Once again the local Veterans of Foreign Wars will stage one of those enjoyable Block Parties which have proven so popular locally the past five years or so. As usual the promotion is of a benefit nature, that is for the benefit of the entire community. It requires a substantial sum annually to maintain hospital beds, crutches, free ambulance service and playground facilities and it represents a considerable strain on the club's treasury, so it is the usual custom to hold some type of fund-raising affair to keep these community services running on a high level. I feel certain that you all will respond generously. There will be delightful band music by the local band, which is donating its services and on hand will be numerous games, good food and oodles of amusements to provide a complete evening of enjoyment for all. The date is August 27 . . . remember it.

Reports on the Chamber of Commerce's survey of local business establishments who are in favor of closing their places of business on Monday evenings indicate the plan has a good chance of going through. At least a dozen of the merchants have signified their intentions of closing in an effort to reduce the high total of store hours and operating overhead. Public indulgence is asked to make the plan a success and I believe the public's support will be forthcoming because everyone realizes the number of hours a storekeeper actually puts in during a week. It is hoped to have final plans adopted at Monday night's meeting of the Chamber. Both union and non-union employees enjoy 40 or less hours a week and the merchants feel it is only a fair proposal to help them realize just a small reduction in operating hours and expenses.

There's a big affair coming up next week which deserves all our patronage folks, and that's the big week-long carnival of the Rocky Ridge Fire Co. A mammoth parade is set for Thursday night and our local band and fire company will participate. The band will also be the featured entertainment for the opening night, Monday. Let's give all the support we can friends, as it is a county convention affair and it has put our neighboring fire company to a lot of expense to promote an affair of this magnitude. See you there Monday night?

I was amazed to read last week that the new telephone exchange we have been enjoying the past two years already is overtaxed. The patronage increase here is phenomenal inasmuch as we more or less had the opinion that we were standing still, getting nowhere and growing little, if any. However the demand for more service here must mean either of two things: The population must be increasing or else more people are seeing the advantage of having telephone service. At any rate new equipment has been installed and if you need a phone now is the time to order it.

It was bound to happen: Emmitsburg won a baseball game! The first of the season, after 18 straight setbacks. My hat's off to the locals, not for the brand of ball they have displayed but for the courage it took to stick it out during the dismal season now almost over. It's easy to play for a winning team but when the chips are down and you are deeply mired in the cellar, it requires a lot of courage, in the face of adversity, to stick it out with such an outfit. I know the team will be all the stronger for it next year. Keep up the good work boys, now that you've had a taste of sweet victory, you've another tough one coming up Sunday.

REUNION HELD

A large number of descendants of the Jacob Hahn clan were present for the annual family reunion Sunday at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge. Games were played, a program presented and refreshments enjoyed.

Rocky Ridge Carnival Starts Monday

The Rocky Ridge Volunteer Fire Co. will hold its annual carnival Aug. 15 through 20 in Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge. At the same time it will be host to the Frederick County Volunteer Firemen's Convention.

The mammoth parade, a feature of the carnival, will be held Thursday evening, Aug. 18.

A full week of entertainment and amusements has been planned for both children and grown-ups. There will be ample parking space and free admission to the park the entire week.

The parade will form at 6:45 o'clock Thursday evening and will move promptly at 7. It will consist of six divisions as follows:

State Police escort, state firemen's association officials, county firemen's association officials, county ladies' auxiliary officials, county commissioners and sheriff, 30 pieces of fire apparatus, 5 marching units, 4 ladies' auxiliaries, 6 bands, 4 drum and bugle corps, 5 floats, comical and commercial attractions.

The invitation to enter the parade is open to all individuals and organizations. All who wish to take part are urged to contact the parade chairman, James R. Six, no later than Tuesday afternoon.

LIONS CLUB DONATES $25 TO BOY SCOUTS

Bucher's Restaurant was the scene of the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night, Vice President Philip B. Sharpe presiding in the absence of President Cloyd W. Seiss.

Two guests from Taneytown, Lions Stonesifer and Rev. Edmund P. Welker, were present. George L. Wilhide, chairman of the recent picnic committee, gave details of the affair and also reported on the dime bank plan which the club has in progress for the benefit of the Warner Hospital.

A $25 donation was granted the Boy Scouts' general treasury.

Timonium Readies For State Fair

The Maryland State Fair Grounds at Timonium are being made ready for the 74th annual State Fair, Aug. 31 thru Sept. 10.

The fair will open Wednesday morning and the guests of honor will be the kiddies who will be admitted free of charge provided they are under 12 and accompanied by an adult. All rides will be one-half price.

Entertainment will be presented nightly at the grandstand at no extra admission charge to the public. Included in the program are a sensational western show featuring the "Sons of the Purple Sage," a jousting contest, horse pulling contests, and a square dance.

Church services are scheduled in the judging pavilion at 10 a. m. on Sunday, Sept. 4. The midway and exhibition hall will be open and the 4-H Club parade and crowning of the State Farm Queen will be held at 1:45 p. m. Three bands will participate in these activities.

The best livestock and farm products in the state will be shown at Timonium. For those exhibiting, it is the culmination of a year's endeavor in the agricultural and homemaking fields.

John M. Heil says that the racing strip at Timonium has been resurfaced and in top condition for the thoroughbreds. Eight races will be run daily with pari-mutuel betting.

Firemen Plan New Class In Fire-Fighting

Thirty-six members were present Tuesday evening for the regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. held in the Fire Hall, Vice President J. William Rowe presiding in the absence of President Herbert W. Roger, who is vacationing.

Ronald Kelly, chairman of the recreation committee, reported the floor in the recreation room has been painted. Fire Chief John S. Hollinger reported four fires attended during the past month. Three were field fires and one an oil burner.

Plans have been made for the group's annual outing which this year will be held in the grove adjacent Community Field. One new member, Robert Gelwicks, was granted membership, and the application for membership of William Rodgers was received.

The committee in charge of the sale of fire extinguishers reported that to date 148 of the devices had been sold. Preparations are being made for the beginning of a 20-week instruction course in advanced fire-fighting, under supervision of instructors from the University of Maryland Extension Service.

Truck Crashes And Burns At Marsh Creek

A 21-year-old Lineboro, Md., truck driver escaped injury at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning when the truck-tractor he was operating smashed into the concrete bridge across Marsh Creek three miles west of Gettysburg on the Lincoln Highway and was destroyed by flames. Five Gettysburg firemen suffered minor burns.

As a result of the accident Pennsylvania state police charged the driver, Thomas Harvey Rohrbaugh, with reckless driving before Justice of the Peace Charles Hemler, Gettysburg R.D. He paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Police said Rohrbaugh, operating a truck tractor owned by Kenneth E. Allison, Hungerford, Pa., fell asleep and his 1953 vehicle struck the southeast corner of the concrete bridge wall, as he was driving west on Rt. 30.

Part of the concrete was chipped off by the impact. Judging by chipped concrete from the bridge wall, the tractor must then have struck the north side of the bridge, bounced back against the south side and wound up just west of the northwest side of the bridge, headed east.

Damage was estimated at $8000.

Says Boy Scouts Made Good Circus Selection

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

The Chronicle is to me a very interesting weekly letter.

I read recently in the Chronicle that your local Scouts have contracted the Hagen Bros. Circus for an appearance on Sept. 9.

Last June of 1954, the Circus Fans' Assn. of America, of which I am a member, held its convention in conjunction with them when they played in Jackson, Mich. At that time they put on a very good performance of high class acts and fast moving from start to finish.

Emmitsburgians can look forward to being kids again for a day and feel that they got their money's worth of enjoyment.

Respectfully,
MARK HARTING

Little League Playoffs Soon To Start

Next Thursday will terminate play in the Little League. Playoffs between the first and second teams, consisting of three games, is expected to start Aug. 25.

The Cardinals can clinch the pennant with a win in their last two games. However, a battle is on between the Red Sox and Yanks for second place. These two teams will battle it out right up to the wire.

On Tuesday evening the Yanks slugged the Giants 16-1. Jackie Topper, Yanks' hurler, gave up only three hits, walked five, and struck out one as he posted his second victory against one loss.

Neeley homered for the Yanks in the fifth. Houck rapped out a bases loaded triple and a double for the winners, while Irelan contributed a double. The Yanks scored 16 runs on 16 hits and played errorless ball. The Giants scored one run on three hits and committed seven errors. A. Umbel was hit by a pitched ball and had to leave the game in the fourth inning. He was shaken up but not seriously hurt.

Work on the Little League field is progressing, but more help is needed. Anyone who can donate an hour or two of his time is asked to come down to the ball field any evening during the week. The project is a worthwhile one and needs your help.

Improvements Scheduled For Local Roads

In a regular meeting Tuesday night the members of the County Roads Board told the County Commissioners they think the Roads Board should stay out of the garbage disposal business.

Members of the Roads Board generally expressed the belief that garbage disposal should be handled on a community basis and that the County would invite new financial problems by getting too much involved in sanitary disposal areas.

County Roads Engineer Roger H. Willard, in his progress report to the Board said 1.3 miles of the Ridge Road in Johnsonville District has been completed and the Basford road near Doubbs has been completed with the exception of shaping up the shoulders. He said the one-mile link on the Kelbaugh road in Thurmont District is about half completed and should be paved next week. He also reported the Reno Monument project ready for base next week after considerable drainage work.

The engineer reported clearing in progress on the Eyer's Valley Road which will eventually tie in with the Hampton Valley Rd. near Emmitsburg's Rainbow Lake bend last year. Heavy equipment will move onto the project next week.

Engineer Willard said work will be resumed next week on the Wolfsville Church road and that grading is progressing on the Artie Kemp road north of New Market. It was reported the base was down on the Grimes road and grading started on the Old Lime Kiln road, both in Emmitsburg District.

The Engineer said it is hoped to construct a low-water bridge on the Hornet's Nest Road in the Emmitsburg District yet this year.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 11—According to statistics, one out of every 10 U. S. citizens will some time be in a mental hospital. About one-half of our hospital beds are at present occupied by such cases. Probably every reader of this column has some relative or friend so afflicted.

Most doctors believe that some drug may be discovered to cure mental disorders. For years, India's doctors have made a drug from "snakeroot." Now doctors are experimenting with a drug called LSD. This is made from a fungus which grows upon rye. I understand it is related to ergot, which many women have depended upon for years.

Perhaps many not now in hospitals should take chlorpromazine, reserpine, or some other tranquilizer (these drugs are to be taken only on the advice of a physician,) because we are all unbalanced on some one or more subjects! With many people it is money, with others it is sex, with others it is abnormal ambition, or pride, or fear. If we all obeyed the Tenth Commandment (Exodus 20:17), there surely would be fewer "breakdowns." The fact is that those who are unbalanced about a majority of things, or about the more unpopular things, are called insane!

An Unsolved Question

makes me wonder if gravity may be a factor in causing people to be unbalanced. Certainly if I were considered so afflicted, I would try different locations, climates, and altitudes; that is, to change the gravity pull on my brain. Some brains are surely more sensitive to gravity than the brains of others.

Here is an unsolved question which psychiatrists are asking: Why is it that some people can go to the edge of a high building without any discomfort or sense of danger, while other people are sorely tempted to jump off? Two persons cannot necessarily withstand the same gravity pull. When a person jumps out of a high window of a hotel, is he truly insane or merely exposing an abnormally sensitive brain needlessly to a dangerous gravity pull?

What About the Moon?

I find that the Gravity Foundation has many evidences showing the effect of the moon on the brains of hospital patients. There seems to be a correlation between "full" or "no" moon periods and accidents, fires, and even crimes. Drug addicts will tell you that their sales of sedative pills (such as phenobarbital) vary with the phases of the moon. Since the "full moon" can lift millions of tons of water to cause "high tides," it must have an effect on certain sensitive human brains, which consist mostly of nerve tissue and water.

Why is it that vacations do some people so much good this time of year? Why do those who feel most in need of a vacation find it necessary to "take a trip somewhere?" The answer may be they need a change in their gravity pull. Taking a trip to some different place may be for them like coming down to the ground from the roof of a high building. Perhaps your brain is strong enough so that you can take your vacation resting at home; but perhaps not.

Importance of Religion
Personally, I believe that the main reason for the present increase in mental upsets, heart and other troubles, is the

Illegal "Stills" Flourish In State

State agents trying to curb moonshining in Maryland regard it as a triple-threat lawbreaker. It deprives the State of taxes.

It creates a social problem through indiscriminate sales to minors and has no regulation on hours and days of sale.

The lack of sanitation in its manufacture creates "a fraud on the State health laws."

These are the views, according to an Associated Press story, of Robert N. Lucke, a lanky young redhead who regards pursuit of moonshiners as the No. 1 job of his alcoholic beverages tax enforcement unit created by the 1955 Legislature.

The group, which has been functioning over a year, also tries to check importation of non-tax paid whisky into Maryland and assist in local whisky law violations. But its most relentless chase is after the moonshiner—the man who sets up his operation in his home or a patch of woods.

Mr. Lucke regards moonshine and its unregulated production and sale as a social evil the public does not fully appreciate.

"We received a call from a Washington hospital," Mr. Lucke related of an incident that occurred last year. "A 5-year-old boy was brought in drunk and they decrease in Sunday observance, family prayers, and practicing the Golden Rule. Newspapers tell how church "attendance" is increasing; but this is mainly a symptom of tension from or a reaction of careless living. It should help prevent nervous breakdowns, but is no cure of itself.

I forecast that when doctors finish their studies of insanity, heart diseases, aching limbs, ulcers, and many other ailments, they will conclude that Jesus is truly entitled to be called "The Great Physician." Instead of taking pills, it may do our health more good to sit quietly alone for half an hour a few days each week in an "Open Church."

had to pump his stomach. They thought it was moonshine."

Checking at the boy's grandfather's house, State agents found a moonshine sales operation. Agents have also found evidence of sales to minors who couldn't buy whisky from a licensed dealer.

"Take a whiff of that stuff," he said, uncorking a bottle seized in a raid in Anne Arundel County the day before. "Ever smell anything so raw?"

The fact that it's only four days old and was made under highly unsanitary conditions makes no difference to the regular moonshine customer, Mr. Lucke says. He'd rather have it than pay the same price for bonded whisky.

Actually, it undersells legal whisky by a good margin, and is highly profitable to the maker.

Mr. Lucke says the machinery for the average home distillery can be set up for $150. It could net thousands before its owner is caught. If he's caught and pays a fine or does time in jail, it can be worth it. It doesn't cost him much to go back into business, and he isn't generally looked down on in his community.

State agents estimate that it's at least a $5 million business in Maryland, and like the legal whisky business is subdivided into manufacturers, distributors and retailers.

From the number of raids conducted since the unit became fully organized in January 1954, the moonshining trade appears spread generally around the State. But Southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore seem to lead in its manufacture.

State agents don't have to worry too much about Baltimore City, since the vice squad there cracks down hard on the moonshiners. But they occasionally do make raids in the city and recently uncovered a still on the third floor of a Twenty-first street rowhouse. It had a 1500-gallon fermenting capacity.

Mr. Lucke's office, which operates under the alcoholics beverages division of the comptroller's office, is now preparing a detailed report for the Legislature on its operations for fiscal year which ended June 30. It will include a county-by-county breakdown of raids and arrests, as well as a projection of loss to the State in tax revenues.

When Federal figures are added to these it will make even clearer something the revenue agents have known all along — moonshining is big business in Maryland and it's tough to keep in check.

In hot weather you should increase your fluid intake—you may need four or five more quarts of water a day. — Sports Afield

AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE, GETTYSBURG

Spare the rod and spoil the act. By main force Bob Hope molds his seven wild kids into a smash vaudeville act in the rollicking "The Seven Little Foy's." The film stars Comedian Hope in his first dramatic role as Eddie Foy, the greatest father in show business and an immortal vaudevillian. The picture is showing now through Saturday at the Majestic Theatre in Gettysburg.

The Mask of Friendship

The handful of godless men who control the destiny of the international Communist conspiracy are attempting to create the impression that their intentions toward the nations outside the Iron Curtain are genuinely friendly. On the basis of every official Communist tenet, and every official Communist act of the last 35 years, the mask of friendliness does not fit the faces of the Kremlin bosses.

And yet, a war-weary world, fearful of terrible new wars, struggles today to convince itself that wishful thinking is not wishful thinking at all, that Krushchev, Molotov, Bulganin—masters of a Red slavery that has overrun nearly half the earth since 1917—have suddenly changed the whole character of Communism and its historic goal of world domination. This is wishful thinking of the most dangerous kind. The central purpose of Communism, as written into the basic textbooks by Marx, Lenin, Stalin and all the rest, is the creation of a new world order replacing capitalism. Over and over again Communism declares that it cannot exist in the same world with capitalism.

Take Binding Oath

The oath to which every Communist in America pledges himself, with clenched fist upraised and a fire of dedication glowing in his eyes, is plainly printed in the Communist Party Manual on Organization—Page 105: It says: "I now take my place in the ranks of the Communist Party, the Party of the working class. I take this solemn oath to give the best that is in me to the service of my class. I pledge myself to spare no effort in uniting the workers in militant struggle. . . . I pledge myself to rally the masses to defend the Soviet Union. . . . I pledge myself to remain at all times a vigilant and firm defender of the Leninist line of the Party, the only line that insures the triumph of Soviet Power in the United States."

I have talked with more than one person who has taken this solemn oath—while secretly serving as an FBI counterspy. They have observed scores of other persons taking the oath. "To each new Commie," they told me, "this oath pledge is the greatest event of his life. The Communist triumph over America and all other nations becomes the central overpowering motive in his life—everything else is subordinated."

Core of Communism

Neither Molotov, Bulganin or Khrushchev can tell the 25,000 hard-core Communists in America, and their 5 million fellow conspirators in the 60 nations outside the Iron Curtain, that this central objective of Communism has now been abolished. It is the great goal that ties the Communists together. Of course, no Communist leader, in the Kremlin or elsewhere, has any desire to abolish it. Their present pose of "live and let live" is a strategy forced upon the Moscow bosses by internal troubles within Russia.

Herbert Philbrick, the always-loyal American who served for years as a secret FBI agent in the highest ranks of the Communist underground, fears that a great many Americans will be fooled by the "friendly" mask which the Red leaders are wearing these days. Philbrick, who writes a weekly column for the New York Herald Tribune, maintains direct contact with the Red underground through secret sources. In a recent column he reported:

Not Without Struggle
"At secret meetings last week, the Reds were being told: 'It is impossible for capitalism to compete with Communism.' Red instructors quoted the Cominform as declaring: 'The two world social systems—the world system of Communism and the world system of capitalism—are represented by two diametrically opposed courses of international policy—peace cannot be won without struggle.' To a Communist," explained Philbrick, "the meaning of the world 'struggle' is very clear; revolutionary overthrow of capitalist regimes and the establishment of 'Soviet Socialist Republics.'"

Thus, reported Philbrick, while the Red bosses are wearing their "friendly" masks and declaring policies contrary to fundamental Communist doctrine, "they are making sure," he emphasized, "that their own members are not confused. The Reds get a careful and precise explanation of the difference of the two party lines: the 'legal,' or above ground line for public consumption and the 'illegal,' or underground line taught in secret cell meetings for the benefit of their own apparatus."

The present Democratic Party in the United States had its roots or origin in the so-called Anti-Federalists, who were opposed to the Federalist Party and the policies of Alexander Hamilton. Calling themselves at that time, the Democratic-Republican, they acknowledged Thomas Jefferson as their party leader and policy-maker.

"Light" Snack For Ducks

Coming back from Balesville the other night I noticed a powerful light at Whitey Fisher's Duck Farm. Seemed to be shining out over the water.

I stopped to ask Whitey what went on. He took me down to his pond and pointed out a 200-watt bulb—rigged up on a pole about three feet above the surface. The light was attracting thousands of insects for the ducks to eat.

Seemed kind of odd to me—but Whitey was enthusiastic. "Best idea I ever heard of," he claims. "Keeps the feed bill down—and the bug population, too. Why do you suppose I never thought of it before?"

From where I sit, Whitey's the type who's always ready to pioneer a worth-while new trick. Me, I stick to old methods. Just a case of personal feeling, I guess. . . . like the way you may prefer coffee with meals while I always prefer a traditional glass of beer. Not that I'd claim you're wrong—respect for the other man's opinion is my "guiding light."

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The chief thing wrong with fly fishing for bluegills is that it hasn't become fashionable. Nobody has told the average fly angler that it's fine sport, and he hasn't had experience enough to form his own conclusions in the matter.

The angling editor of Sports Afield magazine, Jason Lucas, says "It's high time that anglers woke up to the fact that bluegills offer much more sport than the trout to be found in most places nowadays."

The chief secret of getting lots of them is to work the fly slowly. Alternately let it be still for at least a second or two and then twitch the fly forward an inch or two. We're speaking of wet flies, since most of the time they will get the most bluegills, at least this time of year.)

In the early part of the season bluegills are in shallow water, so begin by working the fly at the surface or after it has sunk a ways. And the secret of catching bluegills after the beginning of summer is a simple one: After casting, wait for your fly to sink at least six feet before beginning to retrieve it in the manner described above.

In retrieving, Mr. Lucas recommends you keep the rod low and pointed toward the fly, the line from reel to fly as straight as possible, your left hand alone working the fly. Then, fingers of your left hand feel a bluegill the instant he touches the fly, and it's merely a reflex action to jerk them back, setting the hook solidly.

But don't move the fly more than three or four inches at most. Then, if you miss, it won't be whipped out of his sight, or given such unnatural action as to scare him. He's almost sure to follow and strike again. Immediately upon hooking him raise your rod tip almost vertical, to play him properly, letting line slip freely through the fingers of your left hand while you do so.

When using a dry fly, make several false casts in the air between fishing casts, to dry the

Emotions Can Be Developed Declares Specialist

"The individual is born with the ability to develop emotions," says Mrs. Jeanne S. Moehn, family life specialist with the University of Maryland Extension Service. Of the many emotions, fear is one which can be either normal or abnormal.

Normal fear is that fear that urges the individual on to achievement. A man works in order to feed his family; he works in order to have some means of support in older years. How this emotional fear develops seems to depend mainly on environment of the individual while he is growing into adulthood.

Along this line, the family life specialist says that abnormal fears will not develop as strongly in a home where reasonable and desirable discipline is given. For example, a child needs to be taught he must be cautious when crossing the street. However, it would be wise for the threatening parent to stop and think twice when he says, "The big black bear in the closet will get you," or "if you aren't good, I'll give you away."

Children of two to five years of age seem to be afraid of animals. They fear they may be left alone or abandoned by their parents. They are afraid of the dark.

Youngsters sometimes learn fear from adults. The are afraid of lightning because their parents are.

"Parents and adults can help children over the imagined fears by understanding and by not condemning the emotion," continues Mrs. Moehn. If it is a fear the adults hold—check on self, she says. It may be overcome by reasoning, or at least, by not showing the fear before children.

fly so it will float well. For the same reason, try to set it down on the water more lightly than you can a wet. Dry flies and little floating cork poppers usually work well in spring; during the summer they're generally very poor most of the day, but often good late in the afternoon.

New Brunswick Bridge Now Open To Traffic

This aerial view is from the town of Brunswick in southwest Frederick County, looking across the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks, the C. & O. Canal and the Potomac River to the Virginia shores. The bridge on the Brunswick side also crosses Potomac St., the main thoroughfare of the town. The old wrought-iron bridge, built in 1892, can be seen to the left of the new bridge which has been recently opened to traffic. The old structure is destined for early destruction. The length of the new bridge is 2,425 feet and was built by the Maryland State Roads Commission at an overall cost of $2,850,000.

NO COMMENT

By WALTER CHAMBLIN, JR.

WASHINGTON—Get Businessmen Out of Government! That's objective of New-Fair Dealers—Why? Two reasons. First, they corrupt semi-socialistic thinking of New-Fair-Deal-trained bureaucrats—show bureaucrats that free enterprise can't function according to theory. To New-Fair Dealers that's bad. Must stop.

Second, New-Fair Dealers are desperate to curb Eisenhower popularity. This group knows direct attack on President would boomerang with an annihilating bang. Attacks on Eisenhower's business man administration have fizzled. So, next best move, keep business men out of government positions.

New Crescendo of Abuse—Closing days of Congress have been marked by a new crescendo of—unsupported—abuse of business men serving government as temporary employees without compensation. WOC's as they are called in the capital city.

Legal Restrictions of Business Men—This is what New-Fair Dealers are seeking. Amendment to so restrict business men in pending to Defense Production Act. Will report on outcome in next issue.

Conflict-of-Interest—New-Fair Deal argument against business men is that they are bound to have a conflict-of-interest between their relationship with their company and their relationship with government. Boiled down—this means that the New-Fair Dealers hold that business men will use their government position to favor their own companies.

Patriots in War—Crooks in Peace—That's how the New-Fair Dealers put it. In wartime business men will be prompted by patriotism to serve the government loyally and honestly and will not favor their respective companies. But the New-Fair Dealers seem to think a business man acts differently in peacetime.

Fallacy of Argument—Nation now approaching a normal peacetime era—so policy of using WOC's should be restricted. Well, as Al Smith used to say: Let's look at the record: The nation is currently spending $35 billion for defense. President Eisenhower upon his return from Geneva last week said there would be no let down in defense plans. In World War II it took Mr. Roosevelt as long to mobilize an efficient production force staffed with business men as it did to mobilize an effective fighting force.

No Time to Prepare—The next war will start with a blitz. U. S. will not have time for leisurely mobilization as in two previous wars. An executive reserve force is as essential as a military reserve which Mr. Eisenhower stresses.

Soviet Fears America's Productive Might—The Soviets are not as apprehensive over the number of American divisions or airplanes as they are over the equipment and quality of the American fighting force.

Half-way-Defense—If New-Fair Dealers prevent creation of an organized executive force as planned

In Switzerland Flag-Twirling Is A National Sport

American visitors to Switzerland will again have ample opportunity this summer to view "Fähnenschwingen." This oddity in the sports world, a favorite in Swiss alpine regions, consists of the artistic manipulation of a large flag mounted on a short handle.

Accompanied by music the player waves the flag around his head, enveloping himself in the folds, without allowing it to become entangled. Then, tossing it high into the air with one hand and catching it with the other, it is passed under each of his legs, backwards and forwards, in a series of clever manoeuvres. For additional facts about Switzerland, write Swiss National Travel Office, Dept. F-11, 10 West 49th Street, N. Y.

IN HOMETOWN AMERICA

ned by the Commerce Dept. and the Office of Defense Mobilization—the nation is only partially prepared for World War III.

No Scandals—Thousands of business men served their government in World Wars I and II and in the Korean Conflict with honor and distinction. No scandals were developed. Even the slightest tint of an irregularity would have been blown up by the New-Fair Dealers in current controversy if they could have found it.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde • 6th District, Maryland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Congressional boxscores are important as an indication of legislative accomplishments. The tally, though, for the first session of a Congress tells only a part of the story, but the part the record of the 84th first session reveals is no mean achievement.

The session just ended is notable for its real bipartisan unity in foreign affairs. Members of Congress tended to view the measures presented by President Eisenhower as citizens of the Republic rather than as members of a political party. I am not one who often gazes into a crystal ball, but I feel that the unity displayed this session will continue next year.

The first session also presented the President with a fairly creditable enactment of the measures he sought. Despite efforts of the majority party in Congress to write legislation that would clearly bear the stamp "Improved by the Democrats," most of the Eisenhower proposals have carried the unmistakable imprint of the President. The chief exception is the Housing measure, I hope to discuss it in detail a little later.

The 6th Maryland District fared well this session. Specific legislation to be considered during the second session has had thorough committee preparation and the prospects for enactment are good.

Of major importance to the District are the annual money bills. The Congress approved and the President signed such measures as the appropriation for the Cumberland-Ridgely flood control project, funds for the Signal Corps' transmitting center near Camp Detrick in Frederick County, money to build the new Atomic Energy Commission building in Germantown, and the restoration of school construction funds to Federally impacted areas such as Montgomery County.

I am particularly pleased with the final action of Congress in the matter of Federal employ-pay raises. I believe that the measures which provided for the postal workers and the school teachers of the District of Columbia were wise and within the spirit of bringing pay scales into their proper relation to current living costs.

GIFT HORSE?

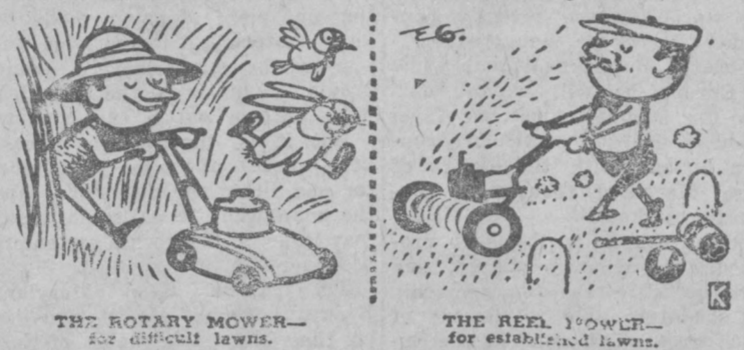

How to Buy a Lawn Mower

Today's home owner, dreaming of a rolling velvety lawn has a big advantage over his predecessors. Today's new power mowers make the once tiresome chore of lawn-mowing almost a pleasure.

Four power mowers are now sold for every one hand mower! But, lest you be confused by varying shapes and sizes—or be tempted to make a choice on "looks"—here's how to choose the right one for your purpose:

You will find two main types of power mowers—"rotary" or "reel." Both are easy and economical to operate. If your lawn is composed of tough, fast-growing grass or has other "jungle" characteristics, you need a rotary mower. If your lawn is well-developed and fairly smooth, a reel type mower is best.

On the other hand, if you are a devoted "green thumb" and your lawn is small, you may be won back to the hand mower. On this—Pennsylvania, which makes all three, will back you up. "The hand mower still does the best cutting job," their experts say. Happy mowing, whichever you decide on!

Growers Save Many Dollars With New Weed Preventer

A unique weed preventer called CRAG Herbicide-1 that kills weed seedlings before they get a chance to grow, is saving growers thousands of dollars they used to spend on weeding labor!

Since its discovery it has prevented weeds in extensive plantings of strawberries, asparagus, nursery stock, seed corn, peanuts and potatoes. Individual growers have reported savings as high as $1,000 per acre!

The new weed preventer offers a novel concept in weed control—weed prevention! The usual hand weeding and machine cultivation have long been costly to growers. Moreover, both hand weeding and machine cultivation often cause plant damage. CRAG Herbicide-1 not only saves weeding money, it is safe —so safe it can be sprayed directly on plant leaves without harming them.

The herbicide is a white powder that dissolves easily in water for spraying on the soil. Once in the soil, bacteria change it to a material that kills weed seedlings before they can grow into weeds and become a problem.

Both broadleaved and grass weeds are killed as they sprout. Applied about every six weeks, the weed preventer keeps crops weed-free all season long.

Lighting thru the centuries

TWO THOUSAND YEARS AGO, THE ANCIENT ROMANS RECORDED THEIR DEEDS BY THE LIGHT OF BURNING TALLOW AND ANIMAL FAT. FIRE WAS WORSHIPPED AS A PRECIOUS POSSESSION. IT WAS THE ROMAN'S ONLY MEANS OF LIGHTING UP THE DARKNESS OF NIGHT.

AS CIVILIZATION PROGRESSED, THE OIL LAMP CAME INTO BEING. IT WAS GRADUALLY REPLACED BY THE "GASLIGHT." BOTH WERE PRIMITIVE MEANS OF ILLUMINATION. EXPLOSIONS AND FIRES WERE OFTEN CAUSED BY SPILLED OIL AND LEAKING GAS.

THE "LIGHT BULB" WAS BORN IN 1879, WHEN THOMAS EDISON PRODUCED THE FIRST COMMERCIAL PRACTICAL INCANDESCENT LAMP. THE CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT OF HIS WORK WAS THE WORLD'S FIRST CENTRAL ELECTRIC-LIGHT POWER PLANT.

FOR MANY YEARS AFTERWARD, LIGHTING COULD ONLY BE TURNED "ON" OR "OFF" TODAY, THE NEW "LUXTRON" LIGHT SWITCH ENABLES COMPLETE CONTROL OF A ROOM'S LIGHTING. ROOM ILLUMINATION IS AVAILABLE AT ANY DEGREE—FROM SHEER BRIGHTNESS TO NEAR-DARKNESS—WITH THIS NEW EASY-TO-INSTALL LIGHT SWITCH.

Congressional Viewpoint

By U. S. Sen. John M. Butler

Senator John Marshall Butler sailed recently from New York for Geneva, Switzerland, where he will attend the big "atom for peace" conference scheduled for Aug. 8 to 20 as one of the official representatives of the U. S. government.

The magnitude of and interest in the conference is demonstrated by the fact that more than 100 nations will participate. Held under the auspices of the UN Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy, it will be the first exhibition of atoms at work in industry. Although it is billed as scientific, non-political and non-competitive, the conference is shaping up as the start of a race for world leadership in the application of peacetime use of atomic energy.

"The United States will unwrap some surprises in the industrial application of the atom and we will have on display a showcase of American nuclear equipment," Sen. Butler said on his departure. "Other nations including Britain, Russia, France, Canada, Switzerland, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy, West Germany and the Scandinavian countries, will exhibit their wares. Actually the conference will set the stage for an old-fashioned scramble among nations for the brand new atomic export market. Nuclear power will keep the industrial revolution going. As far as this country is concerned a chance exists that we can do in the atomic age what Great Britain did in the early days of the steam locomotive when she went around the world building railroads and developing new markets.

"One of our most attractive exhibits will be the swimming pool reactor which will be sold to the Swiss government after the conference for $180,000. This reactor will be suspended in a pool of water 10 feet in diameter and 22 feet deep. The water will furnish a radiation shield which enables spectators to watch the uranium core in operation. A special building has been constructed to house this exhibit. Inside the Palais de Nations building we will have models of five different types of power reactors constructed by the Atomic Energy Commission and private American industry.

"Russia, I am told, is out to demonstrate that her claims in the atomic energy field are not just propaganda. The Soviet has reserved 26,000 square feet of exhibit space and, unless the Western Nations miss their guess, are prepared to impart some valuable knowledge of peacetime atomic uses.

"Many of our scientists and industrialists share the view that the forthcoming 'atoms-for-peace' conference may turn out to be as important to the future peace of the world as the recently concluded Big Four get-together."

Senator Butler said that while in Europe he will explore outlets for surplus American farm products. He will particularly concern himself with the export of more Maryland tobacco to European markets.

"Our tobacco is the best produced," the Senator declared, "and with a little real salesmanship we should be able to dispose of much greater amounts in the European markets. It will be my purpose also to look into foreign shipping with relation to its increasing competition with the American maritime industry. This inquiry may make necessary further safeguards for our shipping. It may indicate also less American economic assistance, some of which has been indirectly employed to build up European shipping to the disadvantage of our own maritime industry."

Keep Maryland Beautiful Drive Shows Progress

A friend of ours is a business executive in Baltimore. He is horrified when he sees the trash that lines Maryland's highways. He is alarmed when he learns that the State Roads Commission spends more than $100,000 annually in cleaning up the roads. He is anxious to cooperate with the Keep Maryland Beautiful program of cleanup and beautification of highways, picnic areas and parks.

And while this friend was talking to us recently he used the last match in a pack to renew the burn in his cigar and discreetly tossed the empty match-pack into the gutter. When this was called to his attention, he turned a bit red and confessed he "hadn't realized."

That is the way most litter gets there. People just "hadn't realized" and it was almost as instinctive as breathing to toss the piece of paper into the gutter.

Another friend was admonished recently for throwing an empty cigarette package out the car window while driving through rural Maryland. He offered a defense: "Oh! That little piece of paper can't hurt anything." In the sense that one piece of paper would do any material damage to the scenery, he might have a point, providing his was the ONLY piece thrown out a car window.

But it is thousands of those little pieces of paper that clutter and litter the roadways. And the man who tosses trash today may take a fling with an empty bottle or can tomorrow.

The State Keep Maryland Beautiful Committee is convinced that the basic habit of just throwing stuff away without thinking is the real problem in cleanup and beautification. The man who knows this better than any other is the man who has to clean up the mess later. Talk to any of the volunteers who participated in the recent statewide cleanup campaign in Maryland.

sheep growers in the counties to vote and to get their marked ballots in the mail on or before Aug. 19. He explains that if the vote is favorable, deductions also will be made, at the rate of five cents per hundredweight for the 1955 crop, on lambs and yearlings moved to slaughter with the wool on.

The program is authorized by the National Wool Act of 1954 which provides for incentive payments to wool growers to encourage increased domestic production of wool and mohair. The payments will be based on a percentage of the average price growers receive for their wool (and mohair). The amount of the payment will be such as to bring the average return to growers to 62 cents per pound for wool and 70 cents per pound for mohair.

Lightfooted Look Favored in Summer

The lightfooted look takes fashion precedence this summer. New shoes keep to the barest minimum with mere whispers of straps or mule type designs favored. Sandalfoot seamless stockings by Hanes are a prime fashion requisite to complete the bare illusion.

Newest flattery in "barely there" seamless stocking shades is Hanes new "Pretty Lady," a soft blush pink that's being featured for summertime. This delectable new seamless shade is designed to be worn with such summer pastels as Pink Icing, Lavender Sachet, Lemon Chiffon, Wedgewood Blue and frosty whites.

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Ballots are going in the mail this week to all Maryland wool (and mohair) growers to give each an opportunity to vote on a marketing agreement under which one cent per pound would be deducted from each grower's 1955-clip incentive payment, according to George B. Reeves, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

If the agreement is favored by the producers of at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by those voting, the fund so collected will be used for advertising and sales promotion programs to be conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. Deductions for the same purpose in an amount still to be determined but not exceeding one cent per pound also will be made from wool and mohair payments for the 1956, 1957 and 1958 clips.

Mr. Reeves said, "the referendum is being conducted in each county by the County ASC Committee."

Mr. Reeves urged all wool and

July Traffic Deaths Show Decline

Maryland's traffic deaths during the month of July have a 30 per cent reduction over July of last year. However, the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission warns the public, "Now that we're in August, which has a tradition of being the second most perilous month of the year on the roadways, it is more essential than ever for every highway user to exercise more care. Travel is at its peak, and with the heat and humidity, carelessness is also at a peak. During recent months there have been many instances of loss of life due to a driver's losing control and having the vehicle run off the road.

"Reports on fatal accidents show that in most cases the drivers knew but didn't do the right thing. Everybody knows that 'Slow Down and Live' is a good slogan but not enough drivers are heeding it. Keep in mind that accidents aren't always going to happen to the 'other fellow.'"

Your Personal Health

STINGING DANGER

One of the many hazards for which the vacationist must be prepared is the sting of winged and crawling insects that inhabit the countryside. Mosquitoes and black flies have been known to drive the unwary city dweller back to his sweltering pavements. But these are not the worst. Bees, hornets, wasps, and spiders can cause serious sickness, even death, to the unwary.

Farm fields, woods, and gardens are not the only danger spots. It is impossible to estimate the number of highway accidents that may have been caused because the driver was the victim of an insect sting. The reaction can be so violent as to cause collapse and death at the wheel.

Scientists believe this severe reaction is a kind of shock. The victim may be supersensitive to the venom or toxin of the insect because of a previous bite or sting. To a later bite he then reacts in an exaggerated way. A sting about the head may cause such swelling as to make the victim unrecognizable. In some cases he may turn blue and lapse into unconsciousness. However, prompt treatment by a doctor usually brings quick recovery.

On the theory that sting shock is caused by oversensitivity, doctors sometimes recommend desensitizing to patients who have suffered a fairly painful bite or sting. For most of us, a good insect repellent will give enough margin of safety.

If a stubborn insect should attack, try to press out the stinger, and apply household ammonia or baking soda to relieve the discomfort. Best advice is to avoid the insects themselves, if possible. Wear protective clothing when walking in long grass, give the wasps' nest a wide berth, and don't try to steal the wild bee's honey.

Take These Precautions If 'Connie' Comes

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 — The National Board of Fire Underwriters today dispatched to all newspapers, radio and television stations from Florida to Maine a list of hurricane precautions, urging that they be given full publicity in the event Hurricane means of offsetting much pre-Connie moves to strike in their area. The action was taken as a ventable damage and loss of life. Briefly the precautions are as follows:

- (1) Stay off streets. Serious injury — often fatalities — result from falling glass, signs and building cornices.
- (2) Don't touch wires. Downed power lines are a grave menace. Instruct children in this precaution.
- (3) Movable awnings should be raised and securely tied, or removed entirely.
- (4) Shutters should be secured as quickly as possible. Delay may make impossible any chance to get them into proper position, thus resulting in damage.
- (5) Garage doors and other large doors should be securely braced against movement either in or out.

(6) Loose material and movable objects such as boards, garbage cans, porch furniture and the like, should be placed where there is no danger of being lifted and blown against a building or through a window.

(7) One or more windows should be kept open on the lee side — the side opposite from which the wind is coming — to provide some ventilation and, under certain conditions, to prevent wind damage and to equalize the pressure.

(8) Temporary lighting methods, preferably electric flashlights, should be arranged for use in case electric current is cut off.

(9) Occupants of buildings on low ground or near waterfronts, which might be inundated or carried away by high water, should immediately go to safer buildings on higher ground.

(10) Most important of all the above precautions: Stay indoors during the progress of the hurricane. Don't mistake a lull in the storm as its end. It may be the "eye" or center — usually 14 miles in diameter — passing overhead.

Movement Of Hurricane

Usually hurricanes move westward to northward from the Caribbean, then swing in a curve toward the north or northeast. Their paths vary considerably. Some travel thousands of miles at sea, never come near the mainland. Others strike at points on the Gulf of Mexico or the Atlantic Coast. From the Yucatan to Nova Scotia their devastating effects have been felt, sometimes far inland.

Some hurricanes are small, 50 miles in diameter, the majority are bigger, in many instances, 500 miles across. The center averages about 14 miles in diameter with winds revolving counter-clockwise around it at sustained velocities often of more than 100 miles an hour. The entire storm progresses generally at a speed of 10 to 15 miles an hour.

Clerk's Error Brings Suit

A clerical error has led to an action in assumption being filed in the office of the prothonotary of Adams County. The Loudoun County Livestock Market, Inc., filed the suit for $112.80 plus interest against John W. Eyler, near Gettysburg.

Market officials stated that on Sept. 6, 1954, Eyler purchased some livestock and the bill presented to him was for $2,890, which he paid. It later was discovered that through the error of one of the market's clerks the price of one cow, $112.80, had not been included in the figures. The suit states that Eyler has been informed of the error but has refused to pay and asks damages of this amount, plus interest.

Smallest Drawbridge

THE world's smallest drawbridge, with a draw just large enough for a sailboat mast to pass, is located in Sandys Parish, Bermuda. The tiny, hand-operated draw, only 18 inches wide, is raised to allow sailboats to pass from the Great Sound into Ely's Harbour and passing motorists often stop to assist in the operation. The Bermuda government has recently voted a large sum to preserve the bridge, built many years ago.
