RY ABIGAIL

The recent holidays were mostly happy ones which will remain pleasant memories for the majority of us. However, elsewhere across the nation the holidays will not be pleasant memories but horrible nightmares causing anguish for years to come. I have reference to the frightful traffic slaughter which snuffed out the lives of exactly 594 victims. These were killed by automobiles alone, all of them I'd venture to say, needlessly. While seemingly high it was a comparatively low figure considering the Christmas season of 1956 when a record of almost 700 killed was established. There seems to be no effective way in which to terminate this frightful slaughter of human beings. No amount of caution seems effective. I could be wrong here though. Perhaps our warnings are heeded but we have no way of knowing. I imagine though if we weren't warned to take it easy the death toll might easily rise to over 1,000, so perhaps the admonitions set forth are a bit effective after all. One way to stop this annual slaying would be to start a campaign to make it popular to stay at home during the holidays instead of making visits to relatives in distant towns and cities.

With the holidays behind us now we face a new year, one which will confront us with many problems. I predict great strides in the scientific field of space rockets. One big corporation already is experimenting with rockets to send mail to any part of the world via rockets, in a matter of minutes and it is highly possible that one of these gadgets will bounce off the moon this year, possibly with a human cargo.

On the local front this year will be a new road which will complete the entire stretch from Emmitsburg to our neighbors, Thurmont . . . and within a few short months the town will have completed its new sewerage system. Confronting Emmitsburgians and most Marylanders will be another increase in the cost of living. The new sales tax of 3% is effective right now. County and town taxes have been increased and a number of landlords raised their rental fees. All this slowly but surely has its effect on local citizens.

Looking at the national scene we are happy to welcome Alaska into the Union as the 49th State and in the near future a new flag will be designed. Undoubtedly our next welcome addition to the family will be Hawaii, unless California divides itself into north and south factions. There is some sentiment in that state to sever it into two sections but I don't believe it has reached such a degree that anything will happen in the near future, if ever.

Good news reached Emmitsburg last week that the beatification of Mother Seton to sainthood has been officially proposed to Pope John XXIII. We have no way of knowing whether the Beloved Mother will ever be elevated to sainthood but should it ever occur it will be the biggest thing that ever hit this small town.

Has Registered Bull

Hominy Hill Marquis, registered Guernsey bull, owned by Harry B. Weber, Emmitsburg, has become a Summarized Sire, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club. To attain this distinction, a bull must have at least 10 daughters with official production records.

"Marquis", has 10 tested daughters that have made 20 official records. Their average production is 8,851 pounds of milk and 459 pounds of fat, when converted to a twice-daily milking, 305-day mature equivalent net basis.

This fine Guernsey bull was bred by H. D. Mercer, Freehold, N. J. This bull's sire was Coronation King of Pine Manor and it's dam was McDonald Farms Blueblood, that posted an official production record of 14,068 pounds of milk and 775 pounds of fat.

"Marquis", also has five of his registered daughters classified with an average rating of desirable.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rodgers and son, Baltimore, spent the holidays visiting Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Topper and family and Mrs. Thornton Rodgers.

Beatification Of Mother Seton Presented Pope

Another step forward in the cause of the beatification of Mother Seton was made this week when the case was officially proposed by Pope John XXIII.

The cause for beatification was read to the Pontiff, seated on his throne at the consistory for new cardinals at the Roman Catholic Church.

The American nun's cause now goes to the Vatican's Congregation of Rites for a decision. If beatified, Mother Seton will be the first native born American to attain this high honor.

In their prayers from time to time more than 800 Sisters of Charity assigned to Seton Hill Motherhouse, Pittsburgh, Pa., say a fervent word for the sainthood of Elizabeth Bayley Seton.

Mother Seton founded the order which has spread from coast to coast. She is also regarded as the creator of the parochial school system in this country.

Her cause was first presented at the Holy See more than 50 years ago. It was brought up again during the Consistory of Cardinals just concluded in Rome.

A child of the Revolutionary War, she would be the first American-born saint. Her life was a paradox of wealth and position, heart-breaking tragedy and poverty. She bore five children to William Seton, son of a prosperous New York shipping firm owner before launching the sisterhood that spread her works to the corners of the country.

The Motherhouse at Greensburg, Pa., is the seat of one of seven branches of the Charity order in this country. Each is completely autonomous. Seton Hill branch is the youngest, starting in 1870. In all, there are over 10,000 Sisters of Charity today. Sisters from Seton Hill operate the college there. They also staff 10 high schools, 43 grammar schools, two kindergartens, a nursery school and share teaching assignments in four more high schools.

These are spread through the Dioceses of Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Altoona, Johnstown, Tucson, Ariz., Lafayette, La., and the Archdiocese of Baltimore, Washington and Los Angeles.

In addition to school work they operate Pittsburgh Hospital, Rosalia Foundling and Maternity Hospital and Providence Hospital at Beaver Falls. In February they will move into the new Jeannette District Memorial Hospital.

Also on their assignments are the McGuire Convalescent Home in New Brighton, the House of Mary Social Service Center in the Hill District and DePaul Institute in Brookline.

Their simple black garb—nursing sisters wear white on duty—isn't much different today from that worn by Mother Seton when she launched the order at Emmitsburg, Md., in 1809.

It marked a full swing in life's pendulum for the daughter of a prominent New York physician, Dr. Richard Bayley. She saw British red coats occupy the city, became one of its most enchanting belles, married well, and then suffered family tragedy with the death of her husband, and finally poverty.

An Episcopalian, she embraced the Catholic faith after the death of her husband in Italy on Dec. 27, 1803. Even before that, rampant piracy on the seas had dwindled their shipping fortune.

A Catholic college president in Baltimore offered her some land to begin a religious school for girls. She moved to Emmitsburg in 1809 where she opened what became the first motherhouse of the Charity order and there took her vows of poverty, chastity and obedience.

Evidence of at least one miracle—the recovery of a hopeless cancer victim—has been attributed to Mother Seton. The laws of canonization demand four.

Members of her order are hopeful, however, that the miraculous spread and growth of the Sisters of Charity and the works which they have accomplished in caring for the sick and needy will speed the cause of sainthood for Mother Seton.

Christmas Day visitors at the home of Mrs. Charles P. Keepers, N. Seton Ave., included Mr. and Mrs. George Rohrbaugh and son, Fairfield; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Keepers and family, Taneytown; and Mrs. James Nickoles and daughter, Westminster.

Slow down—the man in a hurry always passes up more opportunities than he catches up with.

Will Probated

Register of Wills Thomas M. Eicheberger reported this week the probating of the will of the late Harvey Clem. The report involved the administration of the accounts of Bessie Clem and Harvey T. Clem by Anna R. Burrier, administratrix, reported December 22.

The total estate in this case was $7,956.48 including the sale of real estate, cash received and the sale of personal property. The net estate after all disbursements amounted to $2,677.04.

This amount was further reduced to $2,650.26 by estate taxes and this balance was distributed equally among the heirs, Margaret M. Saylor, Anna R. Burrier and Harvey Clem Jr., children of the deceased.

Rocky Ridge Fire Causes Damage

A mysterious fire in a mattress at the Robert L. Horman home at Rocky Ridge caused approximately $500 damage before being discovered by the family on Christmas morning.

The Rocky Ridge Volunteer Fire Company received the call about 12:30 a. m. Christmas day, a spokesman for the company said.

It was reported that the mattress in a spare room was smoldering and caused a considerable amount of smoke. It was said that no one in the family smokes therefore the cause of the fire is undetermined.

The Rocky Ridge firemen were at the scene for approximately an hour and a half the spokesman added. The Guardian Hose Company of Thurmont was also called to the scene.

Damage caused by the fire was reportedly covered by insurance.

Brewery Aids Baltimore Colts

Checks totaling twenty-five thousand dollars will soon be distributed to the world-champion Baltimore Colt pro football team and their coaches, it was announced this week by Jerold C. Hoffberger, president of the National Brewing Co.

Presentation of the checks, Mr. Hoffberger said, is a gesture of appreciation for the acclaim which the Colts have brought the City of Baltimore as world champions and for the "unmatched sports enjoyment which they have given their fans."

"Something wonderful happened in Baltimore this year," Mr. Hoffberger added, "and people throughout the United States are cognizant of the amazing fan support which this team has sparked."

"Achieving the pro football crown was realized through the sense of personal responsibility assumed by each member of the organization and the teamwork needed to win. We are delighted at being able to show them our appreciation in this way," he added.

On March 4, 1833, "Cactus Jack" lighted a cigar as speaker of the House and finished it as vice president and presiding officer of the Senate. The World Book Encyclopedia's research department says he adjourned the House, walked across the Capitol to the Senate, and was immediately sworn in as vice president.

AUTOS DEMOLISHED

A collision occurred at 7:45 o'clock last Wednesday evening when James A. Wagerman, S. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg, driving south on S. Washington St., Gettysburg, was struck by a north-bound auto driven by Tom L. Brown, Gettysburg R1, police reported. Brown will be charged with a motor code violation. Both vehicles were demolished.

EHS Cagers Enjoy Good Season

Coach John Weaver's "Liners" at Emmitsburg High School, finished the basketball games before the holidays with a 5-0 record.

The JV's ended up with a 4-1 record losing only to Walkersville. The varsity "Liners" are averaging 58 points per game, against 32.2 points for the opposition. The big game for the locals was the recent 60-52 victory over Walkersville, breaking the 'Lions' 83-game winning streak.

Leading scorer for the Liners is Morris Zentz with a 19.1 average, his biggest effort 29 points against Walkersville. Zentz is followed by Humerick (13.2) and Umble (12.2). Norman Shriver has been controlling the boards in all games thus far, and has displayed outstanding defense along with Jack White. A big aid in the Liners' victories is the 70 per cent shooting from the foul line. The Liners return to action on January 6th facing Thurmont.

President Of Heart Associaton To Speak

The President of the American Heart Association will keynote the 1959 Heart Fund campaign in Maryland.

Dr. Francis L. Chamberlain of San Francisco will be the principal speaker at the Annual Heart Fund Kickoff Luncheon traditionally sponsored by the Advertising Club of Baltimore.

Last year, when Heart President Dr. Robert W. Wilkins of Boston spoke more than 800 city and state business leaders and Heart Association workers attended.

Dr. Chamberlain, who took his national Heart post in October, has been associated with the program of the American Heart Association for the past decade. He is a past-president of both the California and San Francisco Heart Associations. He is an Associate Clinical Professor of Medicine, University of California School of Medicine, San Francisco.

Shorb Draws Additional Time

Daniel Francis Shorb Jr., 31, Thurmont R2, was sentenced to from 11 to 23 months in the Allegeny County Workhouse after a 43-day sentence he is now serving in the Adams County jail is completed.

Shorb had led police in a chase then rammed a police car and escaped by running into a woods. On a second "go around" about a month later he also led police a merry chase and finally was captured after he had abandoned his car and ran into a woods near Hunterstown. The 43 days were various jail sentences imposed as a result of the speeding, and other charges brought in connection with the chases. The 11 to 23 months was on the hit-and-run charge brought for ramming the police car and then fleeing.

According to The World Book Encyclopedia, Henry Clay is credited with first using the plea of "temporary insanity" to save an accused man from the death sentence.

First Wife Contesting Boyle Will

The squabble over the estate of multi-millionaire Albert J. Boyle by two women whom he married came before Judge Melvin Snyder in Charles Town, W. Va., Monday.

Attorneys for Mrs. Helene Boyle of Charles Town, his second wife, pleaded in Jefferson County Circuit Court that the suit of Mrs. Louise Boyle of Baltimore should be tossed out.

When Boyle died in 1957 he named Mrs. Helene Boyle the beneficiary of his estate and made her executrix.

Mrs. Louise Boyle claims he never obtained a valid divorce from her and that as a result she is the legal widow entitled to a share of one-third of the estate which would be some 1 1/2 million dollars. A divorce action was taken in Hot Springs, Ark. in 1933.

Lawyers for Mrs. Helene Boyle argued that the plaintiff's petition was not founded on sound principles of law.

After hearing arguments for counsel from both sides, Judge Snyder said he would take the matter under advisement. A decision is not expected for about 30 days.

Children born during the first marriage also have filed two suits challenging validity of the will.

Hartdagen, Beegle Homes Contest Winners

Judges of Emmitsburg's Christmas decorating contest were hard-pressed for a decision as to the winners in both the commercial and residential classes Tuesday night when the awarding of prizes was made. So varied and many were the exhibits that it took lengthy deliberation on the part of the judges before they could arrive at what they believed was a justifiable decision.

The judges of the contest were D. Saylor Weybright, manager of the Thurmont Cooperative, Inc., Cletus Mayer and Luther Everly, Gettysburg. They were escorted about the community by Cloyd W. Seiss and Guy A. Baker Jr., members of the Chamber of Commerce's decorating contest committee.

First place in the commercial category went to Dr. D. L. Beegle; second to the American Legion Home and third to the Vigilant Hose Company.

In the residential class Vincent L. Hartdagen was awarded the top honors while Edward Smith Sr. and Donald Stoner took second and third place respectively. The first place winners will receive checks from the Chamber of Commerce for $12.50; second place winners, $7.50 and third $5.

So competitive was the contest and so numerous were the participants that the judges felt it only fitting and proper that many should receive honorable mentions for their excellent displays. The judges based their decisions on the following points: theme, continuity of theme, effort, taste, expense, time consumed in placing arrangements and good taste.

Churches, schools and colleges were not entered in competition but several had attractive displays. Those receiving honorable mention were: Sperry's Garage, Irelan's Restaurant, Ralph Hatter, Clarence Hahn, Roger Zurgable, Lumen Norris and Quinn Topper.

Many residents had excellent decorations but were not at home or neglected to turn their lights on during the judging thereby being eliminated from competition. Judges do not consider unlighted exhibits in the judging.

SUGAR STOCKS

There are two situations this year which may have a significant effect on the sugar industry: The revolution in Cuba and the Berlin crisis.

In Cuba there has been a great deal of destruction wrought by the Castro rebel forces in Oriente and Camaguey Provinces from which comes almost half of the total Cuban sugar supply. Enough of the communication systems in these Provinces has been destroyed so that there may be some difficulty in shipping sugar to ports. Furthermore, grinding of the new sugar crop is scheduled to get under way shortly and many of the mills have not been properly maintained and consequently may not be able to operate immediately. Assuming that any substantial portion of Cuban sugar production is curtailed, the price of world sugar may experience a significant rise.

Although it is difficult to forecast what the final outcome may be, events are shaping up in Berlin which indicate the possibility of an international crisis sometime in the next few months. This will be the third such crisis experienced within the past two years, the first being when the British landed troops in the Suez area and the second when America landed troops in Lebanon. The first one appeared critical and as a result world sugar prices advanced sharply while the Lebanon crisis was short-lived and only resulted in a modest rise in the price of world sugar.

Therefore it would seem likely that any international crisis caused by the Berlin situation would also result in an increase in the price of world sugar, the extent of which would be dependent on the severity of the crisis.

From the investor's point of view, the significance of the price of world sugar lies in its effect on individual sugar stocks. For example, a statistical study reveals that some of the Puerto Rican, Hawaiian and Cuban sugar stocks have risen in market value at the same time as the world price of sugar increased. Currently it would be rather dangerous to rely on investing in Cuban sugar stocks in view of the difficulties they are experiencing due to the revolution taking place there. In fact, at the present time we are recommending the sale of Cuban sugar stocks. On the other hand, the Puerto Rican and Hawaiian companies are more interesting because not only would they benefit from any rise in the world price of sugar, but marketwise they might benefit should a substantial portion of the Cuban sugar production be curtailed.

Recognizing that sugar stocks always fall in the "businessman's risk" category, we feel that South Porto Rico Sugar, in spite of its bad earnings showing in 1958, and Central Aguirre appear to be promising purchases at the present time. On a more speculative basis Pajardo Eastern and Oahu Sugar are worthy of consideration.

In looking over the domestic sugar companies it is our feeling that Great Western Sugar, the largest sugar beet producer in this country, is perhaps the best investment with a fairly generous yield now and with the possibility of a dividend increase if earnings improve as expected. Furthermore, the stock could be a medium for moderate capital appreciation.

In the final analysis, the sugar situation at the present time is an interesting one and the key to its future lies in what takes place in Cuba. However, it seems reasonable to expect higher sugar prices in the coming months as no immediate solution for the Cuban conflict is in sight and with these higher prices, appreciation in certain selected sugar stocks.

Domestic Employers Must Pay Social Security

Employers of domestic or household workers must pay a social security tax to the Internal Revenue Service for any employee to whom they pay $50 or more in cash wages during a calendar quarter. The contribution rate for 1958 is 4 1/2% if wages paid (21 1/4 per cent deducted from the wages and 2 1/4 per cent paid by the employer). For the calendar quarter ending December 31, 1958, the due date for these taxes is on or before January 31, 1959. Beginning with January, 1959, the employer - employee social security tax will be 2 1/2% each.

In making this announcement, W. S. King, District Manager of the Hagerstown Social Security

Office, noted that there has been some confusion as to just what is a calendar quarter. King explained that there are four calendar quarters in a year. January, February, and March being the first quarter; April, May and June the second; July, August, and September the third; and October, November, and December the last calendar quarter of the year.

"Only cash wages of domestic employees count for social security purposes," King said. "This would mean that the value of such things as room and board would not be counted as wages for social security purposes. If cash wages of less than $50 are paid to a domestic worker in a calendar quarter then no report is made for that individual for that particular quarter, and no social security tax has to be paid."

Mr. King stated that it is the responsibility of the employer to see that the tax returns are filed. The worker should obtain a social security card and report the number to his employer so that it can be shown correctly on the tax returns.

Employers of household workers who are not receiving the form for making the tax report are urged to contact the nearest social security office or Internal Revenue Service office to further information. Ask for a copy of the leaflet "Do You Have a Maid?" This leaflet explains how to get the form and make the report.

Wheat Marketing Quotas Unchanged

The wheat marketing quota program and regulations have not been changed by a recent Texas court case which received considerable publicity in this area, according to information received by the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office from the Department of Agriculture.

In the case in question—a civil suit to collect marketing quota penalties—a Federal judge held that if all wheat produced on a farm is used or consumed on the farm, there is no farm marketing excess subject to penalty. The government is appealing this decision to the U. S. Supreme Court.

"The law provides," ASC Chairman Julius P. Parran said, "that all excess wheat is considered available for marketing and is subject to penalty, regardless of how it is used. The courts have previously upheld this provision, but in the Texas case the court ruled that this interpretation is unconstitutional. This is not a final decision. Pending a ruling by the Supreme Court, we have been directed to continue to carry out the wheat marketing quota program just the same as in the past."

Atlas Missile Tops In World

The air force's talking satellite has proved that the United States can match—and even excel—Russia in throwing its weight around.

According to the research department of the World Book Encyclopedia, the Atlas has boosted the total weight of American satellites launched to more than 8,900 pounds—more than twice the weight of Russia's three Sputniks put together.

The four-ton Atlas, which blasted off from Cape Canaveral on Dec. 18, is a far cry from America's first satellites, which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev dubbed "oranges."

The army's Explorer I, which was launched last January, weighed 30.8 pounds. The tiny Vanguard I, which followed in March, weighed a mere 3½ pounds. The United States now has 8,970 pounds of earth satellites whirling around the globe, including Explorers I and IV and Vanguard I. Explorer II never orbited, and Explorer III burned up after three months.

Russia has only Sputnik III, which tips the scales at a little less than 1½ tons, or 2,925 pounds. The Atlas is the longest as well as the fattest baby moon of the space age. It is 85 ft. long, compared with Sputnik III's 11½ feet.

BABSON'S BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL FORECAST FOR 1959

By Roger W. Babson

1. Not too good and not too bad. Both the boom and the recent recession will be awaiting developments following the recent November elections.

2. 1959 will be a "do nothing" year for Congress. Both parties will hold their cards close to their chests until 1960, when the Republicans will want good business.

Most Democrats will vote for most of the inflationary legislation; but only a few of these Congressmen will vote for such legislation over the President's veto. The Democrats will be in a dilemma. In their hearts they will not want good business in 1960; but they must be very careful not to do anything which could be held against them in 1960.

Every act of Rockefeller's and of other leading Presidential candidates of both parties will be carefully scrutinized to analyze their vote-getting possibilities for 1960. We will comment on these possibilities in our Forecast for 1960 a year from now.

3. So long as Russia is fearful of China's loyalty, she will not intentionally start a shooting war. I hope that Chiang Kai-shek will come to his senses so that China will become an ally of the United States. Marshall surely bet on the "wrong horse" when he made his report to Truman.

4. Our national budget will show a heavy deficit in 1959. This and other factors should cause a continued gradual, although not dangerous, inflation.

5. Serious competition will continue at all levels in 1959. Manufacturers, merchants, and others who reduce advertising and other selling appropriations will surely suffer.

6. Despite competition, the profits squeeze will be eased for many concerns by strenuous cost-cutting programs and improving business.

7. More foreign goods will enter the United States during 1959. This especially applies to German, Italian, Japanese, and Russian goods.

8. New cargo ships, built in Japan, England, Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Italy, will be launched in 1959. This should result in most American-built and American-registered ships operating at a loss. More subsidies will be demanded.

9. Failures may not increase during 1959. Some big corporations, now listed in the Dow-Jones Averages, may get in financial difficulties.

10. Federal cost-of-living figures will be disputed in 1959. Labor rates and wages which have been tied to the Federal Tables will be disputed by both Labor and Management.

11. On the basis of the above statements, I forecast, on the average, no wide change in 1959 for commodity prices. The recent recession is not over. Russia is still fighting us with an economic war.

12. There will be more strikes and labor troubles in '59 than in 1958. Due to fear of unfavorable labor legislation and poor business conditions, labor leaders were on their good behavior in 1958.

13. It is now difficult to forecast the unemployment situation for 1959. Owing to the increase of automation, working forces will continue to be cut. Looking ahead to the elections of 1960, manufacturers, who are mostly Republicans, will want no more serious unemployment to occur.

14. Many plans for expansion of plants were postponed during 1958 for fear of a real depression. Some of these plans will be executed in 1959, although on a more moderate scale.

There will be a need for continued economic readjustment in 1959; but the playing of politics by both parties may temporarily postpone it.

15. 1959 will not see any marked change in money rates. However, borrowers who have not established good credit will continue to find it difficult to get new funds in 1959.

16. This means that it should be more difficult, on average, to sell long-term bonds in 1959 than in 1958. But only non-callable serial bonds or bonds of reasonably short maturities.

17. The supply of non-taxable state, municipal, and revenue bonds will increase during 1959. This will be due both to less readily available credit and to rising needs of municipalities.

18. The "fly-in-the-ointment" will be the uncertainty of the Federal policy regarding the new $30,000,000,000 roadbuilding program. Will it compete with or protect toll roads recently built? I believe this program will not harm outstanding Turnpike Bonds.

19. Many investors will switch from stocks into bonds in 1959, thus obtaining both higher income and better security.

20. As inflation becomes more serious, only short-term bond issues—other than convertible bonds—should be held to maturity. Bonds should no longer be considered good "permanent" investments unless they are non-taxable or convertible on a reasonable basis.

21. The best investment policy during 1959 will continue to be a well-diversified portfolio—of stocks, short-term bonds, and cash.

Every conservative investor will keep one-third of his portfolio liquid, to have funds available in case of a sudden very severe drop in the stock market. This will come some day.

22. As the 1958 Congress has not accomplished more in correcting abuses in the Teamsters Union, the 1959 Congress will do little to improve the labor situation. Therefore, invest in companies which will not be subject to strikes. Banks and utilities probably are the most nearly immune.

23. The Taft-Hartley Act will not be amended, nor will labor's exemption from anti-monopoly laws be removed, until after the 1960 election. Labor leaders will get more and more power until—with Russia's help—they bring on a real depression.

24. Due to unemployment and the difficulty of borrowing funds for installing automation (automatic factories), the machinery industry will continue quiet during 1959.

25. I now see no probability that either wages or retail prices will be "fixed" during 1959 unless Russia threatens World War III.

26. Most wage workers will be more efficient during 1959, which should enable some managements to increase their productivity and profits.

27. Executives will attend more strictly to business during 1959, reducing time spent on luncheon clubs, golf, etc.

28. Good building land on the proper side of growing cities will continue to increase in price notwithstanding a decline in suburban building. Small farmers holding such land should not now sell.

29. Small farms without any suburban possibilities may well consider selling to adjoining farmers if offered a fair price in 1959.

30. Large commercial farms with latest machinery should prosper during 1959; but small farmers may not do so well.

31. Pending a serious war, there will be no radical change in the Government's farm policy during 1959.

32. With less fear of serious war, the real estate situation in the larger cities may improve; but municipal taxes will increase.

33. Some suburban houses now owned by well-paid executives will come on the market in 1959, due to loss of positions or moves to other sections of the country.

34. Real estate mortgage money will be tighter in 1959 than in 1958. Furthermore, due to inflation, it will be worth less when due.

35. The demand for motels is largely satisfied; but there will be an increasing demand for very modern apartment houses—especially of the co-operative type. Old houses of all kinds will depreciate during 1959.

36. Woodland will continue to be in demand during 1959. This especially applies now to pine, which is used for the best lumber, and to spruce, which is used for pulp. Hold woodland in 1959.

37. More Russian imports of pulpwood may be expected in 1959; but this should largely be offset by the increased domestic demand for cartons and packages for shipping and displaying merchandise.

38. Both timber and oil reserves of Canada will gradually increase in value. I am bullish on many Canadian and African investments.

39. The greatest factor in determining the price of city land and businesses in general is the automobile and availability of parking space. This is responsible for both the boom in suburban real estate and the decline of city property. Buying city real estate without nearby parking facilities is a great mistake.

40. I was wrong in my forecast a year ago as to the Dow-Jones Averages. Although many stocks sell lower today than a year ago, the Dow-Jones Averages—especially the Industrials—sell higher. However, I will again run the risk and forecast that they will sell lower sometime in 1959 than they do today.

41. My forecast of the bond market for 1958 was correct. I am inclined now to reverse that forecast in the case of long-term non-convertible corporate bonds—that is, they should sell for less sometime in 1959 than they are selling for today.

42. I continue to forecast that high-grade, cumulative, non-callable first preferred stocks will sell higher sometime during 1959 than they do today.

43. I repeat what I said last year regarding "cheap" stocks: "The large fortunes made in the stock market have come from buying non-dividend-paying common stocks at $5.00 a share or under. These will be the first to reach a buying level." If you are to buy these low-priced common stocks, you should seek companies without too much prior debt or cumulative preferred stock outstanding. They are the best common stocks for "capital gains."

44. Convertible bonds should hold up fairly well during 1959.

45. The best investment policy for 1959 is for one now to have a good bank account so funds will be available to buy bargains when a sufficient break comes in stocks, bonds, real estate, and commodities.

46. There will be many failures in hastily organized electronics, nuclear, and similar companies during 1959.

47. With two or three exceptions, railroad stocks should be avoided during 1959 and until a definite long-range program of government aid is assured.

48. For steady income and fair marketability, well-established utility stocks should be the best for conservative investors not looking for profit. This especially applies to cumulative first preferred non-callable utility stocks.

49. The three handicaps to American business are the fear of inflation, the fear of union labor leaders, and the fear of President Eisenhower's physical collapse.

50. The three hopes for America are our churches, our schools, and a desire to "pay as you go." For these to function properly we must depend upon the parents of our nation.

some cold cash, if it's one being sought by Thermometer Corporation of America.

This company is scouring the country for old and unusual thermometers to add to the collection it is assembling. This collection will be incorporated into an International Thermometer Museum which eventually will be sent to cities throughout the United States for public display.

Thermometer Corporation of America says no limit is being set on the number of thermometers it may buy. The prime requisite is that the thermometer help portray the development of thermometers through the years, and the part they have played in everyday life.

If you do own a thermometer which you think is either unusual or unusually old, send a description or a snapshot of it, together with any background information you can give (such as some famous person to whom it belonged, how long it's been in your family, or other pertinent and interesting information), to: Thermometer Corporation of America, Springfield, Ohio.

Do not send the thermometer itself. If yours is a thermometer that is needed for the collection, you will receive an offer for it by mail. All letters to Thermometer Corporation will be acknowledged, even if your thermometer happens to be one that is not needed.

If you do correspond with the company, the editor of this newspaper would be interested in hearing about the thermometer you are offering to the Museum.

Read Psalm 118:19-29.

This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it. (Psalm 118:24.)

Preparing breakfast one morning, a mother was greeted by her young son, "Good morning, mother, are you happy this morning?"

"Yes, son," she replied.

"Well, then, please notify your father," he said laughingly.

A pastor addressed one of the members of his church as "the lady with the radiant countenance." Then he made the significant observation, that our faces belong to other people.

In a world so full of fear and anxiety, we still need to rejoice and be glad this New Year's Day—and every day. Even though all is not right in the world, God is still in His heaven and is depending on each of us to help to make this a better world.

In the last message Jesus spoke to His disciples, just a few hours before His betrayal in the garden, He said: "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full."

So today, this first day of the New Year, let us resolve that during 1959 "we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation."

Prayer

Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this day with its many blessings. Help us to make it a day of joyous fellowship with Thee and with others. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The most outstanding fishing grounds off the eastern coast of Florida are without question the slow-moving waters of the famous Gulf Stream, reports Robert D. Hall, Salt Water Fishing Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. This is really the main thoroughfare of the denizens of the deep. Along the edge of this stream, where the blue waters meet the emerald green in a clean-cut line of demarcation are the sailfish, one of the most exciting fish there is to take on relatively light tackle (20-pound-test monofilament line and a six-ounce rod).

Sailfish are usually found from the Florida keys to Juniper Inlet in fairly good numbers during the winter months. Their range of travel depends a great deal upon the water temperature and food supply. They usually swim along the edge of the Gulf Stream but on numerous occasions they are found in the green inshore waters feeding upon balao, mullet and other small fishes.

Nature has bestowed the sailfish with a bill which is used to stun bait fish. It is interesting to note that a sailfish, like many other billfish, will drive a school of bait fish into a compact mass by constantly circling them with its large fan-shaped dorsal fin erect and then charge through, thrashing its bill in all directions. Afterward it will stop and feed upon the stunned and disabled bait.

In the early years before the Florida guides developed the drop-back method of fishing, it was rare to hook a sailfish, for it was difficult to set the hook into their hard mouths. But nowadays, the use of outrigger lines now makes it relatively simple for even the most inexperienced fishermen to catch a billfish.

A Breath Of Air

Fresh air fiends are out of fashion. The old days when icy blasts were prescribed for everything from tuberculosis to tattered nerves are gone. But we all know that a reasonable amount of fresh air is good for us and makes us feel good.

Notice how fine you feel when you leave a stuffy, overheated room and step out into the crisp December air. You take a few good, deep breaths and the cobwebs are blown right out of your brain.

But suppose you couldn't take those deep breaths? Lots of people can't—those who have emphysema for instance. This unfamiliar word is unfortunately becoming more familiar each day. Shortness of breath is the typical symptom. The breath seems to get caught in the lungs and can't get out. Doctors are finding this distressing condition much more common than was once believed. It seems to be most common in people over 50, especially men.

The exact cause of this deterioration of lung structure and function is not known. Doctors can help their patients get some relief with medication and mechanical devices, but a permanent cure has not yet been found.

Emphysema is only one of the many respiratory disease problems that are still unsolved by science. Although some of them like the common cold, cause us only temporary inconvenience, they add up to the greatest cause of illness in the United States.

Basic research into lung function now being carried on with Christmas Seal grants of your tuberculosis association may give us some of the answers to emphysema and other respiratory problems. When you make your Christmas Seal contribution you help support this research which may someday help you get a breath of air.

Reds Getting Pentagon Secrets
Richard Arens, former director of the Internal Security Subcommittee of the United States Senate and now director of the House Un-American Activities Investigating Committee, tells, in a personal experience, one of the most shocking facts concerning the power of the Communist apparatus within our country, which is working every minute of the day and night to bring about our downfall. Several months ago he was invited to address the Reserve Air Force Association in the Pentagon at Washington.

"In order to get into the assembly hall," he relates, "I had to go through a series of rather amusing (to me at least) security checks. Finally I wound up with one of those identification tabs on me and was escorted into the room under armed guard to make my little talk. I was chiding them a little bit, and I said to them: 'You know, while I'm talking to you now in this Pentagon building, the tie-line and lease lines out of this building and the North Atlantic Cable carrying confidential military messages are serviced by Communists agents.'

Wouldn't Believe Truth
"And they wouldn't believe it. I said, 'I can prove it to you, not from what I say but from public records.' What did I mean by that? Well, several years ago we had a series of hearings on the American Communications Association which is controlled lock, stock and barrel by the Communist Party — penetrated, honeycombed with Communists. And we had them identified by live witnesses under oath. And, of course, in the face of that testimony they invoked the First or Fifth Amendment.

"We had witnesses tell the Committee that while they were in the American Communications Association as Communists, before they broke from the Party, they were processing the lines out of the Pentagon—that they had intercepted Pentagon messages. We called before us Mr. Brucker, Secretary of the Army, and we said, 'How about this?' And he said, 'Oh yes.' And here are his words, quoted: 'Nothing short of deplorable, potential disastrous results.' Unless this legislation is enacted (a bill then before Congress) we are not in a position to insure the Congress and the American people that all reasonable measures are being taken to safeguard our national security.' News Suppressed

"Secretary Brucker was talking at that time about a bill that had been introduced to invest the military with the right to disassociate Communist saboteurs from vital defense facilities. How many American citizens ever heard about this bill? How many have ever heard about this public testimony of Brucker? It didn't see the light of day! But I can show you that it was public testimony. Mr. Brucker testified: 'We know and can identify an estimated 2,000 saboteurs in our defense establishments.'"

"We asked him, 'Aren't the real top secret messages that go out over these tie-lines and lease lines and the North Atlantic Cable — aren't they in code? He said, 'Yes, but that's the way you break a code; by getting repeated messages.' And he said, 'In addition to that, there are a great number of messages going over these tie-lines and lease lines and the North Atlantic Cable (from the Pentagon) which are less than secret but which are classified, which we do not want made available to the enemy.' Red Influence Legislation

"That was four years ago. Now what happened to that bill? Surely the bill would become law promptly so that the military and the Justice Department could disassociate the Communist saboteurs from the tie-lines and lease lines and defense facilities. Well, the Communist conspiracy got into operation. I was on the Hill. I saw the mail coming in. (Communists can have on Capitol Hill with 72 hours, 50,000 letters on any subject! I saw their people walking the corridors. Did the bill pass the Congress? No! Did it pass the Judiciary Committee of the House? No! Did it pass the subcommittee handling the bill in the Senate? No! And today, as a sequel, the tie-lines and lease lines and North Atlantic Cable now running out of the Pentagon are still serviced by people under the control of the American Communications Association. We could identify, call by name, address and location the Communist saboteurs that are in the organization."

This is a shocking report. What can be done? The citizens can reach and correct this terribly dangerous situation only through their representatives in Congress and the White House. A flood of letters would get some action. Will we write them?

Korea Placed On CARE List

A major problem in Korea, one of thirteen nations on this year's CARE Food Crusade list, is the resettlement of refugee families driven from their homes by war.

Rev. Bruce H. McDonald, chairman of the Maryland Committee for CARE, said the international organization is trying to provide for some of the needs of these resettling families.

Toward that end, he said, CARE will send 50,000 packages of flour and corn meal to needy Koreans as a part of the 1958-1959 Food Crusade. Each package will contain 25 pounds of foodstuffs.

In addition, Rev. McDonald said, 40,000,000 pounds of milk powder will be distributed during this year in a Korean school-feeding program. Mother- and child health centers and other welfare institutions also will benefit under this phase of the program, the CARE official said.

In all, it will provide daily milk rations for approximately 1,500,000 needy children and adults.

A recent CARE mission report had this to say about Korea:

"Many sections of Korea are still poverty stricken, and it will be a good many years before these communities will be on their feet again."

Even with the aid of CARE, the Korean farmer faces a precarious situation, particularly those who have returned to their homes in former war zones, areas where the land has lain fallow for years.

Besides food, housing is a fear-some problem.

In Seoul, the capital city, war-time Quonset huts still are being used as office buildings and dwellings.

It is not rare to see a farmer living with his family in a hill-side cave or a hastily-built mud hut, always threatened with destruction by the next rainstorm.

"I know Marylanders must be aware of the adverse conditions in Korea," Rev. McDonald said. "I feel sure they will help by giving to CARE."

The twelve other nations on this year's Food Crusade list are Colombia, Egypt (Port Said), Greece, Hong Kong, India, Israel, Italy, Macau, Pakistan, Poland, West Germany and Berlin and Yugoslavia.

Rayburn House Speaker 15 Years

When the 86th Congress convenes on January 7, Sam Rayburn will take up the gavel he has wielded for a record-breaking 15 years as speaker of the House of Representatives.

The Texas Democrat has held the post almost twice as long as any other speaker. But two Republicans gave the speakership the power that has caused some experts to rank it as the second most important office in the nation.

Henry Clay was the first to turn the office to political advantage. The speaker was simply an impartial moderator before Clay's election in 1811. But, according to The World Book Encyclopedia, the "Great Compromiser" used the office to argue so forcefully for the War of 1812 that it was called "Mr. Clay's War."

However, the speakership was transformed into a political tool almost as powerful as the presidency by Thomas Reed and "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

In 1890, Reed cracked down on the delaying tactics of minority groups by counting all members present as a quorum—a number sufficient to conduct business—even if they did not vote.

The move earned Reed the nickname "Czar," but the Supreme Court later upheld the rule.

Reed's methods were only the starting point for Joseph Cannon, who ruled the House like a dictator in the early 1900's.

Once, after putting a question for a voice vote, "Uncle Joe" declared, "The ayes make the most noise but the nays have it."

Even some members of Cannon's party rebelled. In 1910, on St. Patrick's Day, a coalition of Democrats and about 30 Republicans set out to strip Cannon of much of his power.

Because of the "St. Patrick's Day Revolution," Sam Rayburn has little of the formal authority which Reed and Cannon delegated to themselves.

He still has the important "speaker's eye," or the power of recognizing members who wish to speak on the floor.

But most of his strength comes from an informal source—the party discipline he can maintain as leader of the majority party in the House.
