Two major events are in the offing and really deserve the patronage of all Emmitsburgians. First on the agenda is the VFW's annual Block Party which gets under way tonight and continues through Saturday night. The local veterans have put a lot of hard work in this promotion and it's for a noble cause—local community welfare. Money derived from the affair will help pay some local student's college tuition and also maintain that valuable ambulance service which is provided free to the citizens of this area. Why not get a group of your friends and attend the big party these two nights? I just know you will have a grand time and at the same time help along tremendously a fine noble local project which may someday benefit all of us. See you there?

The Sportsmen's Carnival, which represents the second such promotion in two years, has been well-planned once again and will take place during Sept. 1 to 6. This year's affair more than likely will surpass that of last year when it was adjudged a tremendous success. The club made a neat profit from the Carnival and the public had a grand time. The entertainment scheduled this year will be tops in its element. Television stars and groups will be featured every night of the week with the exception of Saturday night when the local band will reign over the musical department. The club has made great strides in the past several years and your patronage at this affair will help the club to even greater achievements. As you know the group has established a building fund and just as soon as sufficient funds have been raised action along this line will be taken. It (the club) has constantly replenished game and fish in this area and have done wonders to cement amicable relations between hunters, fishermen and land - owners. Let's boost the carnival along folks, it's a worthwhile venture.

After Monday's meeting with telephone company officials and representatives from the Lions Clubs and Chambers of Commerce of Emmitsburg and Taneytown, I believe there is a certain amount of feeling in favor of asking for free dialing service between the two towns. Just how this sentiment is to be measured is not quite certain at this time but I believe that in the near future some method of determining the exact amount of sentiment in favor of such service will be devised. I am personally in favor of such free toll calling even if it does cost a few more cents per month. It is hoped that something can be devised so the general public will be afforded this service.

Another public event is the Lions' Club horse show which is just in the offing once again. This year's show will take place on Sunday, Sept. 14 and expectations are that it will be the best ever held here. The entire show has been revised and the caliber of horses has been raised to such a degree that the show now has a "B" rating with the Maryland Horse Show Assn. Better make arrangements and reservations for this fine charity affair right now. Tickets are available from any member of the Lions Club, or at the gate on show day. Those desiring ringside tickets are advised to purchase them immediately as the supply is limited.

The growth of the student body at Mt. St. Mary's College this year will prove a bonanza to many here. It is estimated that about 100 students will be accommodated off the campus of the college and that means local residents will receive the benefit of housing these students. Already quite a number of homes have accepted student reservations. Local merchants also should feel the result of this increase in our population as the students will have to have entertainment and food as well as housing. The venture should put a few thousand dollars into circulation here and the Lord knows just how welcome that will be here.

Syl Veitch and Harry Trotsek are the only American trainers to saddle winners of the Laurel International.

WELL-KNOWN MUSIC TEACHER DIES SUDDENLY

William Stephen Sterbinsky, 66, music teacher at both Mt. St. Mary's College and St. Joseph College nearly two decades ago, died suddenly Saturday while driving his car en route to Gettysburg, of a heart attack. "Prof" as he was affectionately known, taught music at the colleges for 20 years before he took other employment, and at the time of his death, he was employed at Fort Detrick, Maryland.

Mr. Sterbinsky, who had been suffering from a heart ailment for several years, appeared to be in normal health as he and his wife were driving toward Gettysburg. He suddenly slumped against the wheel. Mrs. Sterbinsky was able to gain control of the car and bring it to a halt.

Dr. Roy W. Gifford, deputy coroner of Adams County said Mr. Sterbinsky's death was caused by a heart attack.

A native of Bridgeport, Conn., Mr. Sterbinsky was a son of the late William S. and Anna (Vakal) Sterbinsky. He had resided in Emmitsburg for 40 years. A member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, he was a member of the Holy Name Society of that church. He had been a member of the Emmitsburg Lions Club, but resigned several years ago when he became ill and had also ended his services as professor of music.

He was a former member of the Knights of Columbus which organization attended in a body the Rosary recitation at the funeral home Monday evening.

Surviving are his wife, the former Alice G. Dukhart; a daughter, Mrs. Lester Boyer, Frederick; a son, William Francis Sterbinsky, Baltimore; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Hjort, New York, and two step-sisters, Mrs. Helen Bren and Mrs. Gazzella Barrow, both of Connecticut.

Funeral service were held Tuesday morning from the Allison Funeral Home with a Requiem Mass celebrated by Rev. Fr. James Twomey at 10 o'clock in St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg. Interment was in the church cemetery.

The pallbearers were Jack Rosentel, Eugene Cramer, John Hollinger, Robert Wormley, Michael Orlando and Al Rossi.

Seminary Rector Is Honored By Clergymen

In recognition of his appointment as rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary at Emmitsburg, Msgr. George D. Mulcahy was honored Monday at a testimonial dinner at Hotel Hershey attended by Bishop George L. Leach and nearly 200 priests of the Diocese of Harrisburg.

Tribute was paid to Msgr. Mulcahy in an address by Bishop Leach, who regarded the appointment to "venerable Mt. St. Mary's as a very unique and high honor." Bishop Leach and the priests were thanked by Msgr. Mulcahy for their "constant help, encouragement and warm friendship."

Msgr. Mulcahy, who was born in Sunbury, April 24, 1908, was presented with a chalice by Bishop Leach at the ceremonies. After eight years of schooling in Sunbury, Msgr. Mulcahy attended Mt. St. Mary's High School, College and Seminary. He was ordained to the priesthood May 26, 1934, at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg by the late Archbishop Philip R. McDevitt.

He will leave his post as pastor of St. Edward's Church, Shamokin to become rector of the seminary.

HOSPITAL REPORT

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keckler, Emmitsburg, a daughter Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Barr Newcomer, Emmitsburg, daughter Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Schildt, Rocky Ridge, daughter, Wednesday.

Heart Attack Fatal To Father Heary

Rev. Fr. Vincent G. Heary, C.M., for the past three years assistant pastor at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, died suddenly Tuesday morning of a heart attack at St. John's University, Brooklyn, N. Y., where he had been vacationing with his family.

Funeral services will be held this morning. The Office for the Dead was chanted by the priests in St. John the Baptist Church, Brooklyn this morning, followed by a solemn Requiem Mass. Interment will be in the Community Cemetery at St. Joseph's College, Princeton, N. J.

Rev. Fr. Heary was born in the parish of St. John the Baptist on January 10, 1911. He served as an altar boy in the church and completed his grammar school studies in the parish school. From there he went to St. Joseph's College, the minor seminary of the Vincentian Fathers, and spent the following eight years completing his high school and college courses. On June 15, 1933 he entered the Novitiate of the Congregation of the Mission in Germantown, Pa., where he spent two years. His theological studies were taken at St. Vincent's Seminary, Germantown. He was ordained to the priesthood by His Eminence, Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, in the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul, Philadelphia, May 26, 1938.

After his ordination, Rev. Fr. Heary's first assignment was to pursue graduate studies in philosophy in Rome. He spent one year there and then was called back because of the unsettled conditions due to the impending war. When the U. S. entered World War II, Fr. Heary joined the Chaplain Corps of the Air Force, and served with an Air Borne Unit, often jumping with his men. After the war he was stationed at Niagara University, Niagara Falls, N. Y., where he taught philosophy and religion for five years. His next assignment was to St. John's University in Brooklyn, N. Y., where he spent six years teaching the same subjects.

Three years ago Rev. Fr. Heary was assigned to St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg, to work as an assistant pastor. He was also spiritual director of the Holy Name Society and chaplain of Brute Council 1860 of the Knights of Columbus. He has been in ill health during the past few years.

During his short stay here, Fr. Heary enjoyed a wide circle of friends in all religious denominations and his sudden demise came as a distinct shock to them.

Keilholtz Will Leaves Estate In Trust To Widow

The wife and children are beneficiaries of the estate of Ernest Floyd (Harrison) Keilholtz, well-known Rocky Ridge cattle dealer, who died suddenly August 5 while attending the Woodsboro Livestock Sale.

Keilholtz, in his will which was probated by the Orphans Court, directs that his four sons, Merle Floyd, Raymond Ernest, Vernon Grayson and Ralph Lee Keilholtz, serve as executors.

He leaves his estate in trust to his wife. At her death he directs that the estate be equally divided between his children who include the four sons and these daughters: Mrs. Dorothy Catherine Knipple, Mrs. Novella Edith Dinterman, Mrs. Anna Vivian Law, and Mrs. Hazel Marie Stenesief.

He directed that Raymond Ernest Keilholtz be given an opportunity to purchase the farm on which he lives and that Ralph Lee Keilholtz be given a like privilege for another farm.

William M. Storm and Hetty A. Hahn witnessed the will.

Rosensteel Will

Mrs. Mary Claudia Rosensteel, who died recently, leaves her entire estate to her children. She directed in specific bequests certain items of furniture, bedding and personal effects be given to the children.

In a codicil she directed that the children of a deceased daughter, Agnes H. Houck, receive the daughters' share in equal portions. The children are Mary Theresa Houck, Margaret Claudia Callan and Edward J. Houck Jr.

Mrs. Rosensteel's children, to share equally in the estate, are William C. Rosensteel, whom she named as executor; Mary C. Constantine, Louis F. Rosensteel, Bertha E. Sprankle, Margaret L. Polley, Ernest E. Rosensteel and Richard H. Rosensteel.

Joseph Wivell and Mary M. Wivell were witnesses.

Moon Rocket Model Displayed Locally

Emmitsburg residents developed an intense interest in Sunday's ill-fated lunar probe when a full-size model of the Thor-Able rocket appeared in town late Saturday afternoon.

The giant Air Force missile was parked overnight on the St. Joseph College grounds preparatory to movement to Washington for public display.

However, when the rocket fired from Cape Canaveral's Atlantic Missile Range Sunday exploded, the huge model was trucked back to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

Had the shot at the moon been successful, Air Force personnel were prepared to truck the giant model to the nation's capital for public display.

Three special vehicles were used to transport the model, which resembled in every detail the 92-foot rocket fired from Florida. One tractor trailer was used to transport the huge first stage, while the second, third and fourth stages were fully assembled on a second. A third rig carried equipment to place the rocket in simulated launching position in Washington.

The secret nose cone section was boxed from public view, although the nose tip was in sight on the vehicle with simulated launching equipment.

The Emmitsburg Police Department was asked to help provide overnight police protection for the model. Maryland state police provided escort service while the model was on the road.

The missile was manufactured by the Douglas Aircraft Company while the propulsion engines were built by Rocketdyne Division, North American Aviation Corporation. The nose cone section is a General Electric product. AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors devised the inertial guidance system.

Designed as a surface-to-surface strategic missile, the Thor has a 1,500 mile range and is 65 feet long. However, the additional stages combined for the lunar probe increased the length to 92 feet. It is eight feet in diameter, weighs over 100,000 pounds and the propulsion motors develop 150,000 pounds of thrust.

Airmen in charge of the exhibit included Staff Sergeants Martin B. Poepelman, Paul C. Piccola Jr., and Bryant A. Yawn and Airmen First Class E. C. Burnett Jr. and James E. Eversole.

HUTZLER'S WILL OPEN MODERN STORE

Hutzler's Westview, third and largest branch store of Hutzler's, Baltimore, is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready to open this fall. The new store is located in the multi-million dollar Westview Shopping Center now being erected on a forty-two acre site on the north side of Baltimore National Pike (Route 40), west of Ingleside Avenue and east of the Baltimore Beltway now under construction.

In the heart of one of the most rapidly growing communities in the suburban Baltimore area, Hutzler's Westview is conveniently located for residents of west and north west metropolitan Baltimore and Baltimore County, as well as Anne Arundel, Carroll, Howard, Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, and Western Maryland.

Approximately 185,000 square feet in area, Hutzler's Westview will provide large stocks of quality merchandise for the whole family (representing all Hutzler departments). Typical Hutzler service, handsome appointments and imaginative decor will add to the customer's shopping pleasure. There will be free parking facilities for over 3500 cars.

Excitingly modern in design, Hutzler's Westview will comprise three merchandise levels. At mall level, the store will adjoin the covered shopping arcades and parking areas of the Westview Center; at lower level, the sales floor will open on the store's own parking area.

The mall level will be a feminine fashion world, highlighted by interesting photo - murals depicting Old Catonsville and environs. The lower level will include everything for the younger set, together with strictly masculine shops for men and boys. The upper level, a homemaker's world, will include a large and beautiful restaurant, "Maryland Gardens", featuring dramatic photo-murals of famous Maryland estates.

Other important features will be a beauty shop, bridal shop, maternity shop, the "Soda Spot" and a community auditorium.

Hutzler's Westview will bring many excellent employment opportunities to people in the area—in both selling and non-selling jobs. Applications are now being taken at Hutzler's temporary employment office at Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Ingleside and Craigmont Avenues.

Mr. and Mrs. David Arnold, Westminster, visited during the week with Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Florence and children, New York, visited during the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Romanus Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Kelly and family, Gettysburg, visited during the weekend with Mrs. Rose Kelly.

Phone Service Discussed By Two Towns

Toll-free telephone calling to Taneytown was freely discussed at a meeting of representatives of the Lions Clubs of Taneytown and Emmitsburg, and also the Chamber of Commerce of these two towns, at a public meeting held in the Town Office here Monday evening. Present were telephone managers from Frederick and Carroll Counties and representatives of various organizations as well as interested citizens.

The meeting was called in the interest of obtaining free dialing service between the two towns which was denied a number of months ago when the new wide-range calling system was put into effect by the utility. Ralph D. Lindsey, Emmitsburg, presided over the meeting as temporary chairman.

Telephone company officials stated definitely that this service could not be provided without an increase in the monthly phone bill and this increase would be applied to Emmitsburg customers only. It was pointed out by the utility representatives that Emmitsburg is on the verge of going over the 2000-phone bracket and that if Taneytown were added to the bracket an increase of 25 cents a month would be mandatory. Taneytown, on the other hand, is well over the 2000 bracket and would not be forced into a hike until it reached the 4000 bracket.

Even with Emmitsburg phones added to the number this number would not be achieved, therefore Taneytown customers would enjoy the service without any increase in the monthly bill.

The subject was discussed at length and many suggestions were made but no definite action resulted from the meeting. It is planned to meet next spring to once again review the situation. The consensus gathered at the meeting was that some sort of poll should be taken to sound out any sentiment existing here as to whether the phone subscribers would or wouldn't like the toll-free calling service between the two communities. Residential subscribers would pay an additional 25 cents a month while business patrons would be compelled to pay about a dollar more. No action as to any poll was taken but it is felt that a certain amount of interest in favor of the service exists here and undoubtedly the subject will be discussed among local organizations before any action advances.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baker and family, McGregor, Texas, are visiting with Maurice Topper and Jacob Baker.

LOCAL TEAM VICTORIOUS OVER UNION BRIDGE

The locals were shut out for the first time this year when they lost a make-up game to Cashtown last Thursday by a 5-0 score. The "Crums" could not solve the slants of the Cashtown hurler, who gave up only one hit. Tom Topper, John Mort and M. Joy divided the pitching for the locals while Little was the catcher.

On Sunday, the locals spotted Union Bridge two runs and then went on to beat the Bridgers by a 7-2 score for their sixth victory. Johnny Mort went all the way, turning in one of the best pitching jobs of the season. The locals were outbatted, but made good use of the squeeze, steal and hit and run plays. Don Joy Poled a home run for the locals. The game was well-played as Union Bridge threatened time after time only to have the Crums come up with the play that would put out the fire. This was the last home game of the season.

To be able to keep baseball here next year, more team support is a vital necessity to its continuation, since we are spending much time and money now, in developing our future players. It would seem that the town would be going backwards instead of forward, if its ball team were disbanded and one of the best ball fields in the country was left to grow in weeds.

Two games are left with the Crums playing at Taneytown on Sunday and at Littlestown next Friday night for a game under the lights.

Veterans' Benefit Block Party Friday-Saturday

Friday and Saturday nights have been set aside as the dates of the big gala Block Party, which will be sponsored in Emmitsburg by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658.

Lumen F. Norris, post Adjutant has announced this year's party is being staged to augment the scholarship and ambulance funds of the local organization which the group maintains on a permanent basis. The scholarship fund was established this year and will annually send some Emmitsburg boy or girl to the college of their choice. The fund pays $250 each year toward the tuition of some local student and within four years will cost the veteran's group $1000, with four students matriculating at one time. It is a well-known fact that it costs the post another $1000 yearly to maintain the fine free ambulance to the community. All net proceeds from the affair will be placed in these two funds and the public is asked to generously support the Block Party.

William Sanders, general chairman, announced that on Saturday night, commencing at 8 o'clock, a band concert has been scheduled, with the consent of the Burgess and Commissioners who have engaged the band. Supplying the music for the occasion will be the Emmitsburg Municipal Band, under the direction of Walter Simpson. Director Simpson has released the following program to be played during the evening: Gloria, from the 12th Mass, by Mozart; overture, Orpheus, by Offenbach; selection, Bohemian Girl, by Balfe; fantasia, Gems of Stephen Foster, by Tobani; popular, Sail Along Silvery Moon, by Leonard, and march, National Spirit, by Hummel.

Friday night music will be supplied via recordings. On hand for the entertainment of the crowd will be various games for the amusement of both young and old and a wide variety of good food. Bingo will be played each evening with a nice assortment of prizes to be awarded. During the evenings a number of household appliances will be awarded. It is the hope of the veterans to realize at least $1000 from the affair which has been resumed after a lapse of two years. Other Block Parties in previous years have been well-attended and enjoyed by the citizens from Emmitsburg and surrounding towns and it is anticipated that this year's affair will be even more well-patronized. The community well realizes the valuable asset it has in the excellent ambulance service which costs nothing, all expenses being absorbed by the local VFW. The scholarship award is comparatively new having just been established and the first recipient of the award is Michael Topper, a local student who will enter Mt. St. Mary's College this fall. Michael was made the winner of the grant by virtue of a competitive examination. The public is invited and urged to attend this fine social affair promoted by local war veterans.

Band Members To Enjoy Barbecue

Members of the Emmitsburg Municipal Band and a number of guests will enjoy their annual barbecue on Monday evening, Aug. 25, at the home of the band's director, Walter A. Simpson, near town. It has been the custom for the director, during the past decade, to invite all members of the band, and a number of friends, to attend as his guests, a delicious pit beef barbecue, cooked by the director himself.

Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle are vacationing in Davenport, Iowa, as the guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Beegle.

ATTENDING CONVENTION

Miss Mary Jane Scott left on Wednesday to attend the 18th annual Catholic Students Mission Crusade Convention held at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana, August 21-24. Miss Scott is attending as official delegate representing the Blessed Clet Mission Unit of St. Joseph College, of which she is president.

Joining her at Notre Dame will be two other S. J. Cletnenses, Miss Margaret Dougherty '59, of Wyoming, Pa., and Patricia Donohue '60, Scranton, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Matthews and children, Marie and David, Spokane, Wash., are visiting with Mrs. Matthews parents, Mayor and Mrs. C. G. Frailey.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, it was the will of God to remove from our midst, our beloved friend and associate ERNEST R. KEILHOLTZ, who for many years has occupied a position of prominence in our community and has served as a faithful and loyal Director of the Detour Bank, Detour, Md., from 1930 until his death August 5, 1958. Having had the best interests and advancement of the institution at heart at all times. Being always willing and able to give good counsel and advice and to give generously of his services even to the extent of self sacrifice.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that in his death we have sustained a loss which will be deeply realized by everyone connected with our organization. The loss to the Community in the passing of one so loved and respected is impossible to estimate. The example he has set for us in his Church life, Family life and service to his fellowmen should be an inspiration to us all, and his sudden demise leaves a vacancy which cannot easily be filled.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we, the remaining Directors of the Detour Bank, consider the death of (Harrison) Keilholtz a great personal loss and we will always cherish his loving memory. It has been an honor to have been associated with him.

RESOLVED: That we express our deep sympathy to his bereaved family and that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the bank, a copy sent to the family and a copy printed in the local newspapers.

Holds Meeting

The Men's Bible Class of Tom's Creek Methodist Church, held its monthly meeting on Sunday evening, August 17. Their were 13 members and seven visitors present.

During the devotional period, Mr. Rhea Kincaid from the Thurmont church showed slides of God's Creation and how man has wasted natural resources of years gone by in comparison to the present conservation of land and other natural resources. Each slide had a relationship to a given verse from the Bible.

The group also enjoyed singing a few songs preceding and following the slides. Refreshments were enjoyed by all, concluding the evening.

Homecoming Service

The annual homecoming service of the Eyer's Valley United Brethren Church will be held on Sunday, Aug. 31 at 2:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend this service.

Miss Frances Rowe of the U. S. Veterans Hospital, Dublin, Ga., is spending several weeks with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cooley Combs.

Rev. Fr. John D. Sullivan, C.M., Massachusetts, is vacationing at St. Joseph's Rectory.

Plant Broccoli And Cabbage In Fall Gardens

Now is the time to transplant broccoli and cabbage seedlings into the garden.

Set the plants about 18 inches apart in rows 2 feet apart. If possible, get plants that have been grown in pots or bands. When transplanting dig the holes wide and deep enough to set the roots in their natural position. Partially fill the soil around the roots and water each plant with 1 cup of starter solution. Make a starter solution by mixing one cup of complete fertilizer, such as 5-10-5, with 3 gallons of water. It is most convenient to mix the starter solution in a 12-quart pail.

Shade the plants for a few days with little tents made from newspapers. Use soil to hold the paper tents in place.

Soak the soil around the plants once a week if there is not sufficient rainfall.

Fertilize the plants at the end of the first and fourth weeks after transplanting. Use either a dry fertilizer as sidedressing and wash it in or water the plants with a solution of three cups of complete fertilizer in three gallons of water. The first sidedressing should be 6 inches from the plants; the second sidedressing 1 foot away.

Broccoli and cabbage roots are shallow and widespread. Use only very shallow cultivation. Or, better yet, put a mulch of straw, grass clippings or paper around the plants and between the rows.

Protect the plants from insects by spraying or dusting frequently with rotenone or malathion.

Try to maintain an even, rapid rate of growth until harvest.

ALONG THE POTOMAC

By U. S. Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—I voted for the National Defense Education bill, although in the past I have opposed general Federal aid to education on the grounds that the States were able to do the job, and because of the danger of having our schools dominated by the Federal Treasury.

The measure as it passed the House provided for (1) loans for needy students, (2) fellowships to train college teachers, (3) grants to States for science teaching equipment and laboratory improvement, (4) grants for testing and guidance programs, and (5) grants for foreign language teaching. For the most part these are proper areas for Federal assistance.

This legislation is important not only for what it does, but, also, in its drawing attention to the fact that it is necessary because of the lack of action by State governments, and the failure of private enterprises to assume its responsibilities in the field of education. My plea is for an awakening to the necessity for local and private initiative to assume responsibility for needed improvements in our educational system.

My bill to make confidential the relationship between a clergyman and parishioner in the courts of the District of Columbia has passed the House. At present only physicians are specifically exempt from testifying in regard to information obtained in the professional relations with patients.

The President has signed the bill which extends Federal aid for schools in federally impacted areas, and my bill providing for the acquisition of additional stream valley parklands for Maryland has gone to the White House.

The House has passed and sent to the Senate legislation incorporating provisions of my bill to permit donations of surplus property to volunteer fire-fighting organizations.

Congress has sent to the President a bill incorporating provisions of one introduced by me to modernize the fish and game laws of the District of Columbia.

Corn Carry-over Crop Is Enormous

With a record carryover of 1,550 million bushels of corn in prospect for 1958-59, and a new crop estimated at 5.3 billion—not far below the 1948 record, farmers will need to be especially careful this year about marketing their crop in an orderly way. So says Julius P. Parran, Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Chairman, in a reminder about Government assistance available to corn growers in protecting their market.

Foremost among these aids is the corn price-support program, under which farmers who complied with their 1958 corn acreage allotments may obtain loans or purchase agreements averaging $1.36 per bushel or more on a national basis. Under the 1957-crop program, for which the loan maturity date was July 31, farmers had more than 337 million bushels of corn under support as of June 15. Subsequent redemptions before the maturity date, of course, would affect the amount of the final take-over by the Commodity Credit Corporation. The bulk of this year's total carryover, however, will be owned by CCC.

For corn owned by farmers, adequate storage will be important, the Chairman points out. In fact, approved structures are required for corn stored under price-support loans. And here, again, CCC makes loans available to farmers—up to 80 per cent of the cost—for building or acquiring necessary additional farm storage space.

Corn prices normally decline fairly sharply when harvesting of the crop gets into full swing, with the seasonal low coming in late October or November, a recent study by the Department of Agriculture shows. Following the seasonal low, prices usually rise as farmers reduce their marketings and the corn loses moisture and improves in quality.

"This seasonal increase in the price over the years," the report states, "should average out to cover cost of storage, which includes interest and insurance, added handling costs, depreciation of bins and equipment and possible losses from insects, rodents, or other causes."

Significant changes from pre-war years have developed in the seasonal pattern of corn prices in the years since World War II, according to the report. The rise from the seasonal low to the seasonal high is less, and there has been a tendency for corn prices to decline earlier—in the season and to make a more rapid recovery after reaching the seasonal low.

"Price supports, which have been available since 1933," the report states further, "cushioned price declines in some years of heavy production. They may also have been at least partly responsible for more rapid recovery in prices after reaching the seasonal low points in November." Gen. Randolph McC. Pate is the twenty-first Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Care of Hair and Scalp

Good care of the hair and scalp is advisable for reasons other than grooming. When the scalp is unduly oily or dry, or the hair is thinning, or dandruff is present, you may be getting the signal that there is some underlying condition which requires medical attention.

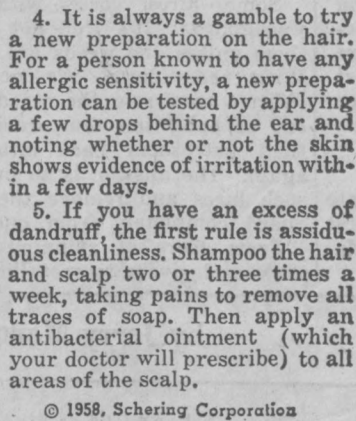

If an uncomfortable or unnatural condition of the scalp develops, your physician should be consulted. While the causes of dandruff are not fully understood, it is known that the condition can develop into more serious inflammation of the scalp unless definite hygienic and therapeutic measures are taken.

Medical authorities advise the following rules for good care of the hair and scalp:

1. Since cleanliness is the chief objective of all care of the hair and scalp, washing at least once a week (more often if external conditions or condition of the scalp makes the hair dirty) with a simple soap shampoo is recommended. It should be remembered that no method of shampoo influences the amount of oil secreted by the scalp, prolongs life of existing hair, or makes hair grow. A good shampoo should do no more than clean the hair.

2. Combing and brushing are desirable not only for the sake of appearance, but also because they enhance cleanliness of the hair and scalp.

3. Antiseptics and astringents applied to the scalp mainly serve as a good excuse for stimulation by rubbing, which can just as well be done without chemical agents. (If the condition of your scalp is such that popular chemical "remedies" are needed, medical attention should be sought.)

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A BED GUARD RAIL

A guard rail for the bed of the restless youngster may prevent injuries and preserve the peace of mind of parents. The rail is easily detachable.

Use 1 by 4-inch lumber for the rails and uprights. The rails are 48 inches long; the uprights, 26 inches long. Round all sharp corners and sand each piece smooth.

Braces to fit over the side of the bed are 8 inches long.

Spacers should be thick enough to provide a slot to slip snugly over the side of the bed. If felt or other protection is to be applied to the surfaces of the slot to prevent marring the bed, the thickness of the spacers should be increased.

Attach the rails to the uprights with No. 10 flathead screws, 1 1/4 inches long, and glue. Use 2-inch screws to assemble the braces and spacers.

PERSONALITY PINPOINTS

from EDWARD R. MURROW'S

"PERSON TO PERSON"

on CBS-TV

When Edward R. Murrow asked Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill's wife if she had any favorite topics to talk about during their "Person to Person" visit, Mrs. Sherrill replied: "Mr. Murrow, I have 3 sons and a husband, all ministers—I don't talk."

Gena Rowlands who designs and makes her own clothes had a form built to simplify the process. She left it home in Wisconsin which makes her parents very happy because: "It's like having her home."

Pantomimist Harpo Marx likes to fancy himself as a do-it-yourself man. He's finally graduated from nailing things to the floor and proudly explained to Ed Murrow about a small rubber stopper he installed to keep the refrigerator door from knocking the wall. Total cost—he figures $2,000.

Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn own one of the best stocked libraries in New York City—it includes Shakespeare, Ibsen, Shelley, etc. They like to read and Hume says Jessica reads 6 books to his 1—therefore she is 6 times as literate.

Joanne Woodward, if she weren't the busy actress she is, told Edward R. Murrow she'd like to go back to school and become a child psychologist.

Bob Cummings is crazy about flying. He started to fly at 15, soloed after 3 hours (his mother as his first passenger). Today he flies the family (4 children) on vacations in his Beechcraft twin engine job which seats 8 passengers.

Career girl Anita Colby explained why she never married: "I can't cook" and then added: "Besides, I'd rather be lonely than sorry."

Gina Lollobrigida is as much at home behind a painter's easel as she is in front of the movie cameras. She is a first-rate amateur artist, and during the war years earned the money to pay for singing lessons by sketching portraits of American G.I.s stationed around Rome.

Behind The Bamboo Curtain

In Hong Kong and Taiwan, where it is possible to talk with people who have escaped from Red China, a traveler can get authentic information on what is happening to the people behind the so-called Bamboo Curtain in China. Dr. J. D. Bales has just returned from a three-month trip through the Orient and Asia. He talked with many people who had authentic facts about life under the Communist yoke. Our column this week is devoted to an interview with Dr. Bales.

Q. First of all, what is the authentic figure on executions of Chinese by their Red Masters? A. A careful study of reports from reliable sources sets the total of Chinese killed in cold blood at 20 million. Added to this staggering total are 25 million Chinese who have died of starvation in slave labor camps. These dead are replaced by other Chinese, marked for similar fate.

Miserable Existence

Q. What is happening to the 500 million Chinese who still live in Red China? A. Their life is miserable. Food is strictly rationed. The Communist propaganda machine is constantly pressuring the people to eat less. The People's Daily, one of the chief Party organs in China, admonishes the people to "eat just a few grains less rice each day" so that more can be exported to "Socialist" countries.

Q. Is any particular segment of the population more victimized than another? A. From the information I have, all the people outside the Communist Party (perhaps ninety-eight per cent of the population) are in dire straits. Farm workers may be in the most miserable circumstances. Hundreds of thousands are fleeing from the farms into the cities. They go in spite of the unbelievably low wages paid unskilled workers in the cities. The Communist Masters promptly ordered a lowering of the wages—declaring that the illegal influx of farm workers into the cities disrupted their planned society—particularly in farm production.

No Freedom

Q. Are these farm workers allowed to remain in the cities? A. Not if they are caught. I have figures on what happened in one city—Tientsin. From January 1956 to October 1957, 200,000 people entered Tientsin illegally. Half were women, and 64,000 were ill or old people or children. But these are only the ones who were caught by the Red Police. These were persuaded or forced to return to their collective farms or villages. The "disorderly" were sent to Labor Training camps, or given criminal sentences.

Q. What happened to the freedom of speech given to the Chinese—according to reports in America—for a brief period? A. It died. Too many courageous people began to find fault with the way things were operated. I'm afraid they're all dead now. There is a "Rectification Campaign" now operating, against "rightists." People who deviate from the Communist line or operational program are sent to labor camps. The Communists have a new kind of forced labor, called "Labor Custody." This is not to be confused with "Reform by Labor" which deals with "Criminals." The "criminals" are deprived of all freedom and pay. This is the slave labor in which so many die, only to be replaced by others. The "Labor Custody," however, has as its purpose the concentration of "depraved elements" in special farms and factories—to re-educate them and to keep them from infecting society. They are paid on a piece-work basis, and have some freedoms, though they cannot leave the place to which they have been assigned. Worship Mao!

Q. What about the Church in China? The Reds claim they permit religious freedom, but they persecute religious leaders under the pretext that they are agents of "Western Imperialism." They seek to bring some charge other than religious against those whom they imprison or put to death. Freedom to propagate one's religious faith is restricted, if not denied, and church property is seized. The Pekin Daily Worker says: "Our well-being depends neither upon God nor upon His benefactions. It does not depend upon Buddha and his compassion. Well-being will be ours in the measure that we rally to the Communist Party and work seriously under the direction of President Mao Tsetung."

On August 13, 1918, Private Opha M. Johnson became the first woman to be sworn into the Marine Corps Women's Reserve.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

There is some confusion in the proper nomenclature of certain types of lures Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine maintains.

A large blade revolving loosely around a shank is called a spoon; but in smaller sizes it's a spinner. The term "spinner" is also given to a small, propeller-shaped lure, either in single or double form. Then, there's the wobbling-type metallic lure, completely different because it does not revolve; this, whether it's large or small, is also called a spoon.

Some lures come with a small, built-in keel. However, many do not, and so you must add one. It may be a small piece of sheet lead cut to size and clamped on; or a little dipsey sinker on the snap of the leader will do.

How can you tell if there's enough keel to prevent twisting? Just tie a toothpick or match into the line at right angles. Then make a short cast and retrieve at the greatest speed you'll use in fishing. If the toothpick turns, your line is twisting, so you need a heavier or more off-center keel. Of course, you remove the toothpick once you've satisfied yourself about the matter.

Some lures come with wire weedguards. It's well not to use them unless the weeds are heavy. With these lures, it's generally difficult to throw the weedguards out of operation temporarily and then get them back into place again. The answer is to buy two such lures and remove the weedguard completely from one.

Some users of spinning tackle stick exclusively to metallic lures.

This is unquestionably a mistake for, useful though they are, there is no one type of lure that's always best—there are times when a good plug would get them more fish, especially bass.

A pork rind improves the action of almost every spoon of the wobbling type, and brings more strikes—and also is very likely to keep it from turning over and twisting the line. However, when too many strikes are being missed there's a strong chance that the fish are hitting the rind only; so it should be removed, or at least cut short.

Applesauce Cake For Dieters

Dieters can't consider themselves martyrs these days. Not, that is, when they're enjoying a slice of the spicy fragrant Applesauce Cake, pictured here. This is a low-calorie version of an old-fashioned favorite. But only calories have been sacrificed. It's still rich-tasting, moist, tender, and delicately spiced.

When you taste this cake, you'll find it hard to believe that there's not one bit of sugar in it. Sweetening is accomplished instead by the use of the non-caloric sweetener, Sucaryl. And the happy result is that calories have been slashed nearly in half.

Applesauce Cake tastes best when it's still warm from the oven. Reheat in the oven, if necessary, or drop slices in the toaster when you're serving the cake as an accompaniment to coffee or tea. Heating or toasting gives the cake a fresh-from-the-oven tenderness and fragrance, and greatly enhances its flavor.

Low-Calorie Applesauce Cake

½ cup butter or margarine 3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution 1 teaspoon baking soda or 24 tablets, crushed 2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 eggs 1 teaspoon ground cloves
2 teaspoons vanilla ½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups sifted flour 1½ cups unsweetened applesauce

Cream butter in large mixer bowl on high speed until well softened. Add Sucaryl, eggs and vanilla. Continue beating until thoroughly blended. Sift dry ingredients together and add alternately with applesauce. Pour batter into an oiled ring mold (1½-quart). Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 50 to 60 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from mold.

Makes 25 ½-inch slices. Each serving contains 84 CALORIES; 1.5 grams protein; 4 grams fat; 10 grams carbohydrate. If made with sugar, each serving would contain 161 CALORIES.

THE CRISIS IN SCHOOLS

In September some 43 million Americans—one out of every four people in the nation—will go to school, most of them to overcrowded, understaffed, and ill-equipped classrooms.

In a nation of abundant production, great wealth and the highest standard of living in the world we have a "backward" school system. When the schools reopen there will be a shortage of 200,000 teachers and 150,000 schoolrooms.

Three million children will be entering school for the first time, and the only way we can make room for two million of them will be by overcrowding still further our already packed classrooms, and by spreading our teachers still thinner.

Those are parts of the distressing story of our school crisis brought out in a nationwide study by groups of educators and laymen and financed by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund. It is called the "Rockefeller Report."

The Worst to Come

Our school enrollment is increasing even more rapidly than our total population. Between 1870 and 1955, while our population was increasing four times, our public school enrollment was increasing approximately eighty times.

Some elementary and high schools and colleges have found it impossible to hire well-equipped teachers in such basic subjects as English, languages, and social science. Some have even had to drop chemistry, physics, and mathematics from their curriculum since there were no teachers to teach them.

The pressures will become more severe in the years ahead, when the population bulge will press even more urgently on already overburdened facilities. The shortage of both buildings and teachers is becoming increasingly acute.

Educational Opportunities Limited

The study predicts that elementary school enrollments will rise from about 22 million today to about 34 million in the 1960-61 school year, an increase of over 50% in only three years.

By 1969 high schools will be deluged with 50% to 75% more students than they can now accommodate, and by 1975 our colleges and universities will face at least a doubling, and in some cases a tripling, of present enrollments.

"Not only must our educators handle a huge increase in the number of students," the report emphasizes, "but they must offer higher quality in education."

"We must not be forced to choose between educating the few well or the many poorly. There must be no limitation placed in educational opportunities. Our kind of society calls for the maximum development of individual potentialities at all levels."

The report recommends that local leadership and control over education be continued and that state, local and private funds continue as the major source of school revenues, and that Federal funds without controls, be used only to close the serious gaps in the total educational system.

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Buying Land For Profit Now
BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug.
21—Please do not ask me if,
after buying land in Florida,

California, or elsewhere in the South or Southwest, you can sell it at a profit if you later decide you don't want to build on it or use it.

Let me first say that at this time, whatever you buy—land, stocks, bonds, or a small business—you should buy for cash. This, in my humble opinion, is not yet the time to borrow money in order to buy anything for a "quick turn" or profit. However, I may be wrong and I hope I am wrong.

On the other hand, for those people who will be retiring on pensions in the North, I believe it is good protection to own a well-located lot in a warm climate. But be sure to buy this as you would buy life insurance—for protection, not for profit. And make sure you see the land before you buy it.

Supply And Demand

My reason for not now "buying for profit" is because we have no control over the market when we wish to sell. When we buy anything, today we are "sitting in the driver's seat,"— but this is not so when we sell.
The price which we get when we sell will depend not upon the real value of the property, but upon how many other people want to sell similar property at the same time. This we cannot control.

This explains a basic trouble with business today. The supply of both goods and labor, at the present time, exceeds the demand. This especially applies to the automobile industry.
Priming the pump, reducing taxes, or trying any other artificial gimmicks will not restore prosperity. But, soon as demand again equals supply, we will once more have full employment.
The same applies to selling land or lots for a profit. Our own property ultimately depends upon the other fellow,— that is, upon what he wants.

Prices And Wages
The usual method for bringing about an increase in demand for goods is to lower prices. According to the newspaper advertisements of today, it appears that retailers are now really cutting prices and that there are true bargains.
These, however, vary in different localities. Customers should "shop" and see for themselves.
President Eisenhower advises everyone to buy more; but he does not say "where" or "when."

He leaves that for you to find out.

Forgive me for so often referring to the "Good Book"— but remember that the Bible has gradually been built up on the experiences of the ages,— some 3500 years. If you will turn to the third chapter of Ecclesiastes in your Bible, you will find it says that there is a time for everything. Therefore, we should recognize the reality of the business cycle and time our moves accordingly. We must now bring business and employment into balance. This, of course, means that as prices decline, labor should be willing to accept lower wages. Restoring prosperity is no "one-way" street.

Best Stocks To Own

The law of supply and demand applies equally to land, commodities, and labor. The wageworker must be willing to take less money home for a few months and the builder and the retailer must be equally ready to reduce prices. If wage-workers do not freely accept lower wages, they must suffer from partial unemployment.
There is no halfway solution.
Neither the President of the United States nor the president of any powerful labor union can, in the long run, upset the basic law of supply and demand. I urge readers to turn again to Ecclesiastes, the third chapter.

"How can the wageworker buy goods if he is unemployed?" you ask. I reply that he can do so with his unemployment insurance and, if necessary, by withdrawing some of the savings which he has been "storing up for a rainy day."
This gives a hint investors as to the best type of stocks own, viz., "Own stocks of companies that supply goods which people must buy, whether they are employed or unemployed."

New Portland
Cement Plant
Under Operation

The $1,000,000 dust collection system at Alpha Portland Cement Company's new Lime Kiln plant has been completed and is now in full operation, removing the dust from the exhaust air of the huge kilns.

In addition, dust created during the grinding and crushing of quarry rock and dust resulting from packing and storage operations is trapped. Practically no smoke or dust will be discharged from the 300-foot stack. Steam, generated from water added during the wet grinding process, will be the most visible discharge.

In operation, the main system uses a two-step process.

First, the larger particles are removed as they pass through a mechanical collection unit which takes advantage of the centrifugal force of the swirling air. Then the partially-cleaned exhaust air passes through an electric precipi-tator similar to the installation at Alpha's Martins Creek Plant, where electrically-charged plates remove the remaining dust particles. This equipment was furnished by one of the foremost manufacturers of dust collection equipment in the world and is guaranteed to do the job.

Dust collectors such as those used in this system are extremely costly, both to buy and to operate.
The main system in the kiln room represents 22% of the total cost of kiln room machinery and equipment, including the huge rotary kilns.

This installation is the most efficient dust collecting equipment known to modern engineering.

Southern California. Up to 200 babies a day are "serviced"—changed, fed, rested—at absolutely no charge at the clinically clean hospitality center. Happiest of all are the mothers who, for the first time, are able to care for their offspring under ideal conditions while traveling.

October 12. Lumen F. Norris, general activities chairman, disclosed the council planned to work on the finishing of the wall around St. Joseph's Rectory grounds and appointed Joseph Cy Haley as chairman of the project in charge. The wall was recently removed and the footer needs smoothing and repointing. Beginning next Tuesday evening a number of the council members will commence the task of finishing the wall. Father James Twomey, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, was a guest of the Council and made brief remarks for the welfare of the organization. He disclosed that he would ask the Council to designate a portion of North Alley as one-way leading from St. Euphemia's Hall and that a number of parking spaces would be marked off on the property's macadam backyard. Applications for membership were received from three individuals and will be acted upon before the next meeting. Fall bingo games were discussed but no action was taken as to the dates when the game will be played.

Members Hear Cooperative Report

Approximately 50 members of Emmitsburg area heard reports of Southern States Cooperative, their Cooperative's services for families and friends in the Emmitsburg area at the 1957-58 fiscal year which ended June 30, at their local annual membership meeting held recently at Toms Creek Church.

In addition to the report given by District Manager L. B. Baldwin, members were elected to the local Advisory Board and the local Farm Home Advisory Committee representing members of the area.

According to Mr. Baldwin, the more than 374,000 members of Southern States, and local member cooperatives in a six-state operating territory, put through their organizations $200,400,000 worth of purchasing and marketing volume during the 1957-58 fiscal year. The report, which was a picture presentation, also pointed out that Southern States net worth was over $49,000,000.

Ralph Lindsey, manager of Emmitsburg Feed & Farm Supply, the local service agency, gave the report of local operations and services.

Raymond Keilholtz, Emmitsburg R2, was chairman of the meeting.

A feature of the meeting was an educational contest, "It Pays to Know" with the following participating: Mrs. Harry Swomley, Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, Mrs. Maurice Moser, Mrs. Charles Copenhaver, Mrs. Emanuel Eckenrode, and Messrs. Luther Cregger, Harry Swomley, Ray Keepers and Earl Welty.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Ralph Lindsey.

Elected to the local Advisory Board were Robert Martin and Floyd Woods.

Elected as chairman and secretary of the local Board for the coming year were Luther Cregger and Roy Sanders, and as chairman and secretary of the FHA Committee were Mrs. Charles Valentine and Mrs. Carroll Wivell.

Luther Cregger was chosen to represent the local board as its delegate at the Southern States

Annual Stockholders Meeting to be held in Richmond, Va., on November 6 and 7. Roy Sanders will also attend the meeting.

"Potato Man" Observes Birthday

The Green Parrot Tea Shop was the scene of the observance Wednesday of the 83rd birthday of George W. Wilhide, familiarly known as the "potato man."

George, who hails from Lantz, was the guest once again of Mrs. Leone McNair, proprietress, who for many years has baked a birthday cake for the celebrant and has served him a delicious meal on the occasions. George has made trips into Emmitsburg from Lantz for 33 consecutive years and wishes to thank his many friends for their kindness towards him whenever he comes to town.

Rev. Fr. Francis Stauble, former pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, now stationed at Germantown, Pa., visited at St. Vincent's rectory a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pitzer and family, Harve de Grace, visited Sunday with Mrs. Pitzer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold.

Miss Alice and Agnes Scott are vacationing this week at Ocean City, Maryland.
