BY ABIGAIL

Gov. McKeldin probably was not aware of it but he had a close shave when he took part in the recessional at the pageant Saturday night. Just as soon as the Governor and the Queen had seated themselves in the horse-drawn brougham, the two animals drawing the carriage began "acting up" and it was several breath-taking moments before Regis Sanders, owner-driver could quiet the animals down. Charlie Fuss, coachman, had quite a difficult time remounting the vehicle due to the actions of the turbulent horses. A sigh of relief was uttered by the large audience when it was certain a run-away and possible injury to the Governor and Queen had been averted.

Johnny Stokes dropped in the office this week to explain to us where "Split Rock" was located. Seemed as nobody around here remembered the spot and Johnny, having furnished a photograph of the rock recently, read about no one knowing where the pleasant resting and drinking spot was situated. Johnny says the rock is, or was, located on the Annandale Road from Annandale to Mt. St. Mary's College, near the college. A watering trough stood alongside the road and was used for many years. A spring had sprung up in the middle of the rock splitting it in half and the water trickled down into the watering trough along the road. Incidentally, Johnny who hails from out-of-town, expressed his pleasure at being present for the Bi-centennial and complimented the town on a great performance. Seems that the old grey mare published in the Bi-centennial edition of the Chronicle belonged to Dolan Eyer.

Preliminary financial reports indicate that the Bi-centennial ended in the "red." If this is so, reimbursement must be forthcoming. We don't feel as though anyone who helped with the gigantic celebration should be "stuck" with it. For many years I have advocated the return of our annual carnival, picnic, or what have you. This would be a good time to establish a date for such an occasion and also to raise any money needed to wipe out the existing deficit, if any. I am sure it would only take a year or two to clear up this debt. Many years ago carnivals disappeared from the local scene. Since we have, apparently, a free date in June, why don't we hold on to that date and stage an annual event of some sort, not only to pay off this debt, but to earn money for some future community project?

A bouquet to former Chief Dan Kaas for the excellent job of policing he has done here the past four years. Dan relinquished his duties this week after four grueling years of effective police work. To his successor, Bob Koontz, we wish the best of luck and know that he will do the same fine efficient job he did while here a few years back. Thanks for a job well done, Dan... may your worries be less in your new endeavor.

I think the return to normalcy this week was more than welcome for most of us after the exciting Bi-centennial. So many of us were keyed up emotionally that it was a welcome relief when the great affair terminated. I know the committees were perhaps the happiest after slaving weeks before the event. It got downright boring attending the pageant and being a member of the cast for a few minutes each evening, but you just had to be there every night. If you weren't in the pageant you were selling tickets either at the spectacle, the carnival or pop stand or working on the field in some capacity. A large number of man-hour was consumed but deep down in our hearts I know we all feel that we gave Emmitsburg a real show that will be appreciated for many years to come, and we're mighty proud of it. Now then, about the Tri-centennial

Msgr. Culhane New Rector At Mount Seminary

The Rt. Rev. William F. Culhane, vice president of Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md., has been appointed acting rector of Mount St. Mary's Seminary by the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore, according to an announcement made this week by the Rt. Rev. John L. Sheridan, president of Mount St. Mary's College and Seminary. He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. O'Donnell, rector since 1948, who has resigned to return to duties in the archdiocese of Philadelphia.

A native of Newton, Conn., Msgr. Culhane attended Mount St. Mary's school and was graduated from the college in 1919. He received his M.A. degree in 1921 and was ordained for the diocese of Mobile, Ala., in 1923 by Archbishop Curley of Baltimore after completing his theological studies at Mount St. Mary's Seminary.

Following ordination he served as a parish priest at St. Rose Church, Delmar, N. Y., St. Andrew's Church, Montgomery, Ala., and at the Cathedral in Mobile. In 1924 he became secretary to Bishop Edward Allen of Mobile and the same year was named chancellor of the diocese.

He returned to the faculty of Mount St. Mary's in 1925 at the invitation of Msgr. Bernard Bradley, then president of the college. He has taught philosophy and modern and ancient languages at Mount St. Mary's and theology in the seminary.

In addition to his teaching duties he has held many administrative posts. In 1939 he was elected vice president of the college, an office he has held since. In 1941-47 and 1952-53 he served as treasurer of the college, negotiating the important government contract during World War II when the college became a Navy V-5 and V-12 base. He also served as secretary of the National Alumni Association between 1926-1949.

He was raised to the Monsignorate in April 1954 by Pope Pius XII at the request of the Most Rev. Thomas W. Moen, Bishop of Mobile and solemnly invested with the monsignor's robes on June 2, 1954.

Wills Probated

The will of David L. Neighbours, Emmitsburg, was probated and letters granted in Orphans' Court on the estate of Charles R. Hubbard, also of Emmitsburg. The two were killed in a recent automobile accident.

Neighbours left his estate to his widow, Mrs. Eunice Neighbours, under the terms of a will drawn June 20, 1956, of which one of the witnesses was Hubbard. The other was Paul W. Claypool.

Mrs. Marie F. Hubbard, the widow, qualified as administratrix of the estate of her husband. The widow and four children are the heirs.

TOWN READY FOR ANNEXATION ON AUGUST 15

Two special meetings of the Town Council were held during June. It was revealed this week at the regular meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners held Monday night in the town office, Chairman of the Board Charles R. Fuss presiding. A meeting was held on June 10 and 17 to discuss annexation proceedings and also to select a successor to succeed Chief Daniel J. Kaas who resigned. Robert L. Koontz was appointed to succeed Chief Kaas who turned in his badge Wednesday.

Town Clerk Louise Sebald presented the reports of the secretary, tax collector and all were approved without alteration. Parking meter revenue for the month of June was reported as $264.50. In addition there was $12 in overtime parking fines making a total of $279.50 for the month. Mayor Clarence G. Frailey reported that 16 automatic parking meters had been placed on the Square.

Council reported it has ordered a lot cleared of weeds and trash after the owner had refused to keep it clean and the owner will be sent a bill for the cleaning. The Town Fathers reported complaints had been received concerning individuals throwing trash on the streets and they warn that a town ordinance prohibits this action.

Commissioner Wales Rightmour who represented Emmitsburg recently at the annual convention of the Maryland Municipal League held in Ocean City, Md., gave a detailed account of the convention. Rightmour advised the solons that federal and state aid to town sewerage systems could possibly total as high as 40%.

The Town Fathers reported that the annexation ordinance has been published four times in accordance with the law and that the annexation will be binding and legal as of August 15. An estimated 40 houses will be included in the new corporation boundaries. A special meeting is being arranged with the Maryland State Health Dept. in the near future when the town's sewerage problems will be discussed and plans for the new sewerage system reviewed. Street Commissioner Fuss announced that he does not enter and one-way signs had arrived and will be placed in a number of narrow alleys in the near future, designating them as one-way thoroughfares.

Bills of $20 were ordered sent to residents of South Seton Ave. who recently tapped into the new sewer line. The bill represents the tap-in fee. Commissioner Fuss was authorized to have the drying beds of the town's disposal plant cleaned out.

Gov. McKeldin Presents Awards To Bi-centennial Queen

Governor Theodore McKeldin greets Bi-centennial Queen, Nancy Valentine, before capacity crowd Saturday night at final performance of the historical pageant, "Valley Echoes," at the Civic Grounds. The Governor gave a brief address pertinent to the history of the town which was well-received and appreciated by the large gathering.

"Old Mountain Church" Burned To Ground 44 Years Ago

A most tragic occasion in the memories of many older Emmitsburgians was the burning of the original Mt. St. Mary's Church built a number of years before the college was founded. The recent Bi-centennial and the 44th anniversary of the burning on July 4, 1913, was revived this week via an old Chronicle clipping giving details of the burning of the edifice. We are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flagg for the clipping which is reprinted as follows:

OLD CHURCH AT MT. ST. MARY'S BURNED ON FRIDAY
Landmark of Catholicism in State
—Many Great Men Worshipped
—There in Their Student Days.
On Friday night, July 4, 1913, the "Old Mountain Church" at Mt. St. Mary's was destroyed by fire.

The church, unused for worship for a number of years past, was the mother of Mt. St. Mary's College and the theological seminary connected with that institution. It was intimately connected also with the history of the Sisters of Charity whose motherhouse is located not far from its site. It was the worshipping place during their student days of a long line of prominent churchmen and laymen, including the first American Cardinal Most Rev. Dr. McClosky of New York.

Father John Dubois who came to this country in 1791 from France with letters of introduction from the Marquis de Lafayette to prominent Americans, and who later became bishop of New York, built the church. Selecting a site high on the mountainside, he struck the first blow into the first tree felled for its construction on Nov. 19, 1805. Three years later he founded Mount St. Mary's College.

Not long afterward Mother Seton, founder of the orders of Sisters of Charity, with her nine companions, arrived at Mount St. Mary's. Father Dubois received them and assisted them in the founding of the home from which has developed the order's great establishment, with branches all over the country.

In 1826 the church was enlarged. It continued to serve as the church of the college and the surrounding parish until 1895 when the parish was separated from the college and a new church for its use built a little farther down the mountainside, close to the Frederick-Emmitsburg turnpike. Not long afterward the college community, too, discontinued the use of the old church, which had become partly ruined from age, and about five years ago a new church was erected on the college grounds.

The "Old Mountain Church," however, continued to be a shrine for visitors to the institution. When the centennial of its erection was celebrated in Nov. of 1905, there was a great gathering of church dignitaries and prominent laymen from many parts of the country. Cardinal Gibbons was present, and the Pope cabled his blessing from Rome.

The anniversary sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. E. F. McSweeney, a venerable member of Mount St. Mary's faculty. In it he said:

"Though the old church must disappear from the landscape, the heart-strings of its lovers will cling around every beam and every stone. We toiled up that hill too often ever to forget or cease to love the old church."

"Can anyone who has been present ever forget the services there—the 'Stabat Mater' in Holy Week, the 'Glory to God' on Christmas morning? Who did not feel his heart burn within him at the charm of the Corpus Christi procession, or who has not felt nearer to God when, on All Souls' Day, we visited the sleeping place of the departed?"

"Indeed, we cannot forget you, O venerable mountain church!"

The church was a brick building, with white stucco covering. The fire which destroyed it, is supposed to have been caused by a toy balloon igniting after being sent up in celebration of the Fourth of July, 1913, falling upon the roof.

Lauds Former Police Chief

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:
Dear Sir:

It is with a feeling of regret that I heard of the resignation of Officer Daniel J. Kaas.

For four years he has served our community faithfully, even when it meant great personal sacrifice. A dedicated man, he performed his duties well and conscientiously; his efforts always were in the interest of the people.

I am certain that I am echoing the general sentiment when I say that Emmitsburg will miss its Chief of Police.

Good luck, "Dan." We wish you the best of everything in your new job.

A Grateful Citizen

Motorists Fined For Violations

Ten motorists paid fines totaling $244.05 during June the Emmitsburg Police Dept. reported this week. All arrests were made by Police Chief Daniel J. Kaas and trials were held before Magistrate Charles D. Gillean. Twenty warning tickets were issued during the month. Arrested and convicted were:

Frank I. Goldrang, Ithaca, N. Y., failing to obey traffic control device, $6.45; James R. Sanders, Emmitsburg, operating vehicle on expired temporary plates, $11.45; David E. Warthen, Emmitsburg, speed greater than prudent, $11.45; David G. Moyer, Lancaster, Pa., speed greater than reasonable, $11.45; Paul J. Price, Gettysburg, no operator's license in possession, $2.45; William Harry May, Jr., Westminster, operating while license was revoked, $15.45; William Harry May, Jr., Westminster, failing to obey a written summons, $26.45; Fred E. Landsperger, Fairfield, Pa., speed greater than reasonable or prudent, $11.45.

EDITORIAL

We say the Bi-centennial is over. Yes, the physical celebration is over but this entire year of 1957 should be a year for celebrating the 200th birthday of Emmitsburg. So far the occasion has been a big success and those of us who were closely connected with it have many pleasant memories. Socially it brought many old friends together and made many new friendships. Now let's put it over the top financially!

Are there 125 people in the community who have forgotten to buy their Bi-centennial souvenir plates, or who intended to buy one to send to a former resident or friend who could not attend and celebrate with us but would like to be a part of the celebration by having a souvenir from it? Come on folks, the Bi-centennial Office will be open Friday and Saturday, so let's make them banner days by buying up those 125 plates, either for ourselves, our children, or old friends. They make lovely gifts. Let's see which section of the town can come out on top for the most plates bought!

There still are a number of souvenir brochures for sale. No home in Emmitsburg has been a part of the celebration unless it has one of these fine histories at 50c a copy. Your children and grand-children will cherish them for many years in the future.

Let's all get on the bandwagon and sell all of these souvenirs on Friday and Saturday. It will be the Emmitsburg's way of saying "thank you" to the committees and all the fine people that worked so hard to make your community's birthday a success. Just as soon as possible a financial report will be released.

Chairman Thanks Committees

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle
Dear Sir:

I have personally said "thank you" to many of our citizens for working many long and hard hours on the Bi-centennial, but I'm sure there are some I have missed and so I'm writing this letter for publication so that I might publicly thank you all. The fellows who built the stage, the committee that got the properties for the Spectacle, the fellows who handled the gates, the committees that ran the Brothers and the Belles, the people who ran the Queen contest, the men and women who operated food stands, the games, the police and Scouts who handled traffic and the committee which organized the parade. The historic window committee presented such fine displays and most of all, thanks to the cast which was so faithful and did such a remarkable job.

Each and everyone of you did an outstanding job. This was a big job and one that I felt very inadequate to, but I tried to carry on to the best of my ability. I would be the first to admit that many mistakes were made, but we are not perfect in any respect and so we do make mistakes.

So again I say "thank you" and always you folks that worked so hard, remember that we are so much the stronger for the mistakes we made and the next time we will know better.

May this community live in harmony for many years to come and may it always be proud of its 200th birthday!

Bi-centennial Successfully Terminated

Emmitsburg's memorable Bi-centennial came to a dramatic conclusion Saturday night when Governor and Mrs. Theodore McKeldin motored here to attend the final performance of the historical pageant "Valley Echoes." Preceding the final showing the governor was honorary judge of the shaving contest sponsored by the "Brothers of the Brush" with prizes being awarded by the Remington Rand Corp., manufacturers of electric razors. The contest lasted about four minutes as the Brothers shaved their three months' beard growth before a capacity grandstand. The amiable governor took part in the contest by helping to shave the last contestant, Lawrence Sprankle, adding to the merriment of the crowd.

First place winner of the contest was Donald Harner; second, Arthur Elder and third, John J. Hollinger. Each was presented with a new Remington Rand razor. Thomas Ginnell, Jack Humerick and Lawrence Sprankle received other prizes as runners-up.

Saturday night concluded a week of feverish activity which brought hundreds of former Emmitsburgians home for the first time in many years.

Friday night's firemen's parade for the kiddies was a tremendous success despite a constant drizzling rain which gathered impetus in the early evening and caused cancellation of the carnival and pageant. Over 500 children participated in the parade from the Doughboy in West End to the Civic Grounds, a mile and a half east of town. The heavy downpour Friday night tore tents and flattened snow fence circling the pageant area forcing cancellation of all activities. The pageant showing was extended to Sunday night which terminated all activities of the memorable celebration, which opened June 22 with a mammoth parade which drew an estimated 12,000 persons here to witness it.

Following Saturday night's performance, Governor McKeldin presented "Miss Emmitsburg" queen of the Bi-centennial, with a lovely crown and participated in the recessional by exiting in a horse-drawn ancient brougham. Miss Nancy Valentine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Bud) Valentine, was nominated "Miss Emmitsburg."

From a social and entertaining angle the celebration was a tremendous success and one that will live in the memories of present-day Emmitsburgians for many years to come. Financially the event didn't mature as had been anticipated, due mainly to being rained out two nights and with threatening inclement weather almost the entire week. Estimates by the committee in charge place the financial deficit at from one to three thousand dollars which it is hoped can be wiped out by holding a number of fund-raising events in the near future.

GENE SPRANKLE IS NEW LEGION COMMANDER

There were 40 members present at the election presided over by outgoing commander Edgar G. Wastler.

Richard M. Sprankle was inducted into the post at the meeting. Charles Sharrer donated an American flag to the post.

Refreshments were served by Clarence Shorb and the ladies' auxiliary. Louis F. Rosensteel won the door prize.

YOUNG IDEAS
from
Polly Ponds

Q: "Could you suggest some summer hair styles that are both comfortable and easy to keep?"

A: For comfort's sake, don't wear your hair dangling limply on the back of your neck during hot weather.

If your hair is straight, choose a style that doesn't require curling—for instance: a pony tail or a modified dutch bob that can be worn beautifully without a curl.

If your hair is curly, have it shaped to your head in a short cut that will show off your natural waves to best advantage. Either wear it brushed away from your face, or combed forward into fashionable pixie-points.

Shampoo your hair once or twice a week and for extra lustre, add the juice of one lemon to your rinsing water. If it's convenient, brush your hair dry in the sun.

Power Mower Tune-Up Tips

It's so easy to keep a power mower operating at peak efficiency if you give it just a little attention regularly. And you don't need to be a graduate of a Technical College, if you take the steps suggested by an authority on the subject.

Roy E. Paur, Service Manager of Jacobsen Manufacturing Company, Racine, Wisconsin, one of the oldest and largest power mower manufacturers in the business, has this to say:

If you're getting the mower out of mothballs ready for a season's steady use, the first step is to wipe or brush off the accumulated dirt and dust from the mower and engine.

(1) The oil bath filter on the carburetor should be cleaned and refilled to avoid ring, piston and connecting rod wear.

(2) Remove and clean, or replace the sparkplug, and set the electrode gap to the width recommended in the engine instruction book. Clean the cylinder head fins with a stiff wire brush.

(3) If you are tuning up the mower for the first time after winter storage, discard any fuel left in the mower gas tank or gas cans. The tank should be refilled with fresh fuel. With a 2-cycle engine use a mixture of regular gasoline and non-detergent oil. 4-cycle engines require regular gas in the tank, and in the engine crank-case. During the season check the oil level in the crank-case regularly, as you would your auto engine. With 2-cycle engines, the fresh oil is added to the gas supply, with no crank-case oil to bother about.

One of the most important points, according to Mr. Paur is the proper adjustment of cutting units for both reel and rotary mowers. Test the reel type cutting mechanism by holding a piece of paper between the bed knife and the reel, revolving the reel slowly by hand. Each blade should cut the paper along the entire width of the bed knife. When adjusting the bed knife to the reel, avoid excessive tightness which can cause undue wear.

Rotary cutting bars or blades can be sharpened with a file. While working on the rotary cutting unit, make sure the sparkplug wire is disconnected until you are ready to start mower.

Hospital Fund
Aids Patients

Officers and directors of Hospital Aid, Inc., were recently elected at the annual meeting of the association held at the YMCA, Frederick. Those elected and now serving are: James H. Grove, president; Mrs. Emmert R. Bow-lus, vice president; Benjamin B. Rosenstock, vice president; G. Frank Thomas, vice president; Mrs. Mary Jane Winpegler, secretary; Benjamin L. Shuff, treasurer; Clyde Roney, Jacob Goldberg, and Richard F. Simmons, executive committee, and the following directors, Donald B. Rice, Harry Moss, Ira F. Ray, Admiral Allen Quynn, Dr. E. P. Thomas, Mrs. Basil Lewis, and G. Frank Thomas.

Hospital Aid, Inc., incorporated in 1951, is a purely local and distinctive organization that has accomplished its objective in a most creditable manner. The purpose of the association as set forth in its bylaws and constitution "to lend money for payment of hospital bills to residents of the area served by the Frederick Memorial Hospital, who are neither well-to-do nor on relief, without interest and publicity, repayable on convenient terms to conduct its operations and functions as a non-profit enterprise, and to improve hospital facilities in the Frederick, Md., area."

During the fiscal year 1955-56 more than 50 loans were made totaling more than $5500. These were well distributed over the area served by the hospital and enabled these people to promptly meet hospital expenses (in most instances emergency cases) and thus provide to this extent operating money for the hospital, otherwise lost or delayed.

Since its inception more than 200 loans have been affected totaling more than $28,000. Because of the screening process (consultation with doctors, employers, and applicants) the losses to the association have been comparatively few and satisfactory. It is expected that there would naturally be some losses in loans of this type but these losses are far overshadowed by the humane handling of them. Appreciation has often been expressed by those who have had occasion to use this service and quite a few have returned for additional loans for purposes similar to the original requests.

No concentrated drive for membership has ever been made and about 175 people and groups are retaining their membership by continuing donations. Some of the work has been retarded by lack of funds, and it is hoped and believed that increased interest in the work of the association will permit a greater help to those who prove themselves worthy of hospital loans.

Farmers Want
New Wheat Bill

Numerous bills have been introduced in the House of Representatives to exempt wheat fed or used for seed on the farm from marketing quotas.

The Farm Bureau representative, Frank Woolley, told a House Agricultural Committee "that the provision of law which denies a farmer the right to grow wheat for feed on his own farm has created an intolerable situation. This is not only cruel but is the kind of government action that is deeply resented and may ultimately result in the farm program being discredited."

The House Agricultural Subcommittee has given its approval to legislation for easing restrictions on wheat planting. This would apply to feed wheat, and would not effect wheat planted for sale.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Philippians 4:10-13.
For freedom Christ has set us free. (Galatians 5:1, RSV.)

Once I heard a church school teacher say, "There was a time when I became so tense in trying to get across the lesson in one brief hour that the Holy Spirit could not make contact through me. Now I have learned to relax."

That teacher has come a long way in finding the freedom for which Christ has set us free. No matter what our work is, our liberty lies not in the negative but in the positive. Our Lord has freed us from ourselves for Himself. Satisfying peace comes from inside for the outside.

When Christ dwells in us, purpose and responsibility are inseparable. Personal tension and fear are not compatible with Christian liberty and fulfillment of purpose and duty. We are free to plan and prepare, and also at liberty to relax and to achieve. It is not we who give ourselves such freedom; Christ gives it to us.

Prayer

Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the liberty which Thou hast given us through the gift of Thy Son. Grant that we may enter into the fullness of Christ. Help us to follow Thy purpose and to find Thy peace. In the name of our Savior we pray. Amen.

The Living Is Easy?

"Summertime — and the living is easy..." So says the Gershwin song. But the statistics don't agree.

Vacation time which should give us new life, actually takes the lives of nearly 20,000 people every summer. Automobile accidents kill 10,000; drownings, 2,650; accidental falls, 5,000; excessive heat, 1,000; boating accidents, 600. A far greater number are either temporarily or permanently injured by these causes as well as by fire works, sunburn, hunting and mountain climbing accidents, and a dozen others.

Much of this misery and massacre can be prevented. Before setting out on your vacation trip, have the car thoroughly checked, particularly brakes and headlights. Plan your driving schedule so that you don't have to cover too many miles in a day. The tired driver is an inefficient driver. The driver who falls asleep at the wheel is a potential killer. Obey all traffic regulations. They were made to protect your life.

Once you've arrived at your vacation destination, remember that even though the scenery is different, you're not. If you've been sitting at a desk for the past 50 weeks, don't try to be Tarzan overnight. Too much exercise can be far worse than none, bringing with it anything from sore muscles to death by heart attack. Even if you're a topnotch swimmer, don't swim alone in unfamiliar waters. Unexpected currents have taken the lives of the strongest and most expert.

The sun is good for you, but too much can cause painful, disfiguring burns. In extreme cases of exposure, it can even kill. So take it in small doses at first, using a good suntan oil and wearing a hat in the mid-day sun.

All this shouldn't mean that you set out on your vacation full of fear and foreboding. Obviously, millions of vacationists have fun without risking sickness or death. But whether they're at the mountains or the shore, camping out in a tent or staying at a luxury hotel, they all have one thing in common, common sense. Let's try to make it even commoner this summer. Then we can really mean it when we write home "Having wonderful time. Wish you were here."

Lightning Blamed for 37% of All Farm Fires

The greatest damage to rural property, year after year, is caused by bolts from the sky, according to the Lightning Protection Institute. Thirty seven per cent of all farm fires result from lightning strokes, the Institute says. The annual reported damage exceeds $52,000,000—when totaled to include cases of unreported damage, the sum is estimated to exceed $100,000,000.

This 40'x149' barn is safe from lightning damage because, the Institute says, "no building with a properly installed and designed protection system has ever been reported damaged by lightning." Rods in illustration have been retouched—they wouldn't show from the distance this photo was taken.

Besides damage or destruction of farm homes, many thousands of tons of foodstuffs, worth tens of millions of dollars, are lost in fires which level barns, granaries, elevators, and warehouses. Moreover, of the more than 600 lives lost yearly in lightning strokes, the great majority are in rural areas. Still further evidence of the destructiveness of this natural phenomenon, the Institute continues, is its No. 1 position as a cause of forest fires, and its heavy toll of livestock as evidenced by the killing of 504 sheep when a single stroke hit a Utah pasture.

Pointing out that the average property in the U. S. is a target for 52 electrical storms yearly and that these can hit most anytime, the Institute advises farmers and owners of country homes to check their lightning protection facilities. Existing systems may have been made unreliable during repair or remodeling of the protected building.

For unprotected homes and other buildings, the lightning group advises, short and slender lightning rods that are barely visible atop the roof are available. With new concealed or semi-concealed methods of installing conductors and grounding cables, the rods are barely visible.

Literature and information on lightning protection systems and other pertinent data are available without cost. Write to the Lightning Protection Institute, 616 41st Ave. North, Minneapolis 12, Minn.

EMMITSBURG

At the foot of the Blue Ridge mountain

Near the Mason-Dixon Line

With its center marked by a fountain

And a climate healthy and fine,

Lies a little town on the level

One not unknown to fame,

Where all whom you meet are civil

And Emmitsburg is its name.

Though far from the hurry and bustle

Of the larger cities and towns,

The visitor finds he must hustle

To match the dresses and gowns

That are worn on the streets by the ladies

Of whom there are many and fair

And a very fine lot of young kiddies

Who with the best will compare.

The tourist need travel no farther

In searching for comfort and rest

For here there is nothing to bother

Accommodations are the best.

With the Emmit House at the west end

And Slagle's Hotel on the Square

Your worries and troubles are lessened;

There is room enough to spare

On the mountain slope in the distance

Mt. St. Mary's College is seen

Where with earnestness zeal and persistence

Young men seek for honors to win

While close by is St. Joseph College

Where young ladies strive to excel,

In pursuit of culture and knowledge

Obtainable there so well.

And if with the cares and sorrows

Of life you are depressed

Of worries because of tomorrow

Have caused your spirit unrest

Then this for your consolation

Fine churches you will find

Where you may make oblation

If you are so inclined.

Looking Ahead
...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

Attention American High Schools!

"The history of liberty is the history of the limitation of governmental power, not the increase of it. When we resist concentration of power we are resisting the process of death, because the concentration of power is always what precedes the destruction of human liberties." President Woodrow Wilson said this. The founding fathers of our nation said it, perhaps in slightly different words, over and over again as they worked upon the construction of our Republican form of government, dispersing the powers into three branches, hemming them in with many safeguards, and retaining most of the governmental powers to the states.

It would be comforting to know that every high school boy and girl in America can recite these words of Woodrow Wilson on government limitation and have a clear understanding of their meaning. Unfortunately, it just isn't so. Thousands of our high schools do not offer citizenship education, American history, American government, American economics. A few decades ago the textbooks and courses in these subjects began to disappear. Other textbooks and courses were substituted. Fewer and fewer children studied American history and American government; and very few indeed were taught the great advantages of our system, parents have been asking for American citizenship courses. Teachers and educational administrators generally have been anxious to establish such courses. But they found that textual material and course outlines were not readily available. Hundreds of parents and teachers in all parts of the nation have written to ask that I direct them to proper materials. This has been a problem nationwide.

For a number of years, however, the Harding Academy which is the high school branch of Harding College has been teaching American citizenship and developing materials and techniques. Superintendent Perry Mason has recently published high school course outlines in American Government, American History, Civics, and World History. For the benefit of the parents and educators searching for such information, I will discuss these outlines in this and subsequent columns.

Teaching American Government

The Harding Academy outline for American Government begins with the Woodrow Wilson quote on the danger of concentration of power in government, and says in its introduction: "The United States of America was founded by men who loved liberty and prized it above all earthly possessions. . . . Today we have many people within our own household who would change 'The American Way.' They would make the State all-powerful and subordinate the individual. If they were to prevail, that kind of government would soon destroy individual freedom, in fact, all the individual rights we now have."

Goals to be developed in each student: (1) A knowledge of the American Constitution and gratitude to the men who wrote it; (2) An understanding of the form and functions of national, state, and local governments in the United States; (3) An understanding that liberty is by law and that respect for law must be inculcated in the citizenry until it becomes a national virtue; (4) A knowledge that our whole concept of democracy rests upon a recognition of the worth and dignity of man; (5) A sense of responsibility for the demands of citizenship in a free country.

Course Content
A list of further desirable basic understandings is given, and a list of necessary supporting skills which should be developed through field trips.

outside observations, newspaper reading, etc. The suggested course content is: (1) The Development of the State; (2) Our Federal System of Government; (3) State Governments; (4) Local Governments; (5) Principles of American Government; (6) The United States in World Affairs.

Basic text for the course is American Government (1955), Magruder-McClenaghan, Allyn and Bacon, Inc., Dallas. A list of reference books, suggested newspaper and magazine reading, pamphlets, and audio-visual aids is given. Among the films used in this course by Harding Academy are the first three of the National Education Program's "The American Adventure" series. Teachers or interested parents may write for a copy of the outline.

Helpful Hints For Homemakers

Cotton Fits His Summer Clothes Needs

The clothes a man owns are not necessarily what he would prefer if he could buy exactly what he wanted. Ask the man on the job or the man at leisure about his summer shirts and slacks and he'll mention cotton first. He owns more slacks of cotton than any other fiber. Practically all his business shirts and most of his sport shirts are cotton.

These conclusions, says Miss Lavonia Hilbert, clothing specialist at the University of Maryland, are based on a personal interview survey conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Over 2,000 men, 16 years old or older, were asked for their preference in several summer wardrobe items.

Cotton was by far the favorite for shirts and for Bermuda shorts. Cotton also edged out rayon and wool for top preference for summer slacks. Swimming trunks were preferred in knitted fabric.

But for two other important items in summer clothing—suits and sport coats or jackets—wool took the lead. Men owned more summer suits and jackets in wool than any other fiber, with cotton and rayon second.

When asked why they liked cotton for shirts and slacks, they said, "It's cool." Also, in the order named, they mentioned good laundering qualities, durability, long wear and appearance.

As for wool—preferred for summer suits and sport coats, and a runner-up for slacks—its good wearing qualities seemed to count most. Appearance rated high in the vote for wool. "Looks good," "Keeps press," "Holds shape," were among the frequent comments noted.

The summer wardrobe of the average man as revealed by the survey showed most men owned summer sport shirts and business shirts, also summer slacks. About four in 10 owned summer suits, and three in 10 summer sport coats. Half owned and had used swimming trunks during the past year but only one in 10 reported Bermuda shorts. Men in the larger cities were most likely to have all these items of summer clothing.

Navy used amphibious assault tactics to build two of seven American bases in the Antarctic. "Frogmen" blasting underwater obstructions wore special cold-water immersion suits.

Underwater broadcasting has been developed by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, Silver Spring, Md., to tell what happens inside a mine before it blows up an enemy ship. The mine automatically transmits the data to a monitor radio nearby.

People, Spots In The News

"Never had an accident before. Never been in trouble with the law. Always tried to do right by my family and friends . . . they'll tell you. Now I've killed a child—just by taking a foolish chance."

Every day it happens, often just like that, to drivers who thought accidents happen only to the other fellow.

Remember this. No one expects to meet death on the road. Certainly no one expects to be guilty of causing it. Yet, last year 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents.

Thousands of drivers—many who never had or expected to have an accident—found themselves guilty of killing someone on the highway. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

- 1 Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
- 2 Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Some anglers make the mistake of thinking that bass are never line- or leader-shy. The fact is they often are, especially where the water is very clear, or hard fished, making them cautious, states Sports Afield Magazine's Angling Editor Jason Lucas. Another point to keep in mind is that any lure, except that of the purely revolving type, will have at least slightly better action with no stiff wire leader ahead of it.

On the other hand, where there are sharp-toothed species, pike, pickerel, muskellunge, walleye—don't make the mistake of not using a wire leader. Even though you're fishing for bass, or even crappies, you're sure to hook one of these occasionally, and if it's a big one—the very one you're most anxious to land—he's about certain to saw through your light monofilament, and escape with your lure.

Lucas says that he never uses a wire leader longer than six inches, and for smaller, sharp-toothed fish, he uses only four inches. He has never had a fish cut his line above these shorter leaders.

Every once in a while bass have a trick of hitting a shiny wire leader and get away unhooked. If this should happen to you, try an old leader, dull or even rusty, and it will usually put an end to such nonsense.

When you're fishing for bass where sharp-toothed fish are present, it will sometimes pay off to use a long monofilament leader with a short wire next to the lure; thus there isn't much visible stuff to keep the more cautious fish from striking.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

Two years ago—on June 30, 1955—the Second Hoover Commission reported to the Congress that it had found enough possible savings in Government operations "to enable the balancing of the budget and reduction of taxes."

This finding was included in the commission's 20th and final report, which was submitted after an intensive 21-month study of everything from Federal paperwork to water resources and power.

It was a challenging climax to an endeavor which previously had produced a series of recommendations on 497 specific points. First Commission's Work

As one of the persons instrumental in the creation of the Second Hoover Commission as well as its predecessor, I would like to observe this anniversary period by discussing the work that has been accomplished.

The First Hoover Commission, known officially as the First Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch, worked from 1947 through 1949 on plans for the reorganization of departments and agencies.

Approximately 75 per cent of the proposals made by this group are now in effect.

Administration Approval

The recommendations of the Second Hoover Commission were directed to removing roadblocks to effective organization and reduction of expenditures.

According to information I have received from the White House, the status of these suggestions is as follows:

(1) The Administration has accepted 74 per cent of the proposals in whole or in substantial part;

(2) Of these recommendations, 37 per cent already been implemented, and action is currently being taken on an additional 39 per cent.

Annual Savings

It is impossible to give an accurate estimate of the savings which will result from acceptance of the Second Hoover Commission's ideas, but it is generally agreed that they should amount to several billion dollars per year.

Such savings are obviously the most healthy for our economy, since they stem from increased efficiency rather than from budget cuts made on an across-the-board basis.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman
DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—I was happy to meet so many of my constituents at the public hearings held by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Rockville last week. The hearings were part of an Army Engineer Corps survey of the Potomac River ordered by Congress.

I testified in favor of a series of small dams which would better serve the purposes of water conservation, flood control, pollution abatement, and recreation than would high level hydro-electric dams.

It ought to be apparent that a high level dam would soon be obsolete as a source of electric power. With the rapid development of atomic power as a means of production of electric power, high level dams will become expensive White Elephants. I can see no justification for the construction of dams for the production of public hydro-electric power in the Potomac Valley.

The only people in favor of the dam are those from Eastern and other sections of Maryland who hope to get cheap electric power. The taxpayer would have to make up the difference between rates and normal fair rates charged by a properly regulated private public utility company. It is also interesting to note that the people who favor these high level dams live in a part of Maryland that would not be damaged by the dams.

Small businessmen will be interested in the House passing and sending to the Senate a bill to make the Small Business Administration a permanent agency of the Government. The bill increases the authorization for loans and reduces the interest rate.

I have introduced a bill which revises the Lobbying Act of 1946. My bill is a companion to one in the Senate and is the result of the work of the Special Senate Committee to investigate lobbying.

A super camera that can take pictures at the rate of two million frames per second is used by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory, Silver Spring, Md., to show exactly what happens when an explosive explodes.

Mother Seton Canonization Believed Near

In Rome and in Emmitsburg, the life of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton is being carefully studied. Her cause for beatification, introduced in 1890 by James Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, is now being seriously considered at the Vatican.

In Emmitsburg, facts about her life are being compiled at the college she founded 148 years ago. The administration of St. Joseph College is undertaking a complete history of the school in anticipation of its sesquicentennial in 1959.

Mother Seton was born in New York City, daughter of an anatomist and professor at Columbia University. She was converted to Roman Catholicism when she was a young woman and left New York forever.

Together with a handful of companions she arrived in Emmitsburg in 1809. Here she established the first free school for Catholic girls in the United States on the site of what is now Saint Joseph College.

She and seven Catholic sisters at the school formed the Sister of Charity of Saint Joseph—the embryo of a religious community which now numbers 10,000 members in the Western Hemisphere.

In 1817 the institution was granted a charter by the Maryland Legislature. Girls came to the school from states as far distant as Louisiana and California, and from foreign countries.

In 1850, the American community of Mother Seton was affiliated with the daughters of Charity of Saint Vincent de Paul in Paris. The name of the French order was adopted.

During the Civil War, both Union and Confederate troops were encamped on the grounds of the school. From the cupola of one of the buildings, Union officers surveyed the terrain of Gettysburg, only 11 miles away.

In 1902 an amendment to the charter of Saint Joseph was approved by the State Legislature permitting the granting of college degrees.

Today the college is comprised mostly of large, modern buildings on a 600-acre campus. The work of historical research goes on in an efficient library less than 10 years old.

The smaller buildings Mother Seton used, however, remain and will add to the historical interest of the events planned for the spring and fall of 1959.

FINAL ACCOUNTING

The first and final account of Ruth B. Gillelan, executrix of the will of Rhoda H. Gillelan, filed this week in Orphan's Court, Frederick, showed a total of $598.70; disbursements of $1,823.11 for an overpaid estate of $1,224.41. This from $8,500 appraised real estate, left a balance of $7,275.59. Distributed to Ruth B. Gillelan, sister, personal property appraised at $171 and promissory note for $400.00.

The word salary comes from "salarium" meaning salt money, since Roman soldiers received part of their wages in salt.

Turnpike Bonds

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 4—Since my return from the South, I have been making a study of Turnpike Bonds and other non-taxable investments. Casual readers of this column may not realize that non-taxable bonds are around their lowest prices for a long number of years. As an illustration, State of Massachusetts highly rated bonds carrying the full faith and credit of the State, free of all Federal and State taxes, which sold at par in 1950 can now be bought around 65. This is the lowest price in their history.

Reasons For The Decline

This decline is due to the constantly increasing interest rates of the past several years. There is no other logical reason. While the stock market has been climbing since 1949 (when the Dow-Jones Industrial Average was around 165, in contrast to today's level of around 500), bonds have been declining. Yet the bond market is just as susceptible to the Law of Action and Reaction as the stock market. When stocks are clearly in a bear movement and money rates decline, bonds will again go up in price. Therefore, non-taxable bonds may be in the position today that the blue chips were eight years ago when they were selling at a third of their present prices.

published in some newspaper published in Frederick County for three successive weeks prior to 6th day of July, 1957.

The Surviving Executor's Report states the Amount of Sales to be Two Thousand, Two Hundred Dollars ($2,200.00).

Certain banks and other institutions which are large bond buyers state that there are reasons other than increased interest rates why municipal bonds are selling so low. Due to the possibility of World War III, some of the savings institutions have been selling the bonds of large cities, especially industrial cities which could be targets for bombing. At the same time, these institutions have found it very difficult to sell the unlisted bonds of small cities and towns, even though they are perfectly safe and yield around 4% income-tax-free.

What About Turnpike Bonds?

I believe Turnpike Bonds should be a logical exception to the above situation. They have both security and marketability. The conservative financial institutions say they do not like them because they are revenue bonds, dependent upon the earnings of the turnpike. Yet, every corporation bond is a revenue bond, depending upon earnings. The non-taxable feature of turnpike bonds, however, far exceeds the slight risk of declining earnings. Of all the turnpike bonds, only one issue, secured by the West Virginia Turnpike which "starts nowhere and ends nowhere," has failed to make good. I admit that with rationing of gasoline in the event of World War III, turnpikes would temporarily be in trouble; but so would almost everything else. No bombing, however, could materially damage a modern turnpike.

Recently, the Boston & Maine Railroad canceled all its commuter business because of a strike by the maintenance men. It would take a strike of several months' duration by Turnpike maintenance men before their services would be missed. Practically the only necessary employees of a Turnpike Authority are those who collect the tolls. And I cannot imagine these men striking. Turnpikes are therefore less liable than most investments to suffer from labor troubles.

The Automobile Industry

One of today's fastest growing industries is the Automobile Industry, and our turnpikes must prosper along with it. Not only are new cars put out by the millions each year, but boys in a very old Ford must pay the same toll as those riding in new Cadillacs! Everyone wants to save time, and also it is very much safer driving on a six-lane modern turnpike.

These turnpikes can never be built for less than their present cost. Therefore, the Government in its New Road-Building Program, should be glad to take over any of these turnpikes and then pay the bondholders in full. I am also told that the present thought in Washington is to spend funds on widening and straightening present two-lane highways to make them four-lane and six-lane roads, rather than putting all the money into new turnpikes. Eighty per cent of the accidents today occur on the ordinary two-lane highways. Furthermore, most of these accidents occur on unnecessary hills and curves. The most inconsistent investors today are those who are buying taxable General Motors stock and refusing to buy non-taxable Turnpike Bonds!

State TB Rate

Ranks Eighth

Sixth highest in TB cases—eighth highest in TB deaths! This is how Maryland ranks in the national tuberculosis picture today according to the latest statistical report just released by the U. S. Public Health Service.

This revealing information was disclosed this week by William A. Rowe, president of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, who said that in both categories Maryland ranked well above the national average.

The USPHS report gives the final tuberculosis case and death rate data for 1955 for the Continental United States.

During the period covered by the report there were 2,062 new cases of TB reported in Maryland for a case rate of 65.5 per 100,000 population, the 6th highest in the nation. The national case rate for the same period was 46.4 per 100,000 population. In the same year there were 325 deaths from TB in Maryland. This gave Maryland a death rate of 11.8 per 100,000 population, the 8th highest in the nation which had a death rate of 9.1 per 100,000.

Mr. Rowe emphasized that these figures portray a contrasting story of great progress and continuing need. The TB death rate has declined sharply in Maryland in recent years, although the case rate has fallen off at a much slower pace. However, he pointed out, Maryland continues to hold the unenviable high national ranking it has held for many years.

This points up the need, Mr. Rowe added, for maintaining a strong and vigorous tuberculosis control program throughout the State. The Maryland Tuberculosis Association, with funds derived from its annual sale of Christmas Seals, conducts a program of education, detection, research, rehabilitation and special services to TB patients in an expanding effort with the city, state, and local health departments to bring about the complete control and eventual eradication of TB in Maryland. The first step in this program is the early detection of the disease. A periodic chest X-ray examination of every adult in Maryland would uncover the many unknown cases of TB which are today the greatest source of infection. For the individual victim of TB, early discovery means early recovery.

In riots at Alexandria, Egypt, U. S. Marines were the first troops to reach the center of the city after the bombardment on July 14, 1882.

Variety Club Sponsors Circus

The Greatest Show on Earth in its brand new dress of the 1957 edition, comes to Baltimore's Memorial Stadium July 6 thru 10 with performances twice daily except Sunday at 2 and 8:45 p. m. It is the streamlined, breath-taking show of Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, being sponsored by Baltimore Variety Club, with proceeds for the Variety's Children's Clinic of Lutheran Hospital.

Man-eating beasts snarl under the crack of a trainer's whip. Steel-nerved daredevils walk in slender wires high above the audience's heads. Trapezes artists fly through the air. Men walk on their heads. Chimpanzees delight the crowds with new brands of monkey business.

The four spectacles, in which hundreds of beautifully costumed performers participate include "Coronation of Mother Goose" with famous story book characters coming to life; "Cherry Blossom Time" with 60 stunning girls in an aerial ballet; "Saratoga Racing Ball of 1913," a nostalgic reminder of the gay and colorful racing days at Saratoga, N. Y., and "Carnival in Venezuela," a glamorous and glittering finale with hundreds of girl performers marching in rainbow-hued magnificence. The most beautiful costumes ever to be seen in a circus are worn by the girls in this elaborate spectacle.

In addition to all these features, there are 100 clowns with new antics that keep the crowds in an uproar.

Thurmont Hit By Hail Storm

A severe hail and wind storm with "hailstones as large as marbles" struck the Thurmont area last Sunday afternoon at about 3:30 p. m. The sudden storm lasted for 10 minutes, tearing down tree limbs all around the town and uprooting at least one telephone pole at Loys, Thurmont. Police Chief Arnold Simmons reported Monday evening.

Simmons said there was no reported damage to homes or other buildings and no one was injured in the flash storm.

Pony Show At Timonium

The 13th annual Maryland Pony Show will be held at the state fair grounds at Timonium on Saturday and Sunday, July 13-14, for the benefit of the Kerner Hospital for Crippled Children.

This event, the premier Pony and Junior Show of the Maryland Horse Show circuit, is one of the largest in the U. S. and will draw hundreds of the finest horses and ponies from many states on the Eastern Seaboard. Children up to the ages of 18 years will be competing for prizes, money and trophies totaling more than $2000 in more than 53 events.

In order to provide spectators with a closer view of the show, the committee has erected a large show ring on the infield of the Timonium race track with seating at the ringside so that spectators will be able to see events in the ring and on the outside hunting course, many of which will be run simultaneously.

As one of the aims and objectives of the Maryland Pony Show is to encourage the interest of children in riding, the show will feature a complete maiden and novice pony division and a novice championship.

Budget-Price House From New Homes Guide

Architect Jan Reiner, who designed this compact little house shown in the 37th edition of NEW HOMES GUIDE magazine, planned it as a home to be built on a budget. The lines are simple—almost square in plan—to avoid the extra construction expenses of angles and corners. Still everything necessary for modern livability has been included.

The kitchen has a living-dining space and a built-in barbecue. The living room is quite spacious and the second bedroom can double as a den or study. House area is 980 sq. ft. For blueprint information, write NEW HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1952, 621 N. Dearborn, Chicago 10.

A 16th birthday is pretty important to most girls—and Nancy Priest, of Washington, D. C. is no exception. The big chocolate "16" on the cake is proof of its importance in the Priest household. Helping out with the candle-lighting ceremony is Nancy's mother, Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, the Treasurer of the United States. Nancy has often been reminded that she shares the same anniversary with the Series E Savings Bond, and it is fitting that her gifts should have included the two U. S. Savings Bonds shown in the lower right-hand corner. Like most girls her age, Nancy is looking forward to college, and her Bonds will come in handy to help out with the expenses. Many thousands of students are in college today because their parents regularly bought Savings Bonds in their names—some for all 16 years.

Mrs. Bruce Wolff Dies After Short Illness

Mrs. Dorothy B. Wolff, 50, wife of Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, surgeon at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, died last Saturday morning at 4:25 o'clock at the University of Maryland Hospital, Baltimore, where she had been a patient since June 17.

She had become ill while serving as secretary at the Gettysburg Horse Show at Twin Lakes Park Sunday afternoon, June 16. Removed to the Warner Hospital, she was moved next day to the University of Maryland Hospital when it was found that she had suffered a ruptured aneurism in the brain.

She had seemed to recover somewhat and then suffered a second hemorrhage on Saturday morning. She lapsed into unconsciousness and never rallied.

Active as an officer and member in many organizations she had established, she was the chairman and principal photographer for the "Photo-Babe" project of the Warner Hospital Auxiliary and took polaroid pictures of hundreds of infants born at the hospital since the project was begun several years ago. ## What's Happened to the Second "R"?

We are graduating a record-breaking number of bright young hopefuls this year—over 2,000,000 from high school and some 800,000 from college! Another 30,000,000 grade school children will move up a notch.

They all will be better educated than ever before. Research techniques and subjects once considered "college level" are now part of grade and high school courses: philosophy, language, physics, advanced mathematics. In college, specialists trained for every imaginable field are answering American needs for engineers and professionals.

Yet paradoxically, millions of Americans cannot write their own names legibly!

"What has happened to the second 'R'?" asks the Handwriting Foundation of Washington, D. C. "Poor handwriting annually is costing us tens of millions of dollars in lost business, and undeliverable mail is heavy enough to sink a battleship. We are a nation of illegible scribblers. Education has not taught many of us how to write legibly."

Americans who can recite everything from "Casey at the Bat" to Shakespeare, and who demonstrate on quiz shows what knowledge they have acquired, never could write down all the facts legibly.

The Foundation, a non-profit group of educators and businessmen, is helping schools evaluate their methods, so that the present trend toward specialization does not neglect the cultivation of legible handwriting. But even adults long out of school can improve their own writing. Here are six steps that will bring immediate improvement:

1. Watch out for tricky letters. Close the loop in letters like "a", "g", "d". Don't close up looped letters like "e", "l", "f". Don't loop non-looped strokes like "i", "t", "d".
2. Be careful of "twin" numbers. Don't make a "7" look like a "1", or your "3" look like a "5".
3. Sit properly when writing.

Keep erect with shoulders slightly forward, hips back in seat, facing desk squarely. Keep both forearms on the desk, feet flat on the floor, and place paper directly in front of you at a slant.

4. Avoid tiring the hand. Keep palm down, and wrist flat. Hold pencil or pen about an inch above the point between thumb and side of second finger, near base of the fingernail. Lightly place finger about an inch from the point. Don't turn the hand too far to the side, and tip the pencil or pen toward the shoulder of your writing arm.
5. Keep your writing tools in order. That includes paper, ink, pens, pencils, memo pads and erasers.
6. Score yourself. Check your letter formation, slant, spaces between words, alignment, margins and arrangements, and overall neatness.

Split-Level Version of 'Living Core' House from New Homes Guide

Architect Rudolph A. Matern, who according to editors of NEW HOMES GUIDE magazine perhaps has more houses built from his designs than any other architect, here interprets his "Living Core" idea in a split-level house. The design, featured in NHG's 37th edition, has an exterior with contemporary overtones, and has an extraordinary lot of room in its 2,011 sq. ft. of floor space. The living-dining-kitchen-breakfast room-foyer "core" forms the mid-level at grade. This is the same five-area combination which architect Matern has used as the base for houses of many designs—one floor ranch or modern, two-story, story and a half, and variations of all of these. Around this "living core," says NEW HOMES GUIDE, can be built any style or type of house, for the requirements of any family, in any size or price category. In this split-level version, the upper level has four bedrooms and two full baths. The master bedroom has a dressing area and its own private bath. The lower level has the unusual feature of a garden lounge with pool opening onto a covered porch. Another "extra" is a small multi-use room off the two-car garage. Both the lower and middle level have lavatories. For information on how to obtain blueprints, and their cost, write to NEW HOMES GUIDE, Dept. 1901, 621 N. Dearborn, Chicago 10, Ill.

Right floor plan shows how readily the "core" is adapted to split-level design. All areas are reached directly from the foyer with a minimum of hallways. Bedrooms are fully isolated.

Dr. Flory Will Inspect School Children

A man who was a Frederick County dentist back in the days when the only portable dental unit owned by the county had to be thrown in the back of a private car for transportation and was pumped like a bicycle to obtain power for the drill, was renamed head of the dental clinic of the Frederick County Health Dept. by County Health Officer Dr. Forbes H. Burgess this week.

Dr. A. D. Flory of Thurmont, volunteered for the position of Frederick County Health Dept. dentist last week when Dr. Burgess made a personal appeal to the Frederick County Dental Society to save the $9000 modern dental trailer which the county now owns but which has not been in use since Dr. E. Lipwood Myers resigned as Frederick County dentist in the spring of 1955.

The dental trailer, which contains a complete X-ray dark room, hot and cold running water, heating and all of the equipment and conveniences of a modern dental office, was paid for by a $7000 contribution from the Frederick County Dental Society and a $2,000 allotment from the Maryland State Health Dept. immediately after World War II.

But it had been out of use for so long that the Frederick County Commissioners were thinking of selling or renting the trailer to a private dentist before it became useless by being idle so long.

Dr. Burgess presented this problem to the Dental Society last week and Dr. Flory volunteered to work on a part-time basis, two or three days a week, during school hours.
