The high cost of living, naturally is of paramount interest to every one of us. The records to date reveals that HCL is still hanging at top level, the highest in the history of the country. All this is in the face of an apparent oncoming depression. What is keeping the costs hanging high in indecipherable and I feel that it is mostly an outright gouging of the public by certain interests and monopolies. November and December were the two peak months as far as costs were concerned. Presently there are over four million American people unemployed and more wholesale layoffs are in the offing yet this does not deter the ever increasing rise in costs. Someone is keeping the prices artificially high but this cannot continue indefinitely, sooner or later when the demand for such products is diminished then the drop will occur. It is commonly conceded the nation is heavily over-produced in certain commodities but somehow the manufacturers have managed to keep the prices inflated and refuse to reduce them. Take paper for instance, mills have produced such quantities that inventories have reached a new high, yet the price remains the same. Warehouses are filled and the mills have slackened and still the price remains out of this world. It just doesn't make sense to me but I'm certain that in a very short time we'll know the answer and see some results.

The year is still a very young one and we haven't gotten around to politics as yet. We aren't just in the right frame of mind. But do you know that election time is just around the corner, so to speak? The nearness of it came to light this week when our county commissioners all filed for re-election. We have been reading of the congressional and gubernatorial race coming up but haven't as yet developed a fever of any degree. However in the not too far distant months ahead I'm certain that as usual we'll all reach a feverish pitch of excitement and anxiety.

A fight appears to be developing between the scientists and the humane society, or rather the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It appears that the humane group abhors the proposed use of animals in any space rockets that might develop. Apparently there's no objection to a human being who is brave, or should I say foolish enough, to brave flight in one of these space ships. It'll probably be a good battle but I believe that a few animals eventually will be projected into space, perhaps secretly, but just the same I believe they will lead man into space.

I was reading something very interesting about American money the other evening and it really surprised me. Every one of us knows that all coin money has this motto stamped on it: "In God We Trust." This has been a practice for 90 years I learned. But the surprise of the whole thing is that the motto has never appeared on paper currency. Well that's all taken care of now and any new money you receive, paper or otherwise, will have on it "In God We Trust."

Better make plans now to be present at the March of Dimes dance next Saturday. I feel certain you'll be amused and well pleased seeing and hearing a group of your old friends filling in, in a musical capacity, during the evening. A number of former orchestra players has volunteered their services for the evening to help along a very charitable cause. See you there?

Baseball Meeting

A reorganization meeting of the Pen Mar Baseball League will be held at a meeting Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Emmitsburg VFW Home.

At Waterfield, Blue Ridge Summit, said this week the league hopes to expand to eight teams for the coming season and already queries have been received from Harney and Hanover.

Members of the league last year were Cashtown, Fairfield, Emmitsburg, Taneytown, Union Bridge, and Blue Ridge Summit.

Population In County Shows Steady Increase

The Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission should concentrate on finishing its preliminary studies in preparation for drafting a master plan for the county and not get sidetracked, Julian Tarrant, of the firm of Segoe and Associates of Cincinnati, Ohio, consultants, told the commission at a regular meeting in the Court House last Friday.

This was apropos of whether or not the planning staff was now in a position to give advice on the location of future schools.

The recently released population report of the commission, an exhibit of which may be seen in the lobby of the Francis Scott Key Hotel, or a copy obtained from the Court House office, would throw some light on the subject, it was pointed out.

Until a study of land use is completed it is not possible to project the location of such industries on other uses that would tend to increase the school population, discussion brought out.

Again if education in the county is to follow the national trend concentrate and on the teaching of science and related subjects, the needs for high schools would be quite different from those for academic or agricultural subjects, and the spacing of schools necessarily affected.

Tarrant emphasized that the commission should be helpful in any way possible but cautioned against premature moves. It is not yet ready to act as a clearing house, he said.

In line with its duties of planning for future development of the county the commission is in constant consultation with other county and state agencies, the report of J. Alfred Cutsail, executive secretary and zoning inspector, showed.

Preceding the open meeting on Friday, the commission met with representatives of the State Roads Commission in an effort to coordinate proposed roads with plans for development.

Time elements in issuance of building permits had been studied by Cutsail, who told the commission that over 60 per cent of 207 residential permits reviewed has been issued under 10 days from the date of application. He explained that the other 40 per cent were held up because of requirements of health department, road regulations or certain zoning, all of which must be met before the planning commission can issue the permits.

Based on the 242 new residential permits issued during the year, it is estimated the county gained an approximate 1,270 in population during 1957 and the population of the county is now estimated to be 71,270.

The commission voted to add the names of J. William Brosius and Bruce E. Crum to the list of an advisory committee now being formed. The two are former members of the commission who resigned because of pressure of business.

Public School PTA Meeting Held

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Public School PTA was held Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria, Raymond Keilholtz, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with the group singing "America," followed by prayer led by Mrs. Cregger.

The feature of the evening was a talk by Dr. John Richards, on Science and Its Place in the Modern World, which included a discussion on satellites and how they work.

The attendance banner was won by Mrs. Mildred Elliott's fifth grade. Mr. Wood announced the initial wood working class for adults would hold its first meeting Tuesday evening in the school shop. Mr. Jones, principal, reported that pupil reporting practices are being studied and asked that those interested in such a study, meet to discuss the present system and to submit any proposed changes. The group decided to hold such a meeting on Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria. Following the business refreshments were served.

Farm animals seem to require salt to overcome the effects of the high potassium content of most animal feeds, according to a report in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Assn.

FIREMEN GIVE FINANCIAL REPORT

The annual report was presented to the members of the Vigilant Hose Co. at the regular meeting held Tuesday evening in the Fire Hall, President John J. Hollinger presiding. The financial report of the auditing committee was approved as presented and Chief John S. Hollinger gave a summary of the year's activities and statistical data.

February 27 has been established as the date of a shrimp and oyster feed to be held by the group and the committee in charge has been appointed as follows: Guy R. McGlaughlin, Allen Davis, Clay Z. Green, Carroll Wills and Maurice Michaels.

Applications for membership were received from David Umbel, Charles Bushman, Jr., and Robert L. Koontz. Dues are now payable to the secretary-treasurer, J. E. Houck.

In his report to the membership, Chief Hollinger cited the following statistics:

Total number of calls answered, 33; town 6, country 27, Pennsylvania 1, Maryland 32, day 26, night 7; types of fires: Chimney 10, field 10, house 3, barn 1, auto 5, other buildings 4; property involved, Maryland $161,461.00, Pa., $150.00; property loss, Maryland, $28,636.00, Pennsylvania, $100.00; man hours consumed fighting fires, 863; miles traveled (each truck), 135; average men per fire, 30.

New equipment purchased during the year included 1½-inch and 2½-inch dachon fire hose; a two-way radio for rescue truck; outside speakers for each truck; a smoke ejector; 2 Chemox all-purpose gas masks; 2 large canvas salvage covers; 2 fog nozzles for 1945 booster lines; a hose dryer; large first aid kit; all-purpose hand lights; set of grappling hooks and recoil starters for the portable pump and lighting plant.

The most costly fires during 1957 were those at the Emmitsburg Tire Center and the Merte F. Keilholtz farm.

Church Group Holds Election

More than 50 teen-agers attended the Youth Supper and organization meeting in the Elias Lutheran Parish House last Sunday evening. Youth adviser, Carl Van Lowe, acted as leader and supervised the election of officers.

Mothers of the teen-agers served the roast turkey supper to the group.

The election results are as follows: Sue Eyster, president; Sandra Keilholtz, vice president; John D. White, treasurer. The following secretaries and committees were also selected: Christian Vocation, Shirley Hahn; Evangelism, Edna Zimmerman; missions, Clarence Umbel; social, Peninah Gilling and Shirley Eyster; recreation, Arvin Bollinger and John Gantrell; refreshments, Morris Zentz, Harriet Hahn, and Helen Liest.

The group voted to meet regularly the first and third Sunday evenings of the month at 7 o'clock.

Winter is the best time to treat horses for bot larvae to prevent them from maturing next spring as flies, veterinary authorities say.

Hair shedding and flakiness of extensive peeling of a dog's skin are good evidence of dietary deficiencies of fatty acids, veterinary authorities say.

All Incumbent County Commissioners File Officially For Re-election

Two hundred Frederick County Democrats representing every one of the 26 districts assembled in the ballroom of the Francis Scott Key Hotel Tuesday evening at what, in effect, marked the party's kickoff for the election campaigns looming ahead. There was no formal program for the event, featured by a banquet-style fried chicken.

Positive political impetus became immediately evident with announcement that each of the three Democratic incumbent County Commissioners had formally filed for re-election on Tuesday afternoon. Commissioners Delbert S. Null, Mehrl H. Ramsburg and A. Irvin Renn announced individually that they had paid the filing fee of $25 and became candidates for re-election on the Democratic ticket, subject to the primaries in May.

Harmony was the keynote of the meeting and the audience represented all of the various city and county Democratic organizations and groups.

There was no attempt at speech making. Commissioner President Null presided, and his remarks were confined to introduction of the group at the head table. They included members of the State Central Committee, officers of the various organizations, and a few prominent party leader-workers. Similar remarks were made by Commissioners Ramsburg and Renn.

Surprising was the large attendance from such a wide area in view of the unusually inclement weather and hazardous road conditions.

The general theme was goodwill and it was apparently taken for granted that support for Democratic slates were expected all down the line in the approaching elections.

LOCAL MOTHERS TO CONDUCT POLIO MARCH ON TUESDAY

Between 7 p. m. and 9 p. m. next Tuesday (January 28), Maryland women will join with those across the nation who have volunteered to take part in the 1958 Mothers' March on Polio, to benefit the current March of Dimes.

This year, in addition to asking for funds which will go toward the care and rehabilitation of paralytic polio victims, as well as toward March of Dimes financed programs of scientific research, professional education and Salk vaccinations, marching women will leave, at each home they visit, a card urging entire families to begin or to complete Salk inoculation programs.

"Across the United States last year, the Mothers' March on Polio brought the March of Dimes $13,900,000.00, approximately one-third of the entire contributions for 1957, former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, state chairman of the Dimes drive, pointed out.

"Since the inception of the Mothers' March on Polio several years ago, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has never underestimated the power of its women volunteers who, in two hours, amass large contributions to the campaign," Mr. Radcliffe continued.

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Girls' 4-H Club was held Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. Paul Beale. It opened with the 4-H pledge and a 4-H song. A demonstration was given by Monica Warthen and Katherine Springer after which a very interesting talk was given by Mrs. Beale on "Kitchen Care." Irene Grable was elected secretary, Monica Warthen as treasurer, and Frances Ann Ott, reporter.

He also said that Salk vaccination literature distributed by the marching women last year "benefited entire communities, for thousands more families realized the importance of being protected against paralytic polio."

Mr. Radcliffe urged citizens to turn their porch lights on Tuesday evening in order to welcome the volunteers.

The current March of Dimes continues through January 31.

New Postoffice

A new post office is slated for Thurmont, according to an announcement last week by Postmaster Earl T. Kelbaugh, who said that the Post Office Dept. is asking for proposals on furnishing quarters for such a building in the north county town.

The closing date for submission of proposals is Feb. 15.

Specifications call for a facility containing approximately 2400 square feet of floor space, a loading platform and paved maneuvering area. An assignable land option is held on property located on the east side of Water St., approximately 150 feet south of the intersection of Water St. and Rt. 15. The Department will enter into a lease running for a term of 10 years with the successful proponent.

Postmaster Kelbaugh said that the present facility which furnishes only 1000 square feet is entirely inadequate to meet the postal needs of the service at Thurmont.

Thurmont Cooperative To Hold Annual Banquet, Election

The annual stockholders meeting of the Thurmont Cooperative, Inc., will be held in Thurmont High School on Friday, January 31, beginning at 7 p. m.

A special program of entertainment prepared by Miss Mildred Trevett, will be presented during the evening. Educational films also will be projected and the annual election of officers will be held. Three directors will be elected at the meeting and door prizes will be awarded and refreshments served following a journey.

Mehrl Ramsburg is president of the Cooperative and D. Saylor Weybright is manager. Stockholders number over 2,000.

ENGAGED

Mr. Guy A. Ridenour, Thurmont, R2, announces the engagement of his daughter, Florence Ellen, to James L. Hobbs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbs, Sr., Fairfield, R2.

The wedding will take place on February 15 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

VFW PLANNING BENEFIT POLIO DANCE

Emmitsburgians will have the opportunity of spending an entertaining evening on Saturday, Feb. 1, and at the same time aid one of our most humanitarian causes.

The local Veterans of Foreign Wars is again backing the March of Dimes drive here and in an effort to raise additional funds, will stage a dinner and dance, the proceeds of which will go entirely to the March of Dimes.

Lumen F. Norris, post adjutant, announced this week he had something novel in the way of entertainment which will feature an Old Timers' Orchestra which will supply music for dancing during the evening. Previous to the dance a delicious sparerib dinner will be served in the VFW annex. Admission to the affair is $1 per person.

Mr. Norris has rounded up the personnel of the orchestra from former local musicians. Some of these players are Charles Bushman, Prof. Wm. Sterbinsky, Edward Stull, Edward Storm, Paul Dorn and Arthur Elder. It is planned to add a few more members to the musical complement for the evening and a number of vocalists will be featured. The musicians are donating their services to the March of Dimes. The general public is cordially invited and urged to attend the affair which will get under way at 7:30 p. m. It is permissible for those not wanting to attend the supper to be present for dancing which will commence about 9 o'clock.

Slav Music

To Be Featured

At College Concert

Musical journeys through the Slavic countries will be presented by the Duquesne University Tamburitza at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, on Monday, Feb. 3, at 7:30 p. m.

The Tamburitza, a group of 23 students on scholarship at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, integrate the dances, music, costumes, and the instruments of more than 10 Slavic countries. They specialize in the mastery of the tamburitza, one of the oldest stringed instruments in use by a Christian nation today. Technically an amateur group, critics consistently praise the professional caliber and continuity of their production, which is far above average college level.

Seventh in a series of concerts presented jointly by St. Joseph College and Mount St. Mary's College, the program will be held in DePaul Auditorium on St. Joseph's campus. Friends of students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Local Girl Is Member Of College Choir

Wagnild, is in its 22nd year and will sing a total of 17 concerts during the season which opens Feb. 2. The choir's annual tour includes cities in Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, and Maryland.

Mountaineers In Slump; Drop Four In Row

Jim Phelan's Mt. St. Mary's College basketball team, defending champions of the Mason-Dixon Conference, suffered its fourth straight defeat Tuesday night on the home court at the hands of the highly-touted St. Francis cagers. The Mountaineer log now shows 9 won and 5 lost. To date Phelan's men have not dropped a Conference tilt and are currently second in the loop with a five and 0 record.

The Blue and White's streak of hard luck began last week when strong St. Vincent's upset the locals. Another setback happened last Thursday when the locals were measured in Steubenville, O., by an overpowering Steubenville College, 71-58. The victory was particularly sweet for Steubenville whose one loss in 18 games was at Emmitsburg 67-66 on December 6.

Phelan's tribe trailed throughout and could never get its offense clicking. At half time the Barons led 32-19.

Bert Sheing, Mount scoring ace, was held to but four points by Johnny Clark who tabbed 15 himself while playing a tremendous defensive and floor game.

Jim Smith was the key rebounder for the Barons with 28 but landed only seven points.

Joe Sullivan topped the Mountaineer scorers with 14 tallies and Bill Williams dropped in 12. John Blanda added 14 to Clark's 15 in helping pace the Baron offense.

The third defeat came Saturday night when it lost to the Villanova College dribblers 84-67 at Philadelphia.

The setback lowered the Mount record to 9-4, all losses being outside the Mason-Dixon Conference in which the Mountaineers are defending titlists.

John Scott, 6'8" sophomore, was the big man in the Villanova triumph, leading in rebounding and also scoring 19 tallies.

The Mount, attempting to repeat their surprise victory over the Wildcats of last year, gave their opponents a stiff argument until late in the game. Poor foul shooting was costly, only seven of 19 tries being converted.

Villanova held a narrow 35-32 lead in the first half and the Mount moved ahead early in the second half but then fell apart.

Bert Sheing carried the brunt of the offense for the Mount and landed 21 tallies. In addition to Scott, Emma also landed 19 for the Wildcats.

In Tuesday's contest, Rip Nixon's field goal and foul with about five minutes to play put St. Francis ahead 69-66 and the Pennsylvanians went on to deal Mount St. Mary's its fourth straight defeat by a 77-70 score Tuesday night.

The Mounts battled strenuously against the superior height of St. Francis and handicapped themselves with fouls in the process. Jerry Bohlinger, high scorer for the losers with 18 points, fouled out with nine minutes to play and so did Jack Marshall after his two free shots tied the score at 66 with five minutes left.

Three other Mountaineers had four fouls and had to play cautiously, including Bill Williams who made 17 points.

A layup basket by Jack Gunn two seconds before the first half ended gave Mount St. Mary's a 39-38 lead. They held it for the first five minutes of the second half before Jack Aston, 6'4" soph, scored four straight points to put St. Francis ahead 51-49.

Wilbur Trosh, 6'8", who scored a total of 29 points, boosted the lead to six points before the Mounts staged a comeback.

Saint Francis has captured 11 of its 12 contests to date, losing only to Detroit. Mt. St. Mary's now has a log of 9-5.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Mark 6:34-44.
 How many loaves have ye? (Mark 6:38.)

It is said that during the childhood of Elizabeth, now Queen of England, when gifts or sweets were presented to her, her first question usually was, "Is there any for my sister?" The finest offering meant nothing to Elizabeth unless it could be shared with Princess Margaret.

Perhaps our loaves are few—not even five—but if our hearts are filled with the love that asks, "Is there any for my sister, my brother, for the 'whosoever' of the world?" then we will place them all in the Master's hands. Only then may we see the miracle which multiplies the bread so that none need be omitted in the breaking of the bread.

 How much we have is unimportant; it is what we do with what we have that counts. Jesus said, "Bring them here to me." "Give ye them to eat."

Prayer
 Our Father, may the love of Thy Son so fill our hearts that this day we may be like Him. As He gave, so may we give. As He loved, so may we love. Help us to enthrone Him so that today He may walk the earth in us: loving and giving. For the world's sake, and in His name. Amen.
Though For The Day
 Today all my loaves are for the Master and for those for whom He died.

Mahoney Criticizes Present Farm Program

George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, said last Saturday that the Republican administration's latest farm program "won't be of much help to either farmers or consumers, because it will be administered to give maximum benefit to the 'middleman'."

He added: "This has been the case with all our farm programs since 1952. No matter what their intent, they must be carried out by the Dept. of Agriculture headed by Ezra Taft Benson. The big corporate food processors and handlers supply 'advisers' to the Secretary of Agriculture and they have a powerful voice in formulating the policies under which farm programs are administered. The dirt farmer and consumer have no such influence."

"The results of such administration are plainly on the record. Since 1952, farm prices have declined nearly 16 per cent. Has this resulted in a saving to the consumer? No, indeed, for the consumer is actually paying higher prices for food."

Meanwhile, Mahoney said, "food processors, handlers, and middlemen have profited handsomely. Since 1952, for instance, the huge National Dairy Products Co.'s annual profits have increased from $27 million to $41 million—more than 50 per cent. How many dairy farmers have increased their earnings that much?"

"A nationwide corporation which supplies much of the feed to Eastern Shore poultry raisers has increased its annual profits more than 67 per cent since 1952. But Eastern Shore broiler raisers are lucky if they break even these days."

Mahoney declared: "In the Senate I will see to it that the point of view of the small farmer and consumer are given proper representation. Unless their interests are consulted, no farm program can ever be successful or of any real benefit to the general welfare of the nation."

"I will insist that the 'spread' between farm and retail prices be investigated. In 1952, 47c of the consumer's food dollar went to the farmer. Today, the farmer's share is only 40c. I'd like to know why that is the case—and I think the public wants to know, too."

Troop Committee Plans Scout Program

The regular meeting of the troop committee of Scout Troop No. 284 was held in the Firemen's Hall on Tuesday night with the following in attendance: Scoutmaster J. E. Houck, assistant, George Danner; First Class Scout Jerry Rightnour, Mr. Frank Fitzgerald, Edward Lingg, Earl Hawk, Wales Rightnour, Paul Claypool, Dr. J. W. Houser, Lawrence Orendorff, and Ernest Rosensteel.

An invitation was extended to the Scouts through Mr. Paul Claypool to visit Hood College Observatory, Frederick, on Jan. 24, weather permitting. The Scouts will attend a lecture and have an opportunity to view the stars through a high-powered telescope. Mr. Claypool, Dr. Houser and Mr. Fitzgerald volunteered to use their cars to transport the boys to Frederick.

Plans were made to hold a soup sale on Feb. 8 to raise money toward the boys' coming trip at Camp Roosevelt this summer.

Scoutmaster Houck advised the committee that Scout Week will be observed Feb. 7 thru 13, and various activities are planned, including window displays, Parents' Night on Feb. 9, attendance at church in a body on Feb. 9 at the Reformed Church.

Mr. Claypool advised that the Emmitsburg Lions Club will present a talent show on Feb. 21, the proceeds of which will go towards the Scout camping fund. The local Lions Club sponsors the Emmitsburg Boy Scout troop.

Plans were discussed concerning holding a Scout Troop banquet sometime in May and a committee was named to inquire into the possibilities of such a venture. The meeting adjourned at 9:45 and said the next meeting date will be announced later.

Babson Discusses Gravity And The Markets
 BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 23 — For some years I have been contributing large sums to the Gravity Research Foundation of New Boston, N. H. We have been trying to learn what gravity is, whether it can be controlled. Gravity influences everything from the lightest feather to the heaviest metal. Thus far, no insulator has been found for gravity. To hold anything up against the force of gravity requires force. Gravity May Be A Spirit
 Some believe that everything — including thoughts, prices, morals, ambition, and faith — are being constantly pulled down by gravity. I surely believe that such gravity has a constant downward pull on the stock market. As constant force is needed to keep up an airplane, kite, or balloon, so constant buying is needed to keep up prices. Force can raise prices as it can raise a load in an elevator. Furthermore, prices will fall as soon as this force is removed. Sir Isaac Newton's Law of Gravitation will be found to apply to the actions of the stock market.

We hear much about "value lines," "Dow Theories," and various statistical formulas to forecast markets; but I believe they are all helpless to keep stocks up, or make them rise, except as they increase buying. By the law of gravitation, prices of all kinds, including real estate, bonds and interest rates will fall unless supported. Thus the successful investor usually need only wait until the artificial supports are removed and he can then get stocks at his own price. This is why General Electric, General Motors and other good stocks sold for only a few dollars per share in 1932. They kept declining until support came. This will again repeat itself.

Outlook For World War III

Newton's Law of Gravitation will determine the future of international affairs. Conditions will continue to become worse until some nation falls. This need not be Russia. This fall will shorten the cold war, and either hasten peace or World War III. What Secretary Dulles, or Churchill or the Pope may say has very little bearing. What nation will be first to fall we do not know any more than we now know which of our big corporations will be the first to fall. It will be the first one from which support is withdrawn.

The same fact applies to our national politics. Every political party in power, remains in power until the public withdraws support. Then, by Newton's Law, it falls whether its principles are right or wrong. As the seed corn naturally falls to the ground so does everything else, — good and bad. England and France won World War II because of the support of the U. S. The outcome of World War III, if it comes, will likewise depend upon the support of our present allies.

Gravitation Of Morals

When I was a boy in church and Sunday School, I was seriously taught about a "personal devil" who was continually pulling me down morally. Now this "personal devil" has gone out of fashion in most modern thinking; but we are constantly being pulled down morally nevertheless. One great trouble with our nation today is that this "personal devil" is no longer popular and few preachers have given us anything worthwhile in its place. They should frankly tell us that "gravitation" is constantly pulling us down morally as it is pulling us down physically. It finally pulls us into the grave.

All the above means that there is no ultimate protection in any stocks, bonds, mortgages, real estate, or anything else, but constant supervision, proper diversification, and courage to act. Hence the rule is "from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves in three generations" for those who neglect such support. Nature does not provide security for any of us. It is impossible to 'retire' without rotting away. Constant struggle against evil is necessary for self-preservation both for individuals and nations. This law of gravitation not money, missiles or other military equipment will decide our future.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — The President's budget is the subject of much criticism for what it does and does not do. I am not prepared to say that I agree with it item by item, but I do want to stress the fact that we can hardly judge this budget by the fixed standards of other years. We must remember that this is the first budget of the age of space. The budget recognizes the possibility that much of our economic and social system may be substantially altered by developments of the industrial space age. It strikingly reminds us that we are being forced to reform and expand our educational system and re-channel our resources of men, machines, and materials.

Of special interest to those of us who live in the 6th Maryland District is the President's request for an appropriation of $230,000 to continue the Army Corps of Engineers' survey of the Potomac River Basin. The budget also provides $751,000 for the acquisition of stream valley parklands in Maryland. To complete the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project a request is made for an appropriation of $2,011,000.

I am greatly concerned, though, with the request for a reduction in funds for Federally impacted areas. I have made arrangements to testify before the House Education and Labor Committee on this subject. While I recognize the need for curtailing some domestic programs to meet the demands of national defense, I feel it is unwise to reduce existing educational programs. This is particularly true now that education is being stressed as an integral part of our defense program.

My belief is that the program for Federally impacted areas should be continued until we are able to work out a satisfactory system of Federal payments in lieu of taxes in areas where the "business of Government" is responsible for the presence of the inhabitants who require adequate school facilities. I have a bill pending which would provide for these payments in lieu of taxes.

I have introduced a bill to provide for a program of research into the increased uses of farm products. Development of industrial uses for agricultural products would go a long way toward solving the problem of farm surpluses.

Vaccination Against TB

Since the germ that causes tuberculosis was discovered 75 years ago, science has searched for an effective vaccine to protect all of us from the disease. But the answer is still in the future.

One vaccine developed back in the twenties, BCG — Bacillus of Calmette and Guérin—is still used, but has limited effectiveness. Research continues for a better vaccine, but there is nothing new in sight.

As a layman, you aren't too interested in the scientific reasons why it is so difficult to develop an ideal vaccine against TB. You want to know whether your children should have the protection of even an imperfect vaccine.

Mass vaccination of all children in this country is not indicated, according to a recent report of the U. S. Public Health Service. In some countries where TB is so prevalent that almost every child will be heavily exposed, mass BCG vaccination has proved valuable. However, in this country most of the new cases of TB develop among people infected some time ago. Vaccination is, of course, useless if a person is already infected. Doctors generally recommend BCG only for special groups—such as those working in hospitals and laboratories or families with a TB patient in the home—people most likely to be exposed.

If public health measures against TB in your community are adequate, the danger that children will be exposed is not great. A regular tuberculin test will provide a check on whether there is such exposure, and then preventive measures can be taken. Your doctor will tell you if there is any special reason why your children should be vaccinated against TB.

Looking Ahead

...by Dr. George S. Benson
DIRECTOR—NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Bossey, Arkansas

Glenn Green continues his dispatches from Europe. —G.S.B.
On A Yugoslavian Farm

PANCHEVAKI RIT, Yugoslavia—Dear Dr. Benson: This collective farm, second largest in Communists Yugoslavia, is one of the agricultural show places in Tito's domain. Its 42,500 acres are spread out across a rich blackland delta between the Danube and the Tamish rivers about 15 miles east of Belgrade. The larger part of my second day in Yugoslavia has been spent on this big farm, interviewing Director General Petar Zecevic and touring various units of the operation.

There are 2,100 people permanently settled on the farm, according to Zecevic. Several hundred seasonal workers join them from time to time. The major products are milk, pork, vegetables and grains. Almost without exception the products are distributed unprocessed. Milk moves into Belgrade in 20-gallon tin drums. Quantities go to government-operated hospitals and the rest to government-operated stores and markets. Pork and vegetables are handled as fresh produce. Corn and wheat are sacked but not processed.

Living In Cow Barns

In the modern, spacious offices at the big collective's management center. Zecevic and his chief agronomist, Miodray Trifuzovic explained that plants are under construction to process some of the vegetables, to process and bottle the milk. I was not shown these plants under construction. However, there is some first - step processing done at the center. They said milking machines are being installed. I saw cows being milked only by hand. They said the farm had a dairy herd of 2,068 Holsteins and Danish Reds. I saw only about 100 head of each breed. I saw a row of imposing white stucco barns sufficient to house 2,000 cows, but I saw only one of these barns (and at another place, a shed) occupied by cows.

While we were in this dairy area the doors of two of the barns were opened (definitely unscheduled) and out walked a number of unkempt, poorly dressed peasant farm workers. Everything about these people reflected deepest poverty. I looked through the open barn doors and saw several hundred wood bunk beds, and scores of workers milling around. They were living in the barns. My hosts volunteered no comment.

Trifuzovic took me to a residential area on the farm. The dwellings were white stucco units joined together. There were about 40 units, in four tiers. The grounds around them were untended, grown up in weeds. The gateway into this residential area had an arch over it, to support a big oval picture of Dictator Tito smiling down.

Zecevic said the farm operated 209 tractors. I saw five in operation. I also saw one of the biggest corn fields I've ever seen — two square miles of tall standing Nebraska hybrid. My hosts said there are many collective farms in Yugoslavia but that most of the land is in small privately-owned tracts. The small farmers are apparently as strictly controlled as the collectives. They are assigned quotas to produce, and they must pay taxes on the basis of the quotas even if they fail to reach them. None is permitted more than 25 acres. Few have as much as five acres.

Meager Income

Here at Panchevaki Rit, family income depends on the farming success of the particular unit in which the family works. The pay is in produce, credited to the family's account. This "income" ranges in value from $25 to $50 a month. There are 21 units in the collective. Some work in wheat, some with swine, some in sugar beets, etc. Each has its director. The Director General said that while the land of Panchevaki Rit is owned by the Government, the workers exercise control over everything through workers' councils. This same plan, I was told later, gives democratic control to the workers' in Yugoslavia's government-owned industries, in the stores and other state enterprises.

On the basis of what I have seen with my own eyes I'm convinced the workers—in industries and on the farms—exercise no control at all over questions affecting their welfare. Milovan Djilas, who was Tito's closest friend, vice president in the Tito government until he began complaining about abolition of individual freedom as Communism extended its power in Yugoslavia, has said, in a book written in his prison cell just a few miles from here, and sneaked out

Farmers Must Report By Jan. 31
All Cash Wages

January 31, 1958, is the deadline for reporting the cash wages paid in 1957 to farm employees, Owen William Ayers, Jr., Designated Representative, Internal Revenue Service, Frederick, stated this week.

Farm operators or farm owners who have paid as much as $150 in cash wages to any farm worker in their employ during 1957 must file an employer's tax and information return for such farm employees. They must also report each farm employee who worked for them on 20 or more days during 1957 regardless of the amount of those wages if they were figured on a time rather than a piece rate basis.

For 1957, the social security tax rate is 4½% (2¼% each for employer and employee). This tax applies to cash wages paid to a farm worker up to a total of $4200 in the year. The tax amount must be entered on Form 943 (Employer's Annual Tax Return For Agricultural Employees) together with the total amount of cash wages paid to the farm worker. It is required past the guards: "Compulsory labor in the Communist system is the result of monopoly of ownership over all, or almost all, national property. The worker finds himself in the position of having not only to sell his labor, he must sell it under conditions which are beyond his control... there is only one employer, the State." Another conclusion of mine: Yugoslavia under Tito is as much a part of the Communist world empire and its military establishment as is Red China. Every sign here indicates this fact.

TURN ON YOUR PORCHLIGHT

MARCH

that the farm employer do this and file the return with the District Director of Internal Revenue at Baltimore on or before the due date mentioned above.

Mr. Ayers points out that when a farm employee meets the 20-day a year test the farm employer should count only days for which the employee works for cash wages figured on a time basis. However, if the worker meets this test, the farm employer must pay social security taxes on all cash wages paid the employee during the year (whether on a time, piecework, or other basis.)

Farm employees include household workers if they are employed on a farm operated for profit.

Senator Urges End To Present "Mess" In Postoffice

Far-reaching proposals for Congressional action to "end our Post Office mess for all time" are offered by Sen. Olin D. Johnston in the February Reader's Digest. The mess has reached "staggering proportions" and requires urgent attention, writes the Senator.

ator, who is chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Postal service has become poorer, with deliveries less frequent, and deficits have risen despite a doubling of total mail volume in the past 15 years, he adds. Even the Postmaster General admits that his department's operations are "deplorable."

In his article, titled "How to End Our Post Office Mess—Permanently," Senator Johnston asserts that Congress can reverse this postal trend by acting now to improve the system and "create the best mail service in the world."

The Senator points out that the Post Office is currently spending some $2 million a day more than it receives. But much of the deficit was incurred in a "phantom deficit," resulting from the many public services the department performs, he says.

Typical of such services is Rural Free Delivery, whose expenses in 1956 exceeded its revenues by $205 million. This amount then became part of the postal "deficit."

He quotes Senator Frank Carlson, last Republican chairman of the Post Office Committee, who said:

"I don't see how anyone could justify RFD except as a service by government to its citizens."

Senator Johnston estimates the total measurable cost of public services performed by the Post Office as some $300 million yearly. In addition he lists other services whose costs cannot be accurately measured.

He writes: "Congress should adopt a modern Post Office policy which defines precisely what costs are to be borne by mail users and what costs are to be borne by the government because they are public services." The public should not be forced to pay for more than the mail services it buys, he says.

The Senator also calls for a long-range modernization program financed by a loan to the Post Office of $2 billion. Such money could come from the Federal Employees' Retirement Fund and be repaid at 3½ per cent interest, he says. Since the Retirement Fund now earns only 2½ per cent, everyone would benefit by the arrangement, he points out.

The Senator further recommends that Post Office employees be given an "adequate wage increase." This would pay big dividends in increased efficiency leading to great production, he says.

Once true mail costs are determined, a postal rate increase may still prove necessary. But, he adds, "I would not say precisely what increases should be made; I do not believe anyone can make a businesslike forecast of that until Congress sets the fundamental postal policy."

Radiological Course

The Frederick County office of Civil Defense in collaboration with the Maryland Civil Defense Agency has arranged for a radiological monitoring training course.

This is a 2-day course arranged basically for personnel of the C. & P. Telephone Co., the Potomac Edison Co., and the Frederick Gas Co., Inc.

The training course will be held on Feb. 3 and 4 from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. with a break for lunch. The course will be held at the East All Saints St. Reserve Armory.

Although the day-time radiological monitoring training course has been arranged for personnel of the above mentioned companies, any Frederick County firm or industry wishing to assign three or more of their personnel to receive this training may, and are encouraged to do so. Inform the County Civil Defense director by phone or letter prior to January 31. The address is 26 Water St. or phone Monument 2-4161.

Also, any private citizen of the county desiring to enroll in this course must notify the director prior to Jan. 31.

The Radiological Service of Frederick County Civil Defense is one of 14 County Civil Defense Services and in case of an emergency created by an enemy Atomic attack would be sorely needed to monitor the degree of intensity of radioactive fallout in any locality or localities of the city and county involved in a radioactive fallout area. Only previously trained personnel would be of value at such a time.

Mr. George A. Bodmer of the Safety Division at Fort Detrick will be chief instructor for this course. Mr. Bodmer is also County Deputy Director of CD Radiological Services.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

This month marks the first time sportsmen will be able to walk into their favorite sporting goods stores and pick out a vacation package ready-made, reports outdoor writer R. E. Osborne in the January issue of Sports Afield Magazine.

Here is something truly unique for the sportsman. In Cleveland a machine operator may stroll over to an attractive display of resort brochures and pick out a family vacation in Michigan or Wisconsin, or a Kansas City druggist may select a trout fishing trip in the Canadian Rockies. And the clincher is this service is free.

It's called Outdoor Vacations, Inc., and it's a new idea in recreational travel aimed at the guy who wants to go somewhere to do something—not just travel. Because it makes where-to-go a pleasure instead of a problem, this new service seems destined to make sports travel as popular as fishing itself.

And there's one more plus that will be of special interest to the average sportsman. As long as the guy in question doesn't have his checks bouncing all over town he can take his sports-vacation on a small down payment and pay the rest off later. This convenience brings that long-put-off trip a whole lot closer to reality.

Heading up Outdoor Vacations is E. L. (Buck) Rogers, an active outdoorsman and a recognized outdoor writer. Says he: "The United States has had a where-to-go problem for years. Cities have sprawled out into the countryside, quiet fishing lakes have been transformed into aquatic carnivals and country lanes have become crowded superhighways. Yet, the need to watch a pointer stalk a covey of quail, or cast over a secluded trout pool is more urgent than ever. The problem was—where to go?"

It's nice to know the problem has been solved.

Real Estate Man Is Honored

E. A. Strout Realty Agency, Inc., world's largest real estate firm, has announced the awarding of a large 20x28-inch royal blue silk banner with gold lettering to Robert L. Zentz of Taneytown, its local Carroll and Frederick County representative, indicating membership in its "Leader's Club" again for the year 1957. Out of more than 1000 representatives from coast to coast, membership in this club is limited to the top 25 representatives in the nation.

Mr. Zentz achieved this enviable position through the large volume of business his office enjoyed during the past year. The real estate sales volume for his office for 1957 was $224,900, during which time Mr. Zentz received 427 inquiries for various types of properties and showed properties to 170 different parties. Many of these inquiries were as a direct result of the world-wide distribution of the large famed Strout catalog in which Carroll and Frederick County properties are represented.

Strout Realty maintains 500 offices in 36 states from coast to coast and prospects are also channeled to the Taneytown office through Strout's network of prospect interviewing offices in big cities across the nation.

After 30 Years of Remodeling

Historic Shack Now Palatial Home

Thirty years is a long time to spend on any do-it-yourself project, but anyone who visits the rambling Colonial home of Jay Perine in Rockland County, N.Y., will agree every minute and effort put into the project was well worthwhile.

In 1928, Perine, a New York City advertising executive, bought the crumbling, 200-year-old shack shown in the "before" photo with the express purpose of making a Colonial-style mansion out of it.

He began work at once, and hasn't stopped since. Today the rambling 10-room house on 20 acres of forest land north of New York City, is a landmark in an area where pre-Revolutionary War homes abound.

Perine, who was a professional photographer for 15 years and who recently sang a concert in the Carnegie Recital Hall, did all the work himself with the occasional aid of two brothers and a sister. And he insists he has more projects in mind.

"The next job will be a new, all-white roof of asphalt shingles over that old metal roof up there," Perine said. "I want a white roof because it reflects heat."

Perine's desire for a heat-reflecting roof is a good illustration of his attitude toward the entire remodeling project: comfort first, Colonial authenticity second. Even the most critical observer will agree that both have been well served.

As an example, the house, which has four bedrooms, a music room, two baths, a giant living room, and dining room with fireplace, is thickly insulated with mineral wool in walls and ceilings.

Above, 200-year-old Rockland County, N.Y. house as it looks today. At right, the same house as it appeared 30 years ago before remodeling.

Part of the insulation was installed at the sacrifice of a few original plaster walls which were filled with a mixture of corn cobs, twigs, and bark—the "insulation" of George Washington's day. This had to be removed before fireproof mineral wool could be installed.

"I hated to see those walls go," says Perine, "but comfort came first. Besides, can you imagine the cost of heating a house this size without insulation?"

One place where Perine didn't have to sacrifice Colonial authenticity was in adding new doors and windows or replacing old ones. He obtained Colonial-style double hung windows and panel doors of ponderosa pine

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Well, here we are started into the 1958 Scouting season. Last Sunday a group of Scouts and Explorers took a hike to Indian Lookout with a study of nature thrown in.

On Tuesday night at the regular meeting, Troop Librarian Skip Englar reported the books being collected are now ready to be signed out and can be held for two weeks at no charge. Scout Englar was also appointed to head a committee on making a bookcase for the Scout House. Assistant Patrol Leader Gene Lingg was placed in charge of making a home-made patrol flag for the Panther Patrol.

With Scout Week coming in early February, a planning committee was appointed as follows: Explorer Jerry Rightnour, chairman; Explorer Robert Wagerman, charge of religious services; Scouts Ronald Stouter, Craig Stoops and Skip Englar. The committee will meet on Sunday and plan a window display, Parents' Night and a Court of Honor.

Explorers Jerry Rightnour and James Fitzgerald have been approved by the Troop Committee in passing requirements for Star Scouts. Explorer Rightnour has also passed all requirements for the "Ad Altave Dei," a religious award presented to Scouts of the Catholic Faith. Application for this award has been entered and must be passed by Council Headquarters.

Will Honor Spanish War Veterans

The American Legion, Dept. of Maryland, will hold a banquet on Feb. 15, to pay honor to the Spanish War Veterans. The affair will take place at the American Legion Home at Post No. 40 in Glen Burnie.

Plans are being made through the 200 Legion Posts in the state to arrange transportation to and from Glen Burnie for every Spanish American War Veteran living in Maryland who is physically able to attend.

The committee selected the above date for the dinner because it is the 60th anniversary of the Spanish American War. Immediately after the dinner the entire group will proceed in an auto cavalcade to the Baltimore War Memorial to hear the City Hall Bells toll for the men who went down on the Maine.

Cmdr. John Sloan said, "Each year we see the men who donned the khaki uniform sixty years ago dwindle in numbers. The line has grown thin. When the call to arms was sounded by President William McKinley, every man that responded was a volunteer. How well they carried the banner of freedom for our country is history, but history filled with achievement. Today, we have less than 250 Spanish American War Veterans living in Maryland. The American Legion takes great pride in saluting the valiant volunteers of 1898-1902."

Income Tax Guide Now Available

Sixteen more pages have been added to the new 1958 edition of Your Federal Income Tax and 166 new problems are discussed and answered in the publication, District Director C. I. Fox of the Internal Revenue Service said this week in announcing availability of the guide.

The new edition contains 128 pages and includes 43 chapter-subject headings. It answers questions and solves problems, Mr. Fox said, for those taxpayers for whom the instruction booklet which accompanied their Form 1040 does not provide full information. There are numerous illustrations and examples of how entries and computations should be made, the page size of the guide being the same as that of the Form 1040.

Taxpayers will find it easy to use the guide, Mr. Fox pointed out, and many will be able to answer not only one, but several questions which may arise in the preparation of a return where other than normal income and expenses are involved.

The tax guide, intended for individual and family use, is priced at 35c per copy. Last year more than half a million copies were sold and officials of the Revenue Service expect even greater public acceptance of this year's edition, Mr. Fox said.

Farm Group Will Stress School Interest

Education is of particular importance to every citizen, parent or not.

Maryland Farm Bureau's policy on Education passed at the recent convention urges "all members to take a great interest in the schools of their counties and avail themselves of every opportunity to learn more about the aims and efforts of the boards of education, current school program, activities of students, and the financing of school construction and educational facilities."

Farm Bureau has stood through the years on the belief that we can improve our system of public education most effectively and adequately through the utilization of state and local funds and resources, always keeping an eye on the important three R's—"readin', ritin' and rithmetic." We fear these have been somewhat overlooked in the recent past.

The little red school house did a better job on these than is being done currently.

Unemployment Payments Continue To Increase

The amount of benefits and the number of checks paid under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law in December increased substantially both over November (1957) and December of 1956, Robert B. Kimble, Executive Director of the Department of Employment Security, announced recently.

The increase over November, Mr. Kimble said, follows a seasonal trend, but is greater than the increase normally experienced at this time of the year. The increase over December of 1956 follows a pattern which was evident throughout 1957 and which intensified as the year progressed.

Employers reporting to the Department on the causes of December layoffs continued to characterize the great majority of them as temporary, that is, of less than 30 days duration. There was also an increase in the number of indefinite layoffs.

Among the causes cited were lack of work, seasonal trends, inventory-taking, inclement weather and plant shut-downs for vacation. (Persons ineligible for company vacation pay who are laid off during vacation periods are considered to be out of work thru no fault of their own and are eligible for Unemployment Insurance benefits provided they meet all other conditions of eligibility for these benefits.)

Temporary unemployment during the month, Mr. Kimble said, was associated with many areas of industry, including primary metals, fabricated metals, the apparel industry, transportation equipment manufacturing, chemicals and allied industries and, primarily as a result of unfavorable weather, the construction and seafood industries.

Mr. Kimble said that indefinite layoffs occurred principally in the primary metals, fabricated metals and food-processing industries.

Mr. Kimble pointed out again this month that while the increase over the previous year definitely reflected a rise in the number of people unemployed, the degree of unemployment has not increased to the extent Unemployment Insurance payments would seem to indicate.

In this connection, he cited the fact that a portion of the increase is attributed to amendments to the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law in 1957 having the effect, for many claimants, of increasing the weekly benefit amount and extending the period of eligibility, thereby inflating this year's statistics in over-the-year comparisons.

Offsetting these factors is the fact that railroad employees are covered under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act, not under the Maryland U. I. Law, and therefore are not reflected in Maryland's unemployment insurance statistics.

The $3,692,359 paid out during December throughout the state under the Maryland U. I. Law was 69.4 per cent greater than the amount paid in November and 253.0 per cent greater than the amount paid in December of 1956.

The 123,075 benefit checks disbursed in December were up 67.7 per cent over November and 171.4 per cent over December 1956.

Initial claims, representing new spells of unemployment, rose during December to a weekly average of 6,576, up 20.7 per cent over November and 71.7 per cent over December of 1956.

In Baltimore City, the $1,978,768 paid out during December was 71.4 per cent greater than the amount of November, and 301.6 per cent over the amount of December, 1956. The 63,402 benefit checks paid in December were 67.3 per cent greater than the number paid in November and 214.7 per cent greater than the number of December, 1956.

Initial claims in Baltimore City, representing new spells of unemployment, rose during December to a weekly average of 3,777, up 25.3 per cent over November and 94.4 per cent over December 1956.

In addition to the above program, which is conducted under the Maryland U. I. Law, the Department of Employment Security administers similar programs for veterans and Federal employees, the cost of which are borne by the Federal Government.

Unemployed Federal workers in Maryland received $139,506 in benefits in December, up 8.7 per cent over November and up 487.7 per cent over December, 1956. The 4,208 benefit checks paid these workers in December were up 8.5 per cent over November and up 374.44 per cent over December, 1956. These increases are attributable in part to the 1957 amendments to the Maryland U. I. Law, but principally to cutbacks in defense spending in recent months.

Unemployed veterans whose military service dates from the start of the Korean War to January 31, 1955, received $52,569 in December, an increase of 79.8 per cent over November and 58.5 per cent over December, 1956. The 2,427 benefit checks paid these veterans in December were up 74.5 per cent over November and up 60.3 per cent over December, 1956.

Trees Help Reduce Fuel Bills

Tests have shown that a good windbreak of trees around the farm home can reduce winter fuel bills as much as 22 per cent, by diverting winds over and around the house. It also prevents the drifting of snow in the yard and provides a sheltered place for livestock to loaf or children to play.

In the summer, the windbreak becomes a cooling system for the farm yard, a home for songbirds, and a recreational area.

Since one of the big advantages of a windbreak is the shelter it provides in winter, a good time to plan the planting is a windy winter day. Harry W. Dengler, University of Maryland extension forester, says it's necessary to study wind direction and snow drifting to determine where trees will do the most good.

The rows of trees in a windbreak should be planted roughly at right angles to prevailing winter winds, which generally are from the northwest in Maryland. This means the windbreak should be laid out along a northeast to southwest line. The important thing, Mr. Dengler says, is to let the prevailing winter wind direction decide the layout, rather than fence lines or field boundaries.

Fortunately—at least so far as the layout of a windbreak is concerned—Maryland's prevailing summer winds are from the southwest. This means that if the trees are properly placed, they form what Dengler calls an "air scoop" for summer winds and have a cooling effect.

Planning a layout that shelters in winter and cools in summer is best done with the assistance of a specialist. Mr. Dengler says expert advice is available from your forester, soil conservationist or nurseryman.
