Grange Sponsors Talent Revue Friday, Saturday

"Hometown Jubilee," a delightful and entertaining production featuring local talent, will be presented in the Emmitsburg Public School next Friday and Saturday evenings, April 6-7, under the sponsorship of the Emmitsburg Grange.

Preliminary reports indicate the show will be highly successful. Produced under special arrangement with the Redpath-Horner Co., the play, in the form of a comedy, is being directed by the talented Mrs. Mercede Wahl.

Casting is going on at the present time but a few more characters are needed for the completion of the cast. Anyone interested in participating in the talent revue is asked to contact Mrs. Wahl, who is residing at the Miss Anna Gillelan residence on W. Main St.

The talent revue is scheduled for a two-hour run and will feature many prominent local personalities. Clever and unusual stunts and gags set a fast-moving pace of hilarious rip-roaring entertainment and fun. A Golden Wedding couple will be honored at each showing and will be interviewed by a local participant imitating the renowned TV comedian, Bob Hope.

A stage full of crib youngsters who attend Glamour School, will bring magic to the stage. The plot revolves around Hattie Carunkle, a famous fashion designer who has designs on just about everybody. High spot of the evening is Hattie, with her dimpled darlings of the fashion world which will include such personalities as Marilyn Mudrow, Rita Hayrock, Betty Gable and Ermintrude Popgrinde.

Another entertaining feature of the production will be a contest for local babies, two of which will be crowned king and queen. Parents interested in entering the babies in the contest, are asked to contact Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz, W. Main St.

Mrs. Victor Fiery Gives Talk Before Homemakers

Mrs. Victor Fiery took Emmitsburg Homemakers on a pleasant verbal tour of Ceylon at the regular monthly meeting last Thursday. Mrs. Fiery explained that the Associated Country Women of the World, to which all Homemakers automatically belong, will hold its international meeting in Ceylon in December. The travelogue was followed by a question period and plans for additional discussion of Ceylon at the May meeting.

President Mrs. Robert Fitez called the Homemakers to order at their clubroom. Miss Louise Sebald presented the director's report and final plans were made for attendance at the annual meeting at Hood College on March 29. Official delegates to that meeting were Mrs. Lewis Higbee and Mrs. Victor Fiery. The afternoon of games will be held on April 12 at 1:30 in the clubroom. Mrs. Roy Bollinger, hostess. The next regular meeting is scheduled for April 26 at 8 p. m. Members are asked to note the change to the evening hour for that particular meeting.

Alumni To Reletter Public School

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg High School PTA was held on Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the school. Mr. Paul Beale, the president, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty, chairman of the activities committee, reminded the group of the card party to be held in the VFW annex on April 3 for the PTA's benefit. Mrs. Daugherty also announced the Minstrel Show will be held on April 26 and 27 and urged the group to participate in the affair and to support it in every possible manner.

Dr. William A. Frailey represented the Alumni Assn. at the meeting and announced his organization would help defray the cost of replacing the lettering on the front of the school building. The work on this project is to be completed in the near future.

The attendance banner was won by Miss Mary Fiery's room.

Mrs. Rita Remavage outlined the Home Ec program in the high school. The group visited the home economics room and witnessed girls working on various projects. Following the tour of the home ec room the students in that department served refreshments to the entire group.

Purchasers of these tickets are entitled to attend all home games of the local club and the money gives the club an early financial start. Booster tickets sell for $10 and can be purchased from any of the Baseball Assn. officials.

GRANGE STRESSES DRIVER TRAINING FOR SCHOOLS

At the last meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange, held Mar. 21, a letter from Mr. Eugene W. Pruitt, superintendent of schools, addressed to the president of the Emmitsburg P-TA and on the subject of driver education in the schools, was read by Mr. Paul Beale. The letter, in part, states:

"I assume that plans will be made for installing some type of driver education in some high schools of the county beginning early in the school year of 1956-57. I suppose Emmitsburg will be included, but I do call your attention to the fact that $5000 is a rather small sum of money, especially when we consider that it has to be distributed over all the senior high schools in the county."

A motion was made and seconded that due to the great importance of driver education, that the Grange write to the Board of Education asking that they consider putting more stress on this course, and endeavor to get it into the curriculum of all our county schools.

A copy of the Grange's letter to the Board of Education follows:

"In view of the need for stopping the terrible slaughter of our citizens on the highways, the Emmitsburg Grange humbly petitions the Board of Education to consider asking the County Commissioners for more money to expedite driver training throughout the county."

"The Ford Garage in Emmitsburg, owned and operated by Mrs. Sperry, has offered to lend the Board of Education a new car for use in driver education at both Emmitsburg and Thurmont. Also, since Ford and General Motors are making it easier financially for dealers to lend cars for this purpose, by allowing them a discount of $125 on the cost of such cars, it is felt that cars might be made available for the schools of the entire county."

"We have been inquiring as to the cost of teaching driver education and find that at Taneytown, where 33 students were enrolled in the driver-education course, it cost approximately $100 this year for gasoline, oil changes, greasing, and antifreeze. The only other cost was one-third of the teacher's salary charged to the course and the cost of the text books, and some liability insurance. Two hours a day are spent by the teacher on driver education. Some of this time can be spent before school and in the mornings and after school, so as not to interfere with other classes."

"It has been shown already that driver education cuts down accidents and deaths by more than one-half. Since we killed 38,500 persons in 1955, driver education throughout our nation could save at least 19,000 lives a year, not to mention the thousands of injured and maimed, together with the financial loss. But if it saves just a few lives in Frederick County every year, it would certainly be worth the money."

"Boys who take the course save approximately $150 in insurance over the 10-year period from age 16 to 25. Multiply this by 10 or 20 boys in each community who might take the course and you have a considerable amount saved by the communities. Also, many people killed by automobile are taxpayers, or potential taxpayers, which source of income is lost, if anyone is interested only in financial reasons."

"Many parents say they can teach their own children to drive, but the fact that we slaughter 38,000 people every year would indicate that there is something wrong with that method. Many drivers have had accidents caused by bad habits passed on to them by parents. With our highways becoming more congested, there is a need for a more exacting instruction by trained instructors."

"The Board of Education spends many thousands of dollars on teachers' salaries for teaching music, Latin, and possibly some other subjects whose practical use is questionable. It is quite certain these subjects cannot save lives as can driver education. Some teachers of these subjects even admit that if there is a question of having one or the other, that driver education should come first—not stuck on at the end as a last resort."

Driver education courses for instructors will be offered this summer in Baltimore from Aug. 27 to 31, and at the American University in Washington, D. C., from June 18 through 22. The fees for these courses are either nominal or free."

Sincerely yours,
EMMITSBURG GRANGE

EGG HUNT SUNDAY

An entertaining event for local children will be held Easter Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. on Community Field. The occasion will be an egg hunt and all the children of the Emmitsburg District are invited to participate.

Harold M. Hoke, general chairman of the affair, stated this week that it was the intention of the sponsoring organization, the Emmitsburg Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658, to make the occasion an annual one, if successful, as part of the club's community service project.

The children will be grouped into age brackets and will hunt the previously hidden eggs until most are found. Some of the eggs will be marked with numbers which will designate a certain amount of money to be given the finder. Some eggs will be marked with "25" which entitles the boy or girl locating the egg to receive a quarter if the egg is presented at the judges' stand. Other eggs with various numbers will be planted along with the general group and will be good for reimbursement.

It has been many years since an event of this type has been held here and it is the hope of the committee that a large turnout of both parents and children will be on hand Sunday afternoon to witness the spectacle.

Four age brackets will be declared and any child from one to 10 years of age will be permitted to enter the hunt. There also will be special egg races for boys between the ages on nine and 10.

LIONS HOST TO COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Honored guests at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Bucher's Restaurant, were two of the three Frederick County Commissioners, Delbert S. Null and Merl Ramsburg. Accompanying the two commissioners from Frederick was Roger Willard, County Roads Board engineer.

President Clarence G. Frailey presided over the meeting and each of the three guests made brief remarks.

Engineer Willard stated that at present about one half of the 1,000 miles of existing county roads were paved or otherwise improved. He revealed the County has a 12-year plan, which at its expiration, will see the entire road system of the county with improved roadways. Mr. Willard stated that it cost about $24,000 per mile average, to build a mile of county road, as compared to $225,000 it cost the State Roads Commission. Mr. Null, chairman of the County Commissioners, discussed county government and expressed the hope that some day one of the County Commissioners would automatically become a member of the School Board. He expressed deep interest in the School Board and believes that if one of the Commissioners would be a member of that board, he could materially aid in the drawing up of proposed budgets and help guide disbursements. The three guests invited questions from the Lions and answered several elicited from the group. One other guest, Andrew Eyster, was present. The guests were introduced by Lion Charles R. Fuss.

Announcement was made of the Lions' Zone banquet and dance to be held in Walkersville on April 19 and a number of local Lions are planning on attending the event.

George L. Wilhide, chairman of the School Board Committee, announced he had appointed John D. White and Paul W. Claypool as delegates to the convention of the Frederick County Citizens' Council to be held in Frederick on April 7. The two delegates will place in nomination the name of Dr. J. W. Houser, for appointment to the County School Board.

George W. Gingell Charged After Fatal Shooting

George W. Gingell, 42, well-known locally and the father of three children, was lodged in the Adams County jail at Gettysburg Sunday as the result of a fatal shooting at the Tract Inn, about a mile and a half north-west of Emmitsburg early Saturday morning.

Gingell allegedly fatally wounded Lee Mainer, 32, after "bad blood" was reported existing between the two following what was described by police as a long-standing family problem.

The victim, Lee Mainer, 32, of Blue Ridge Summit, a native of Spartansburg, S. C., died about 4:15 o'clock Sunday morning in the Warner Hospital and Gingell was lodged in the jail that same evening, charged with Mainer's murder.

60 Pellets Enter Body

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coronor, said an autopsy Sunday afternoon showed Mainer's death was caused by shock and hemorrhaging and bruises of the heart caused when Mainer was struck by approximately 60 pellets from a small-gauge shotgun, some of which punctured the left lung cavity and struck the heart, Gingell threatened.

Gingell told police Saturday when he was questioned at the office of District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, that he had gone to the Tract Inn Friday night to watch boxing on television. Near midnight Gingell is said to have told police that Mainer and Gingell's sister, Mrs. Mayburt Hoffman, came into the inn. Gingell was in the rear of the inn at the time and had to pass Mainer to return to his seat in the bar-room portion of the inn. Mainer, according to Gingell, began an angry discussion concerning a recent charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Hoffman which Gingell had brought against Mainer and also made threats, Gingell said, against Gingell's wife and young daughter.

Gingell stated he sought to ignore Mainer and when the tirade continued he went to the kitchen of the tavern. Mainer later went out of the building and came to the kitchen door. Gingell reported, to resume the heated argument, Gingell said he observed a small-gauge shotgun hanging over the kitchen door, and taking it, placed a shell in and using the gun, "backed" Mainer out of the kitchen, down several steps and outside towards Mainer's car.

Fired "Warning" Shot First

Gingell then said he warned Mainer to "get going" and fired a shot into the air to scare him. Mainer went towards his car and Gingell, believing he had frightened him away, returned to the kitchen. Moments later Gingell is said to have told police Mainer returned to the kitchen and unleashed another tirade at him. Gingell loaded another shell into the gun and backed out of the kitchen towards Mainer's car.

Gingell reported Mainer had nearly reached his car when he again began to advance toward Gingell and again he repeated his threat against Gingell's wife and daughter. Gingell fired again, the district attorney stated. Gingell told police, and this time the pellets struck Mainer.

Police Are Summoned

Mainer staggered Gingell said and he believed Mainer then got into his car. Gingell turned and went into the inn and told the proprietor, Carroll L. Troxell, to summon the state police—that he had shot a man. Troxell went first to the Mainer car and found the victim lying near it, apparently badly wounded. Pellets had struck the man's chest, throat and face. The inn proprietor then called the Pennsylvania State Police and the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance which removed the victim to the Warner Hospital in Gettysburg, while Gingell awaited the arrival of the law.

A charge of discharging a firearm with intent to kill was lodged Saturday afternoon against Gingell before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore, Gettysburg, and Gingell was released on bail. When death came to the victim Sunday police awaited the results of the autopsy before charging Gingell with murder. Gingell was then placed in the Adams County jail to await trial in April term of court.

Mainer Previously In Trouble

At the time of his death Mainer was on bail for two charges on which trial had been scheduled for April court. He had been charged with aggravated assault and battery by Mrs. Hoffman's ex-husband, Paul S. Hoffman of Thurmont, after Mainer had allegedly cut Hoffman with glass and badly scalded him by throwing boiling water on him after beating him.

Mainer also was charged with contributing to the delinquency of two minor girls from Iron Springs.

Police reported Mainer had a number of women friends who called after his death. One desired to pay his funeral expenses and another had provided the car with which he had gone to the tavern with Gingell's sister, Mrs. Hoffman. Police said the shotgun used in the shooting was of a very small caliber.

Mainer, police said, never regained consciousness sufficiently to permit interrogation.

Surviving is Mainer's father, Charles Mainer, who resides in California, and two sisters, Mrs. Irene Tesser and Mrs. Kathleen Knight, both of Spartansburg, S. C. Funeral services for the victim were held yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Grove Funeral Home, Waynesboro with the Rev. Paul Nagy, Jr., officiating and interment was made in Bethel Cemetery near Fort Ritchie.

Sister Is Jailed

The 29-year-old mother of three children, Mrs. Mayburt Hoffman, was arrested, police reported, for disorderly conduct occurring at the Warner Hospital after Mainer was brought there. She was placed in jail Saturday morning.

The murder charge brought before Justice Basehore is the general murder charge which would permit a jury to make a decision on whether the case is one of voluntary manslaughter, second degree murder or first degree murder.

Bail was furnished and Gingell was free until Sunday when Mainer died. Gingell then went to the police station to be brought before the Justice of the Peace for arraignment on a murder charge and the assault charge was dropped.

At the end of Gingell's hearing Thursday morning before Judge W. C. Sheeley, Gingell was denied bail and remained in the custody of the sheriff of Adams County to await his trial when the court will set the degree of the murder charge.

OBSOLETE ANSWER

Writing in the Wall Street Journal, Russell Kirk, the distinguished educator and author, discusses some of the serious problems socialized medicine has created in England—problems adversely affecting patient and doctor alike. At the end of his article he makes this important point about the economic aspects of medical care: "In the United States, where the public spends a greater proportion of income on medical attention than in any other country, only about 4.5% of family income goes for medical attention. Nearly an equal amount goes for alcoholic beverages; half as much goes for tobacco; and a good deal more goes for recreation. We are living in an age, in short, in which the average man can afford to pay for whatever medical attention he requires with the exception of the really poor, who are a small minority.

"Yet what has been adopted in Britain, and what is sometimes proposed in the United States, is a doctrinaire 19th-century solution, socialized medicine, to a problem the terms of which have altered immensely in the twentieth century. In a society of material abundance, state medicine is an obsolete answer."

No one—except the extreme hypochondriac—likes to be ill, or likes to go to the doctor, or likes to pay a medical bill. So, human nature being what it is, we often tend to exaggerate the cost of medical care out of all reason, for getting the far greater sums most of us spend on non essentials. It is good to be reminded of the facts, as Dr. Kirk has done.

Good Health Aid To Peace Of Mind

Do you ever stop to realize that much of the peace of mind you enjoy in regard to your health comes from knowing that if you get sick help is close by? You probably have a family doctor who can be reached quickly and probably not far from you there is a hospital. Perhaps there are other health services available, too. Although you may never have thought about it before, security against illness is an important benefit that comes from living in a community.

But suppose, instead of having an established home, you earned your living traveling around the country, taking a job when and where you could get it. Many Americans do earn their living this way. These 'migrant workers' are for the most part agricultural workers who are needed to harvest various crops, particularly in the western states.

What about the health of these migrant workers? It is a public health problem of national importance and one for all of us to ponder.

not entitled to local health services because they are not permanent residents. It may seem unfair to burden the permanent residents of a town with caring for persons who are not members of the community, but in many instances the community suffers along with the migrant workers if their health is not properly cared for.

Suppose a migrant worker came to your town with a case of contagious tuberculosis. Probably you would want him isolated and treated, even at the expense of the taxpayers, rather than run the risk of his infecting your family. This question of how sick migrants are to be cared for is a very important one, particularly in communities where large numbers of migrant workers are employed.

The health of migrant workers is a public health problem of national importance and one for all of us to ponder.

Living Today
by Colonel Golen Gough

SELF PRESERVATION: Thru self preservation we find the need of physical protection. The classifications of this subject are basically revealed in many groups of study. It could carry the discussion of proper eating, exercises, sleeping, daily living, preventive medicine, muscle development, self-defense through boxing, wrestling, Americanized judo and whatnot. Self preservation is a very important subject and all phases of this thought should be studied and looked into carefully.

The first direct thought is proper eating. What goes into the stomach carries various thoughts. One interesting to many is this: a man determines his lifeline by his waistline. And this is not all. Fat people die sooner, as an average, than do their skinnier brothers. Proper eating is essential for good health and when a person is overweight it is best to start weighing the calories. All have neglected this, but without preaching platitudes since these could be self-applicable. But watch the calories and eat the proper foods and strength can be increased with the essential minerals and vitamins. Anyone should eat according to his bodily requirements.

Exercises are essential to man's motivation physically and like an ungroomed wheel so can a man's joints become rusty. The muscles can deteriorate from the lack of use and proper exercise. It isn't necessary to enlarge muscles, or to develop them for exhibition purposes. A large muscle does not always reveal a strong arm, for men with smaller arms have outlived larger ones. Strength is determined by what is within the muscles and their endurance, resistance and force of power. This is revealed in the example of steel and iron. Both are metal and of the same substance, but the added strength within steel is determined by the treatment given it.

Muscles are developed according to the proper exercises given them and the supplement of power afforded through food. The proper minerals and vitamins again are of importance.

Sleeping is but a natural need to the average person. It has been known in rare cases that men have lived without sleep, but their life-span was never recorded. It is likely that a good rest is essential to anyone's well-being. Proper sleep can relax the physical self and have it ready for a good day's work. Much could be said about sleep, but this would also cover volumes and so would the other thoughts for discussion. This added with the normal habits make daily living more enjoyable. To get the most out of life one should live and enjoy life each day he lives.

Muscle development is not as essential as mental development, and it aids little so far as proportionate mind power is concerned. Good health is different, for a sick body can also effect the mind if permitted to do so.

Self defense through boxing, wrestling and judo is a subject which lends to man's self confidence. Self-preservation can be activated through man's feeling of security that he fears little. Fear can tear ne down and the fear of others can also make anyone a moral coward. There is no better moral builder than the study of self defense. This is truly self preservation. Self defense can be applied through many forms of training physically and in numerous cases can be applied through mechanical means, but in this thought we must apply the thought to physical preparation. First the agility of a man is determined through his capability and when it comes to handling one's self there is nothing greater than the development of a man's speed, muscular control and physical efficiency. Judo is a scientific means of being alert to the movements essential for subduing another's opponent or attacker. To be able to use a count-

Absentee Voting Explained

If you have a friend or relative in the Armed Service of the United States or who is a member of the Merchant Marine, the War Shipping Administration, the American Red Cross, the Society of Friends, the Women's Auxiliary Service Pilots or the United Service Organizations, attached to and serving the Armed Forces outside of the U. S., but who is eligible to vote in Maryland, you should procure a form for application for a ballot to be cast by an absentee voter and forward it to that person in the service. The request for a ballot can be made only by the person wishing to vote, but you, as a friend or relative, may procure from the Office of the Secretary of State, Annapolis, Maryland, or from the Board of Election Supervisors in Baltimore City or in any county the request forms to be used by service personnel and other eligible persons. You can help your friends who are absent in the service to exercise their right of franchise by procuring and sending to them the form upon which they may request a ballot. Ballots are now ready for mailing for the Primary Election to be held on May 7, 1956.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Abraham Lincoln once said, "You can fool part of the people all the time, all the people part of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time."

And as reports keep coming in, it appears the truth of this statement is being proved in the grocery business.

A shopping trend seems to have stopped, with a new one appearing to be in the making.

That new trend appears to be that people are once again trading independent.

Two sets of figures are quite interesting.

In 1955, for the third straight year, chain grocery stores failed to show any gain in percentage of total food sales, holding at 36%, only 2% above 1933.

Yet food chain store profits dropped in one year from 1954 to 1955 by almost 25% so that in 1955 chain store profits averaged less than 1%.

It appears harder and harder to fool the public. Consumers are now becoming aware of the fact that quality for quality, grade for grade, independent operators usually can sell for less than chains.

Chains have been trying to meet their problem by pushing their own brands, manufactured by their own subsidiaries.

However, with distribution of their brands limited to their own stores, chains are finding that they cannot achieve the volume on them to compete with widely distributed national and regional brands.

At same time, consumers are showing themselves more inclined to favor the well known national and regional brands. In order to change this public preference, the chains have attempted to cut the price on their private brands, thus further aggravating their profit situation.

Presumably, in time stockholders will get curious. Public also seems to be swinging to point of view that the home owned, independent business offers greater security to the community.

For example, recent study shows that while only 55% of the nation's families are home owners, 92% of the independent grocers own their own homes.

In addition, every sign at present seems to indicate the housewife is rebelling over having family food prices dictated by distant managements.

She is doing something about it, turning more and more to the independent grocer to get known brands at lower prices. Today's homemaker is becoming more resistant to ballyhoo.

In fact, it is now reported by some food processors that some chain buyers are stating quite openly that they cannot afford to handle goods unless they do get price concessions over the independents. Thus, vigilance in the enforcement of the anti trust laws will keep this "trade independent" trend growing.

The public is once again recognizing the independent merchant is not only a community pillar, but the most efficient distributor of goods.

CROCHETED DUO

Smart For Spring

THERE'S A BREATH OF SPRING in the "spic and span" look of this crocheted accessory set. Its texture interest is easy to achieve with new Kentucky Soft Spun Variegated yarn. Three shades of blue — or three lovely greens — for instance, are combined with white as the yarn is spun, so that you need work with just a single strand of yarn. The interwoven pattern forms of itself as you go along, and, to increase the clean, fresh look that makes the set fairly sparkle, the designer has added decorative touches of pure white yarn. There's also a grey, red, and white yarn combination, and that tried and true spring stand-by — navy blue and white. The drawstring pouch bag is roomy and practical—to hold with ease all those vital "necessaries" no lady can be without. The modified "pillbox" hat is a style becoming to almost everyone. Wear it forward or on the back of the head, as fashion decrees. It will look equally well with a short or a long hair-do — or with the new in-between length that's proving so popular.

A free instruction leaflet is available for making this "Tweed-Mate" set. Be sure to get your copy by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the woman's editor of this paper.

Automation Begins at Home

Modern women are keeping up with their husbands on what's new these days. The breadwinner proudly comes home to tell about a new machine installed in his shop that practically thinks for itself. Automation, he calls it. His wife knows exactly what he is talking about because her new automatic washer does the same thing — practically thinks for itself.

For example, in the Whirlpool 1956 Imperial washer, the right water temperature is automatically provided for whites and cottons, prints and colors, or silks and nylons. Water level is selective and completely flexible. The correct washing time is selected by touch of a dial. Modern synthetics receive special treatment by setting a Delicate Fabrics control for low-speed and short-time washing, rinsing and spinning. Even the sudsy water is saved for use in later wash loads if desired — automatically.

A companion clothes dryer (gas or electric) goes a step further in taking the hard work out of wash-day. The modern housewife simply sets a dial at HOT for rugs and woolsens, MED. for whites and cottons, WARM for silks and nylons or DELICATE FABRICS for modern synthetics. Drying time is selective to 60 minutes. Clothes and linens may be removed "ironing dry" or ready to fold, stack and put away.

Automation in industry? American housewives have it right at home.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 29 — Fire losses have so increased that I feel the subject should interest everyone, whether manufacturer, merchant, or householder. The financial loss may be covered by insurance; but insurance does not cover other losses, especially in the case of a successful business or a happy home.

Most Fires Could Be Avoided.
Unfortunately, a certain number of fires are set—some by mentally deranged people, or by juvenile delinquents. Other fires are set by unsuccessful businessmen who use the fire "to sell their business to the insurance company." In view of the large number of "set" fires, the little red fire-alarm boxes at street corners will always remain in use. No one who sets a fire will ever notice the fire department! This must be done by someone who discovers the fire when walking along the street. As such discovery is made only after the fire has got a good start, "set" fires are the most dangerous.

Causes of Fires

The following causes the most fires: Matches—smoking, misuse of electricity, exposure to other fires, petroleum products, stoves, furnaces and boilers, overheated chimneys or flues, spontaneous combustion, lightning, miscellaneous, friction and sparks, open lights, gas—natural and artificial, ignition of hot grease, etc., explosions, hot ashes and coals, chemical combustion, sparks on roofs, rubbish and litter, fireworks, balloons, etc.

In the past 3 years there were 2.4 million fires causing $2.6 billion in property losses.

With the exception of fires started from explosions, practically all fires could be smothered, at their start, by someone with common sense. This is especially true, as 27 per cent of the fires are officially reported as starting from matches and smoking. In addition to the thousands of lives which have been lost in these 27 per cent of fires, the property loss amounted to $453 million—all from matches and smoking.

In this connection I wish to acknowledge a debt of gratitude owed the National Board of Fire Underwriters, especially their general manager, Mr. L. A. Vincent, and their chief engineer, Mr. John A. Neal. This Board has various functions. It originates most of the publicity issued to prevent fires;

it maintains a legal staff to detect and prosecute those who are suspected of setting fires; and through the Underwriter's Laboratory of Chicago, the Board tests Fire Extinguishers, Sprinkler Systems, Electric Alarms, and gadgets which are publicly offered for the prevention of fires. This latter is very important work. But your best friend is your local fire chief.

What About Insurance?

Too many people take the position, "Why worry, because the insurance company will pay the bill." Although, in case of loss, you get a check from one or more insurance companies, yet this loss is merely collected by the insurance companies from the premiums which they assess plus the cost of operation to all who take out policies. In fact, the real loss from fires is considerably more than the amount paid out as insurance. Due to the high character of the men who operate these insurance companies and the careful supervision given them by the official State Boards, their financial record is excellent.

Therefore, I urge every reader to see that his factory, his store, and his home are well covered by insurance. Furthermore, in view of the rising cost of building, insurance, in most cases, needs to be increased at the present time. I believe every reader of this column should check his insurance policies today and see that they cover not only fire losses, but also losses from wind storms, accidents, and other disasters. Frankly, I am a great believer in all forms of insurance, and this includes life insurance—for family protection, for the payment of estate taxes, and for other purposes.

Day Of Racing Will Benefit Crippled Children

A day at the races on behalf of Maryland's crippled youngsters, that's "Easter Seal Day at Bowie" being held this year on Thursday, April 5th, according to Howard S. Pierce, General Manager of the track.

The feature race of the day will be the Maryland Easter Seal Purse. The Easter Seal Trophy will be awarded to the winning owner in the winner's circle by Patricia Holbrook, the lovely young Easter Seal Girl from Hyattsville and U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall, a member of the Board of Directors of the Maryland Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Manning booths, displays and coin containers will be 40 lovely University of Maryland Co-eds of the speech and hearing fraternity and several campus sororities.

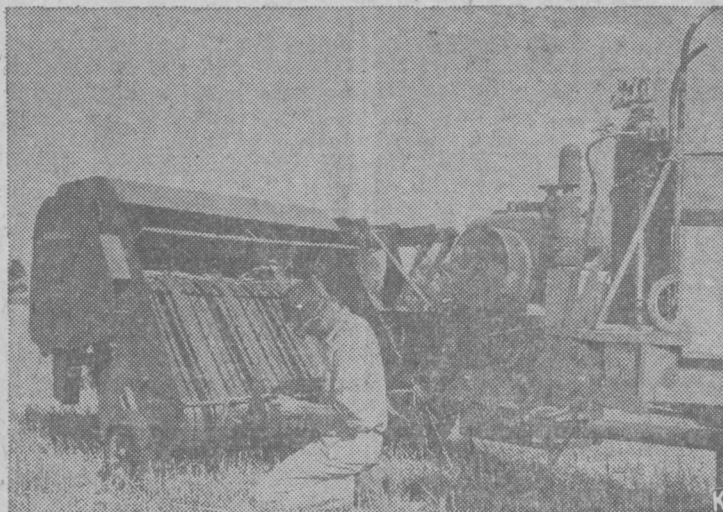

When questioned concerning Easter Seal Day at Bowie, Senator Beall said in part, "Easter Seal Day at Bowie helps focus the attention of the nation in general and Maryland in particular on the needs of our friends and neighbors who are physically handicapped. Help them to help themselves with the aid of the Maryland Easter Seal Society—Buy Easter Seals."

So, plan on attending Easter Seal Day at Bowie on Apr. 5, and be sure to have plenty of change in your pocket, for those lovely young Co-eds will be waiting to greet you at Bowie. Give generously and help a crippled friend back to a useful life.

Beware of covetousness, for a man's life consists not in the abundance of the things which he possesses. —(St. Luke 12, 15.)

The greatest of all human possessions is within everyone's reach, the easiest to acquire, and the most lasting—for it is peace of soul and mind, gained through loving God with all one's heart, thus to receive His love, without which worldly wealth is ashes.

Things Are Getting Easier
Down on the Farm

OXY-ACETYLENE FLAME WORKS FOR THE FARMER

Successful farming today is a mass production business that depends heavily on machinery. Steel and other metals are used in practically every farming operation. Seasons are short and productivity must not be halted by breakdowns or delays.

Speedy fabrication and repair of farm equipment is important in the production of peak crops. Such work may range all the way from minor repair of a broken shovel strap to major fabrication of such things as trailers and windmill towers.

It's smart to have a portable welding and cutting outfit handy if you want to save time, money—and weather. A new budget-priced Prest-O-Lite "all-in-one" oxy-acetylene outfit, for example, can do almost any metal repair job around the farm—and do it professionally without special attachments and equipment.

No need to go into town for spare parts or call anybody in to help make a repair. No need even to haul heavy equipment back to the yard or barn. You can bring this outfit out right where the breakdown takes place, and fix it on the spot.

Just to mention a few jobs you can do quickly with the oxy-acetylene flame—brazing-welding and bronze-surfacing, hard-facing, fusion welding, heating, cutting and flame-hardening.

Large savings also result from using oxy-acetylene welding and cutting to modernize or convert obsolete equipment. For example, horse-drawn machinery such as wheat drills and hay rakes can be adapted for motorized operation.

Yep, things are easier on the farm, all right—if you've got the right repair equipment!

Bi-centennial
Benefit Night
Is Successful

"Emmitsburg Night," presented by the faculty and students of St. Joseph College, netted a total of $115.50 for the benefit of the Emmitsburg Bi-centennial fund. A. M. Wasilifsky, Ph.D., college representative on the Bi-centennial committee, expressed appreciation for the contribution in the absence of the Burgess, Thornton W. Rodgers.

Opening with selections from the recent spring concert by the College Glee Club, the program moved into the enactment of the sophomore class play, "Overtones," which took first place in the 1956 one-act play contest at St. Joseph's.

Following the presentation of the comedy, "The Pot Boiler," by the junior class, the Glee Club closed the program with more selections from its spring concert.

Miss Jeanne Steinacker of Baltimore, presented DeBussy's "Garden in the Rain" on the piano. Miss Nona Murray, Chevy Chase, was the soloist with the Glee Club.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Washington, March 28.—One of the most important steps to be taken by this Congress is the enactment of a mutual security assistance program for the coming fiscal year. President Eisenhower has submitted his recommendations to the Congress and they are now under congressional study.

The mutual aid program is controverial. There are many in Congress, regardless of Party label. Then, there are those who do not agree with the President on the necessity for continued foreign aid. Then there are those who feel that the program should be expanded beyond its present scope. I feel that the majority of the members of Congress are in between these two extremes.

I would like to point out that the major share of the funds requested are earmarked for military assistance and defense support. The President in emphasizing the need for continued military assistance has demonstrated that he is not deceived by the Kremlin's shift in Cold War tactics. The Soviet hierarchy today may be repudiating and ultimate world domination.

The President has requested the larger share of the appropriations for military assistance and economic aid for Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. The President has recognized the remarkable economic recovery in Europe and has correspondingly decreased the request for European aid. All in all the request for economic assistance amounts to about twenty percent of the total.

Last Friday I took up the problem of the Little Falls Dam fishway with officials of the District of Columbia government and the Corps of Engineers. I am hopeful that a satisfactory arrangement for the installation of the fishway will result.

The House has passed the second Supplemental Appropriation bill restoring, under Public Law 382, funds to Montgomery County lost through an administrative handling of the original cut-off date for federally impacted funds. The County will receive $1,374,000 for school construction.

SPORTS FLASHES

The Sporting News
by J. G. Taylor Spink

A headline in this week's issue of The Sporting News reads, "Backstops Golden Boys of Game." A secondary headline adds this: "Carloads of Cash Are Going Begging for Catchable Catchers."

The story that follows, by one of The Sporting News ace correspondents, Dan Daniel, points out how much value is placed on top-rated catchers these days, what with Yogi Berra of the Yankees having signed up for $50,000 for this season and Roy Campanella of the Dodgers for $42,500.

Contract signings in the major leagues seldom are of nationwide interest. However, the signing of Berra and Campanella was something of an exception. For one thing, both men are catchers, and that's important. Catching is one position that boys have been shying away from because of the rigors and responsibilities of the job. But the fat salaries paid to Berra and Campanella are a lure to ball players in our schools and colleges and sandlots.

Few clubs these days are satisfied with their receiving setups. The Sporting News story goes on. And few are in a position to help themselves. Topflight catchers coming up from the minors are few and certainly very far between. The scarcity of backstop material is one of the reasons why the Yogi and Campy pay has soared so high. Bill Dickey, who previously had the honor of being the highest paid catcher, received $35,000 at his peak with the Yankees. Mickey Cochrane got $45,000 from the Tigers, but he also was manager while making himself available for catching duties.

Campanella and Berra have good records behind them. Campy last year hit .318 with 32 homers and 107 runs driven in. Only one other National League catcher hit .300 or better. He was Smokey Burgess, with a mark of .301. In the American League, not one of the top dozen regular catchers came up with a .300 average. Berra hit only .272. However, he drove in 108 runs and accounted for 27 homers. He caught 145 games, more than any other catcher in the league. Berra feels that the doubleheaders he was forced to work were particularly hard on him. He blames his low batting average in part on these doubleheaders. Casey Stengel says he plans to rest Berra in 25 or more games this season.

Baseball men believe that the development of good men in certain positions runs in cycles. They believe that catching and first base are suffering now, but that another upward turn seems about to commence.

Stengel, however, isn't so optimistic. "Our scouts comb the country for catchers and first basemen," he said. "They come back with reports that make you think they are kidding. If the kid catchers can run, they can't hit, and if they can hit fair-ly, they can't get out of their own way."

Stengel went on to say that the kids just don't want to take up catching. "The job has responsibilities," he said. "It's rugged. You squat and pull the tendons of your legs. You get hit in the head, in the body. You bust fingers." But, he added, "if I was well-built, ambitious youngster today, I would go for catching. The financial opportunities in that position are best in baseball." Berra and Campanella can support Stengel in that.

Had Its Share of Wonders

Two of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World were located in what is today called Turkey. The Temple of Artemis, in Ephesus and the Tomb of Mausolus, in Halicarnassus, were both constructed about 350 B.C. They stood less than 30 miles away from each other and from another Wonder, the Colossus, which was erected about 290 B.C. on the island of Rhodes, just off Turkey's Coast.

Shared Cabs Lower Fares

You pay a cheaper taxi fare in Turkey by using the "dolmus plan": first, you hail a cab and tell the driver your destination; then, the driver calls this out to passers-by; anyone wishing to go the same way climbs in; and when the cab is loaded—the word "dolmus" means "stuffed"—the trip begins. The system is most convenient when you are going a fairly long distance and are in no great hurry to get under way.

would be radioed along with the plane's location to the crew in the auto. They would plot the "hot" area on a map, then verify the information by sending two-man teams near the area on foot with test instruments and walkie-talkies. Results would be radioed to the state CD center and forwarded to FODA national headquarters in Battle Creek, Mich. (Lawrence, Kan., Journal World Photo)

DIRECTOR - MARYLAND

HANDBOOK FOR CITIZENS

During a period of 25 years the United States Congress has had numerous special committees investigating subversive organizations in America, particularly the Communist conspiracy and its operations here. From the great wealth of factual material compiled the Congress has now published "A Handbook for Americans" on the Communist Party of the U. S. A. This 100-page booklet should become the keystone in every American's understanding of Communism, what it is, and how it works to achieve its goal.

Copies of the booklet may be obtained from The Bookmailer, Box 101, Murray Hill Station, New York 16, New York. The handbook was edited by the Internal Security Sub-committee of the U. S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary. Its contents were approved by the full committee membership: Democratic Senators James O. Eastland, of Mississippi; Olin D. Johnston, of South Carolina; John L. McClellan, of Arkansas; and Price Daniel, of Texas; and Republican Senators John Marshall Butler, of Maryland; Herman Welker, of Idaho; Arthur

Facts To Know

Here are some of the facts presented:

The Communist Party U. S. A. is "a Russian-inspired, Moscow - dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our Government, our ideals, and our freedoms."

The Communist Party functions "at all times of the year, every day of the week, and at all hours of the day. It is a full-time organization which is not restricted to election campaigns. It persistently seeks to permeate every phase of American life for its own subversive purpose. Communist agents may be found wherever and whenever there is opportunity for Communist propaganda or the promotion of civil strife, whether it be the factory, the union, the church, the school, or the neighborhood."

Fully aware that "if it appeared openly in its true guise as a bridge-head of a hostile, foreign dictatorship, the Communist Party, U. S. A. would attract little support, its methods, are based primarily upon deception."

FBI Testimony
J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, has testified: "No longer are Communist Party membership cards issued; maintenance of membership records is forbidden." And yet, Igor Gouzenko (and others) have testified: "On every Communist there is

SPORTS
AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

For centuries everybody believed the world to be flat; and for generations many fishermen have believed that a fish should be strung by both lips. The idea behind this is that a fish can't breathe through his mouth and out his gills if his mouth is held open by a stringer through the lower lip only—so it must be put through both.

You can disprove this for yourself by trying the following experiment (courtesy of Jason Lucas, angling editor of Sports Afield): Fasten your lips shut with adhesive tape, and pack your nostrils tightly with cotton. How well can you breathe, pal?

Now, remove the tape and cotton and clip a clothespin on your lower lip. Hamper your breathing any? Not noticeably.

The whole argument for fastening a fish's mouth shut with a stringer through both lips is silly. Those who contradict Lucas say if a fish strung by the lower lip is towed fast alongside a boat, water pressure holds his mouth open so that he can't breathe properly.

Maybe—but who in heck wants a string of fish dragging alongside when he's running fast with the motor? And who wants them out there when he's rowing far, the drag turning the boat sideways? Any fisherman I've ever seen lifts the fish in when he's moving from one fishing spot to another, or running in to dock. If he's going far, and the day is hot, he'll stop occasionally and a file at the Comintern in Moscow; for every Communist in the whole world there is a file at the Comintern."

The Communist Party U. S. A. "thrives on promoting clashes: between employer and employee, landlord and tenant, white and Negro, native-born and foreigner, Catholic, Protestant and Jew; between the American people and their Government, and within every non-Communist organization."

The conspiracy apparatus in America is composed of the following: open party members, semi-concealed party members, members at large, members of the underground apparatus, non-party Communists, Communist Party supporters, conscious fellow travelers.

Helping The Reds
From the Communist Daily Worker newspaper: "It is no exaggeration to state that besides the . . . Communist members, there are today tens of thousands of individuals who are active in every field of the progressive movement, carrying out the line of the Party in practice. They work shoulder to shoulder with the Party members, follow the Party line through our press . . . through mass meetings, lectures, and all struggles in which the Communists are in the forefront. We must point out: First, that their actual work is appreciated by the Party; second, that we consider their work Communist work and want them to continue it."

About half of the hard-core Communists in America are stationed in New York state; the next largest number in California. They are concentrated in vital areas of production, transportation, shipping, and in the communications agencies where propaganda and thought-shaping can be conducted most widely.

The influence of each single Communist is far-reaching.

SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Vegetable Virtues

The legions of Rome probably consumed more cabbage per capita than any other army in history. While this ancient partiality to the leafy vegetable may not impress students of military logistics, modern medical scientists find it significant. For the Roman warriors favored cabbage not for its pungent flavor, but as a dressing for battle wounds.

In the light of recent discoveries, such age-old herbal remedies may have been more effective than scientists once believed. One U.S. physician reports that raw cabbage juice is rich in a substance believed to be helpful in healing stomach ulcers. Substances deadly to many kinds of germs have been found in other vegetables, including carrots, okra, cucumbers and onions.

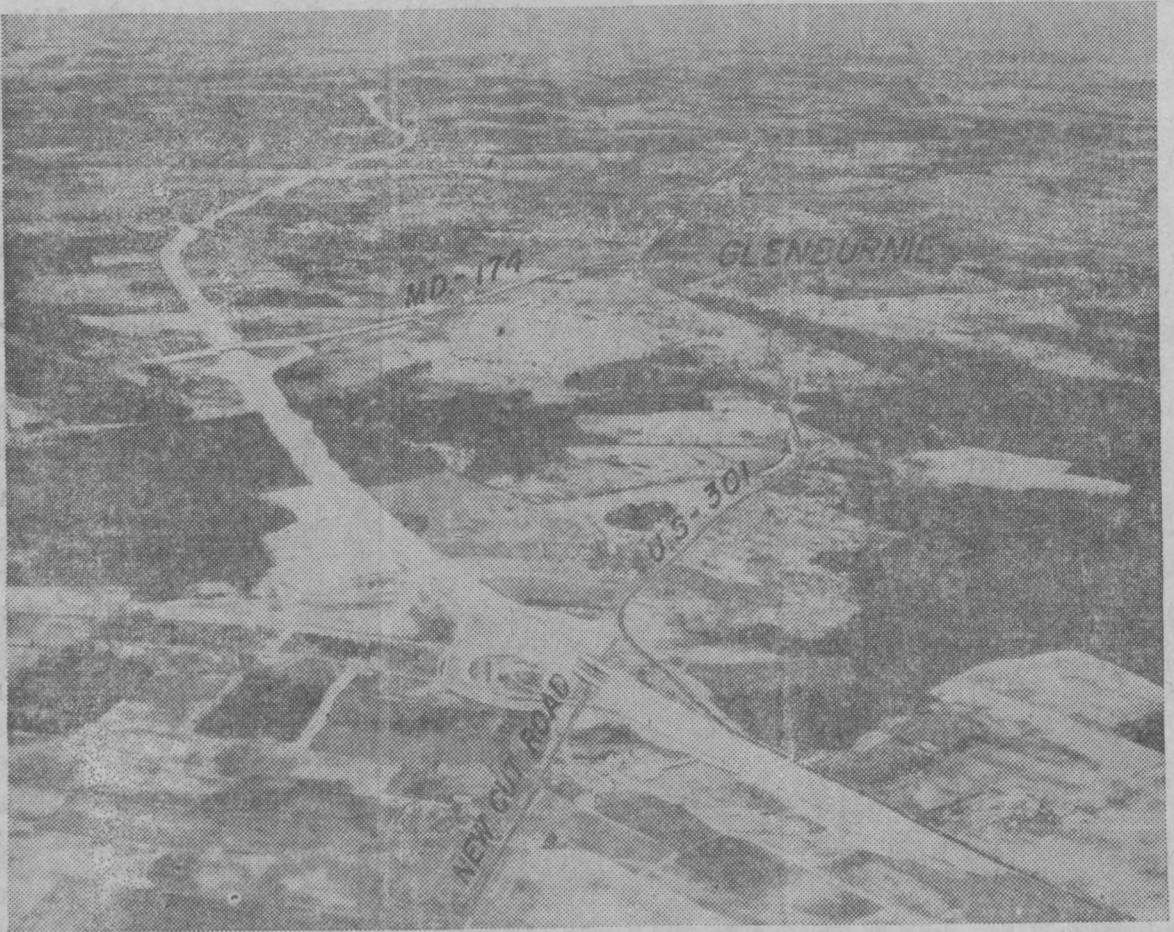

Some common fruits, too, contain microbe killers. One tropical fruit known as jagua has been used as a medicine for centuries by Caribbean peoples. Researchers at the University of Puerto Rico recently isolated an extract from the jagua which hits the bacteria that cause intestinal infections.

Though many higher plants harbor antibiotic-like substances, our most potent drugs have been searched out among the simpler forms of microscopic life in the soil. Since the discovery of penicillin, scientists have tested soil samples from all parts of the globe, and have given doctors powerful broad-range antibiotics like Terramycin and Tetracycline which quickly control once-fatal infections.

Most vegetable germicides are simply laboratory curiosities—and for good reasons. Many occur in minute quantities, and are almost impossible to isolate and test. Others hit germs for which better drugs are already available. Furthermore, they are not true medicines, and the most scientists can do is to seek clues which in rare instances may lead eventually to the development of a new drug.

One such clue has come from India, where a recent study indicates that mushrooms, a favorite ingredient of epicurean dishes, are completely distasteful to typhoid germs. Medical detectives are following this clue in hope of finding the source of a new typhoid fever drug.

This aerial photograph from the Maryland State Roads Commission shows a wide swath cut by road engineers through northern Anne Arundel County to make way for the Glenburnie By-Pass.

The camera which was pointed north shows the southern terminus of the new highway at its junction with the present U. S. 301 (foreground).

The six mile stretch of highway by-passes the congested Glenburnie area to the west and will connect with the Baltimore Beltway and the approach road to the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel at the northern terminus (upper left).

The Misses Margaret Neighbors and Jane Bollinger attended the "C Dance" at Carson Long Military Academy on a Saturday evening.

drop them out a while to regain their vitality.

A fisherman generally uses the motor only for going from one promising spot to another, and the oars to paddle around quietly while he casts. Then, he's not rowing fast enough for the drag alongside to matter much, so he leaves the fish out. If they're strung by the point of the lower lip only, with a wire snap, they swim quietly alongside breathing normally. Such fish can be liberated with what is, in effect, no more than a pinhole, which will heal.

it's only a pill
that saved a life

As little as 6 to 8 grains in weight, a pill can contain enough germ-fighting power to turn the tide against disease and save a life. In medicine, most of all, big things come in little packages. After diagnosing the exact nature of an illness, your doctor has the knowledge to command the best remedy, the best power to start you toward recovery.

When your doctor prescribes these potent healers, our job is to translate his orders into medical weapons specifically for your aid. In placing our skills at your service, we never forget our first obligation—to fill your prescription swiftly and accurately.
