You women with "green thumbs" have an excellent opportunity to assist in the Bicentennial celebration and at the same time perhaps, win a monetary award. A total of $50 will be awarded three winners of a contest to beautify local gardens. The lady with the most beautiful garden will receive $25 for her trouble, but that will be nothing compared to the joy and satisfaction she will receive by being acclaimed the winner of the contest and to hear the praises of her friends and neighbors. It's a project all we ladies can participate in, so what do you say gals, let's really go to work in our gardens and yards? Things could stand a dressing up anyways. You can get your entry blanks in most of the stores or from Mrs. Thomas J. Frailey, chairman of the contest.

I imagine the President's face was a mite red last weekend when part of his entourage was halted by the Montgomery County police who charged the members of the caravan with speeding from 70 to 100 miles an hour. A good many people were indignant over the fact that fines were not levied on the group of newsmen who were stopped, and for that matter, the President himself, who undoubtedly was as guilty as the newsmen. Brother-r-r I hate to think what would happen to poor little me had I been the guilty one—there'd be a column this week with a dateline from the Rockville jail.

I imagine most of us are prone to believe we are busier than we really are and have to get here and there as fast as we can and along the way we just plain forget the danger we are creating by the speed we are traveling. I understand that this particular offense has been going on for some time though and from now on I think it should bear watching. No man is too big for the laws of our state and country, regardless of his status in life. In my opinion there was no reason whatsoever for the speed as the trip was one for enjoyment and relaxation and not especially for urgent business of a national or world-wide significance. After the party arrived in Gettysburg a tour of friends' farms and inspection of cattle was made and the evening was spent in social activity by playing bridge. No, it wasn't necessary for any unreasonable amount of speed and should not be repeated.

The recent census taken of the town indicates all the more that Emmitsburg isn't growing and can't grow! It's impossible to grow as there are few if any, building lots remaining in town. Hundreds of people have built and live on the outskirts of Emmitsburg but are not counted in the census. We'll not actually know how the Emmitsburg area has grown until 1960 when the Government takes a census of the Emmitsburg area, not the town itself. You can take a count of Emmitsburg proper 100 years from now and it probably will still be the same, there just isn't any room to build inside the corporate limits. You'll find steady growth though, on the outskirts of town. We are showing steady growth in the election district, there's no doubt about that and unless the town expands or annexes additional territory the figures will always remain about 1200.

It unquestionably is to the advantage of nearby suburban property-owners to become a part of Emmitsburg proper. Most homes five to 10 years old are having sewerage difficulties and these conditions tend to get worse, not better. Now is the time to strike, so to speak, before the new sewer lines are laid. You can be included in the sewerage system for only a few dollars a year, so better take a hint... it's to your own advantage. You can all be annexed in one big move and save a lot of time and expense.

JAMES H. BOYLE

James H. Boyle, 85, died at his home, Fairfield Rt. 2, last Friday afternoon at 3:55 o'clock following an illness of four years.

A native of Frederick County, he was a son of the late James and Sarah (Wagner) Boyle, was a farmer and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, and the Holy Name Society of the church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Agnes Pecher; six children, Miss Sarah A. Boyle, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Mary Agnes Cochran, Salisbury; Bernard Boyle, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Marguerite Biialecki, Fairfield Rt. 2; Miss Joan L. Boyle, Hagerstown and Joseph Boyle, Emmitsburg; 17 grandchildren, eight great-grandchildren, and a brother, William Boyle, Baltimore.

Funeral services were held Monday morning with a requiem mass at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, with the Rev. Fr. John Sullivan officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. S. L. Allison, funeral director.

CLARENCE E. McCARREN

Clarence Edgar McCarron, 75, died at his home in Hagerstown last Sunday at 12:50 a.m. after an illness of two days.

Born and reared at Emmitsburg, he was the son of Charles and Josephine (Eckenrode) McCarron. For many years, he engaged in contract hauling in Hagerstown, until his retirement in 1950.

He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church and the Holy Name Society.

It unquestionably is to the advantage of nearby suburban property-owners to become a part of Emmitsburg proper. Most homes five to 10 years old are having sewerage difficulties and these conditions tend to get worse, not better. Now is the time to strike, so to speak, before the new sewer lines are laid. FRACTURES ANKLE

Roland Sanders, 52, Emmitsburg, an employee of Knouse Foods, Orrtanna, Pa., was treated at the Warner Hospital last Friday for a fracture of his right ankle received while carrying a pipe.

Modern submarines travel faster submerged than on the surface and submerge in 1 minute.

Bicentennial Pageant Needs Name

Emmitsburg's historical pageant must have an appropriate title the Bicentennial Committee has decided and a prize of two box seat tickets to the extravaganza will be the reward to the most suitable title selected. The winner will receive special recognition during the big affair which starts June 22 and terminates on June 29. The contest is open to the general public and they are invited to send in as many titles as they care to. The contest will be of two week's duration and all entries must be in the hands of the judges by April 15.

The committee suggests that the contestants adapt their titles to the theme of the pageant which will be based on the history of Emmitsburg, its geographical location, its proximity to the Mason-Dixon Line, colleges, Indians, etc.

All entries in the contest must be mailed to the Emmitsburg Chronicle before Monday, April 15. The winner's picture will be published and it is highly possible that he or she will appear on television.

Other announcements forthcoming from Sunday's meeting of the Bicentennial Committee held in the Fire Hall revealed that a general headquarters in the Harmer property adjacent the American Store on the Square, would be open on Monday. Persons desiring information concerning the Bicentennial will be accommodated by a person in charge of the headquarters. The headquarters will be operated on a full-time basis from Monday until the termination of the celebration in June. All mail and inquiries should be directed to Bicentennial Headquarters, Emmitsburg, and if possible the name of the chairman of the division interested in such as parade, special events, historical displays, historical tour, decorations, housing accommodations, etc. A telephone has been installed in the office for the convenience of public communications. The headquarters will not be open Sundays.

Wales E. Rightnour, special events chairman, discussed the possibility of having Pioneer Recognition Day and a special day dedicated to firemen from all near by counties concluding with a parade of fire apparatus. The mammoth parade will be held on the opening day of the affair, Saturday, June 22.

Posts Bail On Charge

Ronald Barry Hewitt, 22, Gettysburg, Tuesday posted $1000 bail before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore, Gettysburg, to appear before the Adams County court on a charge of involuntary manslaughter resulting from the death of three women following an auto accident on the Sunshine Trail Jan. 22.

The charge was filed by Pennsylvania state police Tuesday following a study by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter of the transcript of the inquest held recently at Waynesboro. Hewitt, after receiving the warrant from the officer, waived a hearing before the justice and posted the bail for court.

Hewitt was the driver of an H.C. Brinkerhoff Transportation Co. tractor-trailer Jan. 22 on the Sunshine Trail, near Fountaintown, when the tractor-trailer and a car being driven by Mrs. Daisy B. Debrick, 51, Pen Mar, collided early in the morning on icy roads. Witnesses at the inquest said there was a heavy fog.

Mrs. Debrick and two passengers in her car, Mrs. Grace Hamilton Ott, 72, Pen Mar, and Mrs. Anna F. Watson, 28, Blue Ridge Summit, were fatally hurt in the crash. Two other women in the car, Mrs. Alice S. Gilland, 48, Waynesboro Rt. 4, and Mrs. Norman Kint, 31, Pennserville, were badly injured. All 5 of the women were enroute to work at the Knouse Foods plant at Orrtanna at the time of the crash.

NOTICE!

All persons desiring housing accommodations for out-of-town friends or relatives during the Bicentennial in June, are asked to register with the chairman of the housing committee, John Law, just as soon as is practical. Efforts are being made to provide accommodations for several hundred people. Mr. Law's phone number is Hillcrest 7-2171.

College Student Fatally Injured; Two Hurt In Sunday Morning Accident

Pictured above is the completely demolished 1956 Oldsmobile in which Edward Galen, 20, Mt. St. Mary's College student was fatally injured early last Sunday morning when the car crashed into an embankment about a mile west of Emmitsburg. Another student is in critical condition.

Edward Galen, 20-year-old reserve member of the Mt. St. Mary's College basketball team, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., Monday afternoon of injuries sustained when the automobile in which he was a passenger was demolished in an accident one mile west of Emmitsburg early last Sunday morning.

Galen's two companions, also students at the Mount, were also injured. John Daley, 21, son of William J. Daley, well-known fight manager of Englewood, N.J., remains in a critical condition with a fractured skull and dislocated diaphragm. Driver of the car, Richard D. Gardner, 20, of Bordentown, N.J., is hospitalized with a lacerated face and left ribs cracked.

Standing six-foot-three and weighing 200 pounds, he was being counted upon for a starting berth next season by Coach Jim Phelan. Galen was an aggressive rebounder and good one-handed shotmaker on the basketball court. He was a son of Mr. Francis J. Galen, of 6059 N. Philip Ave., Philadelphia. The body was turned over to a Philadelphia funeral director and services were held there yesterday morning with his basketball teammates attending in a body. A dinner honoring the Mount's basketball team on April 10 was cancelled out of respect to Galen.

Daley's father is reported to be prominent in the ring game. Among his stable of fighters is Vince Martinez, a leading middle-weight title contender.

Gardner is the son of William T. Gardner of Bordentown.

Cyclist Rams Car; Two Hospitalized

A second accident on the Emmitsburg-Waynesboro Road on Sunday, occurred about 100 yards from the scene of the fatal accident which took the life of a Mt. St. Mary's student Sunday morning, approximately six hours after the first wreck.

State Trooper H. J. Brown who investigated said David Eugene Warthen, 18, Emmitsburg, was driving west when he signaled for a left hand turn into a private drive and slowed down.

At the same instant Trooper Brown said, Harry Benjamin Kelbaugh, 45, Waynesboro Rt. 3, traveling west on a motorcycle, attempted to pass the Warthen car and smashed into its side.

Both Kelbaugh and a passenger on the cycle, Hurley Stinson, 38, of Waynesboro, were thrown to the road. Kelbaugh was admitted to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, suffering from fractures of all ribs and an injured liver. Stinson was treated for a laceration of the right upper eyelid, abrasions of the face and right shoulder and abrasions and contusions of the right foot.

The mishap occurred about 12:45 o'clock last Sunday morning at the intersection of Md. Rt. 97 and Tract Rd. According to the report of State Trooper William G. Morgan, the car was traveling at excessive speed and went through the intersection into a six-foot embankment.

The three youths were rushed to the hospital in the local VFW ambulance.

The car, a 1956 Oldsmobile, was owned by John Roncone, Sr., and was borrowed from his son, another student, was a total wreck.

Farm Workers Aided

By Social Security

Details of the new social security regulations that will affect farmers in this area were summarized recently by Henry R. Shoemaker, county agent, and W. T. Gillespie, Field Representative of the Hagerstown social security office.

They pointed out that starting this year, social security coverage is provided for a farm worker if the amount of wages or cash pay in a calendar year is $150 or more, or if the employee worked for the employer on 20 or more days during the year.

Cash wages of less than $100 from any one farm employer under the 20-day test are taxable for social security purposes but will not be credited with a quarter of coverage. The latest amendments did not change the 1954 method of crediting quarters for agricultural wages.

If a farm hand works by the day for two farmers during the year, earning $175 in 15 days from the first and $75 in seven days from the second, only the $175 would be covered for social security purposes and would count as a quarter of coverage.

Wages paid to members of a labor crew, such as those who harvest fruits and vegetables, may be covered by social security. In the past it has sometimes been hard to tell whether the employer was the farmer or the crew leader. But now the crew leader will be regarded as the employer when he pays the members of this crew and does not have a written agreement with the farmer showing that he is the farmer's employee. Such a crew leader will be self-employed with respect to his services in furnishing the crew and to any work he performs as a member of the crew.

If the farm operator enters into a written agreement with the crew leader which shows he is an employee, then the crew members are also employees of the farm operator.

Agricultural work performed by foreign workers admitted to this country on a temporary basis from any foreign country are not covered.

Information about social security coverage can be obtained by either a visit or a letter to the Hagerstown social security office, located at 74 W. Washington Street, Hagerstown. A representative from the Hagerstown office is in Frederick each Tuesday and Thursday between 9:00 and 3:00. He has an office in the last wing of Winchester Hall.

to review budget figures which the Bureau of Budget has worked over for a year or more. Under the 83rd Club proposal, the Congress would have as much time as the Budget Bureau to study budgetary problems.

Defeat of the Patman Resolution authorizing a study of the nation's monetary and credit systems by a House Banking and Currency Subcommittee served to focus attention on the importance of a non-political and unbiased review of our monetary and banking structure. Real fear existed in Congress that the study, if carried out by the Patman Subcommittee, might degenerate into a political witch hunt for villains and victims. The House in its action stated emphatically it did not want the study group to be just a sounding board for pet monetary ideas.

The House District Committee has reported favorably on my bill — "Simultaneous Death Act," which would make the District of Columbia's law the same as Maryland's on distribution of estates when deaths occur at the same time or at close intervals. A House District Subcommittee also approved a bill of mine to correct District law on the inheritance of real property. My bill would make real property follow the same line of descent as personal property and would repeal old laws dating back to the 13th century.

Read Acts 16:25-34.

And they (Paul and Silas) said, "Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household." (Acts 16:31. RSV.)

Two teen-age Filipino boys, Nas and Conrado, were handed religious census cards to fill in. Across the cards each wrote the word "pagan."

The grandfathers of these boys had been headhunters. As children during the war years, they had lost many of their close relatives. Their god had been a totem pole, and as a result of their experiences they lost faith in any god at all. However, when they heard the message of Christ from evangelist C. L. Spottswood, they gave up everything they had to serve the Master.

As we built a model demonstration farm with the boys, I realized they were seeking the Christian way in their lives. Six months after they had been there, I saw them stand boldly and testify before three thousand of their countrymen that Christ was their Savior. It took courage and faith for them to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ. They were convinced of His power for them.

O Lord, we often find ourselves lacking in faith even though we know Thee. We thank Thee for the inspiration of seeing converts new in the faith. We thank Thee for the impact they make us. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Your Personal Health

Chicken Pox
"Varicella" the doctor calls it. We call it "chicken pox" although you can't avoid it by staying away from poultry. As a matter of fact, most children have it before they reach the age of 15.

This is the time of year for the itchy dot complexion. Junior doesn't want to eat his supper. He is fussy, headache, and a little feverish. It's a wise mother who looks immediately for the typical pink spots on his body. She'll call the doctor immediately. Chicken pox is one of the least dangerous of childhood diseases, but the symptoms are somewhat like those of smallpox. The doctor should make the diagnosis.

The rash first appears on the child's trunk, then the face, and may cover the whole body. The pink spots change to clusters of blisters. These become crusted with scabs in three or four days. Sound simple? It isn't. During this time constant itching makes the child extremely uncomfortable.

Not all of the Argonauts who poured into California during the Gold Rush wound up in the mining camps. Some of them quickly realized there was more than one kind of gold in California; and with the advent of modern growing and canning methods, cling peaches truly became the "gold that grows on trees". Today, California produces 95 per cent of the nation's cling peach pack.

To scratch or not to scratch? The doctor says, "No." Scratching can lead to infection of the blisters. Moreover, scratched eruptions may leave scars. Scars may be the pride of the elementary school set, but they are very painful to the vanity of teenagers. Even though they will fade in time, its best to avoid them.

To keep a small child from scratching where it itches will tax the ingenuity of any mother. Mitts can be tied on the hands of very young children. A stiff tube over the elbows may help. The doctor may prescribe a soothing lotion. Crayons and pencils and games that keep the hands busy will help. The best efforts sometimes fail, so fingernails should be cut short, hands washed frequently, and clothes and bedding kept fresh and clean to avoid infection.

Acreage Reserve Pledges Binding

Farmers who have included cropland under the Soil Bank's Acreage Reserve Program for wheat, corn or tobacco should remember that they must comply with all requirements of the program in order to qualify for the Acreage Reserve payments, Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said this week.

"A program provision which farmers are likely to overlook is the one which requires that a farmer comply with all acreage allotments for his farm if he wants to earn any kind of a Soil Bank payment," the Chairman explained.

"This means, for instance, that a farmer who expects to earn payments under the wheat acreage program must also comply with the corn allotment for his farm if there is one. Farmers should not overlook the fact that they must also comply with acreage allotments for other 1957 crops to be planted this spring in order to receive a wheat Acreage Reserve payment."

Where a farmer willfully and knowingly harvests or grazes designated Acreage Reserve land, the payment is forfeited and in addition he is subject to a civil penalty of 50 percent of the payment which would have been made for compliance. If the payment has been made when the violation occurs, the amount of the payment must be refunded.

Farmers who take part in the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank must also comply with all acreage allotments for their farms in order to qualify for the Conservation Reserve payments.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A PLATE RACK

Curios, china, or knicknacks can be attractively displayed on a plate rack.

The rack is made of 1 by 4-inch lumber throughout. The frame is a 70-inch square with miter joint construction. The interior shelves are cut 68-7/16 inches long. Square the ends.

Before assembling, mark the location of the shelves on the sides as shown in the diagram. Assemble the plate rack with glue and 8-penny finishing nails. Set all nails and fill the holes with wood putty.

To hang the rack, locate the studs behind the wall where the rack will be hung. Drill 5/8-inch holes 1-13/16 inches deep in the shelves as shown. The location and number of holes in the shelves will depend on the position of the rack in relation to the studs. At least one fastening should be made in the center of each shelf to prevent sagging. Attach the rack to the studs with No. 10 flathead screws 3 1/4 inches long. Plug the holes with dowels.

Quarter-round 1/4-inch molding nailed to the shelves will prevent the plates from slipping.

7 pcs. 1 x 4 in. x 6 ft.

2-penny finishing nails for molding

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Bankers And Investments

Babson Park, Mass., Apr. 4

—I have great respect for bankers. My father was a country banker in Gloucester, Mass.

It is safe to trust a banker for the protection of your deposit. His first and foremost aim is to protect the money which you leave with him.

Based on my large acquaintance with leading bankers all over the world, I unequivocally support their 100% desire to protect your savings.

Furthermore, barring the ravages of war over which they have no control, they will give you back every dollar you deposit with them. Never criticize a banker for refusing to make a loan.

What About Inflation?

When you draw your dollars out of a bank, whether your dollars will buy as much in food, clothing, and shelter as they would have when you put them in is another question. The bankers have little control over what your dollars will buy in the future. It, however, is only fair to say that the bankers are fighting inflation in every possible way. Inflation hurts not only the value of your deposits but also the value of every bond which the bank holds!

Furthermore, it should be remembered that a banker should naturally be conservative. It is said that only one thing is more easily frightened than a banker, — namely, a "pair of bankers." Bankers brag of their deposits; but the greater their deposits, the more they owe! In their hearts they realize that deposits represent debts. The depositors sit in the driver's seat. The depositors of any bank could close the bank in a week. Hence, I repeat we should not blame bankers for being cautious.

Asking Bankers For Investment Advice

Bankers may be making a mistake associating so much with other bankers. Instead of attending Bankers' Conventions, they perhaps should attend conventions of physicists, chemists, and other scientists. Instead of asking the advice of other bankers who are remembering 1929, they should perhaps ask the advice of those who are looking into the future rather than the past.

If you ask some bankers for investment advice, they look up the company in an investment manual and study only its balance sheets and earnings statements. They ask to see the accountant's audit. Yet, accountants are only students of the past. Their business is to make autopsies, — not forecasts. Accountants may be classified as "undertakers," — not as "doctors."

Officers Of Banks

In my humble judgement, the president of a bank should be a graduate of some highly professional school, such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, if he is to give investment advice. He needs to know what is ahead, the wonders which are now on drawing boards and in test tubes.

How To Make A Fortune

I scarcely dare to tell you again in this column about a little non-profit organization in New Boston, N. H., known as the Information Center, which will show you for $3.00 how a fortune could be made. Old Boston, Mass. will tell you old ways of getting 4% interest, but go to New Boston, N. H. for the coming ways of making millions by investing in nuclear power, electronics, rare metals and other miraculous industries of the future.

One thing more: Give attention to Church Averages rather than Dow-Jones Averages. Consider the graduates from our colleges and the work being done by Youth Organizations. The Hearts and the Brains of our young people are what will determine employment and business conditions.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Shortly will occur the sixth anniversary of one of the greatest blows dealt the Republic by the Acheson-Dulles clique; the removal of General Douglas MacArthur from the Far East.

Since then, the nation's people have been arbitrarily deprived of the leadership and counsel of one of the most outstanding men developed by the Republic.

While MacArthur is best known publicly for his World War II achievement, C. W. Harder mentors which earned him international recognition as the outstanding military leader of the war, his greatest work was perhaps in building free enterprise in Japan.

In comparatively short time MacArthur changed a centuries old rigid monopoly system of business in Japan into working free enterprise system.

It is a matter of history that following its removal, Japanese economy reverted to old strangling feudal-monopoly system.

But it puzzles many in Washington, why this great clearly demonstrated talent and ability has been allowed to remain unused by government especially when there is so much lip service to restoring full free economy in America.

Since his retirement, American leadership seemingly has lacked anyone who can give both nation and world clearcut statement of American aims and objectives. No one was ever in doubt on MacArthur's position.

That position was perhaps best summed up by him several years before World War II when he stated that free enterprise had developed in America a treasure storehouse any country in the world would plunder given the opportunity. He also said no one, no system, can guarantee security, but opportunity can be kept free.

Thus, he has long recognized the one big fundamental difference between America and all other nations. And undoubtedly he recognized America need not be plundered by the sword alone; it could be done by international blackmail called foreign aid or some other fancy name.

No one could have ever blackmailed MacArthur, be it individual, or nation. Neither did he hold any fuzzy ideas America should apologize for the fruits of its free enterprise system.

In fact, in Japan, he labored to help the Japanese emulate the American system. Probably never has success been treated so ignobly; or so quickly destroyed.

But while he could overcome centuries of Japanese feudal customs, he could not prevail against the moony machinations of the Acheson-Dulles clique in its mad postwar rush to build some global contraption with billions of American tax dollars to fulfill some purpose that even they cannot define.

Thus, there is substantial speculation on why his clear headed talents are not again being used in the service of the Republic.

And in past few weeks or months this speculation is increased by fact that apparently no one, whether it be British Prime Minister, or head of Israel, seems inclined to place much confidence in the direction of American policy. Thus, say these commentators, if MacArthur were in government, there would be no doubt at home or abroad as to whether the U.S. has a policy, and precisely what that policy comprised.

An Important Investigation Senator John L. McClellan, chairman of the United States Senate's "Select" Committee conducting the investigation into racket activities among officials of certain labor unions, feels that the committee and staff will be engaged at least a full year in hard and tedious work. "It is a job which none of us sought," he said as he sat for an interview in his office on Capitol Hill. "But it is a job which all of us feel must be carried on with dedication and whatever sacrifices are necessary."

That the sacrifices will be heavy already was apparent.

Although it was a legislative off-day on Capitol Hill, Senator McClellan had spent six and a half hours in Committee work, including two hours with officials of the FBI—before most people had had their lunch. His afternoon was full, and a group of West Coast people was scheduled for a 5 p.m. appointment with the chairman and Robert F. Kennedy, Committee chief counsel. After that there would be conferences with Kennedy and other staff people to set up plans for the public hearings on the next day.

Mass Of Work

Senator McClellan said: "I would like for you to tell your readers, Dr. Benson, that for the time being we simply cannot get around to investigating all the reports flowing into our office. However, as we complete the building of our Committee staff we will try to properly handle every tip, every report, every appeal that is being made upon us at the moment." He gestured toward a high stack of telegrams and several foot-high stacks of letters.

Several thousand communications regarding the rackets investigation have been received by Chairman McClellan. Each day's mail brings hundreds. Many of them are from labor union members registering vague or generalized complaints about the operation of their union. Some of the letters make specific and detailed charges. They are coming from states all over the country.

The Citizens' Stake

"Every American citizen has a stake in the work of this committee," Senator McClellan soberly said to me. "Some of the evidence we have suggests an unwholesome and dangerous situation in some areas. The very future of our freedom system could be jeopardized."

As I left the Senator's private office, Chief Counsel Kennedy and a group of Oregon people entered. On the desk of the receptionist in the outer office a new batch of telegrams had been opened. I scanned the one on top. It had come from a West Coast city heretofore not mentioned in the McClellan Committee hearings. The sender's name and address was signed. The telegram said:

The deeper McClellan's Committee dug, the nastier were the facts and their implications.

Later, on the West Coast, other shocking facts were uncovered. The Senate Labor Committee was brought into the picture. The two committees agreed on a full-fledged investigation and set up the "Select" Committee. Senator McClellan, who had demonstrated an uncommon ability to handle investigations and hearings and who had achieved an enviable reputation for fairness, was his colleagues' choice for chairman.

GET OUT HERE AND INVESTIGATE DIRTY WORK IN LOCAL NAME AND NUMBER GIVEN. ONE MAN BEATEN. I'M NEXT. FBI KNOWS."

The McClellan Committee seems determined to "get out there" on all such summonses, and to bring to the attention of the nation (and local authorities) any racketeering conditions jeopardizing our freedom system. For that we should all be grateful.

Kentucky Horses

To Be Tested At Pimlico Track

Baltimore—Horse racing's odds-makers are in a quandry over which of two Kentucky-bred—Bold Ruler or Gen. Duke—to make favorite for the 1957 Triple Crown, but its a New Jersey product which may upset all their calculations.

His name is Ambehaving, a colt bred near Moorestown, N. J., and the first horse ever to win all three of that state's three major stakes races for home-breds.

Ambehaving defeated Bold Ruler in his last juvenile start in 1956 when he won $64,975 first money in the 1 1/16th-mile Remsen Stakes in New York. He was then shipped to Florida for a lengthy rest and is now in rigorous training for the Triple Crown—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness at Pimlico, and Belmont Stakes.

"We've taken our time with him this year. He's going to get every opportunity to show what he can really do," says Dr. John M. Lee, his trainer. It was Lee who developed New Jersey's most recent star of racing, Spartan Valor.

He was then shipped to Florida for a lengthy rest and is now in rigorous training for the Triple Crown—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness at Pimlico, and Belmont Stakes.

"We've taken our time with him this year. He's going to get every opportunity to show what he can really do," says Dr. John M. Lee, his trainer. It was Lee who developed New Jersey's most recent star of racing, Spartan Valor.

Ambehaving, by Ambiorix-Dentifrice, was bred by Mr. R. C. DuPont at Meadowview Farm near Moorestown. His first start, however, was not one over which to get excited. He appeared in several overnight races and the best he could do was pick up $400 third money in one of them.

Then Lee sent Ambehaving after the main prize in the New Jersey Futurity at Monmouth Park. The colt made good. Shortly after, he continued his improved manner by winning the Home Bred Stakes at Atlantic City.

Ambehaving completed his notable "Skeeter State" triple by winning the New Jersey Breeders Stakes at Garden State. After that, he was a fast closing fourth to Barbizon in the world's richest race, the Garden State Stakes. Bold Ruler finished last, incidentally.

Victory in the Remsen completed Ambehaving's two-year-old campaign with a record of four wins—all in stakes—in nine starts and earnings of $117,390. Now, freshened up and more mature physically, he's ready to go after the acknowledged sophomore leaders in the Triple Crown series.

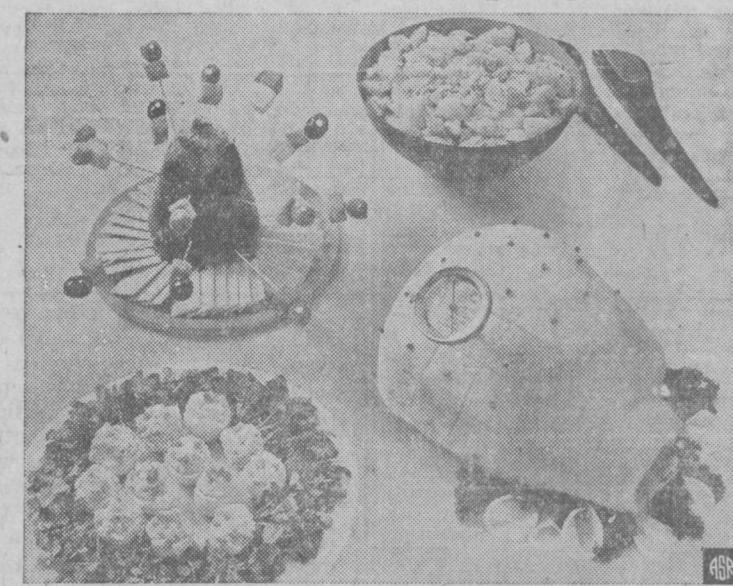

That's why nearby New Jersey is expected to have a large delegation of racing fans in the stand at Pimlico on Saturday, May 18, when they run the Preakness, middle jewel in the Triple Crown.

Versatile Ham Sparks Spring Menus

Use a roast meat thermometer to cook ham to perfection. Use leftovers in ham devilled eggs, hors d'oeuvres and Roman salad.

Baked ham is a versatile meat. After its first delicious serving, it can be used in a variety of interesting "second-day" dishes that will spark your menus around the clock.

For example, try picante ham devilled eggs or tasty Roman salad as luncheon dishes; use squares of ham on skewers with cheese and olives as hors d'oeuvres; make a ham loaf or ham-stuffed peppers for supper and, of course, feature ham and eggs for breakfast.

But, to be sure that you have a succulent, tender ham to start with, follow these suggestions from Miss Nora Finucane, home economist for Taylor Instrument Companies:

Slow, thorough cooking is the secret of juicy, flavorful ham. Place the ham in a shallow roasting pan with the skin or fat side up. Do not add water; do not cover.

For perfect results, use a roast meat thermometer which is the only way to tell when the center of the ham is done. (This is very important since there is a danger of food poisoning if the center is not thoroughly cooked.) Insert the thermometer so the point of the stem reaches the center of the roast, but does not rest against the bone. One dial-type thermometer has a pre-set index which can be set at the desired finishing temperature so you can see at a glance when the meat is done.

Bake a fresh ham at 350 degrees until the meat thermometer registers 185 degrees. Pre-cooked or smoked hams should be cooked at an oven temperature of 300 degrees to an internal temperature of 160 degrees.

Length of cooking time varies with the size of the ham—15 to 18 minutes per pound for a large whole ham to 22 to 25 minutes per pound for a small whole ham—another point which underscores the importance of using a roast meat thermometer.

Although it was a legislative off-day on Capitol Hill, Senator McClellan had spent six and a half hours in Committee work, including two hours with officials of the FBI—before most people had had their lunch. His afternoon was full, and a group of West Coast people was scheduled for a 5 p.m. appointment with the chairman and Robert F. Kennedy, Committee chief counsel. After that there would be conferences with Kennedy and other staff people to set up plans for the public hearings on the next day.

Mass Of Work

Senator McClellan said: "I would like for you to tell your readers, Dr. Benson, that for the time being we simply cannot get around to investigating all the reports flowing into our office. However, as we complete the building of our Committee staff we will try to properly handle every tip, every report, every appeal that is being made upon us at the moment." He gestured toward a high stack of telegrams and several foot-high stacks of letters.

Several thousand communications regarding the rackets investigation have been received by Chairman McClellan. Each day's mail brings hundreds. Many of them are from labor union members registering vague or generalized complaints about the operation of their union. Some of the letters make specific and detailed charges. They are coming from states all over the country.

Later, on the West Coast, other shocking facts were uncovered. The Senate Labor Committee was brought into the picture. The two committees agreed on a full-fledged investigation and set up the "Select" Committee. Senator McClellan, who had demonstrated an uncommon ability to handle investigations and hearings and who had achieved an enviable reputation for fairness, was his colleagues' choice for chairman.

"GET OUT HERE AND INVESTIGATE DIRTY WORK IN LOCAL NAME AND NUMBER GIVEN. ONE MAN BEATEN. I'M NEXT. FBI KNOWS."

The McClellan Committee seems determined to "get out there" on all such summonses, and to bring to the attention of the nation (and local authorities) any racketeering conditions jeopardizing our freedom system. For that we should all be grateful.

Kentucky Horses To Be Tested At Pimlico Track

Baltimore—Horse racing's odds-makers are in a quandry over which of two Kentucky-bred—Bold Ruler or Gen. Duke—to make favorite for the 1957 Triple Crown, but its a New Jersey product which may upset all their calculations.

His name is Ambehaving, a colt bred near Moorestown, N. J., and the first horse ever to win all three of that state's three major stakes races for home-breds.

Ambehaving defeated Bold Ruler in his last juvenile start in 1956 when he won $64,975 first money in the 1 1/16th-mile Remsen Stakes in New York. He was then shipped to Florida for a lengthy rest and is now in rigorous training for the Triple Crown—the Kentucky Derby, Preakness at Pimlico, and Belmont Stakes.

"We've taken our time with him this year. He's going to get every opportunity to show what he can really do," says Dr. John M. Lee, his trainer. It was Lee who developed New Jersey's most recent star of racing, Spartan Valor.

A get-well card was sent to Philip B. Sharpe who is currently hospitalized in Alexandria, Va. The essay contest sponsored by the Auxiliary, was won by Donald Tracey, 11th grade student at St. Joseph's High School. Agnes and Alice Scott were second and third place respectively. The prize was $2 and has been presented. The essay will be entered in the National Essay Contest. It was voted to have the Auxiliary citations framed and placed in the meeting room. Ann Topper was put in charge of this project.

Charlotte Sanders, Ruth Gillean, Ann Topper and Margaret Brown will attend the district meeting in Hagerstown on this Sunday, April 7. Edna Maxell won the $2 draw prize but was not present to collect. Ann Shorb, Ann Topper and Kathleen Shorb comprise the refreshment committee for May.

Mount Drops Opening Baseball Game

Mt. St. Mary's College dropped its opening baseball game 9-2 last Saturday afternoon to West Virginia.

The Mount was limited to two hits by Tom Cook and Paul Davis, who shared the hurling for the winners. Hessler and Shapanos poled the only safeties for Mt. St. Mary's.

Two West Virginia runs resulted in the first inning when two runners were walked in by the Mount starting hurler.

After building a 4-2 lead at the end of the fourth, West Virginia wrapped up the decision with three runs in the seventh on a walk to Bolyard, single by Carter, triple by Cook, and a fielder's choice.

In the ninth the winners tabbed a pair of runs on singles by Retton, Zegrac and Senay, a walk to Higgens and a single by Bolbyard.

Girl Scouts Plan Bake Sale

The meeting of the Emmitsburg Girl Scouts was held Friday, March 30 at 4 p. m., Alice Shirwin president, presiding.

The Scouts decided to have a bake sale in April or May. A discussion was held on holding a skating party and a committee was appointed to report the cost of transportation at the next meeting.

Boy Scout News

At the last regular meeting of the local Boy Scout Troop, Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas spoke on safety regarding the operation of bicycles. Following the talk examinations on safety and questions were asked and a bicycle inspection will be held every Thursday afternoon from 4 to 5 p. m. at the Scouthouse. Chief Kaas has asked the Scouts to assist in registering bicycle owners and riders in the Bicycle Safety Club.

As a person becomes familiar with the laws governing operation of bicycles and the bike passes inspection, the person will be given a membership card making him a member of the club. Learning safety while young is a big step in education of the youth. This influence derived by the members of the club will soon "rub off" on non-members and adults alike. The Scouts, along with Chief Kaas, would like to see the club read 100% of local riders in this locality. It is the duty of all those reading this account to give it the support it needs and deserves and to pass the word around. Let's make Emmitsburg a safe community for everyone!

A paper drive is being planned for the spring housecleaners of Emmitsburg, for Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m., on April 13. If you, the public, would kindly display your old papers and magazines outside your front door on that day the Boy Scouts will collect them. People living outside the town limits can call 7-3811 or contact Edward Houck, Geo. Danner, Allen Stoner, or any Boy Scout, and the papers will be collected. The proceeds of the drive will help finance the Troop camping fund.

Captain Rowe Is Assigned To Overseas Duty

Capt. Charles E. Rowe, USAF, has arrived in Naples, Italy where he has been assigned to Headquarters Allied Air Forces, Southern Europe, a NATO command. He is the son of the late Dr. Charles J. and Mrs. Mary J. Rowe, and graduated from Emmitsburg High School in 1941. The air force captain will serve as aide-de-camp to Lieut. General

Patrick W. Timberlake, USAF Commander of Allied Air Forces in Southern Europe. At the Napaers headquarters of the Southern Air Command he will work with officers and airmen of France, Greece, Italy, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States who plan and organize NATO air action in defense of Southern Europe.

Captain Rowe attended Mount St. Mary's College in 1941 and 1942 and entered the Army Air Forces in 1943. He was appointed a flying officer in 1944 after cadet and pilot training and flew B-24 aircraft in the States until his release from active duty in November of 1945. In September, 1946 he was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve. Returning to active duty in February, 1948, Captain Rowe served as a troop-carrier pilot at Bergstrom AF Base, Texas. From October, 1948, to August, 1949, he was stationed at Tachikawa AF Base, Japan, as a pilot and squadron commander. Students Will Aid American Legion Blood Bank

Students at Mt. St. Mary's College will serve as blood donors through a program set up several years ago by the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion, it was announced Tuesday evening at the club's regular meeting in the Post Home.

A letter was read from Bernard Kaliss, veterans' club moderator and freshman faculty advisor at the college, thanking the Elder Post members for arranging for blood donors for the three Mount students injured early last Sunday morning in an auto accident near Emmitsburg.

The same letter contained a list of names of Mt. St. Mary's students to be added to the blood donor list of the Legion Post. For the last several years the local service club has operated a blood donor service in conjunction with the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, whereby the hospital calls the Post when it needs donors from this section. Complete arrangements are then made by the Post to provide persons to give the proper type of blood.

Louis F. Rosensteel, blood donor chairman for the Legion, expressed appreciation to the students volunteering for the program. In presenting his report of the blood donor project during last month he said the following had donated blood through the Legion project: David Wantz, Wales Righton, Allen Davis, Francis Little, Mrs. Guy Baker, Sr., Carroll Orndorff, Paul Keepers, Leo Keepers, Gerald Hutchick, Mrs. Ethel Jenkins, and Mrs. Ellen Grothe.

A $25 donation was voted for the Emmitsburg baseball team. Commander Edgar Wastler presided at the meeting with 41 members present.

T. Eugene Rodgers reported on the Emmitsburg Bi-centennial Parade to be held in June. The Post voted to enter a float in the parade and Curtis Topper was named chairman of the float committee.

A letter was read from Capt. Philip Sharpe, now at the Alexandria Hospital, expressing appreciation to the members who have visited him and sent cards. Sharpe, active in post affairs, is recovering from a heart attack.

A letter of thanks for blood donations was read from Mrs. Clarence Brown.

New members voted into the organization were Paul Sanders, Emmitsburg, and Melvin C. Pryor, Gettysburg.

George Van Fossen, a member of the board of directors of the Frederick County Heart Assn., showed a movie on heart functions. Richard Graham, vice president of the Frederick County Heart Assn., spoke on care of the heart.

The door prize was awarded to Louis Rosensteel. Refreshments were served by Clarence Shorb and members of the American Legion Auxiliary.

15 warning tickets were issued by the Department during the month.

Lutheran Church Plans Rededication Service Palm Sunday

One of the first in a series of 200th anniversary year services to be held by Elias Evangelical Lutheran Church will be the rededication of the church edifice on Palm Sunday, April 14. The complete renovation of the interior of the church edifice is nearing completion and plans are being made to move into the church at the rededication service Palm Sunday.

The congregation moved to Emmitsburg and erected the present stone structure with the Reformed congregation in 1797 after worshipping for 40 years about three miles southeast of Emmitsburg where the first church was located from 1757 to 1797. This is the first major renovation or change made to the edifice since 1870 when the present main entrance was erected. The entire church edifice has been replastered and painted. The pews, floors and altar area have been finished. New open stairways to the choir loft and galleries have been erected and will be finished with wrought iron railings. The choir loft has been extended six feet frontwards. An entire new lighting system has been installed with cove lights and flush ceiling lights. The altar area has been extended in width and new carpeting will be laid in the aisles and chancel area.

The anniversary rededication services planned for Palm Sunday will include the dedicatory sermon by Rev. J. Frank Fife, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Maryland at the 10:30 a.m. service and a cantata by the choirs with remarks by pastors of other Emmitsburg churches in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.
