At long last it appears that we will get a new road south of town, and in the near future, it is hoped. The State Roads Commission this week advertised for bids on the new section from Payne's Hill to Toll Gate Hill, just a mile south of town. We were aware this road was to be built and expected it this year but apparently that is out of the question with winter confronting us. With the advent of winter, roadbuilding is almost at a standstill. However, we are very happy to see the Commission has gone to work as the section which is to be replaced is one of the worst on Route 15 and when completed will give motorists a straight shot from here to Catocin Furnace. The bids have been advertised and rights-of-way men have been around this area this week so things should start happening right shortly.

There appears in the offing a repetition of that disgraceful performance last year when Federal forces were called out to maintain law and order in Little Rock, Ark. This time the state's officials have had time to plan for the racial integration program and will undoubtedly resist the attempt with all their force. There's another fellow who has had time to plan and who acted in the best interests of our nation, and that's Ike Eisenhower who ordered the troops there last time the trouble broke out. The situation represents a virtual powder keg and could be the source of a lot of animosity and serious trouble, strife and hate between many of our states. The bigots and Commies have had practically a year to foment undesirable actions in that area and unquestionably have lost no time getting ready for the opening of the school there next week when it is planned to integrate the colored students with the white. It really is a bad situation, a deplorable one which bears watching by the entire nation. The outcome will have a serious effect on our whole country, regardless of what section.

Last week's circus was a flop in more than one way. Some of the crew flopped in jail, the whole show flopped by not performing and the tent just about flopped when a severe storm hit the area. The affair was a sort of unheralded one, with little or no advertising in advance to inform the public. When the circus did come to town it was nabbed by State tax men who incarcerated a number of the crew in the county calaboose and they weren't released in time to put on a performance as contracted for. So disgusted were the sponsors of the show, the local Lions Club, that they wouldn't reschedule the circus under any circumstances. To ease the pain of those who purchased tickets in advance, the club has made plans to redeem the tickets. How to do this is explained elsewhere in this issue of the Chronicle.

A bit of that old-time serenading was revived this week following the marriage of a local young blade, Pat Boyle. The traditional cattle wagon was brought into play by the Chief of the Keystone Cops (remember the Bicentennial) Fern Baker, assisted by the Emmitsburg Police Department. Pat it seems, must have been tipped off as to what was coming and prepared for it by locking the doors of the house. This simple little action didn't deter the determined friends and Fern, despite his size, proceeded to enter the house via a window. In a few seconds Pat was on his way. On hand for the occasion was a section of the local band which furnished the serenade with the prescribed noise. Following the serenade a little fun was enjoyed at the home with all ending in peace and harmony and no hard feelings between the abducted and abductors. I am told that Fern had a shocking time of it. Don't get the wrong impression now, by shock I mean just that. Fern had along his cattle shocking stick and during the course of events really had things moving. So well did the revellers enjoy themselves that I wouldn't put it past them to try it out on a few more recently-married couples who so far have missed the fun. Don't say you weren't warned.

Lt. Baumgardner Receives Naval Promotion

James M. Baumgardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner, Emmitsburg, was recently promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the U. S. Navy. Lt. Cdr. Baumgardner just served two years duty as supply stores officer aboard the U.S.S. Randolph, and just recently reported to the Naval Supply Depot in Norfolk, Va. He is going to take training in the field of Electronic Data of Processing while stationed there. He is living in Norfolk with his wife, Betty and three children, JoAnn, Lisa Lee and Charles Raymond.

U. S. Route 15 Will Be Improved

The State Roads Commission is asking bids on an extension of the relocation of U. S. 15 which will, when completed, take the new U. S. 15 to the outskirts of Emmitsburg.

According to the notice to contractors, the State Roads Commission is asking for bids for a relocation of U. S. 15 from 3.2 miles northeast of intersecting M.J. 81 (which leads into Thurmont) and U. S. 15, extending towards Emmitsburg for a distance of 2.612 miles.

When completed this road will run from Catocin Furnace school to the Old Frederick Road, just south of Emmitsburg, and will be one lane of an ultimate dual highway for U. S. 15 north.

A few years back U. S. 15 was relocated around the Franklinville area. Just recently the Thurmont by-pass connected with the Franklinville relocation to the north of Thurmont and to the south it started with the Catocin Furnace improvement.

The new relocation of U. S. 15 will start with the end of the Franklinville improvement and extend north to Old Frederick Road at Toll Gate Hill.

The Roads Commission announced last week it is planned to improve connections between the new relocation of U. S. 15 and the Old Frederick Road and also to improve connections of the proposed relocation and the existing U. S. 15. This will be done for convenience of motorists so they can make use of the new road the commission spokesman said.

The recently completed Thurmont by-pass extended to about 1/2 mile north of Thurmont before connecting with the Franklinville improvement, the commission spokesman said.

The bids will be received by the State Roads Commission at its office in Baltimore until 12 noon on Sept. 9 at which time they will be opened and read.

Wins Four-Year Scholarship

Carroll K. Stottlemeyer, son of Mrs. Emma U. Stottlemeyer, Rocky Ridge, has been awarded a full four-year scholarship for study at the University of Maryland next September.

A graduate of Frederick High School, Stottlemeyer was secretary of the Frederick Chapter of the Future Farmers of America and a member of the Student Council in high school.

The scholarships, presented annually to those who are considered worthy on the basis of ability and merit by the Committee on Scholarships, are made available by the University of Maryland.

Stottlemeyer intends to major in agriculture at the university.

Archibald Henderson, fifth Commandant of the Marine Corps, received a salary of about $75 per month.

Circus Tickets Are Being Redeemed

Thirty members were present at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening at Fitzgerald's Mason-Dixon Inn, President Charles F. Stouter presiding.

Most of the business session was devoted to the discussion and planning for the forthcoming Horse Show which will be held at the Civic Grounds on Sunday, September 14. Cloyd W. Seiss, general chairman of the show gave a detailed progress report and announced that the field equipment has been already set up on the grounds preparatory to the show. J. Ward Kerrigan, advertising chairman, reported all advertisements for the show catalog had been sold and that the copy was now in the hands of the printer. Secretary-treasurer William Strickhouser reported that he and President Stouter had attended, last Sunday, a meeting of all zone secretaries and presidents held in Hagerstown.

The group decided that as a result of the failure of a circus which the club recently sponsored here, to put on a performance as scheduled, that all advance ticket sales would be refunded to those owning such tickets. People holding these ducats are asked to present them at the office of the Emmitsburg Chronicle on or before Saturday September 6 and they will be reimbursed for the expenditure. Absolutely no tickets will be redeemed after that date.

Scout Troop Takes On Number Of New Members

Two Explorers and one leader were admitted into the scouting "Order of the Arrow" recently. Explorers Jerry Rightmire and Jim Fitzgerald along with Scoutmaster J. E. Houck, were put through an ordeal of silence, fasting, labor and camping. This lasted from 1 p. m. Sat., until 9:30 p. m. Sunday. Then at a huge campfire they were admitted into the "Order of the Arrow" which is a service group of honor camps for Scouts over the country.

Tuesday night the entire troop spent the evening building different types of fires, learning safety with the axe and knife and following trail signs thru the woods. The new scouts had a class in flag folding and in the history of the flag.

Saturday morning Troop 284 will send a swimming team to Frederick to compete with other Troops in the Francis Scott Key District. Bill Zimmerman was elected team captain. Members of the team are Bobby Zimmerman, Skip Englar, Danny Gerrie, Tom Humerick, Donnie Byard, Dennis Martin, Jimmy Topper, Ronald Stouter and Don Marshall.

Number Of Community Shows Assigned Dates

The Frederick County Agent's office now has application forms necessary to obtain State Fair Board assistance in awarding premiums at the various community shows to be held in Frederick County in the next two months.

County Agent Henry R. Shoemaker announced this week that these applications must be filled in and approved by his office 15 days before the opening of any community show or at the latest by September 15.

If approved, they entitle the county Granges operating the community shows to a 75 per cent of all expenditures for premiums by the State Fair Board.

Seven such community shows were held in Frederick County last year, in Ballenger, Middletown, Emmitsburg, Adamstown, Unionville, Jefferson and Thurmont. Some county Granges have been sponsoring such shows for as long as 40 years, Shoemaker reported.

They consist of displays of crops, grains, baked and canned goods, sewing and floral displays. No animals are exhibited at these community shows.

FOOD SALE

The Women's Group of Tom's Creek Methodist Church will conduct a food sale in conjunction with the public sale of Lewis Bell on Saturday morning. On sale at the lunch stand will be home-made pies, cakes, soups and sandwiches.

MISS LeGORE BRIDE OF PATRICK BOYLE

Miss Nancy Camille LeGore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. LeGore, LeGore, Md., became the bride of Mr. Patrick Bernard Boyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard H. Boyle, Emmitsburg, in a pretty summer ceremony performed on Sunday, August 17.

The chapel in the St. Vincent's Rectory, Emmitsburg, was the scene of the one o'clock wedding which took place before the immediate family and an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and asters. The Rev. Fr. James Twomey, C.M., officiated. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of yard-dyed-taffeta and imported long sleeves with sequin embroidery at the sabrina neckline and a skirt of lace applique with a chapel-length train. Her short veil of bridal illusion fell from a pearl and sequin crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of white asters and pom-poms.

Mrs. Robert Koontz, Emmitsburg, sister of the groom, attended as matron of honor in an Oriental blue ballerina-length gown of taffeta with a scoop neckline and harem skirt. Her headpiece and slippers were a matching blue and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white pom-poms.

L. Michael Boyle, Emmitsburg, served as best man for his brother. The bride is a graduate of Centenary College for Women and the University of Maryland and has attended the University of Pennsylvania and Ohio Wesleyan University. At present she is a member of the faculty at Frederick High School.

Mr. Boyle served two years in the armed forces and is now attending Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg.

Schools To Open With Record Enrollment

Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh, superintendent of public schools for Frederick County announced this week that all schools will open on Thursday, Sept. 4. The largest enrollment in the history of the Board of Education is reported for this coming semester. Latest figures available show that approximately 13,650 students will be in attendance at the public schools. A meeting of principals and supervisors has been called for today and all teachers are to report to their schools for professional activities from 9 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., on Sept. 2-3. A registration of pupils not previously registered and who have never been enrolled in a Frederick County school has been scheduled for these two days.

Emmitsburg High School will be staffed by the following members of the faculty: Arvin P. Jones, principal, Eugene Wood, Vice principal, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, Claude Corl Jr., Cleon Elliot, Mrs. Barbara Hoecker, Mrs. Mary H. Hoke, Mrs. Alma S. Jones, Mrs. Margaret R. Polley, Mrs. Rita Remavege, Miss Ruth E. Stull and John Weaver. Public school elementary teachers are: Mrs. Betty H. Baker, Mrs. Mildred Elliot, Mrs. Dorothy L. Hung, Lyla M. Jenkins, Mrs. Anna P. Leary, Mrs. Mary S. Scott, Edna C. Stull, Calvin Wacker and Mrs. Helen B. Walter.

St. Joseph's School will open its doors for the new year on Tuesday, Sept. 2, Sister Mary Sullivan, principal, announces. All freshmen will report on this day for an orientation program. Upper classmen will report to the school on Wednesday morning for regular sessions. Also opening on that date, Sept. 2, will be the Mother Seton School, Sister Francis, principal.

Locals Play Night Ball Tuesday

Cashtown, scrapping for fourth place and a position in the league playoffs, won two of three games over the weekend in the Pen-Mar Baseball League and can clinch the coveted spot with a victory in the final game next Sunday at Fairfield.

Two victories were recorded by Cashtown at Hanover on Saturday. They finished a protested game, starting in the seventh inning with the score tied at 1-1, for a 2-1 triumph and then won 6-4 in the makeup of a postponed affair.

Littletown, with a chance to tie Cashtown for fourth place, registered a 6-3 win at Cashtown Sunday afternoon. Four runs in the top of the third inning gave the win to Littletown. Each team collected 10 hits, Littletown being led by Smith who rapped three singles. Bobby Rohrbach punched out two singles, a double and triple and J. Herring won two singles and a double to spark the Cashtown attack.

Fairfield's regular season titlist took a 13-inning game at Blue Ridge Summit 4-1, scoring a run in the top of the ninth to send the game into overtime and clinching the affair with three runs in the 13th inning.

Union Bridge handed Hanover its third loss of the weekend on the winner's diamond 9-5. Shank and Spencer each homered for Union Bridge and between them collected seven of the winner's 12 hits.

It was announced this week that Emmitsburg will play at Littletown Tuesday, September 2, at 7:30 p. m. instead of tonight (Friday).

SPEEDER IS NABBED AFTER WILD CHASE

A Gettysburg R2 youth paid heavy fines and was sentenced to a total of two years in jail as the result of attempting to avoid arrest in Emmitsburg last Friday.

The youth was identified as James E. Ketterman, 22, Gettysburg R2. Police Chief Robert L. Koontz, accompanied by Police Commissioner Wales E. Rightmire, picked up Ketterman's trail in Emmitsburg when he sped through town, about midnight last Friday. A nightmarish chase ensued and Ketterman succeeded in outdistancing the police cruiser and escaped by turning off his lights. The chase led out the Mountain Road and continued for several miles before the police car lost sight of the fleeing Ketterman who was accompanied by four other youths.

Chief Koontz outsmarted the speeder and figured that if he went far enough on the Mountain Road he would eventually return on the road to Payne's Hill. Koontz's patience and savvy finally paid off. When Ketterman pulled onto Route 15 on Payne's Hill, the police were there waiting and apprehended him. The chase covered about eight miles.

At a hearing Saturday before Magistrate Paul Little in Thurmont, Ketterman was charged, fined and sentenced on the following counts: Operating under the influence of liquor, $500 and one year in the Maryland House of Correction; reckless driving, $100 and six months in the Maryland House of Correction; turning off lights to avoid identification and attempting to escape, $500 and six months in the Maryland House of Correction.

Ketterman was accompanied by the following youths: Hanzel Brooks, 18, Fairfield; Victor Eugene Arentz, 18, Gettysburg R2, and Floyd Walter McClain, 21, Fairfield. The three were each fined $100 and sentenced to serve 60 days in the Frederick County jail. The car was impounded in a local garage. Ketterman was arrested here by Chief Koontz last year and fined on a motor vehicle violation. He was released only nine days ago from a Pennsylvania jail.

Grid Player Dies Suddenly

A 16-year-old Baltimore high school student died in Gettysburg Saturday shortly after he collapsed while practicing football at Mount Saint Mary's College.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, identified the dead youth as George Rabenau of 4604 Marguerite avenue, Baltimore.

Dr. Crist said the youth was a member of the football squad of Calvert Hall College in Baltimore. He said an examination failed to show any signs of serious injury.

An autopsy was later performed to determine the exact cause of death.

BARN FIRE DAMAGE SET AT $10,000

Fire, caused by spontaneous combustion, according to Greenmount Fire Chief Paul L. Plank Jr., destroyed the barn at the Joseph Davies farm, Fairfield R2, last Thursday evening.

Greenmount and Emmitsburg firemen were called to the blaze. The barn is located about 1 1/2 miles northeast of Emmitsburg in Liberty Twp., Pa.

The 60 by 80 foot barn was filled with approximately 80 tons of hay, 200 bushels of oats, and approximately $3,000 worth of machinery, all of which was consumed with the structure.

Greenmount firemen remained at the scene until 1 o'clock Friday morning using water from a booster tank to wet down four nearby structures to prevent their catching fire.

Plank said he understood there was no insurance on the barn and its contents.

The assessment of the barn and its contents would indicate that the loss was in the neighborhood of $10,000 although Plank said he could not make a final estimate at that time.

About 14 members of the Greenmount company remained at the scene. Emmitsburg firemen were released when the barn had burned to the ground.

Davies, a federal employe, is believed to reside near Frederick. The place is farmed by Harvey Cullison, Fairfield R. D., who resides a short distance from the Davies place. A son of Harvey Cullison tenants the house at the Davies farm.

Annual Carnival Begins 8-Day Stand Tonight

All roads lead to the mammoth annual Carnival being sponsored here by the Indian Lookout Conservation Club. The affair opens this evening and will continue thru September 6.

Previously the affair was scheduled for Sept. 1-6 but a later change of plans will open the Carnival tonight. The event will be held on Community Field where it is readily accessible to the general public.

Clay Z. Green, president of the Conservation Club and general chairman of the Carnival, announced the finest program of entertainment ever booked here, has been scheduled to operate during the week of September 1-6.

Booked for the occasion are these well-known entertainers: Monday, matinee for children from one to five o'clock. In the evening former Grand Ole Opry stars, Grandpa Jones and Ramona, will head the free entertainment. Tuesday evening the famous RCA recording stars, Dick Williams and the Satellites will be on hand. They star on Town and Country Jamboree television show out of Washington. Wednesday night the well-known Buckskins from the Buckskin Jamboree and former winners on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Show, will supply the entertainment. On Thursday night, fat and jolly Tiny Jenkins will drive the crowd into a frenzy with his clowning antics and singing. Tiny is known and billed as the world's biggest hillbilly, weighing some 450 pounds. On Friday the management has scheduled the popular Bill Ritchie and his Dixiecats, exponents of rock and roll rhythm. This group has appeared on many TV record hops in the area and will delight the older folks as well as the youth.

On Saturday night, Sept. 6, the type of entertainment will switch from hillbilly to band music and the Emmitsburg Municipal Band will reign over the entertainment for the evening. During the evening a number of cake walks will be held and the committee reports a large number of cakes will be on hand to be awarded. Along with the Thursday night's program, a delicious beef barbecue will be held with Walter A. Simpson, expert in this field of culinary achievement, supervising the pit barbecue.

On hand for the entertainment of the crowd will be a number of rides for the kiddies and adults, the equipment being supplied by Lefty Billel. Bingo will be played every evening with a nice variety of prizes being given away.

On the final night of the Carnival, a valuable award will be made. This presentation will consist of a 14-foot Lone Star motor boat equipped with a 10-h.p. Johnson Seahorse motor and also a Lone Star trailer to haul the boat and motor. This award will be made about 11:30 Saturday, the closing night of the event.

Farm Bureau Group Meets

The Emmitsburg Farm Bureau Planning Group met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner with four families and a guest family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zentz, present.

The scripture reading was read from John, 2nd chapter by Anna Margaret Martin.

The minutes were read and approved.

Raymond Keilholtz told about the National Plowing Contest held in Hershey, Pa., last week.

Harry Zentz read the article on the state law that was passed by both houses.

The Planning Group discussion was "What Kind of a Farm Bureau Program Do I Want?" was read and discussed.

Games were played and refreshments served by the hostess. The meeting adjourned to meet in September at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Springer.

School Discussed By Local Grange

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin. The meeting was presided over by the Master, Harry Swomley Jr.

A discussion was held on the local school and it was discussed at length. A cake contest was discussed and it was announced that all those wishing to enter the contest are to bake an applesauce or angel food cake. It must be baked in a No. 2 pan and brought to the meet on September 3 to be judged.

Juvenile Grange Backs Better Hearing Program

WASHINGTON — "Earn for Ears" will be the theme of the program for the Nation's 50,000 Juvenile Grange members during October, November and December. While learning of hearing problems, the young Grangers will earn money for the purchase of audiometers to be used in the American Hearing Society's campaign for periodic audiometer tests for school children all over the country.

As to these five - to - fourteen year olds earn money for the project, they will be guided into appreciation for their own good hearing; taught thoughtfulness for others and learn of the joy of giving. The three holidays—Halloween, Thanksgiving and Christmas—will be taken into the project through games, contests, crafts, parties, literary programs, and money making projects—all in the theme "Earn for Ears."

Each year a portion of the Juvenile Grange program is pinpointed on one handicapped group. Last year the blind were featured through Pilot Dogs, Inc. As a result, a young man in Guatemala City, Central America, has a pilot dog to assist him in becoming self-supporting.

Other themes to be featured in this year's program are: "The Italian Team in Italy"—a new self-help program which will aid world understanding; "New for the Needy"—featuring problems of the needy of this country; and "Understanding Uncle Sam"—spotlighting the advantages and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Combined with these community service projects, the Juvenile Grange has a program embracing ritualism, nature crafts, scrapbook contests and "Grange Only" projects. Each Juvenile Grange is sponsored by a parent organization, the Subordinate Grange. A State Matron directs the JG work of each state, adding to the national program those activities which fit the needs of her state.

Mrs. Byron Frederick of Ohio has served as National Matron for six years.

VIOLATES CURFEW

Mrs. Dorothy Henchey, Chambersburg, Pa., has been charged by Chambersburg police with violating the curfew ordinance.

Mrs. Henchey permitted her 15-year-old son to be on the streets after the curfew hour, police said in information filed before Justice of the Peace John S. Gillan, of Chambersburg.

Protests Actions Of Local Youths

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

Now that these teen-age hoodlums can no longer perform their acts of devilry in our town, having been excluded from a number of places, they are now driving about the rural district yelling and slurring passersby.

Every effort has been made in town to improve conditions for the teen-agers' pleasure but this is not enough. They travel about in cars and yell and slur people walking along the public highway to and from town. We have a speed demon who runs a motorcycle about 70 m.p.h., thus endangering the lives of both children and adults. Boys drive their cars at a certain speed so great it is impossible to obtain their license numbers. They seem to be as meek as a lamb when close by and after they gain an interval of distance they then yell and curse. All of them are not known, but two of them are. They transmit this devilry among the other youth of the community from time to time have an opportunity to keep the devilry perpetuated.

If one should strike any of them they would be in serious trouble. In my opinion if they are old enough to operate a motor vehicle then they are old enough to attend to their own affairs. We citizens do think it is due time to crack down on these culprits. I was very happy to read Abigail's recent column relative to the actions of these teen-agers and suggesting a curfew. CITIZEN

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

By A. F. Vierheller
Extension Fruit Specialist

The fruit ripening season is upon us. In fact, many of the earlier peach varieties were picked in late July, and it is hoped the fruits were allowed to stay on the tree for maximum color and flavor.

The commercial grower is handicapped in getting his peaches to market in top condition, so he cannot always allow for maximum development.

Since peaches soften or rot rapidly depending upon maturity or weather, the grower picks the crop when the ground color of the fruits turn from a green to a creamy color. Of course, the fruits are spot-picked as they reach proper stage of ripeness, so each tree is "picked-over" several times.

Recent development of a quick ice-water cooling system called hydro-cooling has allowed growers, equipped with these machines, to market more mature peaches.

It is essential in commercial peach culture to cool the harvested fruit as quickly as possible to delay maturity until the peaches are in the market. Picked fruit should be placed in a cool cellar or cold storage as soon as possible.

As peaches size rapidly during the final few weeks on the tree, it is wise to delay harvest as long as is practical. Home growers should allow for maximum tree ripening. Commercial men know that size is a factor since 380 peaches of 2 inch diameter make a bushel, whereas 280 peaches of 2 1/4 inches; 190 peaches of 2 1/2 inches; and only 110 peaches of 3 inches in diameter fill a bushel container.

Picking time is a good time to observe the effects of proper fruit thinning, and to note any improvements to be made in pruning and spraying. Keep notes of observations such as spraying dates, weather, variety faults, etc.

The second spraying of peach tree trunks for borer control was due about August 20 and should be applied if not already done. Use two cups of DDT 50% wettable powder in five gallons of water for commercial orchards, or eight pounds of the powder or six quarts of 30% emulsifiable concentrate per 100 gallons of water. Spray the trunks up to the limb crotch, being sure to cover the bark thoroughly with the spray.

Trees up to four years old will require about a pint to a quart, and older trees will need from one to two quarts. No mounding of the soil around the tree trunk is necessary. This spray replaces all other methods of borer control, as it is safe, sure, and convenient, killing the borers before they enter the tree bark.

Summer Rambo apples have been ready for harvest. This is a good variety to consider. It has a long ripening season, so the variety can be used earlier as a sauce apple and later as a dessert apple. It is a regular annual bearer, needs pollination for fruit set, and has only a red blush. However, a red strain of the variety is now available.

Adrian von Borcke, West Germany's leading trainer, has brought three horses to Laurel for its International Race, a record for the six-year-old classic.

Your Personal Health

Swim For Fun

"Hang your clothes on a hickory limb, but don't go near the water." It's not surprising that Mother gave that advice to her darling daughter. The number and complexity of rules for safety in the water might discourage any anxious parent.

As a matter of fact the one really important rule is often forgotten among the smaller ones. That is: Learn to Swim.

To be on the safe side, children must first learn to be happy at home in the liquid element. They should start early in life playing in safe shallow water. If you're at all afraid of the water yourself, make every effort to avoid transmitting your fears to them. As soon as possible have them taught to swim under proper supervision. Almost every public beach or pool offers instruction in swimming and Red Cross life saving. Every youngster should master correct breathing technique, floating, treading water, and one simple stroke. The old fashioned method of tossing them in off the dock may have developed a few swimmers, but it probably developed more non-swimmers who were paralyzed by fear of the water.

Once the children have learned how to swim, you can lay down a few simple safety rules that must be followed "or else." Insist that they follow the "buddy" system, swimming in pairs and keeping their eyes on each other. Allow no swimming immediately after eating. Insist that they come out of the water when you call. Children will protest that they're perfectly comfortable when they are shivering and turning blue. Ignore their protests for their own sake.

A day at the beach can be fun and free from worry. It will be, if these essentials for safety in the water are followed.

Milk Producers Will Attempt To Salvage Fair Milk

The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. is working in conjunction with the Maryland Purebred Breeders Association this year to salvage, for manufacturing purposes, a large quantity of milk from cows exhibited at the Timonium Fair.

Approximately 1,200 head of cattle, many of them milking cows will be on exhibition when the Fair opens on Saturday. The laws of nature being what they are, the cows must be milked morning and night, and since it is impractical to try to bring Timonium stalls up to the strict sanitary conditions required by State and City Health Departments for milk put in bottles, much of it has gone down the drain in the past.

This year the dairy farmer's Cooperative has installed two 400-gallon Mojonier bulk milk tanks in a room near the dairy exhibit, with a modern transfer system provided by the DeLaval Company. The MCMP also has installed several equipment washing units. Milk will be poured into the transfer system and pumped into the tanks, where it will be cooled. Twice a day a MCMP contract hauler will pump the milk into a refrigerated tank truck and take it to a manufacturing plant in Westminster, Carroll County.

Proceeds from these milk sales will be turned over to the Breeders Association to be added to a fund for a new building at Timonium.

The tanks and the transfer system form an exhibit in themselves and will be open to any Timonium visitors wishing to see them. The tank and transfer system will operate through September 5th.

Armed Forces Are Studying New Tests

On July 28, 1958, the President approved an amendment to the Universal Military Training and Service Act that authorized the President to raise the mental and physical qualifications for induction into the Armed Forces.

A new series of mental tests are now being given at the Armed Forces Examining Stations to all Selective Service registrants who attain a score of 10 through 30 on the Armed Forces Qualification Test.

"Selective Service registrants going for a preinduction physical examination should advise their employers and family that they may be required to remain overnight at the Armed Forces Examining Station in order to take the test," Colonel Henry S. Stanwood, Maryland State Director of Selective Service said.

Some other registrants who have previously been examined and found acceptable will receive the test when they go for induction. They may be found unacceptable because of the higher standards of acceptability for military service now in effect.

"It is too early at this time to predict accurately what the results of these tests will be," Col. Stanwood concluded.

For Iced Tea Without Waiting
Use Powdered Instant Tea Product

Nothing is more refreshing with a summer meal than iced tea. And many's the time you set the table for such a cooling repast only to find you've forgotten to make it. Too late now, you think, to boil water, measure tea leaves and strain, or count tea bags and drain. Not to mention waiting for the steaming brew to cool, or else cluttering it beyond recognition with large quantities of ice cubes. This summer you can toss all such cares to the winds by using Nestea, an instant powdered tea product, to make iced tea.

Nestea makes iced tea the easiest drink of summer. There is no fuss, no muss, and no advance planning necessary. It dissolves instantly in cold tap water. So you can have iced tea any time with practically no work and no waiting. Allow 1 rounded teaspoon of Nestea for each glass of tea. Add it to the cold water. Then add ice cubes if you wish. And there's your iced tea—as easy as that!

You'll find Nestea Iced Tea has a wonderful, inviting color, as well as authentic tea fragrance and flavor. It's a perfect way to toast the pleasures of modern living this summer.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

Many readers have requested this column to comment on what is known as the "case of the vicuna coat."

Several years ago the same lurid headlines were being written around freezers and milk coats.

Congress, then, as now, made quite a stir and it so happens that in both cases there was proximity to an election. Yet, C. W. Harder, despite all the fuss, the main issue taught by these incidents seems to have been lost.

Whether, in the fullness of time, it is established that Sherman Adams did, or did not, exert beneficial influence on the Federal Trade Commission on behalf of his friend Goldfine, is largely immaterial so far as the larger issue involved here. The chilling and sobering thought to emerge from all this big circus is this. There seems to be no doubt, that he, or anyone else in his position, if so inclined, could exert influence on the FTC, or other regulatory bodies.

This, the mere fact that it could be done, is what is wrong as it violates the very principles upon which the Republic was founded. The great wrong is that over the past two decades or so, Congress has willy nilly let its powers escape from it so that such an official, if so inclined, can subvert the intent of Congress and the laws of the land.

In other words, the FTC and some other federal agencies, are charged by Congress with carrying out some of the most vital laws of the land, such as enforcement of the anti trust laws. Yet, Congress has permitted the implied control of these agencies to be taken away from the elected representatives of the people and vested in the executive branch of the government where, presumably an appointed official, can exert overpowering influence on the actions of these agencies.

For example, for many years now, Congress, despite the protests of the nation's independent businessmen expressing themselves through the National Federation of Independent Business, has virtually emasculated the Tariff Commission to transfer most of the powers of this agency to the executive branch of the government through the medium of acts permitting reciprocal trade treaties negotiated by the dreamers of the State Dept.

Originally, the Tariff Commission, which protected American business and workers, from cut-throat foreign dumping programs, was responsible to Congress. Yet, Congress votes this control away from itself.

And therein lies the crux of the vicuna coat situation. Obviously, when Congress relinquishes power, good government suffers.

As already stated, as this is written, there is no telling what will be proved, or what will not be proved, as to how much effect, if any, a vicuna coat had in shaping the policies of the FTC. But the mere fact that it is seemingly established that the FTC could be influenced by pressures not emanating from Congress seems sufficient.

For some time, Congress has been threatening to overhaul the regulatory agency set-up.

This would appear to be the ideal time to act.

MOTOR MAIDS

Good Highways Lead To Safety

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

YOU CAN HELP make highways safe.

The new Federal-Aid highway program, for which Congress has authorized 27 billion dollars, provides for public hearings in nearly every community where federal-aid roads are to be constructed. It's up to the citizens in these areas to attend the hearings and insist that new roads be constructed as safely as possible.

Here are some safety measures — proven effective in highway construction — that deserve your support.

Wide lanes: Recently when 244 miles of Illinois highways were widened from 9 to 11 feet, accidents decreased 39 percent.

Broad shoulders: When shoulders are wide and firm, drivers need not fear running off into roadside ditches or obstructions. Safest roads have shoulders eight feet wide or more.

Good sight distance: Because cars travel at increased speeds these days, 475 to 600 feet seeing distance is needed for safety.

Grade separations: Underpasses and overpasses solve intersection accident problems.

Other safety features include easy curves, adequate lighting, proper channeling of traffic, skid resistant surfaces, and uniform signals and markings.

You can have "built-in" safety in your new highways if you speak up in favor of it, and if you support your state officials in their plans for safer roads. It's up to you.

BETTER SCHOOLS — AND YOU

by HENRY TOY, Jr., President
National Citizens Council for Better Schools

HOW INFORMED ARE YOU?

Do you know how many high schools there are in the United States? Well, if you don't, don't feel bad about it. Neither does anybody else.

That's just one example of the poor informational service we have in this country when it comes to education. The U.S. Office of Education is often unfairly blamed for this state of things, but that office is constantly understaffed and underfinanced and the wonder is that it has been able to provide as much information in recent years as it has.

The best comment I've seen on the lack of information available on education was in the Second Report to the President from the Committee on Education Beyond the High School. Here's how that committee put it:

"We have been struck above all else by the astounding lack of accurate, consistent, and up-to-date facts, and by how little this nation knows about its enormously vital and expensive educational enterprise in contrast to how much it knows, in great detail, about agriculture, industry, labor, banking and other areas. We speak not of those difficult facts about education which can only be dug out by painstaking research but of those which are as susceptible to prompt and regularized reporting as steel output in Pittsburgh, potato prices in Maine, bricklayers' wages in Houston, hogs slaughtered in Chicago, and bank loans in San Francisco, all of which are reliably reported every month or every week by various Federal agencies. Until the gross deficiencies in educational reporting are remedied, all advisory work, all research, all educational planning throughout the country and all efforts by individual states, communities and institutions to devise effective actions will be severely handicapped."

If we don't know the facts, we can't expect to solve the problems.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Some Bloat Preventives

Wherever dairying is a major farm or community enterprise, alfalfa, clover, and other legume forage is considered almost indispensable. Legumes in many of the states are usually mixed with grasses, and there are several good reasons for this combination of crops, whether used for pasture, hay or silage.

There is, of course, the much greater danger from bloat when ruminants like cattle and sheep are grazing on legumes than on grasses. Much research work has been carried on in efforts to reduce or entirely eliminate cases of bloat on pasture.

So far there is no practical preventive 100 per cent effective, however, salt-penicillin mixtures tested in the South have shown promise. In Mississippi State College tests involving 3,000 animals on 19 Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana farms the salt-penicillin mixtures effectively controlled bloat. Furthermore, the U. S. Food and Drug Administration has approved the use of specified amounts of penicillin in block salt and mixed feeds as an aid for prevention and control of bloat. The regulation limits feeding to animals on legume pastures.

Here are some management practices proven to be helpful in preventing bloat:

1. Mixtures of legumes and grasses such as alfalfa and brome grass or timothy are less apt to cause bloat than are straight legumes.
2. Start pasturing during mid-bloom rather than sooner.
3. Turn cattle or sheep on legume pasture for the first time on a dry afternoon—a fraction of an hour the first day, longer the second and third days, then keep on pasture day and night except for milking.
4. Partly fill up cattle or sheep on hay or silage before turning on legume pasture.

5. Have rack of hay or straw accessible on pasture, or mow a few swaths across the pasture, letting it cure on the ground, to enable the cattle or sheep to have some dry roughage. California workers found that dry and relatively coarse forage tended to prevent bloat probably through stimulating the lining of the paunch resulting in more vigorous peristalsis (contraction and expansion) and consequent belching that acted as a safety valve.

6. Provide free access to salt and water. If salt is withheld for some time, the animals are apt to eat large amounts of it all at once, then drink a lot of water at one time, and are therefore more subject to bloat.

Where bloat actually occurred, these practices have been more or less effective: stand the animal facing uphill. Rub and knead vigorously the bloated part on the left side of the animal. Put a stick in the animal's mouth, like the bit of a bridle, with a string or rope around back of the ears. Drench cattle with two ounces of raw turpentine or other suitable drench such as a mixture of one ounce of turpentine, one ounce spirits of ammonia, one pint mineral oil, and one pint water. Use trocar and cannula as a last resort, or instead a sterilized jack-knife in an emergency away from habitations or suitable equipment. Your best friend in severe cases of bloat is likely to be a veterinarian.

Question: Can ground alfalfa hay take the place of wheat bran in a dairy mixture, since both are bulky and have about the same protein content?

Answer: This question has often been raised but the answer is no. The reason is that while bran has ten per cent fiber, alfalfa hay has 28 per cent fiber. Mere grinding does not make hay any more digestible. Ground alfalfa would therefore not have the same energy or productive value as bran, and if used would call for more grain to be fed to maintain milk production.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses China

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 28—As I have continually stated in these columns, we will not have a shooting war with Russia. We may have a chemical-weather war; and we are now in an economic war. I go further and say that Khrushchev—like all Russian leaders—has world domination as a goal; but this is not true of the Russian people or of the satellite nations. Furthermore, Khrushchev fears Premier Mao of China.

Watch China Carefully

There are many reasons why China would not join Russia in war against the West. China is largely Buddhist in religion; but China is not atheistic, as Russia claims to be. Most of the Chinese leaders were educated in Christian schools. The colleges and hospitals of China were largely financed by American dollars.

China, by tradition is friendly to the United States. My Grandparents formerly sailed ships between Boston and Chinese ports. In the homes of their descendants today—including my own—are beautiful pieces of chinaware which were purchased in China by the captains of these ships. It is within the last fifteen years that these ties with America have been broken. It is only common sense that they will again be renewed.

Marshall's Big Mistake
I think Mr. Truman will tell intimate friends that he made a mistake in accepting the report of General Marshall on China. Of course, the General was in China only a short time and was dependent upon the reports which he received from those he met. To make a comprehensive report on China would take months or years. Besides, General Marshall was a West Point graduate, with Army experience. He should not have accepted the task which President Truman gave him.

General Marshall was very much influenced by Chiang Kai-shek and his charming wife. She graduated from our college here in Wellesley and made friends with all of us people whom she met. She also won the hearts of Mr. Truman and other prominent men. It was largely due to the character, courage, and wealth of the Sun family that the railroads, public utilities, and factories of China were built.

Nationalist China And The United Nations

From the observations I gathered when I visited China, I would hesitate to admit Communist China to the United Nations. It, however, has always seemed inconsistent to permit Formosa and Chiang Kai-shek to represent the 600 million Chinese mainlanders in the United Nations. This may have been a means of "saving face"; but it does not make sense to me.

If Chiang Kai-shek should die today, I am sure that Communist China, under Premier Mao, would be admitted to the United Nations. On the surface, we continue to be unfriendly to Communist China; but it may be that Premier Mao is receiving some sympathy and moral support from certain factions in our State Department. You will note that Premier Mao is no longer shooting across at Formosa and is treating fairly any ships which accidentally come within the Chinese three-mile limit. It is very interesting to see how England has kept friendly with Communist China, which has not disturbed Hong Kong. This is one of the most beautiful cities I have ever visited; it is very busy and very rich. Yet Premier Mao could drop a bomb on it and knock it out of existence.

Khrushchev Fears Mao

As I said in my column last June, there is more probability of war between Russia and China than between Russia and the United States. I continue to feel that Premier Mao of Red China is a chief factor in the actions of Khrushchev during the past weeks. The press has told of how Mao has been to Moscow and has apparently caused Khrushchev to "get off his high horse" and accept President Eisenhower's desires relative to the Summit Meeting. After the Marshall Report, Mao was obliged to accept from Russia; but today the situation is very different. If Khrushchev should attack Western Europe and America, China would at once attack Russia on the East. In doing so, she would receive the help of England, America, and the other Free Countries. Hence, I repeat, there will now be no shooting war between the United States and Russia. Roger W. Babson.

A SALUTE TO CONGRESS

The 85th Congress heads for home and the election campaigning with a record of accomplishments that has earned the respect of everyone who has worked closely with it.

Few Congresses in history have faced up to more critical problems, or worked more strenuously to solve them. At the start of the second session early this year the most urgent problems were the Russian spunkies and the deepening economic recession.

Congress was caught in a dilemma between the two. There were urgent demands for more government spending to meet the Russian missiles threat and, at the same time, an insistent public clamor for tax reductions to counter the recession.

Growing unemployment was a serious problem. More than five million people were without jobs. Industrial production was declining. There were demands for increased unemployment and other social security benefits.

Foreign Aid

With economic troubles at home and growing communist activities in nations friendly to the U. S., Congress debated whether to continue spending billions of dollars to bolster the economy and military strength of the alliance of Western nations.

The decision to expand our missiles research and, at the same time, continue economic and military assistance to friendly nations, meant (1) no general tax reduction and (2) a substantial increase in the national debt.

Those were difficult decisions, and more especially in a year in which all of the House members and one-third of the Senators must face voters in re-election campaigns. It took statesmanship of a high order to make them.

The crisis in which we sent troops into the Middle East during the latter days of the session brought closer the threat of World War III. The decision to defend the freedom of friendly small nations was one in which the Congress concurred with the President.

Record Work Load

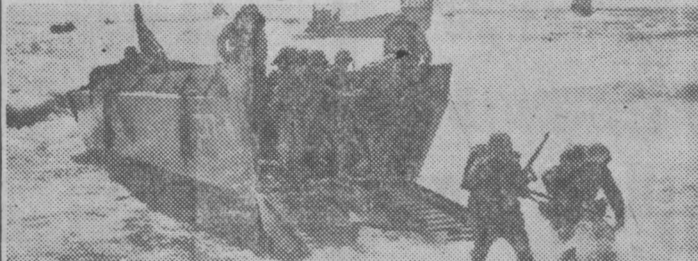

Even without those major decisions to be made, the 85th would have been one of the busiest on record. More than 17,000 bills were introduced during the two years it served.

Among them were bills to reorganize the Pentagon defense setup, raise the pay of government workers, new farm legislation, anti-racketeering labor legislation, extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, a $2.5 billion public works program, and a $40 billion national defense budget.

Each of those bills received careful consideration by committees. Some involved weeks and months of hearings, then long debate in the Senate and House. Congress did a tremendous amount of work in the seven and a half months between convening in January and the end of the session.

New Dental Research
Prevents Gum Infection, Fights Decay

Researchers are removing the pain and strain of visits to the dentist. Two new discoveries involving chemicals, that will make your session in the chair more pleasant, were revealed before a scientific meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists in Chicago. One of them enables dentists to remove the threat of painful infection when they inject pain-killing drugs into the gum. According to Dr. James M. Jablon of Miami, Fla., the possibility of infection exists because of the variety of bacteria normally found in the mouth. It can be prevented, he told the meeting, with the use of a new local antiseptic called Betadine. The researcher described Betadine as a combination of iodine with a chemical, povidone, which completely removes the sting and skin-irritating properties of the former, while preserving its germ-killing efficiency. The other chemical discovery, as yet unnamed, has the property of inhibiting or destroying bacteria in the mouth commonly associated with causing tooth decay. As described by an Ohio State University researcher, this substance is found only in the saliva of one in 100 persons apparently immune to tooth decay, regardless of dental habits or diet. Now in the early research stages, this substance some day may be of use to those 99 out of 100 afflicted with decay.

Just Roll It Out

Low-Cost Walk for Garden
Made of Tough Roll Roofing

Andrew B. Lambert, president of Lambert Gardens, in Portland, Ore., strolls along one of the thousands of feet of garden walks that border the Gardens' displays. The walks are made of 90-pound mineral-surfaced asphalt roll roofing, and have been in use for years.

Want a low-cost garden walk you can put down yourself in practically no time and without a lot of back-breaking work?

Then make it out of 90-pound mineral-surfaced asphalt roll roofing. The entire job consists of merely leveling and tamping the ground, and rolling out the roofing material in the direction you want it to go.

Does it work? Does it take wear and tear? It does, and here's the proof:

Asphalt roll roofing has been in use for years as walks at famed Lambert Gardens, in Portland, Ore. All year around, thousands of visitors give these paths of mineral-surfaced asphalt a pounding as they walk through the Gardens' floral displays.

Here are some important advantages:

1. Less labor, time, and expense. There's no need to buy, haul, and handle heavy sand, concrete, gravel, and stone, and no digging is necessary in most cases.

2. Color. Like asphalt shingles, the material used to protect most of the nation's homes, asphalt roll roofing comes in many colors. One of these can be chosen to match or harmonize with the garden scheme or color of the house.

3. Toughness. Asphalt roofing has millions of rock granules embedded in its surface. On roofs, these protect the asphalt from the sun and wearing effect of rain, snow, and ice. In roll roofing used as a walk, the granules resist wear from traffic and help provide a sure-footed surface.

4. Mobility. An asphalt roll roofing walk can be moved to a new location by simply rolling it up.

make the world—Communism.

He had put his great talents to work for Communism. Then a skein in the fiber of his fundamentally American makeup (from a Kentucky boyhood) had become too sensitive and it caused him to rebel at what he began to see happening inside the Communist apparatus. He had backed away from Communism and for the first time began to take a cold, researcher's look at all phases of its operation. From the Congressional Committee's witness chair 20 years ago he was sounding one of the first clear warnings of the nature and ramifications of the Communist danger.

Disasterous Blindness

Had his testimony been heeded in the ensuing years, America's policies toward world Communism would not have had such disastrous results—through three presidential administrations—and our government today probably would not be spending $40 billion a year on defense against the Red war machine.

The witness was Dr. J. B. Matthews. Twenty years ago he warned the United States Government that:

The Communist party in America was under the control of the Communist international centered in Moscow; the irrevocable objective of world Communism was the destruction of American capitalism and establishment of a Soviet Communist world;

Influential non-Communist American citizens were being duped into building a vast Communist-front network reaching into every phase of our national life, raising money to finance Communism, carrying on propaganda undermining loyalty to America and building support for Communist objectives;

No Morality

The Communist moral concept, in theory and practice, was that "anything goes that serves the interest of the class struggle — individual perjury, mass perjury, violence of any sort including assassination and mass murder";

A primary tactic is to foment division within the American society, strife between groups and splits even within the Democratic and Republican political parties;

The Communists and their dupes employ the cries "red baiting" and "witch hunting" to silence exposure and criticisms of their aims and activities; they use the term "Fascist" to discredit anyone who opposes them; and they influence the public to believe that "we have to choose between two alternatives, Communism on the one hand and Fascism on the other."

Facts Unavailable

Dr. Matthews gave these warnings out of a personal experience within the Communist apparatus. His facts were unavailable. Yet 20 years ago the Communists and left-wingers swarmed on his testimony and with the aid of their dupes in the press and elsewhere discredited him in the eyes of influential leaders and many citizens. Although he became chief interrogator for the Dies Committee and fought a courageous battle against the expansion of world Communism, he and his vitally important work found only condemnation from many important Government leaders and scarcely an appreciation by the then largely uninformed citizenry of America.

Had Dr. Matthews been heeded 20 years ago, the United States could have, with intelligent actions guided by courageous leadership, stopped world Communism in its tracks at a fraction of the frightful cost of our present defense against it.

It is a sad commentary also on the institutions involved, that after his patriotic testimony, the universities and colleges where he had taught and some 150 where he had lectured—as a "liberal," Socialist and Fellow Traveler who spoke against the American capitalist system—closed their campuses to him, in effect black-listed him, when he became a zealous advocate for the American way.

Nevertheless, Dr. Matthews continues to be one of the most effective opponents of Communism. It would be good if readers of this column who are so inclined would write him a note of thanks for the fight he began 20 years ago and continues to wage with every personal resource at his command. It is everybody's fight. His address: 50 Riverside Drive, New York 24, New York.

Cement Plant Will Have Official Opening

When the Lime Kiln plant of the Alpha Portland Cement Co. is officially opened in September, it will mark the end of another big project for members of 14 different construction crafts. During the two years required for the work, the Alpha Portland Cement Co. announced today, 732 people were on the job at one time or another.

They included engineers, operating engineers, surveyors, and clerical workers. But there were also structural ironworkers and reinforcing ironworkers, millwrights, boiler makers, sheet metal workers, and truck drivers. Carpenters were there and roofers, painters, plumbers, pipe-fitters and electricians. There were bricklayers, stone masons, plasterers, cement finishers, tile setters, terrazzo workers, and glazers. And there were hundreds of laborers—drillers, mason tenders, carpenter helpers, and so on—helping to erect the multi-million dollar plant that is to employ 140 people.

Social Security Payments Are Up In County

Old - age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits are being paid in Frederick County at the rate of $2,390,000 a year, according to W. S. King, manager of the Hagerstown social security district office.

This is an increase of about 31% over last year, he said. "Our studies have shown that many of these aged people, widows, and orphans have little or no other resources," he pointed out. "For something like 9%, social security benefits, received as an earned right, are the only cash income."

He also stressed that while the benefits are intended primarily as basis for individual economic security, the payment of social security benefits at the rate of $2,390,000 a year in Frederick County helps business generally because most of the money is spent immediately on food, clothing, and other necessities.

"This is especially important in a time of economic recession," he said. "Social security benefits are being paid nationally at a rate of more than 8 billion dollars annually."

Payments to a retired worker average about $58 per month, King said. The amount for a widow with two children is $145. The maximum payment for a retired couple is $162.80 a month, and for a family the maximum is $200. There were several reasons for the increase in benefits over last year. One was the payment of benefits to people who were brought under the law for the first time in recent years—self-employed farmers, for example. Other reasons for the increase were the reduction in the retirement age to 62 for women and the starting of disability insurance benefits to disabled people 50 and over.

King agreed that one factor in the increase may be the business recession. "I'm sure that some older people who would have preferred to keep on working have been forced to retire because of the general business conditions."

"Also some mothers may be getting survivors insurance benefits for themselves as well as their children because they have lost jobs as a result of the recession. Many of these people would have been forced to public assistance as soon as they exhausted their unemployment insurance rights, he said. The result would have been a further increase in public welfare costs, costs which are paid out of general taxation."

For the entire State of Maryland, social security payments at the end of 1957 were being paid to 149,022 beneficiaries at the rate of $8,066,700 per month.

Closed Labor Day

All offices of the Maryland Department of Employment Security will be closed on Labor Day, Monday, September 1.

Claimants for unemployment insurance who would normally receive their benefit checks Monday will receive them Friday (today) instead, as will those claimants regularly scheduled for Friday (today). Robert B. Kimble, D.E.S. Executive Director, said there undoubtedly would be some delay in the payment of checks Friday, but added that all Department employees doing work which is in any way deferrable will be shifted to help with the claims-taking and paying process.

Mr. Kimble also appealed to the claimants involved not to report either early or late, but at the reporting hours regularly assigned them, so as to reduce waiting time to a minimum.

New Cereal, Milk, And Fruit Combos

"You never outgrow your need for cereal and milk." This is the theme of the Fifth Annual Spring Cereal and Milk Festival sponsored jointly by the American Dairy Association and the Cereal Institute to promote the food value of cereal and milk.

Is the cereal and milk serving a "nutritional bargain?" Yes, on the average, a serving of one ounce of cereal, four ounces of milk, and one teaspoon of sugar costs less than five cents. This important food team provides top-quality protein, quickly available food energy, essential B vitamins (thiamine, niacin, and riboflavin), and the important minerals (calcium, phosphorus, and iron).

Food Comes First for the well-being of your family. Make certain each member starts the day right with a good breakfast planned according to a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread, and butter, which is recommended by leading doctors and dietitians, to provide 1/4 to 1/2 of the daily nutritional requirements for most people.

For variety at breakfast try serving new and different cereal, milk, and fruit combos. Serve oven-toasted rice cereal with pineapple slices and strawberry nog. The nog is quick and easy to make. Simply mix in a blender or with an electric beater, frozen strawberries and milk until the mixture is thick. Pour this over ready-to-eat cereal topped with a slice of pineapple for a real taste treat. Frozen peaches or sweetened cherries make other good nog combinations to serve with ready-to-eat cereals.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

HOW TO LIVE IN A DANGEROUS WORLD

Our world is a fearful world. People are filled with fear and foreboding. Often it seems that nuclear warfare is very imminent. Many times I am asked what should be our attitude at a time such as this.

My answer is this: We are not to hide within ourselves. Neither are we to turn from the actual conditions of the world or from God himself.

When world conditions become serious, many people revert to childhood. When you and I were little and had to face unpleasant things, we immediately would run to our mother or father. We felt if we could withdraw ourselves from the older children who were trying to oppress us, or from conditions too great for us to comprehend, that it would all smooth out.

Sometimes we still do that. We withdraw into shells. We build a wall about ourselves and shut out the forces that should touch our lives.

An old fable says: When Adam was expelled from Eden he sat down under a tree and slept. While he slept the four spirits of Earth, of Water, of Air and of Fire, stole man's soul and made off with it.

Then the problem arose: How could they hide man's soul so that he could never find it?

Earth's spirit said, "I will hide it in my depths"; the spirit of the Waters said, "I will sink it in the deepest waters of the sea"; the spirit of the Air suggested, "Let me hide man's soul beyond the farthest star."

But the Fire's spirit said, "None of that will work. Man can dig into the earth. He can invent a ship to sail beneath the sea, and he will some day learn to fly through the air. So none of you can hide man's soul permanently. Let me have it, and I will burn and consume it in my flames."

To this the others agreed. They put man's soul into the flames, but after a little while the soul emerged again, unscarred and intact.

In despair the four spirits went to Satan and told him their problem.

"Fools! I will tell you where to hide man's soul so that he will never find it. Hide man's soul in himself."

How cunning the devil is. He would get us to shut ourselves off from other people and from God, and hide everything within ourselves. But no person lives to himself or dies to himself. There is no single island or nation that is sufficient within itself. We all need God. When we have God, everything just has to come out right.

We must not shut out the Holy Spirit; we must not shut out prayer and faith in God; we must not shut out our Holy Bible; we must not be shut off from the Church of Jesus Christ. We must become a part of God's great program on earth. We must be witnesses for the Lord Jesus Christ and testify for him.

I believe in a very positive outlook toward life. I believe God is sitting on the clouds. I believe that we are more than conquerors through him that loved us and washed us in his own shed blood. I have a feeling of peace in my heart. I believe that now is a great time to be alive! It's the right time to trust in God completely!

Wales E. Rightnour New Police Commissioner; Dept. To Be Self-Supporting

Firm control of traffic conditions and a close surveillance of youth activities are the objectives of a supplemented law enforcement system in Emmitsburg. The growth of community youth problems and the greatly increased volume of local and highway motor traffic have created a need for more extended and more effective control.

The police department will be operated as a separate town unit with a police commissioner defining the methods of operation and reporting to, and subject to the regular town officials. Town Commissioner Wales Rightnour has been assigned to the new detail. The new agency is considered within the scope of official duties and no salary is attached to the work. Burgess C. G. Frailey, in recommending the appointment, stated that the police force should thus become a unified staff with a minimum of red tape and have a quick acting and efficient organization.

Excessive noise and late hour disturbances have given rise to numerous requests for firmer measures of control. Chief Koontz explained that while "no witch hunt is being carried out, a concerted effort is under way to apprehend persistent offenders and persons of known troublesome habits."

During the past several years the police department has been operated on a self-paying basis and often has turned money back into the town's general fund. Future planning is that it will remain self-supporting and will not affect the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

Chief of Police Robert Koontz, will have special officers Wilmer "John" Law and Paul A. Keepers on a part-time and emergency basis.

With eight years of law enforcement experience, Koontz has devoted much time to motor vehicle work, traffic accident investigation and criminal investigation. In addition, he has given special attention to youth groups and school patrols. He attended the Police-In-Service School at the University of Maryland and the monthly schools for police methods, in addition to the special training courses conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. His work has gained him praise from both the Maryland State Police and the Sheriff's Office.

Officer Wilmer "John" Law, a retired chief petty officer in the Navy, is a veteran of twelve years' of police work with the Armed Forces Special Police. His activities included work with various city police departments.

Officer Paul Keepers has been with the town force on a part time basis for many years. He was the first policeman employed by the town after installation of the parking meters. As he is also a Deputy Sheriff, he does work for the county law enforcement department.

Upon Trial Magistrate Charles D. Gillelan falls the duty of sifting through the maze of evidence presented in his court and rendering just verdicts as prescribed by Maryland Law. In a job requiring tact and diplomacy, Judge Gillelan must be exhausting and complete in gathering information. Incisive questioning and firm insistence on straightforward testimony have enabled him to establish a fine record of legal justice. Mr. Gillelan also serves the town as tax collector.

Police Commissioner Wales Rightnour has served as Town Commissioner for nine years. Referring to small town police work Mr. Rightnour pointed out that "as we are dealing for a great part with our people—our friends and neighbors, a friendly attitude must pervade the police personnel. The citizens are our special people to serve and protect. The members of the police force must be ready to render services to any Emmitsburg activity where their services are desired or needed. On the other hand, in dealing with those who have failed to integrate themselves into society it is necessary that the police be well equipped and thoroughly trained. Personal danger is a constant companion of the policeman. I shall insist that while Emmitsburg's police force will have a friendly hand for service, it must have a heavy arm of force behind it."

Read Romans 6:1-12.

Let not sin . . . reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof. (Romans 6:12.)

The graceful flight of a boomerang is extremely lovely to watch, but as the boomerang arches in its flight, it suddenly returns to land at the feet of the thrower, with a force that could be destructive.

How pleasurable, momentarily, our sins are! How glamorous they appear to be, but how soon their luster tarnishes!

The sins we indulge in appear enjoyable, and have appeal to us. But sin, both of action and of heart, is anything that separates us from God. In our spiritual blindness, we fail to sense the danger hidden in them. Suddenly they return to us, and we feel their destructive force. They cut us off from the fulfillment of God's purpose for us.

Jesus Christ, our Redeemer, can forgive our sins and destroy in us our bent to sinning. Before He can do this, however, we must surrender our lives to Him so that His power may work in us to our salvation and usefulness in His kingdom.

Prayer

Merciful Father, we acknowledge and confess our shortcomings to Thee. Believing in Thy promises, we cast our burdens upon Thee, knowing that Thou wilt forgive our sins and change our lives, through Jesus Christ, Thy Son and our Saviour. Amen.

Thought For The Day
The wages of sin is death, but living for Jesus brings life everlasting.

Schools Open, Safety Is Stressed

Each year the opening of school poses new problems for thousands of mothers and fathers, school and public officials, teachers and auto drivers. Chief Robert L. Koontz of the Emmitsburg Police Dept. notes.

All of the kindergarten and first graders must be taught to get from home to school and back home again safely. It's their first school experience and all of the dangers should be pointed out to them as well as the best and correct way to cross streets, to stay on the sidewalks, not to run out into the road, safe way to get on and off the school bus. Most of this big task is in the hands of the mothers.

The older children must be reminded that they are back at school and cannot enjoy the freedom they have had all summer but must again observe the good travel rules of the Junior Safety Patrol.

National Child Safety Week brings to our attention the need of active cooperation of the PTA and all groups interested in making our highways safe for our children by greater publicity and more drastic law enforcement.

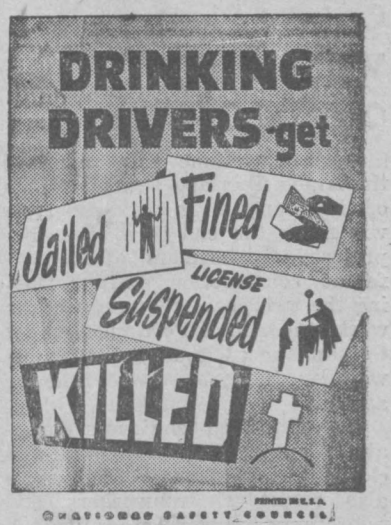

We would have no problem if each and every autoist would be courteous, considerate and careful, especially in school zones, at crosswalks and any place where children are likely to be.

So let us take every possible precaution for National Child Safety Week, all week, and get the habit for every week in the year. Let us make this year a no-accident year in our community.

This is the action that has changed fishermen's minds. The pike is a worthy opponent any day when he's up against an angler who is enough of a sportsman to give him half a chance.
