BY ABIGAIL

Well it's the last Sunday in April again folks and you, of course, know what that means? It's time once again to go on "fast time."

It's hard to believe the time has come already for this operation and the weather is no indication by any means that spring has arrived, but come Saturday night the clock must be turned up an hour, regardless of how you feel about it. It isn't hard to get an argument started as to the merits or demerits of Daylight Time, but indications are that the majority of people approve of it, or we wouldn't have it.

Speaking of the weather, Tuesday's snow was more than a surprise... it actually was a shock. Think of it snowing this late, with the new spring already a month old! I suppose the Democrats will blame that on the Republicans too. State agronomists and weather bureaus claim that already the field crops and gardens are at least three weeks late due to the chilly weather and many claim that we will have no spring at all... we'll jump right from winter into summer—and darned if I'm not inclined to believe this prediction.

Something new seems to have been added to the weather around here. Several residents of the suburbs having picture windows, report numerous instances of robins making continued efforts to attempt to get through the glass to the inside. In each case reported, this has been going on for a couple of weeks, with the robins sitting on window sills and generally messing things up and then fluttering against the glass to soil it badly. Attempts to frighten them away produce only temporary results.

It has been suggested that the reason for this unusual behavior is due to the lateness of the season. The trees have not leaved out and the birds, desiring to build nests, will not do so without the concealment of foliage. Anyway, it is proving quite annoying to those who have never experienced this trouble before.

Information about a new Postoffice is rather vague at this time and if any plans for the erection of one are in the offing they are apparently of a secret nature because no one seems to know anything about them. I did hear a number of requests though, for carrier mail service. Many are of the opinion that if we don't get a new office we should ask for this service and I feel certain that such a service would be a welcome contribution and addition to our community life.

Trout fishermen are becoming Doubting Thomases, here of late. Seems as though the boys aren't getting their usual creel and are making innuendoes as to the stocking. Some are so riled up about the matter that they go as far as to say they doubt if any fish were stocked at all. Well I wouldn't go that far, but as a feminine angler, I'd say that fishing isn't what it used to be because the same number of trout are being put into the streams each year, but the number of anglers is increasing annually and that is bound to cut into your quota. Another reason I believe, is the unseasonable weather we are experiencing. It plays a major role in the fishes' decision to remain numb with the cold, just the same as you and I feel under the present conditions. Don't worry fellows, they'll be pulling you off the banks of the streams before long.

There's one local activity which I think we all should support and that is the local Little League. This organization has done much to combat juvenile delinquency and people I have conversed with are frank to admit they believe a better-trained and more social-minded younger generation is on the way as the result of this outstanding sporting activity. I advise every father and mother who have boys eligible to compete in this excellent sport to see that they are at least given an opportunity... and the time is right now while plans are being mapped out for this season's play.

Final Minstrel Performance Tonight

TONIGHT

Tonight will be the last performance of "By Days," the minstrel which is presented by the Emmitsburg Public School PTA last night before a large audience in the school auditorium. Those who witnessed the presentation last evening highly recommend the production and say it is one of the best of its type to be shown here in many years. Music specially arranged by Jack Wantz, received loud praise by last night's audience and many of the old-time and modern songs were greatly appreciated.

The minstrel is under the capable direction of Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty and will close after tonight's performance. William Baker performed the role of interactor in a most capable manner last evening and the end-men kept an appreciative audience in an uproar all evening. Playing end-men roles are Carlos Englar, Harry Troxell, James Sanders and Paul Claypool. A cast of 60 rounds out the chorus. Curtain time is 8 p. m.

Judges Named For Bicentennial Poster Contest

Paul L. Roy, editor of the Gettysburg Times and chairman of the board of judges for the prize-winning Cachet Contest for the Emmitsburg Bicentennial, announces this week the appointments to his panel.

Assisting Mr. Roy in judging the entries will be Robert J. Kenworthy, superintendent of the Carroll Shoe Co., Littlestown; Ernest Krape, art director at Gettysburg College, and Richard Krick, art director at Keefeaver Elementary Public School, Gettysburg.

Committee Chairman Philip B. Sharpe, in commenting on the appointments, stated: "It is a great pleasure to note the distinguished panel of judges chosen by Mr. Roy for this Emmitsburg Cachet Contest. The decision to have the entries judged by non-residents of the town has the approval of the entire Bicentennial Committee and eliminates all possibility of any favoritism in awarding the prizes."

Many inquiries have been received concerning the closing date for entries. This is positively May 31, 1956, at midnight. Although the Bicentennial celebration is in 1957, the judging and the awarding of prizes to the winners, and preparation of the cachet will take some time. This cachet will be placed in service January 1, 1957, imprinted on postal cards, envelopes and stationery.

Entries in this contest are now coming in. You may submit as many entries as you desire. No age limit. Contest rules are available in printed form. Students at Emmitsburg schools and colleges may obtain the rules from their teachers or members of the faculty. Others will receive a copy by mail by requesting, on a postal card, addressed to Philip B. Sharpe, Emmitsburg, Md. Students must list their age in submitting entries. For adults, just signify "over 21." None of this information will be submitted to the judges.

Garden Club Sees Interesting Films

Mrs. Lloyd Crouse of Littlestown, entertained the members of the Silver Fancy Garden Club at her home on April 19 for the monthly meeting of the group. Mrs. William Marshman and Mrs. Arthur Roberts were co-hostesses. Coffee, punch and tea cakes and cookies were served.

Mrs. A. H. Carpenter was the program chairman and her guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Leo Flannigan of Gibson Island. They showed films and slides of their cruise to South Africa and a safari to interior Africa. In addition they showed films of the wild animals in their native habitat and the natural wonders and beauties of the country, particularly stressing the many variations of the protea flower in all its exotic beauty.

The next meeting will be held May 17 at the home of Mrs. Allan Feeler, Taneytown. Miss Ruth Gillean and Miss Anabelle Hartman will be co-hostesses and Miss Hartman will also be program chairman. The Silver Fancy Garden Club will hold its annual card party on May 24 at the home of Mrs. William Frailey, Emmitsburg.

CRETIN HOME IS PURCHASED BY DR. CAULFIELD

A good crowd turned out last Saturday morning and afternoon for the personal property and real estate sale of John L. Cretin at St. Anthony's, near Emmitsburg, where bidding was brisk and good prices were realized.

The real estate, consisting of an eight-room frame house on 1½ acres of land, was sold to Dr. Philip A. Caulfield, St. Anthony's, for $6250.

A Victorian loveseat sofa was sold for $110, and a set of Haviland Limoges china brought the very good price of $102.50. A bisque 14-inch statuette went for $47 and its twin, which was slightly damaged, realized $37.

Modern household furnishings were also reported to have sold exceptionally well. Personal property totaled $1200. Emmert R. Bowlsus cried the sale and Horace M. Alexander was the clerk.

Public Invited To Hear Festival Of Music

Rev. Philip Bower, pastor of Elias Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Reginald Zepp, director of music, cordially invites the public to the annual Festival of Music Services observing Cantate Sunday, Apr. 29. At the 10:30 a. m. service three choirs will sing. They will present the message in song with the 100th Psalm as the theme for the service.

A Festival of Guest Church Choirs and music groups will be held in the evening at 7:45 o'clock. Mrs. Lewis Higbee, organist at the Emmitsburg Reformed Church, will present a 15-minute organ recital preceding the service. Neighboring church choirs and musical groups participating in the service will be the Emmitt-Wayne Quartet; the Mt. Joy-Harney Lutheran choir; the Tom's Creek Methodist choir; the Gettysburg Brethren Church choir, located along the Biglerville Rd.; the Fairfield Community Choir, and the Fairfield Lutheran Junior choir; the Taneytown Lutheran Brotherhood and church choir, and the host church Junior, Youth and Chapel choirs.

There will be over 150 voices participating in this service with about 15 directors and guest organists. This annual Festival of Music is the climax of a year's work by the choirs of Elias Ev. Lutheran, Mrs. Reginald Zepp, director, and Miss Ruth Shuff, organizer.

Lions Club Names Nominating Committee

A $25 donation to the Community Fund was approved at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Bucher's Restaurant, President Clarence G. Frailey, presiding.

George Yingling, president of the Union Bridge Lions Club and two guests were present at the meeting. A nominating committee composed of John J. Hollinger, Geo. L. Wilhide and J. Ward Kerrihan, was appointed by the president to bring in recommendations for officers of the club at the next regular meeting.

Secretary Robert Daugherty announced the annual district convention will be held in Atlantic City from May 30 to June 2. The following were appointed delegates to the convention: Clarence G. Frailey, J. Ralph McDonnell and Clarence E. Hahn.

George L. Wilhide gave a report of the recent zone meeting and banquet held at Walkersville and Paul W. Claypool reported on the activities of the local Little League to date. He announced that the locals had entered the official Little League and would play under its rules this year. A communication from the Hagers-town Lions Club was received and it recommended the nomination of Robert Lyles of that club, for district governor. Flowers were ordered sent to Mrs. Philip Sharpe, who is ill at her home near town.

Local Boys Is Contest Winner

It was no "guessing" game for Ralph Irelan Jr., when he entered the U. S. Keds Guessing Contest, sponsored by Houck's Store, Center Square. With keen observation Ralph Jr. hit the number on the nose as 242 animals in the display window at Houck's. He won a baseball glove.

Other winners in the contest were Jane Hawk, Taneytown, baseball bat; Betty Tokar, baseball; Woody Stoner, pair U. S. Keds; Mary Ann Orosz, pair U. S. Keds; and David Wivell, pair U. S. Keds.

To Show Free Movies

John J. Reimer, president of the Keystone Ridgeway Corp. (seated) signs agreement to furnish free movies for school children every Saturday morning for 22 weeks at the Majestic Theater. ## Firemen Are Honored At Banquet; Get Certificates

A banquet honoring local firemen who put in many hours of study and practical work to complete the advanced course in fire fighting given recently by the University of Maryland, was held Tuesday evening in Bucher's Restaurant.

The president of the Vigilant Hose Co., Herbert W. Roger, opened the ceremonies with a word of thanks and appreciation to those who completed the prescribed course of studies. Mayor Thornton W. Rodgers gave the official thank you of the town and expressed happiness that Emmitsburg should have such an active fire-fighting unit. He stated the town should have a feeling of good security with our men so willing to learn all the new ideas and dutifully serve.

Robert Smith, senior instructor of the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland, spoke on the first volunteer fire company and such firemen as George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and Paul Revere. He talked also of the difference between a paid fireman and the volunteer.

The presentation of diplomas to the graduates was made by Emory Carmack and Robert Smith. Receiving certificates were John S. Hollinger, Sterling White, Frank Wastler, Charles Stouter, John J. Hollinger, Guy McGlaughlin, J. E. Houck, Charles Olinger, Kermit Lowe, Irvin Tokar, Leo and Paul Keepers and Paul Holtz of Sabillasville. Certificates were awarded to George Danner and Herbert Adams who were short the required amount of hours. A large citation was awarded President Roger and will be displayed in the Fire Hall. The evening was concluded with the showing of movies on techniques of fire fighting.

Girls 4-H Club To Be Formed Here

At the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Boys 4-H Club held this week it was decided to form a 4-H Girls Club in Emmitsburg. Mrs. Paul Beale was chosen to head the new organization and meeting nights will be held the same as the boys' meeting nights.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosensteel were Mr. Paul L. Roy, Gettysburg; Mr. Robert Kenworthy, of Gettysburg; T. Eugene Rodgers, Fairfield and Mr. and Mrs. William Rosensteel, Baltimore.

Alerting All Hands!

... and you'd better be on hand Saturday night to set the hands of your clock ahead an hour because it's time once more to change over to Daylight Saving Time.

LITTLE LEAGUE WOULD JOIN NATIONAL GROUP

Committees for operating Emmitsburg's Little League for the coming season were appointed at Sunday's meeting of the group held in the Fire Hall, President W. R. Cadle, presiding.

A report of last year's activities was given and revealed that about $1,000 had been raised and spent in maintaining the league. Player insurance, improving the playing field and uniforms were given as the most expensive items.

It is planned to improve the field further this year and a committee to raise funds to cover this cost, was appointed as follows: Paul W. Claypool, chairman; J. William Rowe, T. C. Tip Harbaugh, Herbert W. Roger and J. Edward Houck.

The grounds committee appointed consists of Thomas Bollinger, chairman, William Kelz, Leonard Zimmerman, Harry Swomley and Richard Florence. The committee reports it is in need of sod and anyone interested in donating any is asked to contact any member of the committee and arrangements will be made to have the sod removed to the playing field. Dr. Cadle, president, announced that a deed to the playing field has been drawn up and is now being recorded. The land was donated by the Sisters of Charity of St. Joseph Central House to the Mayor and Commissioners, at no cost.

A player-manager committee was appointed and consists of John D. White, chairman, and Edward G. Lingg. A registration date for all interested players will be announced after the next meeting of the group to be held Sunday, May 6 at 1 p. m. in the Fire Hall. It was announced the association had applied for a franchise in the National Little League Assn., and the appointment is expected momentarily. The playing season will open on June 14.

To date the group is debt-free, but money for operating this year must be raised immediately and the finance committee will set about raising the required money in the near future.

Present officers of the Little League are: Dr. W. R. Cadle, president; Thomas Bollinger, vice president; J. E. Houck, treasurer, and Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., secretary. Several managers are urgently needed at this time to fill vacancies caused by resignations of last year's managers and anyone interested in such positions, or in aiding the group, is cordially invited to the May 6 meeting.

Weddle Again Mayor Of Thurmont

C. Ray Weddle was re-elected president of the Board of Commissioners of Thurmont at a town election held Monday. He had no opposition and received 90 of the 102 votes cast by his fellow townsmen. There were several write-in votes. Receiving one vote each were William McP. McGill, Howard Bussard, Wilbur R. Freeze and Charles Weir.

Re-elected commissioners were Charles P. Ambrose, with 91 votes, and Charles U. Reid with 75 votes. Their opponent Ralph L. Baltzell, received 31 votes.

Judges of the election, which was held between the hours of 2 and 7 p. m. were Mrs. Lee Saylor and Kleason Stull. Clerks were Miss Grace Henshaw and Mrs. Stanley Damuth. According to the town clerk, Guy T. Frushour, of the approximately 2000 population of the town but 519 are registered to vote. Less than one-fifth of this number availed themselves of the privilege.

PTA Hears Guest Speaker

The regular meeting of the Public School PTA was held on Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria with Paul Beale, presiding.

Glenn Springer, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Vernon Strathern, who gave a very interesting talk on county PTA groups. Mr. Strathern acts as chairman of the Frederick County Council of PTAs.

William G. Baker introduced one of his Vo-Ag boys, George Eyster, who presented his FFA peach to the group. George was second place winner in the recent county contest at Walkersville.

All members were asked to support the minstrel show being held this week. Miss Mary Fiery's room was the PTA attendance banner winner.

Baseball Season Opens Here Sunday

Emmitsburg will play host to the Fairfield baseball team in the curtain-raiser of the Pen-Mar League here Sunday afternoon at Community Field.

Manager Paul Clarke has 23 prospective players from which to select a clicking nine, he reported this week. All teams in the league have been hampered in their practice sessions due to the unseasonable weather and it is believed it will take several more weeks for the players "to find" themselves.

Several of the 23 players are veterans and should prove to be the "sparkplugs" of the 1956 aggregation. Manager Clarke has been plagued with injuries to date and he, himself, a player of much talent, will not see action for some time, due to a pulled muscle in his leg. Mike Joy, first-string catcher, also will sit out several more games before his injured leg will permit activity.

Clarke reports he is plenty deep in pitching this year, having the veterans Bud Warthen and Dick Orner on hand to take starting assignments. Sherman Leffler, Dave Stauffer and Dennis Hardman will round out the hurling staff. Pat Boyle, veteran outfielder and catcher, probably will receive the starting assignment behind the plate, due to the injury suffered by first-string catcher, Mike Joy, who sprained ligaments in his leg recently while playing basketball. John Bailey also is a capable catcher. In the infield Clarke has replacements for every position, among them several veterans. Included on the roster as infielders are: Ralph Fisher, Robert Gelwicks, Robert Jordan, Donald Joy, Thomas Saylor, Gary Dolly, Paul McNair and Thomas Stoner. Perhaps the greatest strength of the team will come from the outfield and Clarke lists these men available: Ronald Kelly, William Sterbinsky, Allen Stoner, Francis Cool, Norman Kuykendall, Teddy Topper and Jack Wisner.

Game time will be 2:00 p. m., Daylight Saving Time.

Reader Would Back Tydings

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle

Dear Sir:
 I am not a politician nor am I interested in party politics, but I feel that the nomination of Millard Tydings on May 7, and his subsequent election to the office of United States Senator, is a matter of the greatest importance to us all. I know there are many more who feel as I do. The defeat of Senator Tydings in 1950 was a mistake, and now we have an opportunity to correct it by going to the polls on May 7 and casting our vote for a man who has served his state and country with distinction and honor, as a soldier in the First World War, and as an honorable and extremely capable statesman for 24 years in the U. S. Senate. He was defeated in 1950 by misrepresentation and deceit and un-American tactics and methods.

Senator Tydings has many personal friends here in the Emmitsburg District and has proven himself to be big enough to know that we exist. I personally wrote to Tydings urging him to become a candidate for the office of U. S. Senator and I urge every independent-thinking registered member of the Democratic party of this district to make every possible effort to cast a vote on May 7 for the honorable and distinguished veteran and statesman, Millard E. Tydings and do our part in helping to put him back in Washington, where he will be a credit to us and a help to our state, our nation, and the world.

Sincerely,
 An Interested Citizen

Trading Stamps Are Sucker Devices Hence The Reason We Refuse To Use Them QUOTES THAT TELL THE TRUTH ABOUT TRADING STAMPS "Trading stamps are an appeal to stupidity"—The U. S. Supreme Court. "Trading stamps amount to a delusion in which people think they are handed something for nothing."—Edward Wimmer, vice president of National Federation of Independent Business. "Trading stamps satisfy the squirrel instinct in people." — President of a chain of food stores. "Deception to stimulate business is the purpose of trading stamps." — Dr. John W. Dargauel, executive secretary of the National Assn. of Druggists. "We pulled a 'boner' when we decided to use trading stamps. It took but a short time to learn that it was a case of 'raise prices or lose money' and we threw out the trading stamps."—Retailer of Batavia, Ohio. "The customers pay the cost of trading stamps (2% to 3% or more). They pay for them either in the form of higher prices on reputable merchandise, or the retailer resorts to products of lower quality, that carry larger profits."—Executive of nationwide wholesaler of groceries. "It must be admitted that to employ trading stamps is to follow the example of the carnival hucksters."—Ode Orn, prominent writer and lecturer on business subjects. "If a shopper fills 4 books of stamps, by using $480 worth of groceries, and won a $13 chafing dish, she would get nothing free—she would pay about $20 in inflated markups."—Time Magazine, November 28th. How Often Do You Get Something for Nothing? WHO PAYS FOR TRADING STAMPS? YOU, THE CUSTOMER. WHO BENEFITS? The trading stamp publisher—NOT You, the customer, or your dealer. "To sum up: Trading stamps constitute a shell game that tricks the consumers. Also the devices are outrageous instruments of cut-throat competition. Now we ask you—has it become honorable and legitimate for the retailer to deceive the public? Must we resort to gimmicks of deception to continue in business? Is the honest retailer a fool?" We'd like to have you answer the questions. (Reprinted in part—N.A.R.D. Journal—April 16, 1956) Emmitsburg Pharmacy West Main Street Emmitsburg, Md.

STATES SHOULD SUPPORT OWN SCHOOLS

A child is more self-reliant if he can tie his own shoelaces; the same principle applies in the realm of public affairs.

United States Senator Harry F. Byrd recently said, "... we are building up a government of paternalism. There is no state in this Union that can't support its school system . . . There is not a single county in this country that can't do it! Of course, if they think they are getting something for nothing from the Federal Government, it may be that they won't try to do it. . ."

A child who never learns to tie his shoelaces faces a dark future. So do people who look to a government of unlimited powers to do for them what they should do for themselves.

STOCK MARKET SURVEY

It seems evident that a great many Americans have small understanding of what the stock exchanges do and how they operate.

For example, some 1,200 country editors recently answered a questionnaire devoted to various phases of stock ownership. One question asked if, in the editor's opinion, many people believe that stock exchanges set prices and are financially interested in the securities traded. A substantial majority—almost 59%—said Yes.

Now this is a serious misconception—particularly at a time when more and more people of moderate means are becoming investors in American enterprise, and when efforts are being made to speed that development. For the stock exchanges do not set the prices of the securities traded in any way. What they do is to provide a meeting place for the prospective buyer and seller—much in the manner of an auction house.

How then are stock prices established? The answer is that it all depends upon the decisions and opinions of prospective sellers and potential buyers. The seller naturally wants to get as much for his shares as possible; the buyer naturally wants to buy as cheaply as possible—just as in the auction mart. The price at which the shares change hands represents a meeting of minds between that seller and buyer—based upon the particular conditions existing at the time the sale is made.

The stock market is simply a part of the free market—an indispensable part!

Marian Congress At St. Joseph College This Weekend

Approximately 1600 delegates from institutions conducted by the Daughters of Charity, Emmitsburg province, will attend the fourth national Marian Congress to be held at St. Joseph College, Apr. 27-29. These will include representatives from St. Joseph College, itself, and from schools of nursing, high schools, and parochial schools in 12 Eastern states and the District of Columbia.

Under the auspices of the Children of Mary, the congress theme is "My Career in Life as a Child of Mary." In keeping with the theme, a prominent feature of the congress will be the Marylike Fashion Show produced and modeled by the Children of Mary of the home economics department of St. Joseph's on Saturday, Apr. 28. "Marylike Shopping" will serve as the theme of the fashion show which will portray attractiveness of style plus modesty in all aspects of the Catholic girl's wardrobe.

Following the crowning of the Blessed Virgin during the Marian Promenade on Apr. 28, solemn benediction will be celebrated outdoors. Members of the Seton High School orchestra, Baltimore, will provide the music for the afternoon ceremony, while solemn benediction, celebrated by the Rev. Edward Hogan, S.S., St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, will be sung by the Glee Club of Immaculate Conception High School, Washington, D. C.

The Rev. William J. McClimont, C.M., pastor of Immaculate Conception parish, Baltimore, will be director of the congress. The Rev. Philip E. Dion, C.M., assistant director of the Daughters of Charity, Emmitsburg province, will direct special sessions for senior delegates from colleges, nursing schools, and the business world.

Heading the high school sessions will be the Rev. John Cotter, C.M., St. Joseph College, Princeton, N. J., while the Rev. Vincent Heary, C.M., St. Joseph's parish, Emmitsburg, will lead special sessions for junior delegates.

His Excellency, the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D.D., Archbishop of Baltimore, will celebrate the Pontifical Mass on Apr. 29. Arch-priest will be the Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, president of Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. O'Donnell, rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William Culhane, vice president of Mt. St. Mary's College, will serve as deacons of honor. The Rev. John Coleman, C.M., Kirkleigh Villa, Baltimore, will deliver the address at the Mass.

Closing the congress will be the Marian Holy Hour at which the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph D. Sweeney, V.G., St. Peter's Rectory, Wilmington, Del., will celebrate Benediction. The Rev. Mark Mullin, C.M., Niagara University, will deliver the sermon.

"Freezing" Social Security

Scores of elderly disabled people in the Frederick County area have filed claims to "freeze" their social security earnings records. Few young disabled persons have taken this action, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagers-town office of the Social Security Administration.

A young person who has worked at least five years under social security (including military service after 1940) and who has been disabled for six months or longer, or who becomes disabled in the future, should file a "disability freeze" claim with his social security office. By doing so he will assure that payments may be made to his survivors if he should die.

For example, suppose a person

Come what may—even the unforeseen—your family and your home can be protected . . . that mortgage paid in full. Let our friendly Nationwide representative explain this sound and economical program—planned today, for tomorrow.

worked under social security for five years beginning January 1951 and then became totally disabled. He remains disabled until his death in July 1961 at the age of 34. He had not filed for the "disability freeze." He is survived by a widow and three small children. Nothing can be paid to them because his insurance had "run out." If he had filed a disability freeze claim the widow and children would have received monthly insurance benefits until the youngest child reached age 18.

The filing of a claim "freezes" the insured status of the disabled individual. It also freezes the record of his earnings, so that the period during which he is disabled will not pull down his average earnings, on which benefits are based.

The freezing of the record is not automatic, Mr. King concluded. The necessary papers must be filed with the Social Security Administration. Delay in filing these papers can be very costly.

Hanover To Get Government Defense Station

Award of a contract for construction of an air defense gap filler facility near Hanover, Pa., was announced this week by Col. Stephen E. Smith, Baltimore District engineer.

The facility, to be an unmanned relay station in the nation's air defense system of radar warning stations, will be built in the Pigeon Hills.

It will be a single-story building about 41 feet long by 21 feet wide, with an adjoining wing about 20 x 21.

Contract for the construction was awarded to the Gettysburg Construction Co., Gettysburg, Pa. Their bid of $38,735 was the lowest of seven bids received by the Corps of Engineers.

Colonel Smith estimated that the construction would be completed by the end of July.

An English research project found that when cats were tested to see which paw they would use in grasping a piece of meat in a glass tube, 20% used the right paw, 38.8% the left paw and 41.7% were ambidextrous. Left-handedness is more common in parrots, while most humans are right-handed.

Veterinarians diagnose ear mites in cats and dogs by examining the ear wax from a suspected animal under the microscope.

TV EYE CUE by MARTIN BEST, O.D.

For more comfortable viewing, let your eyes wander from the screen from time to time. At intervals, close them for a few seconds. Long concentration on the small screen area strains delicate eyes.

Some people need special lenses for TV viewing—check your local optometrist when in doubt. Never use sunglasses or light filters. They force your eyes to adapt to unnatural lighting conditions.

Room lighting has the most influence on how comfortable your viewing will be. A newly developed lighting control called "Luxtrol" takes the place of your on-and-off switch and makes it possible to control illumination—from very bright to near dark—and anyone can arrange the most comfortable lighting for his TV viewing with a turn of a dial.

BABSON
 Writes . . .
 By ROGER W. BABSON
 Babson Discusses Small Businesses And You
 Babson Park, Mass., April 26.—I was recently asked what was the most important thing I had learned during my 50 years in active business. The answer is what New England's famous surgeon, Dr. William Warren Babson, once said to me: "Remember, Roger, that no two people are alike,—what's food for one may be poison for another and vice versa." This was brought home to me only recently when reading in the Reader's Digest an article praising aspirin for arthritis.

After finishing my reading of the Digest, I picked up an ENCYCLOPEDIA OF HEALTH, by J. I. Rodale of Emmaus, Pa. who has systematically collected what are recognized as the best opinions on a hundred physical ailments. This book lists aspirin as a very dangerous product, fifty million tablets of which are being consumed daily. I have great respect for Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Wallace, editors of the Reader's Digest, but I wonder if they realize the tremendous risk they run as their circulation becomes bigger? My purpose, therefore, this week is to further the urge of my friend Ernest Gaunt, and appeal for a subsidy to the small publisher, the small businessman, and the unknown genius. These may be the hope of America, and not "big business," which assumes all people to be alike.

Education And Labor Unions
 After spending many years and millions of dollars educating young people, I am convinced of the great importance of small colleges, small schools and classes. Figures may show that costs of so-called education may be decreased by consolidated schools, state universities, and other attempts at mass education. Having learned however, that all young people are different and are entitled to different instruction, I have concluded that the solution is to teach young people to educate themselves. When the "do-it-yourself" movement extends to education, we will begin to get good results and at very much less expense.

The Labor Union movement is fulfilling a need in combating the misused power of employers; but it will some day break up of its own weight, due to the inherent differences in people. Its present program of paying every workman in a certain group the same wage is against human nature. I forecast that for labor unions to succeed, they must recognize that workers are entitled to their initiative, energy, intelligence, and other qualifications.

Small Businessmen, Should Be Encouraged
 Some day the small businessman will have to be helped by a subsidy of some kind, especially to use for advertising. There is a demand for every product which has ever been found useful. More candles are sold today than ever before; more hard wood is sold for fireplaces; horses and sulkies for racing sell at higher prices today than ever. There are buyers awaiting every product and service, if the public only knew where to get them.

Therefore, let no small businessman get discouraged. As the Good Book says (see Ecclesiastes, 9th chapter, 11th verse): "The race is not to the swift, nor the battle to the strong." If America will do right, I have no fear of Communism with its standardization of everything. We, however, must encourage the unknown genius, the small manufacturer, and the little specialty store 'around the corner.'
What About Religion And Investments?

It seems too bad that Protestantism should be divided into 250 denominations. I have great respect for the Holy Catholic Church. I often wish there were some way that the Roman Church and these 250 Protestant denominations could be combined. On the other hand, if religion is largely a matter of Spirit and Emotions, the next great NEW HORIZON may be the study and harnessing of these spiritual powers which are now so divided. I have learned that the world is ruled by feelings rather than by figures; and that we have not given proper consideration to the different feelings of different people.

I admire the work the President of the New York Stock Exchange is doing to popularize investments. If, however, his idea is carried too far, it may result in a great stock market panic. Too many people—for instance—are being advised to invest in the standardized "blue chips." Investments cannot safely be standardized, temperament, and the kind of work in which he is engaged. He needs an investment counselor to advise him about this. People are different, and free enterprise will succeed only as this difference is recognized in every field.

Your Personal Health

AFTER TB . . . WHAT?

Grandfather is coming home from the hospital today. The doctor says that his tuberculosis is cured. "He has plenty of good years ahead of him, if he's careful," were the doctor's exact words.
 Plenty of good years. Grandfather isn't so sure. He's 66 years old now. He was working at the gas company when his TB was discovered, but he can't go back to his job there. He has passed the retirement age. Of course, he has his social security. And he's coming to live with us. He says he'd rather take a little room by himself and be no trouble to anyone. But we can't allow that.

The story you have just read is a true story. And it is not an unusual one. The tuberculosis hospitals are "graduating" many older people these days. About 45 per cent of the new cases of TB reported are in people over 45. About 14 per cent are in people 65 and over.

For all practical purposes, these older men and women do have "plenty of good years ahead" when their TB is cured. But what are they to do with the years? The older you are, the harder it is to find a job, even though you may be quite capable of doing a good job. Social security payments buy the minimum in housing and groceries. Living with relatives isn't always ideal.

Retirement is a different problem for all of our older citizens. But it's especially difficult for former TB patients who must face the hazard of relapse if they do not keep in good physical and mental health.
 This is more than a personal problem. It affects the entire community. A relapse may mean not only that TB germs are spread, it means an added financial burden to the community which has to pay for a second course of treatment for the patient.

What does your community do to help keep its older citizens healthfully occupied? What does it do for those—like ex-TB patients—who may be handicapped in some degree? What the community plans for its elders of today will be for us—the "elder citizens" of tomorrow.

Baltimore Women Leaders Now Are Supporting Mahoney

George P. Mahoney said Saturday that he hoped the $51-billion Federal Highways Bill, approved Friday by the House Public Works Committee, "will soon be enacted into law." The candidate for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination declared:

"Our need for modern highways is so great that only an all-out attack on the problem, such as this bill provides, will solve it."

Mahoney said "obsolete roads are taking a toll of human life for this nation to tolerate further delay in modernizing our highways." He quoted testimony before a Congressional Committee last year by a representative of the Automotive Safety Foundation to the effect that "modern highways could save 3,500 lives annually." Mahoney added: "You have only to travel the highways and byways of this State as intensively as I have during my campaign tours, to realize just how many death traps remain, even after the State has spent millions on this problem."

Mahoney said Americans should be "grateful" to Congressman George H. Fallon, of Maryland's Fourth Congressional District "for persistent and patient efforts he has devoted to this major problem." Fallon is the author of the Highway Bill.

Meanwhile, Mahoney's headquarters announced that two prominent North Baltimore women Democrats had left opposition ranks to aid Mahoney. They are Mrs. Anthony J. Pocalca, president of the Women's Seventh Congressional District Democratic Club, and Mrs. Marjorie M. Peterson, of Roland Park, a candidate for delegate to the Democratic State Convention from the Fifth Legislative District.

Both women issued statements which cast light on the dominant roles played by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and Fourth District Leader James H. Pollack in managing the campaign of Millard E. Tydings, Mr. Mahoney's principal rival.

Mrs. Peterson said she had consented to run on the Tydings ticket after being invited to do so in "personal calls" from Pollack and "a call from the Mayor's office."

She has since decided she "cannot support" Tydings and has so informed Pollack and Tydings headquarters. She is now listed as a delegate on the Mahoney ticket in the Fifth District.

Mrs. Pocalca, whose Seventh District Club has taken an officially neutral stand in the Senatorial primary, said she was personally "originally a supporter of Mr. Tydings." However, she declared:

"I soon discovered that the campaign being conducted for Mr. Tydings is, in fact, a campaign to promote the interests of Mayor D'Alesandro, Mr. Pollack and others associated with the Mayor. I would rather not be instrumental in advancing Mr. D'Alesandro to a position of dominance in the Democratic Party throughout the State or in strengthening his present hold on the Party in Baltimore City."

Mrs. Pocalca said she hoped Mahoney's nomination "will bring new blood and a new, vigorous spirit into the party leadership. There is a place for the 'Old Guard' in the party, but they should not be permitted to treat the Democratic Party leadership as if it were an exclusive club to which only they can belong."

Subjects For "Brain Washing"

The scientific methods used by the Communists to "brain wash" American prisoners of war, with astonishingly successful results, are explained in detail by Major William E. Mayer, U. S. Army psychiatrist. He has made an exhaustive study of what happened to the 4,000 American soldiers held in North Korean prison camps by the Chinese Reds. The results of his study together with his analysis has been published in the U. S. News and World Report.

One out of every three American prisoners were "taken in" to some event by the clever Communist "brain washing." The work began on prisoners immediately after their capture. Well-educated English-speaking Chinese Reds, many of them educated in American universities in recent years, lived among the prisoners. They were called "instructors." They conducted daily "educational lectures in the camps and followed these up with subtle personal persuasion on each prisoner.

Our Weakness

Major Mayer said that the Communists had made an intensive study and analysis of the attitude and character of American soldiers. On the Communist evaluation sheets, the Americans generally were considered: (1) to have weak loyalties — to family, to community and country, to God, and to one another; (2) to have a hazy concept of right and wrong; (3) to have little knowledge or understanding — "even among university graduates" — of American political history and philosophy and of how the American system works. On this premise, the Red "instructors" set about to undermine the soldiers' faith in their country and its system.

"Brain washing," Major Mayer said, "is a calculated attempt to distort men's convictions and their principles. 'Brain washing' did not turn a soldier into a Communist. But it often did weaken him as a loyal American. It extracted from him astounding amounts of military information, and a great deal of useful, believable propaganda material. It achieved widespread collaboration. It created substantial loss of confidence, among prisoners, in the American system, raising doubts and confusion in the prisoners' minds about themselves and their country, and it turned the American prisoners into the most docile uniformed men we have ever seen."

Faith Shaken

Major Mayer was asked "Did you get the impression (from his interviews with hundreds of returned prisoners and his studies of reports given by 4,000 prisoners) that these Americans' faith in their own country and its principles was so weak that it could be shaken by these Red Chinese in prison cell interrogations?"

"Absolutely," replied the Major. "Not so much by the interrogations but by the formal education program in which everyone participated to a certain extent. This was done not by Chinese ranting and raving about the evils of America; they don't attack directly in this way, just as they don't attack religion directly. They merely purport to show you the side of it that you don't know, and they do this not with Communist literature; it is possible to do this with perfectly good American authors . . ."

Over-Emphasizing Faults

You mean by picking out the bad side and ignoring the good side about America?" he was asked. "Certainly," he replied. By over-emphasizing the bad and ignoring the good in the American system, the Communist instructors distorted the true picture. "Almost to a man," said Major Mayer, "the returnees lamented their lack of actual information, knowledge, about our democratic system. Many of them, being relatively young men, had never . . . been made aware of the protections and guarantees this Government affords its people and the fact that these are so advanced over anything in Communist countries."

The Major also mentioned lack of patriotism. "A great many people," he said, "feel that references to patriotism and love of country are somewhat embarrassing, unsophisticated, or foolish flag-waving . . . the Communists use this idea to weaken their enemies' patriotic convictions and thus weaken their enemies' resistance."

Major Mayer feels that parents, schools, colleges and the armed services all should endeavor to create in the minds and hearts of the youth of America, faith in God, a clear understanding of the advantages of our political and economic system, and love of country based on the great values of life. In his opinion this is the most important task facing the American people.

Congressman De Witt S. Hyde - 6th District, Maryland

Washington, Apr. 25.—I cannot help but feel that a majority in Congress is of the opinion of the vetoed farm bill was an unwise measure. Whether a program to speed the transition to a stable farm economy will be enacted this session is uncertain. Some politicians have made the farm problem a hotter issue than wisdom dictates. If the majority party in Congress measures up to its responsibility and legislates for the real benefit of the farmer and the Nation the bill can quickly become law.

I am convinced that the principle of withdrawal of acreage from cultivation must be the guiding factor in any new legislation. Such a proposal as presented in the President's "soil bank" serves the dual purpose of helping to eliminate costly surplus and permitting natural rehabilitation of the soil.

One of the most valuable features of the "soil bank" program is the permanent withdrawal from cultivation of some twenty-five million acres of farmland. In letting this land lie fallow we are preserving an important natural resource,—a resource that is

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

It is unfortunate discussion of Bricker amendment gets involved in partisan politics.

For as Sen. Bricker (R., Ohio) puts it, those who oppose passage should be asked, "What provision of the U. S. Constitution do you want to be violated by executive agreement?"

But Sen. Bricker bases a substantial share of his arguments on what took place while Dean Acheson was Secretary of State. Of course, Acheson assailed the Bricker amendment as "an assault on government." Thus, by inference he sounded the common opinion of bureaucracy that the U. S. Constitution belongs to bureaucrats, not the people.

Yet it is difficult to see where partisan politics have any place in discussion of the issue. In fact, when the Senate voted on the measure in 1952, 64% of the Democrats, and 69% of the Republicans voting approved.

But curiously enough, present administration opposed passage. This is despite fact that current State Secretary, John Dulles in a speech declared, "treaties can cut across the rights given the people by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

Yet in testifying before Congress on the Bricker amendment, Dulles said in effect there was no need of it because the present Administration was not going to agree to all the United Nations hatched schemes.

However during this administration a U. N. plan was agreed to whereby it is possible for foreign nations to bring to trial and execute American servicemen.

For example, an American soldier accused in France of a capital crime could be tried in a French court, have his head sliced off via barbaric guillotine with no recourse to Anglo-Saxon system of trial and appeal.

In addition, there is no guarantee that any administration will last into eternity.

Yet day and night various fanatic segments of the United Nations work to get agreements approved in Washington that would regulate American labor through the International Labor Organization, would destroy American justice, American freedom of the press, and pervert the American school children.

Yet until such time as Bricker amendment, or its equivalent is passed, the American system is in the most dangerous position it has ever faced. As matters now stand, a single executive agreement would knock out the entire American Constitution, could open the doors for foreigners to run even local government down to and including local school boards.

That is why both the membership of the National Federation of Independent Business, the American Bar Association, many other organizations have endorsed the Bricker amendment.

Thus, as debate grows on this issue, it should not be considered as a partisan issue. It is freedom versus scheming internationalism.

In fact, observers in Washington are hard put to arrive at any reason why any thinking, sincere American would voice any opposition to Bricker amendment. That is one of the most perplexing questions of present times.

HEALTH HORIZONS

Motion Sickness Can Now Be Prevented

"Travel" is a magic word that stirs romantic visions in most people. It is rarely considered unpleasant. But many a proud traveler will break down and confess that he, his wife or the children felt "just a little queasy" from motion sickness during that vacation trip.

Medical scientists have dug deep into the study of motion sickness and have recently made considerable progress in finding methods of preventing it. That their research on this universal malady has borne fruit is witnessed by a leading editorial in the scientific journal International Record of Medicine, which notes that "great heroes in literature or in history, no matter how strong-willed, courageous, and sturdy, often fell victim to motion sensitivity." Further evidence of the medical interest in the subject is found in the calling of the First International Symposium on Health and Travel, being held in New York, in which world authorities on motion sickness will report latest findings.

With a record travel year unfolding, in which probably half the population of the United States is on the move by auto, rail, plane, bus and ship, it is encouraging to find medical journals reporting that most motion sickness can be prevented. They say that the illness, which is much like an allergy, is actually divided into two distinct stages—a preliminary stage in which the individual loses interest in his surroundings, his appetite fades, he grows pale. Those whose journey ends at this stage may never know what the illness was. The others often go on to the acute stage, which includes nausea and vomiting.

"It is also not sufficiently appreciated," says the International Record of Medicine, "that large numbers of children suffer from car sickness . . . Infants, who are unable to explain their symptoms of malaise, are frequent sufferers during long car journeys."

Treatment Available

Motion sensitivity, according to the journal, can now be effectively blocked by preventive use of new drugs, such as meclizine compounds like Bonamine. Taken before the journey by a group of air passengers in one scientific study, one of these drugs prevented motion sickness in over 90 per cent; interestingly, only 62 per cent were benefited by the drug when it was taken after the symptoms of motion sickness had already appeared.

One of the main points driven home by the International Record of Medicine is that no one should any longer be timid or ashamed of admitting sensitivity to motion. With means of prevention readily available, all travelers can protect themselves and their families and thus insure a completely pleasurable trip.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

Approximately 250 men will be added to the Washington police force if a bill which has already been approved by the Senate District of Columbia Committee becomes law.

As a member of that committee, I backed the measure. But I did so with an unhappy feeling that action was taken too late.

In retrospect, it was apparent that additional steps should have been taken years ago to head off the wayward tendencies of those whose unlawful activities were partially responsible for the need for more police protection.

One was a crime pamphlet. The second was a tour booklet. And the third was a Defense Department letter.

Ordinarily the items might have appeared to be totally unconnected, but in my consideration of today's so-called "teen-age problem", they seemed to me to represent respect for self, respect for others, and respect for the great nation in which we live.

Effects of Criminal Record
The crime pamphlet, which was prepared by State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro, of Baltimore, reminds young men and women that:

"Getting a job is difficult when you have a criminal record . . .

"You may lose certain citizenship rights . . .

Your chances of dating and marrying a fine person will be lessened . . .

"You are doing a disservice to your country . . ."

Mr. Sodaro has done a highly commendable job in preparing the publication, and although it is addressed "To the Youth of Baltimore", its message is appropriate for the younger generation in all sections of the country.

Beauty and Heritage
The second item I mentioned—the tour booklet—concerns the Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage, April 25 - May 6, and May 26.

Enthusiastic support for the annual trips on the pilgrimage schedule can be expected from adults, but it seems to me that we should also encourage more boys and girls to use such opportunities to become acquainted with the beauty and heritage of our Free State. Having learned our precious traditions, youth can see more clearly the proper path to follow in the future.

The pilgrimage is sponsored by the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland, the Maryland Historical Society, the Baltimore Museum of Art, and the Society for the Preservation of Maryland Antiquities.

Military Reserve Week

The last point I want to discuss deals with the Defense Department's letter, in which attention is called to the April 22-28 observance of Military Reserve Week. On this matter, I shall merely quote one sentence written by the Chief of the National Guard Bureau, who said:

"I am sure the young men of your State will be glad to learn that they can fulfill their military training and service obligation through membership in the Army National Guard or Air National Guard."

Here again is an important item worthy of consideration by many of today's youth.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

I have just read an interesting article about snakes and their importance to sportsmen. It is by the famous snake authority, Ross Allen, and Wilfred T. Neill, and it was in an issue of Sports Afield magazine.

Since almost every case of snake bite receives mention in the papers, the two subscribed to a clipping service which provided newspaper accounts of bites. Then a brief questionnaire was sent to each victim, his physician, or to the hospital where he was treated. They wanted to know just how, when, and where the accident happened; the age, weight, sex, and race of the victim; the kind of snake involved; the part of the body that was bitten; the treatment received; and the outcome of the case.

The response was gratifying, and eventually they accumulated more than 600 case histories. And there were surprisingly few sportsmen on the list! We may conclude that the average hunter or fisherman is not apt to be bitten by a poisonous snake.

Of the 600 people, the largest group (179) were struck right in their own yards or homes! These victims were suburban or rural nonfarming residents. When the accident happened, they were weeding the garden, picking flowers, moving old boxes in the garage, cutting brush, trimming shrubbery, walking to the mailbox; 77 were children at play.

The second largest group of victims (91) were people who catch, collect, or otherwise handle snakes. Among the reptile hunters and collectors, the percentage of fatalities low. They carry snake-bite first-aid kits and know how to use them.

The third largest group (84) were greenhorns who entered the woods for nonfarming purposes. They were picking rocks or berries, carrying out flowers for a rock garden, or just communing with nature. They were not as watchful as a hunter would be, and so they put their foot or hand right beside—even on—a poisonous snake.

The fourth largest group (60) were farming people, bitten while performing their daily chores. Way down in fifth place are the hunters (33). Most of them were struck on the ankle, a few on the hand. Sixth place goes to fishermen (22). The majority of them were in one of the southern states and were bitten by a cotton mouth.

Of the 600 cases, eight proved due to inadequate, improper or fatal. Most of the deaths were delayed treatment.
