Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Just happened to come across a copy of old town ordinances the other day and was amazed at how much authority these laws gave the town's public officials. According to them these officials could levy a tax on just about anything. For instance they could levy a water tax of not more than 10 cents on the one hundred dollars of assessable property; tax electric plants and wiring, tax dogs and telegraph lines, taxis, theatricals, etc. There was hardly anything that the town could not levy a tax on. It's a funny thing how many of these taxes disappeared down through the years but there's one thing certain, new forms of taxation, and many of them, have been devised to replace those lost down through the ages.

The particular group of ordinances I perused was revised up to and including 1910. At that time the tax rate was frozen at 30 cents on the $100. Now the new rate is $1.50 (highest possible). Let's not get this wrong now. The $1.50 is the ceiling, the present rate is 50 cents on the $100. Another law was that if your property needed a sidewalk and you refused to provide one the Town could do so and hand you the bill... and make it stick. The Burgess at that time had many privileges and powers. In fact they were almost limitless. He could enforce the laws, fine you, and sentence you or marry you. He was the burgess, constable and justice of the peace all rolled into one. Just how he ever became divested of his many powers I don't know. He was possibly supplanted by state laws which brought into being state police, trial magistrates, etc. Anyway, it did take a lot of responsibility off the burgess' hands. I believe the town's ordinances were last revised by the late Edward H. Rowe who codified and corrected them up to December 15, 1910. It would be really interesting to be able to review the complete set of ordinances and to see how many of them have become nullified and outmoded since the revision of nearly 50 years ago. I am told that some of them are downright silly.

Michigan has a unique way of rehabilitating automobile drivers with bad records. Following conviction of a second offender the driver is forced to attend a rehabilitation school, paying a $10 entrance fee. He must attend this school for at least eight hours under the tutelage of a qualified driving instructor. First his sentence is suspended pending his attendance at one of the schools. If he completes the prescribed course his sentence is permanently suspended. If he refuses to go to school he is fined or his license revoked, depending upon the gravity and severity of the case. Not a bad idea in my estimation.

The recent blizzard which caused so much hardship here and which dipped as far south as Florida, brings a heap of newspaper clippings from Jack Reifsnider of Jacksonville, Fla. The pictures show kiddies making a conventional snow man and sledding scenes. The snow played havoc with the New Orleans Mardi Gras when 9 inches fell there, the first snow in 20 years. The pictures also show hundreds of dead cattle strewn about the fields.

I imagine all this could have been avoided. Doc Green chides, if Abigail hadn't decided to debunk the Groundhog a number of weeks ago and the little creature decided to get even and prove that his legend was wholly a bonafide one.

Mountaineers Drop Basketball Championship

Mt. St. Mary's four-year reign as kingpins of the Mason-Dixon Basketball Conference came to an end Saturday evening when the Mountaineers bowed to American University 74-71 in the championship tournament game at Loyola College, Baltimore.

Jim Phelan's outfit got off to a dazzling start featured by the outside shooting of Bill Williams to hold leads of 8-0, 14-4 and 22-9 before Frank Weiss brought the Eagles from behind with some brilliant scoring. Weiss tabbed 17 points in the first half to enable his team to finally catch up at 28-28.

The second half was a sizzler with the outcome in doubt until the final whistle.

Jack Marshall, who fouled out early in the second half, was sorely missed by the Mountaineers in the waning minutes.

During the final two minutes of the thrill-packed game, George Shugars and Bill Beauchamp landed crucial points from the foul line to clinch the title for the Eagles.

Mt. St. Mary's spurred near the end of the game after trailing on sharp-shooting by Williams, Charley O'Donnell and Jerry Savage but Beauchamp made a pair of decisive free tosses just before the game ended.

The Mountaineers wound up their season with a 16-9 overall mark.

Williams, O'Donnell and Joe Sullivan, all seniors, concluded their collegiate careers with the game.

American U. will now represent the Mason-Dixon Conference in the NCAA small college tournament and opposes the University of Buffalo this week at Philadelphia.

Veterans Post Nominates For Election

The annual nomination of officers was the main order of business transacted at the regular monthly meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658 held Wednesday evening in the post home. Due to the death of Commander Harold Hoke's mother he was unable to preside at the meeting. Senior Vice Commander Raymond M. Baker took charge of the meeting.

Two new members were accepted into the post by unanimous vote. They were Dr. William H. Carr and Charles Edward Spaulding. The report of the adjutant-quartermaster reflected the very stable financial condition of the post. The chairman of the ambulance committee, Clyde J. The VFW scholarship fund committee report was tabled until the next meeting. At that time Commander Hoke will be able to present a complete detailed plan.

Lumen F. Norris spoke on the nomination of a post commander for the coming year. He spoke highly of the high caliber leadership under the incumbent commander, Harold M. Hoke, stating that such ability and integrity in a man is hard to find. The programs presented to the post by the commander are full of vision, aggressive and imaginative and that the present commander should be permitted to serve another term in order to complete many of his proposed progressive projects. Adjutant Norris then placed Commander Hoke's name in nomination. Other nominations for the various offices were made as follows:

Richard was rushed to the Warner Hospital in Gettysburg in the VFW ambulance where it was determined he was suffering from a fractured skull and multiple deep lacerations of the head. He still is placed in a critical condition.

State Trooper William G. Morgan who investigated, said the mishap occurred when the youth tried to cross S. Seton Ave., west to east and was hit by a 1949 Buick operated by Eugene Fidler, 30, Gettysburg R4. Trooper Morgan charged Fidler with reckless driving and he will stand trial Saturday morning before Magistrate Charles D. Gillean, Emmitsburg. Damage to Fidler's car was estimated at $30. ## Town Council Seeks New Postoffice

An effort to obtain a new Postoffice for Emmitsburg has been made it was revealed at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg held Monday evening in the Town Office, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners Charles R. Fuss presiding over a full board present.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey disclosed that contact had been made with U. S. Senator John Marshall Butler regarding a new Postoffice here but no additional information was forthcoming at this time.

Council heard from spokesmen of the Potomac Edison Co. which provides electricity for the town. Streetlighting was discussed and it was agreed that two lights would be placed in operation at the town parking lot adjacent the Toor Shoe Co. plant on Chesapeake Avenue.

Reports of the town treasurer and clerk, Miss Louise Sebald were accepted as presented and Tax Collector Charles D. Gillean reported that over $4000 in taxes had been paid during the past month.

Discussing the planned sewer extension and disposal plant, the Council revealed that all that was needed prior to the letting of bids for the actual construction were rights-of-ways from three local individuals who own property over which the line must cross. Just as soon as this matter has been disposed of in a satisfactory manner, bids will be let to some qualified contractor and actual work should commence sometime this year.

A donation of $50 to the Emmitsburg Library was authorized by the Town Solons. The proposed two town charter amendments, Council disclosed, will become effective next Friday. These amendments empower the Town Fathers, or governing body, to raise the borrowing power of the Corporation and to assess property owners as necessary to retire the indebtedness incurred by the installation of the new sewer line. No opposition to these amendments has been officially registered.

Tax Returns Short Of Estimate

County tobacco taxes for the first two months of 1958 did not reach budget estimates, totalling $32,517.17, according to the figures of County Treasurer James H. Falk, who collects the taxes. The cigarette-cigar-tobacco taxes amounted to $16,168.50 in January and $16,448.7 in February. To reach the budget estimate of a cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink dress, white hat and gloves, and carried a small basket of pink and white carnations. Richard Fitz, Emmitsburg, was the best man.

The ushers were Robert Troxell and William Brawner, brother of the groom, both of Emmitsburg.

The bride's mother wore a blue floral-print dress, a winter-white hat, black accessories and a red rosebud corsage. The mother of the bridegroom wore a gray tweed dress, black hat and black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home for approximately 75 guests.

The couple will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson. Mrs. Brawner graduated from Gettysburg High School in 1957 and is employed in the physical therapy department at the Annie M. Warner Hospital.

The bridegroom attended St. John's School, Frederick, and is employed at the Inductive Equipment Company.

$240,000, the taxes would have to average $20,000 a month. The County Commissioners, who invoked the taxes last year to meet capital outlay needs for schools, have indicated they will be dropped at a later date if the state tobacco tax to finance a teachers' pay raise is placed into effect.

Your Personal Health

Be An Escapist

Do you pride yourself on your ability to take it? To suffer in silence? To hold your temper under all circumstances?

These are generally considered great American virtues, inherited from our stern and rock-bound Puritan ancestors. However, if you go too far with them, you may be building up big trouble for yourself.

Forcing yourself to "take it on the chin" is no way to solve a painful problem. Actually it's a form of self-punishment. Sometimes it's better to be an escapist for awhile. Note "for awhile." Lose yourself in a movie or a game or a book, or a brief trip for a change of scene. Then you can come back to your problem and deal with it in better condition emotionally and intellectually.

If you're boiling internally with anger, physical activity is a good escape and relief for tension. Pitch into something strenuous like gardening or tennis or window washing or wood chopping. Work the anger out of your system, and you'll be better prepared to handle your problem intelligently. Frequently it helps to confide your problem to some level-headed person you can trust: husband or wife, father or mother, clergyman, family doctor, or teacher. Talking things out helps relieve strain and often helps you see your troubles in a clearer light. You might even get help toward a solution. There's no virtue in shutting yourself off from help that's available.

Everybody has problems. Everybody gets anxious and tense occasionally. This is normal. The time to worry is when emotional upsets are frequent and severe and don't wear off. A little common-sense escapism can help maintain good mental health.

...by Dr. George S. Benson

Let's Not Stampede
On any western cattle range the cowboys can tell you that sometimes a very small and insignificant thing can cause cattle to stampede. Sometimes a little thing that would not have harmed the cattle catches the eye of one or two, causing them to bolt through the herd and set off the stampede. If the cattle had reasoning power then wouldn't a little investigation of the situation calm them down and prevent the destruction of a stampede? Sometimes reasoning power works and sometimes it doesn't. When a person yells "Fire!" in a crowded theater often there is a great upheaval and rush of human beings and some get trampled to death.

The stampede psychology needs to be examined today in the light of two recent developments bearing on the welfare and security of American citizens. The Russian Communists shot a satellite into orbit, and some Americans in some ways acted like stampeding cattle. And now, to add to the excitement of the panic-stricken, we have what some people are calling a "recession." All kinds of urgent emergency measures are being talked about to meet these two developments.

Calm Thinking Needed
Let's not be cattle. Let's not stampede. Let's do a little calm thinking. Unless Communist dictator Khrushchev loses his hard-headed reasoning power he will not strike against the United States while the scales are so obviously weighed against him. The Soviet satellite launching proves that their crash program with missiles and space satellites has achieved notable progress. But this assumption must be weighed against the unquestionable array of facts which show that Soviet production capability for all the signs of war is no match at all for the U. S. A., and never will be so long as we keep our free system and they keep their slave system.

Even if Khrushchev should go berserk and strike at us he could not knock us out with one offensive splurge, however gigantic it might be. And from our ring of bases much closer to Russia than Russia is to us, we could devastate her war-making capability in a short time. Khrushchev knows this. And for a sustained follow-through after the initial splurge, Russia couldn't come close to matching America's staying power. Khrushchev also knows this.

Soviets Want Centralization
The Soviet dictators are counting on infiltration, propaganda and the undermining of the strength of nations outside the Iron Curtain to topple them one by one into their grasp. Their favorite prescription for weakening nations is—through infiltration and propaganda—to subtly turn them toward "democratic" Socialism, central planning and control. They have succeeded in many European countries. More than ever before, Americans need to understand all the elements in our system, their advantages, and how they work, so that we can safeguard them from calculated undermining and inroads.

We mustn't go overboard in coping with the well-advertised "recession." What's happening is a readjustment in the supply and demand mechanism. For more than 10 years the productive capacity of American industry has been running nearly full blast to meet consumer demands abnormally stimulated with billions of abnormal defense spending. In spite of the relative abundance of money, a great many people have overbought; many industries have over-produced. For at least two years most economists have been predicting a "re-adjustment."

Supply and Demand
If not interfered with too much the natural law of supply and demand will adjust the economy in the direction of soundness and there will be no protracted dislocation. Necessary consumer production augmented by the continuing defense production will absorb most of the present temporarily unemployed. Our only real danger would come from the development of a stampede psychology or the adoption of quack remedies.

In the readjustment period we clearly see at work the law of supply and demand. Automobile manufacturers were among those who overproduced in the face of a tightening market. An oversupply forced down prices and curtailed production. An auto dealer near my home advertised in this morning's paper that he is selling 160 brand new 1958 model cars at dealer's cost plus $58. Healthy, normal auto production will resume when the surplus supply is exhausted. Our system will ride out little ups and downs if we don't hamstring its basic principles and dynamic impulses.

A Flavorful Dish For Lenten Meals

Meatless meals that are different are often a problem for homemakers during Lent. For a welcome change try Deviled Eggs with Shrimp and Rice which makes use of the quicker-than-ever 5-minute rice as a base. Shrimp is added to the deliciously seasoned egg mixture and the eggs are served on rice, then topped with curry sauce. This mouth-watering dish is indeed a boon to homemakers in need of something quick, something different.

Deviled Eggs with Shrimp and Rice

6 hard-cooked eggs	1 1/2 cups (4 3/4-ounce box) packaged pre-cooked rice
3 tablespoons mayonnaise	1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons vinegar	1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/4 teaspoon salt	3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard	3 tablespoons flour
Dash of pepper	2 cups milk
1 cup cooked fresh or canned shrimp, drained and cut in pieces*	1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion
	1 teaspoon curry powder

Cut eggs in halves. Remove yolks and force through a sieve; add mayonnaise, vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, mustard, and pepper; mix well. Add shrimp and fill egg whites with mixture. Set aside. Add packaged pre-cooked rice and salt to boiling water in saucepan. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes. Fluff with fork.

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir until blended. Then add liquid gradually, stirring constantly. Add onion and curry powder. Cook and stir until sauce is smooth and thickened. Place deviled eggs on bed of rice and top with curry sauce. Makes 4 servings.

*Use 1/4 to 1/2 pound fresh shrimp or one 8-ounce can.

What Would You Do In These Situations?

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

EVEN THE MOST SELF-SUFFICIENT woman driver is somewhat at a loss (although she'd hate to admit it) when her car stalls or a strange noise develops under the hood.

Most women have just one solution — they turn to the nearest man. However, when you're stranded on a lonely road, or it's dark and you don't feel like waiting for a chivalrous male to arrive, it's wise to know some mechanical pointers.

To test your ability to take care of yourself, here are a few driving situations. What would you do?

1. You back into soft shoulders, sand or snow. You put the car into low gear to ease out, but your wheels spin you in even deeper.

ANSWER: Try to create traction by digging the dirt or snow away from the wheels, and by placing boards or branches under the tires. Now try rocking the car as far forward as it will go, then quickly shift into reverse, then to forward. It probably will get you out. As a last resort, call a tow truck.

2. You forgot to switch off the headlights. Now the car won't start.

ANSWER: The battery is down, so turn off lights, radio, heater and all other accessories. Try to start the car. If nothing happens, let it rest a few minutes and try again. If you have a car with a manual shift, try to start it with your foot on the clutch and the gearshift in neutral. Meanwhile, someone may come along to give you a push.

3. You flood the motor and the car stalls.

ANSWER: Turn on the ignition, put the transmission into neutral, press the accelerator all the way to the floor—and then use the starter. Once the engine starts, gun the accelerator for a short time until the engine roars.

4. It's a rainy or snowy day. You apply your brakes at an intersection and the car skids.

ANSWER: Don't panic and don't jam on the brakes. Turn the steering wheel in the direction in which the car is skidding, slowly removing your foot from the accelerator.

5. The streets are flooded and your brakes get wet.

ANSWER: Apply brakes carefully. They may grab, causing you to skid. Drive slower than usual. If the brakes fail because the lining is wet, pump the brake pedal.

Great Fire Almost Destroyed Emmitsburg 95 Years Ago

(Reprint from 1913 Issue of the Emmitsburg Chronicle)

The following account is a reprint from a 1913 edition of the Emmitsburg Chronicle kindly supplied this paper by Warren Gelwicks. The account vividly depicts the great fire which almost destroyed the entire town of Emmitsburg during the Civil War. As near as can be determined about 30 houses were burned to the ground with resultant misery, hardship and financial loss to many local families. In the public's interest we are reprinting the story.

Next Sunday, June 15th, will be the fiftieth anniversary of the great fire in Emmitsburg. The younger generation knows of it only through tradition and hearsay; those in middle life barely recollect it, but the older generation have the catastrophe ineradicably stamped upon their minds. The latter could have told many an interesting story of that exciting time and would no doubt be willing to recount the thrilling events which happened on that memorable night, but space only permits the republication of the account as set down by Mr. James A. Helman at the time and which appears herewith:

Eleven o'clock Tuesday night, June 15th, 1863, the citizens of the town were startled by the cry of fire. The livery stable of Guthrie & Beam had been by the hands of the incendiary fired. The flames spread to adjoining stables making a great conflagration, then spreading, it consumed the houses of Lawrence Dwen, Wm. Waters, Dr. J. W. Eichelberger, J. F. and D. G. Adelsberger's shop and Michael C. Adelsberger's house. With great difficulty the house of Mrs. F. A. Rowe was saved, thus stopping the spread of the fire up the North side, but while the effort to save this house was going on, the houses down the North side were burning. Dr. Wm. Patterson, J. F. Adelsberger, D. G. Adelsberger, Patrick Kelley, George Bishop, Francis McGraw, James Hospelhorn, Upton Koontz, Caroline Zimmerman, Jacob Harner, John Hopp, and all the stabling and outhouses belonging to each. The flames leaped across the street to Hugh Daily, James Morrison, John Hoover, George Cunningham, James Wise, John Miller, Henry and Geo. Winter, Mrs. F. Smith, Jesse Nussear, Joshua Shorb, and Daniel Willis' hotel, and all the stables and outbuildings attached to them. The only hope now for the town was to stop the fire by concentrating all the force on the Deckelmyer house. While this was being done, many of the frightened people above the square were moving out or making preparations to do so, as it looked hopeless for the remaining part of the town to be saved, if the fire was not checked at the Square. It was daylight when the terror-stricken people were assured the fire was under control. It was a night long to be remembered by all who witnessed it. Many lost nearly all their household effects.

When the sun arose upon the burnt district it revealed the horrors of the night, and the people realized they were homeless, many penniless, blackened walls or only foundation to tell, where eight hours before comfortable habitations stood. Houses were opened to shelter the thirty families who were so suddenly made homeless; some repaired to friends' houses in the country. The fields and roads close by were strewn with furniture and bedding. Some of this was damaged by the sparks, and one piano on the pike as far down as the warehouse was greatly damaged. While beds were being carried away they took fire upon the men's shoulders. While the fire was raging, the church bells were rung to call the people from the country. A few came, while quite a number came within sight of the town and, seeing the great light, they concluded the rebels had fired the town, and they returned to their homes, fearing they knew not what, for these were perilous times. The army under Lee was moving up the Valley of Virginia, the Army of the Potomac was moving toward

Washington. Sixteen days later these two armies met at Gettysburg with results well known to all. The excitement of army passing helped to divert the people of our town; the battle, the return of the army passing, kept up the excitement, thus the people were kept excited the whole summer. Later families or individuals left for other fields.

Between midnight and morning, Rev. Dr. John McCloskey brought the boys from the college to assist at the fire. No doubt some of these boys have often thought of this fire and the jolly time they had.

Many amusing incidents occurred, such as carrying feather beds down stairs and throwing a mirror after it. An old lady came to the writer with a basin of water and insisted upon his throwing it on a burning house. Some carried their furniture into houses where it fared the same fate it would if it had been left at home. The excitement was so great, many were not responsible for their acts. It was no uncommon thing to see groups crying and bewailing together. It was a piteous sight to behold.

For weeks the town was the attraction, not only for people near, for they came long distances

Mahoney Backs Home Builders

George P. Mahoney, candidate for the Democratic U. S. Senate nomination, said Saturday that a home-building plan he proposed ten days ago "has won widespread support and excited considerable interest both in and out of Congress." Mahoney's plan, designed to take 2 million workers off the unemployed rolls and "break the back of the recession," proposes Federally - insured mortgages, to run for 30 years at 3 1/2 per cent interest for families in the $3250-$5000 annual income bracket. Mahoney said: "This will open up a whole new market for homes among lower income families who, despite their great housing needs, have incomes too high to qualify for public housing, yet cannot obtain financing for privately-built homes. "Earlier this week, the Wall Street Journal reported: "A Philadelphia contractor says about a third of the buyers he had lined up for a development of $15,000 homes couldn't qualify for mortgages because their incomes are inadequate. He says 'No question but that people are anxious to buy if they find something they can afford.'" Mahoney said: "The Wall Street Journal reported similar situations in various parts of the country. My proposal, which would allow purchases with a five per cent down payment in addition to the low interest rate, will bring these buyers into the market, increase home-building by a million units annually and create jobs for two million workers a year in construction and allied trades. "Senator John Sparkman (D. Ala.), chairman of the Senate Housing Subcommittee, feels my proposals offer one way to reach a great number of people not otherwise being reached.' His office informs me that the plan "will receive careful study by the subcommittee."

"Mr. Richard J. Gray, who heads the AFL - CIO Building Trades, termed the plan the 'most exciting approach' to the housing program which he has seen. He agreed it offered an opportunity to put men to work immediately, in contrast to the administration's public works proposals, which would be on the drawing boards for six to twelve months."

HERE'S HOW ...

MAKE A WALL UNIT-HEADBOARD COMBINATION

A bookcase ensemble can solve a storage problem for toys and books. Little-used items are stored on the lower shelves of the wall unit and hidden from view when the bed is moved against it. The length of the wall unit corresponds to the length of the youngster's bed. The length of the headboard unit is equal to the bed width plus the wall unit. Cut the frame members to this length. Cut the side panels of each unit of sufficient length so that when they are placed between the frame members the total height is 33 3/4 inches. Be sure to include the base in the height of the headboard unit. Mark the location of the interior shelves on the side panels as shown in the diagram. Assemble the individual frames. Cut the interior shelves of the units to fit between the sides. Cut the three small dividers to fit between the lower shelves of the wall unit. Center the dividers on the shelves and attach them from beneath. Position all shelves and fasten them to the sides. Cut the upper dividers to fit and fasten them in place as shown.

Make the base for the headboard unit 4 inches shorter than the unit length. Attach the hardwood plywood back.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Check Fiber Content In Concentrate Feeds

Fiber is important in feed crops just as bones are important in man or beast. It is fiber that gives the corn plant strength and rigidity to stand up against wind and weather instead of being flattened to the ground. Plant fiber is cellulose and appears in the form of thin and lace-like cell walls which make up the leafy growth of the plant, or it can be thick and very strong as it is near the base of a cornstalk.

While fiber is vital to the growth of feed crops, it has been found to be low in digestibility as an element in animal feeding. A ten-year study at the University of Wisconsin showed that for every one per cent increase in fiber content of a grain mixture beyond about 8 per cent, the usual percentage in a good commercial dairy or hog feed, there is 2.5 per cent decrease in feed value.

While the definition of a concentrate is feed that is low in fiber, there are differences among concentrates varying all the way from a highly digestible two per cent fiber in corn grain to 10 per cent in oats and even 15 per cent in lightweight oats and dried brewers grains. These percentages of fiber content in concentrates may be compared with the fiber content of roughages such as hay with 28 per cent fiber and straw with 35 per cent or more, and consequent lower digestibility.

An important lesson from this comparison, and from the Wisconsin findings on digestibility of concentrates with more than about 8 per cent fiber content is that we must watch not merely the minimum protein and fat guarantee of the commercial feeds we buy and use, but also note the maximum fiber guarantee as listed on the feed tag.

As the fiber content goes up, the feed value goes down. For instance, a 16 per cent protein dairy feed with a maximum fiber content guarantee of 8 per cent provides about 10 per cent more feed value per pound than a 16 per cent protein feed with a maximum fiber content of 12 per cent.

Since the higher fiber concentrate provides less feed value, it should be priced lower, even though the protein content is the same. The farmer buying concentrate feeds must watch the price, the protein content and the maximum fiber guarantee to be sure of full feed value per dollar.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — I have been assigned to the House District Crime Subcommittee. The appalling increase in nighttime crime, involving violence on the streets of the Nation's Capital, prompts the creation of a special subcommittee to look into causes and to seek remedies for this deplorable situation.

It is completely inexcusable that neither visitors nor residents are safe at night on the streets of Washington. I am greatly disturbed by the fact that many of these criminal acts are accompanied by personal injury to the victims and that far too many attacks are perpetrated on elderly people—especially women. The monetary gain is so small in most cases that it seems to me that nothing but sheer cruelty and an infantile desire to hurt can be the motive in these brutal attacks.

Our subcommittee will seek out the causes and make such recommendations as are necessary to put a stop to nighttime Washington street crime. It may mean stiffer laws, changed sentencing procedures, or more police on the streets—whatever it is, we propose to get something done before the problem gets worse.

I have recently consulted with the States Roads Commission and other authorities on improvements for Route 40 between Hancock and Cumberland. Improvement of this highway is part of the State's 12-year program and will be completed as money becomes available. State highway officials are continuing their efforts to have the highway beyond Hancock included in the Federal interstate highway system.

My so-called "simultaneous death" bill which passed the House last session is pending in the Senate. I testified before the Senate committee on my measure which will clarify the law with respect to the distribution of property when a husband and wife are killed in the same accident. My

Social Security, Soil Bank

Closely Related

The relationship between Social Security and payments made to farmers under the Soil Bank's Conservation and Acreage Reserve programs was pointed out today by Julius P. Parran, Chairman, State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

According to a notice from the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance, the Chairman said, Social Security credit for self-employed farmers is based on net earnings from self-employment. To count, the net earnings must be $400 or more in a year. Acreage Reserve and Conservation Reserve payments made under the Soil Bank program to farm operators should be included in determining the amount of a person's net earnings.

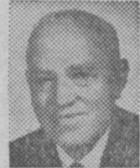

Farm rental income, Mr. Parran further explained—including rentals paid in crop share—does not count for Social Security unless (1) the arrangement between the landlord and the tenant-operator provides for the landlord's participation in the farming operation; and (2) the landlord participates materially in the crop or livestock production on the rented farm. The share of the Acreage Reserve or Conservation Reserve payments received by a landlord for placing his rented farm in the Soil Bank counts for Social Security only if he is a materially participating landlord.

Therefore, Chairman Parran concludes, an individual is subject to payment of the self-employment tax if his net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more. Soil Bank payments received by farm operators and materially participating landlords must be included in determining the amount of the net earnings. Where the net earnings are $400 or more, the self-employment tax must be paid.

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Washington military, diplomatic and congressional leaders are measuring the relative U. S. and Russian military potentials in preparation for a firm stand at the forthcoming summit talks.

The yardstick being used is striking power, measured both in total force and ability to move rapidly to counterattack once the first blow has been delivered. The opinion of military experts we've talked with is that neither nation could deliver an initial knockout blow.

Japan, they recall, delivered an all-out sneak attack on Pearl Harbor that crippled our Navy. Our superiority in the movement of men and material to distant parts of the world proved, in the end, to be decisive.

Russia undoubtedly has, or will soon have, the ability to strike an even more punishing first blow through the use of long-range missiles. But we now have the ability to move fully equipped armies thousands of miles in a matter of hours, and to keep them supplied through an aerial pipeline.

Secretary of the Air Force, James H. Douglas, pointed out that, in addition to an undisclosed number of military planes, the U. S. has on a stand-by basis some 2,500 civilian cargo and passenger planes in a Civil Reserve Air Fleet that would dwarf the famous Berlin airlift.

Except for the availability of the CRAF, the military budget now before Congress might be appreciably larger. Secretary Douglas recognized this when he told a congressional military appropriations committee:

"We have not ordered any turbojet transport aircraft for the Military Air Transport Service, such as the airlines have on order in large numbers, and which we count on the airlines making a part of CRAF. This fleet is an essential part of our wartime airlift ability."

These views are shared by Congressmen with whom we have talked. Rep. Prince H. Preston, (D., Ga.), Chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee for the Air Force, told us in an interview:

"Our not-so-secret weapon, more significant than all the Sputniks, is the Civil Reserve Air Fleet. It should be maintained and strengthened to give us unmatched ability to shift and concentrate our striking power in a matter of hours, not days or weeks.

"The building of a strong civilian air fleet through government assistance not only is good sense, it also is good economy. The Berlin air-lift demonstrated the value of our ability to move people and supplies safely and speedily."

Rep. Albert Thomas, (D., Tex.), another member of the subcommittee, told us that "if and when the next war starts, the initial movement of men and supplies must be done by air. This can be done only if we maintain and strengthen our air power, both military and civilian. An adequate reserve through the commercial airlines is of the utmost importance."

Rep. John J. Rooney, (D., N. Y.), also a member of the Air Force subcommittee, said "air power will continue to be of vital importance in our total defense for some time. I favor maximum utilization of both military and civilian planes as the most economical method for maintaining our air strength."

Hidden Taxes . . . With Every Bite!

The average consumer of food, entertained the tax collected at dinner last night and didn't realize that he was a guest. In fact, he is a regular dinner guest and his appetite is getting larger all the time.

Before he sat down to the table, he had already visited the farmer, the fertilizer and equipment manufacturer and the rail and truck transporter through such taxes as the manufacturers' excise tax, telephone, property, sales, income, social security, gasoline and licenses taxes. All of these and plenty more are added to the final retail price of food items.

For these reasons, it is not a surprise that 20c out of every dollar spent at the grocery store goes for hidden taxes. Or to bring it nearer to the pocketbook . . .

When the consumer buys a dozen eggs you pay at least 100 tiny taxes that do not appear on the bill. On a loaf of bread, there are 151 taxes and at least as many or more on a can of beans or a pound of beefsteak. And on a pack of cigarettes about half of the cost is due to taxes (direct and hidden).

It is hard to fight what you cannot see, and while it would be ideal to bring to light how much goes for taxes and how much for commodities, the whole subject is too complex to simplify.

 Babson Discusses Importance Of Time
 BABSON PARK, Mass., Mar. 6—Some wise man said that when anyone steals our money, we have a chance to get it back; but when anyone steals our time, we can never replace it. This is true whether it refers simply to being late to appointments, or whether it concerns strikes, idleness, or not working efficiently.
 How Large Fortunes Are Made
 However, this week I will write of an entirely different use of TIME—namely, in connection with increasing the value of our investments. In fact, time and patience have been the making of most large for-

Fashionable Chestnut Hair Needs Highlights

The most fashionable hair color for Spring is chestnut, according to latest reports from Paris. Those who don't have it naturally are seeing dye experts about it.
 So if you're the owner of chestnut tresses—consider yourself just lucky and get to work on highlights. The chestnut-haired girl shown here brings out the richness and warmth of her hair coloring by treating it with Vaseline hair tonic, the pure petrolatum base product so excellent for hot oil treatments, scalp massage and daily hair grooming.
 She first sprinkles a few drops on her palm, then rubs her hands together and rolls her curls lovingly between her palms. Result: each curl and wave has a gleaming highlight and springy pliability.

tunes. Of course, one must use intelligence and diversification, but the truly important requirement is TIME.
 Most readers know that if they should promise to pay some person one cent the first day, and two cents the second day, and four cents the third day, and eight cents the fourth day, and so on, doubling each day for a month, the result would be fantastic. For the 31st day of the month, they would have to pay the person about $10,000,000. This is the way most large family fortunes have been created, by TIME.
 How To Become A Millionaire
 If you substitute years for days, start with one dollar instead of a penny, and double the amount of your investment only once each year, you could have over $100,000,000 at the end of 31 years,—after taxes losses, trust and other fees. Certainly, with proper advice you can select each year—except in the bear markets—some stock selling at one or two dollars a share which is almost certain to double within one year. Please note carefully that I do not say you can expect this same stock to double every following year.
 This means that when this cheap stock doubles in value, your broker need only sell this stock and reinvest the money in some other cheap stock which will probably double in one year. I am not counting dividends in the above calculations because the stocks which are selected will be cheap non-dividend-paying stocks. But this also means you will have no income taxes to pay,—only the Federal and State "profits" or "intangible" taxes, according to where you live.

The Fly In The Ointment?
 You say that there must be some trick in this story of mine. There may be; it probably is that making these millions from one dollar in 31 years without borrowing a penny may depend upon not too many brokers recommending the same stock. Also, there could be difficulty in either obtaining or selling such a large number of shares.
 However, remember that the above illustration is based upon starting with only one dollar. As a practical matter, most every reader should be able to start the fund with $5,000 dollars, and then use the latter amount as a reserve for errors. This Reserve would be invested more conservatively in accordance with the Babson Program supplemented by the Dewey Law of Cycles.
The True Secret Of Getting The Million
 I repeat, there should be no fear about being unable to select one stock which should double the first year. Moreover, the other mathematical or investment conditions can probably be met in every case. The real reason why this almost unbelievable result has not been obtained, except by a few investors, is because very, very few persons have the patience and persistence to carry out the program for 31 years.
 Brokers, bankers, and all your

 The Upper Room
 THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Galatians 6:1-10.
 Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. (Galatians 6:7.)
 Is there for sin a penalty God's forgiveness does not cover? Is there for a sin a consequence God does not separate from us?
 A mother warned her child not to climb trees, lest he be punished. Ignoring the command, he climbed a tree. A limb broke and he fell. The result? A broken arm! Through painful sobs, he begged his mother to forgive him and not punish him. But she could not mend the broken arm. He had to bear the consequence of his disobedience.
 God applies to us the same law of consequence for sin. When, with a penitent heart, we seek God's forgiveness, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins. But there is still the natural consequence of sin for which we have no delivrance in this life. It behooves us to consider the cost of sin! A ruined life for a few moments of sin is a tremendous price to pay!

 Prayer
 Our Father, enable me to sow seeds that will not bring to me a harvest of regret, anguish and sorrow. Teach me to sow seeds of love and mercy, so that I may reap an abundant harvest to the honor and glory of Thy name; through Christ, the Savior of the world. Amen.

Tractor Port Is Handy

A new and different farm building, the tractor port, gives the farmer the same convenience and easy accessibility as the carport does for urban residents.
 This structure, built near the house, permits the farmer to come in from the fields and park his tractor temporarily in an area protected against rain and snow. The building can also be used as a truck port or dry land port for boats and trailers.
 Built on poles, this structure is easy to erect, economical and sturdy in the face of high winds. Where poles have been properly treated with a clean permanent-type preservative such as pentachlorophenol to prevent rot and termite attack, the buildings can be expected to be long-lasting.
 An off-the-ground storage cabinet may be hung between any two poles to provide adequate storage space for the tools, grease and oil needed to keep tractors in good operating condition.
 James S. Boyd, Michigan State University agricultural engineering department, has designed a 14-foot by 24-foot tractor port with a 12-inch overhang on all sides. Design calls for three 16-foot and three 15-foot poles with four-inch tops, metal roofing but no sides. No special flooring is necessary.
 The easy-to-build tractor port, can be a profitable project for FFA, 4-H and vocational agricultural groups, which can provide the labor in their localities.
 Tractor port plans may be obtained from Public Relations Department, The Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Mich.

Luncheon Dish Features Maine Sardines

Meaty Maine Sardines, rich in nutritive value and extremely flavorful, are a primary ingredient in this unusual luncheon dish. French fried eggs are a good example of familiar ingredients, found in almost every kitchen, combining to make an interesting Lenten luncheon feature. And—always of interest to those fighting the battle of the budget—they are inexpensive.
MAINE FRENCH FRIED EGGS
 2 3/4-4 ounce cans Maine Sardines
 8 hard-cooked eggs
 1/4 cup medium cream sauce
 1/4 cup sliced mushrooms, sauteed
 2 tablespoons grated onion
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
 Dash cayenne
 2 eggs, beaten
 Dry bread crumbs
 Drain sardines. Cut eggs in half. Remove yolks, sieve and add to cream sauce. Add all remaining ingredients except beaten eggs and crumbs. Fill egg whites with mixture. Dip in beaten eggs, then in crumbs. Chill. Fry in deep fat (375-390° F) until golden. Drain on paper towels and serve hot. Pass cheese or tomato sauce. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Molasses Bunny Cookies Fun for Easter

The whole bunny tribe is set to make your youngsters' Easter party extra fun this year. First there's white bunny—just a marshmallow squeezed into a bunny face—who will leap into Junior's milk jug and make happy dunking. Then there's Brer Rabbit himself, a molasses cookie delight mounted with icing on a gingersnap base.
EASTER BUNNY MOLASSES COOKIES
 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
 3/4 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1 teaspoon soda
 1 cup real New Orleans molasses
 1/2 cup vegetable shortening
 1 cup sugar
 3 3/4 cups flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
 Boil pickling spices in juice until it is reduced to about 1/2 cup. Strain out spices, add vanilla to juice. Stir soda into real New Orleans molasses, then combine juice and molasses mixtures. Cream shortening and sugar until light. Sift dry ingredients together. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with molasses mixture. Mix thoroughly. Chill dough several hours, or overnight. On a floured cloth or board, roll dough about 1/4-inch thick, cut in bunny shapes. Use a broad spatula to transfer cutouts to greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (350° F.) about 12 minutes. Makes approximately 4 1/2 to 5 dozen cookies, depending on size.

High School Team Closes Good Season

St. Joseph's High School's basketball team recently ended a very successful season. The team compiled an 11-7 record, climaxing the year with a 67-48 victory over traditional rival Emmitsburg High last Friday evening. Six of the seven defeats suffered by the team were by the slim margin of one or two points. The team beat such opponents as Delone of McSherrystown, Pa., Fairfield, St. Joseph of Martinsburg, W. Va., Union Bridge, Mt. St. Joseph of Baltimore, as well as local rivals Thurmont and Emmitsburg. The team lost twice to St. John's of Frederick and St. Marie Goretti of Hagerstown, each game going down to the wire being settled by one or two points. The two coaches, Dennis Shuck and Joseph Starke of Mt. St. Mary's as well as the team, Co-Captains John Adelsberger and John Randolph, Brown Little, Michael Kelz, Jim Richard and Gerald Haley deserve words of praise for their highly successful and exciting season.

Future Farmers Are Busy Group

The Emmitsburg High School FFA members have been very busy during the last semester. On February 22, the club sent a team of four members to the Frederick Fair Grounds, to judge pigs at the annual Hampshire hog sale. Even though we didn't win any of the ten gilts being offered as prizes, they considered the practice very valuable. The club recently initiated several members into the club. After the students were put through several stunts, the officers of the club gave the official ceremonies of belonging to the club. The degrees that were given were the "Green Hand" and "Chapter Farmers."

following in order as to their importance. The Green Hands, Marshall Sharrer, Randy Valentine, Bill Naill, Bob Beale, Charles Jones, Bob Wagerman and Carrol Fisher, had to wear dress clothes on a school day, complete with white shirt and tie. They had to make a paddy, which was used and wear a green hand glove a short time. The Chapter Farmers, Norman Shriver, Morris Zentz, Paul Beale, Robert Keilholtz, Frank Tyler, Tom Plunkett, and Dick Swomley, did not have to go through as much as the green hands did, this being a more advanced degree. Refreshments were served following the ceremonies. In Agricultural class we are studying the soil and its uses. Besides testing milk and also the soil, we have seen several movies on soils and machinery which we think are very educational. The year has been very enjoyable and profitable which we owe to our Ag. teachers, Mr. H. E. Reily.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post 121 American Legion Auxiliary was held Tuesday, March 4 at 8:00 p. m. There were 19 members present. Charlotte Sanders was renamed as delegate to the Community Fund with Virginia Sanders as alternate.

An invitation to the Post Commanders, Past Presidents, Mortgage Burning and Birthday Party was read. The affair is being held at the Morris Frock Unit 42 in Hagerstown on March 21.

It was decided to get the same amount of poppies as last year and to ask the Girl Scouts if they would help in the distribution.

The treasurer reported that a profit of $34.00 was made at the Food sale held this past Saturday.

It was moved and seconded that the Auxiliary be a patron of the

The names of the winners of the Americanism Essay Contest were turned in. They are Donald Tracey of St. Joseph's, and Becky Naill of Emmitsburg High.

Janet Newcomer's name was drawn for the draw prize but was not present. On the Refreshment committee are Charlotte Sanders, Faine Rodgers, and Madeleine Harner.

Following the close of the meeting, there was a demonstration of Monroe Plastics by Mrs. Darlene McClell of Blue Ridge Summit. The Auxiliary then joined the men of the Legion for refreshments.

Ask Respect Of Farmers' Property

Many of Maryland's trout, bass and panfish streams are on privately owned and fenced in areas. These land owners so graciously grant the fisherman the privilege of parking his automobile in his field, around the buildings leaving gates open, climbing over the fences, making saggy wire and holes in the fence sometimes breaking them down and not attempting to repair or help to repair.

Since the trout season is extended to eleven months and some other species have no closed season or creel limit, the land owner will be depended upon to give us the extended privilege over a much longer time.

The anglers of the State and the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission are installing stiles over fences desired by the owner for the anglers use. These are a much needed facility, and since all stiles are painted yellow there will be little excuse for not seeing them, even the nearsighted.

The owners will appreciate all persons taking all paper, cans, bottles and all litter to your own refuse can. He has trouble enough of his own, you had room enough to bring this along, surely there will be room to take it away.

While you are about your sport just think, "would I like someone to do to me what I am doing to him?" Many times you will come to the realization your host is a very gracious and tolerant person.

A cord of wood is a stack eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet high.

Knight of Columbus To Sponsor Bingo

About 30 members were present at the regular meeting of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, held Monday night in the Council's meeting room. Grand Knight Francis Sanders presided over the meeting. A draw prize was won by an out-of-town patron.

The group decided to hold a benefit bingo party and set a tentative date for Easter Monday. Remarks were made by the 15 new members of the Council who took their degrees recently at Mt. St. Mary's College.

Financial Officer Paul A. Keepers reported he had applied for 30 odd sets of automobile license plates bearing the initials "CC" for members of the Council. Following the business meeting refreshments were served.

Card Party

Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Church in Thurmont, will hold a card party on St. Patrick's Day, Mar. 17, at the American Legion ballroom, Thurmont, at 8 p. m. The affair is for the benefit of the church and the general public is invited.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER
It does not appear that Rep. Emmanuel Celler, N. Y., is going to let up on his drive on certain practices of big networks.
And both the networks, and the Federal Communications Commission seem intent at present in doing their level best to promote Congressional action on the basis that the present operations of networks amounts to a virtual monopoly, which in turn, squeezes out of the C.W. Harder effective use of television as an advertising medium all but a few huge concerns.
Many network TV stations are now using their air time for commercials to combat the spread of the so-called "Pay-TV." Some of the messages are pretty forceful, and in fact, border pretty much on the use of misleading statements of the type which the FCC cracks down on if some little local advertiser uses such tactics.
There is a strong belief on the part of some substantial people that if people are given the opportunity to pay for the type of programs they want, they will subscribe to pay TV. Whether or not people actually will support this is a matter for conjecture, but then neither did Henry Ford have any guarantee when he started up business that people would buy automobiles, either.
In some limited areas, after a great deal of hassling, there is some experimental pay TV going on. It is too early to predict future of this type of enterprise.
But behind the scenes this fight over pay TV takes on some very ugly aspects. The big networks, © National Federation of Independent Business with their virtual monopoly of TV entertainment today formed not only from their option on the choice times, but also from their ownership of big shows, are scared that this monopoly can be broken by pay TV.
There is no assurance just how pay TV station operations would end up. Although at the start, there has been no commercials, with subscribers paying a nominal high service charge, there is no guarantee with experience pay TV stations might accept a few commercials, and make lower rates to subscribers.
This is what the networks are afraid of, hence the clamor about keeping the air free, et al and et al. At times it appears that free entertainment is a basic principle in the U. S. Constitution.
Yet, there is a big factor overlooked here. Both newspapers and magazines accept advertising. In addition, both charge reader for his subscription.
Thus, it is hard to see where there is any essential difference in entertainment provided by Mickey Mouse in a newspaper comic section, or Mickey Mouse on TV, or any reason why in one form the viewer has a sacred right to have it for free.
And there is still a further fear on the part of the networks, and this has to do with their solicitation of advertisers in competition with newspapers and other longer established mediums.
With TV rates continually going higher and higher, and with stations running more and more commercials together, advertisers are getting more and more restless over the increasing lack of impact, and are looking more and more toward newspapers as the favored advertising medium. Hence attempt to fool public into perpetuating a monopoly.

Pictured above is Roland "Bud" Loveless, State Extension Chairman for The Maryland Junior Chamber of Commerce. By holding up four fingers, "Bud" indicates that four new Jaycee chapters have been started in Maryland since September 1957, bringing the total number of chapters in the state to 31. Chapters extended this year are: Clinton, Harford County, Parkville, and Laurel.

The Jaycees, as the young men of this world organization are called, are trying to make available to all young men between the ages of 21-35 an organization that will help develop leadership abilities. Where is there a college that can give a man a degree in leadership? There is only one way a man can develop leadership ability — through experience.

This common sense fact has made the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce the fastest growing young men's organization in the world. Today there are more than 200,000 Jaycees working for civic betterment in 2,750 American communities. The Jaycee movement is rapidly expanding throughout the world, having already established itself in 65 foreign countries.

It is obvious why outside groups give the Jaycees such active support. They know that The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce makes a success of projects it adopts, and that it trains leaders at the same time. The Jaycees don't just talk leadership, they take positive action to train leaders.

Since The Junior Chamber of Commerce is not connected with The Chamber of Commerce, in most instances, any small community can establish a chapter. If ten young men, or more, are willing to ban together to help improve their community, the state extension chairman will give them the necessary help to get started.

Write today on how to form a chapter. Jaycee Extension, 843 Lenten Ave., Baltimore 12, Md.

TALENT SHOW SUCCESSFUL

The Emmitsburg Lions Club Talent Show held last Friday night in the Emmitsburg Public School has been adjudged a success both socially and financially. About 300 witnessed the affair despite the fact that many roads still were snowbound.

J. Ralph McDonnell emceed the show in the absence of Carlos Englar who was attending a basketball game with the high school team. This year's show produced a wealth of talent both from Emmitsburg and neighboring towns. Winners were chosen by a newly-purchased applause meter. So close was the competition that a number of ties had to be broken.

The first prize of $25 went to "The Scholars" of Gettysburg College. This group of eight imitated the Ames Bros. and sang a number of popular recordings. Second prize, $15 went to little Miss Wanda Hailley and her father, Edward, of Westminster. Miss Hailley was accorded a large ovation while singing a popular number, accompanied on the guitar by her father. Third prize was won by the Harmony Team composed of Jeanette Dayhoff and Fred Clousher of Littlestown. All net proceeds from the affair will be donated to the local Boy Scouts to help defray expenses of a summer camping trip. Mrs. Donald Eyer presided at the piano during the evening.
