It's really a sad commentary on our capital punishment set-up when a 15-year-old boy has to pay the death penalty for a crime he committed. Naturally the charge was murder. I really didn't get to read the details or account of the trial but I understand that it was a really vicious thing and involved the brutal slaying of an aged druggist in Philadelphia. If the sentence is carried out it will be the first time a youth of that tender age will have paid with his life for such a crime in Pennsylvania, and perhaps the nation. Regardless of the conditions under which the crime was committed or how inhuman and bestial the action was I don't feel that death is the right solution. Had this happened in some other states a life sentence would have been meted out as capital punishment by death has been abolished in many states. I wonder if the fact that the lad is a Negro has anything to do with the death sentence? After seeing pictures of the integration debacle in some of the southern and midwest states I believe anything is possible where human beings are concerned. It's really enough to make one lose faith in his fellow man. Even vicious war-torturers aren't a bit more bestial than some of the acts of violence being committed in the South, right at this time. There is no use in getting all riled up over these disgusting deprecations because eventually they will cease and right will finally win out over the might—as it always does. Tyrants, dictators and vicious mobs always wind up on the losing side and I feel that sometime in the future this integration of the two races will be settled so that both sides can enjoy life in peace and harmony, and respect once again.

Despite all the attempts by leaders of the states, and civic groups, and the law enforcement agencies to make Maryland beautiful there are still many individuals who are living in the dark ages as far as sanitation and beauty is concerned. There are numerous individuals who still persist in getting into their cars and riding out of town to dump garbage and refuse along the roadides. Latest litter complaint in the county was received this week concerning this problem right in the Emmitsburg District. The offense is a crime as well as disgrace in my estimation and every attempt should be made to apprehend these offenders. There is a garbage collector for this district and we should be thankful that even though it does cost us a small sum of money. The complaint lodged with the County Roads Board this week concerned the Old Quarry Road near St. Anthony's. This land belongs to tax-paying citizens and is private property but some individuals persist in heaping junk on this private land. It's a pity this act couldn't be repeated in reverse fashion, the offender being able to return the garbage right back to the home of the offender. This would break up the practice in short order, I'll guarantee you. This sort of thing isn't necessary folks and it's up to everyone of us to see that it is terminated.

This appears to be a complaint column this week so now that I've gone so far I have another one for you. This one concerns the killing of game out of season. A complaint came to me this week that a certain farmer had his spring house wrecked by a hunter. I don't quite have the exact details on the matter, but it goes something like this: Seems the hunter had wounded a rabbit and the injured animal sought refuge in the spring house. The illegal hunter traced the animal to the spring house but somehow just couldn't get into the place to retrieve his quarry. He deliberately demolished everything that stood in his way to accomplish the feat of "rescuing" the rabbit. The damage was not discovered until the debris eventually clogged the water system and the owner investigated. Still another instance involved a squirrel hunter who shot so close to a house that workmen on the shelter had to

Increase In Phone Rates Is Denied

Telephone service rates will not be raised, not for the present at least, it was announced this week by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Company of Maryland.

The announcement came after the Public Service Commission had denied the increase which would have resulted in about 90c a month hike in local telephone bills.

The utility immediately announced that its planned wider calling range service plan would not go into effect as previously announced and the following announcement from W. G. Morrel, vice president of the company was made:

"Naturally the Company is disappointed that their rate proposal cannot go into effect immediately under bond. We will not be able to proceed at once with the service improvements and the plan for wider range calling we had hoped to put into effect and the greatly needed rate relief will be delayed for several months. However, we are confident that the evidence to be presented at the forthcoming hearing will fully justify all of our rate proposals."

C. of C. To Meet Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Chamber of Commerce will be held next Tuesday evening, September 17, at 8:30 p. m. in the Fire Hall. All members are urged to attend. Attention is called to the new meeting night which from now on will be the third Tuesday of the month instead of the third Monday.

YORK FAIR DRAWING TO CLOSE

With names like Bob Hope, Webb Pierce, Julius LaRosa and Ted Mack sharing top billing, patrons of the York Inter-State Fair, Sept. 10-14, have a wide range of entertainment features from which to plan their visit to America's most complete fair.

That Samuel S. Lewis, president and general manager, is enthusiastic about the talent lineup is understandable. Never before in the history of York Fair have so many top names from show business been represented.

Friday will be fun day, with Bob Hope dishing out quips and laughs. Just returned from Europe, where he made a new movie, "Paris Holiday," Hope can be expected to run the gamut of comedy situations as he directs his barbed gags at everybody from Bing Crosby to the President and Congress.

Thrills and chills of the type expected by fair patrons on Saturday will be tossed around with wild abandon on closing day by Bill McGraw's Motor Circus.

Heifer Wins Honors

George V. Arnold, Taneytown, placed first in the Novice Class in the Maryland Breeders Show, which was held recently at Gaithersburg. Miss Arrowhead, the two-year-old heifer shown by Arnold, also placed second in class to the Supreme Champion of the show.

The heifer was also shown at the Montgomery County Fair and stood second in her class. Miss Arrowhead is owned by Arlene Farm, George V. Arnold, proprietor.

Obituary

SANDRA FITZ

Sandra Fitz, 8, daughter of Ray C. and Betty J. Bowman Fitz, of Charming, died at 6:45 a. m. last Saturday at the Washington County Hospital in Hagerstown.

She had been ill for several years and three weeks ago developed a virus. On Aug. 30, she was removed to the hospital and underwent an operation for a brain tumor last Friday.

She was born at Waynesboro, Pa., and lived her entire life at Charming. She attended fourth grade at Monterey School and also attended the Hawley Memorial Sunday School.

In addition to her parents she is survived by a brother and a sister, Ray C. Jr. and Mary Alice; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Bowman, Waynesboro.

Funeral services were held Monday at 2 p. m. from the Grove Funeral Home, Waynesboro, in charge of Rev. John McClain. Burial in Fountaine Cemetery.

Band Enjoys Annual Outdoor Barbecue

The Ole Maestro tries his hand at something a bit different from directing a band. Pictured above, left, is Walt Simpson, leader of the Emmitsburg Municipal Band as he prepares to ex-hume a beef he has barbecued in a ground pit. The affair is an annual barbecue sponsored by the band for its members and their families and is held at the Simpson farm on the Bullfrog Road. Walt is well-known for his expert ability in barbecuing beef in this fashion and is one of the few who know the secret of this sort of culinary art. Pictured at right is one of the several tables where a group is partaking of the tasty food. The look on their faces tell the story. The affair was held two weeks ago and about 75 enjoyed delicious food and refreshments.

County Plans Crack-Down On Litter Bugs

Discussions were held at the monthly meeting of the Frederick County Roads Board Tuesday, outlining the growing nuisance of illegal litter along the roads and highways in the county.

After the subject had been brought to the attention of the meeting by Edgar G. Emrich of Emmitsburg, as a member of the board, other members of the board told of treating the problem in their own localities. Mr. Emrich who was unable to be present at the session, relayed his views on the matter through Delbert S.

Null, president of the Board of County Commissioners and also head of the roads governing body.

Null expressed belief that the careless litterbug problem, aggravated by many cases of deliberate dumping of rubbish and garbage, will eventually require major alterations in the county's taxation system to hold the problem in check.

Mr. Emrich had reported complaints that illegal dumping of trash had been noted, especially along the Roddy Lime Kiln Road in the Emmitsburg area.

County Engineer C. Wilson Runkles pointed out: "The hard part about the whole problem, illegal dumpers, is the fact that they are hard to nab in the act. Very often it's mighty difficult to."

Board Member Russell Keller of Burkittsville, said he had been told of at least one recent instance when a dump truck loaded with trash, deliberately stopped and unloaded the refuse along the open countryside and then drove off. Stiff penalties already exist under present law for such violations.

Miss Orndorff Becomes Bride Of Walter Fry

Miss Helen E. Orndorff, daughter of Mrs. James Orndorff and the late Mr. Orndorff, Thurmont, R. 2, became the bride of Mr. Walter N. Fry, son of Mrs. Lester Fry and the late Mr. Fry, of Frederick, on Saturday, Sept. 7. The double ring ceremony and nuptial Mass was performed at 10 a. m. before an altar banked with white gladioli and candles in St. Anthony's Catholic Shrine, Emmitsburg, by Rev. Fr. Vincent J. Tomalski, pastor of the bride.

The acolytes were Edward Orndorff, cousin of the bride, and Paul Vivell, friend of the couple. During the ceremony, Eugene Rosensteel, Frederick, cousin of the bride, sang "Mother, At Your Feet I'm Kneeling." "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy." He was accompanied by Mrs. Ernest Seltzer, the church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. George Topper, Emmitsburg, wore a self-styled ballerina-length gown of French chintilly lace over net and taffeta. The bodice had a Queen Elizabeth collar and long sleeves forming a point at the wrist extending over her hands. Her veil was nylon net attached to a cap of lace and rhinestones. She carried a nosegay of white asters, which she placed at the Blessed Virgin Mary's altar. Leaving the church she carried a white prayer book, covered with a white rosebud corsage and streamers of ribbon. Her jewelry, a string of pearls and matching earrings, was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Lillian F. Orndorff, Thurmont, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a green ballerina-length dress of dotted Swiss with a cowl neckline having a large bow on the back. Mrs. Charles Wivell, Hagerstown, sister of the bride, dressed in yellow, and Mrs. William Etzler, Frederick, sister of the bridegroom, dressed in pink, were the bridesmaids. Anna Marie Etzler, Frederick, niece of the bridegroom, dressed in white with blue dots, was the flower girl. The attendants wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor. All wore matching white lace headbands and white accessories and carried nosegays of yellow and white mums with ribbons to match their dresses and sterling earrings, a gift of the bride. The flower girl carried a pink and white nosegay.

The best man was Charles Wivell, Hagerstown, brother-in-law of the bride. The ushers were Carl Fry and Francis Fry, brothers of the bridegroom, both of Frederick. The ring bearer was Robert Fry, Jr., of Damascus, nephew of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore a beige dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother was dressed in navy blue. Both wore corsages of white rosebuds.

A reception was held in the parish hall immediately following the ceremony. The hostesses at the reception were Mrs. John Orndorff and Mrs. Felix Hemler, aunts of the bride, and the Misses Nora Knott, Rebecca Krietz, and Patricia Little, friends of the couple.

The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, and is employed as a secretary at Fort Detrick. The bridegroom graduated from Frederick High School and is also employed at Fort Detrick.

The couple left for a wedding trip to an unannounced destination. The bride wore a brown dress with white accessories and the corsage lifted from her prayer book. Upon their return they will reside at the home of the bride.

The group, chaperoned by Mrs. Wilhide took time out to pose for this picture in front of the Emmitsburg Chronicle, then proceeded to tour the town and countryside.

LIONS CLUB READIES FOR HORSE SHOW

Twenty-five members of the Emmitsburg Lions Club and one guest were in attendance at the regular meeting of the local group held Monday night in the Lutheran parish hall, President Paul W. Claypool presiding.

An invitation from the Taneytown Lions was received inviting the members to attend their charter night in the near future.

The Lions were informed through their sight conservation chairman, Dr. D. L. Beagle that two pairs of eyeglasses had recently been purchased for two local needy children.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mr. Newcity of Baltimore, who is acting advisor to the local club concerning the coming Horse Show. Most of the evening was spent discussing the show with Mr. Newcity answering many questions concerning the event. Cloyd W. Seiss, general chairman of the show, gave a progress report on the event and stated that things were shaping up nicely for the show to be held on Sept. 22.

Correction

It was inadvertently stated in last week's issue of the Chronicle that the Sox won the playoffs in the local Big Little League. The article should have stated that the Giants were victorious in the playoffs and the Sox were the regular season winners.

AIR ALERT IS SCHEDULED

Citizens are asked to participate in a Civil Defense alert which will be given at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday evening, September 18. The alert will be given via the fire siren of the Vigilant Hose Co. and will continue for three minutes. The take-cover alarm will be sounded at 6:45 with short blasts lasting for another three minutes. This final alert means that all persons seek shelter and all cars and traffic will stop for a five-minute period. After the final period of shelter is concluded everything will return to normalcy.

St. Joseph College Has Increased Enrollment

Saint Joseph College opened its 148th year this week with a 24% enrollment increase when a class of 95 freshmen arrived for orientation week. In addition to the freshmen, nine new students entered with advanced standing, two as non-matriculated students and 107 postulants and members of the Daughters of Charity are taking courses at various college levels.

As was the case last year, the state of New Jersey sends the largest number of freshmen. New York is a close runner-up with 19 students.

Maryland students include three from the Emmitsburg area: Alice Scott, Emmitsburg; Catherine Bailey, Thurmont and Anne Breth, Taneytown.

New courses introduced at St. Joseph College for the calendar year will affect primarily the liberal arts curriculum and students in the upper classes.

Introduction to Social Case Work, open to seniors, is a course intended to introduce social studies majors to the case work approach. The students will be offered limited participation in a case work agency in operation as well as weekly participation in the trainee program of the Baltimore Social Welfare department.

Also open to seniors is a three-credit course in child psychology and development, to be offered to prospective teachers. For senior mathematics majors a seminar will be offered this year, consisting primarily of directed reading and study in contemporary publications.

Juniors and seniors may elect an advanced course in creative writing, which offers opportunity for the application of the techniques learned in the beginning course in writing. Contemporary Spanish Literature is also open to upper-level students. The course will begin with the "Generation of '98" and will include readings from works of important essayists, novelists, dramatists and poets.

Practical exercises in pronunciation and diction based on phonetics will be offered to junior students who choose the French diction course.

New courses for freshmen include an orientation course in philosophy. The student will be introduced to philosophical terminology and will study the development of philosophy as a discipline, its basic doctrines and the relationship of philosophy to theology and the special sciences.

A course entitled the Elements of Mathematics will acquaint freshmen with the meaning of numbers, number bases, fundamental operations of arithmetic, algebra and geometry.

Evasion Of Building Permits May Result In Penalties

The Supervisor of Assessments Office for Frederick County this week implied that some persons are not complying with the law requiring building permits be obtained before any construction or repair work costing $250 or more is begun.

The county assessors have observed a number of individuals recently doing construction work for which no permit had been issued. The law provides that persons who fail to comply with the provisions of the act are subject to fines of $10 to $100, upon conviction. The permits are issued free of charge at the assessment office in the courthouse Frederick, and must be obtained.

MILLARD SHUFF INJURED IN FALL

Millard F. Shuff, Emmitsburg's oldest resident and president of the Farmers State Bank, fell in his home Monday and fractured his hip. He was admitted to the Warner Hospital in Gettysburg where the fracture was reduced. Mr. Shuff, 97, has the best wishes of his many friends here for a speedy recovery.

NO COMMENT

By JAMES W. DOUTHAT

WASHINGTON — Measures of vast importance to business will be debated by Congress in the shadow of impending national elections during its next session, beginning on January 7.

The danger in any pre-election session is that Congress will bow to pressure groups seeking to "raid the treasury," and will listen to demagogues who neither care about nor understand the problems of business.

Among the measures of importance to business which will be considered are:

BUDGET — One of the first messages to be sent to Congress by the President is that containing the budget for the next fiscal year. President Eisenhower's budget message of last January aroused nation-wide discussion — a revolt by taxpayers — and the fight to cut the budget dominated the session.

Appropriations are certain to be a major issue next winter. The next budget is being prepared now in the executive departments.

TAXES — For the first time in years the House Ways and Means Committee plans to hold comprehensive hearings on taxation, beginning January 7. There is growing conviction among political observers that Congress will enact a tax reduction bill.

The big question then is: Will it be a bill fair to all individual and corporate income taxpayers? Will it lower rates in such a way as to encourage business expansion. Or will it be a purely political tax bill?

LABOR MEASURES — Leaders of the McClellan rackets committee say that legislation to curb abuses disclosed in labor unions will be introduced. The Labor Department is studying measures to this end along with modification of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Some members who say the Taft-Hartley Act has been greatly weakened by court and labor board interpretations want it strengthened. Measures to extend minimum wage coverage and to provide government regulation for union-management pension and welfare funds have been introduced.

Some members of Congress will strongly urge legislation making labor unions subject to anti-trust laws. This is being studied by the Justice, Labor and Commerce Departments.

STATES' RIGHTS — Greater efforts are expected for enactment of legislation to curb violence, sedition and the like. Congress has before it legislation to prohibit courts from holding that Congress has ousted the states from a legislative field unless Congress says so specifically.

Further, President Eisenhower's move to return many federal functions to states will produce congressional decisions — either on a broad front or on many individual bills now pending. The fight to reduce "big government" will become important.

INFLATION, "tight money," etc. — Unless inflationary pressures abate, this will be a major issue in the next Congress. The Senate Finance Committee investigation of government finances will continue — with further assaults expected to be made on independence of the Federal Reserve System.

PUBLIC POWER — The left-wing advocates of government-in-business bring constant pressure for expansion of government in the electric power field — hydroelectric, steam and atomic.

The issue arises in self-financing legislation for the Tennessee Valley Authority — in proposals to build government atomic power reactors — numerous other proposals for hydroelectric projects.

Many opponents of expansion of public power regard it as a socialistic movement which is dangerous to all private enterprise.

SENATE CLOAKROOM

By J. GLENN BEALL

As I mentioned last week, this "Senate Cloakroom" will be my last regular newsletter until the second session of the 85th Congress convenes next January.

Therefore, I would like to take this opportunity to report on some of the bills which I sponsored or cosponsored, as well as several which were introduced in the House of Representatives in identical form to mine and which were passed by the Congress under the House designation.

It should be remembered that all measures which were not passed during the first session are still "alive," so to speak, and work will continue on them next year.

New Laws

Bills passed and signed into law:

1. To increase retirement benefits for the current and future teachers in the public schools of the District of Columbia.

2. To transfer ownership to Allegany County of a bridge loaned to the county by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

3. To amend the Tariff Act of 1930 to transfer a noncompetitive specialty (woolen yarns not longer than 3 inches) to the duty-free list.

4. To provide increased retirement benefits for those who will retire in the future from the District of Columbia Metropolitan Police force, and certain members of the United States Secret Service.

Awaiting House Action
Bills of mine passed by Senate and awaiting House action:

1. To provide for improved methods of staging budget estimates, as recommended by the Hoover Commission.

2. To provide for the appointment of an additional Federal District Judge for Maryland.

3. To establish the Chesapeake and Ohio National Historic Park.

4. To amend the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 to provide for more effective evaluation of the fiscal requirements of the executive agencies of the Government, in conformity with another Hoover Commission recommendation.

5. To increase the special assistance authorization available to the Federal National Mortgage Association for the purchase of mortgages insured under a section of the National Housing Act.

6. To amend the District of Columbia Hospital Center Act in order to extend the time and increase the authorization for appropriations, and to provide that grants under this act may be made to The Southeast Hospital Foundation, Inc.

7. To provide for the maintenance and operation of a bridge over the Potomac River from Maryland to Jones Point, Va.

Pending in Senate

Proposed Legislation of mine awaiting Senate Action:

1. To increase annuities for Civil Service retirees.

2. To give the Small Business Administration permanent status.

3. To establish a national monetary and financial commission.

4. To provide for the enlargement of the Antietam National Cemetery at Sharpsburg, Md.

5. To provide for a research program designed to develop additional uses for agricultural products so that surpluses can be decreased.

6. To provide for the issuance of a special series of postage stamps to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the founding of Charles County, Md.

7. To amend the Railroad Retirement Act of 1937 to bring benefits in line with current living costs.

8. To establish a medal to be known as the Congressional Medal for Arts and Sciences.

9. To establish a Federal Agency for the Handicapped.

10. To authorize the President to issue a proclamation designating the first Sunday of February of each year as Chaplains' Day.

11. To amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to provide tax relief for small corporations and more equitable tax treatment for persons engaged in small businesses.

12. To provide for the appointment of an additional Juvenile Court Judge for the District of Columbia.

13. To provide for "home rule" for the District of Columbia.

14. To amend the immigration and naturalization laws to remove certain inequities.

Civil Defense Week Will Be Observed Throughout State

The 1957 National Civil Defense Week will be observed Sept. 15-21. Some of the activities for the week as suggested by the Maryland State Office of Civil Defense are as follows:

Sunday, Sept. 15—Stress religious activity. All clergymen are asked by the State and Frederick County offices to comment from the pulpit on Civil Defense.

Wednesday, Sept. 18—The alert signal, by way of all CD sirens will be sounded at a designated hour. Forty-five minutes later the "take cover" signal will be sounded. Following the "take cover" signal all traffic will be stopped, and all pedestrians shall take cover for eight minutes. The "all clear" will be automatic at the end of the eight-minute period.

Frederick County will participate in this alert and the exact time of same will be announced.

Thursday, Sept. 19—It is suggested that industry and government, where there is CD organization, hold appropriate drills. The alert should be at 2:15 p. m. and the take cover at 3 p. m. There will be no outdoor audible signals, but industry and government are urged to rehearse their Civil Defense procedures at that time. Installations should sound their own internal alarm signals.

Friday, Sept. 20—It is suggested that schools hold their drills on this day. The alert signal at 9:15 and the "take cover" at 10 a. m. Again there will be no audible outside signals, but interior alarms should be used by the schools.

The exact hour of the public

For Thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness; neither shall evil dwell with Thee.—(Psalm 5, 4.)

God, the Creator and the Heavenly Father of even the least of us mortals, is the sum total of all the perfect love, the absolute good, that the human mind possibly can imagine—and infinitely, abundantly more. Only bountiful loving-kindness and goodness come from Him—never wrath or punishment.

There's a FORD for every garage

The New kind of Ford for '57 comes in two big sizes... the big (over 16 foot) Custom models and the still bigger (over 17 foot) Fairlanes. From the Fairlane 500 Sunliner (above) on down... there's a Ford to suit every need.

Station wagon minded? Ford has 5 to choose from (including the 9-passenger Country Squire, above). Like all '57 Fords, they're fine cars in every sense of the word. Yet, they're yours for half the fine-car price!

Fairlane 500 Town Sedan

and at the lowest price in its field

Whichever '57 Ford you choose... one thing's sure. You can pay more, but you can't buy better. And Ford is solidly built to be worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it, too!

Ford is the lowest priced of the low-price three! The '57 Ford, for all its expensive-car features, is the lowest priced of the low-price three.* Another reason why smart buyers everywhere say, "Little budgets love big Fords!"

How Savings Bonds helped his ship come in — twice!

Ulysses K had adopted America with the fervor of a lover of liberty.

And one of the big dreams of his life was a trip back to his native Greece to tell his friends of the wonders of this country.

Like more than 40,000,000 other Americans he saved for his goal through U. S. Savings Bonds.

When he had enough, he arranged his passage to Greece and set off for a New York bank to cash his Bonds.

He arrived but the Bonds didn't. Somewhere on the way, he'd lost them and to further complicate matters, his ship sailed in 72 hours.

He told this story to a bank official who got in touch with the Treasury Department.

Records were checked and Ulysses received his money in time to sail on schedule.

This true story illustrates the indestructibility of U. S. Savings Bonds. Any of your Bonds that are lost, stolen or destroyed will be replaced without charge by the U. S. Treasury. That's why Bonds are said to be "safer than cash."

And now "safer than cash" Savings Bonds are better than ever. Every Series E Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957, pays 3-1/4% interest when held to maturity. It pays higher interest, too, in earlier years and matures in only 8 years and 11 months.

Now more than ever it's smart to save with guaranteed-safe U. S. Savings Bonds. Buy them where you bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work.

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds

The U. S. Government does not pay for this advertisement. The Treasury Department thanks, for their patriotic donation, the Advertising Council.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Severy, Arkansas

(Editor's Note: Glenn A. Green, Associate Director of the National Educational Program, is studying political and economic systems in Europe and Scandinavia this summer. Dr. Benson is incorporating Mr. Green's dispatches in his regular columns.)

A Tragedy In Norway

OSLO, NORWAY—Dear Dr. Benson: There is a particular story in Norway that needs to be told. The Socialists are not going to tell it. The Conservatives are so close to it they seem unable to recognize its significance. It is the story of the Ericsons. That's not really their name; but they are real people. I have just spent a day and a night with the Ericsons in their Oslo home, partaking of their sustenance, being privileged to observe and to hear the intimate facts of their lives.

The Ericsons are a typical middle-income Norwegian family. Their Norwegian forebears sailed in the Viking ships. He is in the late-thirties, she, a few years younger. Both speak English; she speaks four languages. They have three school-age children. Ericson is a junior executive in the business world, a college graduate, a man of creative talents and busy mind. If Norway is to go forward and upward through the years ahead, the thinking and the imagination, the enterprise and the push must be developed from among "the Ericsons" of Norway.

Supporting Welfare State

Ericson's yearly salary in Norwegian kroner (28,500) is the equivalent of about $4,000 in 1957 U. S. A. And in Norway that places him in the first level of the upper middle-income bracket. The graduated income tax, which starts its first sizeable jump at $2,000, hits him hard.

Just a few years ago the Ericsons purchased, for $10,000, the very plain home in which they now live, a three bedroom unit of a typical Norwegian "collective" housing tier (joined together)—all alike but each painted differently. There were no cabinets in the kitchen, no bathtub in the bathroom. On Ericson's income, severely taxed to support the Welfare State, they could not afford the kind of improvements they wanted. In fact they had to secure a second loan to pay for the quite modest accessories they now have (they still do not have an electric refrigerator, for instance). And they cannot afford a car.

A year and a half ago Norway's newest housing project for low income workers was opened for occupancy and the modern family units were advertised in the newspapers with mouth-watering photographs. The units had bathrooms, modern kitchen cabinets, modern bathtubs, many built-in appliances—just what the middle-income Ericsons had always wanted.

Incentives In Reverse

But the Ericsons couldn't buy or rent the new apartment homes. No, the occupants had to be families with much lower incomes. For these families, the Welfare Government would provide such handsome subsidies that purchase or renting would be easy. And the Ericsons well, of course the Welfare State Government really doesn't produce much wealth or have sufficient money of its own for its widely given subsidies. Much of this money comes from the stiff income tax on Norway's Ericsons and the comparatively small group above them on the economic ladder.

Thus we have a family with considerable ability and earning capacity—and, I should say, with a great worth to the future of Norway—being denied the conveniences of life so that the Welfare State Government can practice an extreme form of "social planning," redistribution of income, economic relocation of basic social groupings. The Ericsons are being forced to finance for others what they can't have for themselves! And this is just one factual example of what's happening to Norway's one time but disappearing middle class.

Abolishing Middle Class

To my mind this is the most significant thing I have so far observed in Norway's Welfare State. The middle class—Karl Marx called it the petit bourgeoisie, and detested it—is being gradually abolished, and with it is going the force for progress in Norway. Incentive to fuel the dynamo is certain to evaporate under these conditions.

This re-location of the normal economic and social organization of human society—by Welfare Statism—could, of course, be halted in Norway. Some Norwegians think that a slow-down in social planning already is occurring and with the approval of the Socialists themselves. If so, and if a halt should be achieved in the next ten years, it still would require a great many additional years for the Norwegian ship to sail through the long murky winters that lie ahead and out into the sunlight of an unshackled freedom—a freedom that would again release the full energies of this historically energetic people. This is the best hope. The reality today, as I see it, is a tragedy in the making. —G.G.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Luke 24:13-21.

Jesus himself drew near, and went with them. (Luke 24:15.)

When Huge Price Hughes was head of a London Mission, he received from an unbeliever a challenge to debate the truth of the Christian faith.

In accepting the challenge, Mr. Hughes made this statement, "I will bring with me to the debate one hundred men and women who have been saved from lives of sin by the gospel of Christ. They will give their evidence, and you will be allowed to cross-examine them. They will be men and women reclaimed for Christ from the vices of drink and intemperance. They will be persons walking in newness of life, witnesses of what God's redeeming love can do for the lost and the least. I will ask you to bring with you one hundred men and women who have been similarly helped by the gospel of infidelity which you preach."

A throng came to hear the debate. Mr. Hughes marched in with his hundred. The challenger and his witnesses never came. The minister and his friends made the meeting one of joyous Christian witness.

Prayer

O living Christ, Thou hast appeared unto Thy disciples in many ways through the centuries. Help us to have sensitive hearts to recognize the ways in which Thou dost draw near us. Help us to walk with Thee. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

Red Cap Denotes Courtesy By Hunters

Every landowner who has ever had his crops trampled by hunters, his livestock shot or strayed away through open gates, his fences damaged, or his timber leveled by fire has seen red. And this year of 1957 he will see plenty of red but for a different and more gratifying reason.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin has proclaimed the month of September as Red Cap Month throughout the State of Maryland and the Maryland State Division of the Izaak Walton League of America has launched a statewide educational program to dramatize to the hunters of Maryland the basic rules of hunting courtesy.

State Izaak Walton League chapters are conducting programs in their own communities throughout the month of September and they are asking all of the people in their communities to pledge themselves to the objectives of Red Cap Month.

Everyone who has a stake in our great and green outdoors is being asked to pledge "to help perpetuate hunting as a national sport for ourselves and future generations; to help prevent forest fires; to help foster safety in the use of firearms; to help promote respect for the rights of property owners by hunters; and to call attention to the legal and moral laws of hunting conservation."

It is an ambitious and worthwhile program that deserves the support of all of us. If through the efforts of the Izaak Walton League in this Red Cap Month program we can help to reduce the tragic loss of life in hunting accidents, and the tremendous waste through forest fires, it will indeed be effort well spent.

Marketing Of Grain Crop Is Wise Policy

Orderly marketing of grain crops continues to be a wise policy for farmers to follow, according to Leonard C. Burns, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. He stressed the point that farmers generally should avoid rushing excessive crop supplies to market immediately after harvest. To do so, he explained, can mean a lot to farmers in terms of net income from this year's grain crops.

Mr. Burns also reminded Maryland farmers that price-support programs are an effective aid to orderly marketing. Through the programs, the Government stands ready to make loans on many leading grain crops. These loans enable farmers to finance "holding" operations, keep ownership of their crops, and spread marketings over the periods of the year when prices are usually higher than at harvest time.

Since proper storage is important in orderly marketing, Chairman Burns points out that, where additional on-farm storage space is needed, special Government programs provide financial help to build or buy the required space. Information on storage is available at the county ASC offices.

Jockey Albert Johnson accomplished the remarkable feat of riding three winners of the Pimlico Futurity in two years. He won on Morovich in 1921 and won on both Blossom Time and Sally's Alley when the race was split in two divisions in 1922.

Bowery Boy Reaches Top of Watch Industry

At 14, Axler Enters Auction "Jungle"

By LOUIS JAMES

A few months ago the son of a Bowery watchmaker became president of one of the most conservative and respected firms in America.

Nobody thought this was in the least unusual. It merely typified democracy in action. In fact, people in the industry thought it was a perfect marriage.

Involved in the merger: the Waltham Watch Company, America's first watchmaker (since 1850); and Joseph W. Axler, the world's biggest watch distributor.

Waltham once leader

Once upon a time—no too many years ago—Waltham was the top name in fine American watches. Yet today's generation only vaguely remembers it. Faltering management had almost wiped it from its former eminence.

But this year things started popping once again in staid, old Waltham, Massachusetts.

The reason? Hustling, young (44 year-old) Joe Axler went into action. He put out 150 new Waltham watch models—the first time in 10 years that Waltham actively entered the consumer field.

To keep Waltham moving, Axler next introduced a revolutionary new watch, the Ever-lite, the first watch that illuminates itself—probably signifying the end of radium dials. Next move: the world's thinnest watch at a popular price.

Men Who Make America Great

Sets New Trends as Waltham Prexy

JOSEPH W. AXLER

Axler loves the vigorous competitive clawing that typifies the watch trade. He grew up in it—bidding, buying and selling watches in his father's Bowery pawnshop.

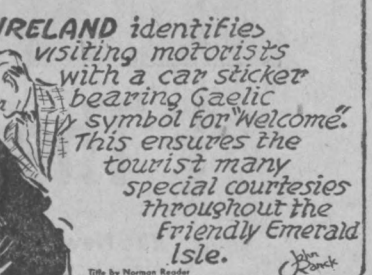

At 14, Axler entered the hectic jungle of New York's watch auctions. Every day he matched wits and money with the sharpest, toughest buyers in one of the world's most ruthless markets.

"Max," his father was warned, "get young Joe away from there. You'll go broke."

Broke? In ten years the firm of Joseph Axler, Inc., had become the biggest name in the used watch business.

"You have to move—fast!"

Axler gained a reputation for making instant decisions no matter whether the deal involved $1 or $20,000. He bought and sold so rapidly it made some of his competitors dizzy.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman
DeWitt S. Hyde

This will be the last of my reports to the people until we reconvene in January, 1958. I am grateful for the comments and suggestions I have received on these reports.

The outstanding feature of the first session of the 85th Congress has been the struggle for a reduced budget and the pull and haul between the Congress and the President.

Progress toward economy was evidenced in the reduction of the budget and in resolutions for revised budgetary procedure and for special committees to study fiscal reform. I filed one of the resolutions calling for fiscal reform.

The struggle between the Congress and the President promises to be more intense next year—an election year.

Progress On Legislation Of National Interest States Rights

Bills to remove the Supreme Court's broad restrictions on many State laws were given much study during the session. I am hopeful that, at least, my bill to enable the States to enforce their own laws on subversive activities will be enacted into law.

Status Of Forces Agreements

Too many of us have not understood that the Status of Forces Treaties do not force our soldiers to be tried in foreign courts. Without these treaties our soldiers would have to be tried in foreign courts for offenses committed in foreign lands, whether on or off duty. This is, and always has been, international law. Under these treaties we retain the right to try our own men under many circumstances. In other words, our soldiers have more assurance of trial before our own military courts with these treaties than they would without them.

Urban Development

I am delighted to report that my Concurrent Resolution providing for a Joint Congressional study of the problems created by the rapid expansion of the Washington metropolitan area has been approved by both the Senate and the House. The study is of great importance not only to the Nation's Capital and the surrounding counties in Maryland and Virginia but also to the Nation as a whole. My hope is that the results of this study will serve as a useful model for other metropolitan areas having problems similar to Washington and the adjacent jurisdictions.

Civil Rights

I fought for the right to trial by jury in criminal cases in the House. Although the compromise civil rights measure is not perfect, it is some satisfaction that it protects the right to a jury trial for serious offenses.

Progress On Legislation Of Interest To Western Maryland Hatch Act

The restrictions imposed by the Hatch Act on the political activities of federal workers should be modified. I testified in favor of a bill which would provide for the establishment of a Commission to study the restrictions of the Act. I am hopeful for legislation which will permit the Government worker to exercise more of his civic responsibilities.

Federal Pay Raises, Insurance, And Annuities

Although pay raise bills for postal and federal employees were approved by Congress, it is fairly obvious on this last day of Congress that the President will veto them.

The fact that legislation was not called up for a vote in the House, dashed our hopes for this year in obtaining legislation to allow the Civil Service Commission to assume the policies of the remaining eligible federal employees' beneficial association. It seems to me the grossest kind of inequity not to provide the same privilege for all policy holders.

Efforts to bring up the retirees' annuity bill also failed.

Poultry Inspection Act

The amendment to the Poultry Inspection bill, for which we worked hard, allowing exemption for the small producer selling his own poultry directly to households, hotels, and restaurants is now a part of the law. Our small poultry farmers do not have to fear losing their business because of unreasonable restrictions.

Small Business

I am continuing my efforts to aid our small businessmen through appropriate revision of the anti-trust laws and in working for a reduction in their tax burden. The Small Business Administration has been continued for another year and its lend-authority increased. We hope that this agency will be made permanent.

Social Security For Policemen And Firemen

My bill to bring Maryland policemen and firemen under the social security program became law as part of bill H. R. 8755.

Other Items Of Interest

Assurance has been given me by the Chairman of the House Public Works Subcommittee on Rivers and Harbors that my bill authorizing a low-level dam for the PEPCO plant in Montgomery County will be taken up the first of the year. I've also been given reasonable assurance of favorable Public Works Committee action on my bill to make additional funds available for parklands in Prince Georges and Montgomery counties. It is a pleasure to report that these bills will not require more money in the budget.

Transfer of ownership of the Bailey Bridge at Corriganville in Allegany County, as proposed by Senator Beall and me, from the Federal Government to the County has become law.

I testified at the Army Engineers' public hearings held in Rockville against a high-level hydroelectric dam at River Bend. Hydroelectric power is not needed in our area and a low-level dam will provide needed water storage.

The new Atomic Energy Commission buildings at Germantown will be ready for use on November 2 and the new Boonsboro Post Office will be completed October 1st.

My bill to modernize the law of the District of Columbia with respect to the descent of real property in cases where persons die without leaving a will has become law.

Summary Of My Legislation

I have been successful in having enacted into law this session a House concurrent resolution, a District of Columbia bill, an Allegany County bridge bill, two private claim bills, and an immigration bill. Two other immigration bills became law as part of Joint Resolutions.

TV TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Ralf Hardester Feature Editor TV Guide

EX-PRESIDENT HARRY TRUMAN IS SERIOUSLY considering an ABC offer to conduct a weekly series on American History. ABC plans to do the show part live and part on film. Hoping he'll agree ABC is also lining up prime time for the show. . . . Dean Martin may get an alternate week Saturday night show on NBC. Hottest contenders for the alternate spot are Polly Bergen, Julius La Rosa and Peggy Lee. Polly would first have to get on okay from CBS as they hold her contract. . . . Peggy Lee is scheduled for three guest spots on Frank Sinatra shows next season. . . . Jack Benny broke every attendance record in Las Vegas during his three-week stand at the Flamingo. Jack played to a total of 33,000 customers. . . . Buddy Ebsen, Davy Crockett's sidekick, will have a featured role in MGM's new Northwest Passage films.

There'll be no home TV for the Ray Robinson-Carmen Basilio middleweight title fight. Rights were sewn up by Theater Network TV. . . . CBS hopes to book Art Carney and his summer stock production of Harvey as a fall spectacular. . . . Alan Hale, Bobby Clark, and Mary Lawrence are the regulars in Screen Gems new Casey Jones film series now in production. . . . It looks like Rosemary Clooney might take over on Thursday nights for Lux, replacing Video Theater on NBC. . . . Steve Martin, British singer discovered abroad by Lawrence Welk debuts on Welk's ABC show shortly. . . . Saber of London, a continuation of The Vice telefilm series but with all new films, will be seen on NBC on Friday nights this fall.

MARGARET O'BRIEN'S NEW TV SERIES, MARGIE, looks like a Monday night entry on the ABC schedule. . . . The same network is virtually set for two new westerns, Colt 45 and Tombstone. Colt will be aired on Friday nights and Tombstone on Wednesday evenings. . . . NBC will air three hour-long spectaculars from Las Vegas next season. . . . The Big Story, televised live for seven years, will revert to film this fall with Burgess Meredith to serve as permanent host-narrator. . . . Roy Rogers will do three hour-long Sunday night Chevy shows. Two will be rodeos, the other a variety. Dale Evans, co-stars. . . . Red Grange, Lindsey Nelson's perennial sportscasting teammate on NBC-NCAA football games may be squeezed out. College football biggies fear their amateur status may be affected since Red also does pro games — honestly.

BABSON

Writes . . .

By ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses "Fallout"

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 12—It will not be long before "FALLOUT" will be the most discussed subject facing business, real estate, and investments. New papers now give daily forecasts for weather, tides, and winds. Before long they will also give a local daily air analysis, together with a forecast of the analysis for the next few days.

Every reader of this column should ask himself how either the fear of Fallout or the fear of peace and disarmament will affect his community, his family, and his business or investments. The London Conference on Disarmament is discussing the possibility of both intensified Fallout and Disarmament. Every Congressman is trying to determine how his constituents would be affected by either. Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission is working hard

What Will Be Important?

All businesses and investments must be adjusted either to "Fallout" or to "Peace." Furthermore, it will be the fear of Fallout or the fear of peace which will bring about unemployment and a business collapse. The propaganda about "clean bombs" by those persons now profiting from the defense industries is the bunk. "Clean bombs" can be built; but Russia will never agree to their exclusive use. The Fallout is Russia's best bet.

Every reader of this column should ask himself how either the fear of Fallout or the fear of peace and disarmament will affect his community, his family, and his business or investments. The London Conference on Disarmament is discussing the possibility of both intensified Fallout and Disarmament. Every Congressman is trying to determine how his constituents would be affected by either. Meanwhile the Atomic Energy Commission is working hard studying Fallout.

Important Illustrations

There could be a total change in the rising population trend. Most schools and colleges will have plenty of room for students. Families may fear to have more children for fear of having seriously deformed offspring. The birth rate could radically decline.

Real estate, commodity, and stock markets could be totally upset because of the fear of Fallout or unemployment. Certain cities would be much more subject to Fallout than others. As people now seek Florida or California for climate, they may avoid these states for fear of Fallout. Remember, this Fallout is polluting the air you breathe right now as you read this column.

What About Agriculture?

Studies are now being made by the Atomic Energy Commission as to the effect of Fallout on Agriculture and Fisheries. Unofficial reports are that ordinary fission or fission tests would not be harmful. If, however, Russia should float too much Strontium 90 over the United States, it could become very serious. This would especially apply to all leafy vegetables and perhaps to corn and wheat.

Certainly, we would no longer be allowed to drink cows' milk in its present form. Strontium 90 would have to be eliminated from canned-milk products. And this would need to be done for all canned fruit and most other canned products. The ocean seems to be especially "allergic" to this dangerous poison. Thus, the fish might be impregnated. Livestock which feeds on grass could be surely seriously affected.

Automobiles And

Other Industries

Industries other than food would also suffer. Manufacturing and retailing need not be directly affected. Of course, all stores and factories would need to be screened, as well as all homes. Automobiles would have to be screened, while all pedestrians might have to wear masks. Certainly, Russia could drastically upset our way of life.

All of this could either hasten war with Russia or else result in some form of disarmament. This is probably why President Eisenhower insists that no reduction be made in defense appropriations or foreign aid. This means that our present prosperity is on a "teeter board" or "saw horse," so to speak. Certainly we will hear much more about Fallout, which could become more important than missiles.

Russia In The Driver's Seat

Although Russia could make these tests from Western Siberia and pick days when winds would drift the Fallout toward the U. S. A., yet the air of the entire world, including Russia, would be polluted. Therefore, these "tests," like poison gas, might not be used; but we do not know. In fact, there is a bare possibility that fear of these "tests" could bring about disarmament. Of course, if Russia should go too far, the U. S. and the rest of the world might declare war upon Russia. Then what?

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Here are some boating tips from Willard Crandall, Boating Editor of Sports Afield Magazine, that in this day of the outboard boating boom could come in mighty handy.

Sportsmen looking for a small craft to be used with a 3 hp engine are offered a choice of two quite different bottom designs. On land there is little difference, but watch out on the water! The one with the bottom that narrows and turns up toward the stern will be faster. That's the rowboat-style bottom. The other kind, with a straight bottom aft is the planing type. Though slower, the bow won't rise so high. The operator will have better vision and the boat will probably handle more easily.

If you're buying a boat trailer, be sure to check the skid. This extends below the tip of the trailer tongue about six inches. It's generally constructed of a piece of flat metal. It's U-shaped when viewed from the side. A good skid should not only be strong, but should have a broad surface without sharp bends or projections to dig in. Not all boat trailers have them; a small wheel is a substitute often seen.

The object of straining fuel as it is put into the tank of an outboard is to keep out water and dirt. The best strainer is a fine-mesh screen or chamois. Just a little dirt can do damage, and water can easily get into fuel from condensation. A funnel strainer helps the screen in the gas line from getting clogged. This would mean hard starting. Better check it now and again to make sure it isn't about to rust through.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Ever since the Supreme Court decision ordering a divorce between General Motors and DuPont, many readers have written asking questions.

It is small wonder that such inquiries have come in. Obviously, both of these organizations have huge public relations organizations who have been inspiring publication of many viewpoints at odds with the court's decision. Other writers have written along the same lines.

But fact remains there was a big issue involved here best reviewed with strict objectivity.

Perhaps this issue was best expressed by Sen. O'Mahoney when he said, "A handful of stockholders (15% major holders of 33% of all GM common stock) are rulers of an economic state with revenues greater than the revenues of all but five of our political states. Such power as this is changing our entire economic system; changing our relations with one another; our relations with government."

Another sidelight of the issue was given about a year ago at the time of the now famous "GM dealer revolt," when the independent dealers who actually built the automobile business, revolted against autocratic powers used against them.

Much has been made of the fact that for a mere $49 million, DuPont secured 23% of GM stock, which has netted them billions in profits over the years. Yet that is not the real issue. After all, there is no vice in bigness, nor in growth, nor in profits.

© National Federation of Independent Business

The real issue is the intent of this transaction.

As paint manufacturers, and makers of other materials needed in making cars and other vehicles, through this stock purchase which delivered what is tantamount to controlling interest, it was desired to sew up this business on all exclusive basis.

Thus, when one corporation can secure an exclusive market for its products to another corporation which makes about 50% of all cars sold, 80% of all locomotives, controls largest taxi firm in the nation, and was even, until Justice Dept. forced signing of a consent decree, controlling the use, sale, and resale of equipment used in motor bus lines, a bad situation develops.

There has long been an American proverb against putting all the eggs in one basket. Obviously, this DuPont-GM empire had become so big, and so vital to the American economy, that in event of a national economic emergency, it could be necessary for government to spend tax money to keep it from collapsing.

In addition, such empires, when they control so much, are a constant threat to maintenance of free political institutions.

In other words, aspiring dictators never get to first base, if economy of a nation is spread among many independent enterprises. They can only get to political power when economic power is concentrated in a few hands.

There is no doubt DuPont makes fine automotive finishes.

But if competing brains and skills are given an equal opportunity to bid for the business, perhaps even finer paints will be developed. Only free and above board competition keeps progress from stagnation. No one has a monopoly on brains.

LET'S KEEP FIGHTING POLIO AND OTHER CRIPPLING DISORDERS BY GIVING TO THE SISTER KENNY FOUNDATION!

Specialty prepared for the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, National Headquarters, 2400 Fashion Tower, Minneapolis 2, Minn.

'Aristocrat' of Its Day

While they were a far cry from even the most modest of today's modern dwellings, sod houses like this were built only by the more prosperous of the early settlers on the western plains.

According to one of the old-timers who supervised the construction of this "soddy"—at Pioneer Village located at Minden, Nebraska, on U.S. Highway 6—most plains settlers lived in "dugouts", which were little more than caves dug into the side of a hill, and looked forward to the day when they would become prosperous enough to join the "aristocrats" living in sod houses built on high ground.

This soddy has been viewed by thousands of visitors to Pioneer Village. It is one of 17 buildings in the authentically restored Village, which covers a two block area and houses more than 17,000 items depicting America's progress since 1830.

More than 10 acres of sod went into the construction of this house, which is 28 feet by 40 feet and has walls that are three feet thick. Early settlers found them warm in winter, cool in summer; and, if prosperous enough, furnished them as completely as conventional houses.

While thousands of these sod-dies dotted the plains states just 60 years ago, they are a rarity today.

Kenny Foundation Head Explains Rehabilitation, Research Goals

Minneapolis, Minn.—Gradual expansion of a program that originally was concerned primarily with poliomyelitis to one that includes treatment and rehabilitation of victims of other neuromuscular disorders characterizes the work of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation today.

KLINE

This expansion has resulted, too, in growth in medical and research programs, according to Marvin L. Kline, national executive director of the foundation. Doctors in various specialties have been added to medical staffs of Kenny treatment centers, and its medical committees have been enlarged to include scientists, professors and department heads of a number of leading universities throughout the United States and Canada, he added.

"The Kenny foundation's primary objectives include direct treatment and care for persons suffering from poliomyelitis and other neuromuscular diseases and disorders, without regard to race, age, sex, color or creed," Kline declared.

"Training of registered nurses and physical therapists to become Kenny Therapists continues at our international training center in Minneapolis, and we have greatly increased the tempo of research into polio and other neuromuscular disabilities through grants to leading medical schools and hospitals and through provision of fellowships to individual doctors and scientists. Fostering of medical seminars and short courses continues as a major activity of the Kenny foundation."

Kline explained that the over-all program of providing direct patient treatment and rehabilitation is made possible through funds contributed during the foundation's annual nationwide public appeal.

"The Kenny foundation is highly dependent upon generous contributions from the public which benefits from this work, because of its wide demand in terms of highly-trained personnel and its many medical activities and research projects as well as the treatment and medical care it provides at no charge," Kline declared.
