Most Anything At A Glance

— BY ABIGAIL —

With the Bi-centennial in the offing many residents are frantically searching their premises for some item significant or symbolic of the era. Old newspapers, pictures, relics, etc., are being turned up weekly but few of the owners will volunteer to let these priceless articles out of their possession. Old pictures are needed for special editions of brochures and newspapers, but very few have been proffered to date and the time is swiftly sliding by. In an effort to stimulate interest in the coming Bi-centennial, I am willing to devote space in this column or elsewhere in the Chronicle to old articles that are found, and of course, have authenticity, and will attempt to describe them to the public, however the information must be given as soon as possible so that as many as possible can be covered in time for the occasion. For example, this week I heard the story that a local lady is in possession of the original sign erected on the local telephone exchange quite a few decades back. There are many items such as these lodged in local homes and I feel that if they could be seen and written about it would enrich the history of the Bi-centennial quite a bit. If the owners are afraid of losing them they can bring them into the office and I'll make notes concerning the item and pass them along to me for inclusion in the column. You can take the articles right back with you in just a few minutes, while you wait. There are a lot of old pictures about that could be written up and undoubtedly prove highly interesting. Engravings for these photos are a costly item so only a few can actually be published but we'll gladly devote space to putting the story over via words.

Speaking of early life in Emmitsburg, a lady was kind enough to bring into the office this week an original deed to a section of land here in town, dating back to 1793! Yes, the date is correct and the document is now 164 years old! Let me attempt to describe it to you, I know you'll be interested. The deed was recorded on April 13, 1793 and sells a plot of about 20,000 square feet of land in town to one Alexander and Henrietta Gettys and the seller of the tract is none other than William Emmitt, son of the founder, Samuel Emmitt. The land apparently was part of the estate of the founder and was a portion of the original Emmitt grant. Actually there is no purchase price on the document, but Mr. Gettys did place three pounds sterling hand money to make the deal binding.

I have no way of knowing just where this plot of ground was or where it is today, but here is a rough description of it: A back lot joining front lots except for an alley 10 feet beginning at a stone marker and running south 23 degrees, east 27 feet, south 17 degrees, west 300 feet, north 73 degrees, west 101 feet and containing 19,456 square feet. There seems to be some duplication of directions contained herein but perhaps a surveyor could enlighten us. All I know is what is recorded. The deed was witnessed, I believe, by two gentlemen, John Key and John Grimm. I could hardly discern the signatures of these two gentlemen but I did come up with what I believe represented their signatures. Any of you folks remember anybody by those names who used to live here? Apparently the English influence and currency hadn't been done away with at that time as I note the hand money was in pounds sterling. And here's another bit of information that I bet you folks didn't know up until now. It used to be the custom here to pay ground rent on property purchased. The deed says that Alex Gettys had to pay ground rent to the tune of five shillings per year to Bill Emmitt—forever! I wonder when this system was abolished? Bring in your articles or items, ladies and gents, I can see they'll make interesting reading. One thing I'd like to know, where is this section of land and who owns it today? How's about a little assistance you older residents?

Mr. and Mrs. James Wivell and family accompanied by Miss Helen Wivell, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wivell, Seven Valleys, Pa.

Student Freed On Manslaughter Charge

A Mount St. Mary's College student, appealing a house of correction sentence for manslaughter in an auto accident in which two fellow students died, drew a directed verdict of not guilty on the manslaughter count this week in court at Frederick.

Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer directed the acquittal after the completion of the state's case. The defendant, Richard Donald Gardiner, 20, Bordentown, N. J., was convicted of reckless driving and ordered to pay a $200 fine and the costs. The fine and costs were paid immediately.

Gardiner had been found guilty in a magistrate's court on the manslaughter count and on reckless driving. He was sentenced to six months in the house of correction and fined $100 and costs by the magistrate. The conviction and sentence was appealed. The initial trial was held before Magistrate Charles D. Gillean in Emmitsburg in connection with the accident in which Edward Galen, 20, Philadelphia, Pa., and John Daley, 20, Englewood, N. J., were fatally hurt on Apr. 1.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Maryland Rt. 97 and the Tract Rd. about a mile west of Emmitsburg. Galen died two days later and Daley a week later in the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg. Gardiner also was badly hurt in the crash.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, was a witness at the trial, as was State Trooper W. G. Morgan, who had investigated for the Maryland police. Msgr. John L. Sheridan, president of Mount St. Mary's College, and the vice president, Fr. William F. Culhane, appeared as character witnesses for Gardiner.

Granting a defense motion for a directed verdict at the conclusion of the testimony, the judge pointed out that manslaughter by automobile requires a wanton reckless disregard for human life. He said he did not feel such an intent had been proven.

Judge Schnauffer, in finding Gardiner guilty of reckless driving, said the testimony of the defendant indicated that for approximately a fifth of a mile before the crash occurred, he (Gardiner) knew something was wrong with the car and the Court felt something could have been done to avoid the accident.

The judge pointed out that a lot of the punishment in this case will be self-imposed—that the defendant knows what happened and has already suffered. It was just by chance, he remarked, that Gardiner was driving.

The defendant said he applied the power brakes but the car lurched forward. He let up on the brake, then tried it again but the car kept going ahead. He said the machine hit loose gravel and with a burst of speed shot across the intersection and crashed into a six-foot embankment. He made an effort to turn onto Maryland Rt. 97 but was unable to do so.

Gardiner testified that the brake and accelerator are very close together on the car. He could have had his foot on both, he said, or one of his companions sitting next to him could have had his foot on the accelerator while Gardiner was pushing on the brake.

In a statement given to Trooper Morgan, Gardiner said Daley had been driving earlier in the evening. He also said he had never driven the road before. Morgan testified that when he interviewed the defendant on the early morning after the accident at the hospital, Gardiner said he had six beers.

Morgan testified the Tract Rd. was in a "state of patching" and there was loose gravel in the area at the intersection. He said there were marks leading to the automobile which extended back for about 325 feet on the Tract Rd. These marks were white in color, he said, as if an object slid or had been dragged over the road, and were different from the ordinary black skid marks.

Edwin F. Nikirk, attorney for Gardiner, made a motion for a directed verdict at the conclusion of the State evidence and the Court reserved its findings until after defense testimony was produced. State's Attorney Samuel W. Barrick prosecuted.

Ballyhoo Parade Draws Well

An estimated 400 persons turned out Saturday night to witness the Ballyhoo Parade held by the Bi-centennial Committee to advertise the event which will take place June 22-29. Committee members were heartened by the response of the public and believe a great deal of interest has been generated by the parade, as evidenced by the excellent turnout.

Forty of the Bi-centennial Belles were dressed in costumes of long ago and 50 members of the "Brothers of the Brush" appeared with full beards, goatees, mustaches, and similar hirsute adornment, plus high hats and derbies. Many also sported Bi-centennial neckties.

The "beards" and "belles" took part in a parade through the community last Saturday night led by the Francis X. Elder Post, American Legion marching unit, the Emmitsburg Municipal Band, Boy and Girl Scouts, and members and equipment of the Vigilant Hose Co. Several antique cars also took part in the parade.

Following the parade a program was held on the Square.

Wales Rightmire, Emmitsburg Town Commissioner, in top hat and with a mustache and beard as a member of the "Brothers of the Brush," sporting a Bi-centennial necktie, was master of ceremonies for the program.

The program opened with the National Anthem played by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band under the direction of Walter Simpson. The band played several other selections during the program.

Mrs. Helen Daugherty, general chairman for the Bi-centennial committee, outlined the general activities scheduled for June 22-29 and urged increased participation in the anniversary activities.

Ralph Irelan, chairman of the "Brothers of the Brush" announced 117 has been enrolled. Mrs. Kathryn Warthen, chairman of the Bi-centennial Belles reported that the 78th member of that group had been signed and urged increased participation by women in the activities of the Belles who will wear costumes "of long ago."

Other committee members spoke briefly in outlining the working of their committees in connection with the Bi-centennial.

In 1934 he was appointed clinical professor of surgery and professor of surgical anatomy. In 1950 he was appointed chief of staff at Providence Hospital. He also is senior attending surgeon at Georgetown and Children's Hospitals.

During World War II Dr. Caulfield was a consultant at Walter Reed Hospital. He is now consultant at the National Institute of Health. He is a member of the American College of Surgeons, the Medical Society of Washington, D. C., and the Washington Academy of Surgeons.

Small Girl Is Seriously Injured By Automobile

A little Emmitsburg girl was badly injured by an auto in Emmitsburg last Friday morning. She was three-year-old Deborah Gillespie, W. Main St., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gillespie. She was taken off the critical list at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Monday.

The accident occurred on W. Main St., State Trooper William G. Morgan, who investigated the mishap, reported.

The young child was hit by a 1952 Kaiser driven by Wilbur Rentsel, 38, Fairfield Rt. 1.

Rentsel was driving east on Rt. 97 in Emmitsburg and the child darted out in front of him. Trooper Morgan said. She was taken to the hospital in the local police department cruiser, by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas.

No damage was reported to Rentsel's auto. He was charged with reckless driving. Trial is set for May 25 at 10 a. m. in Emmitsburg.

The child was treated at the hospital after the accident for two broken legs, many lacerations and abrasions, and severe bruise burns off the skull, which was not fractured. She had improved enough Monday to be taken off the critical list.

'Brothers' And 'Belles' On TV

About 50 members of the "Brothers of the Brush" will journey to Baltimore this afternoon (Friday) to see the night baseball game between the Orioles and the Boston Red Sox. A full busload and several private vehicles will transport the bearded clan off to the city to combine business with pleasure, more or less.

The "Brothers" will be the guests of the Gunther Brewing Co. and will be taken for a tour of the company's brewery and fed before the ball game. It is highly possible that TV cameras will pick up the group during the game and many local citizens will be watching, hoping to get a glance at the bewhiskered gents. The "Brothers" feel this is an excellent opportunity to publicize the coming Bi-centennial and at the same time enjoy a baseball contest.

Ralph F. Irelan, general chairman of the "Brothers," announced this week that eight more men were enrolled during the week, bringing the total enrollment in the clan to 117. At the same time shaving permits were issued to eight gentlemen, as follows: V. L. Hartdagen, Francis Arnold, Louis F. Rosensteel, George Cool, Lewis A. Cool, Howard Fitz, Edward Lingg and H. Robert Gillean. Shaving permits are obtainable at Houck's Store and "Brother" cards at the Village Liquor Store. Ties, hats, bonnets, balloons, placards, bumper sings, etc., are available at Bi-centennial headquarters on the Square. The shaving permit group now totals 84. Latest additions to the "Brush" group are George Starnes, Chas. Copenhaver, Bailey Goss, Guy W. Ohler, Carroll Wills, Toss Shorb, Thomas Bollinger and Robert Wivell.

On Television Tuesday Night

A group of 10 "Brothers" and 10 "Belles" will appear on television next Tuesday night between 10:30-11 p. m., over a Baltimore station when the group will be the guest of the National Brewing Co., Baltimore, at the wrestling matches held in the Coliseum, Baltimore.

The "Brothers of the Brush" will get another shot on TV Saturday night, June 15, when they will appear on the Jimmy Dean show from Washington.

Arthur Elder, publicity chairman of the Bi-centennial committee, announced that a series of two feature articles publicizing the event will appear shortly in the Baltimore Sun, the publication date to be announced so local citizens have ample opportunity to order their copies. Photographers from the paper will be in Emmitsburg in the near future to take some interesting shots of historical points of interest. Arrangements are being made with at least one radio station to cover part of the Bi-centennial parade and outstanding events.

Four Cars Involved In Sunday Traffic Mishap

Four cars were damaged last Sunday night as the result of one car sideswiping another and hitting several other cars. The mishap occurred at 10 o'clock Sunday evening in front of the Recreation Center on W. Main St.

Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas, who investigated the accident, said John Moyer, 40, East Freedom, Pa., was headed west on Main St. when his car crossed the center of the highway to the left and sideswiped a 1948 Dodge headed east and driven by Joseph Felix Topper, 27, Emmitsburg Rt. 2. The impact drove Moyer's vehicle back to the right side of the road where it rammed the rear of a parked 1953 Chevrolet owned by Brooke Bentz, Taneytown Rt. 2, pushing it about 20 feet into the rear of another parked car owned by Franklin M. Fleagle, 38, Thurmont.

Chief Kaas charged Moyer with reckless driving and he posted $101.45 collateral for a hearing before Magistrate Charles D. Gillean Saturday morning. Moyer was uninjured in the mishap.

Police estimate damage to the Moyer vehicle as $500, $300 to the Topper car, $500 to the Bentz car, and $50 to Fleagle's.

"BELLES" NEARING 100 MARK

Emmitsburg's Bi-centennial Belles are rolling along with 78 charter members. If you haven't joined, and no one is "too old," why not give it a whirl. It's loads of fun. Don't wait until the last horn is blown, until the last old dress is safely tucked away, and miss out on all the excitement.

And speaking of old dresses, the Belles have been scurrying through attic and trunk in search of forgotten "period pieces."

Didn't the parade last Saturday evening bring back memories? Beards and bustles, taking one back to the days of wooden ships and iron men. Let's go gals, young and old, join the Bi-centennial Belles.

Members who are planning to tour Taneytown are asked to contact Mrs. Stouter at Bi-centennial headquarters on W. Main St., near the Square, so there will be sufficient transportation for the number of Belles making the trip. You are asked to be at the headquarters Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock.

This week's new members are as follows: Mrs. Jane Orndorff, Mrs. Hazel Topper, Mrs. Ada Myers, Mrs. Mary Theresa Leonard, Mrs. Mary Bouey, Mrs. Rosalie Lingg, Miss Louella Bushman, Mrs. Catherine Shields, Mrs. Bernard F. Shields, Mrs. Carol Staub, Mrs. Joseph Kreitz, Mrs. Mary Betty Goulden, Mrs. Dorothy Pryor, Mrs. Guy Baker, Sr., Mrs. Stoner, Mrs. Mamie Starnes, Mrs. John Eyler, Mrs. Marian Boyle, Mrs. Mary Hoke, Mrs. Anne Marie Koontz, Mrs. Cathryn Topper, Mrs. Pauline Hall, Mrs. Catherine Fite, Mrs. Elizabeth Fuss and Mrs. Barbara Hoffman O'Kelley.

Father Murphy At Gettysburg

Rev. Neil J. Murphy, graduate of Mount St. Mary's Seminary and ordained to the priesthood last week, has been assigned to the assistant pastorate of St. Francis Xavier Church, Gettysburg, by Bishop George L. Leech, of the Harrisburg Diocese.

Rev. Albert J. Hoenninger, who has been assistant at the church for several months, will retire and reside at Villa Vianney, Lebanon, Pa.

Colonel Galen Gough Is Commissioned To Paint Famous Pike's Peak

Not materially, of course, as Pike's Peak is the highest mountain in the nation and it would be quite a climb. Col. Galen Gough is to put it down on canvas, however, and it will be shown in art galleries in a New York exhibition.

Col. Gough has been a resident of Emmitsburg for about two years. His family has been invited to become residents of Colorado and a nice offer has been made him to reside in Colorado Springs, where he will pursue his art and writing career. A New York publisher has offered to publish his book and an agency in Hollywood a motion picture studio is interested in the production of his story.

During the past many months Col. Gough has sacrificed a great deal of working time to near the completion of the book and to facilitate matters to the satisfaction of his friends and business associates, Col. Gough expresses his gratitude for the kindness and faith in him by many of the Emmitsburg people, as well as in his home state.

Most recently a letter was received from the governor of his home state which reads as follows:

"To Whom It May Concern: Colonel Galen Gough is a native of Kentucky and one of our favorite sons. His record of achievements can be read in Macmillan's book entitled 'Unsung Heroes.'

A veteran of World War I as a machine gunner, he was hopelessly disabled, but has made one of the most amazing comebacks on record. He is a former professional athlete and the founder of Americanized Judo. His record speaks for itself.

Today, he is a writer, advertising specialist, and organizer. His hobby is art in which he is an award of merit winner in the International Arts Exhibition. He is also a gallery art exhibitor.

Col. Gough has been influential and helpful in many veterans' governmental and national affairs with a reputation of integrity, determination and sincerity.

Any favors or consideration shown him would be highly appreciated.

Sincerely,
Albert B. Chandler,
Governor."

"The Colonel," as he is called by many of his intimates, served as a columnist on the Chronicle. He did "Living Today" and "Prominent Personalities" features which were received with interest and appreciation by many of people in our community.

The Colonel says that Emmitsburg has a hidden wealth in its fundamental and origin and that as a modernist he believes that our community has tremendous potentialities which could be spearheaded during the coming Bi-centennial. We wish him great success in his new undertaking.

MOUNT STUDENT DIES SUDDENLY

James P. Bengal Jr., 23, Mount St. Mary's College sophomore, died suddenly Thursday morning at 2:35 o'clock at the Warner Hospital in Gettysburg. Autopsy reports said death was caused by acute fulminating glomerulonephritis, a kidney disease.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Bengal, Waterbury, Conn., and had served with the armed forces for two years before entering the college here two years ago.

Bengal entered the hospital on Wednesday evening and died several hours later. Funeral services are tentatively scheduled for Monday in Waterbury.

The Doctor Wants To Know . . .

"I'll call the doctor."
This morning your husband woke up with a sore throat and a headache, too miserable to go to work. Or little Johnny was sick at his stomach all night and now has a fever. Or perhaps you're the one. You ache all over and your eyes and nose are streaming. So you decide to call the doctor.

What do you tell him? What does he want to know? He has to decide whether he should rush right over to your house, or whether he can put it off for an hour or so when he is making his regular rounds, or whether it would be better to see the patient in his office.

First, if the situation does not seem desperate, you should know what time is best to call him. Some doctors set a time in the morning when they prefer to be called with reports on the progress of patients or with news of the ailments that have developed over night. (And why do so many seem to begin at night?)

Now you have the doctor on the phone. What do you say? You don't waste his time chatting about the weather. Get right down to business. Identify which member of the family is ill. Tell him the temperature first, if it is above normal. Then describe the symptoms: sore throat, swollen glands, choking, location of any pain, lassitude, rash. Then add any facts that may be pertinent such as a recent fall, a play fellow who has a contagious illness, any unusual circumstances which might have led to or have a bearing on the sickness.

By following this procedure you can help the doctor be of the greatest help to you.

for sound outdoor sleep. First, a camper should be insulated from the camp and dirty ground. Modern city men need something soft and comfortable to lie on. Also, the bed must be protected from the wind. Most modern sleeping bags have ample warmth for ordinary camping if these other conditions are met.

Be sure to smooth the ground on which you are going to make your bed. If you are going to use a tent that has a ground cloth, do this before you pitch the tent. The ground space should cover an area 7 feet by 30 inches. Over this spread a light, waterproof sheet.

Col. Whelen suggests using a short air mattress, about 4 feet long by 25 inches wide. Such a size is absolutely ample, costs less, is faster to inflate and weighs less than a full-length mattress. A camper will never notice that he has nothing under him from his knees down. On top of this goes the sleeping bag with the front of the bag at the head of the mattress.

A good bag is not waterproof and must not be so or the body vapors will condense inside and make it unbearably cold. It is most comfortable and warm to sleep in pajamas, as at home: cotton for summer; flannel for cold weather. For a pillow, clean underwear stuffed in a pillowcase will do, but a light air pillow is much better.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Sleeping is an important part of camping. In fact, says Col. Townsend Whelen, Camping Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, one third of every extended camping trip is spent in bed. Since most of the other two thirds is taken up with vigorous exercise, is it any wonder that the camp bed looms as a most essential item?

This is Col. Whelen's formula

A Message For Memorial Day

The Price of Freedom

by Billy Graham

MOST Americans are inclined to take their blood-bought freedom for granted. How lustily, in times of war, do we sing songs of patriotism, exhibit due respect to the boys in uniform, and pray for peace. Yet, when the smoke of conflict subsides, our respect and regard for those who bore the brunt of war's perilous sword quickly wanes and dies. But true gratitude for an earned peace should be as perpetual as is our freedom. The young men who gave the best years of their lives, often at the peril of life and limb, should always be remembered by the citizens of our nation. And that memory should not find expression in a shallow sentimentality, but in making adequate provision for these who have so willingly stood in war's gap and subjected their youthful bodies to the onslaughts of the enemy.

Freedom of any sort, it seems, never comes cheap. Our spiritual freedom was purchased at terrific cost by the most splendid youth that ever walked the shores of time, Jesus Christ the Son of God. It hardly seemed right that He of all men should die in the very prime of life and at the peak of His usefulness! But, in the wisdom of God, only those who are ready, able and willing, are called upon to bring life and liberty to those who are unable to secure it for themselves. In the case of spiritual freedom, there was only One in heaven and earth who was equal to the task, and that was Jesus Christ.

When our national freedom was jeopardized, only the young, the strong, the very best of our society, were equal to the task. After World War I, 300,000 men returned home disabled, handicapped, or ill. World War II counted the disabled service men in the hundreds of thousands, and the Korean War added many thousands more. It is estimated that by 1960 there will be 4,000,000 disabled veterans in America.

As a group, they have been self-sacrificing, counting the price they paid as a debt they rightly owed. Most of them are like the recruit who asked the recruiting officer in World War II:

"If I fight, Sir, what will be my reward?"

Swiftly came the blunt answer: "Wounds, scars and perhaps death. But remember, that through your wounds America will remain free."

"That's enough," said the boy, "sign me up."

This is the spirit of the veteran—the spirit of the true soldier. But we, who profited so greatly by their sacrifice, must not forget the debt we owe these noble men who bear wounds that we might have been our own.

On this Memorial Day it is fitting and proper that our thoughts should not only be with those who were killed on the fields of battle, but that we should remember those who were disabled in freedom's conflict. We should resolve to pray for them and their families, use every means at our command to make their lives richer and fuller, and finally, that we should rededicate ourselves to the great principles of freedom for which they exposed themselves so willingly; that these Disabled American Veterans shall not have been wounded in vain.

(Written especially for the D.A.V.—the Identio-Tag organization)

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman
DeWitt S. Hyde

Washington—Many representatives of Federal classified and postal employee groups visited my office last week. I was delighted to renew acquaintanceships, and to talk with old friends. These representatives of Federal employees were in Washington to press for Government pay increases.

I told my friends that I agree that Government salaries should be increased. There are, though, political realities and practical aspects of the problem that must be taken into consideration in this session of Congress. The issue of a pay raise in 1957 has popped up in the midst of an economy drive and a political attack on the budget.

Congress has been scolding the President on the size of his budget. The President has come back at Congress saying the budget represents the best he could do in view of programs enacted into law by Congress, and in light of the nation's defense needs. He also has said that in view of the present state of the nation's economy, pay raises should be kept at a minimum. With that sort of an exchange going on between the President and Congress, lawmakers will find it difficult to justify putting a pay raise bill in the lap of the President.

Some of my visitors asked me to sign discharge petitions on a postal pay raise bill. I have not signed a petition since I have been a Member of Congress—it is not a good way to legislate. When a bill is taken from a committee and sent directly to the floor of the House, members are deprived of the benefit of the committee report and the facts and information on which it is based. I may add, it is often impossible to come to sound decisions without committee reports. This is particularly true in the complex matter of just compensation for Federal workers.

Farm Bureau Will Host Leaders

The Maryland Farm Bureau will be host to 200 farm leaders at a special leadership conference in Salisbury, Maryland, July 28-30, according to C. E. Wise, Jr., Executive Secretary of Maryland Farm Bureau.

National Farm Bureau leaders will review farm policy objectives and present a self-help program to the county and state leaders of 12 Northeast States. These states start from Maryland and West Virginia on the south and extend north to Canada.

Programs outlined for the conference include lectures, classes on policy development, information services, legislative programs and community activities. The conference will open with a vesper service and close with a public relations banquet. Maryland Farm Bureau officers, field staff, and county leaders will arrange facilities and plan tours of agricultural interest.

Vice President John Shockley is chairman of the reception committee and Eastern Shore Fieldman Ken Miller heads the Housing Committee. President Edward Holloway of Wicomico County will plan and direct the tours and George Wright, former county president, is in charge of the banquet arrangements.

FOX FORAGE HARVESTER

FOX FORAGE HARVESTERS have a cylinder type cutting assembly—to give you a safe, sharp shearing action rather than blunt chopping.

That's why the Fox operates so smoothly—so positively—with so little power. Why? Fox-harvested forage is so clean cut and even—why the Fox helps you save more of the meat-making, milk making nutrients nature has put into grass, corn and sorghum crops.

SAFER, TOO! The Fox Cutting Assembly, because of its slower operating speed . . . because of its safety shear pins—is the safest of all forage harvesters.

YOU CAN SHARPEN IT IN THE FIELD! Another reason why you'll always get clean-cut forage with the Fox. Whether you're harvesting green hay, dried or wilted hay, corn or sorghum crop, you can be certain your cutter knives are always in top operating condition on the Fox.

Read Luke 11:5-13.
Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness. (Matthew 6:33.)

A Government office - holder sought power, and found himself enmeshed in fraud and thievery. Another man with health, education, wealth, died young. Fortune spent, he swept barroom floors for the price of the liquor he craved. A woman used questionable methods to gain a fine estate, only to die and leave it for others to enjoy.

When shall we have faith to believe Christ's promise that all in life will be provided when we truly seek to do His will?

When man plans without God, he builds on shifting sand. Too often a lifetime of labor leaves one broken in defeat only because the goal was selfish and that of a man's own designing.

We do not need better schemes, not more prestige. Instead, the world needs Christ.

Christ will come into the heart of man when invited. Perhaps He waits—sorrowfully—for us to admit Him, to help Him in a greater way.

Prayer
We thank Thee, heavenly Father, for the choice Thou hast given us—to seek first Thy kingdom rather than things that lure to lesser goals. Lest we fail Thee, and in falling short, betray our brother, may we have courage and the will to do Thy bidding. In Thy name, we pray. Amen.

Crack-down On Passport Racket Is Planned

WASHINGTON. (CNR)—A report exposing an international passport racket that illegally feeds Chinese Communist government agents into the United States will explode into open Congressional hearings here soon.

Now in the hands of worried Immigration and Justice Department officials, this document will lay bare the activities of a ring of "citizenship brokers" in Hong Kong, selling fake U. S. entry papers for $3,000 a head. The Red Chinese government, says the report, is the broker's best customer.

The crooked brokers utilize the "Derivative Citizenship" provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act (McCarran-Walter Law) to draft their false papers. These provisions permit any child of an American citizen, regardless of that child's color, creed or birthplace, to enter the U. S. outside and beyond regular immigration quotas.

Once inside the United States, according to the report, the Red agents engage in a planned Communist program with three separate aims:

1—Destruction of all restrictions imposed on foreign immigration into the United States, and repeal of the entire Immigration and Nationality Act.

2—Creation of Communist cells in the Chinatowns which make up a part of more than a score of U. S. cities, and of cities in other countries.

3—Extortion, to compel the approximately 16,000,000 overseas Chinese in 50 countries around the world to send cash to families or "investment brokers" inside Communist China.

The liberal McCarran - Walter Act which controls foreign immigration into the U. S. does not bar a foreigner from entering the United States simply because he or she comes from a Communist-controlled state.

Once such a foreign child wins admission to this country, it is eligible at the proper time to apply for citizenship papers and remain here permanently.

More than 100 so-called "citizenship brokers" acting as agents for fraudulent claimants to American passports have been identified by the Hong Kong U. S.

Consulate General and the British Crown Colony police. Prosecution of such brokers for fraud—no other way is possible—has increased in recent months. Nevertheless, according to figures on file, no sooner is one ring of brokers smashed by police, than another springs into existence.

The fraud brokers establish contact with Chinese whom the Communist Chinese government wishes to send to America, and provide them with false Chinese-American "families" living in the United States. Then, the brokers carefully coach the applicants to face examination by U. S. consular agents. They are so skillful and so thorough, according to the report, that they actually match blood types of the applicants with that of "mothers" and "fathers" in behind the Chinese Communist Bamboo Curtain, issuance or non-issuance of passports depends on documents.

"Hong Kong is today the most active staging point in the world for illegal Chinese immigration to the United States and Canada," said the report now in the hands of authorities. "Unscrupulous citizenship brokers, with the assistance of undercover representatives in Red China and America, have been fraudulently processing Chinese into the United States as bona fide citizens."

"This for an average of $500, with a balance of $2,500 payable upon approved entry."

The traffic in illegal Chinese entries began originally with the smuggling of so-called "relatives" by Chinese merchants, laundrymen etc. to use as workers or servants. Since the Communist conquest of the China mainland, however, the Red rulers have used the device to infiltrate agents by the hundred.

Many such illegal entrants into the United States join subversive movements. Some such subversives come over at the express orders, and by arrangement, of the Communist Chinese government; others are blackmailed into subversion after arrival in the U. S.

Immigration authorities have found in recent months that these immigrants concentrate in work aimed at complete destruction of all bars against flooding immigration into the United States. This foreign-instigated campaign proved so effective last year that forces campaigning for amendments wrecking the McCarran-Walter Act actually want their adoption in the U. S. Senate. Rep. Walter (D) of Pennsylvania, managed to block similar House action as the clock ticked away closing moments of the 1956 session of Congress.

These amendments have been reintroduced this year, and a nip-and-tuck battle over their enactment will be waged in Congress. Forces defending the existing liberal immigration laws have organized to fight subversive programs aimed at the law. The American Legion and numerous other patriotic societies have asked voters everywhere to write and telegraph their representatives in Congress, demanding a vote to preserve immigration law as it stands today.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Business Opportunities

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 23—During the past winter I have used my spare time trying to decide what industries have the best opportunities. Among these, the following seem to be the leaders. The Oil Industry, represented by any of the large companies, The Chemical Industry, in which I consider the American Agricultural Chemical Co. of Florida one of the best. Household

Heating by uranium, with American Radiator & Standard Sanitary the most conservative and National U. S. Radiator perhaps the best speculation. Electronics and Thermodynamics, with Westinghouse Air Brake perhaps the best speculation. Earthmoving Machinery, with Caterpillar Tractor the most speculative and International Harvester perhaps the most conservative purchase. The Microwave Industry, of which Hughes Products of Los Angeles and the Motorola Co. of Chicago are among the leaders. Greeting Cards, with a Gibson, Hallmark, or Norcross trademark. The Broadcasting of Power for small kitchen utensils may be developed by the Radio Corporation of America. Reasons For The Above Selections

There are four basic factors which I am considering in selecting these industries:

(1) Labor Shortage. This will continue due to the desire for four more years of education and for retirement at 65, and to other factors which will offset the population growth. This will further strengthen the power of Labor Unions.

(2) Automation. At first glance this should cause unemployment, but automation will be so expensive that it will come about slowly. Furthermore, although automation reduces greatly the number of employees needed, yet the quality of the employees needed will be considerably upgraded. Automation for many years will barely offset the possible shortage of labor under present conditions.

(3) Inflation. We ought to fight inflation in any form, but it will slowly creep up on us, resulting in a gradual increase in the cost of living. Of course, if World War III should come, the value of the dollar will drop from 50 cents to 25 cents, but I am not looking for anything like this now.

(4) Government Expenses, barring World War III, should hold fairly steady. The development of missiles should reduce defense expenses in both the Navy and Army. This should offset any increase arising from the growth of bureaucratic government.

Other Trends To Watch

(1) Higher Education will be considered a necessity. Not only will teachers receive higher salaries, but they must work harder to earn the same by having double sessions, by the further use of television, and by proper grading. Anytime there may be discovered a completely new revolutionary system of education. Colleges will cease as residence schools and become day schools with elaborate parking facilities.

(2) Automobiles and Parking. Unless the trend for larger cars and automobile accidents soon turn downward, with greatly increasing "4 lane" highways, the automobile industry will be leveling off. There will be more money in providing parking facilities than in the sale of automobiles.

(3) Community Churches. The Church is the hope of America, but young people are giving less attention to formal creeds and the old religious dogmas. Denominations are meaning less to the coming generation. I forecast a growth in community churches attended by a large number of people of different denominations. Churches will be located adjacent to municipal playgrounds, lakes, rivers, etc.

(4) Shopping Centers for retail stores will be followed by brain centers for insurance companies, legal firms, architects, etc. The suburban population definitely will increase, attracting churches, YMCA's, and other organizations, as well as retail stores. As the working population grows and working hours lessen, the time given to sports will increase; in fact, the sale of sporting goods will increase. Stores in the downtown metropolitan cities will gradually appeal more to men who have not the time to visit shopping centers. With self-service properly developed, there will always be a field for self-service specialty stores, variety stores, and the up-to-date "dime store" in the dense downtown districts of all cities.

Ford Truck Production Up

DEARBORN, Mich. — Sales of Ford trucks in the best introduction period yet have pushed production to new peaks as demand for Ford pickups increased 50 per cent and Ford filled the biggest single order for tilt cab trucks in industry history, R. S. McNamara, Ford Motor Company vice president and Ford Division general manager, said this week.

During the month of April, Ford Division assembly plants made a total of 38,371 Ford trucks, breaking the previous all-time company monthly record of 36,855, set in October, 1953. Also in April, the division set a new production high of 8,381 trucks for a five-day week and a new mark of 1,767 for a single day's output.

Sales of Ford's expanded line of pickup trucks in the three months following the February 1 introduction are one and a half times that of the same 1956 period, he said.

Meanwhile, fleet owners are showing a decided swing to Ford's tilt cab trucks, lowest-priced and most complete line in the industry.

For example, Mr. McNamara said, one large fleet owner has ordered 300 Ford tilt cabs for its delivery service, believed to be the biggest order of its kind.

Mr. McNamara based the sales jump in Ford pickups, which meet over half of all trucking needs, on their advanced design reflected in the styleside, full-width, 25 per cent more capacity pickup box.

Customer demand for Ford's new Ranchero, introduced in February, has made it necessary to double the original production schedule. The Ranchero combines passenger car styling and comfort with the cargo carrying ability of a pickup.

"Ford's 1957 truck line not only has received the best public acceptance in our history but the division has broken monthly, weekly and daily production records in April to supply dealers with trucks they have ordered," Mr. McNamara said.

Examining Our Weaknesses

A nation can be only as strong as its people. If its people are weak in the basic character virtues or weak in an understanding of the great values and truths of life, then that nation will be a weak nation and sooner or later it will crumble. A significant "laboratory" study has been made of a cross section of American character. The results seem to indicate serious defects in the upbringing of a generation of Americans, from infancy, through childhood, and into youthful maturity. The results constitute a challenge to our three great institutions — the home, the school, the church.

The study was made by U. S. Army psychiatrists. It was a study of the actions and reactions of 7,000 American soldiers captured and imprisoned for nearly three years by the Chinese Communists in North Korea. When the results were all in, President Eisenhower and the leaders of our nation's internal security and national defense were so disturbed that a new Code of Conduct for the armed services was adopted, and in an unprecedented move it was announced to the nation by the President himself.

President Eisenhower said: "This is a statement of first principles which every male and every female in our society should know." Major William E. Mayer, the Army's chief psychiatrist on the Korean prisoner study, commented on the principles underlying the requirements of the Code: "I think a great many parents and teachers somehow believe that children get such principles by osmosis or simply by being exposed to them in some vague way that doesn't require any direct conscious attention." This is a mistaken belief. The Code demands five attitude requirements:

1. If you're ever captured—resist. Keep alive the spirit of resistance. Your life depends upon it. Three thousand of the 7,000 American prisoners in Korea died. The army is convinced that an important factor in this amazing death rate was a breakdown in the spirit of resistance. The same breakdown rendered the 4,000 surviving prisoners incredibly non-resistant to their Communist captors. The characteristic which broke down was perseverance.

No One Escaped
2. Try to escape. "This country exists because of an impulse to freedom," Major Mayer emphasizes. "Violations of this freedom have always in the past stimulated the most violent reactions on the part of Americans. And yet, out of the 7,000 men captured, the 4,000 survivors were three years in captivity, and at no time did a single American ever succeed in an engineered escape from an established POW camp. Ever!" The attitude which broke down here was the traditional high evaluation of freedom.

3. Don't make a "deal" with the enemy. Most of the Korean prisoners, Major Mayer and his staff found, accepted a "deal" from the Communist captors. He said: "It seems that in talking about compromise and getting along with people today, and being non-aggressive, and everything being quiet, and nobody raising his voice if possible, we've gotten compromise on a minor level mixed up with compromise on the level of principle." The character principles weakened here were honesty and courage.

Our Brother's Keeper

4. Don't do anything to hurt your fellow - American. Love thy neighbor—God's commandment. Major Mayer described the "Gallagher incident." A domineering soldier, Gallagher forced some soldiers ill with dysentery from a hut in a prison compound, into 30 - below-zero weather. They died within hours. Other soldiers in the hut testified at Gallagher's trial that they didn't try to stop this brutal action. Typical reason given: "I just didn't feel it was any of my business to interfere." Yet they knew the sick men would die. The characteristic broken here was brotherly love.

5. Establish a command, and support the command. The attitude of many prisoners toward command was, "You may be a captain or a sergeant but in this prison camp you don't rank." No one asserted leadership, and that's exactly what the Communists wanted. "We had to put this terribly obvious statement in the Code," Major Mayer explained, "because somehow we are not teaching about the attitude of leadership, the willingness to take this responsibility, the willingness to be other than merely popular." This was a breakdown of the characteristic that made America a great nation.

The Army's findings are disturbing. In our homes, our churches and schools we must heed the challenges which they pose. Everything we cherish is at stake.

NO. 18,494 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland
QUINCIE M. WILLIAMS
Vs.
CARLTON L. WILLIAMS

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii from the Complainant, Quincie M. Williams, from the Respondent, Carlton L. Williams. The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on the 5th day of December, 1951 in Federalburg, Maryland by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that they lived together as man and wife in various places in the State of Maryland until on or about the 1st day of February, 1953, when the Respondent, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted the Complainant; that said desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than 18 months last past; that the separation of the parties is final and deliberate and that there is no hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties; that no children were born as a result of said marriage; that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Respondent is a resident of the State of Maryland and resides at Bridgeville, Maryland. The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced a Vinculo Matrimonii, and for general relief and process.

It is thereupon this 24th day of April, 1957, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, Ordered that the Complainant give notice to the said Respondent of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 1st day of June, 1957, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of June, 1957, and show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

MARYLAND WILDLIFE PLANTS

Prepared by the MARYLAND GAME & INLAND FISH COMMISSION

WILD MILLET

(Echinochloa crusgalli)

Sometimes called barnyard grass

RANGE: Found throughout the country; common in Maryland, particularly in the Piedmont, Southern and Eastern regions.

DESCRIPTION: Rather coarse grass; leaves flat and narrow; panicles (branched flower cluster) fairly dense and bristly; grows from about 3 to 6 feet in height.

PREFERRED HABITAT: Various moist or marshy places; grows well in upland areas, but best near water particularly in soils that are covered by a few inches of water during the early part of the growing season and then drained during the latter part.

METHOD OF ESTABLISHMENT: An annual; by seeds, broadcast anytime of the year; matures in from 45-90 days depending on climate; best to break soil where possible before broadcasting seed; flood in fall for benefit of waterfowl. (On the feasibility of planting any waterfowl plants, it is advisable to check with your Game and Fish Commission.) FLOWERS: Spikelets in a rather dense panicle which appears bristly because of its long purple or green awns or hairs.

FRUITS: Spikelets contain smooth moderately large seeds (grains) which are humped on the rounded back and pointed.

WILDLIFE USE: One of the best duck-feeding plants of shallow marshes and moist soils; eaten by many other birds including quail, dove, pheasant, rail and snipe.

OTHER VALUES: A good plant for checking soil erosion along waterways.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Trouble with Sen. Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) in viewpoint of socialists and hare-brained "do-gooders" along Potomac is his utter moral incorruptibility.

For 24 years as U. S. Senator, he has constantly fought governmental waste. And never jumping around like a cat on a hot griddle in the name of political expediency, he has fought government waste whether it was his party, or the opposition party doing the wasting.

Perhaps his philosophy is best expressed in a statement the other day "America is founded on the democratic principle that the will of the people shall prevail. I have survived the New Deal, the Fair Deal and the present deal. I think the present deal is going to land somewhere midway between the New Deal and the Fair Deal. I regret to say that. But never before have I seen such an uprising at the grass roots demanding retrenchment in government spending."

He commented that while in his long service he has seen many pressure groups descend on Washington seeking appropriations for pet projects, this is the first time he has known of citizens to come demanding Congress cut federal spending. "A great tide of protest has come to Washington," he said, "but it must be continued in order to accomplish the purpose."

Senator Byrd claims 33% of the national income is now sopped up by Federal, state and local taxes. Federal employment, instead of being curtailed, has been stepped up. Counting foreign nationals on payrolls, there are now more than 3,000,000 federal civilian employees with proposals to add at least 40,000 more. Hence, it is easy to see why discount retail houses for government employees have been able to spring up over nation as can-cers on economic structure.

And with everybody disclaiming responsibility for current budget, it now looks like Washington is as leaderless as when British took it over once before in the 1812 fracas.

It appears somehow a halt must be called to tendency of each administration to strive toward achieving a reputation as being more "liberal" than its successor.

In past 160 years a strange construction has been placed on term liberalism. The nation was founded by liberals who embraced cardinal tenet that excessive taxation defeated liberalism.

Yet, in contemporary times, any government with eye to forthcoming elections wishing to be known as "liberal" seems to have but one method of establishing a liberal reputation; being liberal with other people's money.

Sen. Byrd flatly declares there is nothing left to raise taxes on.

If this be so, then this mad race to permit office seekers to go to the hustings every two years pointing with pride to an even greater liberalism, has reached full flower. There is only one further step in this macabre march toward bogus liberalism.

That is for government to take 100% of the national income, then disburse it back, less handling charges, of course, to the citizenry on whatever crack-brained plan is in vogue at any given time. Of course, that would be akin to communism. But when government takes 33% of income, that kinship is getting close.

Promoted In Lutheran Choir

Those who have served in the Chapel Choir of the Elias Ev. Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, the past year are as follows: Mae Bushman, Susan Daugherty, Carrie Boyd, Sue Eyster, Edna Zimmerman, Mary Jo Zimmerman, Shirley Hahn, Susan McGaughlin, Mary O'Melveny, Charlotte

Bollinger, Margaret Neighbours, Clarence Ancarrow, Arvin Bollinger, Cyrus Manahan, Thomas Wilhide, George Eyster, Alfred Hahn, Clarence Hahn, James Sanders, Harry Troxell, Robert Sayler, Earle Wilhide, Thomas Bushman, and Robert Troxell.

Promoted from the Youth Choir to the Chapel Choir and who have worked with both choirs are: Shirley Hahn, Susan McGaughlin, Mary O'Melveny, Susan Daugherty, Margaret Neighbours, Peninah Giggell, Mary A. Flowers, Thomas Wilhide and John Garrett.

The Junior (children's) Choir consists of 19 very active members. None have been absent without excuse more than three times since the Fall program started in October.

They are: Connie Baker, Linda Bucher, Clyde Keilholtz, Thomas

Harbaugh, Harriet Harner, Harry A. Harner, Thelma Herring, Betty Myers, Cheryl Myers, Sandra Myers, Earl Wilhide, Grace Zepp, Elizabeth Wilhide, Randolph Zepp, Renfred Zepp, Ralph Ohler, Betsy O'Melveny, Wayne Sanders, and Carolyn Umbel.

The attendance and loyalty shown in all the choirs this past year has been outstanding. It has been the best ever. The nine sopranos of the Chapel Choir ended the month of April with a perfect record of attendance of 13 times. No member of the Chapel Choir was absent more than twice during the busy month.

Members of the Youth and Junior choirs will present a Saturday matinee concert on June 8 at 2 o'clock in the Parish House. Families and friends of choir members are urged to attend and bring others with them. This will be an afternoon of folk songs, fun songs, verse, piano solos, and other musical renditions.

Congregational singing is each individual expressing his adoration, gratitude and praise and petition to God. This is the very thing God would have each redeemed soul do—praise and worship Him. Let every member come to church every Lord's Day and when you come, sing unto the Lord from your heart.

Homemakers Plan Bingo Party

The Emmitsburg Homemakers' Club held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in the VFW annex.

Mrs. Paul Beale, leader of the Girls' 4-H Club, presented the following interesting program: Song, "America the Beautiful," accompanied by Kathryn Springer; demonstration, How to Make Brownies, by Carolyn Seiss and Mary Meisner; dress modeling, Nancy Valentine, narrated by Kathryn Springer; skit, narrated by Judy Valentine, assisted by Shirley Liller, Rosie Liller, Marlane Plunkard, Carolyn Seiss and Kathryn Springer; How to Make a Sewing Box, Marlene Plunkard and Rosie Liller; poem, Kathryn Springer; song, by all girls.

The club congratulated Mrs. Beale for the excellent work she is doing with the 4-H Club. Mrs. Beale gave an interesting talk on Water Safety and Safe Water. She explained the sinking of wells and the purification of water and demonstrated new methods of artificial respiration.

The Homemakers are planning a bingo party at the Victor Cullen Hospital soon.

Plans for the Homemakers' Shop were definitely outlined. A scarf made by Mrs. Robert E. Daugherty will be raffled on the last day of the shop's existence.

The club decided to make cookies for the historical tea during Bi-centennial week. A $10 donation was given to the VFW Ambulance Fund.

The next afternoon of games will be held at Mrs. Gilbert Oddo's home at 1:30 p. m. on June 13.

It was erroneously stated in an article about the Homemakers' Shop that proceeds of the shop would go to the Bi-centennial Fund. It should have stated that a substantial donation would be made to the fund.

Scout Troop

Committee Selected

At a meeting held in the Fire Hall on Thursday evening, a new troop committee was formed by the Scoutmasters of the Emmitsburg Boy Scout Troop 284.

The committee is composed of local men who are interested in helping to maintain the fine efforts of our local Scoutmasters who are doing a splendid job of training the youth of the community. The purpose of the committee is to assist the Scoutmasters in making Scouting more appealing to youngsters and to encourage more of them to join the Scouts.

The new committee consists of the following: Frank Fitzgerald, chairman; personnel, Dr. J. W. Houser and Charles F. Stouter; secretary-treasurer, Ernest Rosensteel; training committee, J. Laurence Orendorff; transportation, Irvin Tokar; program, Wales E. Rightmire; advancement, Ralph F. Ireland, Curtis D. Topper, Jack Humerick and Edward G. Lingg; activities, Paul W. Claypool; institutional representative, John J. Hollinger.

J. E. Houck is Scoutmaster of the local troop and is assisted by George Danner and Allen Stoner.

Correction

In last week's write-up on the Homemakers' Bi-centennial shop recently opened, it was erroneously reported that the proceeds of the shop would be donated to the Bi-centennial fund. The article should have stated that the Homemakers will make a substantial contribution to the fund.

Truck Leaves Road, Damages Car And House

The wall and foundation of the house were cracked but no damage was immediately available. The car was valued at $500.

The Bollinger family had retired when the accident happened and one child was reported hurled from his bed by the impact. Gasoline fumes filled the house and a gas line in the home was broken, filling the house with gas. Safety engineers present urged the family not to return to the home until the next day and the children were housed for the night with neighbors in New Oxford.

Wagerman said he was driving toward New Oxford when the steering wheel locked and sent the truck into some guard rails, then across a parking lot into the Bollinger car and house. New Oxford firemen stood by in case of any fire danger. The tractor-trailer was loaded with 26,000 pounds of bagged rice and was headed for Philadelphia. The vehicle is owned by the Penn-Dixie Co., Emmitsburg. Harman Dell, Oxford Twp. justice of the peace, fined Wagerman $10 and charged him $5 costs for driving too fast for existing conditions.

County Teachers Hold Election

Miss Janice Wickless, a teacher at the North End Elementary School, Frederick, took office Tuesday night as president of the Frederick County Teachers' Assn. at the annual spring meeting at Frederick High School.

Prior to the election the group heard from a native Fredericktonian, William S. Schmidt, who is now superintendent of Prince George's County Schools. His subject was "The Good Sense of Nowness" in which he told his professional associates to "stop-step back" and take an honest appraisal of the schools and their jobs. He pointed out that the school situation is now disturbing—there is a lack of classrooms and an ever widening gap between the supply and demand for teachers.

Miss Mary E. Rhoades presented a resolution which was adopted that the Frederick County Teachers' Assn. appoint three sponsors for the Future Teachers' Assn. Council, to continue payment of charter fees, state and national, and allocate $25 annually for basic expense of the FTA Council.

Miss Mary Fiery, Emmitsburg, was elected corresponding secretary of the organization and a report on the Institute of Maryland Public Affairs was given by Arvin P. Jones.

Boys' 4-H Club Meeting Held

The group decided to enter a float in the Bi-centennial Parade with John Krom furnishing the tractor and Edward Meadows the wagon. The float will carry a variety of animals. The softball tournament was discussed and John Wagaman, Kenneth Krom and Douglas Maddox were accepted as new members. Tom Wilhide gave an electrical demonstration on making portable motors and will enter his exhibit in the county-wide contest.
