Thinking back over some action that was planned regarding the construction of a new road to the boys' summer camp near the town reservoir, I am distressed because no concerted action has been taken to obtain such a road. In fact the only sign of activity to date, I am told, is a letter written to the County Commissioners by the local Chamber of Commerce, asking for such a road. Camp Pioneer should prove a boon to local merchants and they certainly should take some action to help the project along because it's for their own good. I believe the County Roads Board begins to make its list of proposed roads for the next year about September, so it is not a bit too early for somebody, or group, to plan some sort of concrete action in getting a new road past Rainbow Lake and Camp Pioneer, under consideration. These things have a way of slipping by unnoticed and that is why I am refreshing your memory so that those interested, and we all should be, before September rolls around. Aren't any of the other clubs or groups in town interested in the project?

I often wonder what type of engineers are employed by our State Roads Commission. It seems the Commission spends about a quarter of a million bucks for a mile of road and even more later by planting grass and otherwise beautifying the roadside. But what puzzles me is the way our present engineers design these roads. Everybody yelps about so many curves in the road. Traffic safety groups realize they are potential accident spots and want them eliminated, and yet, the Roads Commission seems to go out of its way to deliberately insert more curves! If you think I don't know what I am talking about, just take a look at that new stretch of road from Payne's Hill into Thurmont. It appears to me that it would have been a lot easier to make it a direct line, and a bit less costly too, however all that money was spent "improving" the old road. Oh yes, it's new in a way, but actually it follows the old snaky pattern of the original Indian trail of decades ago. It really seems a shameful waste of the taxpayers' money. I don't know whether the engineers have a purpose in mind when they design these roads, or whether the Commission deliberately orders them built that way, but if I were doing the job I would use the most direct method, a straight line (which also is the shortest distance between two points, Doc McCullough says), and I'm sure motorists would appreciate my way more than the present method.

Another matter which seems to have escaped immediate attention is that of little matter of appointing or electing a nominating committee for our town elections. I haven't forgotten the recent dilemma just two short months ago when we had no candidate for Mayor. It was the consensus then that such a committee should be appointed without delay, but apparently it has been waylaid somewhere along the line. I think action should be taken before the same distressing situation arises again, which is not too far away as we have an election here every year.

Cigaret manufacturers must be having nightmares these days. Seems as though since the lung cancer scare came out thousands are quitting smoking cigarettes. I read in the paper just this week that it is estimated that one million smokers gave up the vice during the past year! Whether they were right in their decision remains to be seen until proof positive that smoking does cause cancer is finally proven. At any rate it is a nasty and costly habit and I envy those who had the willpower to give up the habit. Think of what a financial loss it is to those poor cigarette manufacturers. I feel so sorry for them—yah!

Seems that some differences of opinion exist between the FBI and our State Police. This is to be regretted as both are efficient organizations and much could be accomplished with a little cooperation. We hope the difficulties can be straightened

Cardinals Take Little League Opening Game

Manager Leonard Zimmerman's Cards took over the lead in the Emmitsburg Little League standings Tuesday night by defeating Jack Rosenstein's Yankees 4-0 in the curtain raiser of the current season.

A fairly good turnout of fans saw the spirited action as the little fellows put on a real show at Community Field where they have constructed a diamond.

Activities were prefaced with ceremonies conducted by members of the League Assn. Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers tossed out the first ball and the Boy Scouts raised the flag. Stirring music for the occasion was provided by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band under the direction of Walter A. Simpson.

In the second action of the league the Redsox met the Giants last night at 6:15 o'clock. Contests will continue between the four clubs every Tuesday and Thursday evening during the summer and all games will be played on the Community Field.

In the Yankee lineup Tuesday were Topper, Irelan, Umbel, Walter, Beale, Wagaman, Houck, McGlaughlin, Martin, Englar and Hewitt. The Cardinals' lineup: Swomley, Zimmerman, Wagaman, Topper, Zimmerman, Gingell, Myers, Topper, Eiker, Eversole and Zimmerman.

Both teams had good pitching with the Cards' Topper allowing only four hits in his whitewashing job. He also cracked two doubles to lead the Card attack. Except for crucial errors, Yankee pitcher Walter might have fared better. Two hits and two errors in the third inning set up three runs.

State Police Feud With FBI Flares Anew

Maryland State Police Superintendent Colonel Elmer F. Munshower said this week that he will personally look into a feud which has been existing between his department and the FBI and which has flared up once more. Seemingly dormant for some time the discord came to life once again last Friday night when the acting superintendent in Munshower's absence due to illness, Maj. William H. Weber, accused the FBI of failing to cooperate with the department.

Agent D. K. Brown in charge of the Baltimore FBI unit replied in a similar manner. Maryland State Police, he said, had shown "a lack of cooperation" and "no affirmative evidence of a desire to correct the situation."

Colonel Munshower said the disagreement between the two enforcement agencies began five years ago before he became head of the department.

Will Investigate Causes "This incident doesn't amount to anything to me," he said, "however I intend to follow through and see if it can't be ironed out by checking into the situation."

Earlier Saturday Major Weber accused the FBI of "being small" in its attitude toward the Maryland Police and said he would ask Maryland Senators Beall and Butler to look into the matter.

The FBI had no new comment and Washington headquarters said Brown's statement of the night before "speaks for itself."

In the statement which reignited the flame last week, Weber said two FBI agents at the agency's laboratory in Washington had refused to run tests on evidence brought them by a Maryland State Trooper. They gave as their excuse, he said, a misunderstanding between the two departments.

Weber said there had been numerous similar incidents dating back as much as 10 years. The most recent one occurred on April 25 when State Police were quoted in a news story that they had information pointing to a definite suspect in the unsolved $20,000 holdup of a Fort George Meade bank in March of 1953. The FBI handled the case.

When the story broke, Weber said, the FBI requested an apology. "Since we made no such release an apology was refused, he related. Brown said the FBI always had cooperated with other police agencies but in view of the present disagreement, he added, "the FBI had no choice but to conclude that the State Police did not desire any cooperation of the Bureau."

Miss Armacost Becomes Bride Of Clifford Meskill

The marriage of Miss Marell Power Armacost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Armacost of Howard Park, and Mr. Clifford Meskill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Baumgardner of Emmitsburg, took place in the presence of the immediate families on Saturday, June 18, at Woodlawn, Md.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organzine taffeta with a bodice of duchess lace and her veil of illusion fell from a cap of matching lace. She carried white orchids and stephanotis on a lace fan.

The attendants, Mrs. William Gregory Volenick, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary Catherine Sullivan, were attired in pale pink and blue crystalette with matching picture hats and carried contrasting fans of gardenias and delphiniums.

Lieut. James Baumgardner, USN, Arlington, Va., was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Thomas Price and Mr. Richard Hollingshead, both of Baltimore. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Surrey Inn. Mr. and Mrs. Meskill left for a wedding trip through the South.

DAUGHTER ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. John Shorb of Rocky Ridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura Virginia, to Earl Maynard King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry King Sr., Frederick. No date has been set for the wedding.

State Withholding Tax Collection Begins July 1

According to J. Millard Tawes, State Comptroller, the Retail Sales Tax Division is receiving many inquiries statewide about the imposition of the Sales and Use Tax change which went into effect June 1, 1955.

The major change affects rentals of personal property although there has been no change in regard to rentals of hotel rooms, tourist cabins, rooming houses, etc. The questions most frequently asked, Mr. Tawes, stated, are those in regard to rentals of living accommodations.

He specifically pointed out that the tax does not apply to permanent rentals of apartments, houses or rooms used as the regular home of the occupant. The tax has always applied to rentals of living accommodations to tourists and other transient guests.

"Since June 1, 1955, the tax applies to rentals of personal property such as autos, trucks, business machines, tools, sporting equipment, row boats, riding horses, draft animals, contractors' equipment, trailers, floor sanders, waxers, office equipment, electric fans and other items too numerous to mention. Mr. Tawes then added: "The tax does not apply to rentals of real property such as offices, stores, farms, warehouses, etc."

"All persons who rent personal property, the Comptroller concluded, "Must collect the tax and remit to the Sales Tax Division. All persons who rent personal property to others must obtain a license at the cost of $1.00 and licenses may be obtained at 34 Hopkins Place. Information may be obtained by calling Plaza 2-2700.

CORRECTION

In last week's Chronicle it was erroneously reported that Mr. Rogen of India, in this country studying agriculture, was residing at the home of Mr. John Fuss. Mr. Rogen is at present making his home at the Maurice Fuss farm.

The Dominican Order was founded in 1215.

Former Mount Student Honored By Statue Erection

The statue of a former Mt. St. Mary's College student, Chief Justice Edward D. White, was unveiled in Statuary Hall in Washington, D. C., in ceremonies which took place last Friday.

A native of Lafourche Parish, La., Chief Justice White began his education at Mt. St. Mary's. At the age of 16 he left college and enlisted in the Confederate Army where he rose to the rank of lieutenant before being taken prisoner at the fall of Port Hudson. Following the war, Justice White completed his law studies at Georgetown University.

Admitted to the Louisiana bar in 1868, he entered politics almost immediately and was elected to the State Senate in 1874. Later he was appointed to the State Supreme Court where he served from 1879-1880. Identified with the anti-lottery movement, he was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1891.

Before completion of his term in the Senate, he was named to the Supreme Court of the United States as an associate justice by President Grover Cleveland and took office Mar. 12, 1894. He remained on the bench 27 years, being raised to the chief justiceship in 1910 by President William Howard Taft, who broke precedent to select White for the top post from the ranks of the associate justices.

During his service with the Court, Chief Justice White wrote opinions in more than 700 cases. He died in Washington in 1921.

Local Drop 11th Straight Ball Game To Thurmont

Three of the four games played in the Pen-Mar Baseball League Tuesday night were decided by one run margins and resulted in Blue Ridge Summit increasing its first place lead by one full game. Blue Ridge eked out a 3-2 victory over Fairfield on the latter's field.

Union Bridge dropped two full games back of the league leaders in bowing 1-0 before the invading New Windsor outfit. The game was one of the best played and fastest of the season, requiring but one hour and 20 minutes.

New Oxford came up with four runs in the last of the sixth inning to nip Cashtown at New Oxford in a game which was protested by the losers' on a league ruling requiring seven innings for a twilight game. The umpire called the game immediately after New Oxford tabbed its seventh run in the sixth.

Thurmont handed Emmitsburg its 11th loss in as many starts with a 7-3 victory on the Thurmont diamond. The winners collected a total of 12 hits while Biser scattered seven to Emmitsburg.

OBITUARIES

CHARLES A. SITES

Charles A. Sites, Pittsburgh, Pa., died suddenly Wednesday at his late home after an illness of about a month from a heart attack.

The deceased was a son of the late George and Alberta (Hoek) Sites and was born in Fairfield, Pa. He married the former Miss Pauline L. Gelwicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gelwicks, Emmitsburg.

Mr. Sites was an engineer on the B. & O. Railroad most of his life and was a member of St. Basil's Catholic Church, Pittsburgh, and the Holy Name Society.

The deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pauline Sites, and these children: Albert J. and Charles A. Sites, Jr., Pittsburgh; Mrs. Rudy Verella, New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Gerard Schuler, Pittsburgh; James A. Sites, St. Vincent's Seminary, Latrobe, Pa., and MM2 Harry J. Sites, of the U. S. Coast Guard, now stationed at Pearl Harbor. Also these brothers and sisters: Mack Sites, James Sites, and Stewart Sites, all of Fairfield; Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. Alma Hardman, Armor Sites and Edna Sites, survive, in addition to seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday in St. Basil's Church with a high requiem mass being offered at 9 a. m. Interment was in St. William's Cemetery, Pittsburgh. Pallbearers were fellow employees of the B. & O. Railroad.

JERRY JACOB OVERHOLTZER

Jerry Jacob Overholtzer, Fairfield Rt. 2, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., last Thursday morning at 7:55 o'clock. He was the husband of the late Annie Kump Overholtzer and was a son of the late Samuel and Sara Reaver Overholtzer. He was aged 72 years.

The deceased was a farmer and a member of the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church.

Survivors included these children: Russell Overholtzer, at home; Mrs. Daniel Shorb, Fairfield Rt. 2; Mrs. Donald Cline, Greenstone; one stepson, Guy Whitmore, Gardner Rt. 2, Pa.; three grandchildren, one great grandchild, two step brothers and three step sisters, Mrs. Harold Weikert, Fairfield; Mrs. Howard Brown, Gettysburg Rt. 2; Mrs. Archie Eyer, Emmitsburg; Melvin Overholtzer and Sammy Overholtzer, York, Pa.

Funeral services were conducted last Sunday afternoon at the S. L. Allison Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, with the Rev. Gideon Galambos, pastor of the Emmitsburg Presbyterian Church officiating.

The pallbearers were Earl Adams, Herbert White, Bernard Sprankle, Chester Chapman, Roscoe Shindledecker, and Andrew Shorb. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

JESSE E. MILLER

Jesse E. Miller, 27, died suddenly at 4 p. m. last Thursday while plowing his garden at his Tomstown, Pa., home from a heart attack.

Mr. Miller was born near Roadside, the son of the late Jacob and Mary Fitz Miller. For a number of years his family resided at Emmitsburg. Since 1927 he resided at Tomstown.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

The regular meeting of the local Boy Scouts was held last Thursday evening at the Scout home.

Mayor Thornton Rodgers presented an American Flag to the boys, which they raised on the newly erected flag pole. Brief ceremonies followed.

Mayor Rodgers spoke to the group asking them to help and make the Scouts a permanent troop for Emmitsburg. President of the Lions Club J. Ralph McDonnell also spoke.

Mr. Jack Rosensteel, chairman of the troop committee, assured the boys complete backing of the committee. After the flag ceremonies the Mayor and other guests were shown around the club house premises. Other guests included Mr. Charles Fuss, Daniel Kaas, Herbert Rogers, William Rowe, John J. Hollinger, and parents and friends of the boys. Refreshments were served.

It was announced that the patrol passing the most tests a month would receive an honor flag to carry for a month, and an honor flag would be awarded the patrol which makes the best knot board which will be judged by the troop committee. A project will be given each month for the flag, also.

The Scouts will raise the flag and play the National Anthem before each Little League baseball game. The Eagle Patrol will do this the first week.

It was announced that the troop is planning a five-day camping trip the last part of July. To help finance this trip, a food sale will be held Saturday, July 2, at 10 a. m. at the Fire Hall.

Tests were worked on and some of the boys passed their tenderfoot and second class requirements. The meeting closed with the usual Scout ritual.

BACK YOUR BOY SCOUTS!

SURPRISE PARTY

A delightful surprise party was given last week in the recreation room of St. Euphemia's School by members of the St. Joseph's Catholic Church Choir, for Mrs. Euphemia Rotering, who retired recently as church organist after having served in that capacity for 50 years.

The following program was presented: "Jubilee Greeting," and "The Star Spangled Banner," was sung by the entire group; Pledge to the Flag by the Boy and Girl Scouts; song, "Davy Crockett," Girl Scouts with Michael Elliot, Mrs. Rotering's grandson, dressed as Davy Crockett; choral arrangement, "In a Convent Garden," by the eighth grade girls of St. Euphemia's; piano selections by Gertrude Rosensteel, Frances Ott, Jean Marie Herring and Juliana Clarke; Little pole dance by Virginia Miller, Frances Ott, Pamela Miller and Gertrude Rosensteel. Miss Louella Lansinger, present church organist, was accompanist on the piano for the singing and dance. Brief remarks were made by Rev. John D. Sullivan, pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Refreshments were served those present upon completion of the entertainment program.

Bible School Terminates

The 1955 Community Vacation Bible School ended Wednesday morning. With a few under 100 enrolling for the first day, the attendance increased to 130. Miss Edith Long was in charge of the public program given by the school closing morning. The program included a song service, led by two senior girls, Mae Bushman and Peggy Hardman. The 23rd Psalm was read by a member of the Junior department and a prayer was said by Rev. Edmund P. Welker, pastor of the Reformed Church. The Primary department sang "Who Can Make a Flower?" and recited Bible verses. Peggy Hardman of the Senior class gave a review of the class' work. The Junior department sang, "This Is My Father's World."

Remarks were made by Miss Long who thanked those who so capably served and made the school such a success. She commented on the excellent spirit and cooperation of the children who made it a pleasure to teach and work with. A financial report was made by the school treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Eyster. The report disclosed offerings of $43.59 and special gifts of $11.25. A picnic was held on the church lawn with refreshments contributed by the parents and patrons and about 160 children and adults were served. Ice cream was donated by Crouse's, Bucher's and C. A. Harner.

Cloyd W. Seiss Re-elected Head of C. of C.

The annual election of officers was the main order of business conducted at the regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce held Monday night in the Fire Hall, President Cloyd W. Seiss presiding.

Selected to head the organization for the second straight year was the incumbent, Cloyd W. Seiss. Other officers elected were: First vice president, Charles R. Stouter; second vice president, Daniel J. Kaas; secretary, Arthur Elder, and treasurer, John S. Hollinger, the latter two individuals being also re-elected for a second term.

Colonel Thomas J. Frailey gave a comprehensive report on the recent national convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce held in Washington, D. C. Col. Frailey was the local Chamber's delegate to the convention.

A report on a recent meeting with the Lions Club was given by John S. Hollinger and Ralph F. Irelan. The meeting was to formulate a joint plan by the two organizations to promote some fund-raising event for the benefit of the Warner Hospital Building drive.

The group discussed ways and means of raising money for the hospital fund and the president was authorized to make any plans necessary for such an event. The principal function discussed was the promotion of a hillbilly show.

Col. T. J. Frailey was instructed to draft a form letter to be sent out soon to all charter and former members of the Chamber in an effort to bolster the membership. It is hoped that many former members will renew their memberships. Treasurer John S. Hollinger was ordered to send bills for the annual dues which are now payable.

A letter, in the form of a request for a donation, was received from the Little League Assn. and the group voted to donate $10 to the league. Previous donations had been given.

An informative brochure on Emmitsburg was ordered sent to a resident of Centralia, Ill, and also to one from Mitchell, S. D., after requests had been mailed to the Chamber for such information. A communication from the Brethren Church of Bridgeport, Va., was received. The letter sought information as to whether or not Emmitsburg could accommodate a national convention of the church to be held in 1957. The letter was ordered to be answered informing the group that present facilities for national conventions were inadequate at this time.

Pamphlets giving detailed information and entitled "Military Training Poses Problems for Employers" were distributed to members present, and anyone wishing a copy of this booklet, published by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, can have one by applying to the local Chamber.

President Seiss reported that the welcome sign east of town on Rt. 32, which was blown down by Hurricane Hazel, had been restored to its original position. The draw prize was won by C. G. Frailey.

LANDS 3-LB. TROUT

OIL WAX PUTS BEES ON THE SKIDS
Wax, a by-product of petroleum refining boasts an almost endless list of uses and users. One of the biggest markets for this oil product is the food industry. Large dairies buy 11-pound slabs of wax and feed them into machines that coat milk containers. Citrus fruit shippers often dip their products in wax to prevent shrinkage and spoilage during transportation. Waxed paper keeps bakery goods oven-fresh. Food preservation is just one way in which America's food supply gets a helping hand from the oil industry.

The nation's oil companies handed out more than 150 million free road maps last year, and they're planning to give away at least $7.5 million worth this year.

It takes $16,000 to provide the tools and labor necessary to equip and supply the average petroleum industry employe.

Weathered cement-asbestos shingles and siding can be most successfully refreshed with alkylid cement and stucco paint. However, since cement-asbestos surfaces are normally rather porous, the first coat should be applied with reinforcing oil added. At least two quarts of oil to the gallon, and more if the surface is exceedingly absorbent.

There is a "self-cleaning" type of cement and stucco paint for all-white homes as well as a chalk-resistant white which may also be tinted. A range of colors is also available.

LOOKING AHEAD
By Dr. George S. Brownell
SPECIALIST - EDUCATION
EDUCATION PROGRAM
Sturgis, Arkansas

Well-Rounded Education Needed
In this age of science and technology the education profession of America, and the American citizenry, must not lose sight of the need for "thinkers" as well as "doers." This was the essence of a thought-provoking and stimulating commencement address at Harding College by Dr. Samuel Miller Brownell, United States Commissioner of Education. Since his words were directed not only to the Harding graduating class, student body and faculty, but to the nation as a whole, I wish to pass them along to this column's wide-spread audience.

"The effectiveness of education would seem," said Dr. Brownell, "to depend in a large measure on how well it fulfills its basic responsibilities to strengthen good citizenship, to keep alive and to transmit the best of mankind's cultural heritage, to provide some understanding of the scientific bases of modern life, and to teach the student how to think as well as pursue the quest for the good life—the end product of all education. All schools and colleges—whatever their origin, or however supported—share in the obligation to help meet our national needs in the ways that fit them best."

A. Danger
Speaking particularly of specialization in education, Dr. Brownell asked: "Where, in this intense time-consuming effort to master a special field, is there going to be a place for thinking, for philosophy, for reflection? How are we going to preserve our perspective? How are we going to find men and women who can see what they do in relation to what others do: who can form balanced judgments; who are capable of cutting through to the heart of the matter; who can find the simple truth and recognize it as such?"

"There is grave danger that we will, as a Nation, lose our way in a labyrinth of formulas, figures, and facts, that we will bog down in a sea of technical problems. I say this because it seems to me that almost every major technical advance creates a philosophical problem."
Beyond Technology
"To illustrate: The technical solution to the atomic bomb poses the awesome problem of what to do with it. We cannot ask the scientist to dispose of his Frankenstein anymore than we can ask the printer to solve the comic book menace that rolls forth from his million dollar, high-speed, four-color presses. The technician-specialist, I repeat, is limited in his usefulness, and he is creating problems he cannot solve... It is quite evident, I believe, that we need scholarship, not just specialization."
"I do not want to say anything, which is disparaging to scientists. We need them if we are to make progress. We need many more than we are preparing. The survival of all that we cherish may well depend on our preparing more and better scientists."
The Need Stated
"What we need, if our contemporary society is to survive," said Dr. Brownell, "is the young man or woman who is technically proficient, but who is also capable of reflective thought, of understanding; who is capable of love, and of courage. The students here, and the graduates, and tens of thousands of young men and women like them can bring about a new scholarship—part fact, part thought; part reflection, part action."
"Looking ahead it seems to me that this country has a right to expect that every institution of higher education will bend its efforts to be increasingly effective as a preserver and transmitter of learning and as an extender of the boundaries of knowledge and scholarship. In this effort, Harding College will, I am confident, share fruitfully. As it does so, in concert with its sister colleges and universities across the land it will prove again that the United States needs strong private and public institutions of higher education aware of their obligations and zealous to fulfill them."

leaders, Defense says further, but, as we recall it, the issue was never in doubt. Not for very long, at least.
Technicians will be called specialists, the lowest ranking being designated Specialist 3rd Class and the highest Master Specialist.
The Master Specialist and the Master Sergeant will get the same pay, even as the troop leading Corporal will draw the same salary as the Specialist 3rd Class. But the technical men will lose the privilege of being called Sergeants and Corporals.
Specialist or not, we think this is going to take quite a bit of doing. Remembering our service in World War I, the boys know a Sergeant when they see one. And they'll probably call him what they want to.

For Creative Impact— Try a Montage

"IMMIGRANT" by Grey Lacey of Omaha, Neb. This prize-winning picture was made with a Ciroflex C. Exposure of girl was made with open flash at 1/16. Exposure of signs was 1/10 second at 1/3.5.

HERE is a truly creative photograph—one which had to be conceived in the mind of the photographer, both in idea and mode of execution, before it could be made. It tells a story without the need for words through photographic alchemy.
If you have a lively imagination, try a photographic montage, suggests T. T. Holden, photo director of Graflex, Inc., Rochester, N. Y. They're not so difficult as they look, and this time of year is perfect for darkroom work in Northern states.
Either of two basic techniques may be used to produce montages. One is the multiple negative technique, where two or more negatives are printed onto a single sheet of paper. The other, and more difficult way, is through multiple exposures on the same negative.
In either case, your picture should be planned in advance, through carefully-executed, exact scale sketches. Your composition must be completely and accurately plotted for best results. If you are going to shoot several negatives, you should block out the section of the whole which will be occupied by each one.

It is usually not wise to use a negative size smaller than 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 when attempting this kind of picture. The smaller the negative, the tougher the job of controlling overlapping lines of light. In the 2 1/4 x 2 1/4 size, your best bet will be the single-lens reflex camera, because of the absence of parallax.
When using a twin-lens reflex, you should be especially careful to make parallax corrections with each shot if there are any close-ups involved in your composition.
The best camera of all to work with in shooting montages is a large-negative camera with ground-glass focusing. A 4 x 5 press camera, or a 4 x 5 or 5 x 7 view camera is ideal. Here, you can actually sketch your composition on the ground-glass and be absolutely sure that you have the light where you want it for each exposure. Naturally, a sturdy tripod is a valuable accessory.

Why not hop on the Ford Bandwagon—get in on a deal that spells savings to you—now while your present car is worth its top dollar—now while you can enjoy a full summer of fun in America's trend-setting, "GO"-leading, "worth-more" car—the brilliant '55 Ford. Come in at your earliest—come get our "best!"
Sells more because it's worth more FORD
V-8 POWER from the V-8 leader... that's what you get in a Ford. And Ford's Trigger-Torque "go" means more than just trigger-quick action on take-offs. It gives you a whole new feeling of confidence and security in traffic or on the open road.
YEARS-AHEAD LOOKS... you see it in every Thunderbird-inspired line. For, this '55 Ford is truly the styling "trend-setter." Perhaps you've noticed, too, you see more and more Fords in front of homes where formerly only costlier cars were parked.
SMOOTHER GOING... and you'll go more places! The reason? Ford's revolutionary Ball-Joint Front Suspension is better than ever. For '55, springs are tilted back to absorb bumps from the front as well as up and down. You'll find even the smooth roads seem smoother!

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Voters to Decide Wheat Quota Question

A last-minute reminder for Md. farmers who will vote in the June 25 wheat quota referendum has been issued by George B. Reeves, chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He said that any farmer in the State who will harvest more than 15 acres of wheat or grain in 1956 on any one farm is eligible to vote in the referendum, which will decide the question of "quotas" or "no quotas" on the 1956 crop.

The vote will have an important effect on the marketing and price-support programs for the

TOP-PRICE SHORTHORN

How About That!

When grandma was a girl, the front parlor was "off-limits" to the children. Peeking through the draperies at the overstuffed furniture was as close as they got in the well-regulated Victorian family.

Then came the old-fashioned drape-shape, slip-covered furniture. All were welcome in the living-room, but the beautiful upholstery fabrics were hardly ever seen. Keeping furniture protected was more important than the enjoyment of fine upholstery!

Today, everybody lives in the living room and enjoys the gay, contrasting colors of modern fabrics. And neither children nor grownups need cry over spilled milk, or spill coffee, for that matter. The new Sylmer finish for decorative fabrics developed by Dow Corning, forms an invisible "slip-cover" that sheds water-borne stains, simplifies the removal of oily spots, keeps fabrics new-looking longer!

1956 wheat crop, Mr. Reeves pointed out. If at least two-thirds of the farmers voting approve quotas, quotas will continue in effect for farms with more than 15 acres of wheat, with marketing quota penalties of 45 percent of parity on the production from acreage in excess of farm allotments. Price support on the crop in the commercial area will be available at a level probably between 75 and 82 percent of parity, the exact level to be announced before the referendum.

If more than one-third of the voters disapprove quotas, there will be no quotas or penalties for the 1956 wheat crop, but the available price support to farmers who do not exceed their farm wheat allotments will be 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

Your Personal Health

TB In The Classroom

Could your child catch tuberculosis in school? Your immediate reaction is, "No, of course not." Not with all the public health regulations, school doctors and nurses. Not in that handsome new brick building with the big shiny windowpanes. Anyway, you say, not many children get TB these days. But can you be sure that our child is safe? A recent discovery of active tuberculosis in a six-year-old girl led to the disclosure of three other infected first-graders. Investigation showed that their apparently healthy young teacher had the disease.

Children do get tuberculosis. The incidence is lower than in adults partly because their opportunities for contact with an active case of the disease are fewer. During the years when a child's world includes little more than home and school, the chances of his catching tuberculosis can be minimized. The infection is most likely to reach him from adults with active TB. And these will most likely be in a limited group including the adults in his own family and his school teachers. Responsible parents will make sure, of course, that there is no chance that a child is exposed to tuberculosis in the home. With the modern chest X-ray there is no excuse for doubt on this score.

But what about the school? Responsible parents should know for sure what measures are taken to protect the health of their children in the classroom. Does your school system require an annual physical examination and a chest X-ray of all its teachers? If there is such a regulation, is it rigidly enforced? If there is no requirement, is there some community group you could join in working for it? Teamwork by parent organizations, doctors, educators, the health department, and tuberculosis association can prevent the needless tragedy of the child who catches tuberculosis in the classroom.

1954 Social Security Changes Give Wider Coverage

If you want to be sure of getting your rights, make sure that you don't overlook your duties. Your social security district office wasn't just being philosophical when passing this advice along for the information of people covered by the 1954 changes in the social security law. The manager wants the farmers, hired farm workers, architects, accountants, engineers, funeral directors, domestic workers and others affected by the 1954 amendments to the social security law to take the proper action to protect their rights.

If you fit into one of the above categories, you should first of all find out just what this means to you and your family. Many people do not realize that the social security law provides monthly payments for certain dependents in case of the death of the family breadwinner as well as monthly payments when he retires after reaching 65. Many people past 65 do not realize that the payments can start at age 72 even though they have not retired. And many who know the type of benefits that can be paid have no idea of the amounts payable.

Your second duty is to make sure you do enough to protect your rights under social security. If you are an employee, you are not doing all that you could to protect your rights unless you have a social security account number card, have shown it to your family and told them about social security, have shown it to your employer and make sure he copied your name and number correctly. And finally, you should check your social security record at least once every four years to be sure that it is correct. (Your social security office will be glad to furnish you a card form for this purpose). If you are self-employed, your duties are similar. You, too, must obtain a social security account number card before your first social security self-employment tax return is due. You must also, during 1955, keep business records that will enable you to file an accurate social security tax return for the year. Finally, you must file such tax return and pay the social security tax.

If you do not perform these duties as you should, you run the risk of losing your social security payments, getting less than you should or at least of waiting longer than you should to receive your payments.

If you want more information on your rights and duties under the Social Security Law, the Hagerstown District Office at 74 West Washington St. will be glad to answer your questions and to give you a leaflet that explains the law.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 23—Since President Eisenhower's great address at Pennsylvania State University last week, I have been much more hopeful of the years ahead. This world may be entering a new Industrial Revolution commensurate with the two previous great Industrial Revolutions of a century and more ago.

The first was based upon the invention of printing by movable type, upon the development of education combined with Bible reading, and upon the discovery of America. Thus, the three great men of that day were Gutenberg, John Rogers (my ancestor), and Columbus. The second Industrial Revolution was due to the harnessing of steam and steel, the development of democracy, and the building of railroads and steamships. Thus, the three great men of that time were Watt, Washington, and Stephenson. My purpose this week is to impress upon readers that future history may show we are now entering a third great Industrial Revolution. This could come from the harnessing of uranium, the development of labor unions accompanied by the redistribution of property, and the possibilities of aviation. The three men responsible for these developments were Einstein, Roosevelt, and the Wright Brothers. The first two Industrial Revolutions, with the exception of the discoveries of Columbus, were largely confined to nations and bounded by national lines.

Airplanes Making Great Changes
Let me now state that any third revolution will know no national boundaries, but must be a world revolution. For instance, uranium is found everywhere and can be used anywhere; the masses all over the world are demanding property, education, and opportunity; while airplanes, telephones, and television know no boundaries. They are reducing the size of the world to the size of an average country a generation ago. Today I call London by telephone as freely as I called New York a few years ago. Members of my organization are lunching with me today; and they are having breakfast in London tomorrow morning. Furthermore, the difficulties of communicating with the people of other nations, which handicapped the two previous industrial revolutions, have been eliminated by radio and television.

The stock market, of course, will have bad breaks. Then will be the time to buy more of the stocks which will profit from this new Industrial Revolution. The main purpose of this week's column is to get you to become world conscious and to recognize the great possibilities ahead. Some look upon advances in electricity as bringing on a new era; but, no, electricity is simple a new method of distributing power already manufactured by coal, oil or gravity. This same applies to electronics and many other inventions which people are going crazy about. Actually, these are incidental. Great new eras are based on the use of a new power; material, spiritual, political, or a combination of all, as "Billy" Graham is preaching. How To Lose Money

All kinds of speculative promotions followed the inventions of Watt, Stephenson, and especially Columbus. Hundreds of new companies were formed and floated to get gold from Mexico or Peru, to enjoy the Fountain-of-Youth in Florida, to import sugar, spices and slaves from the West Indies, to get timber and ore from Virginia or New England. The settlement of Gloucester—my home city—was undertaken by an English company to make money, but most of them, including the Gloucester enterprise, went broke.

Too many investors of those days thought only of themselves and tried to get rich by speculating in individual companies; but they lost out. Those, however, who did not attempt to speculate in these new companies but who got the vision that a new industrial revolution was fanning out before them, applied this vision to their own business, whether banking, insurance, manufacturing, merchandizing, or foreign trade. They became wealthy. I forecast that those who now get and so usefully apply this vision will be likewise rewarded.

Let Us Now Be Optimistic
So, I close with this appeal. Let us forget, for the present, World War III, Russian Communism, threatened Stock Market Collapses, Juvenile Delinquency, and all the other pessimism featured today. Instead, let us think of what Aviation, Chemistry, Wonder Drugs, Television, Weather Control, Cybernetics, Automatic Factories, and the greatest of all, uranium will do for us who get this vision and are anxious to work. Even this does not mean bothering your head to find some uranium stock to buy. The fact is, future history may look back upon the present stock markets as you and I look back on horses and buggies! Therefore, may we awaken to a new vision. May we think how we can use airplanes, uranium, and especially advertising, to develop our own business, and help our children and grandchildren. Without doubt some stocks are good short sales at the present time; but don't now sell the world short!

One more thought: On the 6th day of last December I completed 50 years in very active business. This year, 1955, I am devoting to selecting 2000 enthusiastic persons—preferably those physically handicapped as I have always been, but who have the Vision—to represent me and the United Information Service in 2000 cities. A list of these selected cities will be sent, on request, by my Babson Park, Mass., office. Any reader who can help in this work will be doing a good thing both for the person selected and for the merchants of the community in which he or she lives. If you doubt it, read in the Bible the first sentence of Verse 18, Chapter 29, of the Book of Proverbs.

(These opinions of Roger W. Babson are published in this paper every Friday.)

The largest "skin grafting" operation in history gets underway with the erection of the first of some 7,000 prefabricated panels of gleaming stainless steel forming the "skin", or outer wall, of New York's new 42-story Socony Mobil Building. It will take almost 11 acres of enduring stainless steel to sheathe this giant, the world's largest metal-clad structure. The building is further evidence of the growing trend among the nation's leading architects and builders to utilize stainless steel curtain walls in assuring everlasting beauty, lower maintenance costs and construction economies in the erection of modern schools, hospitals, public and commercial buildings. Just as stainless steel kitchen equipment rinses clean with little effort so will these stainless walls during rainstorms.

Better Apples for the Family Table

Scientists have discovered a new fruit spray called "Crag" Fruit Fungicide 341 that controls apple scab, the number one disease that costs apple growers millions of dollars each year. Apple scab is a fungus growth that attacks the surface of apples causing brown scab-like spots that can ruin an entire crop. While the apples are ripening on the tree "Crag" 341 protects them with a transparent film. It is this film that keeps apple scab from infecting the fruit even during long rains when this disease is most likely to spread. Apple growers using "Crag" 341 are getting more shiny bright red apples than they've ever gotten before and at a lower cost. For the consumer this means better-tasting and better looking apples on the family table at a lower price.

WILL-O'-THE-WISP!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The question around Washington, "Was Bunker Hill a fact or myth? Was there really a Declaration of Independence?"

England cuts income taxes; Canadian income tax rates are under U. S. Yet U. S. taxes cannot be cut because of ever mounting deficits.

This may be significant. As soon as British election was announced Harold Stassen's Foreign Operations Administration started passing out U. S. cash to England in manner suggesting worldwide Tammany Hall.

In one period of 12 days, $20,270,000 more was given England in foods, including citrus fruits, and also $5 million worth of cotton which no doubt will be manufactured and shipped back to this country to further wreck U. S. textile industry which cannot buck combination of cheap labor plus free raw materials.

At Camden, N. J., in 1952 Candidate Eisenhower said "You cannot pile deficit upon deficit and then have left the kind of economy we have known."

Yet Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, strictly non-partisan on matters pertaining to wastage of taxpayers' money, says this administration is spending more on non-defense items than Truman administration, and "three times as much as in profligate New Deal of 1940."

Foreign give-away figures still startle. On recent day France got $26,628,000, Greece received $72,000 worth of scarce newsprint. Egypt since Farouk ousting, has been doing well getting U. S. tax dollars. Recently land of the Sphinx tapped U. S. for a total of $13,000,000. Another serious contender for U. S. dollars is Israel, rapidly climbing into big league of U. S. gift recipients. In the same period, this nation received almost $8,000,000, part in bookkeeping machines.

Oil rich Iran is also coming up into major money classification. In fact, in past two years more nations are getting feet in trough.

Sen. Byrd claims that average American family of five now owes $8,700 as their share of national debt. Thus, average family owes more than its assets.

Yet, there seems to be no end. With what Harold Stassen is now spending plus additional money he wants this Congress to give him, figures are astounding. It just means that for every American family, regardless of size, more than $40 per day is being given away, Sundays and holidays included. Just to stay even, this means every family would have to pay around $15,000 per year in taxes alone just to keep up with give-aways.

Fantastic part of it all is that many of the nation's receiving these gifts are rich in resources; many also have rich colonies. In fact, Sen. Byrd claims because of our bureaucrat's recklessness national debt of around $280 billion is more than combined national debts of all the world's nations put together.

Obviously, such a situation cannot go on. Yet, oddly, or even weirdly, no one is putting on the brakes, despite fact it is well known Karl Marx advised best way for communism to defeat a democracy is to let democracy bankrupt itself. The current condition appears too concerted to be haphazard; thus some feel there must be directing force unconsciously pushing U. S. into abyss of bankruptcy.

THE GREATEST DANGER OF ALL

A late Hoover Commission report deals with the problem of Government-owned and operated commercial businesses. One section of it is devoted to the shipbuilding and repair yards run by the Navy, and to the law which makes it mandatory for the Government to build the first and each succeeding alternate vessel of the types it authorizes. This can be waived, only in rare cases, when the President decides that the stipulation is not consistent with the public interest.

In the Commission's view, this "represents a destructive intrusion into the private shipbuilding industry of this country." It points out that, in case of war, the Navy could not produce sufficient shipping to meet our needs, and we would have to depend primarily on private yards. Yet, it continues, these yards "lack the construction and repair activity needed to maintain their capacity, skills and mobilization utility," and are in a "distressed condition."

It has been argued that the Navy should and must do its experimenting and developing. The Commission refutes this, and offers the opinion that the work can be done as well and possibly better in private yards. Its solution to the problem is to allow private shipbuilders the right to bid on all vessels the Government buys, not just some of them.

Finally, the report states that the unnecessary intrusion of Government into business injures "the very system upon which our future security and prosperity is based." Of that view, the Wall Street Journal said: "That is the greatest danger of all; for if there were no strong private enterprise system to provide the taxes, the Government could not be in the shipbuilding business, nor the bread-baking or printing businesses, and perhaps not even be in the business of governing."

OF A NUMBER OF THINGS

Bad Patterns That Thought Tends to Follow

Only the most common of these can be mentioned here out of some 20 such which have been identified over the centuries, according to the author of a popular series of "Tips on Straight Thinking" in recent numbers of Readers Digest. How these patterns get started—that is one of the many mysteries of thinking! But started they are, and often very firmly established.

The Pattern of Hasty Generalization — Setting up a general opinion on the basis of too few or unverified facts. Illustrations of this faulty reasoning are innumerable; for example: (1) the conclusion that a certain store employs a low class of clerks on the evidence of rude treatment received by one's self from a clerk and the report of another person's receiving rude treatment, (2) the conclusion that tariffs should not be lowered on the evidence of a radio commentator's argument against lowering, (3), the conclusion that a candidate for office is unsuitable on the evidence of an opponent that he attended a Communist meeting. Any reader can supply more illustrations.

The Pattern of Wrong Cause-and-Effect Relation — explaining an effect as produced by something that could not have caused it but just happened to precede it. Illustrations of this fallacy in reasoning are also innumerable. One striking group represents a survival of ancient superstitious beliefs originating in a time when man's views of the world were largely governed by fear. We protest that we are not superstitious, but why are some of us disturbed to find ourselves at a table with 13 people, to break a mirror, to have to walk under a ladder, or go out of a house by a different door from one by which we entered, or why do we shrink from touching a toad (a recent "People Are Funny" program centered around this one)? And what of the pseudo-science of astrology that continues to flourish on the basis of finding the causes of man's good and bad fortune in the stars that happened to be in the ascendancy when he was born? There are many other more serious if less striking forms of linking results to false causes, for example, in modern advertising and political propaganda; but these too I must leave to the reader's own selection.

The Pattern of Rationalizing—making up a false explanation to keep from admitting the real one. This pattern is clearly closely connected with the preceding, but is different in that here the person makes up the explanation of a certain result for himself, whereas in the other case he accepts an explanation "from outside." The definition just given of "Rationalizing," which is a technical term of the psychologists, shows why this pattern is called, by another technical term, "a defense mechanism," the person who uses it trying, subconsciously, to defend his self-respect or self-control by avoiding the admission of failure or fear in himself. Such unsound reasoning, for example, is found in (1) pupils blaming the teacher for their failure instead of admitting it is due to their own laziness or lack of interest, (2) parents blaming the teacher for the same result when the cause is mainly their own failure to cooperate with the teacher's efforts (I speak here as a long-time teacher), (3) a person persuading himself that he is taking a new job because it offers a larger field of service when the real reason is the lure of a larger salary. A reader can no doubt supplement these examples from his own observation and experience.

An interesting variation of this pattern is the noting of examples (from observation or from reading) favorable to the opinion we wish to hold or the action we wish to take, and ignoring all contrary ones.

The Pattern of Confusing the Point with Personalities—switching from the issue at stake to the person connected with it (thru prejudice or some other emotional involvement); for example (1) when a prosecuting lawyer, finding he has no real case, turns to calling the defendant names, or (2), when it is declared that A's plan for traffic control can't be any good because he never went beyond grade school, or (3) that the statesman B's efforts for social reform doesn't deserve support—look at the trouble he had with his own family.

So much for a few of the many factors constantly tending to prevent altogether or interfere with the straight course real thinking. As we turn from this glimpse to consider in a final instalment some of the aids available for the mind in combating its opponents, a concise comment by one of the specialists I've been reporting from seems in order: "Straight thinking is not a gift but an achievement."

(To be concluded)

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By Cong. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON, June 22—Two items of special interest to the people of the Sixth Maryland District were before the House last week. I am happy to report that the appropriation for the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control Project was approved by the House. The Public Works Appropriation bill provides $1.4 million for continuation of the project. The bill now goes to the Senate, where I am certain the House action will be approved.

The other item considered by the House which is of great interest to many of the people living in our District was the bill providing for a pay raise for classified Federal employees. It gave me a great deal of pleasure to be able to work along with those who were trying to bring the government pay scales into line with present day living costs.

I also had the opportunity last week to appear before the Senate District Committee in support of my bill to grant the same type of exemption to charitable gifts under the laws of the District of Columbia as apply under Federal statutes. I am strongly opposed to measures which the District Commissioners advocate which will in any way weaken the provisions of my bill. I fully expect the Senate to approve this measure which will benefit not only residents of the City of Washington but also residents of Maryland.

The House Committee on Education and Labor is now holding hearings on my bill which would restore funds lost to Montgomery County schools owing to the cut-off date for aid to Federally impacted areas. I have had the opportunity of again presenting the arguments in favor of the government fulfilling its obligations and thereby carrying out the original intent of Congress.

I would like to call your attention to the debate on the proposal to establish a steam-powered generating plant at Fulton, Tenn., which was before the House during consideration of the Public Works Appropriation bill. We should remind ourselves that the issue is larger than the defeated steam power plant for TVA. The debate clearly demonstrated a basic difference in political philosophy.

I personally believe that if the genius of America has anything to offer the world as an argument against the Communist theory of state socialism (for that is the direction the TVA steam plant would lead) it is that private enterprise can do most things more efficiently and with less danger of oppression than government can.

"Little Hut" Proves Entertaining Play At Mountain Theater

Playing nightly at the Mountain Theatre, Braddock Heights, this week through Sunday, June 26, is the Broadway hit comedy, "The Little Hut," featuring Dorothy Lee Tompkins in the role originally created on the New York stage by Barbara Bel Geddes. Following the run of this production will be another hit from the recent Broadway stage, "The Tender Trap," with New York Equity Co. The show opens Tuesday, June 28, for a 6-night run.

Playing the feminine lead in the sizeable cast will be Lois Barden, an actress of extensive theatre prestige. Miss Barden appeared at the Mountain Theatre last season in many featured roles. On TV she has been seen in the "Plainclothes Man," "Martin Kane," and numerous commercials. She has made commercial films and appeared on radio stations WNYC and WNEW in "Great Plays Series" and "Musical Comedy Songs." She has done considerable photography and fashion modeling and appeared in large night clubs in New York, Cleveland, and Massachusetts. She did hospital shows under the auspices of renowned American Theatre Wing, and off-Broadway acted as the American Lyric, the Greenwich Mews, the Production Guild, the drama Troupers, and the Blaifriars Guild. Her stock and repertoire includes theatres at Shaker Heights, O.; Lake George, N. Y.; the Rochester Arena stage, N. Y., year-round operations, also theatres at Worcester, Duxbury and Nantucket, Mass.; Providence, R. I.; Beachlake, Pa.; Falls Church, Va., and the Arena Stage, Washington,

New Naval Airport Is Being Planned

Senator John Marshall Butler (Rep., Md.), said this week that the proposed new $16 million Naval Academy Airport will be located within a radius of approximately 12 miles east of the intersection of Federal Highway 301 and the Annapolis-Washington Highway.

The House Armed Services Committee reported, favorably, legislation authorizing the new Naval Academy Airport. It also approved, at a cost of $11.2 million, the extension of Bancroft Hall on the Academy grounds, to house 1,000 additional midshipmen, and the extension of the athletic field. When Congress approves the authorization, the Navy Dept. will ask that $4 million be appropriated immediately to commence the projects, Sen. Butler said.

The determining factors in selection of the airport site, Maryland's senior senator declared, will be the terrain and the receptability of the local communities to the airport. When the Navy first started talking about a Naval Academy air terminal, the favorite location was near Gibson Island, Sen. Butler said. But this location has been abandoned because of the opposition of that community and its citizens.

The new site in the vicinity of Highway 301 and the Annapolis-Washington Highway will be about 15 miles west of Annapolis.

Sen. Butler predicted that both the Senate and House will approve the projects.

Porter's Pot-Pourri

By LINDA PORTER

Hostess of "Way of the World," NBC-TV

WHILE the pots are boiling I take time out to relax in the library-corner of my old, new-fashioned kitchen. I never grow tired of looking through my collection of old recipes, bits of wisdom I find in my collection of old cook books, almanacs and old farm weeklies.

From Lancaster County, Pa. comes this 117-year-old recipe for baked apples. In spite of its age, or because of it, it may appear as something temptingly new.

"Take 12 large Pippin apples, cut them in halves, take out the cores. Place them on a tin plate as close as they can lie with the flat side downwards. Beat the white of an egg to a froth, rub it over the apples. Shred some lemon peel very fine and strew them over. Sift loaf sugar over them and bake half an hour. Serve hot."

RED CABBAGE—

While you're trying to make the most of late winter's apple supply, you might make a tastier dish of red cabbage by cooking it the way grandmother did — with an apple.

Coarsely shred one medium head of red cabbage. Add one sliced onion, one medium large apple, peeled, cored and chopped, one tablespoon sugar, two tablespoons of vinegar and four tablespoons of water. Salt to taste and cook over low flame in tightly covered saucepan for 20-25 minutes. The men in your family will think you're a genius!

FLOWER SYMBOLISM—

If you're as sentimental as I am, you might anticipate Spring's first flowers more eagerly if you could attach the proper meaning or symbolism to each flower you see. Here are a few of the traditional meanings: BUTTERCUP — riches; HYACINTH — loveliness; IRIS — message; IVY — friendship, wedded love; LARKSPUR — fickleness; LILAC — first love; PEACH BLOSSOMS — I am your captive; PHLOX — unanimity; DAISY — innocence; PRIMROSE — believe me; RED ROSE — admiration; GERANIUM — gentility; CROCUS — gladness.

FROM AN OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC: "The phrase 'pin money' is said to have originated in the 14th century when pins were so costly that they were only sold the first two days of January. Husbands gave their wives pin money allowances to purchase this luxury."

ADD TO YOUR DEFINITIONS: Home — a place where the great are small and the small are great.

ADVICE FROM MARK TWAIN: "Always do what is right. You will gratify some people and surprise the rest."

Congressional Viewpoint

By U. S. Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — This Nation's foreign policy respecting Yugoslavia, as a result of the recent, and much publicized, visit of Soviet officials to Belgrade, momentarily exists in a necessary atmosphere of indecision and imprecision. This needed pause for reorientation affords a calm, careful evaluation of the settlements reached between two countries dedicated, in varying manner, to the dogma of communism.

It will be recalled that in June of 1948 Yugoslavia severed relations with its patron benefactor when Marshal Tito refused total subservience to the Kremlin. Through this unprecedented break the community of free nations—in an early attempt at co-existence with totalitarianism—acquired a strange ally, an orphan of communism. Seemingly, with unusual haste, the origin and true nature of Tito's regime were ignored in a swell of economic and military aid.

In the years since World War II, the U. S., as a part of its mutual security and other programs, has extended Yugoslavia grants in aid amounting to almost $644 million. This figure does not reflect military funds for obvious reasons. Curiously enough while the Belgrade jamboree was in progress, the Congress was considering additional aid for Tito's government. Any appraisal of the effectiveness of this generosity would be shabby in the light of these late developments. The quiet and guarded renewal of diplomatic relations in 1953 should have telegraphed the intentions of these two quasi-partners to solidify their mutual interests and problems—all stemming from the idology of goddess communism. While creating the illusion that the so-called neutralism of Yugoslavia will be maintained, it is interesting to note that the Belgrade conferences brought forth proposals, to which Russia and Yugoslavia affixed their approval, urging the admission of Red China into the United Nations. . . . re-unification of West and East Germany . . . peaceful use of nuclear energy . . . disarmament and the abolition of atomic weapons . . . the annexation of Formosa by Communist China . . . and others. This entire affair can best be characterized as another clever propaganda device, at which the communists are most adept.

Much supposition surrounds the real motives of the mended Belgrade-Moscow axis, ranging from Russia's internal disorders to Tito's duplicity. In any event, the constant deceitfulness and depravity of the communist conspiracy must condition our future relations with Yugoslavia.

Call The Play with Mel Allen

With Spring just about over and the Summer season ready to go into full swing, baseball and other warm-season sports move to the head of the class. Not to be outdone by the seasons, Mel Allen and his sports quiz show, "Call The Play," are staying right with them by providing baseball, tennis and swimming fans with problems about their favorite pastimes.

"Call The Play" is the fifteen-minute local participation show which, in each area it is seen, awards one or more $100 U. S. Savings Bonds to viewers who can outguess some of the most famous managers and coaches. Here are some typical sports posers to be presented by Allen on upcoming shows:

- 1) In a game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, the score is tied in the ninth inning with two out and the decisive run for Milwaukee is on first base. Bill Bruton, a left-handed pull-hitter is up. The question is where do you play your first baseman? He must be able to hold the runner on but at the same time he must be able to field any balls hit his way.
2) This is a tennis poser. You're calling the play for Frank Sedgeman and Pancho Segura who are matched against Jack Kramer and Don Budge, two strong players who like to come up to the net as often as possible. What's your strategy?
3) The next is a rule situation. How many bases can a runner advance on a passed ball?
4) Back to tennis again. In a match between Pancho Segura and Jack Kramer, Pancho's foot

- THE ANSWERS
1—The answer is simple. You would play your first baseman behind the runner getting him in a better position to hold the runner on and at the same time field any ball pulled down the first base line.
2—You'd naturally try to keep them away from the net and you'd accomplish this by passing them on the sidelines or "lobbing" the ball deep into the backcourt.
3—The runner can take what he can get.
4—It is not a foot-fault. If he had touched the court proper before hitting the ball it would have been a fault.
5—Yes, runners can advance, at their own risk, on any caught foul ball.
6—The goal is not allowed because Conacher shot the puck while he was in the crease, which extends three feet out from the goal mouth.
