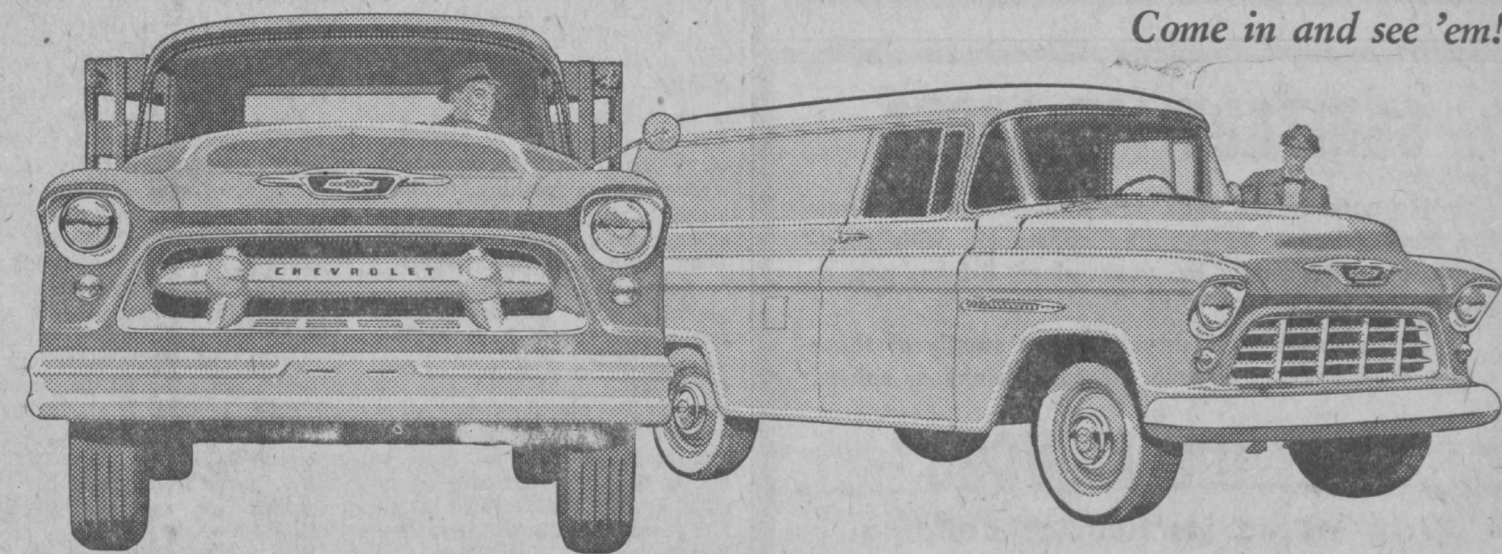

YOU WON'T BE IN THE DARK for long if you'll keep a close inventory on the household supply of fuse plugs. Here's an easy way. Tack a transparent plastic bag—the kind in which some vegetables are packaged—on the wall right next to the fuse box. You can easily see when it's time to reorder fuses.—Jan Reynolds, Sylvania Electric Home Lighting Consultant.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Apr. 28—The small, non-progressive farmer is gradually being forced out of business. The trend is toward large mechanized farms. I forecast that this trend will continue. The stubborn farmer simply cannot compete, over the long term, with the low-cost mass-production methods of the modern mechanized farm. He has not sufficient land and will not buy the necessary equipment.

Income Decline Hits Small Farmers Hardest

Farm income has declined on the average about 8 per cent since 1951. This decline has been felt by all farmers, but particularly by the smaller operators whose costs are high. Some have had to close up shop. Those in the Dust Bowl area were dealt another severe blow recently when Federal Crop Insurance was discontinued in certain sections. Withdrawal of this insurance will be felt especially by the small marginal farmer. Banks which heretofore have been willing to make loans to marginal farmers with crop insurance protection are now neither willing nor able to risk their depositors' funds. Someday it may be possible to predict and control the weather. This should be a great help to the farmer, but would apply only to production, not to demand.

Government acreage control has helped the small farmer compete against his bigger brother to the extent that the large mechanized operator has been forced to restrict his output. This, however, is only a stopgap measure and is unfair to the mass-production farmer because he cannot make full use of his facilities. This reduces his efficiency and ups his costs. Someday mechanized farmers will revolt against this artificial restriction in much the same manner as the discount houses are currently overthrowing the Fair Trade laws.

Push-Button Farming

Although the day of wholly-mechanized farms is still in the distant future, some amazing devices have been developed and are now in use. The farmer can now push a button to grind, mix and serve feed to a barnful of cows. Pushing another button changes the feed formula and the machine serves the hogs; pushing a third button prepares and serves feed to the chickens. Talk about the big-city automatic restaurants! Those who have done chores on a farm will readily appreciate the time and back-breaking labor these machines save. I forecast that women will supersede men in running certain farms.

Another valuable machine is the hay and grain dryer, which roughly corresponds to the housewife's clothes dryer. The dryer makes the farmer less dependent on the weather and lets him harvest at his convenience. It reduces spoilage and gives him more value from his crop. In addition, there are machines for planting, spray-

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Maryland tobacco growers cannot increase future acreage allotments by harvesting acres in excess of the 1955 allotment, but they can reduce future allotments by harvesting fewer acres than are allotted for the 1955 crop.

The effect of this provision of Public Law 21 recently enacted by Congress is to rule out credit for excess tobacco in '55 and future years in determining the base acreage for any farm, according to George B. Reeves, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

"For example," he says, "if a farmer has a 10-acre allotment for 1955 and he harvests 14 acres, he would receive credit only for the allotment figure of 10 acres when the base acreage is being determined for the 1956 allotment."

"On the other hand, if a farmer has a 10-acre allotment for 1955 but harvests only 6 acres, the harvested figure of six acres would be used in determining the base acreage for 1956."

"This method of determining future acreage allotments is provided for in the legislation as it now stands, even though quotas have been rejected in Maryland for 1955 and farmers can exceed this year's acreage allotment without penalty on the marketing of the 1955 crop."

Chairman Reeves adds that the marketing penalty provision of Public Law 21 has caused a considerable amount of unnecessary worry among Maryland tobacco growers.

He refers to a section of the law which provides that: The penalty on the marketing of any kind of tobacco harvested in excess of individual farm marketing quotas is increased from 50 to 75 per cent of the average market price for such tobacco for the preceding marketing year.

"This provision does not apply in Maryland this year," he says, "because tobacco growers in the State voted against marketing quotas on the 1955 crop in a referendum held last December. In other words, if there is no marketing quota, there is no penalty."

The ASC Chairman explains that if farmers approve a marketing quota next year, then the 75-per cent penalty provision would apply to the 1956 crop. But the price a farmer receives for this year's crop is a matter strictly between him and the person who buys his tobacco.

Towson College Offers Special Summer Course

The State Teachers College at Towson will offer its special summer program for the seventh consecutive year for those wishing to teach in the Maryland elementary schools. Dr. Kenneth A. Browne, dean of instruction and director of the summer session, has announced. Registration will take place on Saturday, June 18.

Professional courses approximating eight hours of academic credit will be offered to college graduates during the six-week period. Graduates can acquire provisional certification to teach in Maryland after their first summer session and full certification usually following the third summer session.

Undergraduates will be offered selected courses toward a college degree and certification to teach in Maryland public schools.

Among the undergraduate courses to be taught will be Education, "An Integrated Program in Elementary Education." The six-credit course is designed for beginning teachers who do not have college degrees.

Admission requirements for college graduates include the graduation from an approved four-year college and a statement by a Maryland superintendent of schools that the applicant will be employed in his county or city in September, 1955.

Undergraduates must be approved by the Towson State Teachers College Admissions Office.

Social Security Coverage to Farmers

The year 1955 brings social security to most farm operators and to more farm workers.

The 1954 social security amendments extend social security coverage to self-employed farm operators for the first time in 1955, and more hired farm workers will be covered under liberalized rules in the new law.

Self-employed farmers whose net income from agricultural operations is at least $400 in 1955 will be required to file a social security tax return early in 1956 as a part of their Federal income tax return and pay the social security tax at the rate of three per cent. Optional methods for reporting agricultural income are provided in the law. If the gross income for the year is $1800 or less, the farmer may report his actual income or 50 per cent of his gross income. If the gross income exceeds $1800, the farmer must report his actual net income, unless the net is less than $900; in which case he may instead report $900.

Hired farm workers are covered by social security bringing in 1955 if they are paid at least $100 in cash wages during the year by one employer. The number of days worked will no longer be involved. This does away with the somewhat complicated test in effect through the end of 1954 which covered only "regularly employed" farm hands. The tax rate on workers is two per cent each from the employer and employee.

All self-employed farmers and hired workers should get a social security card right away if they do not already have one. The social security number must be shown on both the wage report and the self-employment report that will be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue. Applications for social security cards may be obtained at most post offices and should be filled out and mailed to the Hagerstown social security office. The same procedure is followed when a replacement for a lost or destroyed card is desired. The application form will show that the applicant has previously asked for an account number from either

It's the TRUTH You Want

Come in and learn the Truth about your Hair and Scalp Disorders

A personal demonstration in Emmitsburg will be held by the Merrill Hair and Scalp Consultant. He will explain the 18 common scalp disorders that cause most men and women to lose hair. He will demonstrate the proper methods of hair and scalp hygiene that have been proven successful for thousands of Americans from coast to coast. He will give you, FREE, a complete hair and scalp examination and tell you his opinion why you are losing your hair.

HOPELESS CASES INFORMED
First, the Merrill Consultant is quick to tell the hopeless cases that they cannot be helped. Once a man is completely, shiny bald, he cannot be helped. But the hopeless cases are few. Because, if the hair roots are alive (evidenced by the presence of light, colorless fuzz), the Merrill Consultant can perform what sometimes seems to be wonders. In the private examination, these facts will come to light.

The examination is very thorough and highly technical. It requires a full 20 to 30 minutes. And, there is no charge for this examination. After this examination, you will be told the required length of treatment and how much it will cost. After starting treatment, you make regular reports to the Merrill laboratory. A Trichologist will check your progress regularly.

One thing the Merrill Consultant wants every man and woman to know. If a recession appears at the temples or a spot begins to show up on the crown of the head, there is something wrong and it demands immediate attention.

If every man and woman will follow our directions faithfully during treatment, and after finishing treatment, there is no reason why they will not have hair all the rest of their lives. We know our treatments will work and that it all depends on the individual person's faithful observation of the few simple rules.

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY
You need not have an appointment to take advantage of this clinic. All examinations are private, and you will not be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Both men and women are welcome.

WASHINGTON—First reports of pro-Western sentiment from the Bandung, Indonesia, Conference were interpreted on Capitol Hill as indicating that a number of Asian-African nations would not be swept off their feet by Communist propaganda.

Particular attention was given to the statement by the Foreign Minister of Iraq, Fadhil Jamanali, describing communism as nothing but a new form of the old imperialism.

If the present tenor of the Bandung Conference continues, some at the Capitol are of the opinion that the U. S. can establish a much firmer friendship with many of the Asian-African group if its Foreign Aid Program is supervised in the field by administrators who both know and are in sympathy with American business practices.

In recent years numerous Congressmen have returned from various parts of the world telling almost unbelievable stories of stupidity and waste in the conduct of foreign aid operations. These Congressmen have said that many employed in administering the Foreign Aid Program have no concept whatsoever of American business operations.

It now seems certain that the President's new program for Foreign Aid, which will be up in Congress for consideration in the near future, will be more carefully examined than previous foreign aid programs have been.

Domestic Colonialism: The term "colonialism" could easily be applied to the current program of Big Union Bosses, which is to consolidate union strength and gradually force everyone who works for a living to belong to a union. The Big Union Chiefs today are pressing hard to destroy the protection given liberties of individual workers by the Taft-Hartley Act and state right-to-work laws.

Business Practices in Government: The Postmaster General, Mr. Arthur E. Summerfield, and his Deputy, Mr. Charles R. Hook, Jr., have been doing much to increase the efficiency of the Post Office Dept., and to cut down much unnecessary expenditure of the taxpayers' money. Like many other accomplishments of the Eisenhower Cabinet, little publicity has been given to this, as constructive developments seldom receive the attention given destructive developments.

In this connection Congress shortly will begin consideration of a long-range fiscal program outlined by Mr. Summerfield. Here is a thumbnail picture of it:

Legislation is requested to (1) provide $343 million of new postal revenue, (2) separate subsidies from operating expenses, and (3) establish a Postal Rate Commission under Congressional guidance to recommend revisions in postal rates. These steps would place the department on a more nearly self-supporting basis.

Since World War II the postal deficit has soared beyond $4 billion and now costs taxpayers more than $100 million a year in interest alone. Currently, despite recent economies and efficiencies, the postal deficit is running at a rate of more than $1 million every working day, without including proposed wage increases.

In the fiscal year 1954 the postal deficit was $399.1 million. Deficits of this magnitude approximate one-sixth the U. S. anticipated 1955 fiscal year deficit and represent serious drains on national resources when security requirements already impose heavy tax burdens.

Postal rates for letters, magazines, and newspapers are essentially the same today as in 1932. Meanwhile, postal costs have almost doubled. The department, operating on pre-war prices and post-war costs, inevitably produces huge deficits paid by today's taxpayers or passed on to unborn generations.

Proposed increases of one cent on the first ounce of regular and air mail letters would yield $250 million. Publishers second-class rates would increase $17.5 million in two annual steps. Rates for advertising circulars and small parcels would increase $373 million.

Recent public opinion surveys indicate popular endorsement of the proposed increases and widespread agreement that mail users should pay a larger share of costs. Possibly the U. S. will soon join other major nations who all operate their postal services on at least a break-even basis.

Track Team Outscored

The Mt. St. Mary's College track squad finished third in a triangular meet with Catholic U. and Washington College at Washington, D. C., Tuesday afternoon. Catholic U. won the meet with a total of 75 points, Washington picked up 44 points, and the Mounts trailed with 30.

Three first places were gained by the Mountaineers. Doyle copped the 120-yard high hurdles in 18.1 seconds; Carroll won the pole vault with a leap of 10 feet, six inches, and McNamara captured the broad jump with 19 feet, eight and one-quarter inch mark.

A moderate decrease in automobile accidents were reported in 1954.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Planning house painting this spring? If so, be sure you pick the type of paint that suits your house. There are three distinct kinds of white house paints — the self-cleaning white designed for dwellings that are painted all white; a white, non-chalking paint — that also may be tinted — for structures with wood siding above masonry; and high-hiding "one-coat" house paint for refinishing white surfaces in good condition.

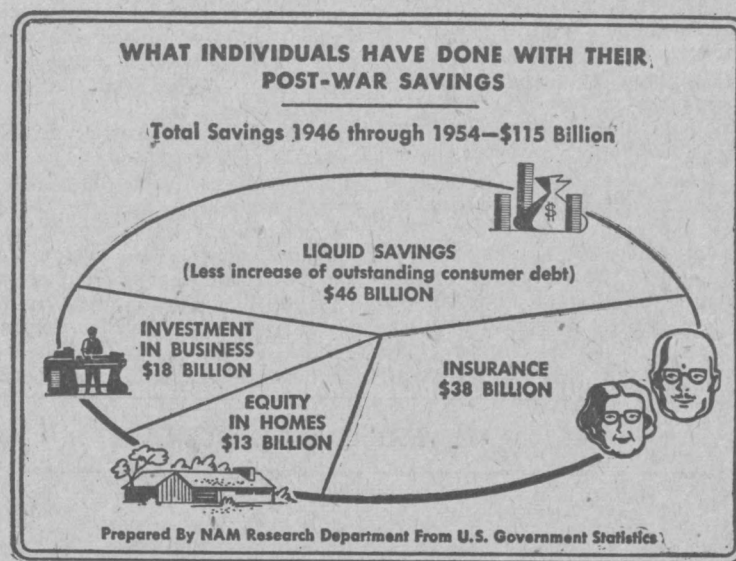

Also, there are both "self-cleaning" and chalk-resistant types of white cement and stucco paints for masonry and asbestos shingles and siding.

It is advisable to use self-cleaning exterior white paint where suitable because it stays brighter and whiter and presents a superior surface when re-painting is necessary.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

GUDGEON

(Notropis hudsonius amarus)

RANGE: The little silvery "shiner" known in Maryland as the gudgeon, and called a smelt in some sections, is the idol of both old and young folks when it invades our fresh water streams to spawn; they arrive in countless numbers in the spring about the time the dogwood and shadbush bloom, in the tributaries of the Susquehanna, Gupowder, Patapsco, and Potomac River systems, where they are caught on hook and line; sometimes they are cooked and eaten on the shores. Many Conservation organizations give "Gudgeon Fishing Parties" to kids of all sizes and descriptions.

DESCRIPTION: The average length of the gudgeon is about 3 to 4 inches, but "record" specimens have been taken up to 6 inches; the color is greenish on top with silvery sides, paler in lower parts. The young ones have lateral band through eye to a dark spot at tail; the fins are transparent.

BREEDING: Spawning evidently occurs early in the spring; little more is known about its breeding habits.

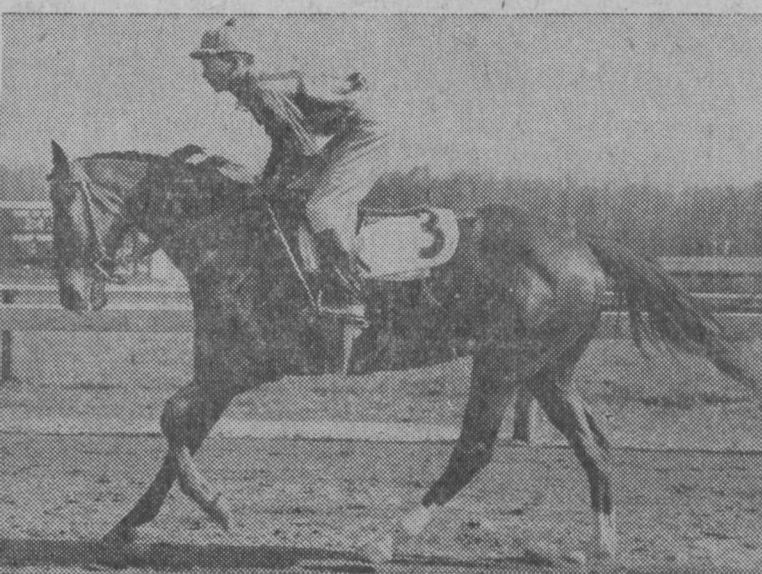

HABITS: On the spring runs it is readily taken on the smallest of fishing hooks, generally on warm, sunny days, using small pieces of garden worms for bait; in years past one of the angler's favorite baits, very attractive to the fish, and a proper size to put on hook and enter the fish's small mouth, was the larvae of the house fly; they were called "hunkie dories," and obtainable in gudgeon season at most of the fishing tackle stores.

MANAGEMENT: Too little is known about the breeding, wintering grounds, and movements of this popular little fish, which is rarely seen excepting in the two or three weeks they are caught on hook and line in the spring.

VALUE: Mainly for recreation and sport, although they do supply a small amount of food; when they can be taken and kept alive they provide an excellent bait for black bass, pike (pickerel) and other game fish. Never marketed for food.

Note: Another gudgeon is found in same waters in Maryland (Hybognathus nuchalis regius) but in much smaller numbers; the two species are so much alike the average angler would not be able to distinguish between the two species, hence it would simply be confusing to more than mention it here.

Red Finds a "Sweet Solution"

Red Jackson found a slick way to get his cows to eat what's good for them. Seems they were passing up the tall green grass—full of minerals and vitamins—and eating the short grass, which is naturally sweeter.

Red solved the problem by spraying a solution of corn syrup over the grass that was going begging. The cows sure went at it. Red says it's lucky for him—and the cows—that every one of them has a "sweet tooth."

Next week, according to Red, he's going to have his cows clean up all the weedy grass along his fences—after he sprays them with more corn syrup, of course.

From where I sit, some folks, like Red, are always trying out new tricks—and others stick with the old tried and true methods. Just a question of preference, I guess. Like the way you may enjoy coffee with meals, while I prefer a cold glass of beer. So let's not allow any bad feelings to "crop up" by thinking ours is the only choice.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, Apr. 27.—The Defense Dept.'s military base construction bill recently submitted to Congress contains a number of items of interest to the residents of the 6th Maryland District and the District of Columbia.

Defense officials are asking Congress for $452,000 for utilities at Camp Detrick in Frederick County. There are also plans for new construction at Walter Reed Hospital and for improvements at the David Taylor Model Basin, the Army Map Service and the Naval Ordnance Laboratory. Construction provided for in this bill will bring together a number of scattered installations and help reduce overall operating expenses. The measure is now before the appropriate committees and I plan to press for the adoption of the amounts requested to take care of the needs of these installations.

I am always interested in helping rectify errors and unjust exclusions from our laws which were designed to aid or benefit those who have served or worked for our country. An example is my recent appearance before the Spanish War Subcommittee of the House Veterans Affairs Committee in support of my bill to aid certain citizens who served with the Philippine Constabulary. There are not many living who served during the difficult years following the war with Spain and my bill would enable them to receive the same pension rights as granted to Spanish War Veterans and their survivors.

There is one thing I would like to point out this week concerning pay raises. I am speaking of pay adjustments in general and not just those which are in process of being granted to Federal employees. All our economists, private and government, not the continuance of a world-wide boom. My concern with the present pay increase is that the raises granted do not result in unnecessary price increases and a resultant eating away of the increase's value through inflation.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Is pollution control doomed? Events in our capital made Washington reporter Michael Hudoba feel that there was some foot-dragging by both the administration and congress on national pollution abatement efforts. So he asked Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, which handles the pollution control program, about it. Here is part of her exclusive statement to Sports Afield:

The Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare is vitally concerned about the rapidly growing problems of air and water pollution. In the field of water, pollution control is urgently needed to eliminate health hazards and to conserve our limited water resources. Water is numbered among those national resources causing the greatest concern over the nation.

Repeatedly the President has expressed his deep interest in water resources and has taken actions to develop firm national programs to guide solutions within the concept of partnership between all levels of government and private interest. Our current water pollution control activities support state program primarily through research, technical services and administration of a limited enforcement program. Certainly there is need for expanded activity here, particularly in the way of research and field investigations.

Programs of community air pollution affecting the health and well being of the American people are already at a critical state in a number of areas, and may be expected to increase in number, severity, and complexity with growth of population and eco-

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Readers ask: "What does disclosure of Yalta agreement mean?"

Many pundits take stand disclosure was pure politics with 1956 elections in mind. Yet Washington observers are reluctant to agree such men as Sen. H. Style Bridges is motivated only by politics. Significantly, Sen. William Knowland asks for publication of all secret agreements including those made since his party has been in power.

Once majority of nation's legislators were well grounded in classics and acted with long roll of history's lessons in mind. This attribute has been largely lost in today's public life.

So-called Bricker amendment introduced by Sen. John Bricker, defeated in last session, and now before this session, and backed by an overwhelming majority of nationwide membership of National Federation of Independent Business, recognizes this illuminated backdrop of history.

History shows republics founder when it is forgotten that it is basic human nature for unchecked power to inevitably create messiah complex. Caesar was a noble and selfless Roman until he found he could push Roman Senate aside. Napoleon was an ardent republican until he found he could shackle French Assembly.

So blame for Yalta's bitter pill is shared by a Congress that permitted its authority to be usurped to such an extent secret agreements could be made without its approval.

© National Federation of Independent Business

Real issue now is prevention of future Yaltas.

Almost daily examples show executive branch of government playing ring-around-the-rosy, with duly elected Congress. Harold Stassen, head of foreign aid, now in charge of disarmament, is under Congressional fire for taking $20,000,000 of funds allocated to India for other purposes and buying rolling stock for state owned railroad. Of course, Stassen seems to have acquired virus infecting all who get involved in "one world" schemes, namely, it is sole duty of Congress to vote money, then shut up.

One of ablest legal minds ever in government, Stanley Barnes, head of Justice Department anti-trust division, created stir recently when he questioned Commerce Department procedures in holding meetings with so-called "business advisory groups."

From his long viewpoint, he seemingly realized if such meetings developed into "star chamber" sessions, there would be no limit to wheeling and dealing possible among select few seeking to build cozy monopolies.

Issue was handled without lurid headlines. But Commerce Department agreed with softly but firmly worded demand by Mr. Barnes that such meetings be held openly; that complete minutes of proceedings be made.

So despite all reports that Yalta disclosures are politically inspired, responsible Congressional leaders are not motivated by this consideration. They are merely trying to avoid repetitions of Yalta, realizing any time Republic's business is conducted in dark corners, dark events will take place. There is no way to legislate against inevitability of human nature. That is first principle of democracies survival.

Posture WeekWill Be Observed

National Correct Posture Week, the first week of May, will be sponsored here by the Maryland Chiropractic Assn., according to Dr. D. L. Beegle, who is a past president of the association.

From the formative years of school age on through to adulthood, it is vitally important that our people maintain their good posture as a firm foundation for general good health and well-being.

The value of this special week is indicated by the fact that many of our mayors and governors have issued special proclamations urging the people to participate in the special educational activities during National Correct Posture Week.

The White House Conference on Child Health recognized the importance of posture in relation to health. The following is from its report:

"The part played by body mechanics, or 'posture', as it is generally termed, in the health and well-being of the child, is another subject receiving more and more attention."

Dr. Beegle announced this week he will examine free, any school-age children whose parents will schedule an appointment for them and accompany them to his office. Dr. Beegle has been rendering this valuable community service for the past six years.

HERE'S HOW...MAKE RADIATOR COVERS

Attractive radiator covers are welcome projects in many homes.

No over-all dimensions are shown in the drawings; they will depend upon the size of the radiators.

Using 1-inch lumber, cut the side pieces to allow for the base board and molding, and the turnoff valve and pipe.

The base panel arch permits air circulation. This panel is fastened to the sides with No. 9 flathead wood screws, 1 1/2 inches long, countersunk.

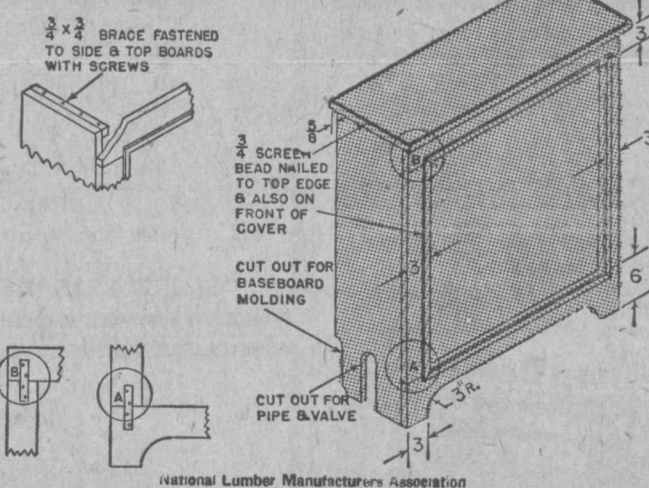

Add the 3/4 by 3/4 brace strips to the inside top edge of the side pieces. Fasten the top to the strips with screws from beneath.

Then add the top member and two side members of the front frame. The frame is strengthened by strap steel tie braces across each joint as shown in detail A and B.

The radiator screen should overlap the front opening by 1/2 inch all around. Use 3/4-inch screen bead molding to form a frame around the screen. Fasten the bead in place with brads.

The screen bead also may be used as edging for the top of the radiator cover.

A traveler right at home.
P. H.

BOB HOPE, the gallivantin' gagster, has the faculty of being so many places at once that friends often ask, "How do you do it?" His answer, the other day was, "I nearly didn't!" Here is what happened:

Bob was rehearsing his TV show and between skits he found time to visit a department store to sign several thousand autographs. Finally, late in the afternoon he called a rehearsal "break" and went home to relax a few moments.

His place is not far from the NBC-TV Burbank studio. Sitting in front of his television set he saw a trailer plugging the "Jimmy Durante Show" on the air that night. Leaping out of his easy chair, Hope yelled:

"Oh, migawh! I'm supposed to do a guest spot on Jimmy's show tonight." He just got there in time, then went to his own rehearsals.

SPEAKING OF DURANTE, this happened when he made an appearance on Bob's show several days later: Considerable horseplay took place between the two comedians, of course. Then, during a bit in which he was supposed to be a press agent, Bob's role called for him to be carrying on a conversation with his boss. In a simulated phone conversation he was saying, "Okay, L.B. I'll get right on it." Meanwhile on a real phone downstage, Durante was saying, "Okay, Mr. Mayer, I've got it." Everyone thought he was mimicking Bob until Jimmy finished his call. He was really talking to L. B. Mayer, who had invited him to a party and was telling him how to get to his home.

EVE ARDEN, TV's "Our Miss Brooks", didn't dare tell friends what had actually happened to her the other day to make her so stiff she walked with a limp. She was afraid they wouldn't believe her. The script of her show called upon her to ride an automatic gymnastic bicycle. The switch jammed and the motor kept the machine going at a fast clip. All she could do was hang on and ride for dear life until someone pulled out the electric cord.

"Let's not use that silly situation in the show," laughed Eve. "Red Skelton or Red Buttons must have already done it!"

RONALD COLMAN, his pretty wife, Benita Hume, and Don Quinn, creator of "The Halls of Ivy," starring the Colmans, were reminiscing about how often in show business a kick downstairs turns out to be a boost up the ladder of success. They recalled an incident in which a Benita Hume writer was furious because a script of her's had been rewritten so that she didn't recognize it, although her name was left on it. Her fury changed to amazement when she learned that New York executives liked the script so much they wired: "That writer is terrific. Buy everything she writes." She is now famous.

A tip on CAR CARE

Most motorists are familiar with several sound reasons why auto cooling systems should be drained of all types of anti-freeze when warm weather arrives. Few people realize, however, the toll levied on engine performance if drain-out is neglected.

Du Pont, major producer of products for cooling system care, joins all authorities in advocating draining, flushing with a cleanser, and adding a rust inhibitor to the fresh water.

Failure to do this can equal the effect of lowering the gasoline octane rating by 4½ points, say the experts.

Modern Roof Protects Longfellow's Wayside Inn

Wayside Inn, Sudbury, Mass., dates from 1686, but the fine old colonial tavern appears ready for another 250 years. Its roof is protected with fire-resistant asphalt shingles, while the side-walls and windows are kept painted and in good repair.

A century older than the United States, historic Wayside Inn in Sudbury, Mass., stands as a fine example of the sturdy colonial architecture of old New England. Built in 1686, only 60-odd years after the Mayflower landed, the famous tavern was immortalized by the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his "Tales of a Wayside Inn" in 1862. The pre-Revolutionary inn has seen plenty of American history, and has entertained famous guests, including Washington and Lafayette.
