BY ABIGAIL

Another news tidbit comes in the mail from a faithful contributor, Jack Reifsnider, of Jacksonville, Fla. The clipping pertains to a renegade alligator who for 30 years eluded all attempt at capture. The creature was shot at hundreds of times but managed to survive three decades. Seems as though Jack's son had had several occasions to bag the critter but couldn't quite manage the deal. The son said he had plugged Ole Pete the animal's nickname, with a 22 rifle and shotgun several times but the bullets just ricocheted off the tough hide. However, this time Donald, the son, was successful in his attempt to bag the animal and he hunted him with heavy rifle and telescope sight. Ole Pete's body was dragged from the Trout River in Florida with a tractor. His bullet-scared body measured 11 feet in length and weighed 600 pounds. Despite the critter's lack of teeth, (he had only eight) he managed to satiate his enormous appetite by turning to farmers' livestock. Just two weeks ago he managed to snag a good sized calf. Imagine such animals prowling in the streams of our nation? Sounds like something in Africa. Well I'm certainly glad Donald bagged the creature, now I can take a swim with a little peace of mind. Thanks for the contribution Jack.

Almost all stag picnics have their highlights and the Lions Club's was no exception. The affair took place Monday evening near town and during the course of the evening when most all were feeling quite well a little devilry as usual developed. All present knew of the existence of a swarm of bees in the woodpile beside the outdoor hearth. Early in the evening the swarm was an accepted fact and let alone but as the evening progressed and turned into nightfall, a few of the boys decided to have a little fun and jostled the bees a bit. Any one knows it doesn't take much provocation to get a bee into action and this is exactly what they did. For a while there was bedlam at the picnic, one fellow in a desperate attempt to avoid the pursuers who were in hot pursuit, ran into a picnic table upsetting it and knocking off his glasses and sending his cap sailing into the air but finally eluded the pursuers. A number of others received various identification marks from the bees but perhaps the most punished victim was our fire chief who swore the whole swarm lighted on his ankle. He brought the evidence back to town and after treatment by a physician he is now able to walk with a limp. Johnny sadly relates, it is more dangerous at a picnic than it is fighting fires.

Sidewalk superintendents are having a field day as the construction company began operations of installing the new sewer and disposal plant this week. Numerous spectators crossed the Horse Show field to watch the heavy equipment at work. Good progress is being made on the erection of the disposal plant which is the first step in the project and which will be followed by the erection of a pumping station. It is interesting work to watch the earth being moved by the big machines and the superintendents really know their stuff, so they believe. The company is going right ahead with the work, regardless of the number of spectators, and second-guessers.

Prepare yourself for another hike in the cost of living. The Government has just raised the national debt limit and that is tantamount to another inflationary boost, as everyone knows. The first bump will come next month as the result of the recent increase in steel prices. Naturally everything follows "Big Steel" which is used as an economic barometer. So my dear readers, adjust yourself for the new price hike cycle. Apparently no one intends to do anything to reduce the pressure within the almost bursting inflation bubble and it is only a matter of time until the explosion does come. It'll cost you another couple of percentage points to live this coming winter.

Band Is Feature Of Veterans' Block Party

Visitors at the big benefit Block Party to be sponsored by the Emmitsburg Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be treated to delightful martial music by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band, it has been announced.

The affair will be held on DePaul Street on both Friday and Saturday nights, August 22 and 23. William Sanders, general chairman, announces. During the affair bingo will be played and good food served. Lumen F. Norris, post adjutant revealed that a new line of entertaining features has been lined up for the occasion and insures the public that it will spend two very enjoyable nights.

The affair this year is being held to augment the funds of the ambulance and scholarship programs.

Mayor Clarence G. Frailey announced the Burgess and Commissioners are sponsoring the band for the occasion and that a public concert has been arranged for Saturday night, August 23, at 8 p. m. Previously it was planned to have the concert on the Square but later it was decided to hold it in conjunction with the Block Party with the general idea of drawing the public to the benefit affair. The Mayor and commissioners extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend the band concert and also participate in the Block Party. In case of inclement weather the affair will be held in St. Euphemia's Recreation Hall.

REGISTRATION PRIVILEGE GRANTED HERE

Tuesday, Sept. 9, has been set as a special registration day in each of the county election districts outside of the city of Frederick the county Board of Election Supervisors has announced.

It will be the only such registration day prior to the Nov. State and county election and the only time that residents of the various communities will have a chance to register at a central place in each district rather than coming to the Registry Board office in the Court House basement.

The election supervisors decided to set up the "home registration" following a number of requests from residents and leaders of both major political parties.

The Republican and Democrat judges of the first precinct in each district are being asked to conduct the registration. Some districts have only one precinct; others have up to four.

However, regardless of the number of precincts, there will be only one registration place in each district.

It will still be possible before and after the district registration to register at the Court House basement office of the Registry Board.

The books will close as far as registration is concerned after Monday, Sept. 22, it was announced. There will be no further registration permitted until after the November election.

The election supervisors announced the following registration schedule of Emmitsburg on Sept. 9:

Emmitsburg (3 precincts), Firemen's Hall.

LOCALS DIVIDE PAIR OF GAMES DURING WEEK

The locals dropped their 12th game Sunday when Blue Ridge lucked out a 6-1 victory which could have been a 1-0 victory for the locals if they had played errorless ball and gotten a few breaks. Blue Ridge did not have an earned run.

Down Union Bridge 7-4

Tuesday evening in a play-off of a postponed game with Union Bridge, the locals, backing up their manager's pitching debut with 10 solid base knocks including three home runs, two by Mike Joy, who also had a single, and one by Jerry Joy, with Don Little banging out two doubles and Ted Topper with a pair of singles and Bob Wivell and Tom Topper getting one hit each, clobbered Union Bridge for a 7-4 victory and put them within reach of 6th place in the Pen-Mar League standings.

Jack Rosensteel, player-manager of the locals, gave up six hits, three walks and struck out one and was charged with all four runs in five innings and was relieved by Jerry Joy in the last inning, who put down a mild uprising by the home team, enabling Jack to get the win. The locals play their last home game against the same Union Bridge team this Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. at Community Field.

CHATTER-BOX

"Old men never die, they just fade away." Now that's a most famous statement and in the case I am about to discuss, someone faded back, threw away his crutches, put on his spikes, cleaned the cobwebs from his glove, stroled to the mound (unaided) and threw a weak (but convincing) six-hitter at Union Bridge for five innings, developed arm trouble (fatigue) and turned over a 7-2 lead to youth (J. Joy) in the last inning (sixth) after the enemy finally caught on to the old man's varied number of pitches. This late rally by UB netted them only two runs and when the last out was made, this old man crawled in from his 1st base position, replaced the old cob webs with new, took off his spikes, got on his crutches and rode all the way home with his first and last victory (and no defeats) during his brief arrival out of retirement.

Fred Shank in his appearance for Union Bridge (by agreement) got the loss, the embarrassment and the heave-ho in the 4th inning when M. Joy (Sleepy) connected for his 2nd 4-bagger. J. Joy also contributed one 4-bagger. The Crumbs were short-handed in this game, having only nine players, which included the old man, but this time, took along their big bats and team spirit and were not to be denied this game, as was the case last Sunday, when errors and breaks of the game, lost them a 1-0 ball game over Blue Ridge. But that's the way the cookie crumbled every game, except for five games (won) with four more to go. Even "Silky" (Bob Wivell) took time out from his 3rd base coaching box and lent a hand in Tuesday's win. I understand he did a bang-up job on third. Nice going "Silky".

"Pizza" for the last time, won't you hang up that gift glove. Better still, save those caps and get one for your right hand and this winter you'll have a nice pair of dress gloves. Did anyone hear Jack say, "I shall return"? oh well, just a faded thought. Last home game this Sunday against Union Bridge, why not see the locals in their final home appearance of the season? Let's help them win this one with some good old Emmitsburg rooting. Let's back those "Crumbs."

Yours in Sports
Surley Stovich

PS—Thanks for the in-fu Jack, see you Sunday.

Towns Seek Phone Service Privilege

The general public is invited to a meeting to be held in Emmitsburg on Tuesday evening, August 19 in the Town Office.

A movement has been spearheaded by the Taneytown Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce and also the Lions Club of Emmitsburg, to ask the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. of Maryland which provides telephone service to this area, to grant free toll charge dialing service between the two towns. According to the committees of these organizations the feeling is paramount that the two towns have been "short-changed" under the benefits granted other towns and cities provided when the utility recently raised its rates and permitted free dialing between many other towns.

At the meeting Tuesday night it is hoped to map out a plan, on a concerted basis, to ask the company for this added privilege and service. Members of all local organizations and the general public are cordially invited and welcome to attend the meeting.

COMPELLING PARALLEL

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling which holds that institutional advertising in which private utility companies tell their side of the private-vs-public power controversy cannot be considered as deductible business expense. This ruling has been denounced by newspapers and commentators throughout the country, on the grounds that using the taxing power to discourage free expression is a flagrant violation of constitutional principles. The ruling will be tested in the Federal courts.

Now IRS has taken another long step in the same direction. The Association of American Physicians and Surgeons has issued literature opposing socialism in this country, including socialization of medicine. The Internal Revenue Commissioner informs the Association that "opposing socialization of the medical or other segment of the economy or supporting the principles of individual liberty and freedom of individuals in the medical profession or elsewhere . . . are not in our opinion, per se educational functions or objectives . . . and you are not entitled to exemption from Federal income tax. . . ." The reasoning behind this will certainly seem strange to great numbers of Americans who believe that all individuals and organizations are entitled to make their views known without hindrance or penalty.

No one can anticipate what the courts will hold in any given case. However, a decision handed down by the Supreme Court just before it adjourned for the summer is of unusual interest in the light of these IRS rulings. The case involved veterans who had been denied a property tax exemption (granted to veterans by the state's constitution) because they refused to subscribe to a loyalty oath. The Court held against California and for the veterans. The majority decision emphasized the possible danger of limiting free speech by exercise of the taxing power. Justice Douglas, in a concurring opinion, went further still, saying: "Thought and speech go hand in hand. There is no real freedom of thought if ideas must be suppressed."

To the layman, there is a compelling parallel of principle between the California case and the IRS's position.

Your Personal Health

Warning To Popeye

Dear Popeye: Before the word gets around to your enemies, we want to warn you that spinach is not the best source of iron to make you strong. Next time you are in a tight spot, try potatoes, squash or carrots.

One of our earliest memories is the sound of Mother's voice saying, "Eat your spinach, dear. It's full of iron." It tasted like iron, too—gritty iron filings. We resisted valiantly, until we saw our first Popeye cartoon. The miracles performed by our hero convinced us. We ate our spinach.

And now science tells us that spinach is no better a source of iron than many other foods. The disillusion is almost more than we can bear. By now we've learned to like the stuff. When properly cleaned, cooked, and dressed up with cheese sauce, it's a very tasty dish.

If that horrid Bluto had only known! While Popeye was consuming a can of spinach, he could have eaten a bunch of carrots, a helping of squash, or a pile of mashed potatoes. He would have been able to outpoint Popeye—at least in iron. As a matter of fact, if Popeye switches to carrots, the bloated Bluto might well take up spinach. Even if it isn't a miracle food, it is a fine dish for dieters, it's a filling food with a low calorie content.

Nutrition experts have changed their minds about spinach, but the lesson all children learn from Popeye still holds good. The importance of what we eat can't be overestimated. Good nutrition helps protect us from tuberculosis and other diseases. Young or old, we need a balanced diet for a long and healthy life.

We may send our children to Sunday School, and that is right and good. But can we expect them to understand the love of God, the power of His good, unless they experience the glory of righteous living exemplified in their parents, their homes?

Read John 10:1-6. A stranger will not follow, but will flee from him: for they know not the voice of strangers. (John 10:5.)

In Palestine a guide told our family an unforgettable fact. He said that if a sheep is lost, the owner will go to a neighbor shepherd, asking him if he has a sheep not of his flock. The other shepherd answers, "I don't know, but I'll see." He leaps upon a rock and gives call. His own sheep lift their heads, but one goes on grazing.

Then the other shepherd leaps upon the same rock and gives the call. This time, the flock of sheep goes on grazing, but the one sheep lifts its head. "That is my sheep," he says. He takes his sheep and goes home rejoicing.

Sheep know their own shepherd's voice and respond by following us. We ate our spinach.

And now science tells us that spinach is no better a source of iron than many other foods. The disillusion is almost more than we can bear. By now we've learned to like the stuff. When properly cleaned, cooked, and dressed up with cheese sauce, it's a very tasty dish.

If that horrid Bluto had only known! While Popeye was consuming a can of spinach, he could have eaten a bunch of carrots, a helping of squash, or a pile of mashed potatoes. He would have been able to outpoint Popeye—at least in iron. As a matter of fact, if Popeye switches to carrots, the bloated Bluto might well take up spinach. Even if it isn't a miracle food, it is a fine dish for dieters, it's a filling food with a low calorie content.

Nutrition experts have changed their minds about spinach, but the lesson all children learn from Popeye still holds good. The importance of what we eat can't be overestimated. Good nutrition helps protect us from tuberculosis and other diseases. Young or old, we need a balanced diet for a long and healthy life.

There is still time to transplant bearded iris. Dig and divide into sections bearing one to three "fans" of leaves. Plant the sections shallowly so that the fleshy rhizome is covered not more than an inch deep.

Oriental poppies may be also dug and transplanted now. Divide the crown of the plant into small sections. Large pieces of root that remain in the soil may form new plants and grow again.

Lilies that are dormant, and are not growing, at this season such as the Madonna Lily may be dug and transplanted.

Flowers and annual grasses that are suitable for drying such as the strawflower, celosia and quaking oats should be cut when they are at their prime in appearance. Hang them in bunches upside down in a dark, dry airy place. When they are dry they are ready to be used for arrangements.

Late flowering perennials and annuals should be staked if they are growing too tall. Stake them now so that later, when they are in flower, the stems will be straight and upright.

Jockey Was One Of Nation's Best

BALTIMORE—Willie Hartack is credited with a clean sweep of jockey honors in 1957, but records turned up by the National Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico indicate he was given one accolade too many.

Hartack was listed as heading the list in winners (341), money won by his mounts ($3,061,501), stakes won (43), and becoming the first jockey in history to be national champion three times (1955-56-57).

Officials at the Hall of Fame produced record books this week to show that a jockey named James McLaughlin was the nation's leading rider four times from 1884 through 1887.

McLaughlin is one of ten famous riders currently on the ballot in the fourth annual election among sportswriters and broadcasters to add three more names to the National Jockeys Hall of Fame honor roll.

Statistics on jockeys for the years prior to the present century were turned up in volumes of Goodwin's Official Turf Guide in the Maryland Jockey Club library at Pimlico. The Goodwin's publication preceded the present American Racing Manual which contains information back to 1895.

The Goodwin's records show that McLaughlin won the title in 1884 with 123 winners from 354 mounts, repeated in 1885 with 97 winners, again in 1886 with 142 winners and in 1887 with 119 winners. He retired in 1892.

McLaughlin, who was born in Hartford, Conn., in 1861, and died in 1927, also is responsible for another of the most remarkable riding feats of all time. He rode in the famous Belmont Stakes, final leg of the American Triple Crown, for seven consecutive years between 1882 and 1888 and won each time except in 1885.

McLaughlin was in the first generation of professional jockeys in this country, when there were only about 100 riders registered at all the recognized tracks, yet he was as popular in his day as is Hartack now.

He won more than 50 import-

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—Once again we have been forced to vote an increase in the Federal debt limit. Every hike in the debt ceiling is a sober warning of stronger inflationary pressures ahead. Big Federal spending programs and huge deficits are a major factor in inflation. This newest increase in the National Debt limit serves ant stakes and features. He rode Miss Woodford, first filly to win $100,000, and Kingston, which holds the record for winning in the U. S. with 89 victories from 138 starts. Kingston also won more than $100,000 giving McLaughlin the distinction of being the first to ride two such earners.

A pleasant personality, McLaughlin championed the cause of race riding and did much to help officials keep the sport honest. He was the first to advocate suspensions for jockeys for rough or foul riding.

to remind us of the need of restraint in seeking and granting Federal aid of all kinds.

Inflation means higher prices. It seriously affects the working man whose wage increases never quite catch up with the cost of the things he buys. But we must also face the fact that inflation hurts most those who must depend on retirement income for their livelihood. The Government, business, and labor must do everything in their power to prevent a runaway price and wage spiral.

State and local governments are in as good, or better, financial position as the Federal Government to carry out programs that should be under local control. Yet, the strange idea prevails that we can solve our local problems through bigger Federal programs.

Unfortunately, the people in many cases, by their votes at the polls, have indicated that they favor more Federal programs and a shift or responsibility to Federal authorities. It is up to the citizens to make the decision on this issue.

The House Judiciary Committee has favorably reported a bill creating forty-six new Federal judgeships—one of these will go to Maryland. These new judgeships are not a luxury, they are a necessity as we know from the growing number of untried Federal District and Circuit Court cases.

The Committee has favorably reported legislation incorporating provisions of my bill to permit fire-fighting organizations to obtain donable surplus property. Heretofore they had to bid for the equipment they needed. I am doing my best to have the House approve this before adjournment.

Further hearings on provisions for an increase in railroad retirement benefits have been held, but the Committee has not yet reported on the measure.

Early summer is considered an ideal time to reroof a house because weather conditions generally are stable. Roofing contractors can work uninterrupted and finish the job quickly and efficiently.

A new roof of asphalt shingles, in any one of the many colors available, costs less than most home owners imagine and is an excellent investment. It not only improves the appearance of the house but provides weather protection that will last for years.

ruled by Khrushchev & Company from Moscow's Kremlin, is using Red China agricultural production and her raw materials as economic weapons to break down and topple Japan
into the Reds' expanding world empire. Some facts on this economic warfare were gathered recently by Dr. J. D. Bales, of the Harding College Faculty,
while he was in Hong Kong, Tokyo and other centers of information in Asia. He has just returned to Searcy, and I have interviewed him.

Q. What is the economic problem in Japan? A. Japan's population is rising; soon she will have a population of 100-000,000. She must import nearly 100 per cent of the raw materials to supply her industries.
Approximately 45 per cent of her food requirements must be imported. Thus trade is essential.

Underselling Japan
Q. Where does she trade?
A. Her normal trade area is Southeast Asia. America would be a good market but for some disadvantages. Distance is one.
And Japan's low wage scales (11c an hour in industry) has led the U. S. to maintain pretty stiff tariffs on goods from her textile industries and other items.

Q. How are the Communist Masters using China in this situation? A. The Communist bosses have issued orders that Chinese goods shall be sold 15 per cent below the price of any Japanese goods offered anywhere in Southeast Asia. Right now in Hong Kong, towels made in Red China are being sold 15 per cent cheaper than the same quality towels made in Japan.
The Communists are thus driving Japanese goods off the market so as to create collapse in Japan and enable the Communists to have a better psychological market in Japan for their deceptive promises.

Q. How can China (and Russia) sell goods so cheaply? A.
They have slave labor and do not have to conduct business on a sound economic basis. Of course slave labor has a very low productivity, but in various areas of production it can be used, at least for a time, to wage economic warfare, especially when there are millions of slaves.

Drug Warfare

Q. What is Red China's principal market? A. The Communist bosses have earmarked 80% of China's trade for Red Russia and her satellites, amounting to about $1.5 billion a year. The remaining 20 per cent is left to be competed for
by such countries as England,
Germany and Japan. So Japan cannot help herself very much through trade with Red China.
Nevertheless Red China wants to keep Japan depending upon her market. A primary reason for this is that Red China wants to keep and expand her trade mission to Japan—so a larger number of subversive agents
can be implanted.

Q. We hear a lot about Red China's opium smuggling; is Japan receiving any of this?
A. Yes, a great deal. According to reliable sources whom I contacted, Red China is smuggling into Japan more than $75 million worth of opium each year. The proceeds from this are largely kept in Japan,
among the Communist leaders,
to finance strikes and otherwise create strife and turmoil in Japan. Strikes raise the cost of production and lower the standard of living. And the opium demoralizes those who use
it, weakening the nation.

Our Freedom At Stake
Q. Then the Reds are making headway with their designs on Japan? A. Yes, they are. I'm told that the Communist strength within Japan has grown tremendously in the last few years; they are creating turmoil, directly and indirectly. The ultimate objective, of course, is to bring Japan into the Red bloc. Our bases in Japan would then vanish, and Japan and her industrial potential would be arranged against us along with the expanding Soviet system.

(Dr. Bales, continuing:) When I lunched in Taipei with Dr.
Tong, Free China's ambassador to America, he observed that what is happening in Japan comes under the Communist definition of "peaceful co-existence." "It is," he said, "one phase of the implementation of the Communist plan to conquer and dominate the world."
And with Dr. Tong, I say: if we are to survive in freedom, the still-free peoples of the world must awaken, unite, and begin to treat world Communism as the evil, monstrous thing that it is.

Indian Stockade Is Restored

A pioneer cabin and stockade, built of logs
and rough siding, that once housed and protected six Nebraska
families and their livestock against Indian raids, has been restored
at the unique Pioneer Village located at Minden, Nebraska.

Built in 1869 on a branch of the Little Blue river, it was later used as a machine shop
on a farm in south-central Nebraska, where it was discovered by Chicago manufacturer Harold Warp, builder of Pioneer Village.

At top, the cabin and stockade are shown as they appear today in Pioneer Village. Below is a painting of how the stockade probably appeared when it was first built. The painting,

which hangs in Pioneer Village, was done by Albert Roanoke Til-
burne, foremost living

painter of the Old West.

The cabin is only one of 20
buildings at Pioneer Village housing more than 20,000 items
showing America's progress since 1830. Built as a memorial to the pioneers of the west and located on U.S. Highways 6-34, the Village is viewed annually
by thousands of visitors.

New 'Push-Button' Operating Table Gets You In Position For Surgery

A new "surgamatic" operating table that enables the surgeon and his staff to make push-button adjustments in the patient's position is demonstrated (above) by Miss Shirley Amatucci, registered nurse on the staff of Cardinal Glennon Hospital in St. Louis.

The new table, which eliminates hand-setting of the various complicated positions required for some operations, is being introduced this spring and summer at hospital conventions in every section of the country. Another new feature is a motor-driven hydraulic pump that elevates the table.

A product of the research department of Shampaine Industries, the table is being manufactured by Shampaine Company of St. Louis, one of the nine member companies of Shampaine Industries.

Reciprocal Trade Agreement Extended

The Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act has been approved for a four year extension by a House and Senate Conference Committee. The agreement gives the President authority to negotiate tariff reductions by as much as 20%, but with a limit on the amount of reduction that can be made in any one year. Another provision gives Congress a limited right to override the President in the event he rejects Tariff

Commission recommendations. This compromise Reciprocal Trade bill
now goes to the House and Senate for final approval. The Administration is expected to approve it.

Farm Bureau has strongly supported the extension of the 25-year-old trade agreements program because foreign markets accounted for over 15% of farm product sales last year. The farm organization is putting considerable effort toward the development of more foreign sales as a way to solve our farm surplus situation. The establishment of an agricultural trade center at Rotterdam, in the Netherlands, is an example of the progress being made toward this goal.

Information Concerning War Veterans

GI insurance policyholders who plan to re-enter military service should not drop their policies in the belief they will be covered by the so-called "free $10,000 insurance" or indemnity.

Mr. R. T. Brown, Manager of the VA regional office at Baltimore said the indemnity coverage ended more than a year ago, on January 1, 1957. An increasing number of veterans who are returning to service are making this mistake, he said. They apparently do not know that the indemnity or so-called "free insurance" no longer is available.

This was abolished January 1, 1957, by the Survivors' Benefits Act, which substituted increased compensation rates for service-connected deaths. Veterans who drop their GI insurance upon re-entering service may lose it, if it is near the end of the five-year term period, he said.

An easy-stage method of converting GI term insurance to permanent plans is available to any of the 3,200,000 World War II veterans who cannot afford to convert the full amount of their term policies.

The Dept. Commander of the Maryland American Legion said these term policyholders can convert as little as $1,000 the first time and then any amount thereafter they wish in multiples of $500. By converting $1,000 a year for ten years, the full amounts will be in permanent plan insurance within a decade, he pointed out. Annual dividends may be used to reduce the cash outlay.

The decision to convert is for each policyholder to make, based on present and future life insurance needs, his ability to pay premiums and his family status. In some cases term insurance is preferable; in others, permanent plans are indicated.

Permanent plan policies available to World War II term policyholders are ordinary life, 20-year payment life, 20-year endowment, endowment at age 60 and endowment at age 65.

Premium rates for permanent plans remain static but term policy premium rates increase every five years until they may become prohibitive at advanced age. Permanent plans have certain values which term policies do not. These include a loan value, a cash surrendered value and an extended insurance value.

Term policies provide only insurance against death and then only so long as premiums are timely paid. They have no extended value as a cushion against lapse, or loan value for emergencies.

GI home owners are responsible for the proper care and maintenance of drainage facilities provided for their property by the builder.

That is the warning sounded by Mr. C. L. Michael, State Service Officer of the Maryland American Legion. Mr. Michael said the warning was prompted by the apparent lack of understanding on the part of veterans as to the builder's responsibility after construction.

It is true that drainage problems which result from faulty initial planning must be corrected by the builder, he said. On the other hand, he added, drainage failures due to improper maintenance of the facilities must be corrected by the property owner.

The French say no woman over 30 should wear black, brown, or dark blue against her face. If you have a dress in one of those colors, wear a light, flattering shade near your face in a scarf or collar.

Hollow cheeks? Don't place rouge in the hollow. Instead, blend rouge from the cheekbone around the hollow. This neutralizes the natural shadow in the hollow, makes cheeks look fuller.

To stay fresh as a daisy, make daily use of your antiperspirant. Have you tried Fresh Roll-On? It not only stops odor but checks perspiration, too. Now only 69 cents.

Few beauty aids are as important as sleep. To combat insomnia, don't review the day's problems in bed. Check the position of your bed—make sure the light doesn't glare in your eyes in the morning. Try a soothing warm bath before you tumble into bed.

Actresses use this trick: to freshen make-up in the course of a long evening, they pat on a little cold water, then blot dry.

When you apply lipstick, stay on target. Check your teeth to make sure they're not smeared. And blot your lips with tissue to complete the job.

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

Today's family outboard boat, with its modern powerful motor, its wider beam and surprising performance, is both so new and so much fun to drive that its uses for all sorts of boating sports have hardly yet been realized, reports Willard Crandall, Boating Editor of Sport Afield Magazine. But just running around the lake is not enough. The potential of

The owner's responsibilities in the maintenance, repair and protection of drainage facilities include the periodic removal of silt and other obstructions, as well as necessary repairs such as patching or replanting areas subject to settlement, wash or erosion.

In many cases, home owners have created drainage problems by regrading and eliminating drainage swales (depressions). Badminton courts seem to be special villains in this regard. In other cases, veterans have obstructed the drainage flow with dense plantings, tight fences, walls or other barriers.

Mr. Michael said that before granting a guarantee on a home loan for a veteran, VA is strict in requiring the builder to grade the property properly and install adequate drainage facilities.

one of these craft is more than even the most enthusiastic dealers realize. Summer is the time to try something new; to discover the new twists that can lead to a dozen other sorts of boating pleasures previously unthought of.

Take fishing first. Though the old, narrow, family utilities were well suited to many forms of angling and could be handled with oars, the fast craft of today have their points, too. And not only the obvious ones of added seaworthiness, in open and rough water, and increased stability for easier casting and boating large fish.

For instance, here's one trick liked and recommended by many anglers for use in sheltered water. Stand in the stern and cast, motor in reverse. The speed should be just enough to keep the boat from drifting. The foot or knee can control the steering.

Fishing or not, one of the best sources of new outboard fun lies in the long trip. Never has it been so practical to see new waters and new scenes, and with so little work, nuisance or worry. Also, don't forget water skiing, one of today's most popular water sports. This isn't just for professionals; it's easier than you think. And, saving the newest sport for last, there's skin diving with its many exciting possibilities including spear fishing.

Add it all up—well you can't really, for there's no limit to new things you can do with your boat. And summertime is the time to do it.

THE STATUS OF FRANK SINATRA'S SHOW next fall is indefinite. ABC says it's highly unlikely he'll return with a weekly series, although he may do once-monthly specials. Sinatra's cigaret sponsor says it will make no decision until option time on his contract which comes around next month. . . . This may be the last season for Kraft Theater, TV's oldest continuous run show. Plans are underway for Kraft to sponsor two half-hour series next fall, only one of which would be dramatic. . . . Dinah Shore wants to ease off after the 1958-59 season and confine herself to no more than six shows a year thereafter.

20TH CENTURY-FOX WANTS TO BUY UP Pat Boone's ABC contract and keep him off TV. No sale, however, and ABC still has Pat for another four years. . . . Phil Silvers and his platoon will mark their 100th program April 25 with a behind-the-scenes spoof on how the series was created. It will be titled "Bilko's TV Pilot" and two characters in the show will be named Hubbell Robinson and Harry Ommerle. In real life they are CBS vice presidents. . . . Symphony conductor Leonard Bernstein may have a weekly TV show next fall. He hopes to have a network television Thursday night concert of the New York Philharmonic from Carnegie Hall. . . . Wagon Train's Robert Horton has upcoming date on Alfred Hitchcock Presents.

MIKE WALLACE'S CIGARET SPONSOR HAS CANCELED, leaving his show up in the air. If ABC doesn't find a new sponsor for the summer, it may carry the show on a sustaining basis with hopes of selling it for the fall. . . . Your Hit Parade, despite dwindling ratings, will definitely return next fall. To inject new life into the show, however, the producers are seeking to name singers to replace the present crew. . . . ## New Table Spread For Low Fat Diets

A low fat diet, recommended by many doctors to combat the problem of high blood cholesterol, takes much of the pleasure out of eating for many people. Yet such a diet is considered essential, since it is becoming more and more evident that high cholesterol levels are related to atherosclerosis, the most serious form of hardening of the arteries.

A new table spread and cooking, fat made from nonhydrogenated corn oil promises to solve one of the major diet problems of such individuals. The product, Emdee margarine, does not elevate blood cholesterol and therefore can be used in preparing palatable meals for those on low fat diets.

Inasmuch as the new margarine is a food, not a medicine, it can be used by all members of the family, so that the homemaker's work is greatly simplified. She can do all her cooking with the new margarine and also serve it as a table spread.

At the same time, the person on a low fat diet can enjoy many favorite foods, if they are prepared or served with the new margarine.

The new product, which is made by Pittman-Moore Co., a long-established Middle Western pharmaceutical firm, has a tastiness and texture comparable to butter and better margarine and is fortified with vitamins A and D. A unique feature is its sale through drug stores, although no prescription is required for it, of course.

Nonhydrogenated corn oil, source of 80 per cent of the fat content of the new margarine, is high in unsaturated fatty acids, particularly linoleic. Linoleic acid is believed by many doctors to be an important factor in lowering blood cholesterol.

Hardening of the arteries, known scientifically as arteriosclerotic heart disease, is one of the nation's most serious health problems. This ailment, including coronary disease, in 1956 accounted for 428,800 deaths, according to the National Office of Vital Statistics.

About 14,000,000 living Americans are affected by one form or another of heart and circulatory diseases, according to estimates of the National Health Education Committee, Inc. No definite figure is known for those with the type of hardening of the arteries known as atherosclerosis, but it undoubtedly runs into seven figures.

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses
Best Summer "Buys"

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 14—Most people think the best place to invest money is the stock market. So they give their money to some broker, who sends it to New York City. This may or may not be a good place to get a quick profit; but the best investment for the long pull may be waterfront land in your own neighborhood.

Outboard Motor Glamour
Speaking of the stock market, I am greatly impressed by the relative action of railroad stocks and automobile stocks vs. outboard motor stocks. For instance, the first mortgage 4%

$1,000 bonds on the New York, New Haven, and Hartford Railroad can be bought for about $450.00, or at a discount of over 50%. General Motors sells today just under the 45 of a year ago, while Chrysler sells near 50 today compared with 78 a year ago. The Ford Motor Company has just reduced the dividend on its stock.

While declines have taken place in the stocks of companies whose product operates on wheels, a big advance has taken place in motorboat stocks. Outboard Marine, adjusted for stock splits has increased to a price of 25 from equivalent 2 1/4 in 1953, a gain of 1000%. This is because people are tired of using automobiles for pleasure driving, owing to crowded highways, lack of parking space, and increasing accidents. Families get more peace and quiet in a small outboard. In short, the automobile is becoming largely a business accessory; the glamour of driving is fading away. This is a fundamental reason for the decline in automobile sales.

Waterfront Real Estate
There will always be interior land to buy. As roads are extended, more land constantly comes onto the market. Interior land is like money; it depreciates just as the dollar does unless backed by increased population and industry. But, there is only so much waterfront property. There never was, and never will be, any more. This is another reason why waterfront land, wherever located, is probably the best investment for the long pull for both residences and industry. Cities and towns bordering oceans, lakes, or rivers will continue to grow and their waterfront property will continue to increase in value.

As an illustration of the increasing popularity of water, note advertisements for backyard swimming pools which can be bought at department stores! Children at a very early age are being educated to love the water. This popularity has so spread that the Babson Institute has built probably the best swimming pool in New England, costing over $200,000.00, to satisfy the demand for water sports and to make sure that every student who graduates can swim like a fish.

Skiing And Other Sports
When I was a boy the only water sports were rowing a boat or swimming; but today these are "old hat." The outboard motor has taken the place of rowing; while skiing and underwater exploring have taken the place of playing on the beach or in the "old swimming hole," with which most readers are acquainted. This underwater exploring is a most fascinating sport which just recently started. Those engaged in it put long plastic fins on their feet, and either a can of oxygen on their back or a tube leading up to the surface. They discover marvelous new kinds of fish, crabs, and curiosities of all kinds, including the wrecks of vessels, some of which may contain pirate gold or silver.

The way to make money is to invest in corporations in some new industry of permanent value. When I was a boy, it was the railroads that held the glamour; later, water power and the development of electricity. Recently it has been the automobile; but the future will deal with the discovery of unknown wealth under lakes, rivers, and oceans. Thus far this has been done by haphazard dredging, but in the future it will be done by underwater diving.

Therefore, if you are buying property today, try to get some waterfront. If you own waterfront, do not sell it. To make money in any investment, buy into something for which the demand will increase and where the supply is more or less limited. The reason our dollars will gradually become of less value is because they can be printed in unlimited supply. The reverse is true of good waterfront property.

Ten Years' Heart Research Work Is Completed

Completing their first decade of research support, the American Heart Association and Heart Association of Maryland announced this week that a total of $8,000,000 will be invested in scientific studies in the field of the heart and blood vessel diseases during the year beginning July 1, 1958. This is the largest sum the Association and its affiliates have ever spent for cardiovascular research during a single twelve month period. Funds for this research come from public contributions to the annual February Heart Fund appeal.

The Heart units also announced grants-in-aid in support of heart research at Johns Hopkins Hospital and the LeVindale Hebrew Home and Infirmary. These awards, which will go to four Maryland scientists and total $23,100, are among 226 to be given to researchers throughout the country under the Heart Association's national research support program. The total of heart grants given in the nation today is $1,540,457. This represents an increase of more than 20 per cent over comparable support awarded last year.

The American Heart Association and its affiliates support research activities through awards in three basic categories: Research Fellowships, Established Investigatorships and Grants-in-Aid. The awards announced are in the "grant-in-aid" class. Such support is given to provide salaries for professional personnel, technical assistants, supplies, and to cover other necessary expenses in connection with research projects. Grants-in-aid are given to specific institutions in support of particular investigators and research programs.

These awards go to Johns Hopkins Hospital in support of studies by Drs. Frederick W. Barnes Jr., Victor A. McKusick and Helen B. Taussig; and to the LeVindale Infirmary to finance investigation by Dr. Milton Landowne.

Dr. Barnes' study concerns the regenerative ability of damaged tissue cells. The work has important implications in understanding the process of hardening of the arteries.

Dr. McKusick is seeking clues as to the inheritability of high blood pressure. He will trace the family histories of 528 individuals seen at a special Hopkins clinic thirty years ago.

Dr. Taussig and her associates have under way a study of 500 families in which congenital heart disease exists. They will compile data on the tendency (or lack of tendency) for inborn heart defects to occur in these families more often than average.

Dr. Landowne is seeking to perfect and develop practical tests for the early diagnosis of the hardening of the arteries that supply blood to the limbs.

Earlier this year the American Heart Association announced other local projects to be supported through fellowships and established investigator awards. Recipients of those awards were: Drs. Tsung O. Cheng, Herbert W. Dickerman, James L. Gamble, Jr., Sherwood M. Reichard and W. Gordon Walker of Johns Hopkins; Dr. Joseph C. Fitzgerald of the University of Maryland, and Drs. Martin Flavin Jr. and Thomas A. Waldmann of the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda.

In addition to the above, other scientists receive support directly from the Heart Association of Maryland. They are: Drs. James Sidbury Jr., Charlotte Ferencz, William Kouwenhoven and Stella Zacharioudakis of Johns Hopkins; Drs. Louis Gonzales, Safuh Attar, Robert Singleton and Yuchen Lee of University Hospital, and Drs. Henrietta Moritz and Henry Nathan of Sinai Hospital. Studies in heart research being conducted this year in Maryland under the sponsorship of the national and local Heart Association amount to $115,400.

Tax Cut Sought On Expenditures To Better Home

Home owners will get an income tax "break" on home repairs, maintenance, and improvements if Congress enacts proposed legislation into law.

Three bills, two before the House of Representatives, and one in the Senate, call for deductions of up to $2,500 on expenditures exceeding 3 percent of adjusted gross income on home repairs, maintenance, alterations, and additions.

This means that any expenditure made by the home owner to keep a house in good condition would actually cost less, since the new deduction would lower his income tax payment.

For example, if a home owner decides to reroof his house and pays cash for the job, he would get part of the money back in his tax deduction that year.

If he borrows the money, he gets an even greater cut in his tax since interest is deductible. One of the best types of loans for this purpose is an FHA home improvement loan. A new roof of asphalt shingles is authorized under one of these loans because it is a home improvement that better living conditions.

Some other benefits of the proposed legislation are:

1. A sturdier national economy resulting from the increased use of manpower in the production, distribution, and application of building materials.
2. Helping make it easier for the home owner to have a better place to live.
3. A healthier community, financially, as a result of increased business and labor activity.
4. Keeping up tax values of homes, and avoiding deteriorated neighborhoods.

HE CAUGHT $25,000—Still in his fishing clothes, 30-year-old Bill Simmons, (center) unemployed Baltimore longshoreman, proudly holds "Diamond Jim III," the nine-pound rockfish that brought him the top prize of $25,000 in the American Brewery's 1958 Fishing Derby. At the right is R. Leister FitzSimmons, president of the brewery, examining the diamond-studded gold identification tag that was clipped to "Diamond Jim's" lower jaw when he was put into the Chesapeake Bay June 19. Simmons landed the prize fish near the Eastern Shore end of the Bay Bridge, about 12 miles from where it was tossed overboard. At left is Nick Campofreda, public relations director for the brewery, holding a microphone for a radio interview with the lucky fisherman. Simmons said he'll use the $25,000 to pay his bills and buy a house.

RATES HIKED

A 13.9 per cent increase in Blue Cross rates for Maryland subscribers is now official.

The new rates, approved yesterday by State Insurance Commissioner Charles S. Jackson, will go into effect October 1. Jackson formally approved an application for rate increases in line with schedules approved last week.

Maryland Hospital Services, Inc., operators of the nonprofit insurance plan, had asked for a 22.5 per cent rate increase. Opposition to this request led to a lengthy hearing before Jackson last May.

Firemen Will Take Training

The regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. was held Tuesday evening at Community Field with President John J. Hollinger presiding.

It was announced that a basic Firemen's Course is to be held this fall with instructors from the University of Maryland Fire Extension Service.

One application for membership was received from Delbert Piper for social membership.

Chief J. S. Hollinger was instructed to approach the VFW and explain the different items of emergency equipment which the firemen have available. The purpose is to have ambulance drivers familiar with the type of help our service and rescue truck would be able to give in many emergencies.

The annual summer crab feed for the firemen will be held Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock at Stouter's Meadow. In case of inclement weather, it will be held at the Fire Hall.
