Regardless of how hard you try to explain something to some people there always is a certain amount of misunderstanding or confusion involved. I thought I had clearly defined the activities of a hospital in last week's column, but apparently I failed to put across the point somewhere along the line.

Some of the hospital fund solicitors informed me this week that there is a certain amount of misunderstanding among individuals and they think that because they paid their bill at the time of hospitalization that they shouldn't donate anything to the building fund drive. Well let me tell you Bud, that regardless of whether or not you paid your bill, the hospital absorbed a loss on you. And not only you, but every patient that enters the portals! The usual retort was incompetency or poor business management on the part of the hospital authorities. Why wasn't the institution operated like other enterprises, on a sound financial paying basis? Well Bud, I'll tell you why. It's all in the cause of humanity, believe it or not, and not for the sake of any financial gain for individuals or groups.

You see that if you rent a room for $9 a day in the hospital, it actually costs the institution $13 to house you, feed you and care medically for you. This represents a $4 loss on every patient every day he or she is hospitalized! Why in the heck, you say, does the establishment take a loss instead of charging higher rates? Well, after years of experience in the hospital business most concerns feel and know, that is a costly proposition to get sick and they realize how a family can be wiped out financially by any prolonged illness which sometimes costs thousands, so they agree to "take it on the chin" for the sake of humanity. As you know, there are more poor people than there are rich, so therefore more poor people are hospital patients who can ill afford any costly bills. Someone has to take up the slack, so the hospital shoulders the burden. I really like to think that I am doing my bit in this noble cause and I'm trying to explain the system of operation in a simple manner. I do hope I have cleared the matter somewhat for you.

I really must commend Dr. Houser for the excellent job he is doing as financial chairman of the drive and for the excellent results he is obtaining and I would be remiss in my duty if I didn't mention the dependable band of solicitors who are more than doing their part. Now how about YOU, have you done your bit?

Don't mothball that topcoat just yet. Seven inches of snow fell in the West this week and for a while I feared that we would be the recipient of some of the precipitation, so chilly was it. Seems a mighty inopportune time for this sort of weather what with all the haberdasheries advertising straw hats, the official season opening locally on May 15. Sort of incongruous if you ask me. Guess its that darn atomic bomb again. Anyway, none of our gardens were harmed during the cold "snap." We're bound to have some of that delightful spring weather mighty soon, so stop jumping on the landlady for more heat, its going to break any day now and we'll have three excellent months before us, during which time you'll probably be happy on the landlady for air-conditioning.

I can smell it cooking! What? Why savory chicken and ham. That's the menu on tap at the big Community Supper which will take place tomorrow afternoon and night. We all have donated to the hospital drive, but this time we can really enjoy helping along the cause. The supper is being sponsored by that grand set of gals, the women of Emmitsburg Community and will be served family style in the Lutheran parish hall, the most suitable place for serving large numbers of meals. Servings begin at noon tomorrow. Better make plans right now to take the wife and kids because I know what's on the menu and you'll be delighted. A bit of advice: Come early and you'll get more, if you really like to eat! You really couldn't eat for a better cause. Will I see you there?

Gov. McKeldin To Address Mount Graduates

Governor Theodore H. McKeldin, chief executive of the State of Maryland, will deliver the address to the graduates at the 147th commencement exercises of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, on Wednesday, June 1, at 10:30 a. m. in Memorial Gymnasium. During the graduation Gov. McKeldin will receive the honorary LL.D. for his distinguished career as a public servant. This marks the first time in the history of the college that an honorary degree has been awarded a public official while he was still in office.

A native of Baltimore, Gov. McKeldin began public service as secretary to the mayor of Baltimore in 1927 following his graduation from the University of Maryland in 1925. From 1943 to 1947 he was mayor of Baltimore. In 1950 he was elected governor for the first of two terms.

While a practicing lawyer since 1926, Gov. McKeldin has also been associated with the faculty of the University of Baltimore Law School, the Baltimore College of Commerce, the Bard-Avon School, and other educational institutions. He is nationally known as a public speaker.

The recipient of numerous honorary degrees from institutions of higher learning, Gov. McKeldin has also been honored for his civic labors receiving the 1952 Freedom Foundation Award, the Sydney Hollander Foundation Award for promoting better interracial relations, and many others.

Among his many accomplishments have been the improvements in the State training schools, the creation of a modern and progressive Board of Pardon and Probation, and many public works. In both the National Governors' Conference and the Southern Governors' Conference, Gov. McKeldin's roles have been those of leadership. At the Republican National Convention of 1952 in Chicago, he delivered the address that placed the name of President Eisenhower in nomination.

Long interested in civic as well as political affairs, Gov. McKeldin was one of the organizers and the second president of the Junior Association of Commerce of Baltimore. He is a member of the board of directors of the Council of Social Agencies and the Board of Trustees of the South Baltimore General Hospital. He served as chairman of the Board of the Baltimore Civic Opera Co. in 1948 and 1949 he was chairman of the Brotherhood Week for the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Mrs. Scott Addresses PTA Group

Mrs. Harry Scott addressed the St. Anthony's P-TA last Tuesday night on the topic "The Role of the Parent in the P-TA." Mrs. Scott emphasized that the organization should not function primarily as a fund-raising club, but as the bridge between home and school.

The P-TA adopted a constitution and by-laws. Since the May meeting is the last of the current school year, officers were elected to take over next Fall. Lively balloting gave the presidency to Mrs. Virginia Trout of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Parish, and the copresidency to Mrs. Robert S. Fite of St. Anthony's. Other officers elected were Mr. Carmel Kelly, vice president; Mrs. John J. Dillon, secretary, and Mrs. William Martin, treasurer.

Sister Agnes, principal of St. Anthony's School, and Mrs. Robert T. Marshall, outgoing club president, thanked members for the enthusiastic cooperation which has given the new organization a successful first year.

Will Collect Scrap For Hospital Drive

Members of the Emmitsburg FFA Club will "buy bricks" for the Warner Hospital building drive by selling paper, iron and rags, it was announced this week by the group.

People having paper, iron and rags and wanting to donate it to the cause are asked to place them in front of their homes, securely tied or boxed, for pickup on Saturday, May 28.

Mr. Edward Smith Jr. has volunteered the use of his truck and services and will pick up the articles between 9 a. m. and 12 noon on the above mentioned date.

Individuals having any of the desired articles in bulk lot are asked to contact Mr. Smith previous to the collection day by phoning HI. 7-4652.

BANKS WILL CLOSE SATURDAYS FOR SUMMER MONTHS

It was announced this week by the Frederick Clearing House that all the banks in Frederick City will be open from 6 to 9 p. m. on Friday evenings and will be closed all day on Saturday during the summer months.

The following county banks then decided to follow suit and do likewise: The Farmers State Bank, Emmitsburg; Woodsboro Savings Bank, Woodsboro; Walkersville Bank, Walkersville; Peoples Bank, Libertytown (branch of Union Bridge Banking and Trust Co.); Western Maryland Trust Co.; Jefferson (branch of Western Maryland Trust Co., Frederick.)

The new plan of banking hours has been motivated by the fact that many people who work during the week are unable to get to their banks during daytime, and also the fact that Friday evening seems to be fast replacing Saturday evening as a shopping night. Therefore, these banks have decided to give the new idea a trial to determine how satisfactory it works out during the summer months. If it is found to be satisfactory and desirable by most customers, it will be continued. However if not, they will go back to their previous banking schedule of being open on Saturday mornings and will not be open on Friday evenings.

Most banks in Carroll County have been on this schedule for quite some time as well as many other banks in Pennsylvania and other states.

Bishop To Receive Degree At College Exercises

The Most Rev. Jerome D. Hannan, D.D., S.T.D., J.C.D., LL.B., Bishop of Scranton, Pa., will be the recipient of the honorary Doctor of Laws degree at the 147th commencement exercises of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, on Wednesday, June 1, at 10:30 a. m. in Memorial Gymnasium.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Bishop Hannan was educated in the parochial and public schools of his native city. He was graduated from Duquesne University in 1916 and then entered St. Vincent's Seminary, Latrobe. Although he had finished his course in theology in 1920, he was ordained in 1921 because he was under canonical age. He began his pastoral career as administrator of Holy Trinity Parish, McKeesport, Pa., and from there was assigned to Holy Rosary Parish, Homewood.

In 1923 Bishop Hannan was appointed secretary to the late Bishop Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh and also served as chaplain at Mt. Mercy Academy. He served in this dual capacity for eight years. Between 1929 and 1931 he conducted a semi-monthly radio program over station WCAE in Pittsburgh.

Bishop Hannan received the LL.B. degree from Duquesne in 1931 and in 1934 his J.C.D. from the Catholic University. In 1934 he was appointed assistant chancellor of the Pittsburgh diocese and retained that post until 1939. He was, during the same period, assistant pastor of St. Paul's Cathedral and later administrator.

In 1940 he went to the Catholic University as an assistant professor of canon law, a position he held until 1942 when he was made an associate professor. From 1943 until 1951 Bishop Hannan edited "The Jurist," a quarterly published by the school of canon law at Catholic University. He also wrote the analecta in the "American Ecclesiastical Review" until he was named vice-rector of Catholic University in 1951.

In 1952 Bishop Hannan was invested as a Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor. In 1954 he was named 5th bishop of Scranton by Pope Pius XII to succeed the late Bishop William J. Hafey, a Mountaineer.

In addition to his duties as parish priest, diocesan administrator, and educator, Bishop Hannan has also written several important works including a Church History series for parochial schools, a two-volume work on The Sacred Canons, the Chancery Cases. Between 1951 and 1954 he was director of the Ecclesiastical School of the Catholic University, and from 1952 to 1954, national director of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae.

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club and Civic Assn. will be held Monday night in the Lutheran parish hall.

Community Benefit Supper Tomorrow

The women of the Emmitsburg Community will go all-out Saturday to make a successful affair pay off for the benefit of the Annie M. Warner Hospital building fund drive.

Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty, general chairman of the affair which will be a community supper, said this week that committees had been working diligently on the project. All indications are that a record number of meals will be served.

The supper, which will feature chicken and ham and other delicious foods, will be served in the Lutheran Parish Hall by the ladies of the community. Servings will be offered family style.

Mrs. Daugherty has pointed out that inasmuch as the project is a community-wide affair, all ladies of all churches are invited and urged to assist in any manner in which they feel they can best serve the cause. Solicitors have been around and naturally there are always a few individuals who are missed in such a canvass. Anyone wishing to donate food is asked to phone HI. 7-5281 or deliver their donations to the parish hall Saturday morning.

The committee has stated that it expects to begin servings at 12 noon Saturday. Tickets will sell at $1.25 for adults and 75c for children.

Helpers are asked to be present at the Lutheran Parish Hall today (Friday) from 1 to 5 p. m. and from 7 o'clock on, and again Saturday morning at 8 o'clock.

Committees are expected to serve well over 500 suppers and the net proceeds will represent a donation from the community, as a whole, to the building fund of the Annie M. Warner Hospital in Gettysburg. A cake and candy table will be operated during the supper. The general public is cordially invited.

EHS Senior Play Friday, May 27

The seniors of Emmitsburg High School will present a three-act play, "Happy Daze," at 8 p. m. on Friday, May 27, in the high school auditorium.

Union Bridge broke a 5-5 tie with five runs in the 11th inning to win over New Windsor 10-5. Thurmont blasted out a 14-2 victory over Emmitsburg at the loser's grounds.

Broadway; as pro-synodal judge of the matrimonial court of the Archdiocese of Baltimore since 1938, and as a member of a three man committee which worked out the plan for Catholic Social Action.

A charter member of the Mt. St. Mary's College and Seminary Council of the Knights of Columbus, the only one of its kind, Fr. Roche was also chaplain of the Fourth Degree in Baltimore for over 10 years and State Chaplain from 1943 to 1946.

Historic Tours Being Arranged

America's first water-borne house and garden tours, inaugurated on a once-a-week basis last summer by the nonprofit historic preservation society, Historic Annapolis, Inc., will be held at least twice each week this summer, rain or shine, beginning late in May.

A group discount of 20 percent from the regular rate of $2.50 per person is available to 25 or more persons arranging either Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon trips on or after June 1. Saturday bookings could be arranged, but only by larger groups which would be divided into several sailings during the day.

GRANGE PLANS FUND FOR NEW BUILDING

Twenty-four members were in attendance Wednesday night at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange held in the public school, Master Richard Florence presiding.

It was announced that the annual sewing and cake contest will be held the first week in July at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner. Classes are: Adults over 21, cotton kitchen curtains and hooked rugs; girls 21 and under, cotton duster; boys 21 and under, homestead marker; juvenile Grange girls 10 to 14, cotton "squat" skirt; boys 10 to 14, bird houses; girls 5 to 9, cotton stuffed toy; boys 5 to 9, bird feeders.

The sheetcake contest will have four classes: Adult, youth, juvenile girls and boys. Cakes will be butter, light, dark, spice and sponge, all iced. No commercial prepared mixes are permitted.

It was unanimously voted to start a Grange Hall building fund.

William Krom gave a report on the Warner Hospital fund drive and it was unanimously agreed to hold a money-raising function in the near future to help the campaign along.

A donation was voted for the Little League. Tuesday, May 24 the local unit will visit Walkersville for a friendship night.

Mr. C. M. Reajan, an exchange student from India, residing at the home of Clarence J. Weybright for the past three weeks, gave a most interesting talk on India, giving the highlights of their form of government and existing conditions today. Mr. Reajan stated that in his native land they now enjoy freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom to vote and to worship. In the last election the Communist leaders lost their stronghold in governing positions. Another interesting point was that only lamb and chicken are the meats eaten; cattle and hogs are raised, but never eaten.

Carl Crist, winner of first place in the county FFA public speaking contest, gave his winning speech, titled, "God's Gift to Man." Carl will represent Frederick County in the regional contest. Refreshments were served following adjournment by the Juvenile Grange, Miss Betty Smith, hostess.

Hospital Drive Nets $1,600 During Week

The building fund drive of the Annie M. Warner Hospital went into high gear locally during the week and Dr. J. W. Houser, financial chairman of the drive for the Emmitsburg District, announces that already over $1600 in cash has been subscribed and banked, from the town of Emmitsburg itself. Much more in pledges is expected in the near future and from the rural areas of Emmitsburg.

While no goal for this area has been set it is the hope of the committee in charge of the drive to raise at least $5,000. It is known that a goodly number of local organizations are planning fund-raising events to be held sometime this summer. The drive was scheduled officially for the period of May 10 to 20, but due to the many problems of groups which meet on a monthly basis, many affairs will be held later in the summer.

Up until the middle of this week the total amount subscribed from all communities participating, was about $45,000.

It was erroneously reported in last week's paper that a group of solicitors had been appointed and the names were published. We wish to correct this error by explaining that the group appointed were captains of activities and not solicitors. The captain group comprises the following: Colonel Thomas J. Frailey, George L. Willhide, Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Edgar G. Emrich, Mrs. Robert Fite, William Krom, Mrs. Andrew Eyster, Arthur Elder and Herbert W. Roger.

Dr. Houser this week announced the following list of authorized solicitors for a door-to-door canvass: Mrs. George S. Eyster, Mrs. Marie Kreitz, Mrs. E. R. Shriver, Mrs. C. R. Williams, Mrs. John D. White, Mrs. C. A. Harnet, Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Mrs. Charles R. Fuss, Mrs. J. W. Houser, Mrs. A. W. McClellan, Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey, Miss Ruth Gillelan, Mrs. Robert Fite, Mrs. John M. Roddy, Mrs. Victor Fieri, Mrs. Maurice Moser, Mrs. Kenneth Wagaman, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Carlos Englar, Mrs. W. R. Cadle, Mrs. Roy Sanders, Mrs. Charles Valentine, Miss Catherine Wivell, Mrs. George Gartrell, Mrs. Loy Hess, Mrs. Clarence E. Hahn, Mrs. Raymond Hahn, Mrs. Helen Sanders, Mrs. Ada Sperry, and Prof. R. J. McCullough.

A mid-week check on the participating communities showed the following collections to date: Arendtsville $ 325.00

Congressional Viewpoint

By U. S. Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON, May 19—Since 1947 the contemporary political scene has been composed of the two major parties and a third organization, known as the Americans for Democratic Action, more popularly as the ADA. Membership in the ADA has increased to upwards of 45,000, with chapters in many cities, and a Students for Democratic Action affiliate in a number of schools. The ADA, an outgrowth of the Union for Democratic Action, has assiduously endeavored to influence and bend public opinion to the liberal-left-wing viewpoint.

Regularly and vigorously, the ADA has been engrossed in the election of left-wing candidates and the promotion of left-wing issues. Frequently and conspicuously, the words "liberal" and "democracy" are displayed in ADA literature, with the words "control" and "policing" following close behind. With deceptive fanfare, the ADA attempts to convince the American public it opposes all forms of totalitarianism, including Communism, and that it is non-partisan in flavor. However, both the aim and character of the ADA have always been shrouded in double talk, but nonetheless, the drift is clear.

The dialect of this self-serving group of American liberals is indeed curious, if not phony. Some pundits have seen fit to describe it as a "pinkish political potpourri." Beneath all of this misleading admixture, however, runs the suspicion, now gaining momentum, that the aims and goals of the ADA set themselves in basic conflict with the hopes and aspirations of clear thinking, conscientious citizens who seek the undiluted preservation of the American way of life.

For example, the ADA, among other things, has . . . attacked the FBI . . . opposed passage of the Subversive Control Act of 1950 . . . defended certain Communist ideas . . . opposed the rebuilding of Germany . . . advocated the admission of Red China to the UN . . . urged relief aid to Communist China . . . advocated "world government with powers adequate to prevent war" . . . pushed for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act . . . advocated Federal price, wage and rent controls and compulsory health insurance . . . and suggested giving the Executive power "to modify rates of taxes and expenditures to meet changing conditions." These are sufficient to illustrate, with clarity, that the ADA consistently supports big spending programs, government controls and suggests that the government is the "cure-all" for all evils.

On the basis of the record, and reflective analysis, it would seem altogether evident that the purpose of the ADA is to further socialistic theory and to accomplish a change in our democratic form of government.

P-TA Plans Election of Officers

The Emmitsburg Public School P-TA will hold its last meeting of the school year Wednesday evening, May 25, at eight o'clock in the school cafeteria.

The nominating committee will present the slate of officers to be elected for the ensuing year.

Mr. Fisher will give a demonstration of instrumental music, and Miss Stull will present several numbers by the glee club.

$2.9 Million Goal Set By Church Action

Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, will join on May 22 with more than 10,000 other Lutheran congregations throughout the United States in observing Lutheran World Action Sunday and in giving an offering for spiritual and material aid in this country and overseas.

During the last 15 years, the Lutheran World Action gifts have permitted the National Lutheran Council to distribute cash contributions of over $40 million as well as used clothing, food, and other relief supplies valued at another $40 million.

Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of the local congregation, will preach at the Sunday service, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, on "Christ First."

Lutheran World Action, the annual fund appeal of the National Lutheran Council, is the financial backbone of world-wide Lutheran co-operation in mission fields, aid to persecuted churches behind the Iron Curtain, and to refugees. It also supports the Lutheran Church's ministry to American military personnel.

The Elias Ev. Church of Emmitsburg is one of more than 10,000 congregations affiliated with the eight Lutheran church bodies participating in the National Lutheran Council, and also in the Lutheran World Federation, which represents over 52 million Lutherans in 56 churches around the world.

This year's Lutheran World Action goal is $2.9 million, of which the Emmitsburg church is asked to give $500, Pastor Bower said.

During the 15 years since Lutheran World Action was begun, the Elias Ev. congregation has contributed a total of more than $80,000. In addition to these cash gifts, the congregation has also gathered 6000 pounds of used clothing, shoes and bedding, which have been shipped to needy people abroad by Lutheran World Relief, the material aid arm of Lutheran World Action.

Lutheran mission fields in Tanganyika, Indonesia, New Guinea, Jordan, Syria, Japan, Hong Kong, South and Southwest Africa and Bornea will receive $750,000 of the Lutheran World Action funds gathered in 1955, and another $110,000 have been earmarked for the development of Lutheran congregations and schools in Latin American countries.

Auto Fatalities Decline In April

The Maryland traffic fatality toll dropped noticeably during the month of April. A statement from Paul E. Burke, executive director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, revealed that in April 1954 there were 38 traffic deaths and in April 1955, the toll was 29 traffic deaths.

"To us who follow traffic safety trends closely," Mr. Burke said, "the drop in traffic fatalities was very interesting. We started the year off badly with the traffic death score steadily rising over the 1954 total."

"We definitely attribute the reason for the drop to the terrific safety campaign waged from January through March by the Maryland Assn. of Insurance Agents. The cumulative effect of their publicity through press, radio, and television; through distribution of statewide posters and literature, and their enlistment of the clergy for safety, insured a public awareness of the dangers of reckless driving."

"The carry-over into April is apparent," Mr. Burke said, "and we hope the Association will see its way clear to make their campaign an annual effort for public safety."

Meanwhile, Rodney J. Brooks Sr., president of the association, said the organization members were gratified at public response to what was the Association's first attempt at a major safety campaign.

Liberty Man Named Beverage Inspector

Louis V. Myers Jr., 37, of Libertytown, has been appointed alcoholic beverages inspector in Frederick County, as provided under the law enacted by the Legislature at its 1955 session.

Myers, an active Democrat, was named to the position by County License Commissioner Gail L. Cutshall, a Republican. The law provides that the inspector must be a member of the opposite political party from that of the commissioner.

The Democratic State Central Committee of Frederick County submitted three names to the commissioner from which the appointment was made. The others on the list were Robert B. Bailey of Ballenger, and Austin C. Powell of Frederick.

Mr. Myers, a veteran of World War II, attended Notre Dame Academy in Libertytown and is a graduate of Liberty High School. He is a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church, vice president of the Holy Name Society, and a member of the Libertytown-Unionville Lions Club.

The position pays $3600 annually and mileage to seven cents a mile, not including travel to and from the inspector's home and the office of the commissioner, out of which the inspector will work. The law gives the inspector all the power of a constable or sheriff in respect to enforcement of the alcoholic beverage laws.

He will be required to visit and inspect at unannounced times every licensed premises in the county at least every 60 days. Weekly reports are to be made in writing to the commissioner covering the inspector's daily activities.

"A GOOD PLACE TO WORK—ASK SOMEONE WHO WORKS THERE"

Fairchild Offers Open House Tomorrow

Ever wondered what it takes to put a modern combat airplane in the air? Ever seen how men, machines and materials team up to produce the weapons that constitute America's defensive might?

This year's observance of Armed Forces' Day will provide the opportunity for a first-hand look at a major defense production facility at Hagerstown on Saturday when the U. S. Air Force and Fairchild Aircraft open Fairchild's big Hagerstown Municipal Airport factory for a four-hour open house program.

W. L. Landers, Fairchild vice president and general manager, announces the doors of the plant will be opened at noon for the first public tour in about five years. The informal program, which will include special tours and military displays, is scheduled to conclude at 4 p. m.

The planned route will lead visitors through many main manufacturing areas, from the smallest sub-assemblies to the finished C-119 and C-123 transports. This course will wind through sections where precision hand-work is carried out, between banks of massive assembly jigs and fixtures on which larger aircraft units are fabricated, and through departments filled with special machines which turn out vital parts for the two military transport planes.

All major departments, assemblies and machinery will be identified by signs and several dozen production specialists will be stationed along the tour route to furnish information and assist visitors in what Fairchild believes will be the largest plant tour ever held in this vicinity.

Adjacent to the production shops is an extensive hard-surfaced ramp area which will feature special displays being arranged by the Army, Navy and Air Force reserve organizations and the Civil Air Patrol.

The ramp is currently the center of Fairchild's aircraft modification program under which earlier model military transports are overhauled and modernized for the Air Force and friendly foreign air services. Hundreds of C-119 Flying Boxcars have been or will be modified at Fairchild under present U. S. and Canadian contracts. The ramp area also serves as a final inspection spot for newly-completed aircraft before they are turned over to Fairchild and Air Force flight est crews for pre-delivery check. Although Fairchild and its forerunner, the Kreider-Reisner Co., have been manufacturing airplanes in Hagerstown for more than 30 years, the company's present facilities was open farm-land less than 15 years ago. Construction of the plant was started in 1940 and completed the following year. Open first for the volume production of Fairchild's famous PT-19 primary trainer planes, it later produced hundreds of light four-place utility transports and in the latter half of the war years, the C-82 Flying Boxcars. Additions were built in 1942 and again in 1944. Finally, near the end of 1951, the facility suddenly began to expand on all four sides under a $9,000,000 building and development program which continued for nearly two years and added almost a third of a million square feet to the company's production area.

Most of the assembly shop sections which will be open for public tour on Armed Forces' Day occupy a new production bay opened less than two years ago. This huge bay, 765 feet long, 200 feet wide and totaling some 153,000 square feet, is among the most modern and complete manufacturing facilities in the state. Here, Fairchild's troop and cargo transports are completely assembled from parts built by the company, its subcontractors and suppliers and government - furnished equipment shipped in by other firms holding contracts with the Department of Defense.

Also housed in the airport plant is a section where Fairchild builds tail-fins and outer wing panels for the new B-52 all-jet intercontinental bomber under subcontract with the Boeing Airplane Co.

They printed and mailed 57,000 copies of the publication as an official committee document."

Mr. Arends then pointed out that the House Agriculture Committee took 400 pages of testimony on the farm situation, including that from national farm organizations. NATIONAL SAFETY MONTH—The photo shown above was furnished by the local barracks of the State Police and according to information received this collision was due to brake failure. It is a sample of what can happen from the operation of defective vehicles. The National Safety Council has found that one out of four vehicles on the road today needs service attention to parts affecting safe vehicle operation. One out of ten vehicles checked needed service to brakes and rear lights. May is National Safety Month and all car users are urged to make special efforts to see that their cars are in proper condition for road operation.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

It is well past the time we faced a somber problem that is presented to us not only as citizens, but in the interest of our very survival. The Federal Civil Defense Administration has issued a "Family Action" program, which contains much information we all should know and put to use. In event of war, the family exercises which follow in part could save you from death suffering and loss of property. They are just as useful for protection against natural disasters, such as tornadoes, earthquakes, floods and fires.

Civil defense preparedness includes all families in your neighborhood or area. Your neighborhood or block warden will offer his assistance. If you have no civil defense warden in your neighborhood, you should work with friends and neighbors in establishing a warden service.

With the development of newer and more powerful nuclear weapons, evacuation is unquestionably the best defense. The next best protection is shelter and the better the shelter, the better is your chance for survival.

If you live within 5 miles of the downtown section of a major city, you need heavy protection against atomic blast. For lowest cost, choose a place in your basement nearest to the probable target area to build your shelter. The basement wall and the earth outside will offer direct protection against blast, heat and radioactive rays.

Every person living in a possible target area should be trained to act instantly when a public warning signal sounds. This applies especially to the family at home as well as to people at work and children at school.

The members of your family may have only a limited time to take protective measures if an attack should come. That is why it is important to plan what to do ahead of time and practice doing it.

Make one member of the family responsible for giving orders for rounding up the other members of the family and getting them started on their emergency tasks without delay.

Turn on your radio (you should have a battery model in case of power emergency) and tune it to 640 or 1240 kc. These dial settings are your channel for official civil defense information and instructions. If you are not sure what the signal means, this is the safest way of finding out.

Turn off or disconnect all heating appliances, including toasters, irons, gas stoves, or hot plates which might cause fires if upset. Close all doors on your coal-burning furnace or wood-burning stove if in use, shut off feed line valve from oil tank. Turn off the blower motor of oil burner, smother open fire in fireplace with sand, and close chimney damper.

If there is not sufficient warning for evacuation, and your civil defense director orders everyone to take shelter, close outside doors and draw window blinds, drapes, or venetian blinds to catch flying glass fragments. Don't waste time closing windows; the glass probably will be shattered in any case. Food and water sufficient for three days should be readily accessible; sanitary facilities provided; fire prevention and fire control measures should be taken, and at least one member of the family should be trained in first aid.

The Civil Defense Administration is not trying to frighten us. A soldier is not frightened when he is given a rifle. Although we may never make use of these precautions, it is up to us to be prepared for the welfare of the Nation—and ourselves.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 19 — The only solution now known for the parking nuisance is for people to stay at home and use the telephone! In fact, the present increase in auto accidents and the lack of parking space will drive people to greater use of the telephone. Otherwise, congestion will so increase that we will travel "bumper to bumper." When one car stops, then all must stop.

The Merchant's Opportunity

Every storekeeper should at once install an extra telephone which should be used only for incoming calls. No one in the store, not even the boss, should be allowed to make calls on this extra phone. It should be reserved for "Customers' Calls Only." When customers complain of finding it "busy," then a second such phone should be installed.

Merchants should advertise more and solicit telephone orders more. Many customers now dread going downtown to shop on account of the parking problem and the general congestion. Hence, they stay at home and the merchants lose customers. Buying is being constantly postponed. Therefore, in their advertising, merchants should urge people to use the telephone, stating that special phones exist for incoming calls only.

Importance of Habits

The present method of shopping has been the custom for centuries. It has become an instinctive habit which will change only slowly, but the sooner shopkeepers determine to change this habit, the better off all will be. Otherwise, our downtown retail sidewalks may become as deserted on weekdays as they are now on Sundays.

As they have a virtual monopoly, the telephone companies seem to be little interested in helping shopkeepers in their present dilemma. This criticism is said to apply especially to the big Bell companies. These are rich and ruled by self-satisfied bureaucracies. These telephone companies claim that they have not phones enough to take care of all the demands. This is nonsense. If they would be willing to buy more telephone equipment from outside manufacturers and develop more efficient installation crews, all demands could be filled.

Avoid Being Killed

My appeal for a greater use of the telephone is not solely to help businessmen keep their customers. The telephone can also help us to keep a life. Herbert L. Kerr has recently stated that while only two persons per 100,000 die from polio, yet, in the same ages, 50 young persons per 100,000 are being killed by automobiles. As these figures become recognized, I forecast that people will visit less by automobile and visit more by telephone.

People will remain home more and travel less. Travel by automobile—except for business—may now be near its peak. Even business calls will be made more by telephone and less by automobile. It takes time to change habits; but the present habit of making both personal and business calls by travel may become a thing of the past. All habits can be changed.

What About Television

Television is already taking the place of the movies. When television gets over its "teen-age" period of "sowing wild oats" and gets settled down to decent programs, many more families will prefer TV to going out evenings to a movie. When television is hooked up with the telephone so we can see with whom we talk, then automobiles may be used only in emergencies. In fact, the time is coming when most of the better automobiles will carry telephones. These will be used not only in case of car trouble but also for business and social calls.

In short, I believe that the telephone industry is headed for a greater future with tremendous growth ahead. This will come both from an increase in population and from a much-increased use per capita, especially among the younger generation. The telephone can create greater sales, can save more time, and can protect us from unnecessary accidents and other losses. I also believe that telephone securities are among the safest of all securities which give a good income.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Combs and son, Carlisle, Pa., spent the weekend as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cooley Combs.

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, Jr.

WASHINGTON—There is the definite belief at the Capitol that another New Deal Administration will be even more New Deal than anything to date, as each week that goes by sees the power of the Big Union Bosses being felt more and more in Washington.

For more than a decade the CIO has been moving slowly but effectively to take over control of the Democratic Party. For labor to have a labor party in this country, the Big Union Chiefs must capture one of the two major political parties. So, the concentration of the Big Labor Bosses has been on the Democratic Party and their progress has been effective and is continuing to be effective.

The union of the CIO and the AFL will make the power of the big unions much stronger—good indicator of just how far the labor group proposes to go in the field of legislation is perhaps best expressed by the way the CIO has registered under the Lobbying Act. Here is the CIO's legislative program:

"Support all legislation favorable to the national peace, security, democracy, prosperity, and general welfare; oppose legislation detrimental to these objectives."

Now, more than one at the Capitol, has read this CIO declaration with apprehension and has also read with apprehension what AFL President George Meany had to say in his first speech to the CIO about politics. Here is an excerpt from Mr. Meany's speech:

"Fears have been expressed that there will be too much concentration of power (in the merged labor group), that it might be used politically."

"Well, in my book it will be used politically—not with the idea in mind of running the country, not with the idea in mind of seeking public office for trade unionists, although there is nothing wrong with that—but the idea in mind of continuing the forward march of American labor, of getting for American labor the fair share of what we produce."

"Let those who worry about labor's political power remember this:

"We didn't choose the battleground, this political background. If they can pass laws that can hamstring, weaken and destroy the trade union movement, then our place to defend ourselves is in the same halls where they passed those laws."

This statement by Mr. Meany definitely shows that a merged AFL-CIO will move more and more into the political field. It is the opinion at the Capitol that the CIO, which is far more aggressive, will emerge as the dominant factor in the merger.

You will find some who follow politics in Washington quite closely who hold the opinion that the union bosses are aiming at 1960 as the date for a real Labor-Democratic Party and that Walter Reuther could easily be a candidate for the Presidency on the Labor-Democratic ticket in that year.

In the House of Representatives recently, the CIO made a determined effort to build up a Labor-Farmer bloc. The CIO threw its support behind a bill to re-establish 90 per cent of parity for basic farm products. Planners envisioned labor support for 90 per cent of parity, with farm members of the House in turn joining labor to bring about an increase in the minimum wage from 75 cents to $1.25 a whip, Mr. Arends of Illinois, had per hour. The House Republican (Continued on Page Three)

FACTS FOR MEN

Your wife may be the big user of hot water in your home but when it comes to choosing a new water heater to replace the one that's worn out or inadequate, you're going to make the selection. Here are some facts you should know about ELECTRIC WATER HEATING.

SAVE MONEY ON INSTALLATION

An electric water heater needs no flue or chimney. It can be installed anywhere in your home. In most cases long pipes are eliminated and, of course, pipe costs are cut down. Then too, in long pipes water accumulates and grows cold. When you want hot water, all the cold must be drawn off. This runs up both water and water heating bills. Short pipes eliminate this.

SAVE MONEY ON RATES

Because your electric water heater uses current only during "off peak" hours—that is when power demand is low—you get the advantage of a special low electric rate. Efficient insulation keeps heat in the tank, making for further savings.

AUTOMATIC FUEL SUPPLY

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Unless something reverses trend, spring of 1955 might well go down as Washington's silliest season.

Report of Attorney General's Committee to study the anti-trust laws appears major contributor to season's silliness. As already pointed out by Rep. Henry Reuss, Wis., 22 of the 60 committee members were corporation lawyers engaged in fighting government on anti-trust matters.

But probably outstanding absurdity was inclusion of Edward F. Howrey, Federal Trade Commission chairman, on committee.

Apparently, even Howrey recognizes the absurdity. In commenting on fact that he signed report which included recommending elimination of anti-trust laws, Howrey is quoted "This should not be construed as prejudgment of issues which may come before the commission in individual cases."

Inasmuch as FTC is quasi-judicial body, this is somewhat akin to situation that would exist if judge went on solemn record stating pickpockets do no wrong, then orally assuring everyone this would have no bearing on his trials of pickpockets.

Howrey's appointment was opposed by National Federation of Independent Business on grounds he was actively engaged as lawyer for rubber firm fighting FTC quantity discount rule.

This still to be enforced ruling provides there is reasonable limit to quantity a dealer must take to obtain top discount. Included is vital principle applicable to many antitrust cases now pending, or certain to arise.

But before Senate confirmation committee, Howrey promised to divorce himself from tire case, and by inference, from any case in which this principle applied. This led Sen. Warren Magnusson, Wash., to remark, "I am afraid you might be on a vacation almost permanently."

It is significant that since Howrey has been serving as chairman, this vital FTC ruling has not been enforced. Now Howrey, FTC head, goes on record as opposing principle involved, same position he took prior to appointment as a rubber corporation attorney.

General Douglas MacArthur was removed from command for much less.

But this is not only evidence of current silliness along the Potomac. Recently, Senators seeking facts about foreign giveaway program, and specifically on a contract that looked dubious, were informed by FOA officials they could not report on how people's money is being spent under orders from their superior, Harold Stassen. Somehow, it appears the American FOA has "lend leased" an Iron Curtain from the Soviet GPU.

Besides being head of "operation giveaway," Stassen is now also filling a specially created job to promote disarmament and world peace.

With this act of censorship in mind, some observers express hope Stassen's first official act as peace promoter will not be clamping rigid censorship down on age old expression "Peace on earth and goodwill to men." It is somehow felt there must be some limitations on bureaucrats.

BOATS.. then and now

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Calling predators has only recently begun to spread out from the southwest and take hold elsewhere in this country. If you should decide you'd like to try this sport, about all you need is the will to stay hidden and the lung-power to make a good distress cry. Dozens of calls of all kinds are on the market now; or a good call can be made with your mouth if you can master the technique.

In an article in Sports Afield magazine, Hart Stilwell says that the best time to hunt predators with a call is late in the afternoon or early morning — unless you want to try it at night, which is still better for all predators except coyotes. The coyote is a tough nut at night because he will slink in to look things over, and he's likely to hightail it away without ever coming in range.

The best place to call is near a water hole. Calling works better when there is only a little breeze, and of course you ought to take a stand where predators won't wind you in coming to the call. Obviously it's better to work upwind most of the time in moving from place to place to call.

Most hunters who have had experience in calling do not do so steadily. They call a little, then wait, then call more. But some call steadily—or at least until they get tired.

In calling, you should ease down on the volume from time to time, even if you don't see anything approaching, and a harsh call could throw him off. If you see your game coming, then always ease down on the volume. Make it sound sad and fading—the dying gasp.

In taking a stand you ought to face some little opening or trail—and you ought to be pretty well concealed. Best of all is to wear a camouflage suit. And next best is to say absolutely still. Most animals have extraordinarily keen eyesight when it comes to detecting motion. But many of them are suckers for objects that don't move.

There's seldom any use staying at one stand longer than five or six minutes. If a predator is going to come to the call, he usually comes in a hurry.

At night, stand so you can make a full circle as you turn back and forth, sweeping the brush line with your light. Keep the direct beam slightly high, for most animals will leave at once if the beam strikes them directly in the eyes.

OF A NUMBER OF THINGS

LOOKING BACK
(for the last time)
Two columns back, following some thoughts on the marvelous nature of thinking by those who have thought and written about it, I started on the second and main part of this survey—"some points—directly connected with everyday living," introducing it with a Foreword that emphasized two things: (1) that we cannot learn much about thinking (our own or others) from our own experience but need the help of the "thinking specialists"; (2) that in taking in and reacting to this help, offered in books and magazine articles and public speeches, we have to engage in considerable mental activity ourselves even if the result is to reject it as of no value for us. Then followed the first of these "points" I had in mind to present from the specialists, not yet anything in the way of help in the strict sense of the word but a unanimous opinion that explains the specialists' concern over the state of thinking among the great majority of all us people, i.e., that it is very low indeed, in fact almost non-existent in the true sense. Then followed a second point in preparation for the two main ones: what the specialists mean by real thinking. (I feel that the attempt to report that was not entirely successful, for indeed the specialists themselves do not always seem to remember that they must be very plain in explaining thinking to those who do so little of it, but I also feel (or should I say "think") that this difficult matter does have more light shed on it by what follows.)

And now for a selection from the specialists' lists under the two most practical points they discuss, already mentioned: (1) what things prevent or interfere with real thinking and (2) how real thinking can be improved. We must, obviously, be aware of these things before we can decide whether we need or desire to do anything about them. Judging by my own experience, column readers will already be aware of some of these "Hindrances" and "Helps" and may or may not have made a definite decision, and be acting accordingly; others may not have "entered your mind," as the interesting saying goes; but in any case I believe that those who are interested enough to "check" for themselves the items and comments here collected will find as I have, the checking well worth the effort.

Hindrances to Real Thinking

These fall into two groups:

I. Those that hinder the production of thought;

II. Those that hinder the control of thought.

Under I. Our Social Environment—Daily Life Itself

Unfortunately, the group life of communities, recognized as essential in many ways to human welfare and progress, is responsible in other ways for the prevention of independent thinking: the rise to a position of influence (in the thinking of the group as well as in the literal position held) of those with more ambition or wealth or perhaps real initiative, with the consequent temptation to the many to accept the thinking of these few, to do what is mere "imitative thinking"; the strong influence of custom and tradition that leads to the acceptance without question of views and beliefs that have come ready-made from previous and different social periods; the lack of quiet and solitude and leisure that are essential in some degree for the exercise of thought; the habit of trivial reading and conversation and much radio and television entertainment, the bombardment of high-pressure advertising—

2. Two Particular Human Traits—Mental Sluggishness and Cowardice (also described as Inertia, Laziness and Fear). These two traits, under whatever terms they are identified, represent ancient and still-persisting and generally prevalent opponents of independent, the only real, thinking: a shrinking from and putting off serious protracted mental exertion; and a lack of mental courage, a fear of facing the possible consequences of daring to differ with those with whom we are associated and whose favorable opinion we cherish, a fear of what is new and unfamiliar to our accustomed way of thought.

3. Ignorance—lack of sufficient knowledge of a subject. This seems a pretty obvious thought very often it is a disregarded point. Witness the constant illustration of people expressing themselves on a subject as if they had really put thought on it, when it is plain they do not know the real issues involved or the facts that are pertinent to them. And from another angle it can be noted that the thinking apparatus cannot function if not given the necessary supplies, by way of new experiences, to "vitalize its energies"—it will merely go on in "a routine of sameness."

Under II—Two Emotional Attitudes—Pride and Prejudice

It is the wrong kind of pride that is meant here, an overweening opinion of one's own importance and so especially, in this connection, of the importance of one's own opinions and beliefs, and the consequent belittling opinion of those that happen to differ, regardless of their respective value (ignorance often supporting pride in these tactics of interference with straight thinking.)

Prejudice is literally a continuous pre-judging on certain matters, the taking of an emotional bias for or against these matters (including the judging of a person or a group of persons) before all the evidence is in, or to the complete disregard of some of the evidence. No one is born with prejudices; they develop from different sources (embracing the home, the school, the church, other frequented places) being most responsible for their absence or presence. A.E.H.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, May 18—Currently the Congress has under consideration a measure providing for a military reserve program. The security of our nation depends on a well-rounded defense program which adequately allows for any emergency which may confront us. I would like to stress that the measure, as it is being considered, is not a universal military training program and it does not increase the size of our Armed Forces.

The bill's primary purpose is

Your

Personal

Health

Don't Scare The Snake

Now begins the season of outdoor living; or walks in the woods and camping trips. It is a time when many amateurs discover that the world of nature is full of hazards to life and limb, not the least of which is the wily snake.

There have always been two schools of thought on the proper etiquette when meeting a snake which might be poisonous—if you aren't an expert, it's safest to regard any snake as poisonous. The first school says, run as fast as you can in the opposite direction. The second school favors standing stock still in hopes the snake will think you are a stone. Some confirmation of the second opinion now comes from science.

It seems that fear in both the rattlesnake and his victim makes the effect of the bite worse. The muscles that wring the venom glands and eject the poison are controlled separately from the biting muscles. A snake that is not very frightened might bite without wringing its venom glands hard enough to eject much poison. As for the victim, if he is very much afraid, fear will affect his heart action and speed up absorption of the venom.

If you must be bitten by a snake, you will be luckier if it comes on a part of your anatomy where absorption will be slower because it is padded with fat and far from vital organs. Again it is wise to select a very young or to insure a fair and adequate reserve. Its authors state that its provisions will make unnecessary the recall to active duty of men who have engaged in combat as was done in Korea. Short of a holocaust there will be no need for men's lives to be disrupted twice. It has staggered the reserve responsibilities of our citizens into two groups—the "ready" and the "standby" reserves. Each has its particular duties and responsibilities. The "ready" provides a source of manpower; the "standby" will furnish manpower as the emergency requires.

There is a provision that a young man who has served reached his 17th birthday but not his 18th may elect to serve only six months on active duty. Those who volunteer for this six-month national defense training period are automatically transferred at the end of their training to the "ready" reserve for a period of 7½ years.

Our young men who wait the draft will serve two years, as now, on active duty. They are then transferred to the "ready" reserve for three years and into the "standby" for three more years. At any time a man may request a transfer from the "ready" to the "standby" reserve for reasons of health, occupation or hardship.

Pimlico Features

Dixie Handicap

Pimlico racing this week is highlighted by the renewal of the Dixie Handicap, one of the track's traditional stakes which dates back to 1870. However tradition has been pushed aside to some extent this season, in that the Dixie will be run over the turf course instead of on the main oval. And the distance will be one very old snake. The young ones have shorter fangs and produce less venom which is less toxic. Old ones may also secrete less and weaker venom.

Since you may be a poor judge of snake age and too upset to arrange for the snake to bite you in the right place and, in addition, both you and the snake might be scared to death, the wisest precaution is to have a snake-bite kit when you tramp in areas where snakes abound. If you are bitten, follow first-aid instructions and then get the doctor at once for anti-snake serum.

and three-eighths miles on Saturday rather than the customary one and three-sixteenths miles of other years.

The change to the grass did not alter the attractiveness of the race, however. A total of 46 horses was named for the $25,000 event and in addition to a dozen top flight turf performers, the list includes most of the leaders in the handicap division.

Horses which have proven themselves on the grass and who are expected to be in the Dixie lineup include St. Vincent, Cascanuez, Iceberg II, Mister Black, Kaster, Brush Burn, Parnassus, News Again, Royal Governor, and Fisherman, the latter the hero of last fall's Washington, D. C. International.

In addition the field probably will be bolstered by the appearance of Social/Outcast, Joe Jones, Maharajah and Capeador from the handicap division.

Nebraska is the only state in the Union with a unicameral, or one-house legislature.

Nevada is the driest and least populated state in the U. S.

LOOKING AHEAD

EDITOR - EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE
CHRONICLE, EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND

Honesty In Foreign Policy

If anyone has a right to speak out about the future safety and the foreign policy of the United States it is General William H. Wilbur. During his more than 30 years in the U. S. Army he served in nearly every nation in the world. His military leadership was outstanding. In the midst of World War II, President Roosevelt, in an almost unprecedented act, conferred upon him the Congressional Medal of Honor for extraordinary bravery.

Since retiring from the Army Gen. Wilbur has dedicated his life to public service and has concentrated his attention on Foreign Policy. He has visited and studied social, economic and political conditions in Europe, Asia, Africa and South America. He was one of the speakers on the Freedom Forum program conducted recently by the National Education Program on the Harding College campus. The General is a stirring figure, with his graying hair, his level penetrating eyes. He stands to speak, braced on the crutches which he must use to walk or stand—mute testimony to the sacrifices he has made for his country.

Positive American Action

Gen. Wilbur told the Forum audience of people from 27 states that three actions in our foreign policy, since the rise of the Communist world conspiracy at the end of World War II, were outstanding—the "Truman Plan" of military and economic assistance to Greece when that country was being invaded by Communist armed forces; the very considerable strength we lent to Turkey when Communism tried to get her to knuckle under; and the Berlin air lift which defied the Soviet bluff and bluster before the eyes of all the world.

The significant thing about all three of these actions by the United States, Gen. Wilbur pointed out, is that they were "genuine American actions in their concept and their execution—we didn't have to consult and get permission from anybody—France, Britain or anybody else. We were fronting squarely up to Russia," he continued, "saying: 'No, we're not going to do the things you want us to do; we're going to do the things you don't want done.' Of course, that takes courage. In the eyes of civilian populations everywhere, America gained stature."

"Co-existence" A Hoax

Then, he said, America and the Western nations began to back-track, to appease all along the way in the cold war. The Communists use threats and bluffs to scare other nations with their might, then offer up to all a Communist-made phrase: "Co-existence." "To them," said Gen. Wilbur, "co-existence means a reasonable security against any fighting war, with a full opportunity to continue their infiltration all over the world.

"The Communists have established a school in Prague," said the General, "at which they are educating Africans and Asians, in Communism and subversion. I am informed on reasonably good authority that the school has turned out 72,000 graduates, to infiltrate Africa and Asian nations. . . . And after some eight years of indoctrination, the Communists are sending back to Greece the 30,000 youths whom they kidnapped when their military forces were in Northern Greece. They are now 18, 20, and 22 years old. They've been brainwashed, indoctrinated, and now they're saying to Greece, 'We're sending your children to you.' This is how they are working everywhere.

Positive Suggestions

"Now what shall we do about Communism? We must establish an aggressive, vigorous psychological war of our own and it must be able to function inside the Iron Curtain. There are groups there who are willing to fight for their own freedom. We shouldn't send any American soldiers to free any country. We should assist in establishing in every one of these countries an underground and see that it is trained and equipped.

"Our American foreign policy must change. I don't think we are going to do anything like Yalta again, where we were dishonest. I hope we will follow American policy. I hope we follow a policy based on Christian principles. I hope we'll do those things that have been successful—confronting the bluff and the threat with positive action. Any American foreign policy, to be successful, will have to be honest. And it should follow strategies which will make it so difficult for Russia, inside the Iron Curtain, that a third fighting war will be impossible.

Tax Changes Explained

State Comptroller Milard Tawes has just released a statement in connection with certain changes which have been made in the Sales and Use Tax Act.

Under the latest amendment to the Sales Tax Act rental becomes sales for sales and use tax purposes. The legislature changed the law by including rental, lease or license to use tangible personal property in the definition of "sale" and "selling."

Beginning on June 1, 1955, the sales tax must be collected and paid on rentals and leases of personal property. This, of course, means that many transactions and businesses will for the first time be subject to the tax. There are innumerable items which are rented including automobiles and trucks, contractors' equipment, bus tires, movie films, business machines, dress suits, row boats and other sporting equipment, floor sanders, spray guns, etc. On all these, rentals and many more the tax must be collected.

The rate of tax and method of payment is the same as on ordinary sales. Persons who rent personal property and who are not now registered with the Sales Tax Division must obtain a sales tax license prior to June 1, 1955.

More Trout Are Stocked

More than 3500 trout will be swimming in Frederick County waters this week for the angling pleasure of the general public and the 200 or more members of the Jungle Cock and their juvenile guests, who will be attending their annual campfire at Camp Airy, near Thurmont.

A total of 2500 trout will be released in Big Hunting Creek Friday, and another 1000 were liberated in Fishing Creek yesterday. In addition 350 trout and a large number of blue gills have been placed in a lake near Thurmont for youthful anglers.

The lake is being utilized by Jungle Cock members this year for youngsters attending the camp fire in order to relieve some of the fishing pressure on the streams.

Regional Game Warden Benjamin F. Phebus said it is hoped to stock some large brood fish with the trout going out this week. This week's stocking will be the last in Big Hunting Creek, but there will be one more stocking of Fishing Creek prior to Memorial Day holiday. Other streams have received their full quota of fish for the season.

Homemakers Host To Thurmont Group

The Emmitsburg Homemakers Club played host to the Thurmont unit last Thursday evening at a mother-daughter banquet held in the local VFW Annex. Mrs. Robert Fite, president of the Emmitsburg club, presided over activities which were attended by 94 homemakers, 33 being guests from Thurmont.

Special guests at the affair were Miss Beatrice Fehr, county homemakers demonstration agent, and Mrs. Roy Smith, president of the County Homemakers Council.

Mrs. Robert T. Daugherty acted in the capacity of toastmistress. An entertainment program entitled "Hands," was presented by the following principals: Harriet Fite, Mary Fier, Sandra Keilholtz, Susan Daugherty, Mrs. Harriet Stinson Norris, Mrs. Virginia Wagaman Sanders, and Mrs. John F. Spangler. Mrs. Lewis Higbee was piano accompanist during the program. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. John Wagaman for being the oldest mother present, and Mrs. Harriet Norris for being the youngest mother.

Mrs. Danner Heads Alumni Group

The annual St. Joseph's High School Alumni banquet was held last Sunday evening in the school cafeteria and was attended by 50 members and guests.

Rev. Fr. John D. Sullivan, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, was the guest speaker and was introduced by the toastmaster, J. E. Houck.

Mr. Houck, the retiring president of the group, was presented a lovely gift from the organization in recognition of his outstanding work as president.

A seven-year history of the group was presented by the alumni historian, Miss Patricia Lingg.

An election of officers was held with the following results: President, Mrs. George Danner; vice president, J. Edward Houck; secretary, Mrs. Patricia Otto and treasurer, Mrs. Robert L. Koontz. The banquet was served by the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin.
