Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

Always ready and willing to relinquish a portion of my column space to what I believe to be of public interest and welfare I am happy this week to honor a letter I received which I feel should be of interest to the community, as a whole. There are some who possibly might disagree with the contents of the letter, but then there always are. Herewith is the letter:

Dear Abigail:

As a steady reader of your weekly article in the Chronicle, it appears to me that if anyone would know the answer to my question, it would be you. So we have this letter and these questions.

Why is it that all surrounding communities have their "kick-off" Christmas parades the early part of December or even late November? and Emmitsburg elects to have theirs (of all days) the day before Christmas? It seems that is a very late moment to inject any local spirit to any local shopping in the interest of local businessmen. If any shopping is to be done, it surely would be nearly completed by the 24th. Why can't this parade be scheduled earlier?

And the parade—sure it is nice for the youngsters—but if you would ever check, from the end of their "free lunch" until the parade starts, they roam the streets as a mob and I doubt if they do business any good. I think this period is again "billed" as free time to give parents time to shop. Again I say, those in charge never consider the lateness of the hour. Littlestown, Gettysburg, and all the rest have their "scooped" by three or four weeks. Perhaps you can tell me why all the delay?

And might I add, the "judging of the Xmas Windows" on the 30th. Imagine? Xmas is then a memory, windows have been decorated as early as Thanksgiving and the pine in and around homes if not dusty, is certainly turning brown. Why not capture the moment when it is fresh and new—BEFORE Christmas—NOT after?

But then again, this is just a letter, and I suppose the town will keep at it as usual for the next 30 years—tradition, you know! Tommyrot.

Actually friends, there are two ways to view this matter. One is to consider that it is highly possible the Lions Club did not want to capitalize on the spirit of the occasion by relegating it to a commercial category. I believe the original intention was just to give the children a happy and gala pre-Christmas party and to heck with the business angle. In the advertisements little if any text is devoted to salesmanship of merchandise; just the name of the concern is usually listed, the purchaser of the advertisement having in mind only to make a little donation to the cause and to help make the party possible.

Another angle though, and one which the writer appears to have a solid point, it that perhaps we have been asleep here and our local merchants should awaken from their stupor status and really commercialize on the occasion. After all, I imagine most small town merchants could stand a small increase in their income. Perhaps next year the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club should go all out to beat neighboring towns with their so-called Christmas parades and strive to keep a few dollars right here at home.

Milk Producers Accused Of Monopoly

As a result of a decision by a Federal judge, the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Assn., will be compelled to dispose of a large dairy it purchased in the Washington area.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff has ruled the Maryland-Virginia Milk Producers Assn. violated the Clayton Anti-Trust Act when it bought a Washington dairy in 1954.

The judge will order the association to sell the dairy, which it bought for $3,800,000 dollars.

The ruling represents the biggest property divestment ever obtained by the Justice Department in this area under anti-trust laws and it could prove extremely costly to the association.

In his 60-minute oral opinion, Holtzoff said the Association appeared to have paid "far in excess of its intrinsic value" for Embassy Dairy.

An association balance sheet introduced as evidence listed one million dollars of the purchase for "good will."

Holtzoff also said he will direct the association to cancel any agreements arising out of the Embassy sale. One condition of the sale was that Embassy owner, James J. Ward, now operator of the Green Spring Dairy in Baltimore, agreed not to compete in the Washington Milk Market.

Justice Department Attorney Joseph J. Saunders said he will present a divestment order for Holtzoff's signature next week.

Association Attorney Herbert A. Bergson said Holtzoff's ruling will be appealed.

The association, a dairy cooperative, has some 1,800 members and was tried before Holtzoff on the charge that the Embassy purchase and the acquisition of the Wakefield Model Farms Dairy last December "tended to substantially lessen competition or create a monopoly."

Christmas Club Checks Mailed

The Farmers State Bank announced this week the mailing of all checks to members of its Christmas Club. The total of the checks mailed out this year was $41,551, the largest in the history of the local bank. Applications to the new club are now being accepted.

EHS Soccer Champions

Emmitsburg Junior High School defeated Middletown 6-1 Friday in a soccer contest that decided the Frederick County champion. The playoff game was scheduled after each school emerged as the titlists in their respective divisions of the county (northern and southern).

Emmitsburg in taking the win finished out the season with an undefeated record.

Middletown Sets Tax Rate

The Burgess and Commissioners of Middletown, at their Nov. meeting, voted to set the 1959 municipal tax rate at 40c on each $100 of assessed property valuation.

The tax rate next year will thus be the same as that in effect for quite a number of years past.

Lists Expenditures

John R. Foley, elected to Congress by the Sixth District said his campaign cost about $18,150.

DeWitt S. Hyde, Republican incumbent defeated by Foley, showed expenditures of $20,849 in a statement filed with the Rockville Circuit Court by his treasurer, J. R. Gorman. Both candidates ran their campaigns in the black. Foley's contributions totaled $19,020, he said and contributions to Hyde came to $21,775.

Tavern Looted

State police Saturday were investigating a break-in at the Blue Duck Inn, located on Maryland 97 a short distance west of Emmitsburg. Entry was gained by forcing a door. The break-in was discovered this morning.

When the inn was opened for business early Thursday. Investigation was made by Tfc. William G. Morgan of the state police.

A considerable amount of small change was taken.

LIONS OBSERVE CHARTER NIGHT

Sixty members and guests were present at the annual Charter and Ladies' Night held by the Emmitsburg Lions Club Tuesday evening in the Lutheran Parish Hall.

Dr. D. L. Beegle acted as toastmaster for the occasion and also presided over the meeting in the absence of President Charles F. Stouter. Guests were present from the Taneytown, Fairfield and Thurmont Clubs.

The occasion marked the 29th anniversary of the club in Emmitsburg and District Governor Russell Marsh was the distinguished guest. Governor Marsh delivered the principal address of the evening. During the course of events a number of door prizes were awarded. Several charter members, no longer members, were guests of the evening.

Featured entertainment was the Glee Club of Mt. St. Mary's College, directed by Rev. Fr. David W. Shaum. Following the Glee Club's selections, the Acroeters, a well-known television act, performed for the audience.

Postmaster Advises Early Christmas Mailing

The "mail early for Christmas" campaign is under way at the Emmitsburg post office.

Postmaster Louis Stoner emphasized this week. He said that "Christmas may seem quite a ways off but nevertheless, we're starting our annual 'Mail early for Christmas' campaign immediately, because there's every indication that the 1958 Christmas season will set an all-time mailing record."

Christmas gifts and cards for the most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10, and those for nearby points should be mailed by Dec. 15, or at least a week before Christmas.

The Postmaster said that right now is the time to plan Christmas card and gift mailings. The first thing to do, he said, is to check your Christmas card list very carefully—make sure that each address includes full name, street and number or rural route number, city, zone and state.

He went on to say that by a little advance planning, a lot of headaches can be avoided when the Christmas rush is on. The Postmaster suggests that you stock up on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape, for use in securely packing and wrapping. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package if you'll just add the appropriate first class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself. The Postmaster also advises that the 15 cent insured fee be used on all gift parcels.

A free postal pamphlet—available at all post offices—entitled for Mailing, should answer practically all questions any Christmas "Packaging and Wrapping" parcels mailer might have on preparation of parcels for mailing, he said.

The facing of letters and cards same way, with the address facing so that they are all stacked the same way, as well as the tying of mail into "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles will expedite dispatch, particularly when large quantities of mail are sent. Free labels for "Local" and "Out of Town" bundles are available at postoffices and from rural carriers.

Be sure to use only first class four-cent or seven-cent air mail postage on Christmas cards, the postmaster said. All cards sent by first class mail may include a personal handwritten message, whereas a signature only is authorized on cards that are mailed at the three-cent, third class rate.

The Postmaster says it's especially important to include your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Besides being socially correct, this is a big help to both you and your friends in keeping mailing list up-to-date.

Through the fine cooperation of the public during recent years, the postmaster reports that great progress has been made in getting the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1958 rush, with expanded facilities all around.

The pen may be mightier than the sword, but it often takes another swordwielder to prove the point.

Potomac Edison Co. Adds Experts To Staff

With the increasing acceptance of electric house heating in the area served by the Potomac Edison Company and the growing demand for services connected with electric heating, District Manager J. W. Morgan has announced the appointment of Arthur E. Short to the newly-created post of residential electric space heating specialist.

In his new capacity, Short will be responsible for the promotion and sale of electric house heating equipment, including radiant heating systems, heat pumps, and auxiliary heating units.

The new heating specialist recently completed an intensive training course in this type of work, in addition to instruction in lighting, cooking and refrigeration equipment.

Short has been with the company since 1946 and has worked his entire period of service in the Waynesboro area. During this time he has served as a meter tester in the Waynesboro meter department.

A native of Chambersburg, Short attended grade and high school in that Pennsylvania community.

In his new duties, Short will be working from the company's Hagerstown offices, but may be reached by contacting the local power company office.

Gerald E. Hoak has been named farm representative for The Potomac Edison Company here, according to an announcement by District Manager John W. Morgan.

In his new post, Hoak will be available to assist farmers of this area with electrical applications. These will include planning farm wiring systems, recommending electrical equipment, farm lighting and designing layouts where electrical equipment will be used.

He will also work with state and county agricultural personnel in farm electrical service. He will be working from the power company's general offices in Hagerstown, but may be reached by contacting the nearest office of the Potomac Edison Company.

A native of Luray, Virginia, Hoak attended grade and high schools in that community. He is a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Agricultural Economics.

He is a veteran of the U. S. Army having served in the Panama Canal Zone.

JURORS DRAWN

Jurors were drawn for the December term of Circuit Court from the area recently. The action took place before Chief Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer and Clerk of the Circuit Court Ellis C. Wachter. The names were drawn by S. Clerene Crampton, deputy clerk.

Drawn from the Emmitsburg District was John D. White and from Thurmont District, Harry W. Null.

Frederick By-Pass To Be Opened

Within two weeks the entire Frederick by-pass from the Baltimore National Pike east of Frederick to U. S. 15 near Harmony Grove north of the city will be thrown open to traffic on Tuesday, December 9, reliable sources indicate.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin will do the ribbon-cutting, one of his last official acts before his term ends the first of the year.

Paving of the whole by-pass has been completed, it was learned, and the firm of Richard F. Kline, Inc., which holds the last contract on the west-north leg, is working against time and ahead of schedule to complete the connections. It now appears certain this can be done.

Kline reportedly has finished the major interchange at the West Patrick Street by-pass bridge, along with the dual highway beneath the bridge. Traffic on West Patrick Street is now using both lanes from near the State Police Barracks eastward on Patrick to beyond the bridge.

Kline Friday was understood to be placing final touches on Motter Avenue interchange where this contract connects with that of Central Pennsylvania Contracting Company, builders of the last leg extending to near Harmony Grove with the dual lane spur to the Liberty Road. Central Pennsylvania finished some time ago.

Next week a spokesman for the Kline firm said, it is hoped to push blacktopping of a section of West Fourth Street extended beneath the by-pass bridge. This area has been closed to traffic for several weeks. Base course is down and some curb and gutter work is still under way.

The only segment that may not be completed is one of the ramps at the Fourth Street interchange. It may even be possible to surface that ramp with a weather break.

Opening of the by-pass is expected to clear the city of through traffic congestion on all routes leading into the community.

Lack Of Recreation Facilities Breeds Delinquency

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

So many people wonder why there are juvenile delinquents, it's because of lack of recreation. I'm sure if this town would have skating and dancing in the summer and winter there wouldn't be any such bad things going on. There is no teen center, even Taneytown and Thurmont have something for their teenagers and still delinquency is going on but not so much. But Emmitsburg has nothing to offer the teenagers, absolutely nothing. Couldn't there something be done for the teenagers?

Bishop Believed Prisoner Of Communists

A Mount St. Mary's College graduate, James E. Walsh, is believed to be a prisoner of the Chinese Communists it has been learned.

The United States consulate says it is trying to pin down an unconfirmed report that Bishop James E. Walsh of Cumberland, Md., the last American Catholic priest in Red China, has been arrested.

Official Catholic sources in Hong Kong said the last firsthand report on Bishop Walsh's whereabouts came from a traveler who called on him at his church Oct. 19.

James B. Pilcher, U. S. consul general, said that for two weeks he had been making inquiries without success about an unconfirmed report that the American priest had been taken into custody by Communist authorities.

The United States has no diplomatic ties with Red China. Inquiries usually are sent through the British, who have a consulate general in Shanghai.

Bishop Walsh, a native of Cumberland, is a graduate of Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg. He was consecrated a bishop in 1927 in China.

He is a brother of William C. Walsh, of Cumberland, former attorney general of Maryland.

St. Joseph's High School News

Wednesday night, the Junior class held a Mayflower Hop in the school auditorium. Thomas White was general chairman. Patricia Martins and her committee carried out the theme of the Pilgrims and Thanksgiving.

November 27, Thanksgiving Day, was also the feast of Our Lady of the Miraculous Medal. The sophomore class anticipated this feast by giving a playlet entitled, "The Three Visions." The scenes were laid in the Motherhouse of the Sisters of Charity, Rue du Bac, Paris, portraying the three apparitions which occurred there in 1830. Alice Sherwin was the narrator, Yvonne Henke, the Mother of God, Rita Remavege, Sister Catherine Laboure, Mary Ann Henshaw, the Angel. Carol Wenschhoff, Monica Warthen, Mary Ann Myers, Patricia Fowler, and Theresa Mason sang during the Tableaux, while Nancy Wetzel played the accompaniment. Stage managers were: Barbara Welty and William Henshaw. It was presented to the entire student body at assembly Tuesday.

Members of the various C.S.M.C. high school units that form the Blue Ridge Conference met at St. Joseph's High School recently. The president of St. Joseph's unit, Thomas Zurgable, conducted the program. Mary Louise Chesley of St. John's High School, Frederick, as president of the Blue Ridge Conference presided over the business meeting that followed. Each unit gave an account of its mission activities. Rev. James Twomey, C.M. pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg, welcomed the guests. Rev. John Trainor, C.M., gave the principal address on the Missions.

Monsignor Vaeth, archdiocesan director encouraged the members in the good works and Rev. Herbert Jordan, moderator, spoke to the students on their future activities. The students were urged to participate in the annual oratorical contest. Future events will be a Mission rally at St. John's, Westminster, in April, the spring semi-formal conference dance to be held at St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, and the oratorical contest. Benediction was given in St. Joseph's Church. This was followed by dancing and refreshments in the school auditorium. The next meeting of the Blue Ridge Conference will be held in Hagerstown. The Glee Club members under the direction of Rev. David W. Shaum, are faithfully practicing for a concert to be given December 21, entitled, "A New Year's Serenade."

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Psalm 100.

Be thankful unto him, and bless his name. (Psalm 100:4.)

The notice on the bulletin board stated that the post office would be closed on Thanksgiving Day. A man standing back of another in the office heard him mutter, "Thankful For What?"

Let us be thankful for our homes. Our homes are places of shelter and comfort, places of refuge from this busy life.

Let us be thankful for our families. Be thankful for someone to return that love. Be thankful for someone to care for and someone to return that care and concern. Be thankful for someone with whom to share both sunshine and sorrow.

Let us be thankful for sustenance—evidence of God's bounty and provision. God provides our food and raiment and other necessities of life.

Let us be thankful for our churches. They are temples of God, places where God's Word is preached, places where we can honor and worship Him.

Prayer

Our Father, grant that we may sincerely give thanks this day. Help us to develop a spirit of thanksgiving for all the gifts of life which Thou dost so bountifully give unto us. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day

Thanksgiving is good, but "thanks-giving" is better.

SOUP SAGA

First soup was probably mixture of grasses and herbs cooked in a gourd. First pottery? ... split gourd probably repaired with mud. Thus hard, crude crockery resulted.

Soup was among first foods to be canned, thanks to Napoleon who knew armies travel "on their stomachs" needing a sure supply of nourishment.

Luxury loving Louis XIV ordered his chef to create a soup so clear it would reflect his kingly countenance—and consomme was born! Today there are over 1,000 different soups throughout the world!

'ROUND THE CLOCK SOUP. Imaginative homemakers serve modern canned soups as a beverage—for breakfast, mid-morning and afternoon pick-ups, lunch, pre-dinner snack... even a late-evening drink before sleep.

Reserve Program Land To Be Inspected

Inspection of land on which applications for new Conservation Reserve contracts have been filed is now being made, according to Julius P. Parran, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. This inspection is one of the necessary steps before a contract to put land in the Conservation Reserve may be signed by an applicant.

All land offered for the Conservation Reserve must be checked to determine: (1) if it is eligible for the program; (2) if it is of average productivity for the farm; and (3) the exact acreage of land offered.

Since the number of acres offered for the program by applicants is greater than can be accepted for contracts in Md., the priority system is being used to determine which farmers will have an opportunity to sign contracts.

When the priority system is used, farmers who in 1958 had all their cropland in the Acreage Reserve and the Conservation Reserve together—and are now applying to put all the land in the Conservation Reserve—will be offered contracts first. The next priority is to farmers who offer land at less than the maximum rate established for their farms. The remaining applications (all at the established maximum rates) are then considered in order of the rate per acre, beginning with the lowest.

When land included in applications passes the inspection the contract is ready for the owner's signature.

There's a line on the ocean where you lose a day by crossing. There's one on most highways where you can do even better.

TOTS and TEENS

By Mrs. Joan Cameron

Autumn is an energetic time of the year for my children and many of their activities take place out-of-doors.

Bud and Jeff, our two boys, can manage to get over-heated even on a raw day while playing football. Nancy and Susan are more often spectators than participants in fall sports, and go to many an afternoon or evening football game during the brisk autumn season.

The one affliction they all share as a result of spending so much time out-of-doors is chapped lips. So, a standard item of fall pocket or pocketbook equipment in the Cameron family is Vaseline Lip-Ice Pomade. Morning and evening applications of this soothing, antiseptic lip balm keep our chapped lips under control and prevent them from developing nasty, raw sores.

The boys show other signs of their autumn energy in cuts, bruises and muscular strains collected on the football field so I always keep antiseptic, petroleum jelly and oil of wintergreen in good supply for the fall season.

The girls seldom call for first-aid treatment, but the brick, dry weather does have a bad effect on their hair which we counteract by a periodic hot oil hair shampoo and daily rubbing of the hair ends with a pure petrolatum hair tonic.

Aside from these minor problems, the autumn season is one of healthy enjoyment of the out-of-doors for the Cameron clan.

"ROLL YOUR OWN" ROOF

"Rolled a roof" lately? With a new corrugated steel roll roofing product it's almost as easy to roof a building as to lay down a rug. Nothing is left to human error—key instructions for making a tight roof are printed right on the metal itself!

The handy new roofing material, called Cecoroll, has been farm-tested for over two years. It is designed as a "do it yourself" product, for application by farmers and home-owners, as well as by professional roofers.

Manufactured by Ceco Steel Products Corporation, Chicago 50, Illinois, Cecoroll comes in long 31-ft. rolls, to cut installation time, and can be rolled on the roof purlins by two men. The nailing edge is crimped

Instead of corrugated, so it can be nailed flat against the wood. A lifetime factory-applied mastic sealer on the lap edge provides weather resistance.

Two new design improvements help the handyman get a tight job every time: (1) a printed gauge line assures that the right lap is obtained as each strip is nailed down, and (2) a scored groove in the crimped edge impresses itself into the mastic when nailed, sealing the roof.

A hammer and nails, and there you are!

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Politics

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 27 —While I was on the ocean returning from Africa, an important Congressional election took place. In looking over the new paper heading I find they range from "A blow to Eisenhower" "The GOP is dead." Of course, the election is a great disappointment to Mr. Eisenhower; but my statistics show that the GOP got 44% of the national vote. This is not too bad.

When The Democratic Party Was "Dead!"

Let me answer the second comment with a personal story. When I was Assistant Secretary of Labor during World War I, I became well acquainted with Cordell Hull, who later became Secretary of State. After the death of President Wilson, followed by the Republican landslide, Mr. Hull had no official position, but was chairman of the defunct Democratic committee. Before leaving Washington, I called on the man who was later to become Secretary of State. I found him in a tiny office of the Press Building. When I asked how things were going, he showed me a letter from the owners of the building stating that the rent of the office was over three months due and that, unless they received $50 immediately, Mr. Hull must get out. In regard for Mr. Hull I took $50 from my pocket and gave it to him for the rent.

I thought no more about this until I received an invitation to a dinner for the purpose of reviving the Democratic Party. Even then I thought nothing about it until Mr. Hull called me to the platform and introduced me to the audience as "Roger W. Babson, who saved the Democratic Party." He then told the above story. This was only a few years before the Democratic Party again swept the country and elected Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had it under control for going on four terms. The same situation could easily repeat itself for the GOP.

Russia Must Be Happy

As I have mentioned in my column many times, I do not expect a shooting war. I believe, however, that Russia has planned an intensive economic war and that the recent recession marked the beginning of it. Even today, though feeling is much better in this country, we have statistically a large number of unemployed. Therefore, our drift toward inflation and socialism must make Russia very happy.

Unfortunately, being in Africa I did not hear the addresses of the successful Democratic candidates. An analysis of the returns indicates that the election was a great victory for the union labor leaders. Not only was the "Right to Work" proposal snowed under, but this was after the investigations of the Teamster's Union and of other union mis-doings. Why the stock market should have gone up in view of the election is beyond me. We are feeling better only as a man does when he takes a "highball."

What It All Means

My greatest surprise has been talking this past week with businessmen, manufacturers, and even bankers. Their explanation of the election was, unanimously, the taxes which we are compelled to pay. They recognize that President Eisenhower is a good man, with high ideals and that he is trying hard to do right, but feel that he is not "practical." Of course, this is weak reasoning.

It seems as if the independent American voters are getting tired physically, mentally, and even spiritually. This group (about 10% of the voters) consists of intelligent independent Civil Defense Day will be observed this year on December 7, it was announced today by Sherry Ewing, Director of the Maryland Civil Defense Agency and L. H. Crickenberger, Civil Defense Director of Frederick County.

Emphasis for the day's observance will be on home and self protection said Director Crickenberger. He said that County Pastors were being asked to discuss Civil Defense from their pulpits that day.

Director Crickenberger, also said that attention is being directed to the many courses offered by Civil Defense in Frederick County and by the great variety of literature available for free distribution by Civil Defense.

Treasury Department Warns Against Bond "Chain"

The U. S. Treasury is cautioning the public against the current rash of Savings Bonds "chain letter" schemes.

"U. S. Savings Bonds themselves are an absolutely safe investment, free from elements of risk because the principal and interest are fully guaranteed by our Government," Mr. Ormond R. Galvin, State Savings Bonds Director said this week. "However, these schemes for acquiring Savings Bonds 'for nothing' are a risky gamble."

He said that "the Post Office Department's experience with endless chain schemes over a period of many years is that most participants lose their entire investment. This outcome is inevitable because the supply of interested persons is soon exhausted. The greater the amount to be invested, the sooner the saturation point is reached.

"Some organizers of the new 'chain letter' plans imply that the Government and banks approve of the idea in order to increase Bond sales," Mr. Galvin continued. "This is not true. The Treasury Department, through the Federal Reserve Bank, has instructed banks and other issuing agencies to reject applications for the purchase of Savings Bonds where the applicant states, or where the issuing agent has reason to believe, that the Bonds will be used in the chain letter scheme."

He reported the Treasury's stand was taken more than two years ago when the chain-letter device involving Savings Bonds was first brought to its attention. The scheme, then as now, was felt to be contrary to the Government's intended purpose in selling Savings Bonds to the public.

"Savings Bonds are issued primarily for the purpose of enabling individuals and families to save safely and regularly for important long-range goals," Mr. Galvin said. "The Treasury wants to sell as many Bonds to as many Americans as possible—but always within the framework of thrift, and not as a vehicle for this or any other 'get-rich-quick' scheme."

Famous Statuettes On Display

The second largest collection in America of John Rogers' famous statuettes has been placed on display at unique Pioneer Village, located at Minden, Nebraska, on U.S. Highway 6 and U.S. 34.

Rogers, a self-taught artist who has sometimes been called the father of American sculpture, turned out 80 groups between 1859 and 1893. Each was an intimate, sometimes humorous, glimpse of American life.

The group at right above shows the glee of a farm boy who has just beaten a visitor from the city at a game of checkers. At left is Rogers' conception of the famous John Alden-Priscilla Mullins "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?" scene.

Rogers modeled his groups in clay and, because of their fragility, comparatively few remain in existence. Pioneer Village has 50 of them.

The village, built by Chicago manufacturer Harold Warp as a memorial to his parents and other pioneers of the West, comprises 20 buildings housing 20,000 items showing the course of American life from 1830 to the present. It has been visited by thousands of people from all over the world.

New Plan Undergoes Tests

House Proves Its Comfort, Economy

A home without comfort is no home at all, regardless of its size, cost, or beauty.

This is one of the ideas kept in mind by the editors of House Beautiful's Building Manual in choosing 30 new house plans for its Fall-Winter edition.

The house plan at right is one of a number of these that were designed specifically for all-weather comfort in all parts of the country. Costs of building and annual operation were calculated in three cities representing different climate zones—Dallas, South; Indianapolis, Central; and Minneapolis, North (See table.)

The studies showed that spending $342 for extra thick mineral wool insulation—6 inches in the ceiling and 3 inches in the walls—made it possible to equip the house with adequate air conditioning and heating equipment, and to operate both systems in all three cities for far less than the costs of equipment and operation with minimum amounts of insulation used by most builders.

The thick mineral wool cuts these costs by reducing the heating and cooling load on the house, permitting the use of smaller, less expensive equipment that operates for less.

The house, a large, L-shaped ranch-style with 2,034 square feet of living space, has three bedrooms, a 22-foot living room, separate dining room, and a 20 by 13-foot activities room adjacent to kitchen with breakfast nook.

From outside, the house looks long and streamlined. This is because horizontal lines were stressed by the imaginative use of casement and double-hung windows of ponderosa pine, the wide chimney, and the two-car garage.

The architects specified asphalt shingles on the roof in a light color. These not only add to summer comfort by reflecting the sun's heat, but keep the low house from looking too squat. A light color on the roof tends to give a house height.

Further information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Stock Plan Department, House Beautiful's Building Manual, 572 Madison Ave., New York 20, N. Y. Refer to Plan R-3230.

	DALLAS		INDIANAPOLIS		MINNEAPOLIS
Insulation	Minimum	Thick	Minimum	Thick	Minimum	Thick
Furnace Size in Btu's	144,500	112,500	158,700	122,300	145,900	104,200
Air Conditioner Size in Btu's	48,000	34,400	41,800	29,900	36,600	24,700
Equipment Cost Year 'Round	$ 2050	$ 1725	$ 2000	$ 1625	$ 1950	$ 1475
Insulation Cost (Installed)	$ 116	$ 342	$ 116	$ 342	$ 116	$ 342
Operation Cost Year 'Round	$ 372	$ 273	$ 332	$ 251	$ 342	$ 243
Construction Cost Difference	$ 99 less		$ 149 less		$ 249 less
Annual Savings in Operation	$ 99		$ 81		$ 99

Results of calculations for House Beautiful's Building Manual Plan R-3230 shows how extra-thick mineral wool insulation saves money on air conditioning and heating equipment and operation of both in three cities representing three climate zones.

Social Security Changes Listed

Some important new changes have been made in the social security law regarding dependent parents.

Parents must still meet the relationship requirements. Also, they must establish that they were receiving at least one-half of their support from the son or daughter at the time of the child's death. Or, the parent must have been dependent on the son or daughter at the time the child's benefit, in some cases, if he became disabled.

The parent may now become entitled to monthly benefits although his son or daughter was survived by a widow, widower, or dependent child.

This change in the law applies when death of the son or daughter occurred any time after 1939. A parent who remarries may now continue to receive his par-marries a person also entitled to certain monthly payments.

Parents who believe these changes apply to them should get in touch with their social security office as soon as possible because payments cannot begin until an application is filed.

Those who violate the law should not object to the penalty.

EDUCATION PROGRAM

Will Racketeers Rule Us?

Will a labor union boss who has surrounded himself with notorious ex-convicts, racketeers and thugs become the most powerful man in America over the nation's economic life? Senator John L. McClellan, chairman of the Senate committee investigating racketeering in labor-management relations, has presented this question to the people of America. The answer must come from them, he believes. Either they remain apathetic and permit labor racketeers to take over the nation, or they get busy and break up one of the greatest dangers to our freedom and prosperity.

Senator McClellan says that the case at point at the moment is the Teamsters union, already the biggest single labor organization in the nation. The leader of this union, he notes, has already begun work to combine all the transport unions into one big organization. This would give the leadership more power over the economic life of our nation than the entire government exercises. It would place power in the hands of these labor leaders sufficient to destroy the entire American way of life.

Most Powerful Organization

One of the transport unions to be combined with the Teamsters, under plans announced by the Teamsters leaders, would be the longshoremen headed by Harry Bridges, who twice has been ordered deported because of alleged Communist activities but who has each time been restored to power by U. S. Supreme Court decisions. Another strategic organization in the combine would be the east coast Maritime union which has been shot through with Communists for years. Ultimately the plan calls for absolute control over every phase of American commerce, and with it would go the power to paralyze the nation in time of war.

About the only approach to safeguarding the nation against racketeer control of these big unions is through federal legislation. Senator McClellan said that he introduced one bill in Congress this year—as a starter in a contemplated series of bills to cope with some of the labor abuses—but that it died . . . perhaps because of influence on Congress by a few who wanted it killed, and certainly because of public apathy.

Power Through Politics

There is another potential danger in the labor movement. When unions which are controlled by Communists or disguised Socialists exercise their vast powers to take over control of political organizations, they pose a grave threat to our American way of life. A few years ago the Detroit Free Press reported that a well-known labor union, directed by a widely publicized leader, had seized control of the machinery of one of the major political parties in Detroit by gangster methods at the district conventions. The newspaper reported:

"In all but one district, the caucuses were marked by sluggings and the Communist techniques of beating down opposition by violence. The (union's political arm) brought back to Michigan the sit-down strike methods which had been disavowed in labor disputes, and applied them to government. The goon squads took over, and the gavel, that traditional symbol of orderly parliamentary procedure, was discarded for the sawed-off baseball bat. In all but one district—the 16th—there was near rioting as the strong-arm squads took over. Delegates representing the old line . . . (major party) elements were beaten and thrown bodily out of the halls by the shock-troop goon squads."

Dangers Confronting U. S. Decent, wholesome labor organizations, operated for the benefit of the rank and file members, to improve their working conditions and their living standards in orderly negotiations, have won a respected place in our way of life. But there are terrible dangers in those which have been seized by racketeers out for personal financial gains, and by labor politicians seeking personal political power, who want to remake America on the pattern of the Socialist-Labor Welfare States of Europe or the full-fledged proletariat dictatorship of Russia.

America is confronted today with a few powerful racketeer-ridden labor unions threatening to vastly extend their powers over the lives of all citizens; and by some labor politicians who at any time may become the dominant power in the political life of the nation determined to reshape America into some form of Socialism. This situation demands that every

TB Outlook Is Optimistic After Recent Revelations

Optimism over recent reports concerning the discovery of an anti-tuberculosis vaccine in North Carolina must be limited, it was stated this week by Frank T. Jones, Executive Director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn.

Mr. Jones was commenting on a project conducted by research scientists in Chapel Hill. The researchers have been experimenting with a new vaccine called R1Rv and have indicated that it is safe and reasonably effective.

"However," Mr. Jones stated, "the number of people vaccinated has not been sufficient nor has sufficient time elapsed for the vaccine to be evaluated. We do not know or better than any other know at present whether it is as vaccine. Encouraging as this news is, it is absolutely wrong to say there is an anti-tuberculosis vaccine. A minimum of six more years or research may prove something; or it may not."

"In any case," Mr. Jones continued, "the important thing now is to remind everybody that this research, and considerably more TB research is supported by the annual sale of Christmas Seals. People in every state are buying Christmas Seals and are thereby paying for these projects. The setback is that there aren't enough people buying Christmas Seals. Our campaign is already lagging behind last year's campaign. Just as with everything else, you might say the price of research has gone up. We need money for our projects going on right in Baltimore. Among these are the air pollution project at the Veterans Administration Hospital. These projects may ultimately change the design of communicable disease wards. There's also the educational program at Johns Hopkins Hospital. There, qualified hospital personnel are learning more about tuberculosis. And we give grants to doctors and nurses so they may attend tuberculosis educational projects in other states. If our Christmas Seal Sale goes down, our help in the fight against TB goes down, too. We have now until Christmas to convince people that they should buy and use Christmas Seals. We need everybody's help."

The only organ in the world, playing music of concert quality on the stone formation in a cave, is located in Luray Caverns, Va.

When I am right, no one remembers. When I am wrong, no one forgets.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

If you're thinking of buying a dog, your best bet is a gun dog, states Henry P. Davis, Sporting Dogs Editor of Eports Afield Magazine. The versatility of the sporting breeds as a whole is, to many who have had experience with other breeds, a rather unbelievable quality. Yet, in the final analysis, a sporting dog is still a dog just like any other canine. True he has been bred and usually trained for a specific purpose, but he will generally adapt himself to most any task his master sets for him.

In the realm of sporting dogs intended for upland game and waterfowl hunting, the tyro prospective dog owner has such a wide choice it tends to become confusing. But in the 24 breeds, and varieties within the breeds, he should be able to find at least one individual dog that will fill his every requirement.

The list of upland-game specialists includes the English setter, Irish setter, black-and-tan Gordon setter, German short-haired pointer, the Brittany spaniel, the Weimaraner and the Vizsla (yellow pointer of Hungary).

The waterfowl hunter has less numbers to choose from: the Chesapeake Bay retriever, the Labrador and the golden retrievers, the American water spaniel and the Irish water spaniel.

Another group of specialists that holds high favor with the American sporting public is the spaniel family. This group includes the English springer spaniel, the English cocker spaniel and the American cocker spaniel. The special characteristic of these dogs is the fact that they flush or "spring" their game rather than point it.

For the hunter who prefers ground game of the furred variety, there are also a number of breeds. This is the hound family. Included are the beagle (by far the most popular), the basset, the foxhound strains and the coonhound strains.

When one reviews the sporting dogs area with more than a casual eye, he can readily understand that there are many breeds that he can profitably choose for practically any type of hunting—and get a welcome companion for his home besides.
