As usual there is some misunderstanding among individuals as to when Daylight Saving Time terminates. This is perhaps the first year that most communities in this area have observed the period jointly. In previous years a number of neighboring towns reverted to Standard Time the last Sunday in September, however this year I believe every community in the state will make the switch back the last Sunday in October which will be Sunday, Oct. 26. Let no further confusion reign concerning this transition of time.

It is alarming the number of young children, up to even 16 years of age, who are drowning in farm ponds in our state. Farm accidents appear to be higher this year than in previous years. Ponds are a very important asset to a farm, both for feeding, irrigation and fire protection. They also provide a measure of pleasure by providing the owner with private fishing. However, any body of water, wide open without any measure of protection, is a distinct menace to the lives of children residing on farms and who never learned to swim. We had the unpleasant experience several years back of losing a local lad by drowning in a pond near town. Reading in the papers recently of a number of other cases of the same fatalities, I ponder as to when some sort of protection can be made available for children who play around these ponds.

It looks as though the hula hoop craze has hit the town full blast. Practically every child who can twist a hip can be seen doing his or her stuff on the streets, or anywhere else these days. In Harrisburg, school authorities had to place a ban on the sport due to the large number of complaints from parents who claimed their children had been hit in the face, had their hoops broken, etc. Now no hoops are permitted during school hours. Older folks have picked up the pastime and it's really funny to see them attempting to master the elusive hoop. A number of "casualties" has been reported and some medical men advise the oldest to lay off the hoop.

Have you noticed the condition of the streets and alleys lately? The Town Council has kept right on the job and the alleys all have been stoned and any patching necessary for maintenance has been completed. There is only one derogatory remark I can make about our alleys and that is that they're too narrow. Just because they always have been that way doesn't say they should all remain that way. I feel that in many instances property owners would be willing to sacrifice a few feet of land to effect an easement in getting their cars into garages. Years ago when horses and buggies traveled these alleys they were adequate for the traffic but now that more vehicular traffic including cars and trucks use the alleys they are just not adequate. Most of them are one-way affairs. The town could and should make an effort to obtain more land for widening these streets and have power and phone companies relocate poles to provide additional space.

Democrats Lead In County Registration

The Democratic book majority in Frederick county has been boosted 500 since the May primary to a figure of 3,881 according to registration totals compiled at the office of the county Board of Registry.

The final figures on the number of persons eligible to vote at the November election showed the following Tuesday:

Democrats, 16,571; Republicans, 12,690; declined to affiliate, 455; total 29,716. Democratic margin over G.O.P., 3,881.

Before the primary the figures were:

Democrats, 15,756; Republicans, 12,372; declined, 416; total, 28,544.

The comparative figures show the Democrats gained 815 and the Republicans 315, for a difference of 500.

The total registration increase since the primary has been 1,172. The number of voting eligibles in the 1956 presidential election, when the number was 29,596, but 1,300 more than in the last State and county election in 1954, when the total was 28,401.

The registration for Emmitsburg and Thurmont by precincts with Republican figures appearing first, Democrats second, and declined third:

Emmitsburg 1—255-294-8; Emmitsburg 2—248-381-19; Emmitsburg 3—104-346-19.

Thurmont —280-200-6; Thurmont 2—406-236-13; Thurmont 3—290-192-4.

Local Man Injured Aiding Motorist In Mishap

Lester McGlaughlin, 50, Gettysburg R2, is a patient at the Warner Hospital today because he rendered assistance at an automobile accident along the Gettysburg Rd. Wednesday morning.

Pennsylvania state police said Catherine E. Ott, 23, Hanover, was driving her 1956 Ford sedan north on the Gettysburg Rd. about 2 miles north of here at 6:40 o'clock Wednesday morning. She saw a slow moving car ahead of her vehicle, braked, and her car skidded off the highway, up an embankment and overturned into its roof on the road, police said.

McGlaughlin, driving past, halted his car, ran to the overturned vehicle, and helped the driver, who, according to the report, was uninjured, out of the upset car.

The two were standing on the road, moments after Mrs. Ott had been removed from the car, when, according to police, a northbound 1955 Chevrolet sedan, operated by Emanuel Jacob Kump, 59, Emmitsburg R2, smashed into the overturned Ott car.

Mrs. Ott was able to leap away quickly enough to avoid being hit, but McGlaughlin was struck by the Ott car as it lurched forward from the impact.

McGlaughlin was removed to the Warner Hospital in the Gettysburg Fire Department ambulance and admitted as a patient with bruise burns on the right side of his face, a sprained neck, contusions of the abdomen, abrasions of the left shin and a possible hip fracture.

Damage was estimated at $450 to the Ott car and $500 to the Kump vehicle.

Bible Class Meets

The Men's Bible Class of Tom's Creek Methodist Church held their monthly meeting Sunday evening, September 28, with 14 members present. The group opened the meeting with singing "Blest Be The Tie," followed by "The Lord's Prayer" and another hymn. President Harry Weber led in the responsive reading. A general discussion on a few verses from the Bible was the topic in the devotional period.

During the business meeting, the president suggested that the class send a one year's subscription of a Christmas publication to young married couples in the church.

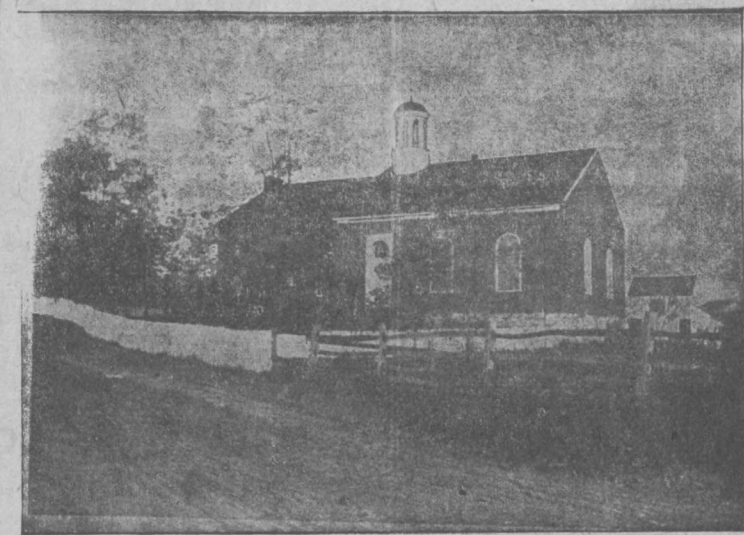

The next meeting will be moved up to seven o'clock instead of eight.

Refreshments were enjoyed by all following the business meeting.

PAPER RAISES PRICE

The Hanover Evening Sun announces an increase in the price of its newspaper, effective immediately. The paper will now be five cents per copy. It formerly sold for two cents a copy.

Church To Observe 200th Anniversary

The Moravian congregation of Graceham, Md., will begin the celebration of the 200th year of its organization at services beginning Sunday and during the week, and again the following Sunday. As usual Church School will open the day and at the first of the worship services the Moravian Lovefeast will be observed at which the guest speaker will be Rev. Frederick P. Stocker, M.A., D.D., president of the Eastern District of the Church at Bethlehem, Pa. He will preach the festival sermon and also will speak in the evening at services commencing at 7:30 o'clock. The church choir will sing special music.

Mid-week celebration services will take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the 7:30 p. m. services. At the first, the former living pastors of the congregation will be guests with their families, and each will speak and bring greetings. Following a "Koffee Klatsch" with them will be held in the social rooms. On Wednesday evening a sacred musical will be given under the leadership of James L. Fisher, M.Mus., with the senior and youth choirs, instrumental brass choir and with Miss Clara Green presiding at the organ. Sacred compositions by Moravian musical masters will be rendered in connection with other outstanding composers. It will be recalled that Moravians made a distinct contribution to early American sacred music, some of the composers serving for a time, in the Graceham congregation.

Thursday will be Community Church Night at which the sister denominations and congregations of the community, with their pastors, are invited. The latter will bring short messages, in significance to present-day fellowship, and that which held the early Christians of the Monocacy area together as they worshipped in common, at the "Old Log Church," built under the leadership of Lutheran Pastor David Candler, in the year 1743. The general public is most cordially welcome to attend any or all of the services.

On Sunday, Oct. 12, the Rt. Rev. Kenneth G. Hamilton, president of the Provincial Elders' Conference of Bethlehem, Pa., will be present and will bring the festival message in the morning service following the Church School. In the afternoon a second bishop of the church, the Rt. Rev. Carl J. Helmich of Lititz, Pa., will be present and at 3:30 p. m. the second Lovefeast of the bi-centennial celebration will begin. Prior to this Lovefeast service the trombone choir and band of the Lititz congregation will play for half an hour, rendering "Old Moravian Chords," assembled on the church's front lawn, weather permitting.

Moravian pastors from Lebanon, Lancaster, Lititz, Reading and York will bring greetings at the service. A Moravian fellowship luncheon will be held afterwards and at seven o'clock in the evening the final service will be held closing the festival. Bishop Hamilton will lead the preparation service for the Holy Communion and will preside. Both bishops will administer the Lord's Supper to the worshippers and be assisted by the pastor, Rev. John R. Hoesman.

The Moravian Church was organized October 8, 1758 at Graceham after holding services in various parts of the Monocacy area, including the "Old Log Church" on the Monocacy, since 1741. The denomination is the oldest of the Protestant Churches having been organized in 1457 before Columbus discovered this hemisphere. Thus, in five centuries of existence, the Moravians have been in Maryland for more than 200 years. The present church and parsonage adjoining each other are in each case, the third to be erected over the years. In preparation for the festival, the church has been newly-decorated and many embellishing memorials will appear for the first time on the opening Sunday.

FEATURED ENTERTAINMENT

The Space Rockers will be the featured entertainment at the shrimp feed being sponsored this evening, Friday, by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658 in the VFW Annex on the Square. The affair is open to the public and servings will commence at 7 o'clock. Lumen F. Norris, post adjutant, said he had been successful in engaging the Space Rockers who recently won $500 on a talent show contest.

Tony Constantino, 9 years old, and 11 year old Joyce Pearson topped first prize at the Great Eastern Talent Show in Frederick on August 30, and are $500 richer. The youngsters joined forces only last May, and developed a musical performance act that turned back '99 other contestants from six states when they entered the contest at the Frederick Fair Grounds.

Tony played drums while Joyce performed on her saxophone, clarinet and trumpet. Then Joyce played drums as Tony did a trumpet solo and a tap dance. The Talent Show was sponsored by the Yellow Springs Lions Club, and judges were from four states. Contestants began their performances at 9 a. m. and thru-out the day eliminations were made. At 11:30 p. m. there were seven acts still in the running, and the final decision was in favor of Joyce and Tony.

Tony is the son of Mrs. Mary Constantino of 2871 Mayfield ave. and Joyce the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pearson of 2814 Fleetwood ave., Baltimore. Joyce is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Valentine, Thurmont.

The two youngsters both have impressive backgrounds. Tony is a two-time winner on the Ted Mack Show, has appeared on the Steel Pier and numerous other shows. Joyce has also appeared on the Steel Pier and on TV programs in both Baltimore and Washington.

George Hamilton IV, popular singing star, has invited the young team to appear with him at the Tri-State Country Show in Brunswick, Md., on December 12.

STATE POLICE RECIPIENT OF AWARD

The Department of Maryland State Police has been awarded a Certificate of Achievement in police traffic supervision for the year 1957 by the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

Mr. John D. Holstrom, president of the association, in advising Governor T. R. McKeldin of the award, stated: "I would like to extend my heartiest congratulations and best wishes to you and your state traffic law enforcement agency for the splendid effort that made possible the winning of this high safety honor."

Presentation ceremonies were held at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore on the occasion of the Annual Traffic Safety Inventory Luncheon jointly sponsored by the Baltimore Safety Council and the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission.

The Certificate of Achievement was presented to Secretary of State Claude B. Hellman, who officiated in the absence of Gov. McKeldin, by Chief Robert V. Murray, second vice-president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department, Washington, D. C., who in turn presented it to Col. Elmer F. Munshower, Superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

Factors considered in the awarding of such certificates are: Personnel, Organization and Administration, Training, Accident Investigation and General Traffic Law Enforcement.

Certificates of Achievement in police traffic supervision are given on the basis of 85 to 90 per cent performance evaluations for states. Maryland's rating was 89 per cent which compares most favorably with the 86 per cent rating for the year 1956 and the 84 per cent rating for 1955.

Troopers Arrest Man After Attack On Local Citizen

Robert Warrenfeltz, 26, Wolfsville, accused of beating a construction project foreman in a Wolfsville store Monday about 2:30 p. m., is being held in Frederick County jail following his apprehension by Maryland state police at the Warrenfeltz home.

Victim of the attack was Frank Fitzgerald, 59, Emmitsburg, foreman of school construction work underway at Wolfsville.

Fitzgerald was taken to Frederick Memorial Hospital in the state police ambulance and treated for facial bruises. He was later released.

Meanwhile troopers went to the Warrenfeltz home but were told the man they sought was hiding in nearby woods with several guns, including a 30-30 rifle. Anticipating a manhunt over the populated area, a group of state troopers from Frederick barracks changed to plain clothes to close in on the hidden gunman.

By the time they arrived however, Warrenfeltz had returned to his home and walked on to a porch to face the heavily-armed officers. They called for his surrender and he dropped his rifle.

State police said Warrenfeltz had been released only last Nov. from Spring Grove Hospital at Catonsville.

Planning Group Meets At Springer Home

The Emmitsburg Farm Bureau Planning Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Springer on Tuesday evening, September 30, with all seven families present.

The meeting opened with the 29th Psalm followed by the Lord's Prayer. The minutes were read and approved. The topic of discussion was How Can Farmers Take Advantage of Fertilizer Integration in Agriculture. This was discussed at length.

Raymond Keilhotz told of his hunting trip in Wyoming and a quiz game was played and the man and woman having the most correct answers were George Martin and Rachel Emrich. Anna Martin was the close runner-up.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumgardner.

Seaman On Carrier

Richard L. Eyler seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Eyler of Rocky Ridge, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Ranger at Alameda, California.

Grange Sponsoring Hula Hoop Contest Friday Night

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Grange was held on Wednesday evening in the high school with 25 members present.

The Hula Hoop contest to be held on Friday night, Oct. 10, will be for girls twelve years and under. All girls wanting to enter the contest please contact Mrs. Edgar Emrich by calling Hillcrest 7-2200 or by writing her at Emmitsburg R2.

The Grange won third place for their booth at the Frederick Fair.

The Grange will invite the Thurmont Grange to Emmitsburg to install the officers for the coming year at the next regular meeting October 15. Let's have a big turnout?

A community show is for everybody to enter the different departments. There seems to be some misunderstanding about this. It is for everybody and not just for members of the Grange. Let's have a large number of entries this year from everybody.

The Emmitsburg Grange placed fifth in Community Service contest this year. There were 26 entries in the contest from the state.

The Grange will enter the 1959 Community Service contest this year.

Homemakers Club Holds Meeting

The president of the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club, Mrs. Robert Fitez, presided at the meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan Sept. 25 at 1:30 p. m., with 18 members and four guests present. The meeting was opened by reciting the American Creed.

Mrs. Fiery, Cultural Chairman, gave a very complete report on the Middle East. She illustrated with maps and posters of the countries and told about their economic conditions. Miss Annabel Hartman gave a resume of the trip to the Middle East, supplementing her talk with little personal experiences including a camel-back ride around the pyramids in Egypt. Mrs. Fitez read an excerpt from the Baltimore Sunday Sun about the organization of the first Homemakers Club in 1923 at Long Green, Baltimore County.

Miss Mary Graham was the demonstrator, and they had two delegates to the Women's Short Course. Food and lodging was then $2, and now, $20. Miss Ann Codori brought the article.

Two delegates were sent by the club to the 4-H Club Short Course. They gave reports of their interesting and instructional time. Their trip was financed by the Homemakers Club with the funds being raised by Mrs. Paul Beale and Mrs. J. Ward Kerrigan. Ten dollars was given to the Emmitsburg Library and $10 to the Victor Cullen Hospital for their Christmas party.

It was suggested that a carol group go to the Victor Cullen Hospital during the Christmas holidays and also that the 4-H Club decorate Christmas trees there.

The October meeting, "Devils Food Cake," will be held at the home of Mrs. Victor Fiery. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Keepers.

The nominating committee was named as follows: Mrs. Gilbert Oddo, Mrs. Charles Harner and Mrs. John Zacharias.

Church Group Meets

The Women's Society of Christian Service, Tom's Creek Methodist Church, met in the church social room on Monday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Anna Rickour. Mrs. Cameron Johnson was in charge of the devotional period which was a program of the study of "Isaiah Speaks."

Mrs. Dorothy Valentine read from the 40th chapter of Isaiah and Mrs. Margie Blair led in the singing of several hymns. Following devotions a short business meeting was held. The session was closed with prayer led by Mrs. Johnson with 18 members and two visitors in attendance. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Janice Valentine and Mrs. Goldie Liller, to the ladies and men of the official board, both of which meet jointly.

Hutzler's Open New Modern Store at Westview

Hutzler Brothers Co., of Baltimore, Maryland's oldest and largest department store, announced today that its third and largest branch store, Hutzler's Westview, was opened to the public for selling on Monday morning. The debut of Hutzler's Westview climaxes the Centennial Year of Hutzler's, a Maryland Institution since 1858, owned and operated by the Hutzler family since its founding.

The public opening was preceded by a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony at 9:45 a. m., in which the four Hutzler directors and several prominent dignitaries participated.

The new store is located in the multi-million-dollar Westview Shopping Center on a forty-two acre site on the north side of Baltimore National Pike (Route 40), west of Ingleside Avenue and east of the Baltimore County Beltway now under construction. Termed "the dream store of Maryland," Hutzler's Westview is an entirely new and exciting concept in retail merchandising, planned to provide the suburban customer with the maximum of shopping convenience and service in surroundings of beauty and relaxation.

The dominant store in the Westview Shopping Center, with free parking facilities for over 3000 cars, Hutzler's Westview will be approximately 185,000 square feet in area and will provide large stocks of quality merchandise for the whole family (representing all Hutzler departments), together with service in the Hutzler tradition.

Enthusiastic about the growth potential in the area, Hutzler's decided to locate its third Baltimore County branch in the heart of this rapidly expanding community. Hutzler's Westview is ideally located for residents of west and northwest metropolitan Baltimore and Baltimore County, as well as Anne Arundel, Carroll, Howard, Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, and Western Maryland.

One hundred years of experience in store-keeping have enabled Hutzler's to plan this beautiful new branch store, superb in every detail, designed for the shopping delight of customers in many parts of Maryland.

Three Years Of Planning And Building Plans for this handsome modern building were the result of study by Ketchum and Sharp, architects for Hutzler's and co-designers of the Towson store, and Kenneth C. Miller, architect for Westview, with John Poe Tyler, consultant, working under the direction of Hutzler executives and the management of the Westview Center. Ketchum and Sharp have designed shops, stores and shopping centers in many parts of this country, as well as in Europe and South America. The store fixtures were manufactured by the Woodwork Corporation of America, Chicago, Illinois; Hinzmann & Waldman, Inc., Brooklyn, New York; and the Hermsdorf Fixture Manufacturing Company, Inc., Manchester, New Hampshire. All concerned worked together as a team during three years of research, planning and construction.

The Building At mall level, the store will adjoin the covered shopping arcades and parking areas of the Westview Center; at lower level, the sales floor will adjoin the store's own parking area.

Outdoors, the new department store building is clothed in the same off-white brick used at Hutzler's Towson. On the south, at mall level, there is an impressive one-story glazed entrance lobby. Customers arriving from the south parking area will enter this outdoor lobby under a graceful and colorful marquee. On the east, another outdoor entrance lobby extends from within the building itself outdoors around an attractive garden court linking the store building with the rest of the shopping center. This eastern garden court also acts as the entrance for shoppers coming from the northern parking area adjacent to the Hutzler building. At the lower level, fronting on the west parking area, is a continuous covered arcade leading to the store's entrance. At night the building and its entrances will glow like a jewel illuminated by lights set in the parking area and the planted spaces.

The Three Sales Levels Of the total 185,000 square feet of floor space, about 130,000 square feet are used for selling and the balance for service areas and employee facilities. The selling space is distributed on the lower, mall and upper levels. The building, practically a perfect square, houses its service facilities on its perimeter with easy access to all departments without interference to customer travel flow. All departments are arranged in a series of intimate groups, charming within themselves, yet related to the whole. Traffic between these departments is facilitated by wide aisles, low fixture islands, by dividing partitions, signs and other devices which identify each department. Space within departments is generously used; background and fixture colors, decorations and displays, all help to give each department character, intimacy and charm.

All sales levels are served by escalators located in the center of the sales floors and by a passenger elevator. This arrangement insures easy and convenient customer travel to, through, and from each level.

Each of the three sales levels has been carefully organized as a separate merchandising world. The middle level on the mall is the world of fashion; the lower level has everything for men, boys and children; the upper level is the homemaker's world.

Mall Level The mall level is the principal entrance level from the parking area and the shopping center. It is a woman's world. The spacious floor area contains departments featuring accessories, sportswear and clothing. The floor area has been visually subdivided by the escalators and by strategically located high partition walls. The group of accessory islands is bounded on the left by a specialty shop treatment of shoes, toiletries, and intimate apparel; and on the right by the higher wall or sportswear. The stationery department is near the escalators . . . beyond, the apparel divisions are subdivided by high and low walls into a series of separate shops.

The Women's Shoe Shop has its furniture styled in Louis XV period, with chairs luxuriously upholstered in nylon velvet. The color scheme is green and blue. A graceful chandelier and iron lacework adorn this area, sparkled with murals in flower motifs.

Women's and Misses' Dresses, Coats and Suits, the Collegienne Shop, House Dresses and Uniforms, and Toiletries occupy about a third of the mall level. Each of these divisions is treated as if it were a specialty shop. Color schemes in each department have individual sparkle, yet blend harmoniously.

The main theme of the mall level is supplied by huge panels separating these various departments. These panels depict scenes of "Old Catonsville and Environs," made up in interesting and contemporary photo montages. The murals reproduce rare prints and treasured family photographs of long ago.

The piece de resistance, located in the Millinery Department, is a Paris-inspired golden dome 18 feet in diameter and 10 feet, 6 inches, high. Beneath are chairs where customers can sit to try on the latest hats. This domed hat-bar is designed to give the feeling of a maximum amount of intimacy without creating a separate room. It could be on the Champs Elysees.

While there are special decorative touches in every department, the feature of the entire feminine group is the Westview Salon for designer fashions. Here great elegance is achieved with large wardrobes, specially designed showcases with brass frames, decorative wall panels and well-appointed seating arrangements; all in the style of Louis XV. The Bridal Shop is also located within this department. The bridal reception area is enclosed with decorative screen walls in antique white and gold.

The most prominent features of the area devoted to Women's Accessories are large sales islands with related convertible hanging racks. Specially designed chandeliers are used throughout. Other accessory departments . . . jewelry, neckware, belts, leather goods, gloves, handkerchiefs, hosiery . . . are located in a series of small islands in the center of the fashion floor. The fixtures in each island are of natural walnut or Canadian maple with off-white interiors. Their low-slung horizontal lines and smart merchandise accent the lightness and charm of this section of the sales floor.

Here too, is a glamorous Beauty Shop for devotees of both Antoine and American hair styles, and nearby, a gay Children's Barber Shop.

On the Mall Level, the women's fashion departments are wall-to-wall carpeted. The general areas such as Fashion Accessories and Women's Dresses, are accentuated with a beige, brown and green tweed mixture. In the Women's Shoe Department a gold, beige and brown tweed is used. In the Specialty Shop a custom-designed carpet of warm grey, with red, pink and blue roses, was chosen.

Lower Level The lower level of the building features merchandise for children, boys and men. The Boys' Shop is bright and playful in feeling. Decorative elements depicting the world of sport make for an interesting environment. A special light trough is used to accentuate this area. In the Children's Shoe Shop a special circular seating arrangement has a delightful and colorful dome on which birds and animals frolic. Adjacent to the dome is an abstract life-size tree. Toytown has as its main feature a huge 8-foot basket ball, ready for flight into a land of fancy. In the Layette Shop a charming atmosphere is created by the use of multi-colored fluorescent lighting on a huge panel of hand-painted rosebuds. The Girls' and Teen Shops, each with an air of youthful sophistication, are accented with custom-made Cinderella-like chandeliers. Each department has its own gay, wall-high murals. In the Men's Furnishings and Clothing Shops, a masculine feeling predominates through the use of walnut chandeliers, a 45-foot stone wall and natural wood finishes for walls and fixtures.

Also on the lower level are Sporting Goods, Luggage, Records, Cameras and Candy, Infants' Furniture and the Book Shop. Carpeting is used throughout . . . a definite and luxurious departure from the normal department store procedure. In addition to these departments there is a fountain shop called "The Soda Spot," with an interesting pink terrazzo floor and gay decor. Here, too, are the Repair Services, for shoes, jewelry, watches and other accessories.

Upper Level The upper level is a homemaker's world. At the arrival point of this level a 20-foot wide free form hanging stable or chandelier is a decorative feature. The floor contains all types of Housewares from cutlery and cleaning utensils to bathroom equipment. China, Gifts, Silverware, the Linen Shop, Lamps, Draperies and Rugs complete the home furnishings line-up. Each department is given an appropriate and attractive setting. In addition there are spacious areas for Notions, Art Needlework, Patterns, Fabrics . . . all the material for the home dressmaker.

General offices are conveniently located on the south side of the building.

The majority of the home furnishings departments have a spatter-dash plastic tile; the remaining departments and the "Maryland Gardens" restaurant are carpeted.

"Maryland Gardens" One of the most attractive features of the store is the restaurant "Maryland Gardens," located on the west side of the upper level. Its walls are adorned with photo montages of famous Maryland estates. This restaurant comfortably accommodates 196 people at the tables and 21 at the counter. Its floor-to-ceiling glass wall invites a view over the Maryland countryside. Indoors, remaining accents are subdued and cool . . . fabric draperies in blue Fiberglas, green plants, mossy green patterned carpeting and typical wrought-iron garden furniture with Pompeian green enamel finishes and naugahyde upholstery. Banquette seating is used around the perimeter of the room. The restaurant and its lounge are lighted from hidden down-lights and handsome brass and wood chandeliers.

Store Hours Hutzler's Westview will be open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 to 9:30, and on Wednesday and Saturday from 10 to 5:30.

Since 1940, newspapers have maintained a constant level of popularity. Newspaper circulation has virtually paralleled the growth of households in the U. S.

Despite increased competition for people's time, newspaper circulation in the U. S. has reached a new all-time high of 58 million newspapers purchased daily. With Canada added, the figure is over 61 million newspapers purchased daily.

The U. S. Navy's missile age began Sept. 6, 1947, when a V-2 rocket was successfully launched from the aircraft carrier USS Midway.

John Adams, second president of the U. S., once volunteered to fight with the Marines during a sea engagement in 1778.

BABSON Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON Babson Discusses Africa

BABSON PARK, Mass., Oct. 2—When you read this column I expect to be on the high seas heading for Africa. You probably think this is a foolish thing for me to do, but following are some good reasons. In view of what I have said in these columns about gold, copper, uranium, oil, wool, and other metals, I am determined now to get first-hand facts. After so doing I will either correct my statements or confirm them through these columns. Africa is the best place to obtain such definite information today.

Outlook For Gold I have made reference in these columns to inflation and to investment in gold stocks at this time. If we enter into real inflation, gold stocks will go up. They have already made advances; but if this country changes the price of gold, these stocks should go up much more. As U. S. laws forbid the purchase or sale of gold within this country as a commodity, investors are confined to buying the stock of gold mines. A few of these are in the United States; but most of our mines are fairly well worked out. Wise investors in gold stocks on this continent are confining themselves to Canadian mines with a long life.

When studying the statistics on gold I find that over one half of the Free World's gold comes from Africa. This gold is mostly from mines which are little heard of in this country. Certainly I do not intend to visit any gold or other mines and could not correctly judge them, if I did. I will, however, be able to talk with men who do know the gold mines of Africa. Furthermore, these men will talk personally to me when they will not write frankly. If our country continues on its crazy spree of spending, some of these gold stocks should present a good chance to make an honest dollar.

Outlook For Copper Are copper stocks now a bargain? Copper as a commodity has fallen in price during the past two years from around 40 to a present price of about 26. Sometime during this current crisis in the metal, copper stocks will reach their low point, if they have not already done so. My favorite stock is Phelps Dodge. This stock, however, has only declined from a price of 76 to around 55 today. Africa is a large producer of copper and may ultimately determine the price of the metal, and hence when to buy copper stocks.

I am taking with me a column on copper which I have already written and will correct while in South Africa; and I will then air-mail to Babson Park a corrected copy to be released therefrom. Let me add that three African copper stocks are already listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange.

Uranium And Oil In Africa There are a few good uranium investments in properties located in the U. S. on the Colorado Plateau; but most good uranium mines on this continent are in Canada. Your broker should be familiar with such properties. The greatest amount of uranium, however, is now coming from Africa. Your broker probably knows African uranium mines only by hearsay. I expect to get the actual facts.

Certain large corporations are now frantically drilling for oil in the Sahara Desert as a hedge against Near East losses. I must visit Africa because the African uranium is largely in the tailing dumps of existing gold mines. They do not have real uranium mines such as exist in Colorado and in Canada. I do not intend to visit these dumps or the very interesting diamond mines. However, I will be able to talk personally with men who do know the prospects for both African oil and uranium.

Watch De Gaulle Operate From Paris If France did not have large oil and mineral holdings in Africa, De Gaulle would never have accepted the great responsibilities which he has assumed. He knows that Africa has become the great storehouse of the world. He believes that the nation which properly controls and develops Africa will be the world's greatest nation. De Gaulle plans on having the Paris Bourse take the place of the London Stock Exchange in connection with these mining and oil developments. I know Paris, and in fact once had an office there. One mission of my present trip to Africa is to ascertain how De Gaulle will succeed in his magnificent program and with what financial institutions he will work. He today is probably reading the life of Cecil Rhodes, which I have just finished reading.

The garbage pail isn't the daintiest thing we have to live with, but let's face it, we'll have it around for some time. First, we make sure that garbage gets into the can; then we look for ways to keep it cleaned out.

Sooner or later the bottom drops out of a metal garbage can. But you can prolong the life of the container. Paint the bottom and sides near the bottom both inside and outside with roofing cement. Also, rest the can on a base to provide ventilation. Bricks, cinder blocks, stones and wooden blocks will do.

Another idea for protecting the bottom of the can is to melt down your old candle stubs and pour them over the bottom.

No matter what, garbage cans need periodic cleaning and disinfecting.

Household lye is as effective and economical as anything you use to do a good job. Lye cuts the grease and dirt and destroys the source of odors. Two tablespoons of lye in a gallon of water make a very effective detergent. Scrub the can and lid thoroughly, let the solution work for 10 minutes, then scrub out loosened matter. Drain and rinse.

If you have steel kitchen cabinets, why not clean them with the same wax recommended for use on your refrigerator and other appliances. Wax cleans and protects the finish.

A Pound of Fire Prevention

Even the newest, shiniest car is susceptible to fire. It may be caused by exhaust fumes, by hot carbon particles from the exhaust igniting gas or oil, from brakes overheating and igniting grease or oil, or from accidents. According to the Interstate Commerce Commission, 60 per cent of its fire experience with cars engaged in interstate commerce occurs in connection with collisions, many of these rear-end collisions which damage the gas tanks and cause gas leaks. It's wise, therefore, to be familiar with the steps to take should fire break out in your car, as outlined by the National Fire Protection Association:

1. Turn off the ignition, and if possible disconnect the battery.
 2. Get everyone out of the car.
 3. Call the nearest fire department.
 4. Fight the fire with the proper type extinguisher.
- If your car isn't equipped with the prescribed "Class B" type of commercial extinguisher, you should at least keep a pound box of baking soda in the glove compartment. It's a precaution that costs but a few cents. Working from windward on the outside of the car, dump the soda on the base of the fire. When heated, the soda releases carbon dioxide or carbonic acid gas which smothers the flames. A word of warning. Never use water except for a fire in the upholstery, for water will spread the fire.

soever chooses God's Word for his guide goes his way in the light, for God is light. The Bible teaches us to walk in the light.

God's Word guides us to knowledge of truth and righteousness. By reading the Bible frequently, the Word opens to us. It gives light and understanding to the simple-hearted, to those who have childlike faith.

Prayer

Dear Father, we thank Thee for Thy holy Word. Help us to find in it inspiration, strength, and light for the living of this day. Give us the taste for Thy Word, so that we may be able to acquire strength and light from it. Use us to spread the light of Thy Word to others; through Christ, Thy dear Son. Amen.

Milk Producers Ask Government For Protective Bill

Unanimously, the board of directors of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. on Sept. 22, voted to request the Department of Agriculture for a Federal Milk Marketing Order for the Baltimore milk shed.

The vote was taken at a special meeting held in the Burlington Hotel, Washington, D. C., where Board members had attended a hearing concerning the Federal Order for the Washington area. All fifteen were present and their action came after Manager William P. Sadler, and assistant manager, Ralph L. Strock, had outlined the conditions in the Baltimore milk shed today. In its action the board instructed Mr. Sadler to act with all speed.

While the new Order request will require a hearing before a Federal examiner, similar to that in 1956 when a Federal Order was pending, much of the testimony presented by the Cooperative can be used as the forthcoming testimony, it was said. The date of such a hearing will be the determining factor in the date of operation for any eventual order.

In his outline to the Board, Mr. Sadler discussed present activities in the market in which a number of Baltimore dairies, including one of the largest, have been actively seeking "independent" milk, offering the Cooperative's "blend" price plus a few cents. This disrupts the market in two ways, Mr. Sadler said.

1. By enabling dealers to put cheap "independent" milk into bottle, it forces more and more of the Cooperative milk into manufacturing at Class III prices. This, in turn, lowers the "blend" price on which the "independent" is paid. This means a continuing low price to all farmers—the "independents" as well as MCMP members.

2. It presents difficult competition to the buyers who are paying Class I price for milk they bottle. These purchasers recognize the right of the farmer to a fair return on his work and his investment, but are faced with the fact that some farmers are willing to take less, giving competitors a profit advantage.

"These factors simply serve to bring suspicion and distrust on the part of everyone," Mr. Sadler said. "The MCMP members distrusts his 'independent' neighbor who in turn distrusts the MCMP. The buyers are suspicious of everybody."

"With a Federal order the buyer will know the price he will

Adaptation to Hot and Humid Climates

Farm animals vary a great deal in their ability to tolerate heat and humidity. This is true whether the heat is found in the tropics or in the corn belt states which Lord Bryce, late British Ambassador to the United States, has said have a tropical climate during the summer season. From personal experience in both regions of the world the writer must agree with this noted Englishman.

Not merely breeds, but individuals within breeds differ in their ability to be comfortable during extreme summer heat. This is due partly to body differences and partly to functional differences.

Brahman cattle, for example, have an angular conformation, with plenty of dewlap and large ears, all of which expose a large surface to the surrounding air and serve as radiators for passing off body heat. Furthermore, they have a dark skin to withstand the intensive rays of the sun, but a relatively light colored coat of hair which reflects the sunlight. These characteristics act to keep the animal relatively cool.

There are many vicious insect pests that pester livestock in hot climates and the Brahman are adapted to the problem. Their hair is short, permitting better radiation of body heat and discouraging ticks and other insects from harboring in the hair coat. Also, they have some of the ability of horses to quiver their skin to repel insects.

Perhaps the most important factor of adaptability to heat is the hypothalamus gland located at the base of the brain. This gland may be thought of as a built-in thermostat that keeps the body temperature relatively low.

Where representatives of our less well adapted North American breeds of cattle are panting when exposed to the mid-day sun, the Brahman are quite composed and cool, even grazing under such conditions.

Many tropical countries have their own native breeds of cattle that stand up well under the climate, but make slow gains, or like Brahman, are low-producers. The ability to survive, however, is all important, and a breeding program in the tropics usually aims to retain a fair amount of native rusticity consistent with good production.

This problem is not entirely a foreign one, but concerns us in various parts of this country more than many of us know. Brahman cattle, for instance, are becoming popular with some breeders operating in our higher temperature zones.

Question: Is frozen sorghum or sudan grass always poisonous for livestock?

Answer: In tests at the University of Wisconsin, frosted sweet sorghum was not poisonous for cows, even when fed in amounts of 80 pounds daily per head for several days at a time. But regrowth after a frost, therefore the young sprouts coming out at the base of the stalk, when only about 6 inches tall, contained large amounts of poisonous prussic acid. It would be dangerous to use such a field for fall pasture.

For A Federal Milk Order

On September 22 the Board of Directors of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. voted unanimously to ask the U. S. Department of Agriculture for a Federal Milk Marketing Order for the Baltimore milk shed.

The Board consists of dairy farmers, elected by MCMP members in their respective districts. They are as much interested in the size of their milk checks as any other dairyman. These men are:

G. Ross Scarff, Fallston, Md.	Daniel B. Smith, Tjamsville, Md.
Ross S. Todd, Bel Air, Md.	Edgar G. Emrich
John W. Bay, Whiteford, Md.	(MCMP President) Emmitsburg, Md.
J. Best Wheeler, Jr., Upperco, Md.	Edwin O. Adams, Jr., Clarksville, Md.
Richard F. Price, Phoenix, Md.	F. Guy McGrady, Rising Sun, Md.
Hubert J. Null, Taneytown, Md.	Emory M. Kilgore, Woodbine, Pa.
Horace S. Brauning	Chester G. Ernst, Clear Spring, Md.
(MCMP Vice-Pres.) Finksburg, Md.	Frank D. Ziegler, Sr., Denton, Md.
Russell L. Royer, Manchester, Md.

WHAT IS THEIR GOAL?

● They are asking the Department, by the Federal Order method in use throughout the nation generally, to stabilize prices paid to all farmers for their milk.

● The MCMP has constantly sought to bring this stability to the market. However, in the past few years some dealers, seeking the "fast buck" have been able to purchase milk from the so-called "independents". The price they pay is below the Class I price set by the Cooperative and this depresses the market for all.

● If and when the Federal Order is granted, a uniform price will be set for ALL Class I milk for ALL buyers.

● No longer could ANY buyer purchase his Class I supply on the "Cooperative blend plus" plan. Every farmer—member and non-member—would share alike in the Class I sales in the market.

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

By Carl N. Johnson
Horticulture Department
Lawns And Shrubbery
The Fall of the year is a good time to study our gardens to see how they may be improved. What can be done to give them a little more professionally planned look? Here is a check list for Fall planning:

Keep the garden "manicured." Weed the borders, mulch shrubs and flower beds, neatly edge the walks and drives. Improve the lawn. Reseed bare spots. Fertilize if necessary. Keep up the vitality of the plants. Prune back straggling growth on fast-growing shrubs. Thicken sparse plantings. Remove and replace old plants that can't be improved by pruning.

Give the garden some architectural treatment. Plan a terrace or a patio for garden furniture, brick or stone retaining walls to hold banks back, ornamental fencing to enclose the garden or separate lawn from vegetable garden.

Give the garden some year-round interest. Plant bulbs for spring color, berried shrubs for Fall interest, evergreen specimens for winter color and perennial borders or special gardens for summer enjoyment.

Experiment with design. Adapt your planning to the site you have to work with. If you want an informal effect, stay away from hard, straight lines. (Curving lines add pleasing effects to shrub and flower borders—give a more relaxed feeling to the garden.) Vary the skyline for interest. Build up height in the corners of the shrub border.

Our youngsters are learning the ABC's of peace for the future: How to get along with each other. How to give and take. How to respect each other's rights as individuals.

But right now it's our job to keep the peace in a troubled world. And peace costs money. Money for strength to keep the peace. Money for science and education to help make peace lasting. Money saved by individuals.

Your Savings Bonds, as a direct investment in your country make you a Partner in strengthening America's Peace Power.

The Bonds you buy will earn money for you. But the most important thing they earn is peace.

Think it over. Are you buying as many Bonds as you might?

SPORTS AFIELD
By Ted Kesting

On light tackle, the so-called weakfish becomes a very tough customer, says Robert D. Hall, Salt - Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. There are numerous methods employed in catching this sometimes elusive gray ghost. Chumming with grass shrimp is probably the most exciting.

Chumming to bring the fish up to your line (which should have on it a No. 6 hook baited with one or two of the grass shrimp) is one of the few methods where the fish does not have to fight a lead weight. Also, the fish will follow the chum line (you will need about six quarts of shrimp for this) up to the surface, and that's where the action will be. As weakfish are primarily night feeders, they are usually found moving into the back bays with a flooding tide.

Bridge fishermen account for their share of weakfish, too. The floodlights of the bridge attract bait fish, and weakfish lie in the shadows darting out to seize a spearing or some other bait fish that comes within the area of the light.

Float-line fishing at night is one way to catch some of the big weaks. Best bait for this is a whole shedder crab or an eight- to ten-inch live squid. A choice area for this type of fishing is at the joining point of two channels, or near an inlet where it meets the sea.

In using light fresh - water tackle for this kind of fishing you must understand that the flow of current and tidal conditions control the time and place that such fishing becomes practical. When conditions are such that a sinker heavier than 1/2 ounce is necessary, then the fresh-water spinning gear should be laid aside for heavier tackle.

Farmers To Vote
On Corn Program
November 25

Corn farmers will go to the polls Tuesday, November 25, in a special referendum to determine whether the national farm program for corn should be changed, Chairman Julius P. Parran of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee, announced this week.

The referendum is provided for in the newly enacted farm law, the Agricultural Act of 1958. Voting will be conducted in the

NUTRITION NEWS:
Tastier Meals
On Special Diets

A strict diet which robs mealtime of much of its pleasure may no longer be needed by the million or more Americans suffering from a widespread form of heart and circulatory disease.

A new research report, based on one of the largest controlled tests ever done in this field, reveals that simple diet changes can significantly lower blood cholesterol levels. High blood cholesterol, many medical researchers believe, is related to atherosclerosis, the most common and serious type of hardening of the arteries. A low-fat diet is usually recommended as a control measure.

In the tests, a new margarine made from nonhydrogenated corn oil was substituted for solid fats in the daily meals of 301 persons. The product was recently introduced nationally under the trademark Emdee and is sold only through drugstores. It is a food, not a medicine.

During the tests the margarine was used as a table spread, in pan frying and as a flavoring for vegetables. The only other changes in the diet were the replacement of whole milk with skim, substitution of sherbet for ice cream and use of corn oil for salad dressings. Otherwise the meals were comparable in appearance and appeal to standard fare of the individuals.

During the nine weeks of the modified diet, "in the 301 patients the highest average cholesterol level was significantly below the lowest level during the control period (of three weeks on ordinary diets)," the report states.

The new margarine therefore enables low-fat dieters to enjoy many favorite foods once more, and at the same time simplifies meal preparation for homemakers, since it can be used by the entire family.

commercial corn area, which consists of 932 counties in 26 states, including 16 counties in Maryland.

Voters will express a choice between the following alternatives:

1. A new program, under which there would be no corn acreage allotments and no designation of a commercial corn area. Under this program, all corn producers would be eligible for price support without any restrictions on acreage. The level of price supports would be 90 per cent of the average corn price received by farmers during the three preceding years, but not less than 65 per cent of parity.
2. Continuation of the present corn program, under which farmers who plant within acreage allotments are eligible for price support at 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

The current corn situation would indicate a reduction of approximately 15 per cent in the national corn allotment for 1959 and price supports at or near the minimum.

A majority vote of corn farmers casting ballots will decide the referendum. Details as to voting eligibility and polling places will be announced later, Mr. Parran said.

Practically every sale of every product manufactured in the U. S. will be purchased by one of the 100 million people who read a newspaper on an average day.
