It's Fire Prevention Week once again folks. By now you've probably been deluged with literature and other media informing you as such. One novel way of putting it across to the public and at the same time capitalizing it was the way a local enterprising merchant deployed the occasion by an advertising plan sort of unique in away. All during the week and the balance of this week the merchant has advertised a "Red Sale." During fire Prevention Week he is giving 10% off on all red articles, to his customers, thereby drumming up business and at the same time doing his part to help his fellowmen remember Fire Prevention Week. Right cute Ed-

Once again it's time for our annual Community Show where many of our local citizens with "green thumbs" and ability to manufacture articles, crochet, can meats and vegetables etc., get a chance to display their wares. It's an interesting affair and many placing exhibits feel a keen satisfaction of competing with their neighbors, in a friendly sort of way, matching their ability against their neighbor's. It's friendly rivalry and also an education to those newly-married couples who haven't as yet mastered the art of canning, sewing, crocheting, etc. Regardless of whether or not you place an entry, be sure to attend this community social today or tomorrow. I feel certain you'll enjoy the occasion and at the same time give the committee a morale assist by showing them their work is appreciated. There is no admission charge to the show and there'll be plenty of free entertainment. * * *

While in the mood for giving out free advertising this week I might just as well continue by giving a plug to the annual Fall Bazaar of the Mother Seton School which will be held Saturday for the purpose of raising money to purchase school equipment. This affair was very well patronized last year and almost a thousand dollars was realized. The public really enjoyed the event and it is hoped that a repeat performance can be attained this year. If it's good food you like, don't dare miss this af-

A bit of wisdom from Bill Sulivan of Los Angeles who writes: The costs of a wrecked car are bad but they also deprive us of many other things we would like to have. The Press might help the situation if it would stress the financial advantages of alert and safe driving. Sounds like a sage piece of advice and worth plug ing. Since our youthful drivers do not heed our safety talks perhaps we might try the expense angle and what it costs ultimately when an accident occurs. There are ways to get to a man's head or his stomach sometimes but one sure way to get through to him is when he has to resort to his pocketbook. He'll think over the seriousness of accidents a lot sooner I believe if he knows just what he has to pay for. * * *

It's hard to believe that Halloween is just around the corner with this delightful Indian summer weather prevailing. Anyway in just a few short weeks we'll have the goblins, witches; cider, pumpkins etc. among us in full force. And as I take a stand against vandalism which usually starts here two weeks prior to the event. In the past several years though, the situation has been well in hand and I don't believe it'll be anything different again this year. Yes, there will be a few who carry it too far but then I guess that's to be expected.

YOUTH KILLED IN SUNDAY CAR CRASH

Paul J. Price, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Price, Gettysburg R2, was instantly killed Sunday morning at 12:25 o'clock when his car smashed into a Metropolitan Edison Co. pole three miles north of here on the Gettysburg Road.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said the death was caused by a fractured skull, broken neck and crushed chest.

Two companions in Price's 1955 Ford sedan were injured. They were Larry D. Leffler, 16, Gettysburg R2, who had a laceration below the left eye and James Smith, 14, 242 Chambersburg St., Gettysburg, who had lacerations of the right hand and abrasions of both knees.

The two youths were removed to the Warner Hospital in the ambulance and after treatment were discharged.

The Wage-Price Spiral

If all the production workers in America received a wage raise tomorrow, without having increased their man - hour productivity, the purchasing power of everyone's dollars would be lowered within a short time. The price of goods and services would increase. In other words the dollar's value would shrink—and this is what we call "inflation." We get a tiny bit of inflation when any person gets more money this year for producing the same amount of product-wealth that he produced last year.

The additional money this man gets adds a bit to the money available for purchasing the same amount of goods and services that we had the year before. Adding to the money supply in the market has a tendency to push up the going price on a given amount of goods. And the additional money this one worker gets sooner or later will be computed as an increase in production cost of the goods he produces, thus the price of the goods will go up on that account. A dollar won't buy quite as much of the goods as it did before. In other words, the dollar's value has shrunk.

Since 1940 the dollar's purchasing power has been reduced by 52c.

Inflation At Work Of course the incident of one man getting a raise would not visibly disturb the purchasing power of your dollars or mine. But when a general raise occurs throughout American industry-without a corresponding boost in goods produced-inflation robs the consuming public of some of its money purchasing power. Those who gets the raises benefit only momentarily, for invariably the whole price structure adjusts upward, boosting the cost of living for everyone. The people who didn't get a raise are penalized to a greater degree.

There are other factors influencing inflation-big government spending, big government borrowing, big government debt, big private debt, and immense private buying power. However, I am told today focusing attention upon the wage-price spiral which is one of the two most potent inflation factors and the one which we can see so clearly at work affecting our living standard.

In A Key Industry
Since 1950 improved productivity in the steel industryto take a key illustration—has not justified the amount of wage increases. Production costs per ton have increased, and steel prices have steadily increased. In 1951, steel wages were pushed up 19.4c an hour, and steel prices went up $5.88 per ton. In 1952, wages rose 20.4c; in 1953, 12.1c; in 1954, 8.6c; in 1955, 18.9c; in 1956, 14.4c; in 1957, 15c and in 1958, 16c. In nine years, wages went up 76%, and steel prices 61%. Meantime overall productivity increased about 3% a year.

How was the increase in steel costs reflected throughout the economy, The cost of raw steel in an average house jumped approximately $100; in an automobile about $80; in an electric stove about $6: a washing machine $5; a refrigerator about $7. Almost invariably wage increases in the steel industry set off wage hikes in other industries, especially in automobile, appliance and other hardware items. Ultimately a wide segment of industry was obliged to increase wages-and in many cases not on the basis of increased productivity per man-hour at all. Jeopardizing Prosperity

The cost of living in the nine | brought about by hypnosis. year period steadily increased. On the average the things a consumer buys cost about 35% more today than they did nine years ago. It should be emphasized again that wage increases without corresponding productivity increases have been only one factor in the lowering of the value of our dollars. But this wage-price spiral and its destructive influence is significant. It is contrary to the workings of our private enterprise system over the years.

A major reason why we Americans have a living standard today at least three times better than that of most of the people of the world is that freedom of enterprise and the competitive market have brought about constantly improving production per manhour. As each new productive improvement has been made, a substantial part of the benefit has been passed along to the consumer in better quality and lower prices. Labor unions are an accepted element in our economic life. But when monopolistic force is used to bulldoze wage increases that force up prices and cripple the normal, healthy functioning of our free system, then the future prosperity of all of us is jeopardized. Such practices should

What About Hypnosis?

The history of hypnosis thru the ages has been a series of ups and downs. Periods of great interest by the medical profession have been followed by almost complete rejection. At times it has had little more than the status of a vaudeville trick. Today interest in its use in the treatment of illness is again on the upswing. The extent of interest in hypnosis is illustrated by the fact that the American Medical Association has seen the necessity of making a study of the subject and making recommendations to the doctors of the nation. The complexity of the subject is shown by the difficulty the AMA had in arriving at a definition of hypnosis, even though there was no question about the results

What they came up with was a temporary condition of altered attention in the subject which may be induced by another person . ." During this condi-During this condiperson . tion of "altered attention" doctors and dentists have been able to accomplish remarkable results. Severely burned patients have been able to do exercises necessary to recovering the use of their limbs. Children who need surgery have been anesthetized easily and without being frightend. Dentists have used it successfully both for anesthesia and to allay patients' anxiety. The use of hypnosis in psychotherapy has been frequently dramatized, even over dramatized.

Roof Gets 'Hidden' Armor

The asphalt shingles you see on your roof aren't the only protection your house is getting from weather. As the photograph of this roof being applied in the San Francisco area shows, a properly applied roof of asphalt shingles always should have a layer of asphalt-saturated, waterproof felt beneath the shingles, providing additional protection against rain, snow, and melting ice.

Louvers Dramatize Decor

Louver doors are being used more and more by interior decorators to bring dramatic texture into homes with both con-temporary and traditional decor. Here's a particularly effective use of louver doors of ponderosa pine in a double doorway between dining and living rooms. The doors are hinged to fold in half when open, providing an interesting "frame" for the doorway. Closed, they add interest to both rooms. These are stock doors of ponderosa pine, available from building material dealers. Other stock louver doors are available in a wide range of styles and sizes. of styles and sizes.

Babson Again Discusses The Best Investment

En Route to Africa, Oct. 9 -My recent column on the stirred so much interest that I have written two more columns on the subject so as to have them p u b l ished while I am out on the ocean

"surrounded by ocean front." Let me repeat, however, that waterfront property refers not only to land bordering the ocean; but also to land bordering rivers, lakes, and other water bodies where you can enjoy an outboard motor. This is property which will be more valuable ten years, thirty years, fifty years, or a hundred years from now. There will be little more natural waterfront than now exists.

This is the surest way an investor can make money with real security, assuming he is able to take care of the taxes on said land. Of course, the taxes can usually be added to the original cost so that the investor gets his tax money back when he sells the property. It, however, is better if he can rent the land, or cut wood from it, or otherwise get income from it each year to pay the taxes. A good tax accountant or tax lawyer will show you how you can also set the property up so that "Uncle Sam" will pay all or half of these taxes!

Illustrations Of Possible Profits A correspondent who paid $12,000 for some land has recently been able to sell the same to a cement company for $150,000. This property gave the cement company a muchneeded shipping point. A granddaughter of mine who paid $7.20 an acre for 1000 acres has been offered $100 an acre for that land because it borders a lake. Many land owners in Florida have been willing to pay $500 an acre for small strips to enable their cattle to get water. The builder of a motel on the coast of Massachusetts has paid $50,-000 for land which the seller had bought for only $1,000.

The builder of a supermarket has paid a fabulous price for the land between a main highway and a lake which is surrounded by numerous cottages. This location enables the supermarket to serve people who come in motor boats as well as those who come in automobiles. A New England lime company recently paid a high price for some shore property in order to get access to the water. In addition to the above instances, there are cases where the land itself, aside from its location, has become valuable due to the discovery of gravel, lime, bauxite, or other minerals,-yes and for

Importance Of Dredging

Much money has been made by dredging swamp and other now useless land. The value of dredging has not yet been recognized in most states other than Florida. It is usually most profitable to dredge through a swampland which is unfit for building. A dredger scoop or a "sucker" takes dirt from the edge of the river or creek and throws it up onto the marshland, making beautiful building sites. In many cases, this dredging also makes a small harbor or marina out of a useless bed of water. Every state probably has hundreds of such opportunities which are now neglected. Such waterfront would be in addition to the natural waterfronts, of which, as I have previously stated, there will never be more than exists now. The dredging of lakes and rivers would probably not add more than 10% to the existing waterfronts which are now usable.

Land which some day will be needed for watershed purposes could become very valuable. As the population increases, as industries grow, and as people become more accustomed to comforts, the demand for water will increase everywhere. This will apply not only to cities, but also to small towns. In many cases, the municipal water supply depends upon reservoirs with their surrounding watersheds. These watersheds must constantly become more valuable. Even those cities which drill wells for their municipal water supplies are finding that wells drilled near existing fresh water bodies are the most prolific. Of course, my reference here applies only to rivers and lakes,-not to sea water, which

Heavy Volume Of Milk Checks

Milk Producers, Inc. on October larger than the August payments, it was announced today at the of dairy farmers can do these. cooperative's Baltimore head-

The August checks showed an increase over those of July, low point of 1958.

MCMP members producing on the "quota" basis will receive $4.77 per hundredweight for their milk, an increase of 14 cents over the August price; "over - quota" milk is $2.95, or a 5 cent increase, and "non-quota" $4.45 as opposed to $4.32.

While increased Class I (milk put into bottles) sales are normal at this time of year, the Cooperative's organization was able to supply heavier and unexpected demands from dealers whose sales had increased and other supplies dwindled.

School milk contracts won by dealers buying from the MCMP also contributed to the increases. Although it is too early to make definite estimates on the school milk contribution, it is known that such sales will be well above last year. Work done by the Cooperative prior to the opening of school milk contracts in Baltimore City and several counties was helpful in enabling Cooperative buyers to obtain a great share of the county contracts and all of Baltimore city.

"I think we can attribute much of the improvement in the milk checks to the flexibility of the Cooperative's operations, which permit us to shift milk quickly to points where it is needed. said William P. Sadler, MCMP manager. "Dealers facing a shortage know that they can call us and get milk almost immediately. This is only carrying out our guarantee of a constant supply of pure milk to the consumer.

"Despite the September improvement, prices are still below those of 1957—they are almost identical with 1956-and there is an ironic factor in this," Mr. Sadler continued. "The chief cause of today's prices is the amount of so-called 'independent' milk, purchased outside the MCMP, being bottled-and being sold to the consumer at going rates.

"The non-member farmer will get a free ride, since the price he receives from the dealer is based on the Cooperative's blend. Actually, he should be receiving $1.00 per hundredweight above that blend. The difference goes into the pocket of the dealer and presents a difficult competitive picture to those dealers who are ouying through the MCMP-and paying the full Class I price. Every farmer who accepts the independent' price decreases every milk check—his own as well as the MCMP member's.

"These conditions have brought instability similar to 1956 into the local milk market. Because of this, the MCMP has again asked for a Federal Milk Marketing Order and we will not turn aside. However, I want to emphasize the necessity of a dairy

Milk Orders Require Co-ops

The 68 existing Federal Milk Marketing Orders were all requested by strong dairy farmer cooperatives. The Federal government will not act unless there is an effective organization sponsoring the Order movement.

Therefore, the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., which represents the majority of the dairy farmers shipping milk to Baltimore, is following normal procedure in petitioning for a Marketing Order.

HOW WILL THE CO-OP BE AFFECTED?

Not at all. The Federal Order Administrator deals primarily with the enforcement of minimum Class prices for milk.

He does not engage in the sale or delivery of milk to the dealer.

He does not provide Field service to dairy farmers.

He cannot guarantee full payment to farmers for milk. Should any dealer default, the Administrator can institute enforcement proceedings which may bring bankruptcy. The amount the Administrator collects would be distributed to the producers.

WHAT WILL THE MCMP DO?

It will continue to operate in the interests of its members.

It will sell the members milk, collect for it and mail out individual checks. It will continue to guarantee full payment for the milk.

It will maintain its Field Staff to assist and advise members.

It will continue to be the legislative agent for its members on State or City matters which involve dairy farming.

As it initiated the Federal Order, it will propose any desirable Order changes, requests for price adjustments, etc.

In other words, the MCMP will continue its service to its members as is has with increasing vigor during the past 40 years.

NO. 18976 EQUITY In the Circuit Court ick County, in Equity CHARLES RUSSELL BAKER Vs.

GERTRUDE E. BAKER The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATROMONII by the Plaintiff, Charles Russell Baker, from the Defendant, Gertrude E. Baker. The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on April 8, 1946 in Cashtown, Pennsylvania, by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a resident of the State of Pennsylvania, her last postoffice address being R.F.D. No. 1, Orrtanna, Pennsylvania; that one child was born as a result, of the marriage, this being Jeanne Marie Baker, who resides with her mother; that the parties voluntarily separated in or about the year 1951 and since said separation they have not cohabited or lived together as man and wife and have continued to voluntarily live separate and apart; and that there is no reasonable hope or expectation of a reconciliation between the parties. The Bill prays that the Defendant be divorced A VINCULO MATROMONII, and for general course will be composed of average and above average students from Saint Dominic's School, Baltimore. Lesson plans prepared for the demonstrations by the critic teachers staffing the Institute will be compiled at the close of the courses with publication in view.

The importance of this project three-fold, according to Sister Hilda. It will improve preparation of present and future junior and senior high school teachers. This is especially necessary to ers an opportunity to observe excellent teaching, in a functional situation, in the five major fields mentioned, and supply an accumulation of model lesson plans for general use.

Deegan's Soccer

Things are finally looking up for personable Jim Deegan who St. Mary's College, where most The model classes for the first of the athletes turn their attention to basketball or baseball. A new crop of freshmen, including three highly touted high school booters who seem to have nailed down first team jobs, plus steadily improvement on the part of the upperclassmen, has erased some of the wrinkles from the Mountaineer mentor's brow.

As things stand now after victories in their first two games, Deegan says he has the best team and talent he has tutored since he came to the Mount three years ago. Bill Blandford, a soph who was last year's top scorer meet the problems incidental to with six goals despite the fact the accelerated growth in high that injury sidelined him for half school enrolment. It is expected, the season, will open at outside also, that it will give the teach-left. Frosh Joe McFann, a vet who was voted the outstanding athlete at Oxford High just outside Philadelphia's soccer hotbed, has clinched the inside left job, and Pete Williams, a 6'4, 200pound high school football star end, will take care of the center forward chores although Deegan may also use him at fullback.

Pete Kuhn, another Philly flash at Fr. Judge High where he was an all-scholastic, and all Catholic standout will work at inside right. Kuhn has played on several championship teams leading his team in scoring in both high school and Division I amateur sandlot soccer. He has scored five goals in a single game and should give the Mounties a scoring punch for a change.

Fred Szalay, a Hungarian refugee now a soph, will open at left half but may see duty too Sunday Oct. 12, Harvest Home at center forward. The right half job is up for grabs with soph George Amann and junior John Troffo battling one another. The annual Harvest Ham and Troffo missed action last season Oyster Supper for the benefit of to hit the books. He has great Elias Lutheran property renova- speed and is very aggressive. tion fund will be served by the Amann lettered at inside last women of the church Saturday, year but looks better at his new Oct. 18 from 4 o'clock on. The position. Senior Dan Neylan holds down the outside right job. Sen-Choir rehearsals will be held ior John Bailey will play center Tuesday evening, Oct. 14-Junior half, and lean and hard from a 6:30; Youth 7 and Church Choir, summer at Paris Island with the Marines should give a good account of himself. Senior letter-Thanksgiving Service will be held man Dick Clark and junior Marc in Elias Lutheran Church on Miller will open at the fullback O'Conner in the goal for his fourth year in a row. Deegan considers O'Conner one of the conference's better net minders.

Backing up the first team are freshman Chuch Cochran, a hustling aggresive ball player who should see a good deal of action, junior Bob Segrell, passing up cross country to take a shot at soccer after having already won letters in baseball and track. Segrell is big, rugged and fast and a quick study. Senior Tom Mc-Namee, sidelined with a muscle injury should help once the injury clears, as should his class-Rev. Wm. M. Hendricks, Pastor mate Jim Dolan. Both are fullbacks. Linemen include freshmen Deegan sees greatest improvement in the line where for the know how to put the ball in the net. If Blandford has another Tuesday at 8 p. m., the Mite banner year and Kuhn, Williams Society will meet at the home of and McFann live up to expectations, the first line could be real tough particularly when they get will meet at the Churchville added game experience as a unit.

J. L. Nester and Fred Longpre to tutor players who have never and the Pastor will represent played soccer. This year he still has a crop of that kind but he Friday at 8 p. m., the choir has some talented operatives as well. The first unit should be good and get better as the season rolls along. The second club Rev. Cameron W. Johnson, Pastor badly needs work under fire and will make a flock of mistakes while it learns.

Deegan's seniors will co-captain the squad.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Miller, week with Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Euphemia Rotering.

Mr. and Mrs. James Topper, Baltimore, visited friends and relatives here over the weekend.

Ford brings Thunderbird elegance to the low-price field with

AWARDED THE GOLD MEDAL

The new Fords for 1959 have a casual kind of elegancethe fresh crispness of design that distinguishes the Thunderbird. They are beautifully different from all other cars—and from all other Fords. This new beauty was recognized at the Brussels World's Fair. The 59 Fords, on preview, received the Gold Medal of the Comité Français de l'Elégance for beautiful proportions!

They have a straight-through appearance . . . a cleancut look that is very open and airy. The entire glass area has been designed to give you the modern picture-window feeling of indoor-outdoor living. The new thin-line roof is actually a sensational engineering achievement-to give you even greater safety. Yet it has a gracefulness that will make riding in any other car seem "old hat."

And this easy elegance is traceable to the sporting heritage of the beautiful Ford Thunderbird. These Fords are altogether new.

But the most beautiful difference of all is money in your pocket. The 59 Fords are the standout buy in the lowprice field. They are superbly designed to give you all the supreme beauty, comfort, power and performance that only Ford's creative engineering can bring you. Soon-on October 17-you'll be able to get that New Ford Feeling in the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars!
