

Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

While it is apparent that we are being deluged with financial drives at this time, one stands out among all others, in my estimation. I feel the most important one to Emmitsburg is the Warner Hospital building drive which is expected to total a quarter of a million sheets of lettuce. I don't want to belittle or detract from any of the other drives now in progress, because they all are important, but without a doubt we need considerably more hospital space and equipment.

The undertaking is a mammoth one and will consume the valuable time of a lot of our more industrious and public-spirited citizens, but I feel that all the effort exerted will bear fruit by the fact that we will shortly have a new and modern hospital where we can get the best care that modern science can give us.

Emmitsburg, I feel, has "seen the light" and is going all out to raise its share of the goal... something I think we all can be proud of. Practically all local organizations are pitching in to do their bit to put the drive over the hump. I just can't tell you exactly how many fund-raising affairs are already planned, but they are plenty. Aside from these functions a door-to-door canvass will take place within the next few days and you all are asked to give generously. It is realized that your door has been tapped on quite frequently lately, but it is essential that this drive does not fail.

There are some who say that when they were patients at the hospital they paid their bill and feel they should not have to donate further. The thought is a logical one, but not a prudent one. I'll tell you why! For every day you spent in the hospital it is probable that you were charged $9.00. But did you know that it actually cost the hospital $13 to house you? Sure you paid but then you didn't pay enough and the hospital absorbed the difference and that is just exactly the reason it operates in the "red" and that is why you should give generously. And again, there are the charity patients. Thousands of dollars are paid out by the hospital annually for these charity cases. It turns down no one in need of medical assistance and grants those who can pay, rates that are more than generous. Just compare the costs at the Warner Hospital with those of other nearby similar institutions and you'll be amazed at how much lower they are and what you were saved by the hospital's generosity to you by these low rates! I feel that it's our turn now to help the hospital, so when you are approached please give generously.

Autograph hunting seems to be taking a foothold in this area. I didn't know there were any people interested in this sort of pastime until I read some time ago that Louie Rosensteel had compiled an enviable collection of notables' signatures. This must have aroused the interest of another citizen, because she immediately began a hunt that promises to be rather fruitful.

I'm referring to Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers, who already has some of the "big names" in her collection and poses as a distinct threat to Louie's crown as top autograph gatherer.

Mrs. Bowers first move was to try and catch a big prize, one Winston Churchill, but was successful only in the form of a facsimile. After much waiting she was informed that Sir Winston did not make it a practice of giving out his "sig" to just anybody. However, Mrs. Bowers tells the Boss that this week she received an acknowledgment of her letter to Sir Winnie in the form of a note from the third secretary of the British embassy in Washington, a Richard Parsons, that it was impossible to obtain a legitimate sig but that he would be honored if she would accept a facsimile, which she readily did. Dismayed, but not defeated, she decided to undertake the task of obtaining royal penmanship. Off went a letter to Queen Elizabeth of England. When a reply came from Buckingham Palace, Mrs. Bowers naturally thought her mission accomplished. But lo and behold, she was informed that the queen did not permit her autograph to be released, only to

Lions Pledge $250 To Hospital Building Fund

The nomination of officers was the main order of business transacted at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night in the Lutheran Parish Hall, president J. Ralph McDonnell presiding. Five guests were also present. They were Mrs. Helen Daugherty, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Mrs. Robert Fite, Mrs. Charlotte Eyster, and William Krom.

The nominating committee, chaired by George L. Wilhide, placed the following names in nomination: president, Cloyd W. Seiss; first vice president, Clarence G. Frailey; second vice president, Philip B. Sharpe; secretary-treasurer, Robert E. Daugherty; lion tamer, Bernard Eckenrode; taitwister, Paul W. Claypool, and director, Clarence E. Hahn.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Carl Baum, a director of the Warner Hospital, gave a detailed talk to the group concerning the current building fund drive being conducted for the erection of a new annex to the hospital. The speaker revealed that the average patient cost to the hospital is $13 per day, and of this sum the hospital collects only $9 which results in a $4 loss on every patient handled. The hospital receives annually about $16,000 from letters sent to patrons. As most hospitals do, the Warner operates at a loss, it was explained. In an effort to modernize the institution and to provide better facilities, it was decided to build a new annex at a cost of $250,000. Mr. Baum explained that under banking laws, hospitals are not permitted to borrow money, and therefore work on the new building would not begin until the named sum had been collected. The present building plan is just a small part of a larger program scheduled for the next three years. The speaker was introduced by George L. Wilhide, Emmitsburg chairman of the drive, Dr. J. W. Houser, local finance chairman of the drive, announced the following solicitors for a door-to-door canvass: Col. Thomas J. Frailey, George W. Wilhide, Mrs. Helen Daugherty, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Edgar G. Emrich, Mrs. Robert Fite, William Krom, Charlotte Eyster, Arthur Elder and Herbert W. Roger.

Mrs. Robert Daugherty announced that a community supper, sponsored by the women of the Emmitsburg District, will be served on Saturday, May 21, and that it is expected to raise at least $500 for the hospital drive. Small canisters were distributed among the members of the Lions Club for the depositing of dimes each day. It is the aim of the group to collect around $250 by this method.

Delegates to the national convention to be held in Atlantic City this month were named as follows: Clarence E. Hahn, J. Ralph McDonnell, and alternate, Cloyd W. Seiss.

Lauds Little League Effort

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: I was so glad to read in the Chronicle that Emmitsburg is to have a Little League and am enclosing a small check to help with the expenses.

I think there is a real need for a Little League in Emmitsburg and I hope it will prove as helpful and beneficial as it has in Leesburg where both of our sons have played in it.

Sincerely yours,
BARBARA O'KELLEY

Appreciates Sick Visits

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: A few lines of thanks for my good friend, Father Casl, for the many visits he made during my recent sickness.

Father Casl served in the Yugoslavian army and I served in the German navy from 1896-1899, when I had the privilege of fighting alongside American Marines in the Boxer Rebellion.

As we two can not belong to the American Legion we belong to the American Foreign Legion. I hope Father Casl will remain with us for many, many years.

Yours truly,
OTTO F. HAHN

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wetzel, Emmitsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Marie, to Ernest Wilbur Staub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Staub, Taneytown. The wedding will take place in the near future.

Will Deliver Sermon

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Schmidt, V.F., P.A., pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Carlisle, Pa., will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the 147th Commencement exercises of Mount St. Mary's College on Tuesday, May 31 at 4:30 p. m., in the College Chapel.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., Msgr. Schmidt attended Mount St. Mary's Preparatory and was graduated from the college in 1915 with the A.B. degree. He was ordained from the Mount St. Mary's Seminary in 1918 for the diocese of Harrisburg. Following ordination, Msgr. Schmidt served as assistant pastor at Carlisle, Conewago Chapel and Holy Trinity, Columbia. In 1922 he was appointed to the Mission Band and trained with the New York Apostolate for one year.

In 1924 Msgr. Schmidt was named diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, a position he still holds. In 1926 he was appointed secretary of the Harrisburg Mission Board.

Msgr. Schmidt also has served with the Council of Administration of the Harrisburg Diocese, as treasurer of the Catholic High Schools in Harrisburg, Lancaster, and Lebanon, and as the first director of the Religious Vacation Schools of the diocese.

Since 1940 Msgr. Schmidt has been pastor of St. Patrick's in Carlisle, with its missions at St. Bernard's, New Bloomfield, Pine Grove Furnace and Neville. He was named a Domestic Prelate in 1943 by Pope Pius XII and a Prothonotary Apostolic in 1954 by the same Pontiff.

Msgr. Schmidt will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the graduation exercises on Wednesday, June 1.

Second Vaccine Shots Postponed

The second round of anti-polio inoculations in Frederick County were postponed this week by Dr. Forbes Burgess, county health officer, following consultation with the State Bureau of Preventive Medicine.

Originally scheduled May 17 through 20, the second shots will not be administered here until a final clearance of the vaccine is announced by the U. S. Surgeon General's Office.

Dr. Burgess announced that the final shots will be administered beginning on the first Tuesday following the official clearance.

WOLLWEBER—COOL

Miss Elizabeth I. Cool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Cool, Fairfield, became the bride of Richard L. Wollweber, son of Mrs. Marion Wollweber, Austin, Minn., this week at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Fairfield. The pastor, Rev. John J. McNulty, officiated.

Miss Louella Lansinger, church organist here, accompanied the soloist, Miss Joan Bushey, Route 2, Gettysburg. The altar was decorated with snapdragons, carnations and lighted candles.

The bride wore a white satin ballerina-length gown and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Gertrude Cool, Philadelphia, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore an aqua blue ballerina-length gown, and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The best man was Thomas B. Sanders, Portsmouth, Va. A reception was held in the Saint Mary's social hall after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip to South Dakota. They will reside in Austin, Minn.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School here and was graduated from the Frankford Hospital School of Nursing, Philadelphia. The bridegroom, who spent four years in the navy, is in the building construction business in Minnesota.

Speeder Nabbed After Wild Chase

George Edward Hobbs, 18, Rt. 2, Fairfield, was apprehended Tuesday night by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas after a wild chase of about two miles. Chief Kaas took up the chase at the West End of town, and when Hobbs apparently tried to out-run the police cruiser the chase continued out the Tract Rd. for about two miles into Pennsylvania. Hobbs' car left the highway, out of control, and knocked down about 12 fence posts in a field in the Tract Rd. area.

Hobbs posted collateral of $51.45 on charges of reckless driving before Magistrate Charles D. Gillean. A hearing will be held Saturday morning in the local magistrate's office.

Little League About Ready

Emmitsburg's Little League is progressing by leaps and bounds. It was learned this week, and very shortly the little tots will begin an independent local season.

Four teams already have been completed and 11 local managers and coaches have been chosen.

The four teams embrace a total of 56 children from three local schools. To date the boys have been practicing on St. Joseph's High School grounds, while the Civic Grounds, east of town, were being readied. Information has it that the diamond is about completed and any day now regular games will take place.

Paul W. Claypool, general chairman of the Little League, says that donations have been coming in rather satisfactorily, but that it would take quite a bit more money to pay for equipment and other maintenance expenses incurred during the year. Canisters still are in local stores, and the public is urged to give generously.

The following teams and their coaches and managers have been released:

YANKEES, George Wagaman, James Hewitt, Carlos Englar Jr., Dennis McLaughlin, Allen Beale, Dennis Joy, Ernest Sweeney, Edward Meadows, Terry Fleagle, Clarence Umble, James Houck, Jack Topper, James Willis, Austin Umble, Jack Rosensteel and Chick Topper, coaches.

CARDS, Robert Beale, Robert Gingle, Wayne Hawks, Kenneth Swomley, David Eversole, Wilbur Topper, James Topper, Don Sweeney, Allen Beale, Don Fisher, Robert Willis, Robert Wagaman, and Joe Beale. Leonard Zimmerman and Edward Lingg, coaches.

Grange Would Crack Down On Highway Trash Throwers

A resolution recommending a force of special deputies be appointed with authority to arrest anyone found throwing away trash on the public highway, was presented by the Emmitsburg Grange at the meeting of the Frederick County Pomona Grange on last Saturday at Jefferson.

The Pomona Grangers also went on record as favoring planning and zoning in Frederick County.

'TIP' HARBAUGH IS NEW VFW COMMANDER

Thomas C. Harbaugh was elected post commander of the Emmitsburg Memorial Post, No. 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the annual election of officers held in the Post home last week. "Tip," as he is familiarly known, outdistanced two other rivals to take the top office in the organization.

The new commander will take charge of the Post after installation ceremonies to take place at the next regular meeting of the group. He succeeds Capt. Philip B. Sharpe.

Other officers and directors elected were: Senior Vice Commander, Roger Zurgable; Junior Vice Commander, Wayne McClellan; Quartermaster, Lumen F. Norris; Post Advocate, Louis Stoner; Chaplain, Louis Rosensteel; Post Surgeon, Raymond Baker; trustee for three years, William Sanders; board of directors, Clyde Eyer, Gerald Ryder Jr., Harold M. Hoke, Fern Ohler, William Sanders, Wales Righthour and Wayne McClellan.

Homemakers Club Hosts Thurmont Unit At Banquet

The Emmitsburg Homemakers Club met with Miss Beatrice Fehr, home demonstration agent on April 28 to discuss the topic of the month: Are we planning a good program?

Miss Fehr explained how the Cooperative Extension Service operates on three levels: County, state and national. She outlined the organizational set-up on each level and urged club members to call upon the resources of these government-supported agencies in planning a worthwhile program and in solving local problems. "Buzz-groups" of three discussed and presented to the membership the problems they consider most critical in Emmitsburg. Prominent among these was the need for increased recreational opportunities.

Miss Fehr urged awareness of the obligations of Homemakers, not only to improve their own club, but to extend homemaker knowledge to non-members for the betterment of the community.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Robert G. Fite, at the home of Mrs. Robert T. Marshall with Mrs. Charles B. Cursh in co-hostess, and opened with group singing of "America." Reports of Mrs. Geo. S. Eyster, secretary, and Mrs. Lewis B. Higbee, treasurer, were read and approved.

The Homemakers voted to present a $5 mathematics prize at the commencement exercises of both Emmitsburg High School and St. Joseph's High School. In recognition of National Better Homes Week the local club invited the Thurmont Homemakers to a mother-daughter banquet at the VFW annex last night.

A health panel, featuring three Frederick County doctors will be presented at Thurmont on May 27, at 7:30 p. m. The object of this panel is to improve doctor-patient understanding. Following a brief formal presentation of the situation the discussion will be open to questions from the floor. Anyone interested is invited to participate.

The next Homemaker meeting will be held in Frederick at the County Health Dept., May 26 at 2 p. m. The May afternoon of games is scheduled for May 19 at the Homemakers Clubroom, Mrs. Estelle Watkins, hostess.

A committee composed of Mrs. George S. Eyster, Mrs. Charles A. Harner and Mrs. Estelle Watkins will select a delegate to the annual Short Course at the University of Maryland. Guests at the meeting included Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Mrs. Victor Fiery, Mrs. John Richards, Mrs. James McKeon and Miss Fehr. The hostess served delicious refreshments.

Fire Chief Hollinger Resigns

The annual election of officers of the Vigilant Hose Co. was held at the regular meeting of the group Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, President Herbert W. Roger presiding over the 33 members present. Chairman of the annual financial drive reported that to date, the drive was only $216.30 short of its goal of $3000.

Elected to govern the group for another year were: president, Herbert W. Roger; vice president, J. William Rowe; secretary, J. E. Houck; treasurer, Guy A. Baker; chief, John S. Hollinger; first assistant fire chief, Sterling White; second assistant chief, Franklin Wastler; directors, John J. Hollinger and Aaron Adams.

John J. Hollinger, who for the past 20 years served in the capacity of fire chief, announced that he was no longer a candidate for the office and withdrew his name from the ballot. For his outstanding service, Mr. Hollinger was presented a past fire chief's badge.

No fires were reported during the month of April. A communication was received from the University of Maryland Fire Extension Service announcing a series of pumping classes will be held June 17 and 18 at the university.

The following delegates to the state firemen's convention to be held in Cumberland June 22-24 were appointed: J. E. Houck, John J. Hollinger, Sterling White, John S. Hollinger, and Frank Wastler; alternates are Herbert W. Roger, Charles Hartagen, Brooke Damuth, Roger Adams and George Ashbaugh Jr.

Three new members were taken into the organization. They were Raymond Sanders, State Trooper Hirman J. Brown and Guy W. Warren. Applications for membership were received from L. Kenneth Vaughn and Harry Shoemaker.

The firemen will sponsor a food sale Saturday, May 21, in the Fire Hall for the benefit of the Warner Hospital building fund. All members are asked to have articles in the hall before 10 a. m. on the morning of the sale.

"Operation Fireball" will be held Sunday, May 15, at the Frederick High School. Fire companies and equipment from the county will participate. The Fairfield Fire Co. has agreed to "watch" the Emmitsburg area in the absence of local equipment.

Rhoderick Again Heads County School Board

George C. Rhoderick Jr., Middletown publisher, was re-elected president of the Frederick County Board of Education at the annual meeting on Tuesday at the board offices in the old East Church St. school building, Frederick.

Joseph F. Rhoderick of Braddock Heights was elected vice president of the board, succeeding George J. Martin of Emmitsburg, who is ending a six-year term. Mr. Martin's successor on the board has not yet been appointed by Gov. McKeldin although the Republican State Central Committee of Frederick County has recommended Mrs. Jane Wise of Lewistown, for the position.

Supt. of Schools Eugene W. Pruitt continues as the board secretary-treasurer, and Robert E. Clapp Jr. was renamed as counsel.

The first addition will cost approximately $250,000. As soon as that amount is received, the new addition will be constructed and 2 ward patients will be transferred from the original building. That building then will be made available for the urgently needed expansion of the X-ray and other services of the hospital which are now badly cramped and overcrowded.

Individuals, families, organizations (fraternal, social and civic) and others are urged to be prepared to make their contributions as soon as possible or when the volunteer workers call at the homes or business places.

License Inspector Still Unnamed

A list of three names—presumably Democrats—has been submitted by the Democratic State Central Committee to County License Commissioner Gail L. Cutshall for the appointment of an alcoholic beverage inspector for Frederick County, as provided by a recent act of the State Legislature.

Mr. Cutshall said he has the appointment under consideration but no action has been taken as yet. The names of the candidates on the list were not disclosed.

ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Fisher of Rocky Ridge have announced the engagement of their daughter, Doris Cornelia, to W. Burtis Mercer, Fairmont, W. Va. No date has been set for the wedding.

Hospital Drive For New Building Is Launched

Emmitsburg threw its full strength into the building fund drive of the Annie M. Warner Hospital in Gettysburg this week as the drive for $250,000 opened Tuesday.

Representatives of the board of directors of the hospital have been appearing at local meetings in an effort to instill a full measure of spirit and cooperation in the populace and canvassers.

While a local goal has not been established it is known that a sizeable sum must be raised here to insure the success of the big drive which is for the purpose of erecting a new addition to the present hospital buildings.

George L. Wilhide, a director of the hospital, is spearheading the drive locally and has appointed Dr. J. W. Houser as the financial chairman for Emmitsburg.

Already many local clubs and groups have donated nearly $1000 and are planning to give more and to sponsor fund-raising affairs to supplement the drive.

Dr. Houser has announced the following authorized solicitors for a door-to-door canvass: Colonel T. J. Frailey, George L. Wilhide, Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Edgar G. Emrich, Mrs. Robert Fite, William Krom, Mrs. Andrew Eyster, Arthur Elder and Herbert W. Roger.

The need for new facilities is desperately apparent as an overcrowded condition prevails and a long waiting list is on hand and the only way the situation can be alleviated is by a new building. Population increases also have worked a considerable hardship on the hospital's facilities.

Present plans call for work to begin on the new annex about July 1 and as hospitals are not permitted to borrow money, by state law, every cent of the $250,000 must be raised before actual construction can begin. Reports from other areas participating in the drive reveal that public cooperation is on a high level.

A compilation of last year's number of days spent in the hospital by citizens of Emmitsburg shows a total of 1,531, about 18% of the hospital's facilities.

A number of friends of the Annie M. Warner Hospital who wish to donate to the fund being raised to pay for a much-needed addition have raised an important and relevant question which requires an immediate answer.

"We wish to donate to the fund but wish to spread our contributions over a period of a year or two years. How can we do it?"

Those in charge of the campaign have anticipated such a question and have prepared an answer which is included in the brochure which was mailed last week to householders in the area served by the hospital.

Here it is: If you wish to donate $60, you may divide your donations in six equal payments over a two-year period, making payments every month or every four months. These payments would be $2.50 per month, or $10 every four months for two years.

Similarly, if you wish to donate $120, you may pay $5.00 each month or $20 every four months for two years.

A volunteer will call at all homes and places of business and explain how a donor can make a donation.

Those in charge of the drive are asking all donors to give as much as they possibly can as a first payment and then divide the balance in six equal payments. The hospital building committee needs money to start construction at the earliest possible moment.

The first addition will cost approximately $250,000. As soon as that amount is received, the new addition will be constructed and 2 ward patients will be transferred from the original building. That building then will be made available for the urgently needed expansion of the X-ray and other services of the hospital which are now badly cramped and overcrowded.

Individuals, families, organizations (fraternal, social and civic) and others are urged to be prepared to make their contributions as soon as possible or when the volunteer workers call at the homes or business places.

Good Employee Relations

In 1900, 35 people pooled their savings and founded a little steel manufacturing company in Ohio. Their capital totalled $350,000. They employed 350 people. The little company had severe difficulties. For instance, the great U. S. Steel Corp., combining many companies, was formed the same year. Competition was tough. But the little company year after year overcame all obstacles. Today it has 55,000 stockholders, 30,000 employees, and assets worth a half billion. It is the Armco Steel Corp., sixth largest in the nation.

This is a typical American success story. But there is a standout element in the Armco story. It has one of the best management-labor relations records in American industry. In all the plants of the parent company, except one, there has never been the loss of a single pound of steel production because of a work stoppage or a strike—in five years!

Principles Outlined

It was for the purpose of finding the "How" in Armco's remarkable management-labor record that William Verity, an executive of the corporation, was invited to participate in a panel discussion on employer-employee relations at the 16th Freedom Forum conducted by The National Education Program on the Harding College Campus. On the panel with him were representatives of organized labor and another industry spokesman. William Verity outlined four "human relations principles" on which Armco's employe relations program is based. They are:

1. The first responsibility of management is to create understanding. Charles Hook, chairman of Armco's board, many years ago stated it thus: "To succeed there must be co-operation, you must have understanding. And to have understanding, you must take the mystery out of business; you must keep your organization informed, you must create confidence among the employes in the company's leaders." Armco feels that it is largely the company's responsibility to create mutual trust and respect between employes and manage-

Christian Leadership

2. Offer true leadership to your employes. "The Bible is read by many millions of people but the proof of the pudding is not in the reading but in the extent to which the lessons are absorbed," said Verity. "It isn't what is preached from the Bible, it is what is practiced from the teachings of the Bible. This applies in management attitudes and actions. It is not what we say we are, but what we are and what we stand for. If management is to be accepted by their employes, then management must assume sound relationships in all things that affect the good of the company and the community."

3. Create a sense of belonging. "Businessmen and industrialists are too often accused of being more interested in buildings or profits than in people," said Verity. "Is this a fact? I hardly think so. Buildings and equipment have no economic value except as human beings give them value through effective use. So our first interest is in people. Our employes will respond if we let them know that they are important, that we need them, and that their needs and interests are considered in every management action."

Living The Policies

4. Establish written policies for your company. Why is your company in business? What is its primary purpose? What are the responsibilities of your company to your employes, to your shareholders, to your suppliers. "Armco's written policies," said Verity, "start with the frank statement that Armco was organized to earn a profit through the manufacture of quality iron and steel products. They insist upon a square deal always, to everyone—to do right for right's sake and not as an expedient to secure desired results. They provide for not only fair remuneration but the best compensation possible. They provide for every practical and possible sound incentive to best effort—because this is the main-spring of all human accomplishments. The policies provide every possible opportunity for advancement, and for the creation of good working conditions in the plant and good living conditions in the community. When all is said, it is the spirit and the sincerity with which we live our policies from day to day and year to year that count."

Opponents of the flexible price program tried to make a case for peanuts. No one denies the hardship case that is being made for the peanut grower. What is sadly wrong is the defenders of the peanut grower placing the blame on a program that is not yet in effect. The peanut grower's troubles stem from the very program they want continued. The flexible system would take care not only of nature's whims and of market demands but would also go along way toward helping the farmer and the baseball fan who wants to munch on peanuts as he watches the game.

During the week I also had the opportunity of appearing before the House Appropriations Committee in support of the President's request for $1.4 million for next year's work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project. I pointed out to the Committee that the area was doing more than its part in sharing the cost of flood protection. I believe that the Committee was impressed and I am hopeful that the full amount of the request will be approved.

Refrigerator Desserts Make Mealtime Easy

Got an early touch of spring fever? Then how about trying a recipe that's so easy you'll hardly flex a single muscle? It's for Coffee Charlotte Squares—a rich and creamy dessert flavored with easy-to-add Instant Maxwell House Coffee to give just the right amount of flavor.

Clever cooks beat a path to their refrigerators to help in meal preparation, and this is one of the recipes you make ahead of time to let it chill under the cooling compartment in a serving dish or refrigerator tray.

To make delicious Coffee Charlotte Squares, spoon a mixture of instant coffee, melted marshmallows and whipped cream over a layer of ladyfingers. Let it chill in the refrigerator, then slice generous servings that do justice to its delicious pure coffee flavor. Coffee Charlotte Squares make this a time when it's impossible to say no to dessert.

Coffee Charlotte Squares

- 3 tablespoons Instant Maxwell House Coffee
- ¾ cup hot water
- 30 marshmallows, cut in small pieces (10-ounce package)
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 12 double ladyfingers

Dissolve instant coffee in hot water. Add marshmallows. Place over low heat and stir until marshmallows are completely melted. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream, and fold into coffee mixture.

Separate ladyfingers and line bottom of 10x6-inch or 8x8-inch baking dish, serving dish, or 4½x11-inch refrigerator tray. Top with half of the coffee mixture. Cover with another layer of ladyfingers and top with remaining coffee mixture. Chill 8 hours or overnight. Cut into squares to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, May 11—The utter ridiculousness of the defense of rigid price supports was beautifully illustrated last week in the House during the debate on the farm bill. The peanut truly "stole the show." All of us enjoy a bag of peanuts at a ball game. But the record shows that we are buying fewer bags each year. Why? The reason is not that we don't enjoy peanuts anymore; it's that the price seems just too high.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 12—If you should lose your job tomorrow, how much of a financial hardship would you and your family suffer? Are you up to your neck in installment payments? Have you borrowed too heavily on your insurance? What if serious illness should strike your family?

Many Are Getting Overextended A 32-year-old worker of a small New England machine-tool producer was laid off the other day. He had been making $96.00 a week. That is $416 a month before taxes. He has fixed monthly installment commitments: $68.00 (interest and mortgage) on his new house; $61.25 on a 1953 automobile; $13.00 on a set of encyclopedias; $18.75 on a TV; $32.00 on a trip to Bermuda for his wife; $19.90 on a food-freezer, that I know about. In addition, he has several hundred dollars outstanding with department stores. He owes a winter fuel bill of $135.00. He is behind in his telephone and light payments. The local grocer, dry cleaner, milkman, and other merchants whom he owes have put him on a cash basis. He has borrowed $250.00 on an insurance policy, and now finds he cannot pay the quarterly premium due.

Perhaps this young man is an exception and not typical of most young workers. But I believe he is more typical than many of us want to believe. He could get along, and might even work himself out of his financial difficulties, if he could keep fully employed and not get involved in strikes. But he has seriously overextended himself. What if he could not quickly get back to work?

Wageworkers' Debts May Prevent Strikes This man is a product of our postwar wave of prosperity. In a way I cannot blame him. He has been encouraged—yes, even bullied—by radio, magazine, and TV salesmen, to overload. This young man had more money to spend than ever before. What has happened to him might happen to you. Here is why.

Right after the war, in 1946, people were spending only about 45 per cent of their incomes for life's necessities, leaving about 55 per cent for whatever took their fancy. Since 1946, fixed charges such as rent, food, and installment commitments have been taking a larger share of the income. Last year, 53 per cent of the average consumer's income was spent for fixed charges, leaving 47 per cent for discretionary buying—8 per cent less than in 1946. As long as business booms, there is little need to worry. But should strikes this summer, or overproduction or layoffs, catch up with us, the heavy load of fixed charges which many consumers are carrying could be serious. When labor leaders realize this situation, they may not call strikes this summer.

Savings Accounts Good Insurance I am concerned about this because I know that major cycles of prosperity and depression will always be with us as a result of the unforeseeable and inevitable vagaries of human judgment. I am concerned about the present degree of installment buying. For example, on Feb. 28 total consumer credit outstanding was $29.5 billion —the highest February on record, and almost $1.5 billion higher than in February 1954. Most people are unable to spend their money wisely; many undervalue it and spend it carelessly. In times of prosperity, just as a matter of good financial common sense one ought to take advantage of the times and increase financial reserves. Savings accounts should be built up, careful investments made.

This period of prosperity is by all means the time to build protection for future unemployment. Certainly in a period of great prosperity one ought not to go into needless debt. I will be the first to admit that money in the bank is not doing much good, except as insurance; but this kind of insurance is as important as any other. Pride of ownership in a house, the satisfaction of a new car, the comfort of air conditioning, the joy of TV—all of these things bring satisfaction and contentment. But what will happen to that contentment if tomorrow the pawnbroker moves in? It takes intelligence, courage, and will power to plan for tomorrow as well as to spend for today; but every reader—whether landlord, employer, or wageworker—should now plan for tomorrow.

This period of prosperity is by all means the time to build protection for future unemployment. Certainly in a period of great prosperity one ought not to go into needless debt. I will be the first to admit that money in the bank is not doing much good, except as insurance; but this kind of insurance is as important as any other. Pride of ownership in a house, the satisfaction of a new car, the comfort of air conditioning, the joy of TV—all of these things bring satisfaction and contentment. But what will happen to that contentment if tomorrow the pawnbroker moves in? It takes intelligence, courage, and will power to plan for tomorrow as well as to spend for today; but every reader—whether landlord, employer, or wageworker—should now plan for tomorrow.

In times of prosperity, just as a matter of good financial common sense one ought to take advantage of the times and increase financial reserves. Savings accounts should be built up, careful investments made.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

With properly matched tackle, some idea of where to find fish, and a light tread so as not to scare the daylight out of them, anybody can catch trout on flies, claims Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield magazine.

Now practically all expert anglers agree that the size of the fly is the most important thing in trout fishing, granted that one has some knowledge of how to fish it. The unsuccessful angler uses flies which are too large. For trout found in most places, 10's are the biggest that will get good results, while 12's, 14's and even smaller down to 18's are sometimes better. Skimpily dressed flies are best—you may have to buy overdressed ones and trim them with a scissors.

Don't bother too much about patterns, but get some No. 10 or 12 wet flies that are mainly black, white, gray and brown. Later after you're catching trout well, get some of the same colors in smaller sizes; still later, you can start playing around with patterns—that may not get you any more trout, but it's lots of fun.

Lucas says he'd like to print BE CAUTIOUS in red letters an inch high, in the feeble hope that it will make some impression on careless anglers. Here are some good general rules in this matter.

1. If you are where you can see a trout, he can see you too; but he saw you first, so he's gone.

2. The calmer the surface of the water, the farther he can see you.

3. The higher you are above the surface, the farther he can see you.

4. It's a danged sight better to be too cautious, which can't keep you from catching them, than to be just a shade careless, which sure as heck can.

No matter how broken the surface, nor how low down you are, don't get closer than 30 feet to the spot you are going to fish.

A word about leaders—the finer and less visible the leader, the more trout will take your fly. Use a tapered leader, one 6 to 7½ feet. Lucas feels that undyed leaders are more productive.

HOGAN'S ALLEY BY PAT HOGAN

"Clothes make the man!" You'll never doubt if once you're caught some place without.

—David Niven

DAVID NIVEN, a member of the all-star lineup on the "Four Star Playhouse," claims he should write a book entitled "The Worst Possible Way to Impress Hollywood."

"Such a volume could be autobiographical," says Niven.

"Eager to impress the top men within the magic circle, I jumped at an invitation by Doug Fairbanks to come to his studio for a steam bath. I would have rather been invited to lunch. I was really hungry as I had just arrived in California and wasn't doing too well. First thing I knew Fairbanks was introducing me to several movie people in the middle of the steam room."

"I once had visions of arranging appointments with the movie moguls dressed in just the proper raiment to impress them. But here I was, standing naked on a marble slab, being introduced to Joe Schenck, Sam Goldwyn and Louis B. Mayer."

"I moved to another room to cool off and was introduced to Darryl Zanuck. I made a real impression on him. He invited me to play polo, although I had never played in my life. My first time out I knocked Mr. Zanuck off his horse by accident and my mount bit him on the hip."

NORMAN TOKAR, producer of CBS Television's "My Favorite Husband," once in a while steals a line from another TV show—not to use on camera, however, but behind it—to keep his cast happy.

For instance, actress Mabel Albertson was doing a part in a recent production. Tokar had her brother, Jack, flown to Hollywood from New York for a part in the same telecast without telling Mabel about it. "This is your life, Mabel Albertson," announced Tokar as he brought Jack on stage. Surprised and delighted, the actress stammered, "Where'd you get the dough to fly way out here, Jack?"

DALE EVANS, co-star on Bob Hope's coming TV show along with her husband, Roy Rogers, got into show business in the least likely way. She stepped from a job as secretary in an insurance office in Memphis, Tenn., to a spot before the radio mike.

Dale was afraid that her habit of singing at her typewriter would get her fired if the boss heard her. It did, and he fired her, but only to put her on a radio show the company sponsored on Station WMC.

John Daly's Charm John Daly, moderator of "What's My Line?" CBS Television's Sunday night panel program, feels more than young at heart these days.

On his 18th wedding anniversary, Daly was presented with the results of a teenager's poll, which named him "Favorite Date for an Evening."

"I guess the biggest thrill about the entire award," said the beaming Daly, "was the fact none of the girls dreamed of going dancing with me. They just wanted to sit and listen to me talk."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A major recommendation of the Attorney General's Committee to study Antitrust Laws was abolition of fair trade laws.

Paradoxically, in all the high flown language on this subject such as "restoring free competitive pricing" no mention was made of enforcing free "competitive pricing" in sales of gasoline, steel, cement, many other big industry products which are not fair traded, but which hold an astonishing unanimity of pricing structure nonetheless.

On analysis, this report by 60 corporation lawyers, professors and bureaucrats is not surprising. What committee lacked was a man with a screwdriver.

A committeeman with a screwdriver, ie, a servicing dealer, or a dealer's serviceman, could have told this intellectual assemblage some facts of life.

For example, the Jones Co. may have decided to build the best food mixer possible.

So the Jones Company had at it, setting up production facilities, quality controls, and intensive advertising. But that was not all the Jones Co. needed.

It also needed dealers who would sell and stock this quality item. In addition, as is well known to any man with a screwdriver, there is no such thing as a flow of manufactured items without a percentage showing defects after being put in use.

To keep faith with the public, the Jones Company couldn't expect the consumer to wait while the defective mixer went to the factory and back. Neither is it practical for a mass production factory to spend time on a single unit, to say nothing of the postage costs involved.

So the Jones Company had to make arrangements with their dealers to

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, Jr.

WASHINGTON — Each week now is showing an increase in pressure at the Capitol by the Administration for its legislative program.

President Eisenhower personally is taking the lead in battling for enactment of measures recommended by the White House. He is showing little disposition to accept compromises.

This presidential attitude has shown up forcibly with respect to reciprocal trade legislation and has increased confidence in administration circles that the bill as reported by the Senate Finance Committee will be passed without major change. The measure, now before the Senate, would provide for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Law and give the President authority to reduce tariffs 15 per cent in three years in three annual stages of five per cent per year.

The story behind the successful fight by the President for this program, which was drafted by his special adviser, Clarence B. Randall, is an interesting one. The Senate Finance Committee was closely divided. Many committee members sponsored amendments proposing limitations on imports of oil, lead and zinc, and other commodities. A hard fight was being waged for such changes. But Mr. Eisenhower, in private conferences, proved himself to be a skillful negotiator with those Congressmen seeking change. Quietly and without publicity, the President called the dissenting legislators to the White House and made known his determination to obtain a bill that was satisfactory to him.

While the Senators wanting amendments are now planning a vigorous fight on the Senate floor, it is recognized that they are waging an up-hill battle—probably a losing battle—as happened in the finance committee.

Foreign Aid: Here again the President has taken personal leadership. He has gone directly to Congressional leaders handling the recommended $3.53 billion foreign aid program. This conference was called immediately after public expressions by the President of an improved world situation and of the ultimate defeat of communism if the American ideal of fostering the common good is applied to the nation's international relations.

Farm Program: The President is giving full support to his Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Benson, in his effort to retain the Administration's flexible farm program as against a rigid 90 per cent parity as urged by some members of Congress with the backing of Walter Reuther of the CIO. The White House has been unmoved in its position, despite efforts of Big Union Bosses to effect a coalition with New Deal Democrats whereby New Dealers from metropolitan areas would support a 90 per cent parity and in turn receive farm support for an increase in the minimum wage to $1.25, or 35 cents more per hour than recommended by the Administration.

Bricker Amendment: Sen. Bricker (R. Ohio) and the Secretary of State, Mr. Dulles, are still looking at the proposed Bricker Constitutional Amendment from opposite positions. The Ohio Senator holds that the amendment is necessary to prevent a treaty or other international agreement from overriding the Constitution and also nullifying Federal and state laws. Senator Bricker, appearing before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, cited Mr. Dulles in speaking before the American Bar Assn. at Louisville, Ky., on Apr. 11, 1952, as having said, in part:

"Treaties, for example, can take powers away from the Congress and give them to the President; they can take powers from the states and give them to the Federal government or to some international body, and they can cut across the rights given the people by their constitutional Bill of Rights."

After reading this quotation, Sen. Bricker said: "That is the classic statement on the danger of treaty law."

Mr. Dulles, in appearing before the Senate committee, dispelled all hopes of backers of the Bricker Amendment of working out a compromise in the near future. The Secretary of State held that the Bricker proposal would hamper the President in his treaty-making powers and that the Administration had no intention of approving or recommending to the Senate for approval any proposals brought forward by international labor organizations or other international conventions which would invade purely domestic legislative fields.

posed to TB, take in a good dose of germs from someone who has the disease, and yet be able to fight the germs to a standstill. Months, even years later the disease might start up either because of a new invasion of germs or because the body's defenses against the old infection have weakened. Even then tuberculosis may not declare itself openly. It can be active for some time without obvious symptoms.

Since a person who has TB may not feel ill, he may go about his business and pleasure as usual. Of course, he will be getting steadily worse and spreading his germs to those about him, although he looks as healthy as ever.

Another way tuberculosis differs from many other infectious diseases is that one outbreak doesn't always end the story. The cured ex-patient has to make an

In an effort to afford more specific relief to parties injured by the Trade Agreements Extension Act, I offered an amendment to H.R. 1 which would make the findings of the Tariff Commission "as to the existence of, or threat of, serious injury to a domestic industry, "final and conclusive." However, the President's existing authority to over-ride the Commission's proposals would be unchanged.

I decided to withdraw the amendment after an understanding with ranking members of the Senate Finance Committee to the effect that the Administration would take prompt action in considering any injury to American industry.

The amendment would have clarified the existing law. It called for a clear and expert statement of fact to be placed before the President. From this, he would be able to make a decision as to what course of action is best for the Nation.

Like many previous proposals which would represent a lessening of the powers of the President, this amendment would in no way tie the hands of the President. He could act as he saw fit.

In a recent letter to Minority Leader Martin of the House of Representatives, the President stated: "Obviously, it would ill serve our nation's interest to undermine American industry or to take steps which would lower the high wages received by our working men and women. . . . No American industry will be placed in jeopardy by the administration of this measure."

My amendment was designed to assist the President in making the determinations which the law has traditionally required the President to make in cases of injury.

In view, may I point out that as a result of 51 investigations by the Tariff Commission, 15 cases have gone to the White House for action by this and previous Administrations.

The amendment was modest enough, but I sincerely believe that it would have been a worthwhile addition to the Trade Agreements Extension Act.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

BROWN TROUT
(Salmo trutta)

RANGE: Brown trout were introduced into North America from Europe in recent years; it will survive in waters of a higher temperature than either the brook or rainbow trout, hence is found in many waters not occupied by these two species. It is now found in almost all the northern states, in fact most all except those in the south where the waters are too warm. It has been extensively and successfully introduced into Maryland's trout waters.

DESCRIPTION: The color of brown trout and other fresh water trout, varies somewhat in different waters; the general tone is brown from which it gets its name; dark brown or black on top; black and brown spots on back and red spots on sides. Brown trout grow to large size, but the average taken by the angler is about 8 or 9 inches; scales larger than those of brook trout.

BREEDING: Spawning may take place from late fall to early spring according to the environment; the female prepares a nest which is generally larger than her body, in gravel at bottom of stream; along with a single male the eggs are deposited, fertilized, and covered; the eggs should hatch in about 4 or 5 weeks, depending somewhat on temperature of the water; the young take care of themselves.

HABITS: Is a very shy fish; this enables it to survive where brook trout, more readily captured, are quickly removed from the stream; a delight to the dry fly angler. It is true the brown trout is cannibalistic but so also is the brook trout; many fine trout streams formerly suitable for brook trout, have grown through deforestation, too warm and, now will support only the brown. Browns are partial to larger streams, and like plenty of natural cover.

MANAGEMENT: Readily propagated in hatcheries, and many states rear brown trout to legal size or larger before liberation. Improvement of habitat by providing more cover, which in turn will furnish more food, will increase their numbers; removal of pollution from suitable streams will increase stream mileage. While there is a tendency to relax or remove many legal restrictions on catching warm water species, it is generally conceded the brown and other trout should be afforded protection by a closed season during at least a part of the spawning period.

VALUE: Furnished a lot of sport and recreation, and is an excellent food; however in Maryland it is strictly a game fish and may not be sold for food purposes, if taken within the State.

Unusual laws quoted are from "It's The Law" feature in the American Magazine.

If you think some traffic regulations are weird, I just came across a couple of beauts. In Rochester, N. Y., there's an ordinance prohibiting the carrying of live poultry in buses. And in Tylertown, Miss., it's illegal to shave in the center of Main Street.

Oh, yes — here's one that was probably made to speed up traffic in Milford, Mass. In that town it's against the law to peep into the window of an automobile.

In the state of Ohio they must have a nice, deep affection for the birds and the bees. Well, for the bees, anyway, because in that state it's unlawful to enter any premises with intent to disturb the little creatures.

Ever hear of a rabbit census. It could happen in Tusculum, Alabama. Because in that community there's a law which decrees that no more than eight rabbits may reside on the same block.

If you're in Texas on an election day, please remember to leave your sword at home. Because in the Lone Star State you can get arrested for carrying a spear or sword to a polling place.

Preventing Tuberculosis

TB is your problem. But, you say, you don't know a single person who has tuberculosis. Are you sure? How do you know? That's just the trouble with this insidious disease. It can hide for long periods behind a mask that imitates health.

If TB were like measles, it would probably be under complete control today. Medical science can plot the course of measles from the time of infection through the incubation period to the outbreak of the familiar symptoms. Within a specified time the disease is cured, and the patient is immune to another infection. Not so with tuberculosis.

In the first place, infection with tuberculosis germs does not necessarily mean that disease will break out at all. You can be ex-

Korean Grass Proves Answer To Lawn Problems

Annual lawn rebuilding will cease being a problem for many home owners with the use of Meyer Z-52 Zoysia, the tough Korean grass which is being widely planted throughout the country this year.

Called Meyer Z-52 because of the famous explorer who brought it to America and because it all started with seedling No. 52 in the laboratories of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the grass is considered the answer to the quest for a permanent green sward that every grass enthusiast hopes for, but seldom achieves.

In cooperation with the U. S. Golf Assn., scientists of the Dept. of Agriculture set out to develop a grass that was sturdy, disease resistant and drought resistant. It had to be capable of thriving in poor soils—whether heavy clay or light and sandy—and had to be capable of choking out crab grass and weeds. Meyer Z-52 is the result of their extensive experimentation.

Meyer Z-52, a hybrid, is a variation of common Zoysia, but unlike the parent, it is a highly desirable grass. While resembling bluegrass, it grows by sending out stolons above and below the ground. New grass blades, new roots and again new stolons are formed.

In time a thick turf and a complex root system are developed. Weeds and crab grass can get no foothold here. Since roots penetrate to depths of two feet, the plant exists on sub-soil water during periods of drought.

Meyer Z-52 is not grown from seed. It develops best when grown from two-inch round plugs like those distributed by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The plugs are placed on 12-inch centers either in the existing lawn or in a specially cleared area. Soon Meyer Z-52 covers over and the happy home owner cuts new plugs from his Meyer Z-52 lawn to place throughout his ordinary lawn.

All Meyer Z-52 round plugs now available are descendant plugs of seedling No. 52 selected by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Of the Zoysias, only Meyer Z-52 has been labeled as a superior grass by the Dept. of Agriculture.

The quantity available is still limited, but it is carried at various department stores and can be obtained by writing direct to Zoysia Farm Nurseries at Finksburg, Maryland.

Potomac Edison TV Show Acclaimed

"You Are There," sponsored by this area by the Potomac Edison Company, has received the first television award ever made by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The award was made on the basis of three DAR objectives: historical appreciation, educational training and patriotic service.

The award to the series, presented on alternate Sundays by America's Electric Light and Power Companies, was made at the D.A.R. convention at Constitution Hall in Washington, D. C.

Walter Cronkite serves as the key newsman for the "You Are There" program that re-creates memorable events of history in the on-the-spot news coverage format.

In March of this year, the Electric Companies Advertising Program honored by Freedoms Foundation with the organization's top 1954 award for the "You Are There" presentation of "The Resolve of Patrick Henry."

Earlier this year, "You Are There" was voted "best educational program" on television in the second annual poll conducted by Compact, publication known as the Young People's Digest.

Give Yourself a "BRAKE"

Minnesota and New Jersey have outlawed sale of brake fluids below standards set by the Society of Automotive Engineers.

In cold weather inferior fluid can thicken, even freeze, and cause brake failure. About one out of every three brands of fluid available today, according to a car manufacturer's survey, is sub-standard and thus dangerous.

The only way a motorist can be sure he is getting a safe brake fluid for all-weather driving is to insist the package carries the statement, "Meets or Exceeds SAE Specification 70RL." (See Pont Brake Information)

Bus Line Sale Still Tied Up

The recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission authorizing the sale of the Blue Ridge Transportation Company and White Star Lines, Inc. to Greyhound Lines, has raised the question of when the actual transfer of operations to Greyhound will take place.

In an interview with R. Paul Smith, president of Blue Ridge Lines, Mr. Smith stated that no action could be taken until final approvals had also been obtained from all the state regulatory bodies concerned.

Mr. Smith pointed out that the Interstate Commerce Commission order simply granted approval for the sale at any time within one hundred and eighty days after June 3, 1955. He said that while approval had been received from Pennsylvania no action had yet been taken by either Maryland or West Virginia.

Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that the earliest that actual operations by Greyhound could start would be late summer or early fall. He also stated that when the time came for the actual transfer, specific announcements giving all details would be made as far in advance of the date as possible.

Hall Of Fame Jockeys Named

The names of the racriders, chosen by the nominating committee for a place on the final ballot for the Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico were announced this week. A list of 54 inactive jockeys were submitted to the committee and each selected seven. Earl Sande, a star of the '20 who made a brief comeback in 1954, was chosen by 43 of 44 sportswriters and sportscasters who marked ballots in the nominating poll.

George Woolf drew 32 and Isaac Murphy 31 votes. The group of seven, chosen by the committee for the final voting, is rounded out by Ted Sloan, Sonny Workman, LaVerne Fator, and Walter Miller. Each gathered 20 or more votes and there was a sharp drop in the number cast for Snapper Garrison, the next high man.

There was little doubt in the minds of the selectors as to which three active jockeys' names should go on the ballot. Eddie Arcaro received solid backing from all 44 members of the committee with 38 naming him their No. 1 choice. John Longden garnered 43 votes and Ted Atkinson 38 to round out the top trio while John Adams, Harold Keene, and Jack Westrope received scattered votes. Two of the inactive and one of the active riders will be elevated to the Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico by many sportswriters and sportscasters from every state. John O'Keefe, secretary of the committee, said approximately 1200 votes will be cast and that they are drawn from 417 different newspapers, 494 radio stations and 79 TV stations. The balance will come from news services and magazines.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT ZOYSIA GRASS

This season you'll probably hear a lot about ZOYSIA, the hardy, lush grass discovered in Korea. There are now several zoysias on the market. Extensive tests by U. S. Department of Agriculture and the U. S. Golf Association's Greens Section have proved Meyer Z-52 to be superior. Of the Meyer Z-52 Zoysias for sale we claim AMAZOY as the finest because it is grown with infinite care and comes only in 2-inch round plugs.

AMAZOY (Meyer Z-52) chokes out crab grass, summer weeds, produces a thick, velvety turf. It grows well in all types of soil, thrives in hot weather and requires 2/3 less cutting.

HERE'S WHY AMAZOY (Meyer Z-52) COMES ONLY IN 2 INCH ROUND PLUGS

We could sell AMAZOY in sprigs, or as strips of sod, but sprigs die easily and when you cut strips it's messy, you lose material and damage the roots.

Experience with AMAZOY 2 inch plugs has proved:

- 1. They are easier to plant. It's always easier to dig a round hole than a square one. The round plug fits right into the round hole just as a cork goes into a bottle and makes a surer transplant. 2. They contain many more square inches of thick underground root system. 3. They reach you in better condition, they're compact and don't fall apart. 4. They offer more rapid growth.

IT'S EASY TO PLANT AMAZOY. Using any tool or our handy Plugger, AMAZOY is easy to plant. With our handy Plugger it's a cinch. Simple and complete instructions with each order.

ORDER WITH THIS COUPON ZOYSIA FARM NURSERIES Dept. MW-14, Finksburg, Md. Please ship the following order of AMAZOY Meyer Z-52 ZOYSIA: [ ] packages 100 2-inch round plugs...$11.98 [ ] packages 500 2-inch round plugs...$59.90 [ ] Handy AMAZOY Plugger...$ 4.95 Name Address City Zone State NOTE: Orders filled only in units of 100 plugs. Receives Air Force Award

Airman First Class John E. Topper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Topper was recently presented a diploma upon his graduation from Biggs Air Force Base, Texas, Leadership School. Selected for the school because of his leadership potential, Airman Topper received in addition to intensive military training, instruction in leadership, management, speech and other subjects during the two-week course. Airman Topper entered the service in January of 1952 and he is now assigned to the 97th Bomb Wing, Biggs AFB, Texas, a member of the Strategic Air Command. He is married to the former Miss Gwen M. Carroll of El Paso, Tex.

Attend U. S. Chamber Convention

Colonel and Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey have returned from a four-day visit in Washington, D. C., where Col. Frailey attended the sessions of the 43rd annual convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce as national councillor and official delegate of the local Chamber of Commerce. A report of this convention will be given by Colonel Frailey at the May meeting of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce.

Following the termination of the sessions of the Commerce Convention, Colonel and Mrs. Frailey were honored at a banquet tendered there by the Alpha Chi Rho Club of Washington, an organization founded by Colonel Frailey at the University Club of Washington in 1919.

While in Washington, Colonel and Mrs. Frailey were guests at the home of Mrs. Frailey's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Smith.

Swine On Increase

The world hog population hit a new high in 1954, according to the latest information available to the Foreign Agricultural Service. There were 31 million head or 6% more than a year earlier, 9% above the 1936-40 average and about 30% above the low level of 1946-50.

Synod Will Convene In Taneytown

The 31st annual convention of the Lutheran Sunday School Assn. of the Western Lutheran Synod of Maryland will be held in Taneytown Thursday, May 19, starting at 9:30 a. m. Robert Saylor and Carroll E. Frock Jr. are members of the official convention committee.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Price support loan rates for the 1955 Maryland rye and barley crops have been announced by George B. Reeves, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Support rates for barley grading No. 2 or better are $1.24 per bushel for warehouse-stored grain and $1.05 per bushel for farm-stored grain. This compares to $1.46 per bushel and $1.27 per bushel in 1954.

Chairman Reeves says barley will not be eligible for a farm-stored loan unless it has been in the granary at least 30 days before inspection by the county committee for measurement, sampling and sealing.

The county support rate for rye is $1.31 per bushel and the terminal market price support rate is $1.59. These rates are for rye grading No. 2 or better, or Grade No. 3 on the basis of test weight factor only.

More details of the rye program provisions will be announced to county offices at a later date, according to the ASC Chairman.

RESOLUTION

"WHEREAS, It has pleased the Almighty to remove from our midst by death our esteemed friend and co-laborer, Peter F. Burkett, who has for many years occupied a prominent rank in our midst, and has served as a faithful and loyal Director of the Farmers State Bank, Emmitsburg, Md., since its organization over a period of more than thirty-three years, having always had the best interest and advancement of the institution at heart at all times, being willing and able to give good counsel and advice and generously of his services.

"THEREFORE RESOLVED, That the sudden removal of such a life from our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of our organization and will prove a great loss to the community; and that in his death we have sustained the loss of a friend whose fellowship it was an honor to enjoy;

"RESOLVED, That we express our deep sympathy to his family;

"RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the records of the bank and a copy printed in the local newspaper."

Gillelan Re-appointed Local Magistrate

Charles D. Gillelan, local trial magistrate, this week began serving his fifth-straight year in that capacity after his appointment was confirmed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin.

Trial magistrates are appointed for a four-year term, and this is the second time Gov. McKeldin has selected Mr. Gillelan.

In the past four years, the magistrate has disposed of 1622 cases of which 1380 were motor vehicle violations, 221 criminal hearings, and 21 civil cases. Only on one occasion was an appeal from his decision changed by a higher court.

Five-Month-Old Hog Weighs 290 Pounds

Mr. George Sanders revealed this week that a young Chester White hog he had been raising had been sold. The animal, an excellent specimen, was just five months and 17 days old and topped the scales at 290 pounds. Questioned as to what he fed the swine, George replied that he had no magic formula, but that he just selected a local feed that he thought would do the trick.

Mr. Sanders said the animal was a cross-breed of Chester and Hampshire.

Alumni Dance Set For June 4

Poppy Weeks Designated

Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers issued the following proclamation this week proclaiming May 14 to 30 American Legion Poppy Weeks:
Whereas: The annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the American Legion Auxiliary of the U. S. has been officially recognized and endorsed by the President of the U. S. and American Legion;
And whereas: American Legion Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans; and
Whereas: The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the American Legion Auxiliary is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living"; therefore,
I, Thornton W. Rodgers, Burgess of the Corporation of Emmitsburg, Md., do hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this noble cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies during May 14-30, the period set aside for the distribution of these symbols of loyalty. I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

THORNTON W. RODGERS,
Mayor
