Once more that fine out-door entertainment, the Horse Show, has taken place and I might add, successfully. The field is being improved each year with permanent installations and is rapidly becoming a valuable asset to the community. An estimated 1000 people witnessed the eighth annual performance Sunday and perfect weather prevailed. I have been fortunate enough to be able to attend all eight shows and each year they become more interesting.

Those of you who missed it really deprived yourself of an interesting Sunday afternoon's entertainment. The grit and determination of one of the young girl riders was admirable. The young lady received a nasty fall when her horse refused to take a jump over a four-foot hurdle and tossed her body overhead. The fall rendered her unconscious or dazed for a few minutes and it was feared she had broken her neck or arm. A quick survey by a physician in attendance at the show, revealed no broken bones but a badly-lacerated lip. She was taken to the hospital in the VFW ambulance and x-rayed and found sound. She required 10 sutures to close the laceration of the lip and returned to the show grounds. Any ordinary individual would have called it quits after an experience of that sort but not this proud little gal. She went right to work and had horses jumping all over the field. I don't know what makes these horse exhibitors tick but they are one swell group of people. Several other spills added to the excitement of the show and I am anxiously awaiting next year's event.

Someone was remarking the other day how soft the firemen had it this summer. Checking over records I found that they knew what they were talking about. It seems that about only three small blazes of little or no consequence had occurred the past three or four months. Well so what? After every storm there's a calm and after every calm therefore must be a storm. This is the season when fires become prevalent. Cold and blustery days make people turn on the heat and naturally when this happens some get the flame too high, overheat the building and bingo, the firemen are on their way. This wouldn't be a bad time to have your chimney and heating apparatus checked because it's getting windy and colder.

The weather was sort of peculiar this year, I have heard numerous people remark and I am inclined to go along with the general opinion. Last winter was one of the most sustained (constant cold weather) we have had for the past 45 years, record disclose. We had little or no spring this year and hopped right along into summer which had plenty of rain and excellent crops. However the temperature was constantly mild almost the whole of the summer. Cold weather is setting in fast now and from indications I'd say we are going to have an early winter. The mornings are chilly, the afternoons hot and the evenings bring early frost. I don't exactly know how I digressed from the subject of fires but I see I have wandered far off course. Oh well, to end it tersely, the weather is related to fire inasmuch as when it gets cold we fire heavier and the heavier we fire the more apt there is to be a fire and soon the fire laddies will be busy once again.

GOP Women To Convene

The annual convention of the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland of which Mrs. Vaughn E. Richardson, of Salisbury, is president, will convene on Tuesday, Oct. 2, at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel.

At the 10-30 convention Sen. J. Glenn Beall will introduce "Our Team" the Maryland candidates for office—Sen. John M. Butler, Congressman James P. S. Devereux, Edward T. Miller, Congressman Dewitt S. Hyde, Mr. William B. Prendergast, Mr. Harry Kemper, Mr. George D. Hubbard and Mr. David A. Halley. This is the only occasion at which all the candidates will be present.

Civil Defense Group Appointed For Here

Four area citizens, each representing a separate civic organization, have been appointed by Frederick County Civil Defense Director Lawrence H. Crickenberger as leaders in the drive to obtain enough civilian defense volunteers in this area to open up a separate Emmitsburg Civil Defense headquarters here by Nov. 15.

Civil defense training courses will be held in this area beginning Nov. 1, Mr. Crickenberger said, if enough volunteers are found in Emmitsburg by then to form classes.

From among these trainees will emerge the first leaders and officials of the local civil defense setup, the County Director announced.

The Emmitsburg leaders chosen for the task of organizing Civilian Defense in this area are: Richard Florence, Master of the Emmitsburg Grange; Charles R. Fuss, president of the Emmitsburg Lions Club; Curtis Bucher, president of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce, and Edgar Wastler, Commander of the Emmitsburg Post of the American Legion.

Each will be sent membership cards in civilian defense for the members of their own organization and anyone else interested in joining in this interesting and vital activity.

Police Investigate Tire Theft

The theft of two tires and wheels, valued at $200, from a two-wheel trailer at the farm of George Kraemer, Rt. 2, Fairfield, is being investigated by Pennsylvania State Police. They said the trailer had been parked alongside a barn at the Kramer farm along the Lower Tract Rd., with the vehicle raised on cement blocks. Someone, they said, had removed the wheels, complete with almost new tires, from the vehicle.

Airman Charged With Malicious Property Destruction

Glass, home on leave from the Dover Air Force Base, was charged with malicious destruction of property by State Trooper William G. Morgan. Estimated damage was $2,000. The plane was forced down several days before the mishap by a heavy fog over the Glass farm about three miles east of Emmitsburg.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Shirley Glacken, 15, was admitted for treatment Saturday at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg. She suffered back injuries in an auto accident south of Gettysburg. Pennsylvania State Police reported she was riding in a car operated by Victor E. Arentz, 16, of near Gettysburg who lost control of the vehicle at a high rate of speed. The car was demolished police said as it crashed off the highway.

Charged With Forging Checks

Paul H. Trent, Route 1, who was apprehended by Frederick police last Friday as a parole violator, will be charged with forgery police said this week. The charge involves several checks in Frederick, authorities said. Trent is being held in jail pending further action.

New Signs

For Postoffice

Announcement has been made that the Postoffice Department will place new identification signs at some 45,000 postoffice and postal stations starting the first week in October.

Postmaster General Summerfield said the red, white and blue signs are "an important improvement at a slight cost," making it easier for patrons to identify postal service facilities.

Standard Time Starts Sunday

Emmitsburg and Frederick County will revert to Standard Time early Sunday morning, but Montgomery County, near Washington, following the lead of the nation's capital, will remain on Daylight Time until Oct. 28.

Emmitsburg's Town Council announces that this town will be back on "slow time" at 2 a. m. on Sunday morning. The change is expected with a minimum of trouble, except for bus service. To date Greyhound Lines has not announced schedule changes which follow the end of DST. Officials agree things are "mixed up" with buses serving both Baltimore and Washington, each having a different time.

The greatest confusion here perhaps, will come to television viewers who will find major network programs an hour earlier beginning Sunday and continuing through Oct. 28. That is attributable to the fact that New York, the main point of origin, is one of those cities remaining on "fast time."

Emmitsburgians will pick up the hour's sleep lost last April. The remainder of Maryland, except for counties around Washington, is expected to follow Baltimore and end Daylight Time on Sunday. Next year it may be different. Baltimore is voting on an extension of Daylight Time at the November election and if it is approved, most of the state probably will follow suit in 1957.

Explains Plane Crack-Up

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

I would appreciate your publishing this article in your paper at your earliest convenience.

On Saturday, the 15th of September, a student from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., landed a small airplane in my father's pasture field. The plane was presumably forced down by weather conditions. The student and my younger brother placed a temporary fence around the plane upon my father's request. On the night of Sept. 19 the cattle had trampled the fence down and the cattle were walking around the airplane. On the morning of Sept. 20 my younger brother and I decided to move the plane to another field. We started the airplane up, checked the engine out and made the usual preflight check. After this was done we checked the terrain and wind direction and attempted to take off.

After getting approximately two-thirds of the way across the field I lifted off but was unable to clear the power line located at the end of the field. I then nosed the airplane under the power line but caught the landing gear in the fence. We crossed the highway and caught the other fence causing us to be thrown into a neighbor's corn field. I have better than 3000 hours of flying time and felt quite capable of handling the airplane, but it didn't seem to develop sufficient power. We came to the house immediately and went to Dr. Williams for necessary medical treatment. We then went across the street and notified Trooper Morgan about the accident. He came out about noon and placed a charge of malicious and willful destruction of property against me. At his request we moved the airplane back to our farm. During the process of moving it the plane was damaged beyond repair. We notified the owner and as soon as we can get an estimate of the salvageable parts we will settle with him. He paid $1300 for the airplane in November of 1955.

Will Display New Ford Cars Wednesday

John S. Hollinger, sales manager of Sperry's Garage announced this week that the preview showing of the 1957 Ford will take place at the garage's show-rooms next Wednesday, Oct. 3.

Mrs. Ada H. Sperry, proprietress of the business, disclosed that the new cars are lower longer and more handsome than in previous years. Two lines are featured, the Fairline and the Custom series and some models have up to 245 horsepower. In length the car is over 17 feet. The public is cordially invited to see the new models at the showing Wednesday.

The habit of saving is a joint effort of husband and wife in 59% of American families, a recent survey concludes.

Miss Sterbinsky Bride Of Lester Boyer

Before an altar banked with white pompons, chrysanthemums, ferns and lighted tapers, Miss Ann Marie Sterbinsky, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. William S. Sterbinsky, S. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg, became the bride of Lester William Boyer, son of Mrs. Rebecca Boyer, Frederick, Rt. 5, and the late Lester W. Boyer, at a nuptial mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, last Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

The assistant pastor, Rev. Fr. Vincent Heary, C.M., officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. O'Donnell and Rev. Dr. Thomas J. Kicullen, rector and vice rector, respectively, of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, and Rev. Fr. James G. Burke, Rev. Fr. Hugh J. Phillips, Rt. Rev. Msgr. William F. Culhane, and Rev. Peter A. Coad, all of Mt. St. Mary's College.

George Greco, of Emmitsburg, the soloist, was accompanied at the organ by Miss Louella Lamsinger, of Emmitsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, former music professor at Mt. St. Mary's College, wore a floor-length white gown fashioned with a closely-fitted bodice of Alencon lace with short sleeves and a square neckline. The skirt of nylon tulle and net over silk taffeta was appliqued with Alder-son sequins decorated the bodice, bouffant skirt and chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a lace crown embroidered with seed pearls, sequins and rhinestones. She wore watching lace mitts and carried a cascade arrangement of white pompons, Fuji mums and ivy. Her only jewelry consisted of a strand of pearls and earrings.

Mrs. Patricia M. Tragger, Timonium, cousin of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of coral Chantilly lace over taffeta with a fitted bodice, scooped neckline, short sleeves and a full circular skirt. She wore a matching headpiece consisting of an Elizabethan cap of seed pearls with a face veil dotted with pearls. She carried a modern colonial-type bouquet of pompons and carnations in contrasting colors.

Mrs. Helen Hooper, Frederick, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridal attendant. She wore a similar gown in pale blue Chantilly lace over taffeta with a matching bodice. She carried a colonial-type bouquet in contrasting colors.

Both attendants wore pearls and earrings.

Charles H. Boyer, Bridgeville, Del., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. The ushers were William F. Sterbinsky, Baltimore, brother of the bride; Robert D. and G. Richard Boyer, Frederick, brothers of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Sterbinsky, mother of the bride, wore a street-length dress of Dior blue silk taffeta trimmed with lace appliques. She wore a navy blue accessories and elbow-length gloves and a corsage of pink Poincettia roses. Mrs. Boyer, mother of the bridegroom, appeared in a grey silk print street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of garnet Poincettia roses.

Sportsmen To Stock Fish

The September meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club was held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President Clay Green presiding.

One new member, Arvin P. Jones, was admitted to the club. The shooting match chairman, Gilbert Elker, reported the committee has decided on October 14, Oct. 28 and Nov. 18 as the dates for future matches that will be held at the Civic Grounds.

The club plans to stock 200 eight-inch trout and 25 trout of a larger size ranging from 18 to 25 inches in Rainbow Lake in the near future.

The sportsmen once again will provide "Hunting by Permission Only" signs to property owners, as it has done in past years. The signs are free for the asking and will be available at the following places of business: B. H. Boyle's, Hoke's Hardware, Green's Pastry Shop, Chronicle Press and Ashbaugh's Store. Signs bearing this message: "Be Careful, Other Hunters Are Here," will also be distributed. Following the adjournment of the business session refreshments were served.

Cashtown Downs Fairfield, 2-1

Cashtown scored two runs in the ninth inning to gain a 2-1 victory over Fairfield in the first game of the Pen-Mar Baseball League finals at Cashtown Sunday. About 400 fans saw a real hurling duel between Ronnie Kump of Cashtown and Guy Weikert of Fairfield. Ira Herring's single drove over the winning run.

The teams move to Fairfield this Sunday for the second game of the series.

SMALL-SHUFF

Miss Mary Dian Shuff, daughter of Mrs. Mary Shuff, Fairfield R.D., became the bride of James Edward Small, U. S. Army, son of Mrs. Pearl Brown, Blue Ridge Summit, last Saturday evening in the Elias Ev. Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg.

The bride's pastor, the Rev. Philip Bower, and the pastor of the bridegroom, Rev. Boyd Davis, Blue Ridge Summit, officiated at the candlelight ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, George Giggell, Fairfield. Mrs. John Trout, of Rockville, was the matron of honor.

Joseph Brown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Robert Daugherty, Emmitsburg, and Herbert Giggell, Fairfield, nephew of the bride.

Jasper Wantz, organist, accompanied the soloist, Herbert Giggell.

The bride wore a gown of champagne lace over taffeta with a fitted bodice, full floor-length skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore black accessories and carried an orchid upon a white Bible.

The bridegroom is stationed at Washington, D. C., with the U. S. Army. Following a reception in the home of the bride, the couple left for a wedding trip over the Skyline Dr. and through the Shenandoah Valley, Va., after which they will reside at Arlington, Va.

Suit Is Settled

A damage suit for $10,000 damages filed by Charles S. Hubbard, Jr., Thurmont, through his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubbard, against James E. Houck, Emmitsburg, has been settled.

The plaintiff claimed that on June 28 he was operating a bicycle east at the intersection of a private road with the Old Frederick Rd., near Utica, when a ranch wagon operated by the defendant, going south on the Frederick Rd., struck his cycle. He claimed severe injuries to the face and head and charged the accident was due to the negligence of the defendant.

The case was marked "agreed and settled" by J. Kemp Bartlett II, attorney for the Hubbards, and William H. Hicks, attorney for Houck.

"After years of costly surveys, the experts tell us that youngsters in school will not take hard subjects like geometry and algebra, if they can get the same credits for finger painting and music appreciation. This used to be known as the law of least resistance and many ignorant parents never believed it could be repealed." —Philadelphia (Pa.) Bulletin

LIONS CLUB WILL ISSUE BULLETIN

Twenty Lions were present at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in the Lutheran parish hall, President Charles R. Fuss presiding. Two new members, Rufus Rhodes and Cloyd W. Seiss, were admitted to the group.

A communication from the local Little League was received and read. It sought money for advertising space on the local diamond's billboard and an advertisement was authorized to the extent of $20. A $5 advertisement also was authorized for the local Grange's Community Show program. Secretary Robert Daugherty announced the annual dues to the district were now due. Dr. D. L. Beegle, chairman of the sight conservation committee announced a pair of eyeglasses had been purchased for a local indigent girl.

Robert E. Daugherty, general chairman of the recent Horse Show, expressed his appreciation to the committees which assisted him in the promotion of the show. A complete report of the financial status of the show will be given at the next regular meeting. The secretary announced that a district zone meeting will be held here sometime in November.

An innovation, a semi-monthly news bulletin, will be published for the information of the members, the board of directors decided Monday night. Paul W. Claypool was named editor of the bulletin and Philip B. Sharpe, associate editor.

St. Joseph's High School News

On Oct. 6 20 seniors and juniors of SJHS will attend the annual Villanova Press Conference at Villanova College. At this conference the students will attend lectures which should prove to be very educational and helpful when planning the annual high school yearbook. Last Tuesday afternoon the regular monthly CSMC meeting was held in the high school auditorium with president Joan Orndorff, presiding. Plans were made to raise money for the missions throughout the coming year. Ideas were suggested and it was then decided that each class would have a definite activity to benefit the Missions. The regional Blue Ridge Conference CSMC meeting was held last Thursday at St. Maria Goretti's High School, Hagerstown. Approximately 18 SJHS students attended. At this meeting, Joan Orndorff was elected vice president of the Blue Ridge CSMC Conference for the 1956-57 school year. As the hunting season approaches, the freshmen and sophomore boys are making adequate preparations for it. They have been seen in the shop working diligently on leather-clad quivers. These quivers will come in quite handy for the lads who have acquired great bow and arrow techniques. The boys are also working with sheepskins which will be used to decorate their much-used bicycles. The first fire drill of the

Hen Pheasants Are Still Protected

It is generally conceded that in order to establish pheasants as a game bird in any given locality, it is essential to give the hens absolute protection by making it unlawful to kill them at any time of the year. It is also well known that a single cock pheasant will mate with a number of hens from several, to perhaps 10 or 12. For these reasons the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission does not provide for an open season on hen pheasants. They are protected at all times and cannot be killed during the coming open season on upland game, which this fall is Nov. 15 to Dec. 31, both dates inclusive. The daily limit on pheasants is two cocks per day; there is also a season limit of 6; possession limit at any one time during the open season is four cocks. This limit, season, and restriction on hen pheasants do not apply to regulated licensed pheasant shooting areas, where the open season in 1956-57 will be Oct. 1 to March 31, inclusive. According to Director Ernest A. Vaughn, Maryland has spent much time and money in an endeavor to establish pheasants in Maryland, with no success whatever excepting for a narrow strip of land bordering on the State of Pennsylvania. For this reason the Game and Inland Fish Commission does not stock pheasants in other parts of the State.

Girl Scouts Elect

The second meeting of the Emmitsburg Girl Scouts was held last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the VFW Bldg. It was presided over by the president, Alice Shirwin. Following the salute to the flag, the Girl Scout pledge was recited. During the previous meeting it was decided to take lessons in the various arts and crafts. The leader, Theresa Rybikowsky, solicited students attending St. Joseph College to assist in the project. The following Scouts were elected to head the various troops: Teresa Weedon, Troop I; Evonne Hankey, Troop II; Pam Miller, Troop III, and Dian Topper, Troop IV. Following the election a surprise birthday party was given the leader, Theresa Rybikowsky. The Scouts presented her with a card and birthday cake. Refreshments were then served after which the meeting adjourned.

NOW PLAYING AT THE MAJESTIC THEATER

JAYNE MANSFIELD LAUDS KENNY FOUNDATION: "It is most comforting to know that the Elizabeth Kenny foundation is not only continuing its fight against polio crippling, but is expanding its program to include the rehabilitation of victims of many other neuromuscular disorders," Jayne Mansfield, star of radio, television and stage, declares in an appeal in support of the organization's 1956 fund campaign. Miss Mansfield, shown with a portrait of the late Sister Kenny, is being heard in television appeals across the country.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE PLANTS

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

SHAGBARK HICKORY (Carya ovata)

RANGE: Quebec to Minnesota and south to Florida and Texas. Common in Maryland except in coastal region. DESCRIPTION: Largest of the true hickories; larger trees may be recognized by the scaly bark on trunk; large compound leaves with usually five long leaflets and a smooth leaf-stalk. Height up to 120 feet; deep roots; grows slowly and may live to 250 years but matures about 80 years. About 15 varieties of hickories. PREFERRED HABITAT: Rich moist soil and plenty of light; likes hillsides; soil may be rocky but well drained. METHOD OF ESTABLISHMENT: Difficult to transplant; germination about 85 per cent; about 30 usable plants per pound of seed; 80-90 seeds per pound. Young trees easily frost damaged. Tree is moving toward extinction, should be protected and increased. FLOWERS: Appear about May; pollen bearing, by wind. FRUIT: Nuts mature in fall; enclosed in a thick husk that will split. WILDLIFE USE: Nuts eaten by squirrels and chipmunks; the leaves and bark are eaten by many birds and animals, including rabbits and deer. OTHER VALUES: Wood very hard; valuable for making tool handles, baseball bats, and golf clubs. Nut will yield a good oil sometimes used for salads.

Insurance Agent Attends Convention

Paul W. Claypool, local representative of the Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. at Emmitsburg, is one of 44 agents attending the sales training school being conducted by Nationwide Insurance of Columbus Ohio, from Monday through Friday of this week at the Summit Hotel, Uniontown, Pa. Mr. Claypool has met the eligibility requirements established by the companies, which are designed to help the agent render better service to his policyholders. In this school, which is one of a series of training courses held periodically by the companies, particular emphasis was placed on the study of new developments in the insurance industry.

TODAY'S meditation

We preach not ourselves, but Christ Jesus the Lord. (11 Corinthians 4:5.)

One day a painter was summoned before the Tribunal. There he received the word that one of his paintings had been considered as an invitation to revolt. It was demanded of him that he paint another picture which would annul the first one. The artist answered: "We, the painters, are artists; we have inspiration and we obey it, even though it displeases the mighty."

Innumerable times, the servant of God is tempted to live his life in such a way that his regeneration would be made of no effect. He is invited to do this because his life in Christ is an invitation to other souls to abandon sin. But as a good and faithful servant he stands firm and answers with his Christian testimony.

If we obey the Saviour, even though provoking the dislike of the powerful forces of evil, the King will one day say to us: "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

PRAYER

Beloved God, we are grateful to Thee because Thou hast kept us from the evil which surrounds us. Strengthen our faith. Clarify Thy law, so that it may speak to us of Thy power and love. For the love of Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The just live by faith.

Important Social Security Changes Are Announced

By WILLIAM T. GILLESPIE
Field Representative
Hagerstown Social Security Office

Some important changes have been made in the old-age and survivors insurance program as a result of the Social Security Amendments of 1956 which President Eisenhower signed into law on Aug. 1, 1956.

All of the changes, directly or indirectly, affect our people as a whole. Working persons—employed and self-employed—need to know about them; their families need to know about them. I realize that it is part of my job as field representative for the Social Security Administration in this area to explain these changes in the law. I hope to achieve this in part through this series of articles.

In the articles to follow I shall describe the changes singly and in detail; today, I shall restrict myself to a summary of the three most important changes designed to strengthen the Federal insurance system which provides partial protection against loss of earned income upon the retirement or death, and now—under certain conditions—upon the disability of the worker who is so severely disabled as to be unable to engage in any substantial work.

Effective with November of this year, benefits will become payable to women when they reach age 62. Survivors benefits for widows and, in certain cases, mothers of deceased workers will start with a payment for November which will be received early in December. The amount of the monthly payment will be the same that they would have started getting at age 65 under the old law. Beginning with November 1956, retired insured women workers and wives of retired insured workers can start getting benefit payments at age 62. In these cases, the amount of the payment will be somewhat less than the amount that would have been payable at age 65 under the old law.

A change has been made in the disability provision in the law. While the "disability freeze" provision which protects the social security insurance rights of workers is continued, monthly cash benefit payments beginning with July '57, will be made to disabled workers when they reach age 50. Beginning with January 1957, monthly benefits are now payable to a disabled unmarried child, even after the child has reached age 18, if the child was disabled since before he reached 18 and is the dependent child of a retired or deceased parent, step-parent, or adopting parent who is eligible for old-age insurance benefits under social security, or was injured for the purpose of survivors benefits at the time of his or her death.

Other important changes in the law affect farmers, both employed and self-employed. While there have been no changes in old-age and survivors insurance benefit rates, there are changes in the way benefits can be figured and the time necessary to become insured for payments. The latter provision is of special importance to persons whose kind of work is now covered by social security as of Jan. 1, 1956. Newly-covered groups are lawyers, dentists, chiropractors, veterinarians, naturopaths, osteopaths, and optometrists. Other recent legislation provides for the extension of social security on a permanent contributory basis after 1956 to members of the armed services on active duty.

Some of the changes I have mentioned are retroactive to the beginning of 1956, others will become effective as of November of this year; still other changes will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1957; and one does not become effective until July 1, 1957.

STATE-WIDE MUSCULAR DYSTROPHY CAMPAIGN receives early start as Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin presents official proclamation to N. Chester Phillips, regional representative of MDA. Governor McKeldin will serve as Honorary Chairman of the drive which will take place in November. Volunteers for Signal Night on Tuesday, November 20 are urgently needed. They may volunteer by writing: Muscular Dystrophy c/o POSTMASTER, Baltimore, Md.

In my next article I shall discuss the newly-covered professional groups and explain the steps they must take to have their earnings correctly reported for social security credit under the amended law.

ALTERNATIVE COMPENSATION

New Coverage Introduced by Nationwide Ins. Co. March, 1956!

This Coverage is Optional and is not the only Medical Payment coverage offered. $500, $1,000 and $2,000 Medical Payments are offered to Policyholders if they do not want Alternative Compensation.

Why should an Auto Owner have Alternative Compensation?

It gives each member of the Family Protection against loss by any type of Automobile Accident.
1—$4,000 Accidental Life Insurance.
2—$2,000 Medical Payments.
3—$5.00 per day for 180 days, if disabled as a result of auto accident.

(Note: Children under age 18, Life and Disability are one-half of the above limits and Medical Expense remains the same).

This is written with regular Auto Liability Policy and all Nationwide Policyholders who desire to have more information concerning this coverage, call your local Nationwide Insurance Agent listed below.

If you now have Medical Payments, deduct that cost from the cost of Alternative Compensation and you will have the additional cost of this coverage that will cover you and your family, any passengers in your automobile, pedestrians or occupants of another car you might be involved with—up to $6,000 per person!

THIS IS WHERE TOMORROW STARTS

A new "inner car" gives you a NEW KIND of FORD for 1957! Coming October 3rd.

On Wednesday, October 3rd, Ford Dealers throughout the United States will unveil a new kind of automobile!

Cars are involved in every American's life. News of a new kind of car is the biggest kind of news to millions of Americans.

The Big New Kind of Ford is that kind of news... a car totally new in design from crest to trunk lock.

This completely new automotive package will sell at the traditionally low Ford prices.

This makes possible a new high standard of such honest-to-goodness value that it actually increases the purchasing power of your automobile dollar.

When you see it, other cars will look out of date, because...

This is Where Tomorrow Starts... with a Big New Kind of Ford!

The New Kind of Ford is the fullest, most eloquent expression of Ford's special personality—the youthful grace, the whiplash action—and the reputation for durability known wherever there's a road.

To all this we have added true elegance—a kind of elegance never before seen in the low-price field. To make a car truly elegant, you must start deep-down inside.

The New Inner Ford

The Inner Ford—the car you cannot see—is a very remarkable structure. Its frame is actually a cradle. Side members extend almost the full body width; they serve not only as supporting members but as concealed side bumpers of immense strength.

The New Ford Body

The new Ford body is a triumph of engineering in steel. The doors close with the solid finality of a bank vault. Even the door-lock button has been moved up front—easier for you to reach, but out of the children's reach.

All these features were engineered to give you a solid new kind of comfort.

The New Ford Ride

The New Kind of Ford sits six people as no other low-priced car has ever sat them —six elbows wide in each seat, with deep space around each one of six knees. And above all that space, there's hat room to spare for all six passengers.

The 1957 Ford rides low, solid, with a firm, deep road-holding feel. Yet it's a light-hearted, flight-hearted ride—this car is responsive, nimble, agile, with a proud easy movement.

The New Ford Choice

Ford offers not only one, but two sizes of cars... each on its own extended wheelbase... each with its own body shell... each with its own styling.

First, the two Fairlane Series on a 118-inch wheelbase. The Fairlane 500's come in 5 body types, a four-door sedan, a two-door sedan, a two- and four-door Victoria with no center pillars, and a convertible coupe. The same body types (except for the convertible) are available in the Fairlane Series.

Second, two Custom Series mounted on the 116-inch wheelbase chassis. In the Custom 300 Series, a four-door and a two-door sedan are distinguished from the Custom models by more luxurious interiors and elaborate trim. The Custom Series also includes a Business Sedan.

Beyond all these, you also have your choice of five Station Wagons—the famous glamour cruisers that are the champions in this field!

The New Ford Look

That low, low cradle-span frame means a low, low car. The Fairlane 500 is only four feet eight inches from road to roof! The Custom is just over four feet nine inches!

The new Ford is not only low—but long. Ford gives you more than 17 feet of elegant length in the Fairlane Series, a shade less in the Custom. It's a nice kind of fun just to look at it. It's high-priced in every way except price.

The New Ford Performance

You can have up to 245 wonderful Thunderbird horsepower in any Ford model. There's a moderate—and really moderate—extra charge for this engine of 312 cubic inches with its 4-barrel carburetor.

For "Six" lovers, we've got the 144-hp Mileage Maker Six. Whether you choose Six or V-8, the going is great!

Here is where

your own tomorrow starts

It starts at your Ford Dealer's showroom!

The cars will be there on Wednesday, October 3.

These are the best Fords of our lives.

They are the first symbols out of Detroit of the new automotive age that is beginning for you.

This is where tomorrow starts—at your Ford Dealer's.

This is when your tomorrow starts—October 3rd.

Come in and see us for the Big New Kind of Ford!

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Oil Stocks
Babson Park, Mass., Sept. 27
—Since its high in April the Dow-Jones Industrial Average has fallen from a peak of 521 to 490 recently. The oils have been one of the leaders in this decline. This, however, is only natural since they had previously been among the best performers. I will now discuss some reasons for this decline. What Wall Street Reports Wall Street reports to me that the "insiders" are selling—that is, those who are supposed to be "in the know." You cannot blame these insiders for diversifying, or at least storing up reserves for the payment of estate taxes at the time of their death. They can now buy, at 92, Government 2½% Bonds which will be accepted at par for death-tax payment.

There also is fear—with the present surplus of oil—that the income-tax consideration given oil companies may be taken away. This could easily happen if the price of gasoline increases much more while there is a surplus. The oil companies are also watching what has happened to the coal companies. The feeling is that sooner or later the oil producers may also suffer.

Long-Term Outlook For Oil
Although oil will have competition from power generated in other ways, oil consumption will increase for many years to come. Demand for electricity is constantly rising, the availability of new hydro-electric sites is decreasing, and the plants generating electricity constantly demand greater fuel supply. Although coal consumption as a whole is declining, the efficiently operated mines near the big power houses are making money. This means that holders of coal stocks should carefully check the operating costs and locations of the mines in which they are interested. Although most coal stocks should probably be sold today, there are doubtless some which should be purchased.

It is reported that more candles, more kerosene, more gas, and other fuels are being used today than at any time in the past hundred years, notwithstanding the tremendous expansion of electricity for power, lighting, and heating. In fact, I recently heard of a young man who has developed a profitable business supplying hardwood for fireplaces. Anyone desiring to start a new business chain today might well own hardwood lots near several large cities and deliver a standard quality of hardwood, under a special trade name which could be nationally advertised! I am willing to forecast that a hundred years from now—perhaps a thousand years from now—people will be burning candles on their dinner tables and hardwood in their fireplaces!

Peacetime Uses For The Atom
Privately, I believe that it is the fear of uranium as a source of heat which is causing many investors to take profits on their oil stocks. The possibilities of peacetime uses for uranium are greatly increasing. Ten years ago it was thought there was only a limited amount of uranium; now we are told the supply is almost unlimited. Therefore, uranium can become a standard source of heat for the production of electricity. In fact, there is a possibility that boilers, turbines, and perhaps dynamos will some day be eliminated. I forecast it will be possible to generate electricity direct from uranium. This, of course, would cause an industrial revolution. When we add to this the possibility of harnessing hydrogen, the results could be fantastic.

I understand that some of the oil companies are already acquiring holdings of land rich in uranium. Furthermore, all oil companies have records of their own drilling and must have drilled through uranium-producing areas. Therefore, do not sell all oil stocks for fear of uranium competition. When uranium becomes a real substitute for oil, some of the oil companies will be able to supply uranium. All oil companies will not be caught unprepared for change, as were most coal companies.

Significant News Items
It is reported that the Koppers Co. and Kennecott Copper Corp. have already asked the Atomic Energy Commission for permission to refine uranium ores and sell the product, as they would sell coal and oil. This is something that all investors should watch. As the war scare passes, Congress will compel the AEC to permit, under license, the treatment and sale of uranium. A demand for small reactors should then follow.

For this demand both the Westinghouse and General Electric organizations are now preparing. Some of their engineers believe that the heaters in our homes will some day be discarded and replaced by uranium heaters. They further forecast that a small amount of uranium can, by the "self-feeding process" be made to last several years. Shipping is sure to turn to this fuel. Probably airplanes will follow and ultimately (perhaps) automobiles. I am only a statistician, not a physicist, but I advise that the stocks of the manufacturers of small reactors, household heaters, and other utilities may be better buys than the uranium itself.

Farmers Sign Winter Wheat Agreements

Nearly 400 Maryland wheat farmers had signed up 1957 winter wheat acreage reserve agreements under the Soil Bank by mid-September, reports Chester S. Bradley, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Mr. Bradley said 396 farmers signed up the first two weeks after the program was made available. The original sign-up deadline of Sept. 21 has been extended to Oct. 5, he said. Under the 1957 Winter Wheat Acreage Reserve program, all farmers with wheat allotments are eligible to sign agreements with the county ASC committee saying they will harvest less than their farm allotment of wheat in 1957. In return, they will receive payments based on the normal per acre yield of wheat on the land placed in the reserve, multiplied by the reserve unit price for wheat. This price varies in Maryland from $1.26 to $1.36 per bushel.

Farmers wishing to put wheat in the 1957 program must not harvest more than their allotment or Soil Bank base for any of the eligible commodities. In Maryland these commodities are corn, wheat and tobacco.

Mr. Bradley said a farmer may plant up to 15 acres of wheat under the marketing quota program without being penalized. However, if his 1957 wheat allotment is 10 acres and he wants to put five acres in the Soil Bank program, he must harvest not more than five acres.

Mr. Lumen F. Norris attended the Young Democrats' Convention held last week at Ocean City, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Matt J. Paidakovich, Kensington, Md., were visitors of Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder over the weekend.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

About four years ago an article by Henry P. Davis, sporting dog editor of Sports Afield magazine, discussed the decline of the Irish setter as a gun and field-trial dog. In that article he advanced the belief that the main trouble with the Irish setter lies with the breed fanciers. In their enthusiasm for the beauty of the breed, they paid more attention to color and conformation than the field qualities, such as hunting enthusiasm, intensity and style.

That article caught the imagination of W. E. LeGrande, sportsman - industrialist of Douglassville, Pa. He sought the advice of Mr. Davis and the noted veterinarian-geneticist, Dr. Leon F. Whitney. After considerable correspondence, LeGrande fashioned a setter-breeding program.

The first and most important problem was choosing the proper breeding stock. LeGrande is a stickler for performance, with the rare ability to analyze the work of his own dogs with a critical eye. He wanted working dogs, dogs that had proved their worth afield as good gun dogs, and dogs who would point with acceptable style and intensity. After many disappointments he was offered a "little Irish setter bitch that points with a high tail." He bought her sight unseen and hit the jackpot.

The bitch was Askew's Carolina Lady, at that time enjoying only a local reputation as a "pretty good" gun dog. Now, through her accomplishments in field-trial events, not only against other member of her breed but in direct competition with pointers, English setters and other pointing breeds, she is known as the "First Lady of the Irish Setters." Her main value lies in the fact that she is a highly prepotent brood bitch, stamping her progeny with the sparkling style that has made her famous.

Quickly recognizing that Lady was the type of dog for which he was searching, LeGrande set out to locate as much of her blood as possible. He did find a sole surviving son from her only litter and bought him. This was a dog called Jack Kendrick, possessing even more style on point than his mother, and with remarkable good fortune, the ability to transmit this quality to his get.

LeGrande has made this blood available to other fanciers interested in improving the breed, and now finds himself in spirited competition with his own stock. This is in accordance with his ambitions, for he has no desire to establish an exclusive strain.

Bank Loans Ease Farmers' Needs

Maryland farmers met their credit needs during 1955 chiefly through loans from their local banks, according to Harper R. Clark, president of the Maryland Bankers Assn. and vice president, First National Bank, Baltimore. During the year, the state's banks provided far more financial aid to farmers than any other lending agency, he pointed out.

Using figures from the 15th annual farm lending survey of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Assn., Mr. Clark noted that on Jan. 1, 1956, Maryland banks had loans outstanding to farmers totaling $42 million, including both production and mortgage credit. This compares with $8.8 million held by Production Credit Assns., second largest lender to Maryland farmers; $7.3 million held by Federal Land Banks; $6.1 million by insurance companies, and $5.2 by the Farmers Home Administration.

The total of farm credit outstanding in banks was made up of $15.3 million in production loans and $26.7 million in farm mortgages. In addition, banks in Maryland held $338,000 in CCC paper not included in the above figures.

"The efforts of the state's banks to meet the increased needs for intermediate-term (one to five or more years) loans are reflected in the figures for both real estate and production loans outstanding,"

Mr. Clark said. "It is estimated that about three-fourths of the farm real estate loans are for purposes normally associated with intermediate - length loans. This would include such projects as the purchase of new machinery, improvements of livestock herds, etc. Beyond that, a substantial portion of the production loans in banks at the beginning of 1956 carried a repayment period of longer than one year."

Mr. Clark gave several reasons for the increasing importance of intermediate-term credit in financing Maryland farmers. "First," he said, "farmers haven't had as much income to repay their obligations during recent years as they had during the war and early postwar years. Second, farm capital requirements have increased to a very high level. Finally, changing habits of farmers' customers have caused a notable shift to different cropping programs. Each farmer who has made such adjustments employed new capital to do it."

"These investments made thru the use of intermediate-term credit have greatly contributed to more efficient farm businesses in Maryland and to a higher standard of living for all Americans," Mr. Clark said.

Mr. Clark reported that all but five of the 151 insured commercial banks in Maryland served agriculture by making farm loans during 1955.

Farm Bureau Opposes Restrictions On Twine Importation

The American Farm Bureau is vigorously opposing twine import controls that have been requested by the Cordage Institute. The twine producers group recently petitioned the Office of Defense Mobilization for relief on the grounds of alleged impairment of national security.

John C. Lynn, American Farm Bureau Federation legislative director, pointed out at a hearing that farmers are users of all types of rope and twine, especially baler and binder twine. It has long been the policy of this nation to permit the importation of essential farm supplies duty free.

Baler and binder twine are important items in farm production and any restriction of their imports or tariff charge on them might increase the cost of these to farmers by some 8 million dollars a year according to our estimates. "This is an important consideration," Lynn said, "as the ever increasing costs of farming coupled with lower crop returns have farmers in a cost - price squeeze at the present time."

The major portion of the imported farm twines originates in Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean area. These are friendly neighbors and they are virtually part of our home production, he noted. They provide a broader base for twine production which is a great advantage and insures the supply of this item in time of war. "Any restriction on the twine production in these areas," he continued, "would tend to weaken national defense insofar as these products are concerned. We ask you to reject the petition of the Cordage Institute for control of twine imports as this control would add to farmers costs and weaken national security," he concluded.

The Maryland Farm Bureau

along with some 23 other states wrote and wired the Office of Defense Mobilization to back up the Lynn statement and request disapproval of the Cordage Institute's petition for twine import control.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kraemer spent a week recently visiting with friends in Spartansburg, South Carolina.

The Russian People—Against Communism

Nikolai Khokhlov is a former officer of the Russian secret police. While stationed in Communist East Germany, he was assigned to direct the assassination of a Russian in Frankfurt (West Germany) who was mobilizing aid for an anti-Communist underground movement behind the Iron Curtain. Khokhlov went to the Russian and exposed the plot. Then he himself sought asylum with American authorities in West Germany. A scheme to get his wife and child out of Russia, simultaneously with his escape, failed and he now assumes they are dead or in prison in Russia.

Since his arrival in America Khokhlov has given Congressional Committees valuable information about the tactics and strategy of the Communist world-wide conspiracy. In his most recent appearance before the House Committee on Un-American Activities he urged the American people to accept the fact that the Russian people do not want Communism and are the world's best hope for crushing and exterminating it. He said the anti-Communist underground in Russia would one day lead a revolt and overthrow the whole Red apparatus. Acceptance A Blow Khokhlov said that the free world's public acceptance of the Red dictators, on a social and political level, is a great blow to the morale of the Russian people, a victory for the Red bosses. Committee members hearing Khokhlov's testimony described him as one of the most valuable witnesses ever to give testimony on the Communist conspiracy. My friend Herbert Philbrick, who served the FBI in the American Red underground and helped send the 11 top leaders to jail, strongly urges that every citizen read the Khokhlov testimony in full.

Frank S. Tavenner, Jr., Committee counsel, asked Khokhlov "In what way would you suggest, could this country be of assistance to the people of Russia in the situation confronting them?" Khokhlov replied: "Understanding First

"I suppose first of all that American people should come to understand that Communism is an immoral system, a system which deprives you of your decency, and which will exploit you drastically in order to achieve its own ends. Besides you must believe and understand that the Russian people don't want Communism, that the Russian people are moral and very religious despite all the oppression of the Soviet system, and that they are the first victims of Communism.

"As soon as you understand this, you will realize why the Russian people cannot support the Soviet system, but must fight it. And all they need from you in this fight is your confidence and your spiritual support. You are in a unique position. You have at your disposal extremely powerful technical means for broadcasting and printing. You have other technical means. If you could bring your faith and trust in the Russian people directly to them, it would help tremendously. Follow The Right

"I am not sure whether this next point fits here, but perhaps it does. The early Christians did not follow Christ because He presented them with facts and figures that He would emerge victorious. They fol-

Mahoney Deplores Butler's Tactics Of 1950 Election

Fear that Senator Butler's tactics are heading in the same direction as in 1950—when his right-hand man, Jon Jonkel, was convicted of breaking Maryland laws—was expressed this week by George P. Mahoney.

Mahoney, the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate seat held by Butler, pointed to two "accomplishment" claims made by Butler: Those concerning Friendship Airport as a co-terminal with Washington Airport and the location of the $20,000,000 Potomac Electric Power Company plant in Montgomery County.

"Careful readers will note, however, that he doesn't come out and say he has brought these things about," Mahoney said, "because he hasn't. It's a cunning device to claim credit for something he hasn't done."

Butler says, in effect: "My efforts to have Friendship International Airport designated a co-terminal with Washington soon will meet with success." He then makes much of something that may follow from this—that it will bring a $30,000,000 payroll allowed Him because they believed it to be their duty. Today it would be difficult to present facts and figures to prove that the Soviet regime can soon be overthrown by the force of the Russian peoples themselves. But we know that it is our duty to try. You see, nobody will be able to destroy humanity if all the peoples of the world will help one another spiritually.

"This is why you should believe in the possibility of a third way of meeting Communism—overthrow of the Soviet system by the enslaved peoples themselves." Khokhlov rejected the two methods of resisting Communism: (1) atomic war, or (2) peaceful co-existence. His full recent testimony may be obtained from the U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C. Ask for Part 8, Testimony of Nikolai Khokhlov.

to Baltimore. The fact is: Friendship has not been designated a co-terminal—anything concerning this project is pure conjecture.

Another significant fact is that Maryland's Fifth District Democratic Congressman, Richard E. Lankford, who certainly has done as much to get the co-terminal designation as Butler and who, too, is running for re-election, makes no claims of any accomplishment, because of his role.

Butler says, in effect: "A decision made in my office led to plans for the construction of a $20,000,000 generating plant by the Potomac Electric Power Co. in Montgomery County."

The fact is: There is no $20,000,000 or any priced generating plant on the Dickerson Tract in Montgomery County—where the plant allegedly will be built. It's true the Washington Utility Co. has purchased a tract of land there—but the company also has purchased a piece of land in Loudoun County, Virginia, where the plant still may be built.

A bill that would have permitted the power company to build a dam across the Potomac River at the Montgomery County site, died in the last Congress. The dam, power company officials say, is necessary for proper operation of the generating plant.

These facts are brought out, a Mahoney aide pointed out, aside from the questionable propriety of a U. S. Senator actually participating so closely in a deal to bring a utility company onto a certain tract of land.

During the past week, Mahoney also blasted Butler for his agreement with Karl Marx that graduated income taxes will bring about the downfall of the capitalist system.

"Mr. Butler and Karl Marx share a very pessimistic view of our dynamic American free enterprise system. Most Americans, myself included, disagree with Messrs. Butler and Marx," Mahoney said.

The Democratic candidate pointed out that America has been operating under a graduated income tax system "... for many years

Your Personal Health

YOU AS AN INVALID

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to be an invalid? Not just sick like the time you had flu, or convalescent—like the time you had your appendix out. But really sick for a long time with a serious disease, a disease that could kill you if you didn't take care.

Tuberculosis is one disease that usually means a long period of illness. Modern treatment with drugs and surgery has shortened the hospital stay for some patients, but they still have to complete their cure at home.

How would you behave? First thing, you're a little scared. You recall that TB used to mean certain death or a life of invalidism. You know that modern medicine has changed that picture, yet you know that thousands die of the disease every year. You've heard now" and that "... Senator Butler should know this."

Mahoney said he feels it is obvious that if General Motors and "other pet Republican corporations" were to be taxed more, that the "people" would not have to pay quite so much in individual income tax for the operation of the government.

He pointed to figures which show that since 1952 income taxes have risen 5.4 per cent; employment and excise taxes, 3.8 per cent; estate and gift taxes, 4 per cent; customs, .1 per cent—but that corporate income and excess profits taxes have gone down .2 per cent since the last Democratic administration.

"I prefer to favor 'the people' in such a situation rather than the big corporations," Mr. Mahoney declared.

that many of those who recover have had to change their usual way of life, in order to stay well and avoid another breakdown with TB. You wonder and worry about the future.

You worry about the present, too. If you're a husband and father, how is the family getting along without your paycheck? If you're a mother, what is your husband, what are the children doing without you? These are real problems, not just the fantasies of illness.

You have those, too. When you are sick, you're sick all over, mentally and emotionally as well as physically. You aren't always able to be rational about your situation. Some people become childishly irritable, have tantrums, and make unreasonable demands. Others react like good children, but become too dependent on the protected atmosphere of illness and resist getting back into the real world of well people. Some people are even hostile and aggressive, and break all the rules designed to help them get well. Too many break off their treatment before they are well.

No matter what kind of invalid you might become, it doesn't sound like fun, does it? TB means tragic waste of human time and energy—especially tragic because it's not necessary. TB can be prevented. Cooperate with your tuberculosis association's efforts to prevent the spread of TB.

Miss Emma Jane Miller is receiving treatments at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, for torn ligaments in a knee. She is reported as much better.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Changed Her Whole "Point of View"

Some local high school teachers spent the summer taking courses at the State University. They learned a lot, but one of them—Miss Williams—got homesick.

"To save expenses," she reports, "we chose a hotel that was clean but grim. When I found my window looked out on a coal yard—my heart just sank!"

But, when Miss Williams noticed a pot of geraniums on the window sill—and a note saying "Look at these instead. (signed) Last Occupant"—she decided to stick it out. She kept those flowers watered and tended to make things that much easier on the next occupant.

From where I sit, it's often hard to adapt to new surroundings—just as new customs often seem strange to us at first. For instance, if you've always had tea with your meals you might find it odd that I prefer a glass of beer. It's OK to prefer what's familiar to you... but also keep an open mind on what's not.

Miss McCleaf Is Bride Of Leslie Phiel

Miss June Louise McCleaf, Orrtanna Rt. 1, daughter of Roy McCleaf of Fairfield, and the late Mrs. Lottie McCleaf, became the bride of Leslie V. Phiel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Phiel, Orrtanna R. D. last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Mt. Carmel EUB Church. The Rev. Roger Burtner officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length princess style dress of white satin. Alencon lace trimmed the skirt and the bodice designed with a V-neckline. The sleeves ended with points over the hands. The long train of white satin was edged with Alencon lace. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was attached to a crown of rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red and white rosebuds topped with a white lace-covered Bible.

Organ music was presented by Miss Leanna Lightner who played the traditional wedding marches.

Mrs. George Musselman, of Fairfield, Pa., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a floor-length packeted gown of aqua tulle over taffeta. Her headress was a band of yellow pompons and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white pompons.

Edward Phiel, of Orrtanna, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and the ushers were Edward Spence, Fairfield, nephew of the bride, and Harmon Spence, Orrtanna.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Fairfield Fire Hall. Later the couple left on a honeymoon of two weeks in Florida. For her going-away outfit, Mrs. Phiel wore a beige wool suit with black accessories and a red rosebud corsage.

For her son's wedding, Mrs. Phiel Sr. wore a gray two-piece suit with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow and white rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Gettysburg High School with the class of 1956. She is employed at the Pennhurst State School.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Chambersburg High School with the class of 1953, is employed as a final machine inspector at the Landis Tool Co., Waynesboro.

Out-of-town guests were present from California, South Carolina, Gettysburg, Chambersburg, Waynesboro, Fayetteville, and Fairfield.

Couple Celebrates Golden Anniversary

A Fairfield couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram H. Miller celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with a family dinner last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eberly, Hagerstown.

The Millers were married Sept. 20, 1906, in Hagerstown. Mrs. Miller is the former Miss Olive Sara Rife, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rife, and Mr. Miller is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Miller.

The couple have three children, Mrs. Charlotte Eberly, Hagerstown; Christian E. Miller Indianapolis, Ind.; Sara M. Miller, Fairfield, and one grandchild, Marlene Miller.

FFA Members Attend Training School

Lawrence Eversole, Donald McDannell, Francis Cool, Russell Hartman, Gary Moritz, and Nelson Kauffman, members of the Mason Dixon FFA Chapter, attended the Adams-Franklin Area leadership training school held at the James Buchanan High School, near Mercersburg, on Monday afternoon.

Following the welcome address by Richard Gingrich, principal of the host school, the group heard an address, "Value of Leadership Training," given by Cyrus Bucher, assistant sales manager of the Musselman Co.

The members then separated into sectional meetings for discussion on the duties of the various offices in the club.

The program concluded with reports from the sectional meetings held and a talk on "Courtesy," by the State FFA reporter, Arlan Reynolds.

Robert Leiter, club advisor, accompanied the group from Fairfield.

Honored At Birthday Party

New License Ruling Monday

Effective Monday, Oct. 1, there will be a waiting period of several days for all applicants for permits to operate motor vehicles in the State. The purpose of this ruling is to give the Dept. of Motor Vehicles adequate time to thoroughly check the driving record, if any, of the applicant. It is suggested that applicants mail their applications for all driving licenses to the department, in order to avoid congestion and loss of time.

If there is no record against the applicant, instruction licenses will be mailed out, and those eligible to take tests will be notified to appear.

CORRECTION

In last week's issue of the Chronicle it was reported that Mr. J. Bradley Shepperd and sister, Anna G. Shepperd of Upper Falls, Md., had purchased the C. R. Andrew property on the Hampton Valley Road. This was erroneous and should have read the property on the Hornet's Nest Road.

Religious Census Completed

The religious census started in Frederick County last Sunday has been completed in the Emmitsburg District. General Chairman Edgar G. Emrich reported this week.

The census was sponsored by the Frederick County Council of Churches. Mr. Emrich reported that 1,013 cards were filled out by voluntary workers and that the local census was completed in two days. He reported splendid public cooperation and many people clipped the published questionnaire out of last week's paper and placed it in a handy place for the census takers.

Every church was represented in the census and area chairmen were: Mrs. Ethel Baumgardner, Mrs. Pauline Seabrooks, Harry Hahn, Glen B. Springer, Fred Longprey. Volunteer canvassers were: Harry Hahn, Mrs. Charlotte Eyster, Mrs. Margaret Gartrell, Mrs. Erma Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. George Eyster, Weldon B. ## Settlements Announced

Two local accountings of wills were filed this week in Orphans' Court, Frederick. The first accounting of Charles F. Orndorff, the surviving executor of the will of Francis H. Orndorff, showed a total of $20,126.52; disbursements of $6,366.73 and a net of $13,759.79. There was a cash legacy of $50 to St. Anthony's Catholic Church. After tax, $13,132.69 was distributed to Mary E. Orndorff, widow, for life, with the remainder of personal property at $63.75.

The first and final account of Benjamin J. Seiss, administrator of the estate of Louis G. Seiss, showed a total of $10,322.85; disbursements of $12,690.29 for an overpayment of $2,367.44. A statement of inheritance tax showed real estate appraised at $9,500. Less the overpayment the net was $7,132.56. Less tax of $71.33 the account was approved by the court.
