It's the little things in life that really make it worth living and this belief was manifested recently when a local indigent family needed immediate financial relief. As the story was reported to me, via a close intimate, a family near town needed quick relief due to an illness and operation on a member of the family. Affordable Frank Ligarano, head chef of the Mount, heard of the family's plight and set out to do something about the situation. Spreading the word among the students at the college, Frank was instrumental in promoting a collection which netted a quick $100 for the family and which incidentally, afforded the much-needed relief after county aid had not been forthcoming. Yes, it's little humanitarian and noble acts like these that make the saying that a friend in need is a friend indeed, hold true.

Apparently the recently-elected representatives to state offices have construed the mandate given them by the upheaval of Republicanism at the recent election, as a green light on greater spending. I was of the opinion that it was the desire of the populace at the time to have state and federal government spending curtailed as much as possible without disturbing the economy of the state and nation. From the recent action and the laws and expenditures proposed I must have been of the wrong opinion.

We are all aware of the high cost of living these days and know that it is essential that in almost every family both husband and wife must work to keep the family out of financial plight. I just can't see how these low income families can make a "go" of it with any more taxation. For example, let's take this bitter dose which was proposed this week and unquestionably most, or all of it, will be adopted. In the General Assembly at Annapolis a $1,500,000 sum was asked for school construction in Frederick County (in addition to the already back-breaking burden now allocated for schools); $1,200,000 for capital county improvements; raising the county treasurer's salary to $8500; a fire tax for the residents of Middletown (subject to referendum) and if this wasn't sufficient to slay you they want an extra judge for Montgomery County, and you know what that will cost. It must be remembered that the above are extra demands over and above the high taxes we are now compelled to pay. Should these measures be adopted there is no question but that we will be facing higher taxation next year. The above are just a few proposals presented this week. There was a series of others which would cost many more thousands of dollars, already proposed since the opening of the legislature this year.

Emmitsburgians are more tax conscious this year than ever before having been confronted with a tax hike on the local and county level. Citizens should demand of their legislators that this unbridled spending be curbed immediately before disastrous consequences come to most of us.

EHS Eliminated From Basketball Playoffs

Emmitsburg High School's crack basketball team went down to defeat in a torrid contest played Monday night in the county elimination finals on the Frederick High School court. Coach Johnny Weaver's charges battled to the final seconds of the game and it was in the last 15 remaining seconds that Walkersville outdistanced the locals. The final score was 54-53.

Emmitsburg, boasting one of its best teams in years, put up a clean and hard-fought battle and the score was knotted a dozen times or more.

Following the contest the locals immediately entered a protest on the ineligibility of a Walkersville player. County high school athletic rules stipulate that no players are permitted to participate in outside regular high school athletic contests and it is understood that one of the Walkersville stars was playing at times on other teams, therefore relinquishing his eligibility to play with the regular high school team. County officials are weighing the protest and a decision is in the offing, possibly late this week. Should the protest be honored, Emmitsburg, more than likely, will be awarded the contest and permitted to advance in the sectional playoffs.

The win gave Walkersville the county Class C cage title and the right to go to the District tournament.

For most of the first half Walkersville maintained a one or two point edge. Walkersville led by a 17-16 mark at the end of the first period, but the Liners made 13 points to the Lions' twelve in the second quarter to snarl the score at halftime 29-29. During the third stanza, Walkersville widened the scoring margin by five points, but a fourth quarter scoring burst including two foul shots caged by Zentz of Emmitsburg, gave the Liners the edge, 53-52 with but a minute left on the clock. Ron Smith's field goal with but 15 seconds remaining tied up the win for Walkersville.

Statistically it was a margin of one shot from the line that gave Walkersville its winning margin for the night. Each team made 21 field goals, but Walkersville made 12 shots from the line to Emmitsburg's eleven. Percentage-wise, the Liners performed better on the free throws, making 11 of 17 tried. The Lions sank 12 of 22.

Top scorers for the Liners included Zentz, Shriver and Umble with 16, 13 and 11 in that order.

The balance came from local schools, canisters placed in business places, individual contributions and a benefit dance which netted $55.

This year's total was only about $20 less than that of last year and the chairman reports that any last-minute contributions by individuals which might help top last year's drive, will still be accepted. Mr. Norris extends his sincerest thanks and appreciation to those who worked so diligently during the drive and also the many individual contributors.

Chief Simmons said he planned to return to private enterprise but withheld his plans for the time being. Since heading up police duty there, however, Chief Simmons has resided with his family at Thurmont. They will continue to reside there for the time being, Chief Simmons said, at least until the close of the current school term.

Mountaineers Make M-D Conference Play

The Blue and White cagers of Mt. St. Mary's, apparently sparked with a desire of landing a spot in the Mason-Dixon Conference playoffs, came through two contests successfully during the past week both games by a single and two-point margin.

Jim Phelan's Mountaineers topped Washington College 62-60 at Chestertown, Md., Thursday night in a closely-contested tilt. The Mounts, 6-4 in the conference and 10-12 overall, wind up their regular season this week. Catholic University was met Tuesday and Loyola last night in conference games, while St. Vincent's will be entertained Saturday in a non-conference tilt.

The Blue and White squad was forced to stave off the hard-fighting Washington outfit in the last half after holding a 36-31 lead at half time. Bert Sheing, who wound up with 23 points, tabbed 17 in the first half to give the Mountaineers the lead.

Throughout most of the second half the Mount was able to hold a five-point margin but the Sho-men, who displayed fine work on the boards, kept within striking range.

Callahan led the losers with 22 points while Jerry Savage was second to Sheing for the Mount with 13 tallies with Jerry Bohlinger and Jack Marshall each adding 12.

In Tuesday's encounter, the Phelanmen withstood a last-minute surge by Catholic University's Bob Talbot defeating the Cardinals 60-59 to win a berth in the M-D Conference basketball tournament.

Jerry Bohlinger of the Mounts, who had been bird-dogging Talbot all night, made a spectacular block of a Talbot jump shot with six seconds remaining that would have given Catholic a victory.

The Mounts were led by Bert Sheing and Jerry Savage, who scored 16 points each.

Quite a few ducks remain, and Harry Yingling, manager of the preserve, is attempting to reduce the number of birds to be carried as breeders for next season.

Ducks may be hunted along with pheasants at Twin Hemlocks. The farm has enjoyed a very successful season on pheasants and several hundred birds remain to be released before the season ends February 28.

Hagerstown Leads Catholic Cage Loop

Powerful St. Maria Goretti, the defending champion from Hagerstown, is on the verge of capturing its second straight Blue Ridge Catholic League basketball championship.

Official standings for games played through February 18 as compiled by league statistician Bob Scrivener reveal the circuit Gaels head the five-team class with a 5-0 record with three games remaining. Boasting one of the finest schoolboy teams in the tri-state area, St. Maria Goretti sports an overall record of 14-1 and the lone setback came at the hands of undefeated North Hagerstown which has won 18 straight.

St. John's of Frederick is runner-up in the Blue Ridge race with a 5-2 record, followed by St. John's of Westminster with a 3-2 log. St. Joseph's of Emmitsburg is fourth with 1-4 record and St. Joseph's of Martinsburg trails the field at 1-7.

Special K Low-Calorie Breakfast—High In Health-Giving Nutrition

In their effort to keep the calorie-count down, many persons who are dieting tend to cut corners on nutrition, too, not realizing that they are depriving themselves of the food elements which are so vital to good health. The wise homemaker, however, never loses sight of the body's requirements for nourishment and plans her menus carefully so that every meal, while low in calories, carries to her family its share of health-giving vitamins and minerals.

One breakfast menu which is popular among these homemakers ... and popular with their families, too ... is a cool, refreshing glass of fruit juice, Kellogg's Special K (ready-to-eat high protein cereal), poached egg on toast and a beverage. Plan to serve this breakfast to your family too, for, dieting or not, it's the healthful start for everybody's day.

Disastrous U. S. Policy
General Albert C. Wedemeyer's book, "Wedemeyer Reports," has climbed to a top rung on the Best Seller list, and this fact is encouraging. I is also good news that this outstanding American, chief United States military planner for World War II in the European theater, has retired from the Army to dedicate his influential efforts as a citizen toward the preservation of the American way of life. As a four-star General he was restrained by the military code; in retirement, he is speaking up without such restraint. General Wedemeyer today views world Communism as the greatest menace ever faced by America or free people anywhere. He held and expressed the same view in the early days and throughout World War II—while top American leaders, turning a deaf ear to his warnings, were making diplomatic and military moves which aided world Communism; in fact, which gave world Communism

the great power it has today. Aiding World Communism
The title of his book harkens back to "The Wedemeyer Report" in 1947. President Truman sent him on a mission to China in July, 1947 to determine what the United States' policy should be toward the government of China which was being attacked by Communist hordes armed and guided by Soviet Russia. Previously, Secretary of State George C. Marshall had sought to force Chiang Kai shek, in 1946, to accept Communists such as Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai into the Chinese government, and when Chiang resisted on grounds that this would ultimately destroy free China, the United States imposed a crippling arms embargo upon the government of China.
In his book, General Wedemeyer indicates that he feels he was sent on the mission to China with the thought by President Truman and Secretary Marshall that he would support the pro-Communist viewpoint and recommend no aid to Chiang Kai-shek. However, his report, presented to President Truman and Secretary Marshall in September, 1947, recommended immediate arms and military advisory aid to China. His report was suppressed. The aid, which surely would have kept China and her 500 million people out of the Communist orbit, was withheld until the Communist had won in China. And this was a turning point in history—terribly destructive to the hopes of free people everywhere.

Withheld Aid To China
This is a vitally important book, a gravely important historical report on disastrous U. S. policy. With "The Wedemeyer Report" suppressed, a group of informed and courageous Congressmen led a fight early in 1948 to force the administration to send armament aid to China's sorely beset armies fighting the Communists. The legislation, enacted in April 1948, provided for $128 million worth of immediate arms aid. But this aid was withheld until the end of 1948, and by that time Chiang's position in China had become untenable—the Communists had won.
And, as General Wedemeyer notes in his book, the fall of China to the Communists, due to American diplomatic and military decisions favorable to the Reds, led directly to the Korean War and its disastrous consequences for the United States. It also permitted Soviet Russia, fatherland and citadel of world Communism, to annex and dominate most of Asia and assume otherwise unattainable international power.
Shocking Facts

SENATE CLOAKROOM
By Senator J. Glenn Beall
Military Construction In Md.
This past week the Pentagon requested of Congress authorization for large-scale military construction in various States. Itemized projects in Maryland come to a total of $30,565,000. The Army will spend $3,530,000 on construction work in Maryland; the Navy, $4,562,000; the Air Force, $21,810,000; the Army Reserve, $448,000; the National Guard, $215,000.
The proposed military construction is urgently needed, and I believe Congress will not delay in giving the requested authorization.
Reward For Brains
The Senate Committee on Armed Services, of which I am a member, has received for consideration a bill designed to encourage and stimulate inventive contributions to national defense. The bill (S.898), introduced by Senator Saltonstall (R., Mass.), would authorize the Secretary of Defense to make monetary awards to persons whose contributions improve management methods and technical and scientific advances, and would apply to both Government employees and private citizens.
Loans For Students
A new Government program of loans on easy terms to finance a college education now gets into operation. The U. S. Office of Education announces that it has parceled out six million dollars in funds to colleges and universities to loan to students. Each school sets its own eligibility rules, but financial need and ability to make good marks are important qualifications. The Government requires that special consideration be given students who plan to study teaching, science, mathematics, engineering, or modern languages.
Air Force Academy Candidates
Major H. D. Leland, spokesman in this area for the Air Force Academy tells me that it is not too early for young men who want to enter the Academy in June 1960 to take action in order to be considered for appointment. Young men, between the ages of 17 and 22, who are interested in a career in the Air Force, should contact Major Leland at 329 W. Edmonston Drive, Rockville, Md.
Another Committee Assignment
I have been nominated by the Senate Minority to serve on the Joint Committee on Defense Production. As I am a member of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee and a member of the Senate Committee on Armed Services, both related to defense production, I am pleased to accept this new assignment, though of course it means more responsibility and more work.
State Of Hawaii
In a few days or weeks, news about the Statehood-for-Hawaii question will break into headlines. Legitimate reservations about Hawaii concern its distance from the mainland—more than 2,000 miles from the West Coast—and the Communist influence there. Arguments of proponents are aimed at disposing of these reservations. Statehood has been endorsed by the Pentagon as militarily desirable. A congressional committee of inquiry reports that Communism is under as strict surveillance there as it is here. Finally, it is argued that admission of Hawaii to statehood will greatly improve our psychological position throughout the Pacific.

Holiday Hours For Postoffice Are Listed
The Post Office hours for Monday, February 23, are listed as follows:
The post office lobby will be open from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. No business will be transacted as the service windows will not be open. No rural delivery on that day.

What do we mean by Ford "DOUBLE VALUE"?

1. It can mean the beginning of a whole new way of life... in a car especially built for people!
Everywhere, the '59 Ford is recognized as the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Car. Yet many people are just now discovering that Ford is beautifully proportioned inside as well as out.

2. All of your passengers—including the "man in the middle" get a full-cushioned ride, full head room, full leg room.
Every seat has full-depth springing and cushioning in a Ford. And all seats are high enough so you and all your passengers sit normally, ride comfortably!

3. You and everyone who rides with you can keep hats on... can enter and leave with ease.
Ford door openings are extra wide. And front doors stay open when you want them to, thanks to Ford's exclusive 2-stage door checks.

4. You get a full-sized roof which shades all passengers from the sun. You get a full-sized, easy-to-reach trunk, too!
Everyone has a roof over his head in a Ford. And there's no need to stand on tiptoe to load Ford's trunk!

5. It can mean tremendous savings—right from the start. Because Ford is built for savings, too!
Check the price tag, you'll see! Ford is priced lowest of the most popular three. And the low Ford price is just the beginning of Ford savings.

6. You can expect to save as much as $1 on every tank of gas... go more miles between oil changes!
Whether you choose a Six or Thunderbird V-8, both standard Ford engines thrive on "regular" gas—saving you up to a dollar a tankful. And with Ford's standard full-flow oil filtration, you save on oil changes, too!

7. You can forget about waxing the Diamond Lustre Finish. It'll never need it!
While many cars offer finishes which need waxing frequently, Ford's brand-new Diamond Lustre brings you a true no-wax finish.

8. And you can expect Ford's new aluminum muffler to last twice as long!
Why not get the full Ford savings story this week. Once you do—and hear, our double-value deal—we bet you, too, will want to join the big swing to the '59 Ford.

BABSON

Writes . . .

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Missiles And Public Utilities

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 19.—The newspapers carry much news regarding missiles and rockets. This news is of interest to the many industrial plants which make parts for such missiles. A list of the leading companies in this field whose stocks are listed on the New York Stock Exchange will be sent free of charge to any reader on request. However, notwithstanding the Washington releases on missile contracts, the corporations which have the government contracts derive very little profit from such business. I am now recommending investment in any of these.

Of course, we should all be interested in missile experiments and in space studies. It is too bad the Russians got a head start on us. It is utterly foolish, however, to state that "it will take two or three years" for us to catch up with Russia. Such reports are being put out by manufacturers as propaganda to get greater appropriations. President Eisenhower knows this and will not be fooled by them.

Importance Of Anti-Missile Missiles

It is well for us to have "surface-to-surface," "underwater-to-surface," and "air-to-surface" missiles which can hit a given target 500 to 2500 miles away. These are as important as guns, cannons, submarines, and airplanes; but they are for offensive warfare. It seems generally understood that the United States is in no mood now to start a World War. This also probably applies to Great Britain and France. Whether or not Germany will wait for Russia to strike first is another question.

The above means that the important weapon, from a defense standpoint, is an anti-missile missile. This is a missile which can be fired to head off and destroy any approaching missile being fired at our cities by an enemy. Even though we would not start a war with Russia, we would immediately go to the help of any free nation—including Germany—which Russia might attack. We then would be subject to bombing. Hence, a defense against such missiles is an absolute necessity. But today we hear or read very little about such protection as anti-missile missiles.

Propaganda Is Usually False

This is especially true of the attempt to scare the American people into spending more money by saying it will take us 3 or 4 years to catch up with the Russian scientists. But let me comment on this 3 to 4 year propaganda. All research men know that TIME is an insurmountable factor to judge with regard to discovering the solution to any scientific problem. It may have taken the Russians four years to reach their present efficiency with missiles; but the physicists and engineers of some other nation may make a discovery in 30 days which will put them ahead of Russia. Most great inventions have come from a sudden idea.

Furthermore, Russia may not now be ahead of us in anti-missile missiles. No nation yet has the protection desired from such missile attacks. Yet this is the important discovery which the world is awaiting. Some Washington friends may tell you, "We have such an anti-missile missile; but the data are 'classified or secret.'" Don't believe them. The experiments by most nations with anti-missile missiles are known throughout the world. They cannot be kept secret, except possibly by Russia in Siberia. I wish to drive home to readers of this column that no country—including Russia and Germany—will start World War III until it has discovered a means of preventing destruction by enemy missiles. Our Defense Department should give priority to such work rather than to shooting around the moon.

Electricity From The Air

Notwithstanding the above, I am greatly interested in learning more about space. My studies with gravitation make me believe that if two wires are carried up through space a certain distance, we could so utilize the atomic heat from the sun as to produce or collect electricity directly without the need of generators on the earth. I am certain the time is coming when our great public utility stations, instead of burning oil or coal, will have great "wires like lightning rods" extending up into the air. This is what Benjamin Franklin visualized over 200 years ago in 1752. The space experiments now in process will surely find the answer. Neither Russia nor Germany is talking about them; but some nation, possibly France—will find the answer.

Sir Isaac Newton (whose library we have at Babson Institute, Babson Park, Mass.) learned that gravity could bend a line or keep it upright. Space experiments are finding out what gravity will do after a missile pierces the gravity barrier. It is then pulled to the moon or sun automatically without power. Dr. Albert Einstein had all this in mind when he insisted that Electricity, Gravity, Magnetism (and in his last days he added Love) all come from some outside force and are interrelated. I wish that Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Edison, and Dr. Einstein were here today to talk this over. Surely this would result in an "atoms for peace" program, which was Dr. Einstein's daily prayer. This was based upon the sun as the universal source of energy.

A. Yes. If you married on Dec. 31, you were married for tax purposes for the entire year.

Q. I was divorced on Dec. 31. May I file a joint return for 1958?

A. No. If you were divorced on Dec. 31, you were divorced for the entire year so far as Uncle Sam is concerned.

Q. My wife and I filed separate returns last year. Do we have to file separate returns for 1958?

A. No. You have a new choice each year as to whether you file a joint or separate returns.

Q. I am 67 years old. In 1958, I started drawing a pension from my deceased husband's employer on a survivor annuity. Do I qualify for a retirement income tax credit?

A. Yes. To qualify for the credit, you must have received earned income in excess of $600 for any 10 calendar years prior to 1958. But if your deceased spouse would have met this test if living, you may claim the retirement income credit, even though you do not meet the test yourself.

HELPFUL HINTS ON FILING YOUR INCOME TAX

Q. My wife earned less than $600 in 1958. However, income tax was withheld from what she earned. Should she file a separate return to get a refund of the tax withheld, or should we file a joint return?

A. The probability is that you should file a joint return. Then you would lump your income together, and you could take advantage of the split-income tax rates. You would have the advantage of her full personal exemption of $600. If your combined income was $5,000 or more, you would also have the advantage of the larger standard deduction allowed married couples, assuming that you do not intend to itemize your deductions.

Q. My wife and I have already filed a joint return for 1958. May we amend this and file separate returns?

A. Yes, provided you get your separate returns into your district Internal Revenue Office by the April 15 deadline. If you had filed separate returns, you could amend and file a joint return within a three-year period after the deadline. But since you have filed a joint return, you have only until the deadline to switch. Due date or April 15 to switch.

Q. My husband died in 1958. May I still file a joint return?

A. Yes, assuming you have not remarried. If you have remarried, you may, of course file a joint return with your present husband. In that case, a separate return should be filed for the deceased husband if his income during the year was sufficient to require it.

Q. My husband died in 1957. May I file a joint return for 1958?

A. No, but you are entitled to the same split-income rates as a surviving spouse if you have not remarried and if you furnish more than half the expense of your home, which is also the home of your child or stepchild.

Q. My wife earned $300 from a part-time job in 1958. Should we file a joint or separate returns?

A. A joint return. On separate returns you could only claim your personal exemption. She would have to claim her exemption on her return. Since the exemption is $600, you would lose a deduction amounting to $300 if you filed separate returns. That would be in addition to losing the privilege of the split-income tax rates.

Q. My wife had no income in 1958. May I file a joint return with her?

A. Yes. Whether she had income or not makes no difference. Q. My wife and I were married on Dec. 31. May we file a joint

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read 11 Timothy 2:19-26.
Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away; and every branch that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit. (John 15:2).
Each year on the first spring-like day in February, I take time to prune my grapevines. When we moved into our present house, the three grapevines on the arbor had been neglected and so bore little fruit. A friend taught me to prune the vines. After cutting them back severely, I feared I would have no grapes. But in the fall I had luscious grapes in abundance!

My loving Lord comes to cut away the fruitless branches of my self-effort and feeble service to make way for His renewed grace and strength. The purging process is painful, but I know my heavenly Father is the husbandman.
As I accept His help, I feel a new surge of peace and have the assurance of His presence. Life takes on renewed meaning as I live in obedience to His will and in the hope of bearing fruit for Him.

the IGFA, was caught at West End, Bahamas, by C. E. Benet, in 1932. This is an unusually large fish and it is likely that the record may stand for some time. The average weight of the barracuda that is caught in the area of Florida and the out islands of the Bahamas group runs between 10 and 15 pounds. However, it is not uncommon to hook a 40- or 50-pounder while trolling the reefs. The barracuda family contains a single genus with about 20 species, six or seven of which occur within our southern coastal waters.

The California barracuda (Sphyrna argentea) that inhabit the coastal waters of the Pacific are found in the greatest concentration in the area off the coast of Los Angeles County and southward. While some barracuda have been taken as far north as Puget Sound, they are rarely found north of Ventura, California, but become very common among the Santa Barbara Islands. This West Coast species is a long and more slender fish than the great barracuda of the Atlantic. It may be classed as the second most popular fish of southern Pacific coastal waters.

There are a number of species of barracuda found in nearly all the warm seas of the world, and the great barracuda with its long, muscular body and glittering teeth is a bundle of vicious fury when he detects the odor of blood in the water, or a crippled fish. There is good reason to believe the statement that the great barracuda is one of the most dangerous of all marine fishes. It is a killer that is unpredictable and should be feared at all times. Its long, slender teeth act with the cutting action of a pair of shears, and many of the teeth fit into sheaths in the opposite jaw. When a barracuda is taken out of the water his mucous-covered body gives off an obnoxious, ill-smelling odor that can be detected a considerable distance away. But for the successful angler it is the smell of victory.

Admiral Will

Address Milk

Producers Group

Vice-Admiral Charles B. Momen, USN (ret.), veteran of submarine and surface ship engagements with the Japanese in World War II and holder of the World War I Victory Medal, will be the speaker at the Annual Meeting of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. While the Admiral's war career is outstanding and his medals many, he is best known for his part in devising the submarine escape chamber and the "Momsen Lung."

The Cooperative's meeting is scheduled for Saturday, February 28 at the Lord Baltimore Hotel. It opens with a business session for MCMP members at 10 a. m. and will close with a noon luncheon for members and guests, who will hear the Admiral.

Presiding at the business meeting and the luncheon will be the MCMP President Edgar G. Emrich of Emmitsburg; members attending the early gathering will hear a report from Manager, Secretary-Treasurer William P. Sadler.

Giving the invocation at the luncheon will be the Rev. Morris G. Zumbunn, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church, Dallastown, Pa. Toastmaster will be State Comptroller Louis G. Goldstein. The B & O Glee Club will sing.

Admiral Momsen, who admits that he isn't "violently opposed to shooting things at the moon but believes that there are beneficial things to be obtained closer to home, in our oceans" will have as his topic, "Resources of the Sea."

The retired Navy Officer has had a long and brilliant career. Graduating from the Naval Academy, he served on battleships until 1921, when he volunteered for submarine duty. In 1926, after several tragic submarine accidents, he submitted to the Navy a design for a submarine rescue device, which led to the "rescue chamber" aboard underwater craft. With this came the "Momsen Lung"—for which, in part, the Chesapeake Bay served as a testing area.

During World War II the Admiral was extremely bad news to the Japanese. He was on duty at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese attacked; early in the war U. S. subs attacking Japanese shipping found that their torpedoes failed to explode on impact. Admiral Momsen played a big hand in correcting this. The Admiral devised the American form of "wolf pack" which differed from the well-publicized German "pack." According to the Admiral, German subs hunted singly until important game came along, when they joined forces. The American version kept three subs together, two abreast in the lead, the third astern. When a Japanese convoy appeared the two attacked, leaving the one astern to pick off cripples or stragglers or just help with the general Japanese confusion.

"As a matter of fact" reports Admiral Momsen, "We just forgot about using code and spoke the good old English language while attacking. The Japs didn't know the difference."

OUR STATE UNIVERSITY

Since 1952, when the conferences and institutes division of the newly named University College (formerly College of Special and Continuation Studies) was established, interest in adult education by the citizens of Maryland has grown by leaps and bounds. Last year, for example, the division provided 1255 hours in instruction for 12,331 adults through local, national and international conferences, congresses, institutes, seminars, short courses and workshops.

The division was established to meet the needs of adult groups in business, industry, government, the Armed Forces, and various other professions through brief instructional periods. Although the division's non-profit educational services are not degree programs, they draw directly upon the research and knowledge of the university's faculty for the benefit of the groups concerned.

During the past year, the division planned and conducted more than 30 programs. Among these programs have been the Law Enforcement Institute, in which noted authorities in police work lectured to Maryland police; Space Research and Technology Institute, bringing the nation's leading space technologists to lecture to area scientists; and the Juvenile Delinquency Institute, providing police supervisory personnel with the latest information on delinquency. In addition, the division planned and conducted the International Congress on Home Economics, which brought home economists from all parts of the world for an exchange of information.

Any citizen group, professional society, or association interested in arranging an adult education conference may contact the conferences and institutes division, University College, University of Maryland at College Park.

State Insurance Types Explained

Maryland motorists in a few days will receive with their application for 1959 registration an official statement in leaflet form explaining the principal points in the state's Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law.

Carlton S. Hardwick, Chairman of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Board, pointed out that the new leaflet is issued primarily to remind motorists that the only insurance applicable under the law is automobile liability and property damage insurance, and he urged motorists to be sure they have such insurance in order to avoid fixed penalties. A similar reminder was sent with the registrations last year. Shilled - out registration forms showed at that time that more than 93.7 per cent of the state's motorists carried automobile liability and property damage insurance.

The statement, issued by the Board, follows.

"There are two questions in the enclosed 1959 registration form that must be answered accurately. Both are important, but one calls for brief explanation. An error in answering it, even though innocently made, can result in loss of both your driving and registration privileges for a very indefinite period. It is this:

Is this vehicle covered by liability and property damage insurance? No..... Yes.....

Don't make the mistake of thinking 'liability and property damage insurance' is the same as collision or fire and theft insurance. It is not. Liability and property damage insurance covers other people, and other people's property, for damages caused by any motor vehicle you own. So, if your answer to the above question is 'yes' be sure that:

1. You carry liability and property damage insurance. No other kind of insurance will protect your driving and registration privileges under the Unsatisfied considerable trouble. All of your motoring privileges will already have been suspended under the Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Law. They can not be reinstated until you have reimbursed the Board with interest at the rate of four per cent, and you have satisfied all additional requirements of the Financial Responsibility Law, including proof of future financial responsibility.

The Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law was enacted to give the people of Maryland, including yourself, the most complete protection now known against financially irresponsible motor vehicle owners.

Suppose you, for instance, thru no fault of your own, suffered damages at the hands of such a driver—or even a hit-and-run

Welty Will Accounting Given

Register of Wills Thomas M. Eichelberger released on Wednesday the first and final administration account of J. Bernard Welty, Emmitsburg, whose will was executed by Tyson J. Welty and Ethel Welty Gelwicks.

The total estate amounted to $16,240.22 including personal property, debts owed the deceased, current money on hand at time of death, stocks and bonds with interest and dividends and real estate sold by order of the court. Of this amount, $4,110.14 was expended by the executors in disbursements to settle the estate. The balance for distribution of $12,130.08 was subject to a provision in the will for a distribution of personal property in kind to Ethel Welty Gelwicks, one of the executors. Of the remainder, approximately one fourth was given to Rose Lansinger, one fourth to Mable Wynant and one twelfth each to Elsie M. Sholl, Madeline Douglas, Beatrice Wildberger, and Albert Marble.

The sum of $500 was given to Saint Joseph's Church. After deducting an inheritance tax of $750, the net legacy of $9,750 was divided into a special legacy of $1,539.33 which was divided between seventeen persons and another legacy of $804.67 which was divided among eleven persons. The executors and Madeline Gelwicks Wivell paid the real estate taxes.

Mrs. Patrick Owens and Harold Harbrick, visited Sunday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Adelsberger, and with her father, George Sanders, who is a patient at the Warner Hospital.

No Asian Flu Prevalent In Nation

Most of the schools throughout the area had increased absenteeism during the past month due to "virus infections," according to Dr. Charlotte Silverman, chief of the division of epidemiology and communicable disease control, Maryland State Department of Health.

The children, elementary and secondary school students, have had mild illnesses of three to four days' duration, generally characterized by fever, malaise, headache and sore throat. Because there have been some differences in the symptoms, it appears that more than one type of respiratory infection may be involved.

Laboratory examinations of throat washings from a number of sick children in several Montgomery County schools have revealed type B influenza virus in only two of the cases, Dr. Silverman said. Additional specimens are now being examined to determine whether other types of respiratory viruses may also be present. The laboratory tests are being performed at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md.

"The impression gained so far in Montgomery County is that there is much respiratory infection which is troublesome but not serious," Dr. Silverman commented. "Some of the illnesses have been due to the B type influenza virus, a type which has been known since 1950. However, it should be noted that other types of winter respiratory infections also have caused some of the sickness."

All county health officers and practicing physicians are being asked to report promptly any unusual occurrences of respiratory illness, Dr. Silverman said.

The Maryland State Dept. of Health reiterates its previous recommendation that private physicians, medical directors of hospitals and medical advisors to groups of employed persons should determine whether individuals or groups should receive influenza vaccine.

Individuals who may benefit from the vaccine include the aged, the chronically ill and pregnant women. The individual's physician can best determine if the vaccine should be taken, it was emphasized.

All influenza vaccine now available is of the polyvalent type and contains immunizing material for all important strains, including the Asian strain and type B, Dr. Silverman said.

Reports recently have been received from the World Health Organization and the Public Health Service of outbreaks of various types of influenza in several European countries.

In England, influenza and many other types of respiratory illnesses have been responsible for high sickness and absentee rates in factories, offices and schools. The unusually intense fog in some areas of Britain this year has aggravated the problem of respiratory ailments. Although the Asian strain of influenza is reported to have been isolated from one fatal case and from other sporadic cases in England, the predominant type of influenza virus so far isolated has been type B.

Type B infections also have been identified in Italy and The Netherlands. Large numbers of people have been reported affected by influenza in the USSR, where type A virus has been found.

In the U. S. there has been one confirmed case of Asian influenza; an American student, recently returned from Europe, developed the disease en route to the U. S. and was hospitalized upon arrival. No other confirmed Asian influenza cases have been reported in this country.

Marine Corps Offers New Enlistment Program

Gunnery Sergeant Howard W. Higgins, non-commissioned officer in charge of Marine Recruiting, announced today that the Marine Corps has again opened its 120 day delayed enlistment program for the benefit of young men and women interested in guaranteeing themselves a place in the Marine Corps upon graduation this year.

Those young men and women who qualify for enlistment will be enlisted in the Marine Corps now but are not required to go on active duty until 120 days after enlistment. However, at any time during the 120 day period, enlistees may go on active duty at their request.

This program has a two-fold purpose. It guarantees a young man or woman a place in the Marine Corps at a future date and at the same time they are completing a portion of their required military obligation. All time served in the reserves counts toward pay and promotion opportunities.

For the convenience of those interested in this program, arrangements are being made to process applicants through the Armed Forces Examining Station, Baltimore, Md., on Saturday, February 28, 1959 in order that high school seniors will not be required to be absent from school. This program does not interfere with the completion of high school and is intended only as a means of guaranteeing graduates a place in the Marine Corps during months when waiting lists are usually lengthy.

Sergeant Higgins is urging all young men and women interested in the 120 day delayed enlistment program to contact the Marine Recruiting Office, 10 W. Franklin Street, Hagerstown Md. Phone RE 3-7080 at the earliest possible date so that arrangements can be made for processing prior to February 23, 1959.
