They say this one is true: "How did you happen to hit the pedestrian," Daniel J. asked a bewildered motorist the other day? "I didn't hit him," replied the motorist. "I came to a stop at the stop sign and motioned him across the street and he fainted."

Spring brings to mind that soon we'll have the annual clean-up of the town and this year we should be more thorough than ever because of the big celebration we are planning here and because of the influx of hundreds of people from all over the nation. We want to have our yards, gardens, streets, homes, etc. looking their best for our visitors during the Bicentennial. Now is the time to have your houses painted and generally repaired to make a good impression on these people, many of whom have not been to Emmitsburg for a great many years. Let's all join in this drive to beautify our little town and have it looking spic and span in time for the big occasion in June.

With the advent of spring comes the general realization that we'll have an extra month of daylight time this year. The "fast" time starts the end of this month and will continue through October and the best part of it all is the fact that for the first time we'll all be together on the time. There will be no more confusion between our neighboring towns caused by the variation in time, because we all will be observing the same period.

Baseball time is here again folks and Sunday you'll have the opportunity to get a glimpse of this year's local aggregation. Be at Community Field Sunday at 2 p. m. and see the locals meet Thurmont in a non-league contest. The boys will appreciate your moral support.

The talk of the town now is those Brothers of the Brush. Everywhere you go you see the signs of a fine crop of whiskers in the budding after the second week of the beard contest and everywhere you go the gals are talking and laughing about the whole thing. The fun isn't limited to the gentlemen themselves, who get together and chat for lengthy periods about "how awful you look." I honestly believe the women are getting a bigger kick out of seeing and discussing the whiskers than the gents who are a public spectacle. It's all in good clean fun and the men are to be admired, in my opinion, for having the fortitude of going through with this "deal." I don't know of any other thing that has created as much fun and discussion in old Emmitsburg than this beard contest and the way it is taking with the public is an indication the public is going to go all out to make the Bicentennial the huge success it should be. My heartiest congratulations to the "Brothers of the Brush."

Incidentally, that heavy set of whiskers the Mayor sports on occasions, are strictly false and I think the "Brothers" should take advantage of the opportunity to levy on him... too bad the mock jail isn't ready yet.

It's a small world someone once remarked, and how true it is. No matter where you go you're bound to bump into someone you know or who has the same name. In this case these two fellows didn't know each other. Seems as though Charles "Bill" Rosensteel of Baltimore was visiting here the other weekend and stopped into an establishment for a bit of refreshment. "Bill" was accompanied by brother Louie. Shortly after entering the establishment Louie spied an old friend and introduced Bill to him. You guessed it, the friend was Charles "Bill" Rosensteel from Gettysburg, a complete stranger to "Bill" of Baltimore.

'Brush' Group Doubles Enrollment

Emmitsburg's "Brothers of the Brush" are multiplying numerically it was indicated this week by the report of Ralph F. Irelan, chairman of the "beard" committee of the Bicentennial. The chairman reported the enrollment in the society of the bearded gentlemen has doubled since last week and membership cards are now being distributed.

Twenty-four new "brushmen" were added to the list this week, making a total membership now of 46 paid-up members. Numerous others are sporting "brushes" but have not as yet been taken into the membership of this distinguished group. It is the aim of the chairman to enlist at least 100 in the enterprise to advertise the Bicentennial.

Bicentennial derbys are now on sale at most business places and those establishments which do not have a supply of the hats and who would like to handle them are asked to contact Paul W. Claypool or Ralph F. Irelan.

Shaving permits are being issued at this time for those who do not care to participate in the beard category. Charter members in the shaving permit group are Guy A. Baker, Jr., Edward D. Storm, Greta Keilholtz, Daniel J. Kaas and Dr. J. W. Houser. The shaving permits excuse the members from being fined for not raising beards. The contest is open to anyone in the Emmitsburg Election District.

The new members joining the "Brothers of the Brush" are: John Haley, Charles F. Stouter, Bernard F. Shields, Edward Houck, Ernest Rosensteel, Joseph Wivell, Lawrence Sprinkle, Thomas Ginnell, Thomas Saylor, Burt Rohrbach, Regis Miller, William D. Rodgers, Clifford D. Eyer, Francis O'Brien, Cloyd W. Seiss, John J. Hollinger, William J. Smith, Julian Sanders, Paul Bern, Dan Eyer, Gene Toms, Raymond Ling, Clyde W. Topper, and Ralph McDonnell.

FIREMEN NOMINATE

Herbert W. Roger was again nominated for the presidency of the Vigilant Hose Company at the regular monthly meeting of that group held Tuesday night in the Fire Hall, Vice President John J. Hollinger presiding.

The nominating committee put the following names in nomination for election at the next regular meeting: President, Herbert W. Roger; vice president, John J. Hollinger; secretary, J. E. Houck; treasurer, Guy R. McLaughlin; chief, John S. Hollinger; first assistant chief, Sterling White; second assistant chief, Charles F. Stouter; directors, James Kemp, Richard Topper, Clay Z. Green and Guy R. McLaughlin. Additional nominations may be made from the floor at the next meeting, preceding the election.

The firemen decided to purchase two fog nozzles for use on the 1945 fire truck.

At the request of the Bicentennial Committee the group will make arrangements for a firemen's parade during the Bicentennial celebration in June and the following committee was appointed to make the arrangements for the parade: John S. Hollinger, Sterling White and Charles F. Stouter. One new member, Robert L. Wivell, was admitted and the application for membership of Charles "Toss" Shorb was received. Fire Chief Hollinger announced a practice session would be held April 16 at 7:00 p. m., when a gas mask drill will be held. Following the drill Dr. W. R. Cadle will instruct the firemen in the use and care of the recently-purchased resuscitator. The May meeting will be held at 8 p. m. (DST).

Second College Student Dies

John Lawrence "Jack" Daly, 21-year-old, sophomore at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, died last Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock nearly a week after he had been critically injured in an early morning accident on Sunday, Mar. 31, near Emmitsburg.

The youth had been unconscious from the time of the accident when the car in which he was a passenger crashed into a six-foot earth embankment on the south side of the Emmitsburg-Waynesboro Rd. a mile west of here where the road intersects with the Tract Road.

The car was driven by Richard D. Gardner, 21, Bordentown, N. J., a junior at Mt. St. Mary's College, who is a patient at a New Jersey hospital. Another passenger in the car, Edward Galen, 20, Philadelphia, a freshman and basketball player at the Mount, died last Monday of injuries in the crash.

Mount Nine Drops Two

Mt. St. Mary's College baseball team suffered a double shutout Tuesday afternoon at Chestertown by Washington College 4-0 and 16-0 in Mason-Dixon Conference games. The twin bill was a make-up of a rained out affair on Apr. 2.

The Mounties were held to three hits in the opening contest, while the Shoremen collected five off Joe Starke and Tony Nardone. The second game was halted after five innings due to cold weather. Washington wrapped up the decision with a 10-run outburst in the fourth frame.

George Shapanos poled the only hit for the Mountainers. Coach Jim Phelan's outfit played American University yesterday at Emmitsburg in another conference game.

STONESIFER-MANAHAN

The bride was attired in a light blue suit and white hat and wore a yellow rosebud corsage. Mrs. Robert Unger, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a light blue suit, white hat, and a yellow rosebud corsage. The best man was Robert Unger, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Warner Hospital Receives Accreditation

The Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa., has been placed on the list of accredited hospitals of the Joint Commission of Accreditation of Hospitals.

The hospital appeared on the annual list of accredited hospitals in the United States, its possessions and Canada, which was published recently.

The commission is an agency established by the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Medical Assn., and the Canadian Medical Assn. The Joint Commission began operations in 1953, carrying out the hospital survey and inspection program initiated by American College of Surgeons in 1919.

Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, director of the accreditation program, noted that "Accreditation of a hospital means that it has voluntarily submitted to a survey of its facilities and patient care. It is a badge of recognition which the hospital can display to its community to prove that it conforms to high standards of patient care."

Dr. Babcock noted that the surveyors, all physicians, rate a hospital on certain basic requirements such as: a safe physical plant free from fire hazards; proper supervision and review by the medical staff of the clinical work done in the hospital; maternal, infant and anaesthetic death rates that are not excessively high; adequate medical records; ethical practices; investigation of all tissue removed at operation; mortality rates that are within reasonable limits; proper nursing care and proper administrative medical staff organization.

Pageant Naming Contest Closing

The contest to name Emmitsburg's Bicentennial pageant still is open and this is the final weekend for those interested in naming the historical extravaganza to place their titles in the hands of the judges. The contest closes at midnight Sunday.

Those interested in entering the contest should mail their suggested titles to the Bicentennial Headquarters, Emmitsburg, Md. The prizes in the contest will be two box seat tickets to the pageant and appropriate recognition by appearing on the stage during the show, having their picture published and a possible TV appearance. The judges suggest that the title should be adaptable to the theme of the pageant which is being written by the J. B. Rodgers Co., of New York City. The theme is based on the history of Emmitsburg, its mountains, streams, its proximity to the Mason-Dixon Line, army encampment during the Civil War, Indians, etc. The winner will be announced in the near future.

The Bicentennial Committee invites the general public, both local and out-of-town, to submit suggestions for titles to the pageant.

Bicentennial Headquarters is now open in the former Phillips 5 and 10c Store on the Square and a full-time secretary, Mrs. Charles F. Stouter, has been employed from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. After tax and specific legacies of $4,223.34, and cash legacies of $5,775.65, were distributed, the balance of $4,801 was distributed in fifths or $960.20 each to Joseph Zimmerman, Leonard Zimmerman, Mary Jo Zimmerman, Luther Zimmerman, and the final fifth divided between Allen Cleaver, Jr. and Dorothy Cleaver.

Education Board Gets Federal Grant

Representative DeWitt S. Hyde (R), Maryland, announced this week that the Board of Education of Frederick County is receiving an immediate payment of $83,867.00 for their schools under Public Law 874 providing financial assistance as a federally impacted area. Frederick County's tentative entitlement for fiscal 1957 is $104,834.40.

In speaking before the House this week in behalf of the appropriation of adequate funds for fiscal 1958, Mr. Hyde asked that the formula for distributing these funds not be tinkered with until the federal government was willing to provide payment to states and local governments for federal property in lieu of taxes. He has introduced a bill to that effect.

High School Will Remain In Emmitsburg

The Frederick County Board of Commissioners assured a delegation of Emmitsburg citizens this week that it would back this town in keeping its public school intact and virtually reassured the delegation there would be no consolidation with Thurmont Public School if Emmitsburg was opposed to it (consolidation).

Delbert S. Null, president of the County Commissioners, told the delegation "if we can prevent it, we will do so."

The delegation's spokesman, Samuel C. Hays, presented several petitions which were signed by about 1100 residents of the Emmitsburg District, asking that the proposal be abandoned.

Mr. Hays said the delegation has a May 14 date to discuss the matter with the Board of Education.

Commissioner Null said he believed the commissioners have expressed their feelings, both publicly and privately, on the consolidation question and understands consolidation of some of the schools has been recommended.

"We can control new construction by controlling the purse strings," the board president related. "If the Board of Education wants to move Emmitsburg we can control it by not appropriating the money."

Commissioner Null said the Emmitsburg-Thurmont situation had not been discussed "point blank" by the commissioners and Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, superintendent of schools, but if there is a project involving funds of any nature which means Emmitsburg youngsters would be taken to Thurmont "it just won't happen."

The board made it plain to the local delegation that after the money is appropriated for any school project the commissioners have no further control over it and new schools belong to the Board of Education, not to the county commissioners.

Concerning subjects now being taught in the schools, the president said he thought it was a "shame" that a district, regardless of size, should not have "equal study facilities" — that it should not be penalized because it did not have the numbers of some other district. Schools belong in communities—they are a vital part of community life, Mr. Null emphasized.

The board president was quoted as saying: "We're over-consolidated now," and pointed out the huge expenditures that will be required for school construction in coming years and added that some other means of providing funds, other than taxing real estate and personal property, must be found.

LIONS CLUB PLANS HORSE SHOW

Three guests and 20 members were present at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday night in Bucher's Restaurant, President Charles R. Fuss presiding. The guests were Lions from the Mt. Airy club.

President Fuss appointed the following nominating committee to bring in recommendations at the next meeting: Arthur Elder, Ralph D. Lindsey and J. Ralph McDonnell.

After a lengthy discussion the group voted unanimously to again hold the annual Horse Show in September. Delegates to the national convention at Atlantic City in May were asked to declare their intentions by the next meeting. The Lions discussed the promotion of a donkey baseball game sometime in the future and possible dates are being negotiated for. The group voted donations of $5 to the Red Cross and the Maryland School Boy Patrol Assn. The patrols will parade in Washington next month.

Farm Bureau Opposes Registration

"Farm Bureau Opposes Registration Of Trucks By ICC" Congress is considering bills which would authorize the Interstate Commerce Commission to require all motor carriers engaged in interstate commerce to register with the Commission. The American Farm Bureau Federation has expressed strong opposition to this ICC proposal at hearings held by the House and Senate Commerce Committee.

"We regard the imposition of registration requirements as a very likely forerunner of more comprehensive regulation," Matt

Shovel and Hoe for Rain Gutters Makes Cleaning Easy

Cleaning your gutters will be a snap with these simple tools made from Do-It-Yourself aluminum. Let's begin with the hoe. First make a cardboard pattern of the inside of the gutter, allowing a 1/4" clearance along the edges. Lay out the shape of the hoe on the Aluminum sheet, shown in drawing. Cut out the shape and fold it up to form the sturdy blade, bending the tabs over the edges for rigidity. The handle is next. Simply take a length of 1" Do-It-Yourself Aluminum tubing, 4 to 6 ft. long, and flatten about 3" of one end in an ordinary vise. Locate 1/4" holes for the rivets and drill the blade and handle together. Rivet the handle to the blade, bend the handle to the desired angle, and the hoe is ready for work.

To make the shovel, trace the cardboard pattern on a piece of 3/4" stock lumber. This piece of

State Income Tax Rebates Dues To Be Mailed

J. Millard Tawes, State Comptroller, stated that as of March 26th inclusive, $2,999 refund checks, totalling $1,067,073.98 had Triggs, AFBF assistant legislative director, told the Congressmen.

"In a great many instances the owners of trucks engaged in a variety of local hauling operations, including trucks owned by farmers, cooperatives and independent local truck operators of all kinds do not plan to use them in interstate commerce—yet many of such trucks may during the year engage sporadically in interstate commerce. In such instances the owner who did not register with ICC would be in violation of the law—or alternatively, a substantial impediment to the free flow of interstate commerce would be created," the Farm Bureau spokesman said.

"In farming areas bisected by a state line, as is so common in many areas, a great majority of trucks of all kinds will, at some period, cross the state line."

Mr. Triggs added that "farming is rapidly becoming a business so hemmed in by regulations and requirements of diverse kinds that the farmer needs an accountant and an attorney at his elbow if he is to avoid violating some law or regulation at every turn."

The Maryland Farm Bureau leaders will keep in close contact with these Congressional bills and voice their opposition to this unnecessary regulation.

been mailed by the Income Tax Division to taxpayers as refunds for the taxable year, 1956.

Mr. Tawes said that with approximately two and one-half weeks left for filing before the April 15th deadline, the Income Tax Division is still expecting a large volume of returns.

The Comptroller explained that returns are being processed as received but that some will be delayed because of errors which appeared on first glance, causing such returns to be referred to the audit section. Such errors are chiefly in the deductions claimed by taxpayers.

He also stated that as the deadline draws nearer the volume of returns will spiral upward with the result that the work of processing them will possibly affect to some extent the facility with which refunds have been made up to this time.

Until all returns are received and processed there is no clear gauge of the total amount which will finally be returned to the taxpayers as this is the first full year's experience under the withholding features of the Income Tax Law.

Mr. Tawes anticipates that from January 1, 1956 through December 31st, the revenue under the withholding features will be a guide for future returns as last year's tax picture presented only six month's returns under the withholding features and cannot be used as a proper guide for the full amount to be expected for the taxable year, 1956.

Pimlico Futurity Draws Best Of Horseflesh

A record 375 colts and fillies passed the third eligibility payment for the 1957 Pimlico Futurity, swelling the pot for the race to $129,440 with three major fees yet to be paid.

The Pimlico Futurity, one of the nation's major races for two-year olds, will be run during Pimlico's autumn meeting in November at the championship distance of 1-1/16th miles.

An eligibility fee of $100 was paid on March 15 for each of the 375 juveniles kept in the race. On February 15, the owners of 620 two-year olds had paid individual fees of $35 for a total of $21,700. There were 2,024 original nominations to the race at $10 each made in 1954.

These fees add up to $79,440. The Pimlico management will add a purse of $50,000 to this amount. In addition, those who desire to continue eligibility will make a payment of $200 on August 15. There also is a $500 entry fee and a $1,000 charge to starters.

Based on previous runnings of the Futurity, this means that the 1957 event will have a gross purse of more than $175,000, making it the second richest horse race in the world. Ironically, the richest race, The Garden State, also is a futurity event for two-year olds run a month earlier than the Pimlico Futurity.

The winner's share of such a purse would be more than $115,000.

Heading the list of eligibles for the 1957 Futurity are Calumet Farm and the Ada L. Rice Stable with 11 each. The juveniles from Calumet, the nation's leading stable, include five sons of Bull Lea, two by Khaled the sire of Swaps, two by Citation and one each by Pondered and Coal-town.

C. V. Whitney and the Llangollen Farm of Mrs. John Lunn each have nine eligibles. The Maine Chance Farm of Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham and John S. Phipps have eight eligibles each. Twenty of the nation's other leading stables have four or more eligibles following the March 15 payment.

The Pimlico Futurity has been run 24 times since 1921 and has been won by such champions as Citation, Count Fleet, Capot, Bimelech, Challeon, Top Flight, Equipoise and Morvich.

Civil Defense Equipment Ready

Frederick County Civil Defense Director, L. H. Crickenberger, wishes to inform the citizens of Frederick County relative to the acquisition of Civil Defense equipment for training and operational purpose of Civil Defense. Procurement of the equipment must be made with the approval of the local, state and Federal Civil Defense Agencies through the County Civil Defense Office.

Equipment for the use of the County Civil Defense Services, for training and some operational purposes, is available on a "Participating Fund Basis"; namely—50% Federal, 25% State and 25% County funds.

State and County participating funds are as of the present fiscal year not available. However, Federal Funds are available.

We mention this fact because certain services, such as Fire Services, have in the past, and are preparing to do so in the near future, taking advantage of the opportunity of acquiring certain equipment under this participating fund program by paying the State and County share of the cost and thus acquiring the equipment at 50% of the actual cost, Federal funds covering the remaining 50%.

By an Act of Congress in 1956, Federal Surplus Property has been made available to State and County Civil Defense agencies. This, when the definite procedures are worked out in each State between the Surplus Property Custodian and the State Civil Defense Agency for the procurement of same, will doubtless result in considerable savings in State and County Civil Defense funds.

Any organization cooperating with Frederick County Civil Defense and in need of equipment in connection with their Civil Defense duties, which is available from Federal Surplus Property, will be eligible to apply for the equipment through the Office of Frederick County Civil Defense.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Perhaps the shouting and tumult over State Secretary John Foster Dulles has accomplished one thing. It appears to have made public realize with one stroke of a pen, State Dept. can change entire structure of American Republic.

There also appears renewed support for the Constitutional amendment known as Bricker Amendment to keep State Dept. from destroying American liberties by treaty.

There is the C. W. Harder saying "Truman had his Acheson; Eisenhower has his Dulles; what next?"

Traditionally, it has been the sporting thing to do for a president to stand by his State Secretary. And equally traditionally, for a long time public conception of State Dept. was group of stripe-trousered people well versed in polite social usage.

For until fairly recently, State Dept. played only minor role in policy making largely because America formerly did not step into all the world's quarrels.

Another factor was that with few exceptions, American presidents, until recently, had legal training. Some perhaps were never shining lights at the bar, but at least they had an insight into legal principles painstakingly developed through centuries.

But during last two administrations presidential legal training has been lacking. And in both cases, State Secretaries have possessed brilliant legal minds.

To this situation must be added formation of United Nations.

Sen. John Bricker (Rep., Ohio), also a legal mind, was perhaps first to see inherent dangers if not controlled. Because Article 6 of U. S. Constitution provides provisions of any foreign treaty shall supersede not only provisions of Constitution, but any state or local law in conflict with such treaty, he saw the danger.

Thus to prevent a UN body, bent on world socialism, or some other ism, from wrecking American constitutional guarantees, Sen. Bricker has long fought for an amendment which would invalidate any part of any treaty in conflict with the Constitution. Dulles, before assuming power, strongly favored such a protective measure. In power, he has changed his stand.

Yet American Bar Association holds failure to pass Bricker amendment, or similar safeguard, poses greater threat to American freedom than any atom bomb Russia can build.

Yet until such an amendment is passed, on any day a foreign agreement could wipe out entire structure of American independent business.

So far this has not happened, although State Dept. with what seems unlimited power to throw away money in diverse foreign aid schemes, has tapped cash registers of every independent business on every Main Street of the land.

So whether or not Dulles stays in a position of power greater than was ever imagined for it, current probe of his activities may have one result.

It could cause Congress, spurred on by aroused constituencies, to pass necessary measures so lives and liberties of Americans will no longer be at the mercy of one man.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read 11 Corinthians 5:11-16.

Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. (11 Corinthians 6:2.)

We do God's will when we listen and obey the call of God. Abraham did the will of God when he left Ur of the Chaldees and set out toward Canaan. Moses did the will of God when he led the oppressed Hebrew people out of Egypt. All the true prophets were obedient to the will of God by their faithful witness. Jesus did the will of God by His fidelity to the way of the cross.

In Europe during the medieval times, men sought to do the will of God by erecting magnificent cathedrals in the name of Christ. Craftsmen sought to honor and obey God by producing stained-glass windows of highest excellence. By being true to "the soul's invincible surmise," Christopher Columbus was an instrument in the hands of God to widen the horizons for all mankind.

God is speaking to us this Lenten season. Will we obey? Will we identify ourselves with the cause of God in the earth? Will we speak in His name? Dare we be true to the way of the cross?

Prayer
O God, our heavenly Father, in obedience to Thee we find true peace. Help us to be true to Thee this day. May we ever be worthy followers of Thy Son, Jesus Christ. We ask it in His name. Amen.

Thought For The Day
God is calling to me; I will answer and obey.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Many anglers take it for granted that a fish sees a lure the same way a man does. However, Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield, points out that knowing how a fish actually does see can save the average fisherman both time and money.

First, can a bass recognize colors? It has long been known that dogs, cats, horses and most other mammals are totally color blind. But fish are even more primitive form of life so it would seem unlikely that they could have color vision similar to man's. Yet the fact remains that game fish can distinguish colors, Lucas points out.

Early tests which attempted to establish this fact were questioned by the experts. For example, if a bass could learn to tell the difference between red and green objects placed under water, it might be said that he was seeing them as varying shades of gray. Even the possibility that the fish could detect a difference in the smell of the paints was not ruled out. A difference in texture was also considered.

Later researchers took even more pains to avoid any misleading conclusions. For instance, one of them put several glass tubes in a tank; through one of these he ran a red liquid, through another green and through a third, blue. When the bass touched the red tube he was given a mild shock, but nothing from the others. He soon learned to avoid the red. When the colors were switched from tube to tube, the bass continued to avoid the red. He wasn't fooled by different shadings, either, yet it was also proven that he could distinguish between shades.

However, Lucas states, living underwater, fish see a different spectrum than man. Colors that cannot be seen by men can be seen by fish. Lucas likens this to the response of a dog to a "silent" whistle.

The boys, headed by Tommy Snodgrass, president of the club; Mr. Forest Watson, local leader; and Mr. Thomas Snodgrass, 5th District, Harford County Clean-up chairman, borrowed a truck and with rakes, shovels and baskets cleaned up an area which had been littered by illegal dumping of trash. They hauled two tons of debris to a sanitary fill and posted the area, after the clean-up, with signs warning of the $250 fine established by State law for illegal dumping.

Groups and individuals who tidy up areas during Clean-up Week can obtain similar signs from County Councils and County Commissioners, the Governor's Committee announced this week. John E. Clark, of Bel Air, committee chairman, said:

"We hope that by posting the warning signs, cleaned-up areas can be permanently kept in good order throughout the year."

In Baltimore County, the Chestnut Ridge Improvement Association is requesting landowners along ten miles of highway to

Many such things have been discovered about how a fish sees things, but what does it all mean to the angler? Well, perhaps different things to different anglers. Lucas has some theories of his own. He says that a large percentage of the time he gets most of his bass by using darker lures in deep water and lighter whit with a dash of red, up top.

But, he admits, we may be able to determine how a bass sees things, but never how he looks on matters.

State Clean-Up Week Starts Saturday

Maryland Clean-Up Week begins Saturday April 13, but the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful has announced that some cooperating groups have already made great strides in giving their communities a "Spring cleaning."

For example, the North Harford County Boys' 4-H Club tackled a major project along State highway 543, north of Bel Air, and successfully completed it during the past week.

The boys, headed by Tommy Snodgrass, president of the club; Mr. Forest Watson, local leader; and Mr. Thomas Snodgrass, 5th District, Harford County Clean-up chairman, borrowed a truck and with rakes, shovels and baskets cleaned up an area which had been littered by illegal dumping of trash. They hauled two tons of debris to a sanitary fill and posted the area, after the clean-up, with signs warning of the $250 fine established by State law for illegal dumping.

Groups and individuals who tidy up areas during Clean-up Week can obtain similar signs from County Councils and County Commissioners, the Governor's Committee announced this week. John E. Clark, of Bel Air, committee chairman, said:

"We hope that by posting the warning signs, cleaned-up areas can be permanently kept in good order throughout the year."

In Baltimore County, the Chestnut Ridge Improvement Association is requesting landowners along ten miles of highway to clean up road frontages, piling trash at 100-foot intervals. Then, assisted by the Boy Scouts and 4-H members, association members with trucks will pick up the trash. James Howard is directing this effort, which the Governor's Committee cites as a "well organized, systematic project for Clean-Up Week."

Many such things have been discovered about how a fish sees things, but what does it all mean to the angler? Well, perhaps different things to different anglers. Lucas has some theories of his own. He says that a large percentage of the time he gets most of his bass by using darker lures in deep water and lighter whit with a dash of red, up top.

But, he admits, we may be able to determine how a bass sees things, but never how he looks on matters.

Another phase of Clean-Up Week is beautification and planting. As a project in this field, Howard F. Harrison, manager of the "Enchanted Forest" in Howard County on U. S. Route 40, notified the Governor's Committee that eight flowering crab trees have been planted along the borders of the parking lot which serves visitors to this Eastern "Disneyland."

Clean-Up Week will continue from April 13 through Saturday, April 20.

BABSON

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses

The Citrus Industry

Babson Park, Mass., Apr. 11
—When a very small boy I remember my father driving his horse and buggy to Salem, 15 miles away, to get an orange for his very sick aunt. Those were the days when no Christmas was complete unless we found an orange in the toe of the stocking which we hung by the fireside before going to bed on Christmas Eve. I remember later one orange was given by the public school principal as a reward for having perfect attendance for the entire school year.

How The Orange Industry Has Grown

In 1900 the entire State of Florida produced only 1,000,000 boxes of oranges. In 1923, when I first came to Florida, production was only 10,000,000 boxes. This year it will be 95,000,000 or 100,000,000 boxes. With babies continuing to be given orange juice as their first food and with continued heavy advertising, nothing can stop the demand for orange juice. Furthermore, there have been great improvements and developments in the industry.

When I first came to Florida winters only, "whole fruit" was shipped out of the state and sold. Then, about 25 years ago, the co-operatives were developed and some orange juice was then canned. This, however, always had a little bitter taste. Some 10 years ago the "frozen concentrate" was invented. This gives exactly the same taste as the fresh juice and has greatly increased the consumption of orange juice as well as the health of the entire nation.

The American Habit

Most orange juice is drunk just before breakfast. This means that the frozen concentrate must be mixed with water and thoroughly melted some ten minutes before serving. This has caused a growing demand for a new product known as "chilled" orange juice. As soon as this juice is squeezed from the orange it is stored and transported to the large cities of the North in refrigerated trucks at about 40 degrees temperature, so that the juice holds its perfect flavor. It is then put in paper cartons and delivered by the dairy companies along with the morning milk. As a result, the housewife can lie in bed ten minutes longer! This is taking like wild fire.

Although citrus fruits can be safely raised in only a small part of Florida and the United States, yet there is competition between Florida, Texas, Arizona, and especially California. The latter state, however, is growing fast that orange groves are becoming more valuable as home sites and citrus production is decreasing.

Keeping Up To Date

All of this competition results in constantly improved quality and in keeping the price within the reach of all families. Hence, with the constant growth in population, demand will continue to increase. But North America is not only the only market for citrus juices. Foreign governments are also recognizing their great health value.

The English government is buying the juice in a super-concentrated non-refrigerated form, like molasses, and distributing it to its babies to supplement a small supply received from Spain, Italy, and other Mediterranean sources. To get good products, however, these countries must import phosphate and other fertilizer chemicals, most of which come from Florida close by the center of the Florida citrus industry. This gives Florida an advantage over all the world.

Great Opportunities Are Elsewhere

I, however, am not telling this story about the citrus industry just to boom Florida. I am telling it to show what a group of farmers can do by uniting in co-operatives and getting the help or research and advertising. The citrus industry has never had subsidies or price guarantees. It has fought its own battles without any limiting of acreage or govern-

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Kitchen redecoration is a popular winter project now that odorless paint is in general use. For homemakers who are planning a new kitchen color scheme a few important pieces of advice, if followed, will go far toward guaranteeing satisfactory results.

These are: wash all surfaces to be painted with paint cleaner or turpentine to remove the thin film of grease formed from cooking vapors. If this step is slightly, paint will dry slowly—may even take days to harden properly.

Best results refinishing kitchen cabinets can be obtained by removing doors, all hardware. Place doors on a horizontal surface for painting with small blocks or matchsticks under each corner to prevent marring wet paint.

Select gloss or semi-gloss instead of flat for walls. As a general rule, the higher the sheen the more washable the surface. (Du Pont Paint Information Service) ment loans on surplus crops.

Why cannot the farmers of our Central West and South do the same thing with their surplus corn, wheat, cotton, and other products? Henry Ford once said to me: "When the farmers wake up and quit crying on Uncle Sam's shoulders they can find a great use and market for their products as raw materials in industry." Agriculture needs a great leader like Henry Ford and the national advertising which the humble citrus growers of Florida are giving their products.

Tax Regulations Are Explained

Pensions And Annuities

C. I. Fox, Director of the Internal Revenue Service for the Baltimore District which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, today explained the Federal income tax rules which apply to pension and annuity payments received by individuals during 1956.

Pension and annuity payments fall into one of three categories for Federal income tax purposes: nontaxable, fully taxable, or partly taxable.

Pensions which are entirely tax-free and which should not be reported at all on your tax return include Social Security payments, Railroad Retirement Act pensions, pensions to veterans and family benefits and disability retirement pay of military personnel, if retired on disability resulting from active service.

On the other hand, payments received by a retired employee from a pension plan provided by his employer, without cost to the employee, are fully taxable.

If you purchased an annuity contract, if you retired under a plan financed jointly by you and your employer, or if you were taxed on the contributions of your employer under a retirement plan financed by him, part of the payments received by you will be taxed and the balance will be tax-free.

If you contributed to the pension fund, or if you were taxed on your employer's contributions to the fund and you will receive the amount you contributed or were taxed on within three years after retirement, the rule is simple; you report nothing as income until you recover your contribution; after that, all amounts received are fully taxable. Incidentally, this special rule usually applies to persons retiring under the United States Civil Service Retirement Plan.

In all other cases, a part of each annuity or pension payment is tax-free and the balance is taxable. The computation of the taxable portion is based on a formula designed to enable the taxpayer to recover his cost tax-free. An annual exclusion ratio is determined by dividing your total investment in the annuity contract (or your total contributions to a retirement fund) by the total you may expect to receive. This exclusion ratio is then applied to the amount received during the year. These two examples will illustrate the rule:

Assume you paid $7,500 for an annuity contract which will pay you $1,000 per year for ten years, starting in 1956. Your investment of $7,500 divided by your total expected return of $10,000 (10X $1,000) equals 75 percent. The $1,000 received in 1956 multiplied by 75 percent equals $750. The $750 is considered a return of your investment and is excluded from taxable income. The balance of $250 is fully taxable, and the same holds true for each succeeding year's payment.

Now assume that you retired from your job at age 65 and will receive an annual pension of $2,000 for the rest of your life. The multiple from the official Internal Revenue Service Actuarial Table I for a male, age 65, is 15 years. Thus, the total you may expect to receive is 15 times $2,000 or $30,000. Now assume that you contributed $12,000 to

Acreage Reserve Contracts Binding

A soil Bank Acreage Reserve agreement is a legal contract between the farmer who signed it and the U. S. Government, Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers recently. Under the agreements, both parties obligate themselves to carry out specific provisions of the program. The agreements to place land in the 1957 Acreage Reserve are in effect from the date of filing of agreement by the producer through December 31, 1957.

Regulations under which the program is operated make no provision for revision or cancellation of the Acreage Reserve agreements after the close of the sign-up for the crop covered by the agreement, the Chairman explained. The closing date for signing Acreage Reserve agreements for tobacco was March 1, 1957 and for corn, March 8. During the sign-up period, however, farmers were permitted to cancel agreements or to substitute new agreements for those previously signed.

Compliance with his Acreage Reserve agreement will determine whether or not a farmer will receive his full payment, according to the State Committee. Each farmer who signed an agreement agreed to comply with all acreage allotments established for his farm. And he also agreed not to graze or harvest a crop from the land designated for the Acreage Reserve.

Violation of either of these provisions will disqualify the farmer for the payment he might otherwise have earned. Furthermore, grazing or harvesting a crop from the designated Acreage Reserve makes the farmer subject to a civil penalty equal to one-half the payment he would have earned by qualifying for the full payment.

your retirement fund while working. Your exclusion ratio is determined by dividing your $12,000 contribution by the total expected return of $30,000. This ratio is 40 percent. Thus, 40 percent of each year's $2,000 pension, or $800, is tax-free and the balance of $1,200 is taxable. The same ratio of 40 percent will apply to all subsequent years, even though you should live longer than the 15 years shown in the actuarial table. This is of course an example of a simple case. Special actuarial tables are provided in other cases involving joint and survivor annuities and pensions. These tables will be furnished by your local Internal Revenue Service office to those who need them.

Mr. Fox advised taxpayers who have questions concerning pension and annuity payments, or any other matter on their Federal income tax returns for 1956, to telephone the local office of the Internal Revenue Service. Mr. Congressman: Here's My Shirt!

While in Washington, D. C. recently my attention was attracted to a little news item on the front page of The Washington Post. The Post featured it, with special handling, so that many readers might see and read it. The two-paragraph news story reported that Representative Clarence Cannon, Missouri Democrat and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, had received more than 100 shirts—right off the backs of tax-conscious citizens of Centralia, Mo., protesting the record breaking Federal budget.

Although The Washington Post item did not report it, each of the shirts received by Mr. Cannon were accompanied by a letter which said, in part: "Congressman Cannon, here's my shirt, too! I'm sending the Shirt Off My Back directly to you as a personal protest against the high budget proposals for the coming fiscal year. Your influence in reducing this budget will be appreciated and remembered."

"We Renounce 'Federal Aid'"

"The people of my community are alarmed by the prospects for an increased federal budget. We see in it a continuation of the trend toward a more costly and powerful central government. Like millions of other Americans we are strongly opposed to this trend . . . and frankly, we're tired of giving the Shirts Off Our Backs to support bigger government and unnecessary federal expenditures.

"We are convinced that there are tremendous possibilities for savings by adopting more of the Hoover Commission's recommendations and by eliminating other costly projects which are not essential to good government. We realize, too, that requests for Federal Aid for local projects makes budget reduction more difficult. So . . . along with this request we agree to quit asking for Federal Aid in exchange for your influence in reducing government expenses."

spending and Federal taxes and the size of the Federal Government should be substantially reduced. What makes this project worthy of the attention of citizens everywhere is the pledge, accompanying each shirt mailed to Congress: "Along with this request we agree to quit asking for Federal aid in exchange for your influence in reducing government expenses."

If enough citizens at the grass roots of America will make this pledge and keep it, and join with the people of Centralia in making the "Shirt Off My Back" project nationwide, then Congress, and the Budget Director, and the President and his Cabinet will have to get together and substantially cut the budget.

MAKE A PATIO PLANTER BOX

Large ornamentals require a plant box with adequate growing space. Placed on a patio, the boxes—and you will want more than one—are attractive corner decorations. Use naturally durable or treated wood.

Use a miter box when sawing the squared ends as well as for the mitered joints to assure a proper fit.

Make the base 18 inches square. Use 2 by 4-inch lumber. Make miter joints as shown. Assemble with glue and 10-penny finishing nails. Use 1 by 6-inch lumber for the bottom. Edge-glue the boards to form a square. Fasten to the base, leaving a 2-inch overhang on all sides. Bore 1/2-inch holes in the bottom for drainage. Make the top inside frame as shown. Cut the sides from 1 by 6-inch lumber and attach with glue and 6-penny finishing nails. Attach the moulting with 4-penny finishing nails.

The top is made of 1 by 4-inch lumber. Make mitered joints and assemble with glue and 10-penny finishing nails. Fasten the top to the box with glue and 6-penny finishing nails. Round the corners to match those of the box.

Every good cook should have one quick trick at her fingertips—a nourishing main-course recipe that can be prepared in a hurry with a minimum of fuss. Such a dish is "Hi Ho Vegetable Scramble," a delicious new recipe designed for quick and easy preparation during the meatless Lenten season. Three kinds of vegetables—carrots, peas and corn—are combined with sour cream and flaky tuna to produce a real taste treat. Coarsely crumbled, round buttery crackers lend extra rich flavor and crispness to the dish. Here's how to make it:

- Hi Ho Vegetable Scramble
- 1 No. 2 can peas and carrots, drained
 - 1 12-oz. can kernel corn, drained
 - 1 7-oz. can tuna, broken in pieces
 - 1 cup thick sour cream
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 tablespoon grated onion
 - 1 3-oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
 - 1 cup coarsely crumbled Sunshine Hi Ho Cracker crumbs
 - 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Heat oven to 325° F. (slow oven). Combine peas and carrots, corn, tuna, sour cream, salt, pepper, onion and mushrooms. Pour into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Combine Hi Ho crumbs and melted butter or margarine. Sprinkle over vegetable mixture. Bake at 325° F. for 20 minutes or until crumbs are lightly browned and mixture hot. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

FCDA Urges 7-Day Emergency Food Supply for All Families

If the United States ever suffers thermonuclear attack, one of the basic problems for America's millions would be food, and how to get enough of it.

In the so-called good old days the family pantry generally was loaded with food—ready for any emergency.

TODAY, THE FEDERAL Civil Defense Administration recommends that every family keep a minimum of a seven-day supply of food in the home for instant use in an emergency. This has become known as Grandma's Pantry.

To estimate how much food is needed for seven days, multiply the number of persons in the family by the amounts shown in the adjoining list for one person. A two or three weeks supply would be more desirable. Foods listed are merely types recommended, not necessarily those which must be stocked.

The items kept on hand should be those staple groceries that are used in your normal pattern of daily serving. By following this plan rotation is no prob-

Suggested Pantry

- MILK: One package of powdered, non-fat dry milk, and two 14 1/2 oz. cans of evaporated milk.
- FRUITS: One 1 lb. 14 oz. can each of two varieties of canned fruits, and 1 lb. of dried fruits.
- JUICES: Three cans of approximately 1 qt. 14 oz. each of fruit or vegetable juice.
- VEGETABLES: Six cans (approximately 1 lb. each) of vegetables.
- SOUP: Four 10 1/2 oz. cans.
- MEATS AND MEAT SUBSTITUTES: Four cans (approximately 1 lb. each) of your favorite items, include cheese or peanut butter if desired.
- CEREALS: Seven individual-serving packages of ready-to-eat variety.
- BREAD: The canned varieties.
- CRACKERS-COOKIES: One box.
- BEVERAGES: One small jar of instant coffee, one of instant tea, or a 1 lb. package of instant cocoa, whichever your family prefers.
- SOFT DRINKS: Twelve bottles.
- SUPPLEMENTARY ITEMS: Sugar, salt, seasonings, candy types that store well, chewing gum, and cigarettes and tobacco.
- CAUTION: Store these items like Grandma did—in a dry, cool basement or storeroom within a temperature range of 35 to 50 degrees for best results. Check your "pantry" preferably weekly but at least monthly and rotate items regularly. Use within six months. Bottled water should be changed every six weeks.

lem, as you replace the items used by shopping frequently enough not to deplete your supply to an appreciable extent.

IF YOUR CHILDREN are young, decrease the amounts by one-fourth. If the children are infants, canned baby foods should be substituted for some of the other canned foods. And don't forget—be sure to plan for old people or invalids.

Another word of caution: check your "pantry" at least monthly, and rotate items regularly. Bottled water, for instance, should be changed every six weeks.

Essential items for your stockroom should include two gallons of water in jugs or bottles for each person, and three gallons for each child under three years old. You should also maintain a supply of salt and sugar, matches, fuel, cooking utensils, a can opener, and tableware.

You would also do well to have in your storage room a portable radio, flashlight, candles and holders, first-aid kit, blankets, pail and garbage container.

On the lighter side, you might add a supply of games and toys for the children.

Wilfreda J. Lytle, Assistant Administrator in charge of Women's Activities, Region 2, Federal Civil Defense Administration, Olney Maryland, shown above, recently complimented the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, for their increased activity in Civil Defense.

Mrs. Lytle placed particular emphasis on the need for organizing Home Protection Courses and is using the following statement: "Any women's group in any county or city in Maryland desiring to organize a Civil Defense Home Protection Course need merely contact their local Civil Defense Director and all arrangements will be made through the Maryland Civil Defense Agency, Pikesville, Maryland."
