Below is a letter written by a concerned parent which I am more than happy to publish.

Dear Abigail:

In hopes that you may see your way clear to print this letter in your column, I am writing regarding the literature that is put out on our newstands to tempt the juveniles of our town.

Small wonder that there are delinquents when you see the sort of magazines they can purchase at their own free will. Yes, I am a parent of juvenile children, but I do not feel that I am speaking for myself alone. There are dozens more that feel as I do. Surely the individuals that own these newsstands do not have to depend upon the few dollars they earn from selling this immoral literature to make a living!

If the city of Baltimore can clean up their newsstands, why can't we?

Let's clean them up and give our juveniles a fair chance at a clean living! Or perhaps our Town Fathers might see what could be done about it!

If you feel that you can print this letter in your column it will be deeply appreciated.

MOTHER

I heartily concur with the Mother's sentiments in this matter. Believe me, if ever there was a misnomer, it is the title "comic" book. They embody more crime in one little issue than the ordinary person could dream up in a lifetime. Truly, as the above writer states, it is the moral responsibility of parents to see that literature of this type is cleaned off the racks of dealers. I'm quite certain that if our youths haven't the remotest idea of how to perpetrate a crime before they read this "trash," they will after they read it. Weir and wild, ferocious, deadly and inhuman, step-by-step lessons on how to get rid of anything or anyone who gets in your way are being taught our children. Certainly this venomous type of reading must be withheld from our youth.

Who's going to do it? Why the people most vitally concerned—the parents! Not singly, but united. Parents will have to ban together, groups such as PTA, Women's Club and other civic organizations, and see that notices are given to the offending dealers. Pressure must be brought to bear, that's definite. Warnings to the effect that they will be boycotted unless they cooperate by refusing to handle those so-called comics and love books. A few parents I know already have stopped dealing at these places but they aren't sufficiently large enough in numbers to make it apparent to the dealers that business has fallen off slightly. It will take a larger, more concerted effort to turn the trick, but believe me, it can be done. Comic books, bah! There's nothing funny whatsoever in these morbid, sinister publications which when they were first published were aimed to provide fun and amusement for their readers, but which now produce only two emotions in me—anger and disgust!

And now a word to those of you who are planning a trip over the Labor Day weekend: Please be careful on the highways. As you're all aware, each holiday weekend seems to produce a longer list of casualties. Death rides the highways every minute you're in your car, so do be careful. After all I wouldn't like to lose any of my faithful readers. You're much too nice for that! Have fun now, but do be careful!

Car Mishap Is Fatal To Thurmont Man

A Thurmont man was killed early Saturday morning and another seriously injured when their car ran off Maryland Route 81 near Thurmont and crashed into a tree.

The dead man is Robert W. Specht, 23, in Frederick Memorial Hospital is Paul E. Wireman, 33, both are from Route 1, Thurmont. Wireman received severe cuts of the face, right arm and left leg and possible spinal and internal injuries.

State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown said the accident happened at 2:30 a. m. Saturday as the men drove south on 81 near the north limits of town on the Sabillasville Road.

Wireman, reported to be driving, apparently lost control of the car when it hit a series of bumps in the road. The car careened off the right side of the highway and smashed into a tree. Police said the 1955 sedan was demolished. Shortly after the crash Wireman was taken to the Frederick Hospital in the Thurmont American Legion ambulance.

Specht's body was taken to the M. L. Creager and Son funeral home where he was pronounced dead by County Medical Examiner Dr. R. O. Thomas, Sr., of Frederick.

Specht was employed as a machinist at the Ox Fibre Brush Co., Frederick, and resided on Route 1, Thurmont, with his parents, wife and young son. He was discharged from the Army Signal Corps eight months ago after serving two years, one of which was spent overseas. He is survived by his widow, Mary Ann Bell Specht, one son, Robert W., his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rayhue C. Specht, and a sister, Betty C. Specht and a step-daughter, Phyllis. Also surviving are his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Specht of Frederick and his maternal grandfather, Charles Cline, Thurmont.

Specht was a member of the United Brethren Church in Thurmont, from where funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, Revs. Elmer Andrews and Ivan G. Naugle, officiating.

Interment in Blue Ridge Cemetery, Thurmont.

Boy May Lose Eye After Mishap

Word has been received here that "Vic" Constantine, young son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Constantine of Silver Spring, sustained a very serious injury to one of his eyes recently. Vic, who was playing with some of his friends near some bushes, apparently turned suddenly and a branch entered his eye. It is understood there was a possibility the eye would have to be removed. Friends of the Constantines here wish Vic a speedy convalescence.

"May," as he is known to his many friends and acquaintances here, recently took up residence in Taneytown. It is understood that the new owner, Mr. Law, who is married to the former Anna Keiholtz, will continue to carry on the business at the same location in the same manner, with perhaps a few innovations.

Truck Wreck Destroys Eggs

Two trucks collided Wednesday morning at 1:45 o'clock at the Marsh Creek Bridge on Route 15 just five miles north of Emmitsburg and $7,500 worth of eggs was almost immediately transferred into one big omelet.

Pennsylvania State Police who were amazed that no one was injured in the crash, and secondly by the "mess" 500 crates of broken eggs could make, said the accident occurred when one truck, seeking to give another sufficient room to pass, scraped the southside of the bridge and bounced into the other tractor-trailer, sending it down over an embankment and smashing its load of eggs.

As the officers reconstructed the mishap, Eugene Grausau, 40, Newulm, Minn., was headed south on Route 15 with his truck loaded with 15,000 dozens of eggs, bound for the U. S. Navy Commissary at Washington, D. C.

Philip E. Brown, 40, Quebec, Canada, was driving his truck north. As the Grausau truck entered the bridge, Brown edged his vehicle close to the right side to make room for the south-bound vehicle. He failed to provide sufficient space for his vehicle and its side struck the east side of the bridge. When bridge and truck scraped Brown swerved and his truck struck the south-bound Grausau vehicle, forcing it off the road and the truck went over the embankment on the south side of the bridge, coming to a halt on its side. Damage to the Brown truck was estimated at $1,000 and to the Grausau vehicle, $7,000 and also $7,500 for its cargo.

CIRCUS DUE HERE FRIDAY

Emmitsburgians, young and old, are eagerly looking forward to the arrival of the great Hagen Bros. Circus which will roll into town Friday, Sept. 9. This particular circus, which prides itself on putting on performances only under worthy sponsorships such as religious, fraternal, or civic organizations, will this time be under the sponsorship of the local Boy Scouts, Troop 284.

Two performances will be given, one at 3:15 and also at 8:00 p. m. Friday in Stansbury's Field. The great Hagen Bros. Circus will feature not only a three-ring circus but will have a wild animal arena as well. Stars of the sawdust from three continents will display their talents, stars such as the famous Duke family, acrobats and jugglers; the Aerial Dingers, Navaroo Bros. on the swaying perch; Miss Patty Couls and her herd of Hagen Bros. elephants and many others.

Those who plan to attend would greatly increase the local troop's share of the ticket money by buying their tickets in advance, since 50% of the advance sale of ducats will be turned over to their benefit. Whereas tickets sold at the gate on the day of the performance will net them only 10% of the sales. Tickets can be purchased from any of the Scouts of Troop 284 and circus-goers are urged to buy them in advance if at all possible.

Thurmont Pool Committee Named

Residents of Thurmont and neighboring communities met last Thursday to map plans for a huge new swimming pool to serve the north county area. Expected to cost between $35,000 and $40,000, the proposed pool will be located in the Thurmont vicinity and will be 50 feet wide and 100 feet long.

At the meeting held in the Thurmont Legion Home, interested citizens of the area formed a swimming pool association and elected temporary officers to head the new group.

William Houck was named as president; Randolph Waeche as vice president; Mrs. Joseph Graves, secretary and Charles U. Reed, treasurer. All are from Thurmont.

A site committee and a size committee reported to members of the association after two weeks of surveying other pools in the state and getting cost estimates.

After hearing committee reports members of the association voted to go ahead with plans for erecting a pool adequate to serve most of the communities in the northern section of the county.

The association decided to sell memberships in the group at 25c per voting membership. It was pointed out that the sales would be designed to increase the size of the group and to provide for correspondence costs.

The association voted to meet every two weeks at the Legion Hall to discuss fund-raising drives and map plans to increase interest throughout the county in the project. At a later date the association will hold an election of permanent officers. Members of the group discussed the possibility of starting a subscription drive with an eye toward having county residents pledge a certain donation each month for a six or eight month period. "If at the end of the subscription period, Mr. Houck said, "the results of our fund-raising effort indicate the project won't succeed, all donations will be returned."

It was pointed out that only a per cent of the total cost will be required to actually build the pool. After it is in operation, proceeds from admissions will make it self-supporting and the money taken in will go toward reducing the proposed mortgage.

Wherever possible the group is hoping to be able to use donated labor in building the pool. Houck said county residents interested in joining the association could do so by attending the next meeting on Sept. 8.

First Year Little League Champions

Here they are! First champions of the Emmitsburg Little League, the Cardinals, managed by Leonard Zimmerman. The Cards wop the title in a close contest Tuesday night when they defeated the Redsox, 12-9.

CLABAUGH—RIDENOUR

Miss Ann Clare Ridenour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Ridenour, near town, became the bride of Russell E. Clabaugh, son of Ernest Clabaugh, Thurmont, and the late Mrs. Clabaugh, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Anthony's Shrine, Emmitsburg. The single-ring ceremony was performed by the pastor of the bride, Rev. Fr. Vincent J. Tomalski.

The altar was decorated with gladioli and snow of the mountain. Mrs. Ernest Seltzer, church organist, played traditional wedding marches and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Dale Dunkinson, wore a white waltz-length gown of chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was attached to a Juliet cap trimmed with sequins and she carried white roses and pompons.

Miss Shirley Willhide was the maid of honor and wore a pink strapless lace gown over taffeta with a matching lace jacket and a pink net headress. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers tied with pink ribbon.

The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Anna Kelly, a cousin of the bride and she wore a green gown similar in style to that worn by the maid of honor.

Roy C. Clabaugh, Thurmont, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Louis Stoner, Jr., and Albert Portner.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue crepe dress trimmed in white. She wore white accessories and a white rosebud corsage. The ring-bearer was Tony Kelly, cousin of the bride. Miss Mary Agnes Ridenour, sister of the bride was the flower girl and she wore a white full-skirted waltz-length gown trimmed with pink flowers and three matching headpieces. She carried mixed summer flowers.

A reception for approximately 200 relatives and friends was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Annie Shields, near Mt. St. Mary's College, after which the couple left on a wedding trip of unannounced destination. As a going-away ensemble the bride wore a white princess style dress trimmed in red and a corsage of white roses. On their return they will be at home in their newly-furnished apartment in Thurmont. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, class of '53 and is employed as a secretary at Camp Detrick. Mr. Clabaugh, a graduate of Thurmont High School, served two years in the army and is employed by the Thurmont Construction Co. Out-of-town guests were from Waynesboro, Gettysburg, Frederick, Florida, West Virginia, Illinois, New York, Westminster, New Jersey, Tennessee, Rocky Ridge, Emmitsburg and Thurmont.

Cardinals Are Little League Champions

The Cardinals, under the supervision of Leonard Zimmerman, successfully defended their regular season Little League title Tuesday night on Community Field by trouncing the runner-up Redsox in the final game of a three-contest playoff, 12-9.

The Redsox advanced to a one run lead in the first inning when Sweeney singled, took second on a passed ball and scored on Elliott's single. In the second stanza the Cards scored seven runs on four hits as the Sox defense split wide open with four infield miscues.

The Sox came right back in the third to score three runs on one hit, but the Cards got another run in the bottom of the inning to make the score 8-4. In the fourth the Cards added four more runs on three hits and two Redsox errors. The Reds got two more in the fifth and three in the sixth as their rally fell short and the Cards took the contest and championship game 12 to 9.

Stand-out for the champions was Bob Gingell, stocky catcher who had three for three and two stolen hassocks. Ken Myers, who pitched the Cards to victory in the first playoff game, held the Sox in check to win at will and walloped Sox pitching for three hits. Don Sweeney was the Redsox star, with four for four scoring four runs. The little centerfielder also roamed the outfield in fine fashion and shut off the Card rally when he relieved Fisher in the fourth inning.

All players are asked to turn in their uniforms at Houck's, or to the manager, as soon as possible. The uniforms should be washed before returning them.

The field committee would like to have volunteers to work Saturday morning to spread top soil. Please bring your own rakes, if possible.

Homemakers' Corner

Reach for the bleach. Is that what you do when you see a stain or spot to be removed? Be careful there, as bleach is only ONE of the stain removers. Other general classes are solvents and absorbents. Each remover has its merits and the homemaker will do well to consider the type of stain, the color and kind of fabric and whether or not the article is washable.

Spot removal is not difficult if the homemaker keeps it under control. Before pressing or washing a garment, look it over for stains to be removed. Stains dried or set by laundering may be very difficult to remove, the specialist emphasizes. Hot water may set such stains as egg, meat juice or blood. Soap suds may set others such as tea, coffee, or fruit.

Continuing with the three classes of spot removers, Miss Hilbert lists: SOLVENTS—such as benzene or carbon tetrachloride are used for dissolving grease, lipstick, chewing gum. Lay soiled spot over a pad or folded cloth. Sponge with a cloth dampened in the solvent, work from outside to center of spot, to avoid leaving a ring.

ABSORBENTS—take up stains like blotters and do not leave rings.

Congressional Viewpoint

By Sen. John Marshall Butler

GENEVA, SWITZERLAND, Aug. 20 (delayed)—During the past 10 days, it has been my great privilege to participate officially in the Atoms for Peace Conference, here in Geneva. This has been my first face-to-face encounter with Soviet officialdom on foreign soil, and I would summarize my experience as at once both enlightening and provocative. This conference, with its emphasis on the medical and agricultural uses of atomic energy, is being universally hailed as an outstanding success. Even the most casual observer is impressed with the fact that the free world, and more specifically the United States, is still ahead of the Russians in harnessing the atom for peaceful applications. But, this pre-eminence is no lasting sanctuary. It would be disastrous to underestimate the ability and capacity of the communist scientist in this field. The Russian exhibits here, while not fully conforming with our accepted standards of perfection, mutely promise that the Kremlin conspirators will not long be satisfied with second best.

In listening to these atomic age discussions, some of a highly technical nature, the thought occurred to me that the horrifying image of an A-bomb or H-bomb holocaust was constant and everywhere. This awful possibility likewise seemed to precipitate a fresh spirit of cooperation—a mood which has prevailed throughout the entire Conference. It is generally conceded that, without any relaxation of fundamental security, our representatives have been more cooperative and more responsive than have the Communists.

Rather awkwardly, the Russian delegation at times assumed the role of propagandist, which of course is expected of all Soviet puppets. Once or twice, they endeavored to create an air of abounding good fellowship. However, the individual Russians with whom I talked informally were genuinely polite and cordial. Nonetheless, each was silent as to information pertaining to his place of employment, location of atomic reactors for peaceful purposes, and the source of fuel elements. One could not avoid the notion that these scientists welcomed and enjoyed their brief respite from the absolute rigidity of the Iron Curtain and this opportunity to meet with other men of science.

The Soviets have good chemists, physicists and engineers. Their determination to dominate the world of science fits the pattern of the international communist conspiracy. Accordingly, we must vigilantly continue our relentless quest for knowledge and superiority in all phases of atomic energy.

To use a powdered absorbent, work the powder into stain with fingers, brushing it off as it becomes colored. Repeat until stain is removed. Ink or blood is removed from non-washable garments by this method.

BLEACHES—should be used only when the non-greasy stain will not respond to the mildest treatment first. To use a chemical bleach, stretch stained material over bowl of steaming hot water. Dampen stained part with water. Then drop bleach or stain with a medicine dropper. Let stand a minute and rinse thoroughly. Do not allow any of the bleach to remain in the fabric. A good precaution is to use bleach only after checking on the fabric, color and method for using. Some stains may be bleached by moistening with lemon juice and salt mixture, and drying in the sun.

A few precautionary steps are offered by Miss Hilbert: keep a stain removal chart of recommended methods handy for quick reference; collect a kit containing two or three materials for each class of stains; do not rely on memory and use the wrong remedy.

"Remember, you can cause damage by using the wrong stain remover on the wrong fabric at the wrong time," she cautions.

Many Families Enjoy Use Of Two Cars

Maryland's wives and teen-agers, tired of being stranded when their breadwinner drives the family car to work are sparking a statewide two-car boom, according to a special survey by Universal Credit Corp., the nation's largest independent automobile financing firm.

The survey was conducted by the heads of the company's 40 division offices about the nation. Seven of the company's branch offices are in Maryland. In addition to observations of these experienced executives, the firm said, the survey included interviews with the hundreds of automobile dealers served by Universal CIT.

"Our survey disclosed that the major reasons behind the purchase of a second car," said vice president W. B. Benson of Washington, "are the trend to suburban living and the need for a second car for shopping and taking children to school when the husband uses the other car to get to work."

Another important reason, he said, is that millions of teen-agers are attaining driving age and an increasing number are able to afford automobiles. This factor will become even more important, he pointed out, when the huge "war baby" population reaches driving age in 1960's.

There are about 4.5 million two-car families in the United States. The credit executive estimated that about 10 per cent of Maryland's car-owning families have more than one car. The percentage probably will double over the next five years, he declared.

Most of the state's two-car families are white collar or professional workers and farmers, although two-car ownership is widespread among skilled workers, the survey showed. Average annual income of two-car families is about $7000 in Maryland, the survey showed.

About two-thirds of the new cars bought by two-car families are bought on instalment credit, the survey showed, and more than three-fourths of the used cars are purchased on credit. The Universal CIT executive rated the credit standing and financial responsibility of the state's typical two-car family unusually high.

In general, the state's families "graduate" into the two-car class by keeping their "old" car instead of trading when they get the new one. A smaller proportion buys a used car as a second car.

Another result of the trend is a surge in the popularity of station wagons, "small" cars and convertibles, the survey showed.

Ants, ants, ants. Now is the season when many homes and yards are invaded by troops of them. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture advises you find their nests and then treat them with an insecticide. An effective insecticide is a two per cent oil-base chlordane solution. But the department warns that chlordane is poisonous to people and pets, as well as to ants, so take precautions.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 1—Just how "split-ups" and consolidations are the fad on Wall St. The two don't seem to go together too well; in fact, they appear to be contradictory. However, many other things today are very inconsistent. Every reader knows that the Hudson and Nash Cos. have consolidated into a new company called "American Motors." Also that the Studebaker and Packard companies have combined. But all the consolidations have not been of "sick babies." Remington - Rand and the Sperry Corp. have been lively and prosperous; yet they have just consolidated.

Many consolidations have been due to the intensive competition of today—too many in the same business, resulting in cut-throat prices. Such consolidations should benefit an entire industry. Another reason is the death of the founder. The heirs find they must sell the business to pay estate taxes. This explains why certain banks are consolidating, including the very largest. A final reason is to get the tax benefits which one of the companies has accumulated through losses.

I expect someday to see a large consolidation of chain stores of various kinds. The present sight of a Woolworth, McCrory, Kresge, and some other of the big "5 and 10c" chains close together on the same street is silly. They have the same colored signs, same red fronts, and same show windows; yes, and the same prices.

Such useless duplication results in higher prices for the public. As the best department stores have federated into big organizations, I forecast a similar movement in connection with many chains. Fairness to the public demands such a federation with a Central Committee to pass on new locations and encourage more warehouses.

Advertising has been one of the most important forces causing and holding our present prosperity. Unfortunately, a large company has a great advertising advantage. Not only must a national advertiser be large to afford $25,000 for one week's ad in LIFE magazine and corresponding costs for other magazine, radio, television, and newspaper splurges but there is something more to remember. The large company gets the space or the radio and TV time "for the same price as a small company." This is a handicap to small companies.

I go further and say that unless some practical help can be given these small companies, our era of prosperity may slide off. Color advertising came just in time to save the day in 1946; while television advertising gave business another "shot in the arm" two years ago. Perhaps the able advertising agencies have something "up their sleeve" to use as another stimulant to business when needed. The only one I can now think of is extending financial help to small companies so they can afford heavy advertising appropriations.

Forget the big consolidations and think of your own home town. In every one of the 405 cities carrying my weekly column, there are concerns which are entitled to help. These may be factories or garages or even law offices! The banks know the names of these concerns, and they should have the courage to advise such consolidations.

The small farmers now receive help. You may own a farm. Although you feel in your heart that the Benson Price Program is sound, you know it will reduce your income and profits. Put your pride in your pocket; call upon your neighbor farmer and suggest that your two or more adjoining farms stop cutting each other and co-operate. Remember that of all luxuries, "pride is the most expensive." Pride is the chief cause of business failures.

In the last analysis, whether you are big business, or small manufacturer, or shopkeepers, or farmers, your own welfare will ultimately depend upon the welfare of the nation's consumers. If President Eisenhower were here, he would advise: "Yes, upon the welfare of the world." Let us all get behind the consolidation program. Certainly it must come about in order to profit from automation or atomic power.

A DOSE OF SUN

As we come to the end of the vacation season, we want one last good dose of sun to carry us into the damp, cool fall ahead. The Labor Day weekend may be the last chance to get a tan, but too many of us ruin those precious days acquiring nothing but a painful sunburn.

In our desperate effort to seize the last golden moments, let's not take leave of our common sense. In the first place, the value of repeated sunning is overrated. Aside from preventing rickets in children, the physical benefits of lying on the beach and exposing large areas of skin to the sun are unimportant.

Some people, of course, get a psychological value from sun bathing a certain sense of well-being, and if in addition they can get a fashionable tan, it may be worth the trouble. It's important to remember, however, that people vary widely in their skin's tolerance of sun rays, and the burning rays of the sun are just as variable. What is safe exposure to the sun will differ from time to time, from person to person, and from place to place.

For safe sunbathing, expose the skin no more than 10 minutes the first day, then increase the time gradually. Use a sun-screening lotion. Reapply every two hours or whenever the protective film has been washed or rubbed off. Protect the eyes with cotton pads when lying face up, and wear dark glasses at other times. Cover the head to prevent hair discoloration and brittleness. Lubricate the skin well to

Labor Day

Day Safe Driving Tips Given

If you expect to drive in the heavy traffic expected during the coming Labor Day weekend, it may pay you to look over the "Big Ten" safety rules outlined:

1. Traffic regulations are for your protection. Observe them.
2. Keep a safe distance between yourself and the car ahead, particularly at higher speeds.
3. Stay in your own lane on hills, curves, and in "no-passing" zones.
4. If driving at night, dim your lights on oncoming traffic.
5. The right of way may rightfully belong to you, but if a pedestrian comes along, give it to him. (And that doesn't mean "Let him have it!")
6. Always be on the alert for children!
7. Know the proper hand or direction signals and be sure to use them!
8. Watch where you're going, and where the cars behind, ahead, and on both sides are going.
9. Give the other fellow more than his share of the road and watch him!
10. Regulate speed to road conditions, rather than posted speed limits.

You can't think of 10 things at once, but try to keep these "Big Ten" tips in the back of your mind when you drive this weekend. If you do, you'll be sure to get back to your labors on Tuesday, Sept. 6.

prevent drying. And if you have a naturally fair skin, why not just cover up and keep it that way? Why risk peeling skin and freckles, when your type will be back in fashion next month?

MARYLAND FARM FRONT

Preliminary results show 217 Maryland wool growers voted in favor of a marketing agreement to deduct one cent per pound for each grower's 1955-clip incentive payment, according to George B. Reeves, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. There were 54 votes against the referendum.

"The final outcome of the referendum depends on the total national vote," Mr. Reeves said. To become effective the agreement must be favored by the producers of at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by those voting. The total Maryland vote represents 12,855 sheep. Of this total, 10,472 sheep growers voted yes.

If the agreement is approved, the money collected will be used for advertising and sales promotion programs to be conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. Deductions for the same purpose in an amount still to be determined but not exceeding one cent per pound also will be made from wool payments for the 1956, 1957, and 1958 clips.

Mr. Reeves added that a favorable vote would also mean deductions at the rate of five cents per hundredweight for the 1955 crop on lambs and yearlings moved to slaughter with the wool.

Here are some hot weather suggestions from the Home Service kitchens of the Potomac Edison System. We hope they will help make your summertime living easier and more enjoyable.

For especially delightful summer drinks, make ice cubes of lemonade and use them in iced tea or other beverages. And don't forget, ice cubes will keep, without sticking together, in your freezer. Keep a supply on hand for unexpected guests.

When packing fruit in sirup for freezing, drop a crumpled piece of freezer cellophane on the liquid to keep all the pieces of fruit under the juice during the freezing process.

Why not keep an assortment of frozen desserts in your freezer or freezing compartment of your electric refrigerator. Your family and guests will enjoy selecting their own favorites.

For a free booklet on home freezing, "Frozen Assets," just drop a card to the Home Service Advisor at your nearest electric company office.

Be thrifty with left-over coffee—freeze as coffee ice cubes. They keep iced coffee cool without diluting it.

Sgt. Charles W. Foreman, whose wife, Bernadette, lives at Taneytown, recently completed the Infantry School's National Guard officers candidate course at Fort Benning, Ga.

Sgt. Foreman received a certificate of completion for the course, designed to produce platoon leaders for National Guard Infantry units. It is now up to the Maryland National Guard commander whether to award him a commission.

The 23-year-old sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Foreman, Baltimore, is a reconnaissance sergeant. A 1955 graduate of State Teachers College, Towson, and a member of Kappa Delta Pi fraternity. Foreman is regularly employed as a teacher by the Carroll County Board of Education, Westminster.

Co., returned to the air last Sunday.

According to a local utility company spokesman, the coming season for "You Are There" promises to be one of the most interesting and educational ever presented on this noted Sunday evening series. Among the subjects to be featured are, "December 7, 1941," "The Hamilton-Burr Duel," "Grant and Lee at Appomattox," "The Fight at the Okay Corral," and "Bannister Wins the Mile Run."

Special television teaching aids are being sent to teachers in this area who request them, enabling classes to schedule special studies in connection with the "You Are There" historical series. These aids were sent to local schools last year. Teacher and student interest in them proved to be so high, a repeat of the mailings has been arranged for the 1955-56 season.

Can you eat just one more sandwich this summer? Maybe your idea file is pretty well worn. Here's an addition — try making sandwiches with frozen slices of bread. Food specialists of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture say it keeps the fresh quality of bread and also saves time in making up the lunch box.

By Dr. George E. Strong
DIRECTOR—EMMITSBURG

Course For America

Since the new Communist "peace" offensive is calculated to aid the range Communist goal of world dictatorship, we can be sure that it will not bring to a halt the widespread Communist propaganda campaign. The powerful propaganda work of the Communists has infected every phase of life in all the nations outside the Iron Curtain, especially in the realm of thought-shaping and opinion-making. This fact makes it all the more necessary that Americans, young and old, know the true comparative facts about Communism and Socialism.

Along with an educational program at home we should make known the accomplishments of American capitalism to people everywhere in the world; it's a great story. And as a third positive step to take advantage of the period of artificial Soviet peacefulness, America should carry on a sound program of assistance to the backward countries; this assistance should not consist of handouts but be in the form of technical aid and bonafide loans.

These things are precisely what the Soviet leaders don't want us to do. They want and expect us to lower our guards, to become as apathetic toward the Communist menace as we were just a few years ago, to cease teaching our children and our adults the true facts about America, and to forget about the rest of the world. This is the slumberous atmosphere which permitted Communism to deeply infiltrate our vital American institutions and to take over China and other millions of people. In America during the World War II, the Red conspirators were consolidating their strength in all our important agencies of communications. Then began their campaign to undermine our people's belief in our American principles and create attitudes helpful to the Communists' long-range goals. The Reds did their cunning work in newspaper jobs, on the radio, in strategic government jobs, in the movies, in the field of education—and all the others. For years, wherever you turned the American system was being criticized, and its good points were being carefully ignored.

Great Propaganda Victory

The Communists' successful moulding of the American mind on many important issues in the 1940's will stand always as a great achievement of conspiracy, of infiltration and propaganda thought-shaping. For a time America's mind was manipulated. This was a critical period in history. A great many Americans became uncertain about the value of basic American principles. Important American leaders shut their eyes to the facts about Communism. In international affairs we made moves that the Communists wanted us to make.

A few Americans spoke out in warning; finally many people began to see the light. In Berlin, in China, in Tibet, and in Korea, Communism showed its true nature. And in Washington, courageous congressional committees began to ferret out some of the key Communists in spite of a Communist-led clamor against investigations. Our nation survived a critical period—but, I think, narrowly. We began to shore up our defensive structure, and we moved in tentatively against the Fifth Column conspirators.

Now we have encircled these Soviet aggressors with airfields from which U. S. bombers, carrying H-bombs, could devastate in a few hours Russia's capacity to make war. This rising alertness in America, together with miserable economic conditions within the Communist empire, has pushed the Red leaders into their present strategy. Their move is a bold one. And it is a shrewd one. It is bold because they are virtually renouncing the main goal of Communism—world conquest; and it is a shrewd one because the people of the world desperately want peace.

To defeat the purpose of the Communist deception, America therefore must remain strong and work to increase the moral and economic strength of the free world. In addition we must use this time to bring about a better world-wide understanding—especially among the youth of America—of Communism, Socialism and Capitalism, their philosophies and their comparative results in practice. We must be ready always to accept the genuine renunciation of Communism by its leaders—but not on the basis of the fraud they seek now to foster on a peace hungry world.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

When hunting big game a sportsman comes on small game that would make a tooth-some addition to the pot. Or he may see a small fur bearer whose pelt he covets. Unfortunately, the full charge of a big rifle would blow them up with nothing left for the table or taxidermist.

Of course, there may be fleeting opportunities for cutting the heads off edible small game with the big rifle, but these do not occur often, and the noise of the heavy cartridge would alarm big game in the vicinity. A shotgun or a .22 rifle could be used, but the former has the disadvantage of noise, and both make another gun to tote along.

Another possible solution is a reduced, small-game load for the big rifle. Col. Townsend Whelen has used this with much success in Canada, but cautions that such loads have two disadvantages. The sight adjustment must be changed, and the report is usually much louder than is desirable in big game country. Also the expense of reloading tools and of experiments to develop a suitable reduced load exceeds the price of a good handgun.

The solution seems to be a light, high grade .22 caliber pistol or revolver—it is easily and conveniently carried while hunting with the big rifle. Besides pot meat, it will account for varmints including snakes, and can be used for killing large fish not protected by law. It is also ideal for the casual plinker. The .22 long rifle cartridge has excellent killing effect, and its report is not too loud.

The best models for such use are light weight pistols and revolvers for the .22 long rifle cartridge, with adjustable target rear sights. The short 4 1/2-inch barrel is slightly preferable to the 6-inch barrel.

Col. Whelen regards adjustable target sights as being absolutely necessary on such a weapon, indeed for any handgun that is to be interesting and satisfying to shoot. To kill small game surely and neatly you must hit it in a vital spot, just as in target shooting you must hit close to the 10-inch ring. Each make of ammunition will shoot to a slightly different spot and likewise any difference in the manner and tension with which the gun is held will cause it to center its bullets differently. If the pistol is to shoot close to where it is aimed, it must be possible to adjust the sights according to the ammunition and one's hold.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—No one could have predicted the extent or prevented the destruction wrought by the great floods which wrecked havoc in the Northeastern states. But it is encouraging to every citizen to note how quickly Federal and state governments set about helping the homeless and repairing the damage. I would also like to commend the individuals and private organizations who responded so generously to the call for help.

It is ironic that the help which might have come from better forecasting was delayed by the lack of adequate funds for the Weather Bureau. As I noted last week, this has in part been rectified. New Federal facilities will soon be available which permit flood forecasting far enough in advance to save many lives and millions of dollars in property damage.

The control of floods is part of the larger picture of water conservation and utilization. I have been concerned with these problems as they affect the watersheds of the

Along The Potomac

Sixth Maryland District. My office is in constant consultation with the Federal and state agencies responsible for planning the control and use of the waters of our area. I am pleased to note that the President has again called for broad studies of flood control and quick implementation of programs.

Labor Day is set aside as an occasion when we all may pay tribute to those who toil. I am happy that we have this opportunity of saluting the working man. Each of us shares in the responsibility of making America great and strong, and among us none have worked harder at this task than Labor.

The major legislative act of the 84th Congress in the field of labor interests was to increase the minimum wage floor from 75c to $1. My vote in favor of this measure was influenced by my desire to see the wage floor kept in line with economic gains made by other laboring groups.

CAROTHERS—RICKOUR

Miss Elsie Rickour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rickour, Taneytown, R. D., became the bride of Donald Carothers, at a double ring ceremony performed at 3:30 o'clock in Tom's Creek Methodist Church.

The bride's pastor, Rev. Paul McCauley, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Donald Wantz, the church organist, played the traditional wedding music and was accompanied for the soloist, Mr. Robert Baumgardner.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace gown. Her finger-tip veil of nylon net hung from a halo of ruffled net and lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Althea Clark, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was attired in a yellow lace gown and carried yellow roses. The bridegroom chose as his best man the bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Clark.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride with approximately 75 wedding guests in attendance. The couple will reside in Baltimore.

Church Group Meets

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Tom's Creek Methodist Church met in the social room of the church on August 29.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner. The devotional was led by Mrs. Anna Grimes and the theme was, "The Vision of a Better Life." Mrs. Grimes had a reading and then the group sang "This Is My Father's World," followed by meditations by Mrs. Annie Valentine. Prayer was in charge of Mrs. Jean McCauley and then the worship program was concluded by singing "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me." The devotional program was followed by a business meeting. The roll call found 15 members present.

Reports were filled out for the quarter ending August 31. Mrs. McCauley led a discussion on marriage and divorce, according to the teachings of Jesus. At the same time the official board of the church conducted routine business. Refreshments were enjoyed by the combined groups, served by the Hostesses Rachel Emrich and Helen Fuss.

Miss Alice Anman was admitted as a patient this week to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

Mrs. Alvey S. Shorb and daughter, Catherine, left by airplane this week for Whittier, Calif., where they will spend two weeks visiting Mrs. Shorb's son, Robert, and his family.
