One of our most essential organizations, the American Legion Blood Bank, is in dire need of donors. Demand has been at an all-time high and the available donors have been called upon so often of late that new sources for blood must be obtained. There are some cases that require as high as 20 or 30 pints of blood, so you can readily see that a constant drain has been imposed on the bank. The members are not complaining, they're a valiant lot and will keep going to the danger point if necessary, but I don't feel that the people of our little town would stand by and see such a thing transpire. Some have been giving blood for a number of years. Many times during the night, early morning or day these public-spirited humanitarians are called upon to come to the rescue of a neighbor who is in distress. They receive no compensation, feeling it is their duty. But let's not impose too strongly upon this little band . . . let's give them some assistance before they get disgusted and give up. Lives have been sustained and lives saved by this group. Just how many is hard to determine but almost every week they are called on for duty and do so without hesitation. Women are just as eligible and desperately needed as the men, and you do not have to be a member of the American Legion to be placed on the certified list of donors. All you have to do is to volunteer by calling the Legion Post and giving your name. So important has blood-donating become that the town can't afford to be without it . . . not for a single day or hour. No one of us knows when he will become in need of this service and we must remain prepared the year around. This takes a host of volunteers in reserve so what do you say, Emmitsburgians, let's support the Blood Bank by volunteering today!

On the surface there doesn't appear to be much doing concerning the coming Bicentennial but don't be fooled by this false sense of inactivity because that is exactly what it is. Committees are hard at work and are meeting practically every week now. Naturally you can't start the publicity and activity too far in advance but each week there's quite a bit of business accomplished. A full eight days of feverish activity is being programmed and there'll be something for practically every individual and every age to participate in. The first activity you will see will be the beard contest which is slated to get underway this month. Prominent individuals have to be contacted, rehearsals held, decorations planned, music rehearsed, tours planned, displays made up, historical data gathered, etc. Yes, it takes a lot of time and all the committees ask is that you give the celebration your moral support. The big week is only a little more than three months away and the committees will have everything ready in ample time for the Bicentennial in June. You, as a citizen, can aid greatly in the success of the affair if you just talk it up from now on in and make plans to have some out-of-town friends or relatives come to visit you during the week of June 22. We will really need a large turnout to make the venture a success, both socially and financially. Better make your plans now!

Now you can at least dream of spring because the first stories of the flying geese and the first robins are being told and seen every day now and actually, the date for spring is March 21, which is but two weeks away. It's been a long and dreary old winter and almost everyone now has the urge to see a little sunshine and warm weather. Signs of life are appearing in some vegetation now and when this is evident you know it can't be too many weeks away until we can shed our heavy clothes and take to the outdoors in comfort.

"You don't drink milk?"
"Nope."
"Live on a farm and don't drink milk at all?"
"Nope. We ain't hardly got enough for the hogs!"

Names Presented Council For Appointment

At least three names have been submitted to the Mayor and Commissioners of the Corporation of Emmitsburg for the appointment as Town Commissioner to succeed the late J. William Rowe whose unexpired term remains to be served by an appointee. The names were proposed at the regular monthly meeting of the Town Council held Monday night in the Fire Hall, President of the Board of Commissioners Charles R. Fuss presiding. The three individuals suggested to Council were discussed by the group but no choice has been made to date. Commissioner Rowe's unexpired term runs for two years and will be filled by an appointee in the near future by Council. The annual election will be held the first Monday in May.

The reports of the tax collector and clerk were presented by the town clerk, Miss Louise Sebald and were approved as presented. Parking meter revenue for February was reported as $290.15. In addition there was $41 in overtime parking fines and $21.45 in traffic violations, making the total for the month $355.60.

The Town Fathers reported that a settlement had been made by their insurance representative with a local citizen whose car was damaged when it passed over a protruding manhole cover in one of the alleys. It was agreed to ask the Potomac Edison Co. to properly align all lights in the alleys to improve the distribution of light in those streets. A resolution in memory of the late Commissioner J. William Rowe, was adopted and inserted into the minutes of the meeting and was ordered published. Council agreed to have installed a street light at the new parking lot of one of the local stores.

Samuel C. Hays, local civil engineer who is making a survey of the proposed territory that is to be annexed to the Corporation, made a report to Council on the progress of the project. The So-lons will meet with the surveyor and will personally make a tour of inspection of the area shortly. Town Attorney Edward D. Storm was present at the meeting and discussed the progress of a proposed Federal loan sought for the laying of the new sewer line.

READER PROTESTS SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
I feel it my duty to add my bit to what has been written and said for and against consolidating our school.

As an ex-teacher I know from experience: There will be many students who will never complete their high school education if our high school is taken from Emmitsburg. This was done in my home state where I formerly taught. Too late they see the error of their action and now have to build a new and modern high school near the one that had been removed to another town. The result was most gratifying to me.

You may say that I am selfish. I say I am interested in our community and in the future of our children, those who will be our leaders and builders of tomorrow. It's later than you think! Tomorrow is almost here!

I am a firm believer in better schools and in teachers that have an interest in their profession and the future of their pupils whether they be first graders or high school students, and in all activities of our school.

We must have a competent faculty at our school as I personally know a large number of local graduates who have gone on to college and even made the honor rolls of their respective schools. Our children are far better off by not having just a glimpse, so to speak, in a commercial course that tries to accommodate 200 students.

If there is any building to be done to accommodate our children properly, let it be done in or near Emmitsburg, after all, its the same mileage from Emmitsburg to Thurmont as it is from Thurmont to Emmitsburg! I know that some selfish interests will use any tactics to defeat what we believe and know is right. I believe in being firm when I know I am right!

I think we must be more careful of our alleged leaders. They tell us in one breath that we must first, have the interest of our children at heart, and then in another tell us how much money is being wasted at Emmitsburg High School. I don't believe our school is such a one-horse contraption as these so-called leaders would have us believe. We have had many from here to go out into these United States as doctors, educators, military personnel, journalists, lawyers, pharmacists, etc.

I am closing with this thought in mind: Be careful what you want most because you are liable to get it!

Complains About Burning Trash

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
I don't believe the matter I am about to mention has ever been brought up here before but I know there has been many a housewife that feels about it as I do.

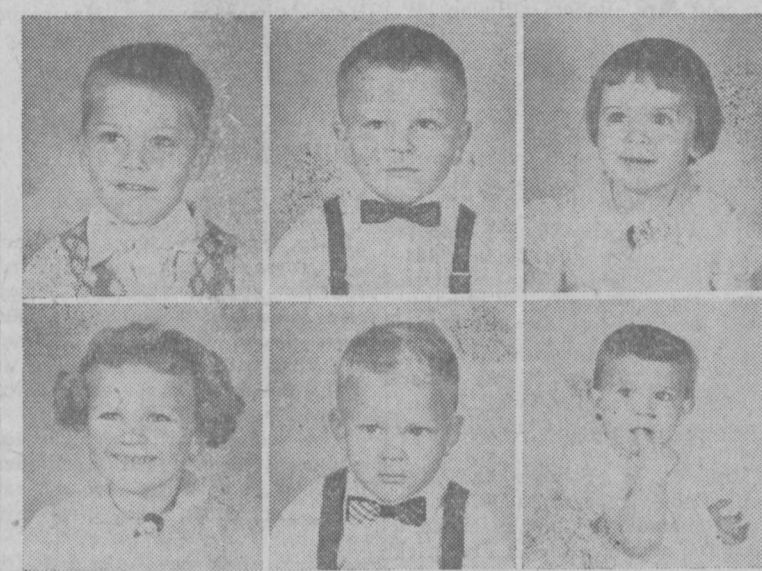

I happen to be one of the housewives and mothers that help to make the family living, therefore I am on duty at my job from 7 to 9 hours a day. That leaves me a few hours on Saturdays or in the evenings to do my laundry. This past Saturday I hung the laundry on the line and do you know that the white shirts, sheets, pillow slips and uniforms were ruined by those people who must burn their paper, trash or brush while the wash is on the line? Most of these people could certainly find time, as few of them work outside of the home, to burn their trash, other than when clothes are hanging out. This has been common practice for a number of years. On one occasion holes were burned in my sheets from a lighted piece of paper that had been set afire in the yard. The wind increased in velocity and the paper came over the fence subsequently burning the sheets. If you have ever had this experience you would understand what a mess burned paper and trash can make out of clean clothes. It will not wash out and some of the clothes can not be bleached. This is not only destructive but dangerous. I thought that if you could mention this in the Chronicle maybe some of these inconsiderate neighbors could take a hint and stop this nasty practice.

Legion Auxiliary Makes Donations

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post No. 121 Legion Auxiliary was held Tuesday evening in the post home with 22 members and three guests in attendance. The treasurer reported $37.50 was realized from a recent drawing the unit held. Several thank-you notes were read.

The Department President's letter was read and it explained that the half-way mark of the year had been reached for all units to keep up the membership drive and that March is the birthday of the auxiliary. It also stated that the district convention is just a few months away.

Letters were read from the District membership chairman stating that 20 members or more are needed for a quota unit. March is Red Cross month and the Auxiliary made a $5 contribution.

Guests present were introduced by the president, Charlotte Sanders. They were Mrs. Haller, district vice president; Mrs. Virginia Miller and Mrs. Twigg, district girls' state chairmen. Mrs. Haller presented Madeleine Harner with a gift for having her membership quota in. Mrs. Miller presented the Auxiliary with the Western Maryland District cup for its Gold Star Mother work. Mrs. Twigg explained the girls' state program and the Auxiliary voted a $5 donation to the project. The local unit will help the Legion raise money for the Heart Fund. The door prize was won by Dorothy Kerrigan who was absent. Fane Rodgers and Madeleine Harner are on the refreshment committee for April.

State fines amounted to $68.70 while Corporation fines totaled $65.45. All arrests were made by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas and the hearings were held before Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan, Emmitsburg. Twenty warning tickets were issued by the Dept.

PTA Defers Decision On School Consolidation

The Emmitsburg Public School PTA deferred a vote on the proposed plan to consolidate Emmitsburg and Thurmont High Schools at a spirited meeting held Tuesday night in the local public school. Ross V. Smith, Thurmont, a member of the Frederick County Board of Education, addressed the group. The organization decided that further investigation into the consolidation was advisable after it was decided that no action could possibly be taken on the matter for at least two years. It would require that much time, at the minimum, for a new school in Thurmont to be built. No building has been approved as yet and is opposed by citizens of Emmitsburg who are opposed to any consolidation plans.

Mr. Smith stressed advantages and disadvantages of consolidation, as he saw them, and suggested the group keep uppermost in mind the children who go to school and the attendant benefits to them.

His talk was followed by a general discussion with arguments being advanced both for and against the consolidation proposal.

A large number of members of the PTA and a considerable number of non-members attended the special session called especially to consider consolidation. On behalf of the pro-consolidation group it was asserted during the discussion that too many people who have no children in the school are trying to make the decision.

Edgar G. Emrich introduced Mr. Smith, the speaker and Paul L. Beale presided as chairman of the committee which has been investigating the consolidation proposal.

Mother Seton School PTA Meets

Mount Stops CCNY; Host North Carolina Sat.

The smoothest-clicking basketball team in the history of Mount St. Mary's College continued in high gear over the weekend and attained never before accomplished glory by overpowering a strong City College of New York on the home court here last Monday night by a 93-84 score before a capacity crowd.

The great team has just completed one of the busiest schedules in years and this week faced an even more gruelling card.

By virtue of the win over New York the Blue and White will engage North Carolina College here Saturday night at 8 p. m. in the NCAA College Tournament in a second round contest.

Last Friday night the Mounties polished off Villanova 86-70 in Philadelphia to conclude a busy week for Coach Jim Phelan's charges. They were forced to go all out to take City College

SPORTSMEN START BUILDING FUND

Forty members were present at the regular monthly meeting of the Indian Lookout Conservation Club held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President Clay Green presiding.

Guests present were Game Warden Richard W. Jacques and Guy R. Gearhart. The wardens stressed the planning of food and cover for the benefit of wildlife and reported that the system was much more beneficial than artificial breeding or stocking.

Informative booklets on common fishes of the state were distributed to the members by the wardens.

Two films were shown in color and depicted efforts the state has taken to conserve wildlife. The wardens explained how the fishing and hunting license money was utilized to the best interest of sportsmen and the people of Maryland.

Guy R. McGlaughlin and Harold Hoke were appointed to head a building fund committee. The club is studying a plan to increase the annual dues 50 cents which would be earmarked for the building fund. Nine new members were approved. The membership will be required to vote on a bylaws change in order to properly effect any increase in dues and it is hoped this can be accomplished at the March meeting.

Clay Green and Frank Topper were selected as representatives to the Community Fund. A new supply of shoulder emblems has been ordered by the club and members can obtain these patches at the Pastry Shop or from the secretary, James Kemp. Following the adjournment refreshments were served.

Grange Studies Proposed Increase For Teachers

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange, No. 407, was held Wednesday evening in the public school, Master Harry Swomley presiding.

Richard Florence, district manager for the National Grange Insurance Co., announced the appointment of Maurice E. Meunier and son, of near Taneytown, as the new local representative. Mr. Meunier gave a short talk and invited inquiries concerning insurance. He announced he will call on each member and offer his services.

A letter from the PTA of the Public School was read. It was in reference to a proposed increase in teachers' salaries. It was decided to let each member study the matter and then write their congressman. A letter from the Frederick County Nominating Committee was read and discussed. The Grange voted to send a delegate on April 6 to the convention to be held in Frederick at the Elm Street School.

The local Grange will visit with the Liganore unit on Monday, April 1 for a friendship night. Youth night will be held March 21 at Walkersville. All members are urged to attend these meetings. The local group will sponsor the first degree on April 24 at Walkersville. Sponges still are on sale and can be obtained from the secretary.

In two trials, cows fed 10mg per day of stilbestrol for 60 days showed no increase in production of milk, of fat percentage, or persistency of lactation.

in the first round game of the small college NCAA playoffs here Monday night. It was a tight, bitterly fought contest all the way in which the score was tied six times and the lead changed hands 17 times before the Mountaineers surged to the front for keeps at 71-70 with approximately six minutes of play remaining.

Once again it was Jack Sullivan who came through with a barrage of points in the last half to spark the Blue and White to its 16th straight triumph. The blond bomber wound up with 36 points after having a rough first half in which he was held to 10 points. Throughout the second half the teams battled back and forth in a sizzling see-saw scrap with neither team moving ahead farther than three points during the first 11 minutes. A pair of goals by Jack Sullivan sent the Mounties ahead 73-70 and they never lost the lead. The Phelamen made their bid for an unprecedented fourth consecutive Mason-Dixon Conference tournament title Tuesday evening by defeating Johns Hopkins 86-59 as the tourney got underway at Loyola College in Baltimore. It was the 17th straight for the busy locals and lifted their season record to 22-4.

Hopkins got off to a fast start against Jim Phelan's squad and took an early 8-5 lead but at that point Jack Marshall, Burt Sheing and Jack Sullivan took over for the Blue and White as the Mounts roared to a 42-22 lead at the half. Sullivan, who finished with 23 points before going out with the last quarter remaining, landed six straight goals in one flurry. Marshall, fast becoming one of the local standouts, led his team to a 17-10 advantage after the brief Hopkins lead in the first half. Midway in the last half Mt. St. Mary's amassed a 60-31 lead and then Coach Phelan swept his bench in allowing the freshmen to finish the contest.

More Records For Sullivan
Wednesday night was a carbon copy of past performances and the Mountaineers romped past Baltimore U 120 to 100 on Jack Sullivan's record - breaking 55-point performance.

Sullivan, the all-time scoring ace of the Conference and the State of Maryland, hit 22 of 31 shots from the floor before leaving the game for a well-earned rest with about six minutes of play left. The Washington, D. C., ace, the greatest in Mountaineer history, broke the league (51) and tournament (44) record for one game, most field goals for a tourney game (16) and most points in one half of a tournament game (27). He held all the old records himself. Sullivan made 34 points in the first half against a zone defense as the Mounts shot into a 65-48 intermission lead. Baltimore switched to a man-to-man defense in the last half and held Sullivan to just two shots in the first six minutes. With Sully slowed down the Bees came within 10 points of the Mounts at 75-65 but at this point the Mounties put together a nine-point string, eight by Sullivan and pulled ahead 84-65. It was no contest after that.

The victory was the 18th in a row for Phelan's crew and gives them a season log to 23-4. Sullivan, up to Thursday, has now scored 897 points this season and 2,352 for his four-year career.

The Conference playoffs came to an end Thursday night when Loyola, runner-up in the Conference regular season play, faced the Blue and White of Emmitsburg.

Saturday night's game with North Carolina undoubtedly will prove to be a real thriller and a large turnout is anticipated at Memorial Gym on the college campus.

Your Personal Health

Toward The Golden Years

On this miserable March day, let's think ahead to that pleasant time when we can "get away from it all" if we want to—the time of retirement.

The children will be grown up, will have their own homes and their own problems. The man of the family will reach the day when the company presents him with a gold watch, or he'll decide for himself that it's time to retire. We all know that day will come. So let's plan for it.

Nowadays, retirement doesn't mean that we were put on the shelf to gather dust. Most of us will reach the age in fairly good health and in full possession of our mental faculties. We should be able to enjoy our freedom.

You've stoked enough furnaces and shoveled enough snow? You're free to move to a warm climate. You've always lived in the country? An apartment with all the city comforts may attract you. Or you may like to get away from pavements to the wide open spaces. You have the world before you. But before you decide on the South Seas, ask yourself how you'll make out in a completely new environment.

Where can you make your money go the farthest without sacrificing a decent standard of living? If you'll have to supplement your income, where can you find suitable work? How will the climate affect you? Will you be able to find the kind of recreation you enjoy at a price you can pay? Will you be able to make new friends and get into the life of a new community?

In the years before retirement use your vacations to "shop around" for a retirement home. You can get information on living costs and on labor supply and demand in various parts of the country from the U. S. Department of Labor. Consult your doctor on the kind of climate that will be best for your health.

The best place for you is the place where you'll be happy and comfortable. Some older people discover that the best place to enjoy their new freedom is the old familiar neighborhood with old friends.

Helpful Hints To Homemakers

Spring Cleaning—Safe or Sorry?

Each year about this time, homemakers begin a feverish period of activity known as housecleaning. "What a satisfaction," they think, "it is to greet spring with a clean, sparkling house."

"But whoa there, Mrs. Homemaker," cautions Joanne Reitz, University of Maryland home management specialist. "Put down that broom, and give a thought to what would happen to you, your family and your housecleaning if you had an accident due to carelessness."

"Many of us try to get everything done in one day. Our muscles tense, we get overly tired and careless. That's the time accidents happen. 'Haste does make waste,' the home management specialist warns. So instead of planning to do housecleaning in one day, take more time and work in a relaxed and easy manner."

To prevent accidents, Miss Reitz offers these safety suggestions:

Many housecleaning jobs require some climbing. When you use a stepladder be sure its fully spread and locked, with all four legs resting on a level base. Remember too that the top of the stepladder is not meant for standing. Grip the ladder firmly when climbing up or down, and place your feet squarely on the rungs.

After you use cleaning supplies, put them away neatly in a clean-closet for that purpose. Too many accidents are a result of falling over articles left in a traffic area in the home.

Don't be a "saver" when it comes to cleaning out the attic. Be ruthless about disposing of old newspapers, magazines, rags, broken furniture and old clothes. They are all a potential fire hazard.

Be careful around electricity. Unplug appliances from the socket, don't connect too many appliances to an outlet, and always dry your hands well before handling electrical devices.

Comfortable, safe clothing is a necessity for the housecleaning job. Shoes with low heels, good arches and non-skid soles are important. Thumbs down on frilly aprons. Smooth hems in dresses will eliminate tripping hazards.

Follow these simple suggestions summarizes Miss Reitz, and make your home safe as well as clean.

4-H Week Is Being Observed

National 4-H Club Week is being observed this week by 2,200,000 4-H Club members in the U. S. In Maryland, 14,838 boys and girls are advancing the national theme of "improving family and community living."

4-H Club work in Maryland is part of the educational work carried out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and University of Maryland in cooperation with counties. It is based on the theory, well proven in practice, that youngsters can "learn by doing, to make the best better."

W. S. Wilson, state 4-H Club agent, comments that, a key to the success of the many youths that have come up through 4-H Club work to achievements in better family and community living as adults has been the contributions made by volunteer local leaders who help to organize and conduct clubs.

Special tribute is being paid this week to the nearly 1,500 adult and 500 junior leaders who help guide the 775 clubs in the state, Wilson says.

Club membership is open to boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 years. Members carry on widely varied projects in farming, homemaking, community service and other activities. While they acquire skills in these fields, character development and good citizenship are the most significant goals.

One of the main purposes of National 4-H Club Week is to interest boys and girls in entering 4-H Club work. They can secure more information from their local extension agents.

Jewel Box

ACCORDING to style leaders, a woman's personality is most strikingly revealed in her choice of jewelry. But, whatever her heart's desire may be in the way of attractive baubles and spangles, she must use her head as well as her heart. For, when it comes to selecting jewelry, there are some basic rules that every woman ought to keep in mind before adorning herself.

Here are some simple rules from such authorities on the subject as Fashion Show Directors of Sarah Coventry, Inc., one of the leading costume jewelry companies in the United States:

1. If you have an oval shaped face, you can feel free about picking earrings. Mobiles that turn and twist, gem clusters, severely tailored gold or silver designs, simple pearls—there is no limit for you.
2. If your face tends to be elongated and a trifle narrow, maintain this long, thin look and profit by it with certain exotic pieces. But if you desire the illusion of roundness, select small-to-medium sized hoops, buttons, or clusters as earrings.
3. If you are full-faced, chandelier type or drop earrings will create the illusion of length, as will contour earrings that swirl upward. Choose long necklaces, and a choker that fits low on the base of the neck.

Women who feel they need the advice of experts on choosing the right jewelry may find it profitable to attend informal home jewelry shows conducted by jewelry Fashion Show Directors of such firms as Sarah Coventry. These women, who have been painstakingly trained by their companies, are recognized experts in their field.

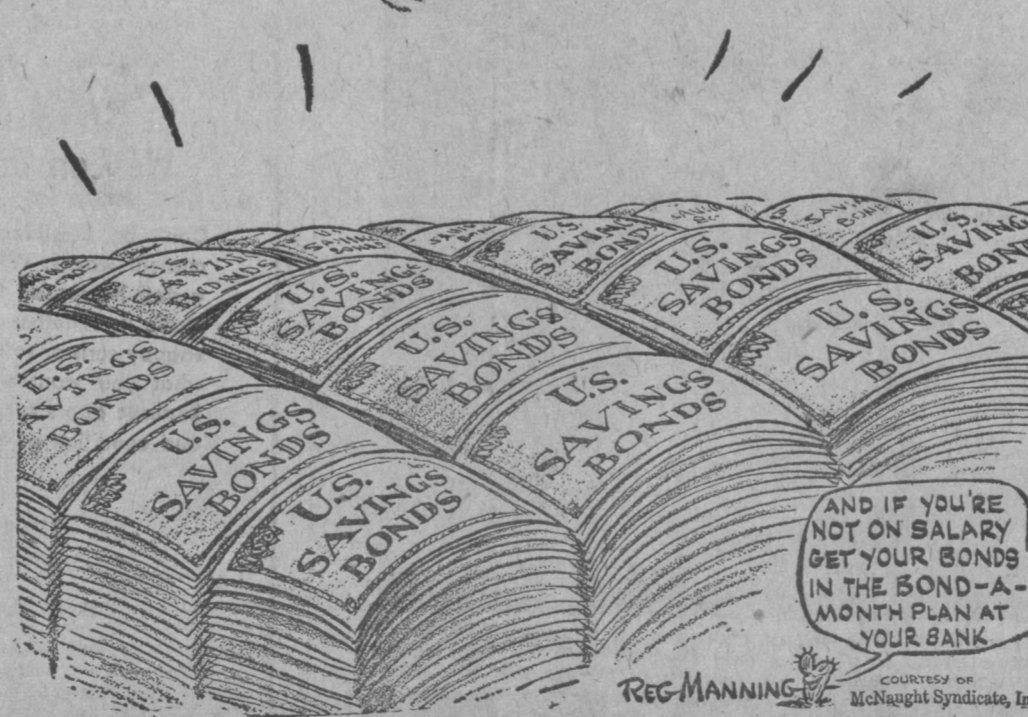

And remember, don't be backward about asking friends and neighbors how a new effect looks. Their admiration—and the knowledge that you really look well—will be your reward.

State Roads Commission Would Ban
Roadside Advertising Signs

Robert O. Bonnell, Chairman of the State Roads Commission, today called for public support of a legislative bill banning advertising signs along Maryland's new controlled access highways.

Introduced last week by nine members of the House of Delegates the bill is scheduled for public hearing before the Ways and Means Committee this week.

"Maryland has a huge investment in her new highway system," Mr. Bonnell said. "To protect that investment is the duty of every citizen."

"It is hard to believe that our people will pay for fine new dual highways—some costing a million a mile and more—only to let them be bordered by billboards and signs advertising everything under the sun. Not only does such advertising mar Maryland's lovely landscape but they are a definite safety hazard. They divert attention from the roadway when modern driving requires concentration."

Mr. Bonnell said that House Bill 512 "is an extremely modest approach to roadside control—but it is an approach."

The bill would prevent the erection of advertising signs within 500 feet of the State's right-of-way on the new dual highways of the limited and controlled access type, such as the Baltimore-Washington Expressway, the Washington National Pike, the Harrisburg Expressway and the new Blue Star Memorial Highway across the upper Eastern Shore.

In case of billboard or sign leases which have been executed prior to the effective date of the act, the bill provides that they shall become null and void after June 1, 1960.

Where leases are now in effect for a longer period than three years, the bill provides that the State Roads Commission shall buy the leases "through negotiation or condemnation." The Roads Commission is charged with administration of the new law and is authorized, upon 15 days written notice, to remove any signs in conflict therewith.

The bill makes an exception in the case of property owners putting up "For Sale" signs on their own property and also permits such owners to advertise the sale of produce grown or made on their property, or services performed, provided the owner shall first obtain a permit from the Roads Commission.

In urging support of this measure Mr. Bonnell added, "Without this law we of the Roads Commission find our hands tied in our effort to protect the fine new roads we are building."

HERE'S HOW ...

MAKE A CAMERA EQUIPMENT WALL SHELF

A wall shelf can provide convenient storage for camera equipment and color slides.

All lumber used is planed to a thickness of 1/2-inch. Squared ends can be made with the aid of a miter box.

Make the sides 8 inches wide and 28 1/2 inches long. Use a pattern to make the design.

Make the top trim as shown. A coping saw is used to cut the curved edges. The top shelves are each 5 1/2 by 14 inches; the bottom shelves are 7 1/2 inches wide. Make the drawer stops and drawers to the dimensions shown. Assemble the project with glue and finishing nails. Round all sharp edges.

Signs of Age 'Skin Deep'
With Many Old Houses

Frequently when an aging house is up for sale, it has such a weathered, ramshackle look that it seems no amount of remodeling could make it habitable.

This was the feeling experienced by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas when they caught their first glimpse of a farm house on 40 acres of land near their home town of Modoc, Ind.

But Thomas, a building materials dealer in Modoc, knew that modern construction materials and techniques can work miracles with almost any old house. He also knew that a sturdy, old house usually can be purchased and remodeled for much less money per square foot of living space than it would cost to build a new home.

After an inspection revealed the house and barn were solidly built, the Thomases bought the property and set to work. In choosing products for the remodeling, Thomas called upon all his experience with building materials to be sure of getting the longest and most satisfactory service.

For example, after a 36-by-12-foot addition was completed, he specified that a colorful new roof of fire-resistant asphalt shingles be applied on the entire house. On the old portion, time and labor were saved by applying the new shingles directly over the old roofing.

Thomas also chose thick batts of mineral wool insulation for the walls and ceilings of the addition and installed them himself. The mineral wool, he knew, would make his family more comfortable in winter and summer by blocking the passage of heat, and probably would pay for itself within a few years in savings on fuel.

Their remodeling completed, the Thomases have a modern roomy home with three bedrooms, a living and dining room, bath, up-to-date kitchen with snack bar and breakfast nook, a recreation room in the attic, and a utility room.

The entire family agrees that moving to the country was a good idea. The surrounding land not only offers the three Thomas children the advantages of lots of fresh air and freedom, but helps provide food for the table, plus extra income from raising chickens and hogs.

Important Facts
About Social Security
Are Given

The 1956 Amendments to the Social Security Act brought lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, naturopaths, and optometrists under the provisions of the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program of that law and they will now, for the first time, be required to file a special Social Security form as a part of their Federal Income Tax Return. This announcement was made today by Mr. C. I. Fox, District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for the Maryland district. In conjunction with Mr. Fox's announcement, Mr. W. S. King, District Manager of the Hagerstown office of the Social Security Administration pointed out that, with the extension of coverage to these professional self-employed persons, they will now have the same kind of insurance protection for themselves and their families that the Federally operated system has afforded most other self-employed individuals since 1951.

Mr. Fox stated that the new law is effective with the first taxable year ending after 1955. For those newly covered lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, naturopaths, and optometrists who file their Federal Income Tax Returns on a calendar year basis this means that they will be required to pay a Social

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read 1 Thessalonians 1:1-10

We are always thankful as we pray for you all, for we never forget that your faith has meant solid achievement, your love has meant hard work. (1 Thessalonians 1:1, 2, Phillips.)

Once while a great orchestra was playing, the flutist did not play the few simple notes that were written for him. The conductor stopped the orchestra and said, "The flute—where is it?" Perhaps no one but the conductor missed the flute and its few simple bars, but the conductor did!

Each of us has something to offer to God. It may not seem to matter much whether or not we do our duty, but it matters to God!

It matters, because when we refuse to play our part we build a tragic wall between ourselves and our Father. We become isolated from Him and His people. Only by doing God's will can we achieve. Only under His leadership can we be fruitful.

Just as it takes each member of an orchestra to make beautiful music, so we must work together under God's will if His kingdom is to come in us and in our world.

Prayer

Our Father, we want so much to do Thy will today. As we go about our daily tasks, help us to do them with a sense of Thy presence, Thy love, and Thy power. Through Christ our Lord we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

This day I will be about my Father's business.

Stafford Dees (Tennessee)

Security tax on their net earnings for the calendar year 1956 if such earnings amounted to $400 or more. The Social Security tax rate for 1956 is 3 percent on the first $4,200 of net earnings. These taxes are to be added to, and submitted with, any income taxes for which liability exists. Schedule C, Profit (or loss) From Business or Profession, must be properly completed including the Schedule SE portion and submitted at the same time as the other forms that are filed as part of the Federal Income Tax Return.

As a participant under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program, Mr. King added, the newly covered professional individual is purchasing insurance protection against the loss of income to himself and his family caused by retirement due to old age and such misfortunes as total disability or death of the family breadwinner. When one of these hazards is incurred, and the participant or survivors otherwise qualify, monthly benefits are paid to replace, in part, the income that is lost.

Mr. Fox and Mr. King both emphasized the law is compulsory and applies to all of the self-employed individuals newly covered if their net earnings amount to at least $400 in the taxable year. They also pointed out that the taxpayer should make certain to indicate his Social Security account number so that he may receive proper credit for his payment. Failure to indicate the account number may result in no credit and may mean loss of future benefits. Where the taxpayer does not have an account number, he should obtain one from the Social Security district office so that it is available at income tax filing time. Questions pertaining to the filing of tax returns should be addressed to the Internal Revenue Service.

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Says Retailers
Should Wake Up

Babson Park, Mass., Mar. 7—Retailers nowadays seem to have two questions—where and why? If they would look at the stores where customers are going in and out all day, or follow the customers down the highways and see them going to other towns and cities, they would know "where." Then if they would take a good look at their own business establishment, they would find the answer to "why." In these days of clever advertising together with easy transportation, a customer thinks nothing of traveling miles for a good bargain. Examine your store, your stock, your employees, and your advertising. Is your store neat and attractive? Can your merchandise be easily seen or is it so jumbled up that even you do not know where a specified item is? How well did you screen your employees before you hired them? Are you getting the most out of your advertising? Retailing today is very competitive; it is destined to be more so. Most retailers should wake up or go to work for some other concern.

Condition of Store
Walk into the store where the manager is too busy to stand around complaining about poor business. Notice his neatly displayed merchandise! He keeps his stock under control by periodic inventory. He knows what is not selling and therefore does not re-order blindly. Slow-selling items are displayed so as to attract attention.

This man uses his "know-how" to make room for popular merchandise. He or his well-trained help know when to re-order certain items or when a line has been discontinued. His merchandise has been price marked. This not only helps the customer, but also the manager and clerks who could not be expected to memorize the price of every item in the store.

Pay More Money

To Fewer Employees

Mr. Manager, you would do well to screen your employees thoroughly. The question, "Can you use a cash register?" should not be sufficient. Make sure, at the beginning, that he or she will use it honestly, or you may find a small percent of your profit trickling out through the register. If you will observe your new employees closely, you will learn whether they are really interested in the work or whether the job is merely a stop-gap for them. Watch if they use your store to kill time by reading or talking to friends while waiting for pay-day.

When you have thoroughly screened the applicants and found honest and efficient help, you will be able to pay such employees more money because you will need fewer clerks. Your well-paid employee is an asset to your business. From the customer's viewpoint, nothing is more irritating than to be given discourteous or unintelligent answer. And since bad publicity travels farther and faster than good publicity, one unhappy customer can do a lot of harm. Your well-paid clerk who studies the stock and price-marks it will not let this happen.

Use More Intelligent

Advertising

Advertising is very important because it has so many facets. A clean, well-arranged store with attractive window displays is good advertising, as is anything at all that causes people to mention your place favorably, such as friendly, courteous, efficient help. Material is frequently furnished with nationally advertised merchandise, but is too often ignored and put in a corner. Actually, such signs, placed to advantage, catch the eye and bring customers inside.

Do not resent the man in your line of business who is using every means of advertising. He realizes advertising is most important. Many of the ads have clever and unique ideas. You will find they have not used trickery, nor is there any "gimmick," but honest, clever "know-how." A new highway which may by-pass many cities need not be a menace. It may be a booster. The retailer needs to WAKE UP.

Selecting A Location

Often the highest rent is the cheapest rent. The brightest retailers will get located as near as possible to an off-street parking lot. It also helps a small retailer to be close to a big store with a lot of customers. The best location for almost any retailer is adjoining a supermarket; the important thing is to get traffic into your store. It often pays to buy out some sleepy retailer who has a good location. If you have a good location, make a long lease; but if you have a poor location, lease only by the year.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman
DeWitt S. Hyde

Washington — Federal aid to school construction continues to be a highly controversial issue. My misgivings over adequate safeguards against federal control of our educational system prompted my appearance before the House Education and Labor Committee on the school construction bill. I suggested that the only certain means of assuring a minimum of federal interference was to have the Congress spell out in detail in the measure itself the things the Federal Government cannot do. The law itself should make clear the educational areas in which the state would remain supreme. It also should specify the exact amount of federal funds for each state and not leave the granting of money to administrative discretion.

House Judiciary Committee study of a civil rights measure is completed and the bill is much the same as that passed by the House last year. Some modifications and changes were made by the Committee, which make the bill slightly more palatable to the South. In addition, a provision establishing a civil rights division in the Justice Department was adopted. The revised measure also calls for an additional Attorney General to head the new section in the Department.

Construction funds for the areas new Veterans' Hospital were urged by me in testimony before the House appropriations Committee last week. Money for planning and preliminary work is in the budget, but it seems to me important that money for actual construction be included this year in order to speed the building of the new hospital at a site near Rockville.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Again and again there is demonstrated wide gulf between grass roots sentiment and the socialistic and international schemers entrenched along Potomac's banks.

Latest manifestation was brought forth at annual convention of National Wool Growers Ass'n, nation's oldest livestock grower organization, when J. H. Breckenridge, Twin Falls, Idaho, dynamic president, made keynote address.

Significantly, he cannot be labeled as "Old Guard." Not only is he perhaps youngest head of any major farm organization, but he reached voting age after second Roosevelt inauguration.

He called for renewed opposition to U. S. joining Organization for Trade Cooperation, one of the many United Nations spawned blow-bys.

He also called for tariff protection for U. S. carpet makers instead of cancelling duty on imported carpet wove.

Mentioning long fight waged by wool growers for protection for all U. S. mills, Mr. Breckenridge said, "It is my judgment we are coming closer to time when there will be chance to increase tariff on imported wool; that time may not be too far distant. More and more industries are feeling pinch of foreign competition with products based on lower production costs. More working people are realizing their job security is being jeopardized by importation of goods produced by cheap labor. Therefore, although tariffs may not be thought favorably upon by Congress today, the time when our views will be presented by those in majority is rapidly approaching."

Dramatically highlighting these views is recent background. The 1954 Wool Act gives part of duties on imported wools to maintain support price on domestic wool to spur increased production.

"But," says Mr. Breckenridge, "the Wool Act of 1954 was passed in lieu of adequate tariff protection. Some of us feel this act, especially if it were applied to all of agriculture, leads in a socialistic direction. We must be constantly on guard to see we are not enticed or lead in that direction. To be sure, we can find example and precedent in other sections of the industrial economy leading that way. The last thing wool growers want is to see who gets most at public trough, but neither do we want to be the final, fatal casualty in the rear guard defense of our domestic enterprise."

"I make these statements," he continued, "because in the not too distant future the law providing for incentive payments on wool and lamb will expire. I am of the firm opinion that the form of protection we seek should be in increased tariffs. When this day of decision comes, we wool growers should take a very long look and be doubly sure our economic stability of today is not paid for with a mortgage on the economic freedom of our children, and children's children."

There are perhaps those along the Potomac who will say wool growers are biting the hand that feeds them. Yet, here again is evidence that among younger leaders at grass roots level there is growing realization that hands today engaged in socialistic spoon feeding an economy can be used tomorrow to choke out life of a free economy. And perhaps nation's shepherds also remember another shepherd, Esau, who once sold his birthright for a mess of pottage.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

One of the most popular sayings making the rounds in Washington these days goes something like this—"a whale has a far greater chance of being harpooned if he's spouting."

The allusion, of course, is to the frequency with which criticism is directed toward anyone who makes a public statement, but it occurs to me that the entire example changes when we give it fuller consideration.

In Sympathy With Whale Without casting reflections on the opinions of the numerous individuals who have used the expression, I would like to note that when a whale "spouts" it is merely exhaling.

If a whale did not "spout," it would probably drown after submerging.

I, for one, am in sympathy with the whale, and I would much rather "spout" in the open occasionally, leaving myself vulnerable to the attacks of opponents, than doom myself to the fate which attends evasive silence.

Criticism Invited

That is why I send these weekly newsletters, and that is why I fully expect—and appreciate—the criticisms which my publicly stated views sometime inspire.

It goes without saying, of course, that I also like to hear expressions of support for my positions on various issues.

Many extremely interesting and informative comments have been forwarded to my office with the questionnaires we are now distributing, and I will give a full report on the matter in approximately a month.

As I have stated previously my analyses of the results will be made in such a way that the identities of those who have operated in the project will be fully protected.

Budget Cut Seen Possible

One thing that impressed me deeply as I studied the first batch of completed questionnaires was the concern which many Marylanders feel about the budget.

Realizing the economies that can result from enactment of certain Hoover Commission recommendations, I sincerely believe that we can cut proposed expenditures by more than $3-billion without adversely affecting our national defense or economy.

One of the first things we must do to achieve this goal is to eliminate programs in which the Government is in competition with private business. I intend to keep doing everything possible to see that this is accomplished.

Recommendations On Soil Conservation Are Planned

Community and county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committeemen throughout Maryland are meeting during March to make recommendations for conservation practices on which costs will be shared under the 1958 Agricultural Conservation Program, Leonard C. Burns, State ASC Chairman, said today. ASC committeemen are elected by farmers.

County recommendations will be considered by the State ASC Committee, meeting with other State agricultural officials in College Park on March 21 at which time the Maryland recommendations for next year's ACP program will be formed.

State recommendations have a deadline of April 12 for submission to the U. S. Department of Agriculture for consideration in helping make needed adjustments in the ACP for 1958. Public law requires this procedure by the Secretary of Agriculture each year in adjusting the continuing ACP within the provisions set by Congress.

Provisions of the Maryland ACP program for 1958 will be announced as soon as the State ASC Committee's recommendations are approved by the Secretary of Agriculture. Mr. Burns expects that it will be ready to offer to farmers by July 1.

Under the 1956 program, Maryland farmers earned approximately $1.3 million in federal cost-share assistance.

Since ACP assistance provides for about half the cost of approved conservation measures, it means that at least $2.6 million worth of conservation was done under the ACP in Maryland last year, the State Committee pointed out.

County ACP groups meeting this month include the county ASC committeemen, the county Extension agents, and local representatives of Soil Conservation Service, Farmer's Home Administration, Forest Service, and representatives of other organizations that may be interested in helping to develop the county recommendations.

There are 621 community ASC committeemen in Maryland. They are elected each year by farmers in their community to represent them in adjustment and conservation programs. The State Committee urged all farmers to state their views on ACP matters to these committeemen so they might be brought up at county meetings.

"We are proud of the grass-roots way in which the National ACP Program is planned," Mr. Burns said.

"After the Department of Agriculture in Washington has approved the program within the authorities of Congress, each State and county committee will have their chance to pick and choose from the National program those conservation measures most needed on Maryland farms."

Mrs. Carroll E. Newcomer and son, N. Seton Ave., have returned home after visiting with Mrs. Newcomer's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harner of Philadelphia for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Edgar have returned home to Baltimore after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. James Bouey, DePaul St., last week.

The afternoon of games will be held March 14 at the home of Miss Ann Codori.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 6

Medical Deductions and Widow Benefits

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Maryland Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Uncle Sam realizes family doctor bills and dentist bills can add up; so he permits you to itemize and deduct all medical expenses beyond 3 percent of your adjusted gross income.

Sick Benefits are not counted as income. Here is what you can receive free of tax from your employer or his insurance company:

- (1) Payment for medical expenses
- (2) Payment for permanent injury (not based on time absent from work)
- (3) Damages for injury or sickness
- (4) Payments under Workmen's Compensation Act
- (5) Payment up to $100 per week for loss of wages while you are absent due to injury or sickness, except that the first week's pay is taxable unless you are absent due to an injury or are hospitalized for at least one day.

Sick Pay Benefits
If "sick pay" payments from your employer are included in the wages shown on your withholding slips, you should subtract the proper amount from your income in the place provided on the first page of the tax return (Form 1040). Attach an explanation as described in the instruction book. You are entitled to exclude this amount even if you do not itemize deductions.

You are allowed a deduction for medical expenses beyond 3 percent of your adjusted gross income, but if you (or your husband or wife) are 65 or over, the 3 percent rule does not apply to your own medical expenses. It does apply, however, to any medical expenses you pay for your dependents.

Among the items to include in your list of medical expenses are fees of doctors, dentists, hospitals and nurses. You can also deduct premiums for health, accident, hospitalization and medical insurance, but you must reduce your medical expenses by the amount of any benefits received from insurance.

Medicines Are Also Deductible

Your total deduction is limited to a maximum amount for the year, as explained in the instruction book, and medicines and drugs may be included in your medical expenses only to the extent they exceed 1 percent of your gross income.

Widows and Widowers

The federal tax code contains several provisions of special interest to widows and widowers:

- (1) You may file a joint return with a husband or wife who died during the tax year if no separate return is filed.
- (2) If you have not remarried and have in your household a dependent child or stepchild, you are entitled for the next two years to use the same tax computation (with income-splitting privileges) as you have been entitled to on a joint return.

- (3) When life insurance proceeds are taken as an annuity or in installments, widows and widowers are allowed up to $1000 per year of tax free payments in addition to a pro rata amount of the principal.
- (4) You may be entitled to a deduction for child-care expenses.
- (5) You may be entitled to retirement income credit if your deceased husband or wife would have qualified.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

Confirmation At St. Mary's Church

His Excellency, the Most Rev. Lawrence P. Schott, administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to 31 members of St. Mary's Church, Fairfield, and St. Rita's Catholic Church, Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., at services held in St. Mary's last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Rev. Robert Strom served as Master of Ceremonies. Also assisting in the sanctuary were chaplains to the bishop: the Rev. William A. Boyle and the Rev. Charles E. Park; deacons for Benediction, the Rev. Louis J. Yeager and the Rev. Joseph Gotwalt; name callers, the Rev. Anthony Kane and the Rev. John Gunville; assistants, the Rev. Thomas Keeney and the Rev. Alexis Arnoldi. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. McGee and the Rev. John J. McNulty were present in the Sanctuary. The Rev. McNulty is pastor of St. Mary's and St. Rita's Churches while Fr. Got-

In addressing the confirmation class Bishop Schott reminded those present that all men were created by God to be saints. With the reception of the Sacrament of Confirmation each one would receive the Holy Ghost to aid and strengthen him in doing God's will. Continuing, Bishop Schott told his listeners that they have reason to be proud of this great country. No country in the history of the world has given so generously of her goods to feed the poor and hungry. Yet, with all of her greatness, she has not given the world a canonized saint. This great gift remains to be given.

Bishop Schott closed his remarks with the prayer that those receiving the Sacrament of Confirmation must open wide their hearts to the Holy Ghost, that they might cherish Him and accompany Him into eternity.

After bestowing the Sacrament on the class, Bishop Schott congratulated them for their perseverance and labor which led them to this great moment in their lives.

The altar of the church was decorated with red roses in honor of the Holy Ghost. The boys and girls of the class wore red and white gowns. Cabin Burned

A fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the mountain cabin, near Charmian, Pa., owned by Ray McGlaughlin, Emmitsburg. It is believed the conflagration occurred Monday evening of last week but was not discovered until the next day. Many of the household furnishings, both in the charred ruins and around the cabin, were found in a disorderly manner. The cabin was covered by insurance. Mr. McGlaughlin uses the cabin during the summer and in the fall during the hunting season.

Mr. James J. Shields, Harrisburg, Pa., visited with friends and relatives in town on Wednesday.
