BY ABIGAIL

For the sake of those of you who might need this number I am advising you that the new State Trooper's phone number is HI. 7-2101. You might wonder why I have gone to the trouble of informing you and the public of this phone number? Well it's simply in the interest of general safety, and should be used only for emergencies. You can never tell when assistance might be needed and due to the fact that the new phone directory isn't in print yet, I have given you Trooper Bill Morgan's number.

Senator McCarthy seems to have joined the same category of phrase-makers of the type of John L. Lewis, Harry Truman and the late President Roosevelt. This week, in reference to an inquiry as to whether or not he was going to campaign in Maryland on Senator Butler's behalf, he referred to Governor McKeldin in a derogatory manner, as "Mortimer Snerd McKeldin, an accident of politics." I would gather from that that the two don't see eye to eye on politics and apparently we're in for some fireworks in Republican circles in our state, come November.

Governor McKeldin came up this week with the very same thought that I had several months back and which I wrote about in this column. The Governor took an adamant stand on the issue of car manufacturers making cars with more and more horsepower each year. He expressed concern over the speed that is possible with the modern car and lamented the fact that the best road engineering brains were striving to incorporate as many safety factors as possible in modern roads but that the new cars were a distinct menace to this plan. He said that many radio and television stations were not using good judgment in their advertising ethics when on one spot announcement they proclaimed safety and slow down to live slogans when a split second later another announcer bursts out with information as to how fast this rocket motor, blue streak, jet streak, lightning bolt or cannon ball engine can leave your neighbor's car look like its standing still. Too many youths are testing out this type of advertising His Excellency laments. He even went so far as to say that if something isn't done in a remedial measure to curb this trend towards killing speed that he might be forced to do something about it himself. That could only mean that licenses would not be granted to cars over a specified horsepower in our state. I'm heartily in accord with the Governor's intentions. A perfect example of this was manifested last week when Chief Kaas pursued two young speeders to Thurmont at speeds ranging in the high 90s. Can you imagine traveling 90 to 100 miles an hour on that treacherous road between here and Thurmont?

I don't know if other towns are plagued with vandalism as we are here, but we sure do have more than our share of it. It just seems as though we can't have anything here without it being broken up by vandals. The latest example of this type of culprit is the wanton destruction done to the clubhouse at Rainbow Lake. The door was smashed, all windows broken out and destruction in general heaped upon the structure. The local Sportsmen's Club had put a lot of hard work in making the area around the reservoir an attractive and comfortable spot. The work has paid dividends in better accommodations and better fishing. Now the clubhouse, which is mainly in use during deer season and the bitter cold winter, and which provided shelter, warmth and comfort to the hunter, has to be generally repaired, at a cost of labor and money to the group. This type of destruction by vandals is nothing but sheer cussedness and it is generally hoped the offender or offenders are apprehended and punished, as they rightfully deserve.

They were Lions Corbett, Bobbette, and Chapman. Charles R. Fuss introduced Ralph Lindsey, of the Emmitsburg Feed and Farm Supply, as his guest for the evening.

A communication from the Emmitsburg Boy Scouts was read. It was in appreciation of a recent $25 donation the Lions Club made to the group.

Correct Operation Of Parking Meters Is Explained By Police

The operator of the vehicle that parks at the meters is required to place money in the meter and to turn the handle to put the meter in operation, while he is parked at any meter.

A few of the most common complaints is the fact that some people will deposit a cent or two and then put a nickel in and they only get 60 minutes. Always put the nickel in first and then your pennies.

Another one is that some times someone pulls up to a meter and it has, say 30 minutes on it, and they put a nickel in and it will only go up to 60 minutes. That is right as the time that was on the meter is someone else's time that was parked before you. You are getting 60 minutes for your nickel actually. The meter is in proper working order as regardless of how much time is on it, when you deposit a nickel it will only go up to 60 minutes, or 120 if it is past the 60 minutes.

All meters are two-hour meters that we have in Emmitsburg. Please do not put dimes in them as they will give no time on a dime. Use either pennies or nickels.

When putting the meter in operation, turn the handle slowly to the right and keep pressure on the handle until it goes up to 60 minutes, because once you let the handle go back, the paw in the meter drops down and you cannot turn it any further.

Miss Fitzgerald Becomes Bride Of J. H. Coleman, Jr.

Miss Dorothy May Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fitzgerald, Emmitsburg Rt. 2, and John H. Coleman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman, Sr., Delaire, Wilmington, Del., were married June 21 at 10 a. m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church at a double ring ceremony and nuptial mass with Rev. John Sullivan, C.M., pastor of the bride, officiating.

The traditional wedding marches were played by the church organist, Miss Louella Lansinger, and the soloist, Miss Dora Andrews, Frederick, classmate of the bride sang "Ave Maria," "O, Lord I Am Not Worthy," "Pans Angelicus," and "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and organza floor-length gown with lace bodice and tunic over white organza, V-neckline, long sleeves. Her three-quarter length nylon net veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid corsage atop a white Missal.

Miss Patricia Fitzgerald, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a pale blue silk and cotton floor-length gown, with scoop neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt. Her headress was of white and pink carnations and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of spring flowers.

The best man was Richard Javick, Penn State University. Ushers were Paul O'Brien, Haddenfield, N. J., and Hugh Rocks, Waynesboro, Pa. The altar boys were Tony Topper, cousin of the bride, and Raymond Topper.

The bride's mother wore a summer printed veil with white accessories and a yellow rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a powder blue lace dress with white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after which they left on a wedding trip east for several days. The couple will reside in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Sportsmen's Club Plans Picnic At Lake

Plans for an out-door picnic were mapped out at the regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President Clay Z. Green presiding.

The president announced the appointment of the following committees: fish committee, Harold M. Hoke and Robert Eiker; Rainbow Lake committee, C. C. Combs, Roland Sanders and Wilbur Smith; refreshments, Carroll Wills, Wilbur Smith, and Roland Sanders; game committee, Gil Eiker, Frank Wastler, James Kemp, and William Weidner.

Members of the club met at Rainbow Lake Thursday night and trimmed the weeds and generally policed the area.

A committee of Harold Hoke, Gil Eiker and Frank Wastler, recently appointed to draw up rules and regulations concerning fishing in Rainbow Lake, presented a set of regulations to the meeting. These rules were adopted and printed copies will be distributed to all members of the group and an advertisement run in the newspaper in the near future, advising the public of the regulations.

Eleven applications for membership were presented at the meeting and will be acted upon at the next regular meeting of the group.

The sportsmen and their families will hold a picnic at Rainbow Lake on July 24. An appetizing menu is being planned for the occasion and will include corn-on-the-cob, sandwiches, refreshments, etc. It is hoped to make the picnic an annual affair.

Players also will be responsible for their traveling and living expenses with the understanding that all expenses will be reimbursed to those players signed to contracts with Pittsburgh organization clubs.

Some Farmers Are Eligible For Soil Bank Program

Cropland which was grazed by livestock earlier in the year may now be included in the 1956 Acreage Reserve program of the Soil Bank, Chester S. Bradley, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced this week. However, such land may not be grazed during the period beginning June 23 and running through the rest of the year, he added.

Mr. Bradley explained that under an amendment to 1956 program regulations, farmers may now designate for inclusion in the Acreage Reserve for (wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts, and most types of tobacco) cropland which was grazed by livestock between Jan. 1 and June 22, inclusive.

(As originally announced, the regulations provided that no cropland which was grazed at any time during 1956 or from which a crop was harvested during the year could be included in the Farm's Acreage Reserve).

The recent amendment does not change the provision that no crop can be harvested or hay cut at any time during the year from land to be included in the Acreage Reserve.

Injures Foot

TEEN-AGERS EXPRESS VIEWS OF TOWN

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Dear Townspeople—

We are just a couple of teenagers wishing for a good place, somewhere around Emmitsburg where we can have a good time. We are not trying to sound rude or nasty, but we would like to ask a few things of the people of our community.

There was a movie theater, but it seems to have been closed down for the summer. Not many of us teenagers can drive or have a car to go to the drive-in or go to another town to see a good show. If we had a community hall, such as we started to build a few months ago, we could dance, and do some of the other things which were to be in this hall. If we had some of these things not as many children would get into trouble. Please don't get us wrong, we are not saying anything against our town or Emmitsburg, because we are not. There are too many places for older people to go and have fun, so we think we need some of these privileges also.

We've been thinking about the little league, also. We think we need something between the little and big league. When you reach the age of 12 you have to wait until you are 16 to join the big league, but until that time you have nothing to do. There should be a team or teams in between both leagues. We would appreciate it very much if you would think about these things.

Very truly yours,
TWO TEENAGERS

First Well-Driller Fined By Health Dept.

Dr. Forbes Burgess, county health officer, stated that at his offices in Winchester Hall "unless something is done to curb the number of violations sprouting up all over the county on the part of well drillers, there will be a mess of private homes with a poor water supply."

"I have been forced to bring in one of the violators recently, having secured a warrant for the arrest of well driller, Jack C. Harley, who failed to get the necessary permits required by the State Dept. of Health," Dr. Burgess added.

Harley is charged with failure to obtain approval certificates prior to drilling wells on a number of houses on Butterfly Lane. He is cited also for failing to supply the required information following the completion of the wells, as required by the regulations of the State Board of Health.

In one instance he was charged for failure to case and seal the wells in accordance with regulations of the State Board of Health.

Dr. Burgess said that many problems have arisen because of the failure of well drillers to abide by the State regulations and his office finds that many wells are contaminated and do not meet the minimum standards for safe drinking water.

"The past performance of some of the well drillers has been extremely negligent, causing me to go to the extreme of bringing delinquent well drillers into court," Dr. Burgess said.

"I will use all legal procedures necessary to obtain compliance with the state laws for minimum standards for safe drinking water," he said.

Dr. Burgess added that there are other violators to be brought before the court as soon as well casings are pulled up.

Commissioner Fuss Represents Town At Ocean City, Md.

Mr. Charles R. Fuss, chairman of the Board of Commissioners of Emmitsburg's Town Council, left Thursday morning to attend the eighth annual conference of the Maryland Municipal League held at the Plimmon Hotel, Ocean City, Md.

During the two-day conference pros and cons will be discussed concerning a review of recent state legislation, state-local police cooperation, and attracting industry into cities.

In addition to addresses by Republican and Democratic nominees, Gov. Theodore McKeldin will present traffic safety awards to 80 mayors.

Mrs. Fuss will accompany her husband on the trip.

Miss Carol Maher, Seaford, N. Y., spent several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Boyle.

Youths Captured After Wild Chase By Chief Kaas

Two New York State juveniles were apprehended Saturday afternoon by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas of the Emmitsburg Police Dept. and State Trooper 1/c H. J. Brown, after being pursued about seven miles to the Thurmont borough limits. At times the chase developed speeds of up to 100 miles an hour. The two youths were from Rochester, N. Y., and were operating a stolen Buick car belonging to Frank Gaiter, 90 Empire Blvd., Irondequoit, N. Y.

The stolen car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole, dropping it on another automobile in a spectacular crash-up on the northern outskirts of Thurmont on U. S. Rt. 15 Saturday afternoon.

The driver, 16, was thrown clear of the car as the whole left side of the 1953 Buick was sheared off, but he escaped serious injury. He was taken to Frederick Memorial Hospital where he was treated for lacerations, discharged and jailed with his 14-year-old companion.

State Police declined to identify the boys by name because they are juveniles. They said New York authorities had returned the teen-agers to Rochester on Tuesday to face stolen car charges.

In the glove compartment of the wrecked car, State Trooper Brown and Chief Kaas who made the arrests, found a loaded automatic revolver. They found a .25-caliber loaded automatic on the front floor of the car.

Authorities speculated that the 16-year-old may have been driving with the gun in one hand and it was knocked loose when the accident occurred.

The youths admitted that the car had been stolen in Rochester about midnight Friday. They said they were on their way to Florida to visit a relative of one of the boys. The 14-year-old admitted stealing the guns in Fairport and Rochester, N. Y. He was reported as on probation for a burglary charge.

The two probably would have cleared the county and state without difficulty had they not attracted the attention of Chief Kaas as they rolled through Emmitsburg at a high rate of speed. Chief Kaas gave chase and between here and Thurmont he met Trooper Brown who was driving towards Emmitsburg. The Trooper was quickly apprised of the situation and joined Kaas in following the boys.

Just north of the Sabillasville road intersection on the outskirts of north Thurmont, the car failed to negotiate a sharp right curve and skidded off the left side of the road. There the left rear of the car struck one telephone pole, apparently causing the automobile to skid sideways into a second pole.

With car hit this second pole with such force it smashed a six-to-eight foot chunk completely out of it and sent the section rolling down the highway.

The rest of the pole dropped on an automobile operated by Arnold Wayne King of Knoxville, who was proceeding north on Rt. 15 and saw the skidding car and had pulled as far to his right as possible. King was unhurt but his car sustained damage which police estimate at about $250.

The 16-year-old was thrown out as the second pole was struck and the car also sideswiped the King vehicle. The fallen pole prevented a head-on collision, police believe. The stolen car, out of control, then cut back to the right side of the road and finally stopped in its proper traffic lane.

Kaas and Brown, close behind, quickly picked up the 14-year-old who was still in the car and sent the other youth to the hospital.

Congressional Viewpoint

By U. S. Sen. John M. Butler

Unless Congress stops "dragging its feet," Russia will have the world's first atomic locomotive, Senator John M. Butler said.

Sen. Butler, author of a bill now before the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy authorizing the construction of such a locomotive by this country, said that information leaking out of Moscow indicates the Soviet atomic experts are thinking in terms of atomic ground transport.

"As a matter of fact," the Maryland Senator said, "the March issue of the Journal of Industry and Economy of the USSR presents a detailed design for an atomic locomotive. Whether this is the prelude to a dramatic announcement that such an engine is being developed or has been completed is anybody's guess. But it is typical of Russian propaganda methods to subtly indicate interest in a specific project and then jubilantly announce the completion of that project.

"The atomic locomotive design in the Journal of Industry and Economy should serve to warn this nation that unless Congress stops dragging its feet, Russia will have the world's first such locomotive. This will be another propaganda victory for the Soviet Union. It will be further proof to the world that the Russians are making significant industrial progress and that, in the atomic field, a direct challenge is presented to America's industrial leadership.

"I am indeed hopeful that Soviet interest in the atomic locomotive will stimulate Congress into action on my proposal. So far as I can determine, no real opposition exists. On the contrary many prominent atomic scientists favor the proposal."

Pointing out that his bill is pending before the Congressional Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, Sen. Butler said that Chairman Clinton P. Anderson, (D-New Mex.), of that committee, has promised "careful evaluation and thorough discussion by our committee."

Sen. Butler released excerpts from a letter he received from Sen. Anderson relating to the Butler measure. Sen. Anderson wrote:

"I have no doubt that atomic energy will be playing a vital role in transportation before long.
Perhaps your interest in locomotives suggests a starting point.
As you know, shielding of atomic reactors is a bulky and heavy undertaking. That is why we first could use a reactor in a submarine and why it has been so difficult to adapt nuclear power to aircraft. A railway locomotive, where weight is not such a problem, seems to offer more and more promise as our reactor technology advances. Such a development could not fail to impress all who saw it."

"I am indeed gratified for the support Sen. Anderson has accorded my atomic locomotive proposal," Sen. Butler said. "He is an authority on atomic energy and his support will be invaluable in surmounting Congressional obstacles."

Living Today
by Colonel Calen Cough

HONESTY: A man is, as a rule, considered honest until he is proven to be a crook. This is, oddly enough, a most timely subject in my own case and the shoe doesn't fit my foot, so whether a person is honest or dishonest, it is not always based on his or her ability to pay their obligations, but normally enough, a man is under suspicion until he pays his debts and meets his obligations. There is nothing wrong about anyone being regarded with suspicion until he proves himself. It is also alright with me, personally, if I am an object of skepticism or dislike, for I eagerly join many others who don't like me as a personality. I don't like myself either.

SMILES. However, it can't be said I smiled my way through life looking a fellow in the eye as I flashed a winning personality. This old warped face I carry is not my own and is as some others think it is, a false face. Actually I am two-faced as they come! On one side I twist it while the other side remains stationary and does not budge. One eye pops out and the other squints as it tries to reflect the feelings inwardly. In consequence, a false facial expression results. The reason? It is with apology that I explain, but without apology that I am forced to carry this war-torn face. It is remade by plastic surgery. Cause—trying to fight for the privilege of others to condemn me, or anyone else, they feel like—fighting for the cause of democracy and freedom of speech. Time—July 18, 1918, at Soissons, France, as a member of the U. S. Marine Corps. A high explosive shell struck my head and tore away the left side of it, causing complete deafness in left ear, impaired eyesight in left eye, torn left side of face and head injury, which carries a steel plate to protect my brain. So, if my distorted face gives others a cause for disliking me, well, go ahead, for I most certainly can join others that my face seems to annoy. I look tough and being a large man, I sometimes perhaps, act contrary to my true feelings, as I talk on one side of my face and ironically register sarcasm, when I mean to smile. Yes, we never know what's in the heart of another, and it is not always wise to jump at conclusions. We might gain a good friend instead of his personal resentment.

STRANGE BUT TRUE: In the years past I have been in an interesting situation time and time again. Personally, I know what I am in heart and I also know facts concerning other people which I would not ordinarily understand. In my predicament I have been able to pick out the real people from the small-minded ones. Irrespective of my twisted face and its natural handicap, also the tendency others might have to avoid me socially, I have met many wonderful people. The bigger the person is, the easier it has been to make friends with him. The more intelligent I find others, the easier they become to deal with. They neither accept me for face value or consider my facial expressions one way or the other. These people have an open mind. They do not express their opinions of me as an honest man or dishonest, but rather, accept me as a personality whose character is not regarded with suspicion, but with interest and consideration until I establish myself.

The old expression so carelessly thrown around is: "I don't like the guy." It is barely possible

Your Personal Health

These days if you get sick you go to your doctor (or should). But if you had lived in Europe some 250 years ago chances are you might have gone to the King when you were sick.

that the same person could be a good friend and might someday be most helpful to the other person, or vice versa.

"Love thy neighbor" is God's command. Despite my enemies, I love them for the fact that they are my brothers in flesh and human life also. Let's be friends.

In the days when kings were believed to rule by "divine right" it was also believed that disease could be cured by the king's touch. On special days the ailing would flock to the royal presence to be touched. Undoubtedly, those who eventually got well attributed the miracle to the royal power, but it is harder to guess the sentiments of those who did not.

The king's touch was once a popular treatment for a form of tuberculosis called "scrofula." Although the disease was not necessarily fatal, it caused uncomfortable and unsightly swelling of the neck. Victims of this disfiguring disease often flocked to the king—or queen—to see what the royal touch could do for them. In England the "touch system" of treatment lasted well into the 18th century.

Today we know that treating "scrofula" has nothing to do with royalty, which is fortunate, since there are so few kings left. We call the disease "lymph node tuberculosis" and know that it is caused when tuberculosis germs infect the lymph nodes of the neck. But there is still too much that we do not know about this form of TB, just as there are many things we do not know about the other forms of tuberculosis. In time we hope that research and study will give us more information.

Meanwhile, the victims of the disease, who are still numerous, though not so numerous as in centuries past, can be helped with weapons far more powerful than a king's touch. Today there are drugs which help this form of tuberculosis just as they do TB of the lungs. It is the treatment prescribed by the doctor, not the king's touch which is needed.

"Greetings, O long-suffering fellow taxpayer!"

Time For Alertness

The citizens of this nation perhaps could better afford to be lethargic and apathetic concerning the safeguarding of our government and economic system were it not for the fact that a world-wide menace has now grown to such proportions that it threatens our very existence. This evil force is world Communism. An apathetic attitude toward it could bring about the utter destruction of all that Christian civilization holds to be worthwhile and decent. In fact to be safe we must mobilize the thinking and the intelligence action of the entire American population.

The world-wide Communist conspiracy is aiming at world domination. The threat is so great that our government—its itself slow to recognize the true nature of Communism—now is spending about $35 billion a year on a defense establishment geared to resist Communist military aggression when (and if) it comes. There are other measurements of the Communist threat.

Growth Not Stopped
In 1945 the Communists controlled only 10 per cent of the world's population. Today they control more than 40 per cent. During the past 12 years the Communist International conspiracy has been taking over the territory of the world at the rate of 1000 square miles a day—and the free world has yet to take back a single square mile of conquered territory. They may well control 60 per cent of the population within three to five years.

When you study a map of the world, and are acquainted with the facts of Communist infiltration and Communist power in the various nations outside the Iron curtain, you can readily see that the chances for still greater expansion of the Red empire are bright indeed—for the Kremlin Red bosses in Moscow. At least a dozen nations are in extreme jeopardy of falling into the full grip of the Communist masters. Finally The U.S.A.

Their timetable calls for the conquest of Asia first, then Africa, then Europe, and then the American hemisphere. They are just as confident that they are going to succeed in taking it over as they are that the sun will keep rising in the East. The present peace front is just a part of the Red's global strategy. To their millions of conspirators throughout the free world, they reported not long ago that soon they would develop a new propaganda "peace offensive" that would make previous ones look timid. And that is what they're doing.

Just last week I talked with Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, who was Finance Minister in the Hungarian Cabinet when the Red's swept down into Hungary at the end of World War II with glowing promises of "cooperation." He remained Hungarian Finance Minister, making frequent trips to the Kremlin until he found out the true nature of Stalin and his crew. Just a few weeks before the Communists clamped down on Hungary and took over, killing all who resisted, Dr. Nyaradi escaped.

He ultimately found his way to America. For the past several years he has been chairman of the Dept. of Economics at Bradley University.
Red Strategy
"The present so-called turn-about of Stalin," he said, "and all the other peace-like activities are merely strategic moves on the part of the Communist bosses calculated for one purpose alone—to lull the free nations to sleep again with the thought that the Communists are softening up. America will be foolish indeed if it swallows this propaganda about how good the present leaders are going to be and how bad Stalin was. They are all in the same mould. They have only one purpose in life—to Communize the world and place the Red Army as the police force over every nation."

It is so very important for every American to have a clear understanding of the nature of Communism. You can get a brief but sound education on the conspiracy by asking your Congressman to send you "The Communist Party of the United States of America—What it is, How it Works," a 100-page pamphlet compiled by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. You may also obtain a free copy by writing The American Wage Earners Foundation, 30 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, Ill.

Countians Draw Million and a Half Social Security

Over $1.5 million in social security benefits were paid to 2842 residents of Frederick County in 1955. Two hundred and sixty-one more retired workers were receiving old-age monthly benefits at the end of 1955 than at the beginning of the year, according to figures released by Mr. W. S. King, district manager in Hagerstown.

At the end of 1955, 1555 retired workers in Frederick County were getting monthly old-age benefits; in addition, 1287 people in the county were receiving monthly benefits as dependents of old-age beneficiaries or as survivors of workers who had died. In the country as a whole the number of persons receiving old-age and survivors insurance benefits increased by nearly 1.1 million in 1955, 16 per cent more than at the end of 1954. Nationwide, there were almost four and a half million retired workers receiving old-age benefits at the end of 1955 and an additional three and a half million dependent and survivors beneficiaries—wives, husbands, children, mothers, aged widows, widowers, and parents.

In Frederick County, retired workers were receiving $84,775 monthly in social security payments as 1955 came to a close, Mr. King said. Dependents of old-age beneficiaries or survivors of workers who had died were getting $45,754 a month in Frederick County at the end of the year. These amounts represent increases of 25 and 23 per cent respectively.

Pointing out the significance of old-age and survivors insurance under social security as a floor of financial protection for the aged, Mr. King said that in the nation as a whole today, over half of the non-working aged people are eligible for monthly benefits under the social security program and that in the years ahead the proportion will steadily increase. This, he said, will result primarily from the extension of coverage under the 1954 amendments to approximately 10 million more working people—including most of the nation's farm population. Children made up a large group of beneficiaries in Frederick County in 1955; 502 of them were receiving monthly benefits totaling $17,179 at the end of the year. Most of them were survivors of an insured father or mother who had died, but some were the minor children of retired workers receiving old-age benefits.

If the child of a retired or deceased person is entitled to monthly payments, the child's mother may also be entitled to benefits, regardless of her age. In Frederick County at the end of the year, 110 widowed mothers who were caring for child beneficiaries were receiving $4760 per month. Eleven thousand, five hundred and fifty-three dollars went to aged widows, aged dependent widowers, and aged parents of deceased workers in December 1955. Lump-sum death payments, which can be made regardless of whether or not monthly benefits are also payable, totaled $1.8 million in the State during 1955.

The nationwide total of monthly and lump-sum benefits paid under the old-age and survivors insurance program in the year 1955—$4.8 billion—exceeded the total amount paid in the 11½ years from January 1940 through June 1951. By the end of 1955, benefit payments under the program had totaled almost $19.7 billion since the beginning of the program.

The increase in total benefit payments reflects the marked rise in the number of beneficiaries and also the larger benefits payable to qualified individuals as a result of the 1950, 1952, and 1954

Ocean Downs Raceway Opens For Season Monday

Ocean Downs Raceway, Maryland's resort night pari-mutuel harness track, is being readied for what is expected to be the biggest season in its history. The popular vacationland oval will open a 24-night meet on Monday, July 2.

Ocean Downs Raceway is the third link on the four-track Maryland harness season and will follow immediately on the heels of the current 24-night session at Laurel Raceway.

General Manager S. Rudy Brittingham reports that the ocean oval is being put in top condition amendments to the Social Security Act.

While benefits can now be paid for as many as 12 months preceding the month of filing an application, Mr. King urges everyone to get in touch with his social security office (1) when he reaches 65, even though he is still working, (2) when he reaches age 72, regardless of the amount of his earnings, or (3) when the family breadwinner dies. People who have been in employment or self-employment covered by old-age and survivors insurance but who have become totally disabled should also get in touch with their social security office, or have someone do so for them, he said.

The Hagerstown social security office is in the Earle Bldg., Hagerstown, and representatives regularly visit Thurmont and Emmitsburg.

for the approaching meet, and that several sizeable stables have arrived to begin early workouts over the speedy half-mile racing strip.

With the resort season at Ocean City reaching record proportions this year, and with Ocean Downs enjoying perfect mid-summer racing dates, the meet is expected to be the best in the track's eight-year history from the standpoint of attendance and wagering.

Racing should be at a peak, too, since the four big Ocean Downs Raceway stakes have drawn hundreds of the nation's classiest two and three-year-old trotters and pacers, including the pick of such stables as those of Del Miller and Billy Haughton, America's leading harness drivers.

Brittingham disclosed recently that the $2,000 Ocean City fast class pace, one of the 12 early closing features scheduled during the meet, has drawn no less than 32 top-flight performers headed by Direct Walnut and Gypsy Gal.

Direct Walnut, owned and driven by Jack Smith of Burlington, N. Y., conquered such stars as Scottish Chief, Date Knight and Extra Special in a sizzling 2:05 at Rosecroft Raceway. Gypsy Gal has won two out of three at Rosecroft, best in 2:05 2/5.

Other speedsters nominated to the Ocean City Pace, which is scheduled for July 21, are annonite, Banner's Pride, Belle Ville Boy, Suit Yourself, Giles Hanover, Gay Louis and Pansy Chief—all fast performers.

Eddie and Bobby Adelsberger, sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Adelsberger, are spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Owens and sons at their summer home in Herald Harbor, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Carroll Elder and family, Pittsburgh, Pa., are spending two weeks here visiting with Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 28—The only way I have made money in the stock market has been by selling stocks and taking profits at times like this, depositing the money in banks, and waiting until the bottom of the next decline. When the market crash finally comes, I buy stocks.

Buying Into New Industries

In this way I am not a speculator, but am like the ice man in the North who gathers ice in wintry weather and stores it up for people to use during the summer. This same principle, in reverse, applies to those who can buy fruit and vegetables in summer when they are about to spoil. We all perform a real service and are entitled to be rewarded. We have the courage to sell stocks or buy fruit when others lack the courage to do so. People who go with the crowd make conditions worse. Those who go contrary to the crowd are in a position later to make conditions better when there is much unemployment, no new building, and when commodities are selling below cost.

Others make money in the stock market by performing another kind of service—that is by helping new industries when they are unpopular and taking profits when these industries mature and are popular. Those who follow this second program have the additional advantage of diversification. They also always keep their money working, whereas, under my method, my money is idle about a third of the time. Buying into new industries each year and selling the stocks of a few maturing companies requires much research. Any investor who desires to follow such a program should be prepared to pay an Investment Counselor for selecting these new industries. Furthermore, although General Motors, for instance, has been a "gold mine," yet there have

Purina
HIGH-EFFICIENCY
Breeder Chows

started a new trend toward higher production and longer laying from breeders 3 years ago. That was when Purina introduced the first High-Efficiency Breeder Chows.

Since then Purina Breeder Chows have been stepped up still further in efficiency and breeder hens are making eggs on less feed per dozen than ever before.

A thorough test on all or part of your flocks will quickly show you the low-cost per dozen . . . that comes from high-efficiency in Purina Breeder Chows. Try them and see for yourself. One is made to feed with scratch grain, another for complete feeding.

Recent Election Expenses Listed

The 1956 primary in Frederick County, first held with the new been scores of other automobile companies which have gone bankrupt. It is necessary both to get into the right industry, and also to buy the stock of the right company within that industry.

Wisconsin University's Program

Although swapping maturing industries for new industries is exceedingly profitable when done intelligently, very few individuals or even institutions have the ability and courage to act on this principle. One college, however, has had a most interesting experience in this connection. I refer to Wisconsin University, which, on its typical Board of conservative college Trustees, had also some bright chemists and engineers. These younger men so failed in getting the conservative Board to adopt a more courageous investment policy that they formed a separate Trust—the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. They got together seven men who contributed $80 or so apiece, making a total of $560 to start with on Jan. 1, 1926. They increased this small sum by the purchase and sale of "Growth Stocks" so that, at the present time, this $560, with accumulated dividends and profits, amounts to over $17 million with a market value on Dec. 31, 1955, of $36 million. Approximately $6 million received from patents and royalties they gave back to the university for new buildings and increased salaries.

I might also give the names of individual clients which my organization has helped along these lines. I could also cite a member of my family who during 50 years increased $600 to over $1 million by putting the dividends and profits back into new industries when they were unpopular and selling these when they became popular. Meanwhile the fund was kept well diversified with only a comparatively small amount in each industry, so risk was pretty well eliminated. All this required, however, considerable work as the entire fund was turned over probably once in 10 years. In this case, no attention was given to general market conditions or the investment cycle.

The Report of a Psychiatrist

Let me close with a story which one of my valuable associates, John D. Riordan, tells. It concerns a friend who had a nervous breakdown on account of his overactivity in the stock market. One day when the patient was lying on the couch and telling of his early life, the psychiatrist said, "I understand what got you into all this trouble. The first thing you seem to remember is your mother rocking you in the cradle and singing 'Bye lo, Bye lo, Baby.' You interpreted this to mean 'Buy low - Buy low!'" voting machines, cost $11,199.04, according to figures compiled by the Board of Election Supervisors.

Although the figure was approximately $2000 more than the 1954 primary, the amount included a number of items which will not have to be repeated in succeeding primaries or elections, materially reducing the expenses in the future.

Most of these items had to be included because of the voting machines. For instance, a number of new tables were purchased. There was considerable printed material which can be used for some time in the future. There was the cost of hauling machines to and from meetings with judges to display the operation of the voting devices. None of the cost of the machines themselves is included. The County Commissioners issued serial notes to pay for these charges.

The figure for the salaries of the judges at the various precinct places dropped more than $1000 over the 1954 total. The cost was $5000, while two years ago at the primary, the total was $6,138.65.

The elimination of overtime cut this total and is expected to make an even more sizeable reduction when election day rolls around. Judges are now paid a flat $15 a day and no overtime. In the past, on lengthy ballots with long counts, judges and clerks used to draw many hours of overtime in some precincts.

Prescriptions Given For Water Hemlock

Farmers in this section who are having trouble with water hemlock killing their livestock may be interested in the following information which is supplied by Robert Leiter, of the Vocational Agriculture Dept. of the Fairfield Jointure High School and the County Extension Service:

Water hemlock is a plant three to six feet high having stout, hollow stems which often show a purple color underneath. It is found in wet areas and along streams. Its small white flowers occur in clusters that are from two to four inches in diameter.

Control of this poisonous perennial may be overcome by the use of brushkiller 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T. Apply the above at the rate of two pounds per 100 gallons of water. This spray mixture will also kill other brush such as clover and alfalfa. Livestock should be kept out of the sprayed area for two weeks after the application.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Proper care of your boat is not just a question of upkeep. With most models, particularly with small boats, it's not a matter of how much scraping, calking and painting—if any—you do. It is a matter of taking the trouble to find out just what care and treatment the craft needs, and then giving it that consistently.

Different size boats require different treatment, just because of their size. So do the various constructions—metal, plastic, wood covered and uncovered, aluminum, and others by the dozen.

The most important item in preserving the life of your boat is not to hit any solid objects hard enough to spring the hull or crack any part of it. Or, as Willard Randall, boats and motors editor of Sports Afield magazine, says, "drive sensibly."

No boat can be used without being scratched, marred or dented. A boatman soon learns the latest touch-up products and techniques and to take such precautions as hanging out rub fenders over the gunwales before each landing. Resale values are poor on excessively scratched boats, partly because dealers and other buyers suspect a slam-banged boat is one that is loosened up or cracked. To be appearance-conscious is one of the best ways to avoid real damage to your hull. If it's on your mind not to scratch and scrape your boat, you're not likely to wham it hard enough to hurt the hull.

Most damage that shortens a boat's life—both the sudden kind and the slow, continuous sort—occurs when the craft is out of use, when there is no one in it. There's hazard even for a boat tied to a pier. Safety in mooring involves such matters as choosing a good spot and using the right length line, so the moored boat won't hit against anything.

Then, a boatman must contend with land damage. Smaller craft that can be lifted can also be dropped. A trailer can rub on a vulnerable spot. Dampness, dryness and heat can take years from the life of your boat. But if you treat your boat right, you can add years to its life—five, 10 or even more.

Indonesia officially became an independent republic, when it was released from Dutch control in 1949.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Junior Gets "Pinned" Down

Junior Baker and friends are all set for their circus. Look for their advertisements on neighborhood trees.

The kids have had problems in staging the event. The biggest was the admission fee. Junior wanted to charge five cents, Mrs. Baker thought it would be much nicer if they charged five pins.

So Junior held a meeting with his Directors—then told his mother they'd taken her advice. The ads now read: Giant Circus in Baker's Backyard. ADMISSION FIVE PINS PLUS FIVE CENTS TAX.

From where I sit, that's a cute example of a mighty important point—if you want things to turn out your way, then you had better let the other fellow have his choice, too. For instance, if your taste should happen to run to, say, iced tea... then you owe it to yourself to see that those who prefer beer, buttermilk or whatever you get to enjoy their favorite beverages, too. After all, turn about's fair play.

Basketball League

Concludes

First Quarter

Activity in the Summer Basketball League reached the first quarter mark this week and results to date show the Liners leading the league. Games are played every Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7:15 p. m. on the out-door court of Emmitsburg Public School.

Interest in the project has been maintained by several older athletes who have been encouraging and instructing the boys. Coach James Phelan of Mt. St. Mary's College is devoting considerable time to the project and the results are evidenced by the improved brand of basketball being played as well as good sportsmanship. High-scorers of the four teams are Ancarrow, Stoner, Adelsberger, Joy and Stoner.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

The government's shopping list includes everything from monkeys to glue.

That was shown clearly at the recent Small Business Conference in Baltimore when various Federal departments outlined their needs and procurement procedures to about 1000 persons from the Maryland area.

To many of the small business men at the meeting, the variety of items and services being sought was completely amazing.

The Public Health Service, for instance, was in the market for six Macaous rhesus monkeys "in first class physical condition."

More commonplace items such as screen doors, friction tape, potato chips, musical instruments and paints were on supply lists of numerous other agencies.

In a stack of bid invitations for private services needed by several government operations, there were requests for vehicle-washing facilities and for persons to translate birth certificates and other documents written in any of 67 languages ranging alphabetically from Albanian to Yugoslavian.

Unique Skills Are Advantage

Representatives of Federal departments stated that small concerns are getting "from 60 to 65 per cent of the military business which is within their capabilities" and "nearly one-half the dollar volume of the items costing $25 or more throughout the government's civilian agencies."

"Small businesses often have an inherent advantage over big business," said Wendell B. Barnes, administrator of the Small Business Administration, "since the production of some items depends largely on the unique skills found in the smaller concerns."

The Baltimore conference was sponsored by the SBA and the Baltimore Assn. of Commerce and it will be used as a model for additional meetings which will soon be held in other sections of the nation.

For Marylanders who were unable to attend the conference for this area, there is still a continuing opportunity to obtain up-to-date information on government purchasing through the Baltimore branch office of the SBA.

During the past month, approximately $5 million worth of contracts were placed with Maryland businesses through the Baltimore office, according to Harry A. Barron, manager of the branch office.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wachter and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Goulden and daughter spent the week-end with Mrs. C. E. Geeseman, Reading, Pa.

A PROCLAMATION

To

SLOW DOWN AND LIVE!

Whereas, highway accidents continue to take an appalling toll of life and property

Whereas, it is the duty of all of us as citizens, of our great State, to encourage safety in our community—to protect our families, friends and neighbors from this scourge

Whereas, in cooperation with the public-spirited organizations, who are sponsoring the nationwide "Slow Down and Live" campaign, in cooperation with the 48 governors, and the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission; I now, therefore, as Mayor of Emmitsburg, am calling on all of our citizens, business houses and industrial plants to help promote this life-saving crusade and do hereby request all our citizens to cooperate during this period.

CLARENCE G. FRALEY, Mayor, Emmitsburg, Maryland
