Politicking is becoming a more exacting and strenuous profession as the years go by. Years ago you were lucky ever to meet any of the candidates and voted for many of them just by recognizing their photographs in the papers. Actually you never really got to know any of the men who helped elect to office. The years and modern transportation have changed all this now and if a candidate doesn't show up in Emmitsburg we feel inclined, more or less, that he is indifferent about our small block of votes.

For candidates seeking state offices and for state candidates seeking national offices it is a must that they stop and chat with the people in a small town. Already U. S. Senators and Congressmen have visited our town in preparation for the May 7 primary election. This sort of meeting the man running for office goes over big with me, because as a woman, I like to chat with anybody and most everybody. You get to know just makes a man or a woman "tick" when you have a chance to converse with them and I believe it stimulates interest in otherwise dull elections. I can formulate a better opinion of a man by talking to him than I can by reading about him or viewing him on television, and I believe you'll agree with me. Naturally you can't believe a word most of them say to you or promise you, but it is worthwhile chatting with them.

It's the little things in life that count and make one feel more like living. For example, take that humanitarian act of kindness manifested by the local VFW last week when it rewarded one of its faithful employees. For years, unassuming "Joe" has been in the employment of the club. Nothing was too tough or menial for Joe to do if he thought it would benefit the club, or any individual for that matter. Keeping his eyes open and his mouth closed, Joe saw many opportunities to lend a helping hand about the establishment. He didn't have to be coaxed or goaded; he did it voluntarily on his own initiative. I imagine lots of times he despaired and imagined his efforts were unnoticed and in vain. He wasn't looking for glory, recognition, or money . . . he just saw his duty and did it. Well the "boys" didn't forget Joe, or his decade of faithful service. Saturday night he got his just reward and a big surprise too. You could have bowled him over with a feather when the toastmaster called him to the stage during the big tenth anniversary celebration of the club, and presented him with a new television set. Joe humbly accepted and was so utterly confused with emotion and pride that all he could mutter was an appreciative "thanks boys." I've never seen a more highly-elated man, not in appreciation of the TV set, but for the thought behind the presentation. Another surprise came off when the quartermaster, Lumen Norris, was rewarded with the presentation of a life-time membership card in the Veterans of Foreign Wars for his outstanding work with the club. Yes, truly, it's the little things like these that cement the bonds of friendship and make life worth living. And young men and women, let this be a lesson to you that your work doesn't go unobserved by your employers, even though you think they don't watch you. You are rewarded on your merits, and the last paragraph I wrote proves my point.

Oh yes, it's Little League time again folks, even though the weather doesn't indicate it. Well anyway, you parents who have boys eligible to play in the local circuit are invited to a meeting to be held Sunday in the Fire Hall. I personally feel this organization has helped many of our younger boys to keep out of trouble and to learn good sportsmanship, so let's get behind them again this year and get off to a good start. And don't forget the big Minstrel show next Thursday and Friday nights. It'll do your heart good to go and enjoy the fun. And it'll also do your heart good to patronize the Mission Bazaar at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary next Thursday from 4 to 6.

Grand Jury Indicts George Gingell On Murder Charge

George W. Gingell, 32, Fairfield R.D., was indicted by an Adams County grand jury Monday afternoon on a charge of murdering Lee Wayne Mainer, 32, Blue Ridge Summit, a native of Spartansburg, S. C.

Gingell is accused of shooting Mainer with a .410 gauge shotgun early on the morning of Mar. 24 at the Tract Inn parking lot near the Maryland line south of Fairfield on the Tract Rd. Mainer, badly wounded, with more than 60 of 180 pellets of the shotgun shell striking him, was taken to the Warner Hospital after the incident and died there on the morning of March 25.

Gingell has been in the Adams County jail since that time on the murder charge.

Thurmont Youths Get Jail Terms

Marvin Charles Spurlock and Albert Lee Sauble, both of Thurmont, were sentenced to six months in the Adams County jail Monday morning after pleading guilty to charges of larceny of hub caps and fender skirts from cars.

The court, after learning that this was the first time the pair had been "in trouble," held that they would be eligible for parole in 15 days if they have made restitution and paid the costs within that time, and added that the six-month sentence was imposed "to break up this practice of stealing hub caps and fender skirts. The court is determined to break it up."

Noted Clown Is Star Of Television Show Sunday

Emmett Kelly, the celebrated Ringling Bros. circus clown, makes his television dramatic debut on Sunday, Apr. 22, in the Telephone Time production of "Captain from Kopenick." This comedy, dramatized from a story by John Nesbitt, will be the third in the Bell System's new television series and will be seen over the CBS-TV network at 6 p. m.

In "Captain from Kopenick," Kelly plays the part of Willie Voigt, a German tramp who turned the German military system upside down by posing as a German officer. This will be Kelly's first speaking part on television.

In "Captain from Kopenick," Kelly, as Willie Voigt, wanted a passport, which was denied him by the city officials. He tried to buy one at a pawnshop, but the pawnbroker sold him a German captain's uniform instead. When Willie found soldiers saluting him on the street he decided to get his passport on his own authority. Posing as an editor, he descended on the city hall and demanded all the blank passports. When he found there were none, he took the city treasury instead, "for an accounting." For days the German army searched for the bogus captain, and then Willie went back to the city hall and swapped the treasury for the passport he wanted in the first place.

Mount Sinks Twice In Conference Baseball Games

Mt. St. Mary's dropped both ends of a Mason-Dixon Conference baseball doubleheader to Washington College at Emmitsburg Monday afternoon by scores of 11-2 and 10-7.

Herm Schmidt, Washington third baseman, had a field day as he drove in six runs in the two games with six hits in eight trips to the plate. In the opening game he smacked two triples and in the second contest a triple and a homerun.

Denny Shuck got the Mount team off to a good start in the first game with a homerun but Schmidt's triple put Washington ahead 2-1 in the third inning. His triple in the third frame featured a four-run rally. The Sho'men pounded over five tallies in the last inning of the seven-inning affair to ice the decision. Sam Spicer homered for the visitors in that frame.

George Proferes started on the mound for the Mountaineers but gave away to Maroney during the four-run uprising in the fourth inning.

Schmidt got Washington off to a fast start in the free-scoring second game with a homerun in the first inning.

The twin setback dropped the Mountaineers to 1-3 in conference play and 2-3 for the entire season. Washington is 3-1 in the league and 3-2 for the season.

Coach Jim Phelan's Mount squad plays at Western Maryland Friday and is host to Catholic U. Saturday.

Play At College Sunday And Monday

The Sock and Buskin Dramatic Society of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, will present "The Sound of Hunting" by Harry Brown, in Flynn Hall, on the college campus April 22-23. The production is under the direction of Rev. John J. McGovern, moderator of the dramatic society.

It is a war story dealing with the activities of eight American soldiers stranded in a small farmhouse in Cassino, Italy. The production was successful on the Broadway stage and later as a movie, under the title "Eight Iron Men."

Lions Club Would Kill By-pass Plans

Representatives of the State Roads Commission are expected to meet in the near future with a committee from the Emmitsburg Lions Club which has voiced opposition to the proposed by-pass of this town with a new Route 15.

The committee, appointed at a recent Lions Club meeting, has written to District Engineer T. G. Mohler, of the Roads Commission asking a conference with the proper commission officials concerning the location of the proposed by-pass.

Mr. Mohler reports he has forwarded the letter to the Baltimore office of the commission and it is presumed a hearing will be granted.

According to reports, new U. S. Route 15, scheduled to become a dual lane highway, would by-pass Emmitsburg to the east under present tentative plans, which would mean bridging of Maryland Route 97 (formerly Route 32) which is the Taneytown-Emmitsburg road.

A member of the Lions committee said it was understood the new road would be "non-commercial"—which would prevent businesses affected by the elimination of U. S. 15 through Emmitsburg from relocating along the proposed by-pass. That was objectionable, he indicated.

There was the feeling at the Lions meeting it was reported, that the by-pass would be generally detrimental to business interests of the town since through traffic would no longer pass through the town.

The committee made the suggestion that possibly present Rt. 15 through Emmitsburg could be retained as the southbound lane of the major highway and only one lane—for northbound traffic—built in the by-pass. That would mean a considerable savings in funds, he said.

After meeting with commission representatives and receiving information concerning the proposed by-pass plans, the committee would seek to interest other organizations in the town in joining the Lions in a stand on the matter, it was stated. Some interest has already been expressed by other groups, it was reported. "The committee is composed of Herbert W. Roger, George R. Sanders, Charles R. Fuss and Clarence G. Frailey."

The State Roads Commission's plans are to by-pass Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Lewistown with a new U. S. 15 during the 12-year road program. Bids have been received on a bridge on the Thurmont by-pass but as far as is known, no rights-of-way have been negotiated as yet here.

There are reports that the by-pass plans are to cut behind St. Joseph College in an arc to the east, bridging Maryland 97 and reconnecting with 15 north of the town near Curtis Topper's. It is considered unlikely, because of the terrain and the development of the town, that the by-pass would go west of Emmitsburg.

Ten miles of the first lane of dual U. S. 15 from Tuscarora Creek north of Frederick to the Pennsylvania line is scheduled to be built in the first four years of the commission's 12-year program and the remaining 10 miles in the second four years. Construction of the second lane using present lane where possible, is listed for the last four-year period.

No Extension Of Poster Contest

Inquiries have been received concerning the extension of the deadline for entries in the Emmitsburg Bi-centennial Cachet Contest. The Cachet Committee states that all entries must be in by midnight, May 31, to be eligible for one of the 13 cash prizes to be awarded.

There have been many inquiries for copies of the contest rules. Students at Emmitsburg schools and colleges may obtain printed copies through their teachers or members of the faculty. Members of the faculty may obtain copies by phoning Phil Sharpe, HU. 7-5921. Others who are not students, may obtain one by dropping a postcard request to Phil Sharpe, Emmitsburg.

You may submit as many entries as you desire, but do not delay. Only less than seven weeks are left. You may win the $25 first prize.

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A PATIO LOUVER SCREEN

A louver type screen is attractive and affords privacy in the patio, garden, or carport. Use treated or naturally decay resistant 4 by 4's for posts. Use 2 by 4's for the rails and 1 by 6's for the louvers. Set posts in concrete below the frost line. Spans between posts should not be greater than 6 to 7 feet. With dado joints 3/4-inch deep fasten rails to posts and toenail with 10-penny galvanized nails. Place bottom rails 2 feet above the ground. Bevel the edges of the louvers at a 45-degree angle. Locate louvers at a 45-degree angle to the edges of the rails, spaced as shown, and attach with 8-penny galvanized nails. Coat screen with clear wood preservative. Paint or leave natural. To vary the pattern install louvers horizontally.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Focus On Children

In the face of the current agitation over juvenile delinquency, the report issued recently by the Children's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare takes on special significance.

Published on the 20th anniversary of the passage of the Social Security Act, the report discloses that the population of the United States now includes 12 million more children than it did in 1935. Furthermore, the report shows that the present population includes a much greater proportion of children in the 5-9 and under 5 years groups than it did twenty years ago.

The report notes that since 1935 there has been an increasing acceptance of health as a positive goal. Health has come to be understood as a state of complete physical, mental, and social well-being and not merely as the absence of disease or infirmity.

In the two decades since 1935, a number of dramatic advances have been registered in the care of infants and children. Infant mortality has dropped 50 percent during the past twenty years.

New technical developments in medical and related fields have cut mortality among children from infectious diseases. An improved vaccine has been a major factor in eliminating whooping cough as a public health problem. The advent of a vaccine against polio promises to accomplish similar results with infantile paralysis.

Though much has been accomplished in the last twenty years, workers in all fields bearing on the health of children realize that many needs must still be met. It appears to the leaders in the field that future progress must proceed simultaneously along three paths: research in the development of new techniques; the spread of available services to population groups not now being served; and increased depth of service to those already being served.

The child welfare worker of today is able to offer more skillful help than children in trouble got twenty years ago. But a great deal of research remains to be done in order to determine the relationship of the emotional and social development of children to mental illness in later life. More needs to be known, also, about the various personality factors and adverse community pressures which may lead to delinquent behavior in children and adolescents.

Try Your Zoo for Exciting Animal Shots

"TIGER"—by Joseph Janney Steinmetz, Sarasota, Florida. Made with a Graphic 35 at 1/100 sec., f/11.

ANIMALS in zoos offer a real source of exciting pictures, and the animals can't get away from you—or at you!

If you make it a point to visit the zoo during feeding time or performance times, your pictures will be even more interesting, according to T. T. Holden, photo director of Graflex, Inc., Rochester, N. Y. This tiger, taken by noted photographer Joseph Janney Steinmetz with the new Graphic 35, was shot at the winter quarters of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus in Sarasota, Florida.

The Graphic 35 is ideally suited to animal photography since its push-button focusing system permits you to stay in focus on a moving subject and release the shutter without changing hand positions.

Flash fill-in on your camera will also light up dark areas such as the inside of a tiger's mouth if you are lucky enough to catch a yawn or growl!

This tiger picture is interesting because the bars lend an air of threat to the animal. The element of danger is highlighted. Less ferocious animals might better be shot with bars not in view.

Many other photos can be taken in zoos. Children's reactions to various animals make fascinating pictures—bringing together the two most popular photo subjects.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

They Travel "In Class"

Our high school correspondent says that Economics and Geography students are going in for "grass roots" studying.

They're going to charter buses and take off on Operation See-For-Yourself—have a ten-day look at some of the things they've been studying about.

As I remember, it was hard to keep your mind on schoolbooks at this time of year. Today's kids can give in to that old urge to bust out of the classroom—with a clear conscience. Wish they'd take me along.

From where I sit, it doesn't hurt us adults, either, to get out and see how the rest of the country lives. We find the "typical American" doing everything from herding cattle to flying planes... with everything from steak to chowder for his favorite dish... everything from beer to butter-milk for his favorite beverage. And the more we study our differences the more we learn how alike everyone is underneath.

Walker Would Aid District Farmers

Rockville, Md.—A congressman could serve his constituents in the Sixth District if he were really concerned with their problems, Grahame Walker declared recently. Walker is candidate for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Sixth District.

Speaking with a group of supporters in Rockville, Walker scored the lack of interest shown by the Republican incumbent in the affairs of this District. "You would think that Mr. Hyde considers the Sixth District made up of a small group of Montgomery County business friends!" Walker charged.

Walker listed problems which he had discussed in his two-week visit in Frederick, Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties. These are "typical needs a Congressman must work hard for."

"Certainly our family-size farms should receive more consideration from the federal government."

"The entire Sixth District would profit if the Small Business Administration were allowed adequate funds," he stated. "For example, all businesses in Garrett would benefit if the men who own tourist accommodations were encouraged to develop their business."

"I would like to see a highway through Washington county to the historic battlefield section around Sharpsburg."

"An increase of federal research into air pollution would help attract industry to the Cumberland area."

To increase opportunities in Allegany and Garrett counties, Walker said that he would push legislation for expanded research into new uses for coal — legislation which "so far has failed."

"All these problems are part of my deep concern for peace and prosperity."

Final Plans For Road-e-O Being Mapped Out

Final arrangements for the Third Annual Teen-Age Road-E-O have been completed. This event, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, is designed to give the young motorists an opportunity to prove and improve their driving habits and attitudes. Any teen-age boy or girl, without a moving traffic violation within the last six months, and who will not have reached 20 years of age by August, and has a driver's permit is encouraged to enter this event.

Applications are available at the following high schools: Frederick, Middletown, Walkersville, Thurmont, Emmitsburg, Brunswick, Lincoln, St. Johns, and St. Joseph's of Emmitsburg. A written test of driving knowledge will be given at these schools sometime prior to April 25th. Interested parties should contact their faculty advisors as to the correct date.

Those successfully passing this test will then be required to drive over an obstacle course in the rear of the Frederick High School on Sunday, May 13 beginning at 2 P. M. Judging will be based on performances in four categories: steering, driving over a straight course, maneuverability in passing, and parking. Judges will include two Maryland State Police and two Frederick City Police.

Every contestant participating in the Teen-Age-Road-E-O will receive a prize. The three top entrants will be awarded trophies. The winner will then participate in state competition and the winner of the state finals will compete on a national level at Washington, D. C. The three top national awards will be scholarships totaling $3000.

For the past two years, a member of the Middletown High School has captured first place in the local Jaycee contest. The 1955 top winner was Duane A. House.

Weeding Easy—If Kept After

An ounce of prevention is worth many hours of back breaking weeding in your lawn. A small amount of continuous effort in April and May will provide that ounce of prevention and let you enjoy your yard.

If you have followed the steps for a quality lawn—made a soil analysis, picked a high quality mixture of permanent grasses, including no less than 40 per cent Kentucky bluegrass, prepared a seedbed, fertilized and filled in sink spots—you have an investment well worth protecting.

There are many good weed killers on the market and most of them are both easy and safe to apply. Science has worked well for the lawn owner and produced not only weed killers which prevent weeds from coming in, but also weed killers selective enough to work without harming Kentucky bluegrass, bent and fine fescues. This is because most weeds have broad leaves while the quality grasses do not.

The first great discoveries were in the post-emergence group, still the most used. The classic example is 2-4 D, the selective broad-leaf killer. More recently the scientists have come up with phenyl mercuric acetate and potassium cyanate for crabgrass, PMA, available dry or in spray and more effective early in the season will eliminate crabgrass if applied in three treatments, one a week, as crabgrass starts, usually about May 1 and thereafter.

Potassium cyanate contributes some potash fertility, but may scorch good grasses easier. Butyl ureas and methyl arsonates are additional annual weed killers, showing promise but not yet widely proven.

While lead arsenate is poisonous, if it is mixed at high rates in certain soils, it will not only inhibit crabgrass germination, but will also grub-proof the lawn for years.

Trains To Be Lighted At All Times

The railroads throughout the nation have all adopted the program that the headlights on the front of all trains will be displayed by day and night.

At a meeting of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Mr. Charles Adler Jr., a member of the Commission and nationally known inventor stated that some of the 1957 automobiles will be equipped with four headlights for night driving with one set of two for the high beam and the other set of two for the low or passing beam.

To make the passenger cars more conspicuous to drivers and pedestrians alike, Mr. Adler is driving with the headlights of his car on in the day time to gather data on pedestrian and other driver reaction to this more conspicuous appearance, the same as the railroads. This was with the ultimate view of Mr. Adler designing an additional set of headlights with optical characteristics that would be suitable for day time conspicuity.

Mr. Adler will report his findings in 30 days to a meeting of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

This finding may result in a revolutionary change in the use of the headlights on the Nation's 60 million automobiles, as apparently the railroads have found this device highly successful in curtailing accidents.

Homemakers' Advisor Named

Miss Evelyn Miller, state supervisor of home economics education, assumed the office of state adviser of the Maryland Assn. of Future Homemakers of America during its annual meeting at St. Joseph College last Saturday. Miss Miller succeeds Miss M. Gladys Dickerson, supervisor of home economics in Prince George's County.

State president of FHA for 1956-57 is Miss Shirley Fleagle, Thurmont High School. Miss Jean Luckenbaugh, Taneytown High School, will serve as state first vice president.

Present at the meeting was Miss Marguerite Scruggs of the U. S. Dept. of Health, Education,

Tax Burden Is Getting Heavier

The tax burden (local, state, and Federal) of the population of the United States, has grown faster than the people's ability to produce, a study by the National Assn. of Manufacturers reveals. Since 1929 this burden has increased from about 10 per cent to about 25 per cent of the value of our production. Put another way, on the average, one day's labor out of four is now for the support of government, compared to only one day in 10 in 1929.

Government receipts, no matter how designated or how charged are taxes on the nation's total output, the NAM said. This output—gross national product—is the final market value of all the goods and services produced by the people. The tax on that output is, in the last analysis, an assessment against the people's productive effort.

A temporary increase in the tax burden to wage a major war is understandable, the NAM study pointed out, but the decrease in that burden after World War II was meager and short-lived. The percentage of gross national production now being used to support governmental operations is again at wartime levels.

and Welfare, and national FHA adviser.

Members of the home economics department of St. Joseph College played host during the day's activities. The meeting was followed by a tour of the Gettysburg Battlefield.

HOGAN'S ALLEY

BY PAT HOGAN

If A LITTLE nonsense now and then is relished by the best of men Then "Lucy" should be loved by all Who like to watch that bouncing Ball!

LUCILLE BALL, whose TV show after five years still hits one or two on the national ratings, was asked how she and Desi Arnaz managed to keep up the pace of a weekly show.

Lucille Ball
Desi plays golf every day of our long week-end. I play with the children, go shopping or cook. We play a fast pace so that we can work one."

ALFRED HITCHCOCK, who enjoys his TV series, "Alfred Hitchcock Presents," as much as his most avid fan, is a little saddened because the program hasn't given him an opportunity to use "The McGuffin."

Mr. Hitchcock likes this definition of "The McGuffin": Two strangers sharing a compartment on a train engage in conversation. The first man asks what the oddly shaped piece of luggage on the rack above his head is. The second man tells him it's a "McGuffin."

"What's a 'McGuffin?'" the first man asks. It's a device for trapping lions in the Adirondack Mountains in New York he is told. The first man exclaims, "But there are no lions in the Adirondacks!" Second man: "Then, that's no McGuffin!"

FRANCES TROCAINE, program manager of CBS Television's "What's My Line?" selects the guests with strange occupations, gets the panel to the studio on time and meets all of the "mystery" celebrities as well.

But one of her most important functions is that of "soother," calming the pre-show jitters of mystery and regular guests alike.

However, as for herself, it's a different story, even when she's asked merely to strike a pose so the cameraman can align his shots. "I die a thousand deaths," she admits, shuddering at the thought. "Even though no one is watching, I squirm and blush and perspire and wring my hands. I don't know what I'd ever do if I had to appear on television."

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Wageworkers and Bombing

Babson Park, Mass., April 19, 1956.—In considering this topic, there are several important factors which must be weighed by both employers and wage-workers. One of the first of these is location. In addition to the question of whether it is a good place to live, a location is either favorable or unfavorable depending upon its suitability for the industry in which you are engaged. If the commodity to be produced is bulky and heavy, accessibility, through proximity or ample transportation, is necessary.

Location And Capital
A successful steel mill's LOCATION is determined primarily by its accessibility to the raw material. Transportation by rail and water is highly essential. Another factor in determining an ideal location for an industrial plant is a MARKET for the finished product. Heavy products are therefore excluded from some markets by consideration of "what-the-traffic-will-bear." A carload of silk can be shipped much farther than a carload of steel, since the rate cost per unit would be much less for silk. This would give it a larger market. Therefore, accessibility to both the raw product and the market for the finished goods is very important in determining an ideal location for a successful enterprise.

Another factor in plant location is CAPITAL (money). In many industries, thousands of dollars must be invested in order to employ one worker. Millions of dollars must be invested to construct a steel mill. Were it not for capital, we could not have ample railroads and airplanes, or tall office buildings, or bridges to span large rivers. We would still be in the horse-and-buggy stage. Capital is what makes it possible for 63,000-000 workers to be employed at wages hitherto undreamed of.

The United States is the only nation in which this utopian condition exists.

Importance Of Management

An ample, congenial labor supply is highly essential for a good industrial plant location. Manufacturers couldn't do anything without labor. And labor could not be employed by the millions without a large accumulation of capital. Capital depends on labor and labor depends on capital: what harms one, harms both. If you are working in a place where the above factors are generally favorable, the next important factor is MANAGEMENT. A manager's functions are to organize, deputize, supervise, and vitalize the organization.

In summary, an industrial plant, to have a good chance of being successful, must enjoy these five factors:—materials, market, money, men, and management. Sometimes I think that management is the most important of all. Furthermore, if you are an employee, remember that the success of the management depends upon you and the other wageworkers.

Possibility Of World War III

I am not advising any worker to change the place where he is now working for fear of World War III. I forecast that such a war is not coming at once, and may not come for some time,—until after you are retired and have a good home in the South or in California. But I do advise young persons who are just entering industry to avoid certain big cities, some of which are sure to be laid waste in the event of atomic attack. This means that small communities, some miles distant from big vulnerable industrial cities, should be preferred by those who have not already set their "roots" elsewhere.

Most large corporations are now building auxiliary plants in such smaller safer cities and towns. Therefore, when you decide what industry you are best fitted for, and what company you wish to work for, ask the employment manager to give you a job in a small community. This especially applies to prospective graduates of high schools and colleges which are now being visited by employment managers seeking good men and women to join their organizations.

Your Personal
Health

"Music Hath Charms . . ."

" . . . to soothe the savage breast, to soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak." William Congreve wrote those words more than 300 years ago. He wouldn't be surprised to learn that today music has become medicine. It is prescribed as part of the treatment of many different illnesses.

Although rarely a cure in itself, music is included in the total treatment in many mental hospitals. It can provide enjoyment, self-expression, an outlet for the emotions, and is, especially helpful in treating those with inferiority problems.

Learning to play a musical instrument is often prescribed for the physically handicapped, to help develop stricken muscles and rediscover the necessary sense of rhythm in their use. Music and the playing of musical instruments have been used effectively with the blind, with those afflicted with cerebral palsy, polio, heart troubles, speech disorders, and even with the deaf.

The sound of music played before general anesthesia is given, or during local and spinal anesthesia, helps to soothe patients facing operations.

These new developments in the use of music in hospitals have brought into being a new career—that of the music therapist. Already one university is offering a degree in this specialty which combines an interest in music, medicine, and teaching. The music therapist is a kind of musical pharmacist. The physician, psychiatrist, or psychologist prescribes for his patient and the therapist then mixes the "ingredients" of music called for in the specific case.

The music therapist must be a Jack or Jill of many trades. In addition to having sound musical training, he must be able to work with individual patients, organize different music groups, perform for patients, and even repair broken instruments. Those who have gone into the work find great satisfaction in using the charms of music to help the sick along the road to recovery.

Social Security

Social security reports are due in April from housewives in Frederick County who employ domestic workers, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown district office, Social Security Administration. Housewives are required to make these reports during April on household workers paid as much as $50 in cash wages in January, February, and March. This is the fifth quarterly report due since the new law covered household employees without regard to the number of days worked. Reports are sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue at Baltimore.

Work of cooks, maids, housekeepers, gardeners, and other workers in a private household counts toward eligibility for retirement or death payments under old-age and survivors insurance.

Vaccination Against "Brain Washing"

An official U. S. Army study has been made of the experiences and behavior of 4,000 American soldiers who were captured and held prisoners by the Chinese Communists in North Korea. The study reveals a number of vitally important facts related to the future security of our nation. One fact is that the Communists, now at work zealously in every nation of the world, have been far ahead of America in the science of thought-shaping. America may now be catching up — but slowly.

One out of every three Americans held prisoner by the Communists yielded, to a serious degree, to the clever Communist "brain washing" conducted in the prison camps. Major William E. Mayer, Army psychiatrist who made an exhaustive study of 1,000 prisoner-of-war cases, concluded that the two basic deficiencies in the Americans who yielded were (1) the lack of religious convictions; and (2) the lack of understanding of the American political and economic system.

Careful Study Made

Major Mayer personally interviewed 200 American soldiers whom the Reds released after the Korean fighting ceased. He studied all official and unofficial interviews, interrogations, and statements of an additional 800 American ex-prisoners in Korea. One third of all the prisoners freely admitted that as a result of the "brain washing" conducted by Communist lecturers and "educators" in the prison camps they became "progressives" — either sympathizers or collaborators of the Communists.

"Even granting that two thirds of the men remained staunchly loyal Americans," Major Mayer said in an interview with U. S. News & World Report, "still the fact that so many yielded to the degree that they did presents a problem of fantastic proportions and should cause searching self-examination by all Americans, both in and out of uniform." The armed services now are busily engaged in tackling the problem. In the indoctrination branches service men are learning the fundamental facts about America — its history, its unique political and economic system; and the facts about Communism and its twin, Socialism.

Didn't Understand System

"A returning prisoner often made reference to the fact," related Major Mayer, "that he was given by the Communists a very intensive education about America, a Communist viewpoint of history which evidently emphasized every possible defect in our development and our attitudes and the soldier would confess that his own knowledge of the American system — of our history, our politics, our economics — was insufficient to enable him to refute this Communist version, even in his own mind."

Concerning formal education in American schools, Major Mayer said: "It doesn't matter a bit how much mathematics or wood working or punch-press operating or hot-rod building we teach in the schools; if we fail to teach the duties and responsibilities of citizenship primarily, then, in my opinion, education is not meeting the first requirement of a democratic society."

We Are Improving

Many American schools in recent years have accepted this responsibility. The Communist and Socialist "brain washers" are at work in America subtly tearing down and undermining the confidence of American youth in the basic principles of our great system. Their propaganda is everywhere. A wide-spread demand among teachers and administrators for suitable American citizenship educational material led to the development by the National Education Program of our new integrated film series, "The American Adventure," and effective techniques for using these films in the classrooms of America. The new series is being enthusiastically received.

Religious conviction was the other basic character requirement which Major Mayer's studies found to be deficient in too many American soldiers. "A really convinced religious

BRIGHTER LIVING

By Jan Reynolds

EVERYBODY CAN'T BE A WINNER, but card players or scribble fans will all have a better chance, and will enjoy the game more with proper light. The popular new adjustable hanging lamp is an easy answer, and a decorative one as well. If you use a game table frequently, try making it a permanent part of your room's decor, ready for use at any time, and install one of these adjustable shaded lamps over the table. These lamps move up and down on a pulley-type of mechanism. Of if you want a lamp to do double-duty, use the kind that fits against the wall on an L-shaped bracket. That type, too, moves up and down, as well as pulling out from the wall. This lamp can be used by the living room "easy chair", and pulled out from the wall to light a game table.

IT'S NOT TOO SOON to start planning now to highlight the grounds around your home with decorative outdoor lighting for spring and summer enjoyment. It's a good idea to plan on paper just how you can best light your yard, and your electrical dealer can give you an estimate on cost requirements. Today, there are so many excellent types of fixtures for outdoor use — the spotlight for pointing up the beauty of spring blossoms, the floodlight for practical use as well as for the attractiveness it adds outdoors. Too, there are wonderful fixtures that look much like the lamps you might use inside your house. They come equipped with sharp prongs, which poke down into the ground, and you can move them from place to place, if you wish.

KEEP IN MIND the many uses of infrared lamps when you begin to plan your spring cleaning. When days are damp from those spring showers, use them for drying out closets, and musty basements. Hurry along wash-drying. Take out garden-acquired "kinks" by using the infrared bulb on sore muscles. Quickly defrost your freezer or refrigerator with one of these handy bulbs.

MURAL-PANEL WALLPAPER is becoming more and more popular. It's wonderful decorator effects can be pointed up with a simple, easy-to-install cornice. If you have one wall covered in a scenic wallpaper, build the cornice from wall-to-wall. It should project about six inches away from the wall, and a good depth is about eight or nine inches. It can be made of quarter-inch plywood. Light the underside of the cornice with fluorescent tubes to extend the entire width of the cornice. You will find this not only a lovely addition to your room from a beauty-only point of view, but it will give you excellent auxiliary lighting. WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Probably most vital decision that will come out of present Congressional session will be action on so-called Bricker amendment to U. S. Constitution.

Senate Judiciary Committee has approved. Yet this committee action is not decisive because in February 1954, despite strong administration opposition, measure failed by just one vote of getting required two-thirds majority.

But unless the Bricker amendment is passed it is possible that many Americans now living will see the day when their property is confiscated; may even find themselves hustled out of the country to stand trial before some foreign court.

Herein lies seriousness of situation. Article VI of the U. S. Constitution provides that treaties are the supreme law of the land, and judges are bound by the provisions of treaties, Constitution or local state laws notwithstanding.

Already in several instances the U. S. Supreme Court has ruled itself powerless to step over the provisions of a treaty, regardless of the injury suffered by an American citizen.

And to make the situation even more fraught with danger, some courts have already taken the stand that executive agreements are equally as binding.

The Bricker amendment would provide that any part of a treaty or agreement in conflict with the U. S. Constitution shall be without force or effect.

© National Federation of Independent Business

When the Founding Fathers forged the Constitution, they never visualized United Nations, just as a majority of U. S. citizens today do not fully realize the many sly tentacles that have extended from under respectable sounding label of United Nations.

And it is these many lunatic fringe activities of U. N. which are loaded with dynamite for U. S. citizens without the protection that would be afforded some measure comparable to Bricker amendment.

For example, U. N. has promoted the setting up of an International Court which would permit a court of foreigners to drag a citizen abroad to try and convict with no recourse to the courts of his native land.

So far, the U. S. has not entered this agreement by executive fiat, largely because observance of the debate aroused by the Bricker amendment.

On several occasions, nation's independent businessmen who comprise the membership of the National Federation of Independent Business have by overwhelming majorities voted in favor of Bricker amendment.

Anyone who doubts the seriousness of the situation has only to consider that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, known as UNESCO, has published booklets advising American school teachers to rid children of any feeling of love or loyalty for their country, condemning such feelings as belonging to "the narrow family spirit." Unless Bricker amendment is passed, this could become compulsory teaching in U. S. schools. Joe Stalin, when he pauses to wipe sweat off his brow, must chuckle over this.

MAKE A KITCHEN UTILITY TABLE

A kitchen utility table can double in the nursery.
Make dowel joints and edge glue two 1 by 12-inch boards for the top and two 1 by 10-inch boards for the shelf. Make the legs and top rails of 2 by 2-inch lumber. Bore a hole for a caster in the bottom end of each leg.
Bore offset holes 3/4 inch in diameter and 1 inch deep in each leg, as shown, and matching holes in the ends of the rails. Bore holes 3/4 inch in diameter and 1/2 inch deep in the legs where the shelf will be joined, slightly offset so the screws will by-pass each other.

One of the saddest sounds in the out-of-doors is a "Kertchoo!" Colds are never much fun anywhere, but when a man saves his two weeks for that time of the year when the fish are madly hungry or the woods abound with game, the common cold can be as welcome as a bad bird's nest just when the bass start to feed.

Many folks seem to be under the impression that colds, like the weather, are a good conversation piece, but there isn't much you can do about them. Well, doctors still haven't found a sure cure for colds, but there are lots of things you can do—and avoid doing—to protect yourself against catching cold in the first place. In these cold, damp months, especially, it would be wise to follow these basic rules for keeping fit:

- (1) A proper diet, which includes the "basic seven" grouping of leafy, green, and yellow vegetables; citrus fruits, tomatoes or raw cabbage; potatoes, other vegetables and fruits; 1 1/2 pints of milk daily; meat, fish, poultry, eggs or legumes; bread, flour and cereals; and butter or margarine.
- (2) Regularity of elimination.
- (3) Sufficient sleep and rest.
- (4) Recreation.
- (5) Avoid infection—stay away from crowds when epidemics strike; wash hands before eating; prevent spread of germs by washing cuts, scratches and minor bruises with a disinfectant, then cover with a gauze pad.
- (6) Dress according to the weather.
- (8) Visit your doctor at least once a year.

Out in the field, probably the most important practical measure you can take to fight off the respiratory germs and viruses that cause colds and sore throats is to dress properly. To help your body preserve its heat, and to prevent sudden chills, keep these things in mind: Wear several layers of porous wool and an outside covering of closely woven wind-repellent cotton or animal hide. Keep out of the wind whenever possible, and try to stand on dry surfaces.

According to the Red Cross, an outdoorsman is more likely to catch cold after having wet feet than at any other time. So it's a good idea to always carry an extra pair of socks with you when afield.

Selective Service
Reminder

Colonel Henry C. Stanwood, State Director of the Maryland Selective Service System, has issued a reminder that the program providing for enlistment of certain persons with critical skills in the Ready Reserve of the Armed Forces has been launched, and that it is in operation in this State. Registrants selected for enlistment by the local boards are required to perform an initial period of active duty for training of three to six months plus 7 1/2 years of training duty in either the Ready or Standby Reserve of the Armed Forces.

Under this particular program which resulted from the amended Reserve Forces Act, a Selective Service registrant in Class 1-A who believes he possesses a critical skill which is being utilized in a critical defense-supporting industry or in a research activity affecting national defense, may file a written request with his local board that he be accepted for enlistment in a unit of the Ready Reserve.

Col. Stanwood said applicants who are determined acceptable, after having made application to a Selective Service board, will be so notified and will be given 30 days to enlist in a unit of the Ready Reserve. Failure to so enlist will have the effect of cancellation of the approval, and the person will be processed for induction in the normal manner.

Col. Stanwood emphasized that a person so enlisted will be deferred from induction as long as he continues to serve satisfactorily in the Reserve program, and upon completing the eight-year enlistment, he will become exempt from further liability for induction, except in the event of an emergency.

A smoothly functioning economy is dependent on many factors. One is a plentiful supply of good clean water for household and industrial use. My Joint Resolution providing for enlarging the duties of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin to include a comprehensive plan for the Potomac Valley is another step in the development of economically healthful communities.

Importance of a pollution survey of the Potomac River between Luke Oldtown is so great that I have asked the U. S. Public Health Service to give immediate attention to the project. Conditions in that area are better than in the past, but I believe it essential for us to have a report on present problems and an indication of what remains to be done.

I have been officially advised by the General Services Administration that building sites in or near Brunswick are being considered for the proposed Geological Survey Building. The longer I have worked on the problem of location of the new building, the more impressed I am with the wisdom of the proposal. The new building will take care of Survey activities now housed in 16 separate buildings.

"Serving You Since '22"
GETTYSBURG, PA.

Though not on the best seller list, a recent report of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, of which I am privileged to be a member, has already gained wide popularity. This report is entitled "The Communist Party of the United States of America—What It Is—How It Works." To those who minimize the scope of the communist conspiracy — to those who have been duped by the false platitudes of communism—to all Americans seeking to safeguard our bastion of freedom—this publication, reflecting as it does careful documentation, is sincerely recommended.

The opening paragraph, in terse terms, sets the theme of this very helpful booklet. It reads—"Founded in September 1919, the Communist Party of the United States of America is an organization unique in American history. It is not a true political party and differs fundamentally from all political parties in this country. It is in fact a Russian-inspired, Moscow-dominated, anti-American, quasi-military conspiracy against our Government, our ideals, and our freedoms."

Unlike the two major American political parties in which organization and discipline often leave much to be desired, the Communist Party, even within our borders, is a coordinated network of regimented agents, fully versed in the jargon, treachery and objectives of the international Communist movement — "world conquest and more specifically the destruction of the American government..." As this Internal Security Subcommittee report states, "Since the Communist Party, USA, is in fact simply the American branch of the Russian Communist Party, it follows faithfully the conspiratorial pattern laid down by its parent body."

The report continues — "The Communist Party functions at all times of the year, every day of the week, and at all hours of the day. It is a full-time organization which is not restricted to election campaigns. It persistently seeks to permeate every phase of American life for its own subversive purpose. Communist agents may be found wherever and whenever there is an opportunity for Communist propaganda or the promotion of civil strife, whether it be the factory, the union, the church, the school, or the neighborhood. * * * Internally it thrives upon promoting clashes: Between employer and employee, landlord and tenant white and Negro, native born and foreigner, Catholic, Protestant and Jew; between the American people and their government, and within every non-Communist organization."

Truly, this is "A Handbook for Americans" — for all Americans to read.

It has been definitely established that cockroaches can spread disease germs to pets.

Present for the occasion as honored guests were Edward W. Tatman, commander of the Dept. of Maryland; Roy C. Gamber, quartermaster-adjudant of the Dept. of Maryland and John F. Marsh, commander of District 7, VFW.

Lumen F. Norris was toastmaster for the tenth anniversary program and introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Rev. Fr. Vincent G. Heary, C.M. Father Heary's interesting and informative talk was greatly appreciated by all those present.

Commander Thomas C. Harbaugh outlined the present community services the group sponsors and named these among others: Free 24-hour ambulance service; hospital beds and wheel chairs, annual Americanism essay contest; annual school children's Christmas treat; maintenance and supervision of the local playground; sponsors March of Dimes locally and the annual Easter egg hunt for children.

Paul F. Conway gave a brief resume of the history of the local post.

Specially-honored guest present was Joseph E. Elder, who was presented a 21" television set for his faithful services to the club during the past decade. Adjutant Lumen Norris was also honored by the presentation of a lifetime membership card in the national organization. The group was served an appetizing meal of baked stuffed cornish hen.

State Traffic Fatalities Total Over 500 Again

Motor vehicle traffic accidents continued to claim their more than 500 annual victims during 1955—the summary of motor vehicle traffic accidents in the State of Maryland prepared by the Central Accident Records Bureau of the Maryland State Police disclosed—518 died in traffic accidents on the streets and highways of Maryland during 1955 as compared with 522 killed during 1954, and 524 killed during 1953.

The greatest single violation during 1955 was reckless driving—18,053 violations of this nature were indicated. Speed, with 4378 violations indicated, was next, followed by failure to grant right-of-way, 4334; drinking, 1966 violations, and failure to keep right of center of road with 1549 violations indicated.

Altogether there were 38,217 motor vehicle accidents in Maryland in 1955—451 were fatal accidents—11,581 were non-fatal injury accidents, and 26,185 resulted in damage to property only.

During 1954, the accident total was 34,203, but the number of persons killed amounted to 522. During 1955—16,807 persons were injured in automobile accidents as compared with 14,878 during the previous year. This represented an increase of approximately 2000 in the number of severe accidents.

The greatest number of accidents occurred to drivers between the ages of 25 and 34 years. The 1955 summary shows that this group totaled 21,095—the next highest age group was 35 to 44 with 15,302. Ninety-nine drivers were under 16 years old.

One hundred and fifty-seven pedestrians were killed in 153 collisions of motor vehicles with pedestrians. One hundred and seventy-four persons were killed in 137 collisions of motor vehicles with motor vehicles, and 133 persons lost their lives when the vehicle they were riding in struck a fixed object. Twenty-six persons died when their vehicle ran off the roadway.

Lieut. J. K. Cushwa, director of the Central Accident Records Bureau, said of the summary, "the increase in persons injured points out the increasing menace of traffic collisions. Each driver when behind the wheel of his car must realize his responsibility to his fellow-man and drive as if someone's life depended upon him—for it does."

Operetta Plans Now Completed

The final regional meeting of the Blue Ridge Conference of the CSMC will be held Thursday, April 26 at 3:00 p. m. at Mount St. Mary's Seminary.

An A.P.S.L. Latin examination will be given to freshmen and sophomores for their proficiency in the language. Trophies and medals will be awarded to the students having the highest averages for this test.

Bend Down Sister It's Leap Year

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS

"BE SURE YOU'RE PRETTY as a picture when you pop that all important question," say the makers of the new Playtex Light Weight Girdle, shown at right on Sadie Hawkins—1956, "and not handicapped like your unfortunate sister of 1900 who couldn't possibly bend down." This remedy for romancing is light-as-a-feather and fashioned in an all-way stretch, split-resistant, Fabicon—a miracle blend of downy-soft cotton and figure-slimming latex. Figures are completely devastating when walking, playing, dancing, sitting or on bended knee. Its ease, its grace, its comfort and its "line" may be exactly what you need for the right answer.
