The announcement this week that the Board of Education is planning a six-year program of expansion and improvement in the county school system gives countians, you and me, a general idea of the magnitude of the plan and which will result in additional county taxes. The elaborate and generous plan will, in the aggregate, cost taxpayers ten and a half million dollars more. Portions of the plan are conjectural to say the least while others are considered a prime necessity to relieve pressing problems created by the increase in population and integration. We are highly in favor of keeping the school system up to a standing equivalent with our times but there are certain phases of the plan with which I can and do differ. One is the statement by the superintendent that it is prudent and advisable to have schools which can accommodate 750 pupils in order to be efficient and produce the best results. Another is the plan to consolidate our local high school with that of Thurmont. We knew this plan had been cooking for some time but it was not until this week that the Board came straight out and revealed the course it intended to take and one which is highly unpopular, so say the least, to Emmitsburgians.

Contradicting his statement that it takes 750 students to make the desirable type of school, the consolidation of both Emmitsburg and Thurmont, I don't believe would reach that stipulated figure. Also the consolidation of Foxville and Sabillasville with the latter school would be a far cry from the prescribed quota. What would be more efficient and advisable, in my opinion, would be to improve the local school's curriculum and possibly consolidate the small schools of Sabillasville and Foxville with our southern neighbors, Thurmont.

If elimination of the local school must come, and it won't without a fight, then in all fairness, if a new school has to be built, the building should be erected about half-way between our two towns, in all fairness to both communities. I believe this can be affected if we stick to our guns, so to speak. For several years now this matter has been a thorn in our sides and the time to plan for an equitable and honorable settlement is right here and now. There is no reason whatsoever that a new school couldn't be erected about Payne's Hill which could accommodate the proposed 750 students, should the enrollment ever rise to that figure. Certain sections of the county will receive improved or new schools which are planned on the assumption that the population in that section will continue on the increase. This could turn out to be 100 percent wrong as a depression, diminishing of industry or a number of things could affect adversely the continued growth of a community. I am of the opinion that our county commissioners should study intently the proposed plan of the Board before making any commitments or approval of the plan. Such Government projects as Fort Ritchie or Fort Detrick could be lost at any time by a quick decision of the Government to economize, change to missiles, etc., and the population naturally would diminish greatly in this area and we could very easily be confronted with too many school buildings with not enough students. It is a difficult and complex situation to cope with and deserves the utmost intelligent consideration of all concerned before the adoption of the proposed program.

Member clubs of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will hold an organizational meeting of that baseball loop Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the local VFW building. All clubs are expected to be represented at the session and adoption of a code of bylaws is anticipated. A tentative schedule will be drafted and clubs will be asked to post forfeit fees at this meeting. Emmitsburg once again will be a member of the loop this year. Al Waterfield, Blue Ridge Summit, is president of the league.

College Names Advisory Board

Sister Hilda Gleason, president, announced the appointment of four prominent Baltimoreans to the lay advisory board of Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, in conjunction with plans for celebration of the college's 150th anniversary this year.

The new advisors include John J. Dilli, president of Publication Press, Inc., in Baltimore; Dr. Vincent dePaul Fitzpatrick, a prominent obstetrician and gynecologist on Baltimore hospital staffs; Frank X. Hennessy, community relations director for the National Brewing Company, and Thomas F. McNulty, president of Broadcasting Station WWIN in Baltimore.

Mr. Dilli, active in Holy Name Union for many years, is president of the Laymen's Retreat League in Baltimore. He is a member of the board of directors of Saint Agnes Hospital, and an active member of the board of directors of the Sheltered Workshop of the Maryland Society for the Mentally Retarded.

Dr. Fitzpatrick, a Loyola High School alumnus, is a graduate of Loyola College and the University of Maryland Medical School. In addition to serving on the staffs of many Baltimore hospitals, Dr. Fitzpatrick has been associated with educational and medical interests in Baltimore.

Frank Hennessy is a veteran of 25 years in the broadcasting field. Active in broadcasting and advertising fields in Maryland, he is associated as community relations director for the National Brewing Company. He has received civic and church citations and recognition for his work with youth groups, hospitalized veterans, and the handicapped.

In addition to his interest in WWIN Radio, Mr. McNulty is president of the Foundation for Mentally Retarded and Handicapped Children, and active in the Chesapeake District of Civitan International. Associated with many business and social clubs, he has also served on Maryland State Committees for special education and for juvenile delinquency.

Saint Joseph College was founded in 1809, on its present site in Emmitsburg, by Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton. The college is conducted by the Sisters of Charity, the American order of sisters founded, also in 1809 in Emmitsburg, by Mother Seton, prominent figure in the history of Maryland and the Catholic Church in America.

On March 14, 1959, the awarding of the Saint Louise de Marillac Medal for "outstanding service to a Catholic woman for the Archdiocese of Baltimore will highlight Honors Convocation. An honorary degree, only the second such honor to be bestowed by the college in its 150 year history, will also be presented to a prominent American woman, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

On July 31, the actual date of Mother Seton's arrival in Emmitsburg in 1809, the community of the Sisters of Charity will observe the founding of their community with a special religious program.

Lions Club Holds Regular Meeting

Vice President Ralph F. Irelan presided at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Fitzgerald's Inn, 22 members in attendance.

The treasurer's report was given by Secretary William Strick-houser. The club went on record as being in favor of sending two delegates to the district convention in Atlantic City in June and will share a portion of the delegates' expenses. The delegates will be elected at the next meeting. The annual Talent Show was discussed but no report could be given due to the absence of the chairman of the committee. One application for membership is currently being reviewed and will be voted on at the next regular meeting.

Mrs. Helena Pfeifer and Miss Ann Pfeifer of Baltimore, and Mr. Dominic Pfeifer, Chicago, Ill., were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zurgable, Mountain Road, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shorb, N. Seton Ave., observed their forty-eighth wedding anniversary on Tuesday.

Sickness is ideal when it does not interfere with the things that you want to do.

R. J. McCullough Is Appointed Trial Magistrate

Democratic Central Committee endorsements for county offices were sent to Governor J. Millard Tawes this week and appointments already have been confirmed by the Governor.

Included in the endorsements was the name of Richard J. McCullough, math teacher at Mount St. Mary's College, for the office of trial magistrate in Emmitsburg.

Other recommendations submitted were as follows: Magistrates for Frederick City: Edward D. Storm, Byron W. Thompson, full-time; Sherman P. Bowers, substitute.

Magistrate for Thurmont District: Martin T. Mathwig.

Magistrate for Brunswick District: William B. Gross.

Endorsed for Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioner was Louis V. Myers Jr., Libertytown. For some years, Mr. Myers has been the investigator in the office of Commissioner Gail L. Cuthall, the Republican incumbent. The law requires the commissioner and investigator to be from opposite parties.

No official announcement was made with respect to those receiving endorsements for the Board of Election Supervisors. It is understood, however, that the Central Committee list included a total of eight names. From a designated list of four held acceptable, two will be chosen for appointment to the Board of Supervisors; a second designated four names were deemed acceptable for substitute appointment.

The Central Committee held it inadvisable to release these names pending submission of the "green bag," indicating that this particular phase would probably not be resolved until that time.

The Central Committee's letter to the Governor bore the signatures of Chairman George F. Abrecht and Secretary Joseph J. Coady.

The Republican State Central Committee for Frederick County has submitted four names to Governor Tawes for one appointment as the minority member of the Board of Election Supervisors.

The names submitted were Mrs. Naomi D. Rensburg, of Middletown; Stanley V. Gaver, of Frederick; Howard M. Damuth, of Thurmont, president of the outgoing Elections Board, and former County Commissioner Samuel H. Young, of Frederick.

SOCIETY MEETS

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Tom's Creek Methodist Church met in the social room of the church on Monday evening. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Anna Rickour. The regular routine of the meeting was dispensed with, it being a get-together of members of the Societies of the Thurmont Charge.

A play was given by the Catoctin and Thurmont members, assisted by Rev. Johnson and Franklin Valentine, in three scenes. It was called, "Behold your God," with words from the book of Isaiah, which was very ably performed and very inspiring and enjoyed by all.

Hymns were sung between the scenes, and a period of fellowship followed with refreshments being served by the Tom's Creek Society members to the 40 present, including men of the official board which met the same evening.

FFA Club Will Observe FFA Week

This week we are celebrating FFA Week all over the country. We selected a committee to decide what we could do in our school to show that this is FFA Week. The committee decided to have a bulletin board in the cafeteria and in the hall. We all brought pictures of our projects and some of the work that we did in class. The purpose of FFA Week is to seek its focus on the Future Farmers of today, who will be the successful farmers of tomorrow. This nation must have a constant supply of new farmers every year to replace those who die, retire, or otherwise leave the farm. These must be men with experience and training; for the successful farmer today is both a scientist and a businessman, mechanic and a laborer, at the same time capable of leadership in the affairs of the community. Generally they must be men who have begun farming at an early age, so that by the time they are ready to marry and start a family, they will be firmly established in a farming program that promises a good future.

Register Of Wills Eichelberger Seeking Rightful Beneficiaries Of Unsettled Estates

Frederick County Register of Wills Thomas M. Eichelberger is trying to locate the rightful claimants to over $1000 that he recently discovered was available in his office after searching old records. He recently discovered a number of bank books included in the accounts and residues of estates had never picked up or claimed by the heirs or next of kin.

Eichelberger has already restored $2,200 to trustees and heirs by tracing down bank books in his records of wills and administration accounts and locating the nearest living kin today. But he still has over $1000 in forgotten bank books in his possession which he is required by law to deposit in a separate account if they are not claimed within a few days.

Once in this account, the money from these bank accounts cannot be touched for seven years by anyone except the proper claimants. At the end of that time, if uncalled for, the money is transferred to the County Commissioners to be spent in the county school system.

Eichelberger points out that this is the automatic operation of the law and that some of the money would have already reverted to the county for use in schools if the bank books had not been misplaced and the funds in the accounts had been deposited immediately.

Some of the accounts still uncalled for are already beyond the seven-year limit and one extends back 19 years to 1940.

One of the accounts paid off by Eichelberger extended back sixteen years to 1943.

The Register of Wills decided that since the money had never been deposited in a special account, the seven-year limitation had never started to operate on these accounts.

Two more of the bank accounts still outstanding go back 12 years to 1947 and one goes back 11 years to 1948. Two of the paid accounts went back nine years to 1950. Seven more of the remaining unclaimed accounts go back eight years to 1951. Another four go back the full seven-year limit to 1952.

One of the remaining accounts goes back only five years to 1954 and another is only four years old, left over from an estate settled in 1955.

Eichelberger is making a determined search to find the legal heirs or next of kin of all of the deceased bank book holders before turning the funds back to the county. He asks anyone knowing of these persons or their whereabouts to contact him immediately in the Register of Wills office in the Courthouse.

The bank books still unaccounted for and held in the custody of the Register of Wills, are not subject to the order of the Orphan's Court, are all in the individual names of deceased persons and have been unclaimed by relatives or heirs.

The bank accounts waiting to be collected are listed in the names of James Tuby, Dorothy Fisher, Mrs. Elizabeth Schaefer, William L. Harman, Anna C. Harman, R. Kate Harman, Frank Shoemaker, Jennie Hargett, Mary White, Frank Miss, Mary J. Wilhide, Maynard Cramer, H. A. Rice, Florence Johnson, Roy Hammond, Mary Stimmel and Edgar Liday.

There are substantial amounts in some of the bank accounts still unclaimed, Eichelberger said. One account already restored to trusteeship for the proper descendants contained over $1000 and another contained about $800.

Of the above-listed accounts it is believed that the heirs, if any, to the late Annie M. Landers, Emmitsburg, would be included in the division of the "lost" estates.

Local Airman, Robert Springer, Dies In Auto Wreck In Germany

Word has been received here of the sudden death of M/Sgt. Robert H. Springer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Springer, of Emmitsburg.

Sgt. Springer is reported to have been killed in Germany in a vehicular accident on February 20. Springer was 42 years old and had been in the Air Force for 20 years and was almost eligible for retirement.

The deceased is survived, in addition to his parents, his widow, Anna Havener Springer and these children: Francis, Phillip, Robert, Scott and Elizabeth, all of whom reside in Zweibrücken, Germany; these brothers and sisters: Ross Springer, Basil, O.; Elmer Springer, Frederick; Glenn B. Springer, Emmitsburg; Mrs. Ruth Davis, Pleasantville, O.; Mrs. Edna Leventy, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Mrs. Blanche Bowman, Spring Lake Park, Md., and Mrs. Annabelle Martin, Frederick, Md.

The airman's body is being returned to this country for interment.

THURMONT PLANS NEW POSTOFFICE DEDICATION TOMORROW

The new Thurmont post office, under construction since last fall, will be formally dedicated at exercises to be held on Saturday afternoon, February 28, at two o'clock, it has been announced by Acting Postmaster Lee Munshour.

The facility, which represents an investment of between $30,000 and $40,000, is located on the east side of Water street. It will be placed in use following the dedication.

The building is one story, of brick and block. It has 2,502 square feet of interior space in addition to 525 square feet of platform space and 3,425 square feet of maneuvering area for use of postal vehicles.

There are three clerks and two rural carriers in addition to the postmaster. Consideration reportedly is being given to delivery service in the town.

The new post office is a part of the Post Office Department's commercial leasing program, which uses private financing to obtain needed facilities. Since these facilities remain under private ownership while leased to the federal government, they are assessed for local taxes as well as eliminating the need of large outlays from the Federal Treasury for construction purposes.

The lessor for the new post office is the Thurmont Masonic Temple Association.

The first post office was established in Thurmont in 1811 and the first-class office is now the second largest in volume of business in the county.

Mail business in this area has more than doubled within the past ten years and continues to grow with each fiscal year. For instance, the approximate gross postal receipts at Thurmont for fiscal year 1956 were $41,500; for 1957, $48,600 and for 1958, $52,000. Receipts for the present fiscal year are averaging 17 percent ahead of those for the past year, according to Mr. Munshour.

Mounties Earn Starting Position In Playoffs

Mt. St. Mary's College closed out its 1958-59 basketball season in a blaze of glory as it trounced St. Vincent's of Latrobe 103-89, Saturday night on the Mount's Memorial Gym court before a capacity crowd.

Previously in the week, the Blue and White defeated their ancient rivals, Loyola, 84-80, in a sizzler which required two overtime periods to put out the fire.

After getting off to a slow start in the beginning of the season, the Mountaineers, under Coach Jim Phelan, finished above the .500 mark with a 13-12 record. St. Vincent's is now 6-13 with three games remaining.

In Saturday's game, Phelan received a boost from a couple of men who have seen limited action during the past year. Jack Gunn, a 6'1" junior entered the ball game in the closing minutes of the first half and exhibited fine ability to connect on a variety of shots besides doing an outstanding job of rebounding and play-making. Another boy who was acquired in the second semester, who turned in a fine performance, was Joe Starke, a 6' senior from Washington.

The Mount played just the opposite brand of basketball than they did in the previous game with Loyola. They were caught off guard in the first half as St. Vincent's built up a six-point lead and retained it for the first 18 minutes of the game and with two minutes remaining in the half, the score was 42-41 in favor of St. Vincent's. Then the Mount went on a spree. Gunn came back with a pair of fouls followed by Bert Sheing's jump shot, a lay-up by Jerry Savage, another rebound by Gunn plus a charity toss by Gunn. At the end of the first half the Mount had taken a 50-42 lead and were never threatened.

Pairings for the 19th annual Mason-Dixon Conference basketball tournament, which is being held at Catholic University Washington, D. C., were determined Monday.

Jim Phelan's Mt. St. Mary's outfit played the third game of Thursday's opening four-game set by meeting Catholic U.

Top-seeded Baltimore U. opened the tournament, followed by American U., defending titlist, meeting Washington College while Loyola and Randolph-Macon met in the final game of the opening round.

Until dethroned last year by American, the Mountaineers entry had run up a string of four straight championships.

Planning Board Meets Here

The Emmitsburg Farm Bureau Planning group met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Keilholz with six families represented.

The meeting opened with the reading of the 122 Psalm by Anna Margaret Martin, followed by the Lord's Prayer. A reading, "No Man Can See," by Gladys Keilholz, Rules of Staying Young, by Margaret Meadows, The Measure of Greatness, by John L. Baumgardner and a reading from Day to Day by Anna Margaret Martin. A thank you note was read by the chairman, George J. Martin, from Margaret Springer for a potted plant given her by the group on her return from the hospital.

The minutes were read and approved and the treasurer gave his report. The discussion sheet was Farm Bureau platform for prosperity on the farm and was discussed lightly and other matters of interest to the group were discussed at length.

The host showed slides of his trip to Wyoming this past summer for hunting antelope and deer. They were very interesting, after which the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The meeting adjourned to meet next month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meadows.

Local School Scheduled For Consolidation

Long-range plans of the Frederick County Board of Education call for the consolidation of Emmitsburg High School with that of Thurmont, it was disclosed this week when the Board presented a proposed $10,500,000 school building and improvement program to the County Commissioners.

Consternation was felt among many Emmitsburgians when it was learned of the Board of Education's decision to eliminate the local high school in a consolidation move which apparently is planned within the next five years, providing unforeseen developments could possibly affect the decision.

The program is in three phases and covers all anticipated school construction needs for the next six years, through 1965. It was presented orally and in written form to the Commissioners by School Superintendent Dr. James A. Sensenbaugh.

Dr. Sensenbaugh commented that the program included all previous requests and current building programs, "modified and brought up to date and going a little farther than we have before in our proposed future requests."

The school building program, outlined in three phases according to development and grade. The school superintendent said that he believed the minimum educational unit for an elementary school should have 12 to 18 class-rooms, plus kindergartens, and at least six teachers, one for every grade. High schools should have a minimum of 600 to 750 students with at least 100 in the graduating class.

The first group of school projects, now in the planning stage and with all financing already approved by the commissioners, except at New Market includes the $1,825,000 Linganore Junior-Senior High School at Central, the $620,000 Urbana Elementary School and the $375,000 proposed New Market Elementary School addition.

In the second group of elementary school projects proposed between now and 1965, the School Board included a proposed new Adamstown Elementary School at a cost of $625,000 and a new elementary school for the Balenger-Braddock and Linden Hills area costing $670,000.

The proposed new Adamstown School would be a six grade elementary accommodating 350 pupils to replace the present Adamstown, Douth, Buckeystown and Point of Rocks schools since "these schools are too limited for an adequate program of education," the report states.

Also proposed in the next six years is the consolidation of the Burkittsville and Jefferson districts into a 200-pupil six grade school costing $425,000, an addition to the Lewistown Elementary School costing $248,000 and an addition to the New Midway School at a cost of $115,000.

Another new addition to the building program not previously proposed is the construction of an entirely new Northeast Frederick Elementary School at an estimated cost of $855,000 to relieve overcrowding at North Frederick Elementary School and to completely eliminate the old North Market Street School.

Also proposed was an orthopedic school or school wing costing $295,000 for those students who are physically crippled but mentally able to learn. In addition, there are $130,000 worth of improvements needed in the Parkway School and cafeteria.

A new $430,000 school is proposed in the vicinity of Sabillasville to incorporate the Sabillasville and Foxville schools. A Yellow Springs School addition costing $250,000 is also proposed immediately.

The high school construction program of the next six years includes a brand new Brunswick High School accommodating 750 pupils at a cost of $1,825,000, an addition to the Frederick High School, mostly in locker room facilities, costing $48,000 and a new Northeast Frederick Junior-Senior High School costing $2,885,000.

Dr. Sensenbaugh explained that the enrollment of the West Frederick Junior High School, just completed last year, had already reached 1,400 pupils which was more than planned, classes were up to 40 pupils each and something would have to be done about schedules next year.

away in Frederick and eventually separate new junior and senior high schools would be needed, the school superintendent said. The second high school would empha-size more vocational education, leaving the academic courses at Frederick High School.

Also needed is a new Thurmont High School which would incor-porate Emmitsburg High, Dr. Sen-senbaugh said. This 500 - pupil school would cost $1,200,000.

Proposed for the future by the School Board planners were a separate Community College, per-mitting full daytime use of col-lege facilities, at a cost of $190,-000 and the modernization of older school buildings at a cost of $200,000.

Dr. Sensenbaugh estimated he will need $5,000,000 to get started on his $10,500,000 six-year pro-gram. The commissioners agreed to meet with the School Board next Wednesday morning to map out plans for a possible request to the State Legislature for au-thorization of a new bond issue.

William Francis Weishaar, a 73-year-old farmer from the Taney-town area who had been in the Annie Warner Hospital in Gettys-burg, for six days, died at the hospital last Thursday morning.

He was the son of the late James Weishaar and Annie Shriner Weishaar and is survived by his wife, Clara Starner Weishaar, and by two daughters, Mrs. Monroe Rinehart of Keymar and Mrs. Donald Harner of Emmitsburg.

Also surviving are two sons, William S. Weishaar of Keymar and Edward L. Weishaar, living at home; fifteen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sun-day afternoon in the C. O. Fuss and Son Funeral Home in Taney-town, with the Rev. Miles S. Reifsnider, his pastor, officiating. Interment was in the Baust Church cemetery.

Mrs. Alice C. Chase
Mrs. Alice Cecilia (Murdock) Chase, 71, a lifelong resident of Emmitsburg, died Sunday night at 11:05 o'clock at the Warner Hospital. She had been in ill health for about two months. A daughter of the late Aloysius and Harriet (Richardson) Murdock, she was the wife of John E. Chase, who preceded her in death.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmits-burg. Surviving are six children: Miss Josephine Chase, Washing-ton, D. C.; Roger and Sterling Chase, Emmitsburg; Carroll Chase of Washington; Mrs. Oliver Smith, Emmitsburg; and William Chase, Emmitsburg. Also surviving are three grandchildren and two sis-ters, Mrs. Loretta Johnson, of Washington, and Mrs. Vivian Ho-gans, New York City.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning, with requiem mass at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Fr. James Twomey officiating. Interment was in Mountview Cemetery. C. E. Wilson, funeral director.

Samuel H. Ralston
Samuel H. Ralston, 77, Harris-burg, died at his home Wednes-day morning.

Mr. Ralston, a retired dairy man, was a member of the Mar-ket Square Presbyterian Church. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Deora F. Ralston, two daugh-ters, Mrs. L. L. Fox and Mrs. Augustus Dewalt, both of Harris-burg; and several sons, including Franklin Geil, Emmitsburg.

4-H Girls Hold

Meetings

The Emmitsburg Girls' 4-H Club held a Valentine party at the home of Mrs. Paul Beale on Friday, Feb. 13. Games were played and refreshments were served the 10 members present.

One Saturday recently the girls held a work meeting pertinent to certain projects. They each renovated a waste basket or made a new one out of a metal con-tainer. They currently are work-ing on home improvement pro-jects. The girls also are planning to make puppets for the children patients at Annie Warner Hos-pital, Gettysburg.

The group is very much inter-ested in the 4-H but they do need to have transportation to the meetings. It would help the club considerably if more parents could aid with the transportation. On February 24 the regular meeting of the club was held, being called to order by the pres-ident, Carolyn Umbel. There was a discussion on making puppets for the children patients and it was decided to hold a special meeting for this purpose. During 4-H Club Week the girls decided to place an exhibit in a local store window and also sponsor a bake sale.

The girls practiced judging wastebaskets, cup cakes and dis-

A "Suppressed" Report

Some reliable news sources in Washington recently reported that President Eisenhower has been more and more displeased with the Chief Justice whom he appointed to the Supreme Court. The President is annoyed and alarmed, the reports say, because the Chief Justice has been a ringleader in destroying vital internal security safeguards. It is to be hoped that the President will make a public statement on this. Too much is at stake — our liberty and our lives — when any agency of the government destroys carefully legislated laws vital to the structure of our national defense.

The President may not speak out; the code of politics or personal considerations may impose self-censorship. A notable case of censorship that backfired occurred in the same area of danger, when powerful forces outside or within the American Bar Association managed to have the Association bypass a report of a special committee of the Association which had made the study of Communist tactics, strategy and objectives. This special committee was headed by Peter Campbell Brown, former chairman of the Subversive Activities Control Board, and numbered in its membership some of the most distinguished lawyers in America.

National Suicide

Although the strategy of those who wanted to sidetrack the report was successful at the American Bar Association national convention, Senator Styles Bridges was told of its importance; he secured a copy and obtained consent of the U. S. Senate to have it printed in the Record. It is damaging to those Supreme Court justices who voted to destroy our internal security laws. The report lists 20 decisions on Communism handed down by the Supreme Court in the last two years. Each of the 20 decisions was a priceless victory for world Communism. Each weakened America's internal security.

The report of this ABA special committee calls attention to a statement by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI: "It would be the worst kind of folly to allow the spy and subversive immunity through technical rather than logical interpretation of the law, while they plot the destruction of our democratic form of government." And "the worst kind of folly" means national suicide. Many feel that the Supreme Court, in protecting the Communist conspiracy, is committing us to national suicide.

Outlaw Communism

The Bar Association committee set forth 10 specific recommendations designed to restore the structure of security wrecked by the Supreme Court. Each of the 10 recommendations begins with the word "Restore." The recommendations call upon Congress to pass legislation reconstructing the bulwarks torn down by the Supreme Court. This committee of distinguished and nationally known lawyers also called upon Congress and the President to "re-evaluate the policy of recognition of Soviet Russia and its satellites."

"Four American presidents refused to recognize the Communist government of Russia," the committee wrote, "and it remained weak and ineffective so long as it was unrecognized. Nothing would slow down the Communist line more definitely than if the United States were to recognize the necessity of treating Soviet Russia as an outlaw and putting its Red agents in the same category. It would dry up the channels by which Soviet Russia spreads its propaganda, directs its espionage, and enforces its discipline on certain of our citizens."

We Have No Plan

Another admonition to the President and Congress was: "Be prepared with a plan of action: One of the several lessons we learned from the Hungarian rebellion in October, 1956 was that the West has no plan of action." This report is one of the most valuable documents of its kind available to American citizens who earnestly wish to learn the nature of Communism and what we must do to combat its expanding power within America. It is somewhat frightening to know that such a report — based on irrefutable documented facts — was withheld from the ABA convention floor; in effect, "suppressed." Steps were taken recently to bring it to public attention by submitting it to the ABA's House of Delegates.

The committee's report closes with this warning: "We can no more save our Republic from Communism, merely by saying we are against Communism, than parents can save their children from polio by fervently being against polio. To conquer any disease requires intelligent study to isolate the germ and discover the vaccine. As the number one killer in the world today, Communism is a disease which merits our urgent study." Copies of the ABA special report may be obtained (20c) from American Opinion, Belmont, 78, Mass.

TAX HINTS

Q. I am 66. I received dividends in 1958, but not a pension. Am I entitled to a retirement income credit?

A. You may treat taxable dividends as retirement income for the purpose of computing the credit under the rule stated above.

Q. I am 70, and earned $2,500 in 1958 from various jobs. I also received a pension of $900. Do I get a retirement income credit?

A. No. The money you earned wipes out any retirement income credit you otherwise may have been allowed.

Q. My wife and I received $900 in dividends in 1958 on stock which we own. What are we allowed to exclude from our income?

A. Each of you may exclude from your income the first $50 of the dividends which each receives from qualified corporations. That usually means the actual earnings dividends of fully taxable domestic corporations. However, one of you may not use any portion of the $50 exclusion not used by the other. This rule holds whether you file a joint return or separate returns.

Q. I sold my home last June for an $8,000 profit and used the entire proceeds from the sale to buy a new house in December. Must I include the $8,000 profit in taxable income in my 1958 return?

A. No. The law provides that if you sell your personal residence at a profit, and within one year before or after the sale you purchase and occupy another residence, you are not taxed on any of the profit if the cost of the new residence equals or exceeds the sale price of the old residence. This rule also applies if, instead of buying another residence, you begin construction of a new home and occupy it within 18 months after sale of the old.

Q. My wife and I jointly own various stocks. In 1958, we received $1,000 in dividends from taxable domestic corporations. Are we each entitled to the $50 exclusion?

A. Yes. Each is considered as receiving half of the dividends.

Q. May I exclude from my income any part of the dividends received from a building and loan association?

A. No. Dividends from building and loan associations must be reported as interest income.

Here's a quick and easy-on-the-knees way to paint a cement basement floor. First mop the floor clean. Then, tie a paint roller securely to the mop handle and it will do a smooth job of painting in half the time. Be sure to use the special paint for cement floors and choose your favorite color. Upkeep is simple — just wipe it with a damp mop squeezed out of the special no-rinse floor cleaning solution.

Every home, no matter how small it is, needs a place where cleaning things can be kept together, advises the Spic and Span Cleaning Clinic. Along with the usual brooms, mops, pails, cleaning products, etc., the closet might also contain picnic gear, repair tools, ironing boards. Pegboard on the inside of the door will provide space for hanging brooms, mops, dusters, so they're neat and easy to reach. Even in a small apartment, a shelf with hooks for hanging mops and brooms will keep everything orderly.

Before you start washing the tile walls in the bathroom, turn on hot water and let the walls steam up a bit or plan to do the job after the last shower is taken in the morning. The steam loosens soil so it will wash off in a jiffy, especially when a sponge dipped out of a solution of Spic and Span is used. No rinsing is required and the tiles will be sparkling clean.

Is your front door painted white or a light pastel? Be sure it's sparkling clean before you deck it out with a Christmas wreath or fancy spray of pine branches and cones. A sponge dipped in a solution of Spic and Span is used. No rinsing is required and the tiles will be sparkling clean.

which is treated like other taxable income. It does not qualify for the dividend exclusion or tax credit.

Q. In 1958, I received a certain amount of dividends from a foreign corporation. Am I entitled to a dividend tax credit?

A. No. Foreign corporations do not qualify.

Q. In 1958 I received $90 in dividends from taxable domestic corporations and my wife $60. How do we figure our dividend tax credit?

A. Each is allowed to exclude $50 from the dividend income. This is done in Schedule A of your income tax Form 1040. That leaves you a combined total of $50 of dividend income subject to the tax credit. In Schedule J of your return, you may take a four per cent credit against the $50, or $2, assuming you file a joint return. This you may deduct from your tax.

Q. My bank entered a $50 credit for interest in my bank book on Jan. 3, 1958. Is this taxable as 1958 income?

A. Probably. The bank may have credited the $50 to your account during 1958. If so, it should be reported as income for that year.

Q. I live in Baltimore, where I have a job for nine months of the year. The rest of the year I work at a seasonal job in Philadelphia, Pa. May I deduct the expenses involved in working in Philadelphia?

A. Yes. Under the law, your "tax home" is Baltimore, the place of your principal employment. While you are in Philadelphia, therefore you qualify as being "away from home overnight," and are entitled to the privileges implied by that term. That means you may deduct allowable traveling expenses involved in going to and from Philadelphia and living there, including the cost of meals and lodging.

These deductions are to be taken from the income that you enter in line 5, page 1, of your return. In addition, you may itemize other deductions on page 2 of your return, or take the standard 10 per cent deduction, as you choose.

The Internal Revenue Service insists that you keep accurate records of these traveling expenses, and that you attach a statement to your return explaining them in detail.

Q. I live in Baltimore and work in Washington, D. C. I go home each weekend, but during the week I stay at a hotel in Washington and eat in restaurants. Am I entitled to a deduction for traveling expenses incident to working in Washington?

A. No. Under the law, Washington is your tax home. While there, you are not traveling away from home overnight for tax purposes. Also, your weekend trips to Baltimore are not regarded as essential to your work.

Q. I am a bus driver. I leave my terminal station at an early hour and return 16 hours later. At my turn-around point, I am released for four hours of sleep.

Am I entitled to a deduction for traveling expenses?

A. Yes. Since you are released for sleep, you qualify as being away from home overnight. Thus you may deduct your allowable traveling expenses from the income you enter in line 5, page 1.

Good Windows Offer Lifetime Of Benefits to Home Owners

Man's first window probably was a hole cut in the wall of a cave to let more light in. Later it may have dawned on his Neanderthal intelligence that the fresh air was nice, too. Today windows do much more than admit light and air, and it's important for prospective home owners and families planning to remodel to know what these functions are. Proper windows can offer them a lifetime of benefits.

Here are some of the principal functions of quality windows of ponderosa pine:

1. Scientific ventilation.

Weather Protection

Double-hung windows open top and bottom. Hot stale air goes out at the top, and fresh air comes in at the bottom. Casement, awning, and hopper styles open for full-window ventilation.

2. Weather protection. All styles of wood windows are designed to fit tightly and are weather-stripped to keep out cold, rain, snow, and dust. The awning style even keeps rain out when it is open by providing a tiny roof of glass. The sturdy ponderosa pine is chemically treated to resist weather.

Exterior Beauty

3. Insulation. Today's wood windows provide many times the insulating value of windows made of other materials. This is because wood is a natural insulator. It stays at room temperature inside, and can't readily conduct heat outside. As a result, wood windows save heat in winter, and there's no condensation on frames and sash to run down over painted walls and wallpaper.

4. Architectural beauty. Inside and out, windows probably contribute more to styling and appearance of a house than any other component. Wood windows are available in styles to complement architecture from Colonial to contemporary. A further advantage is that wood windows can be stained or painted to harmonize with color schemes inside and out.

5. Easy cleaning. Many models of double-hung and sliding wood windows are easily removed from their frames from inside the house, simplifying cleaning and making the job safe. Awning, hopper, and casement models open so that both sides of the glass can be washed from inside the house.

6. View. Windows are the "eyes" of any house. This is especially important for a house on a scenic site or one with an attractive garden. The more windows there are, the greater the family's enjoyment of nature in all seasons.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read John 13:31-38.

"A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, that you also love one another." (John 13:34.)

Jesus gives us the guidance we need in our relationship with other people when He tells us to love one another as He has loved us. This seems impossible for us as we think of His supreme sacrifice of Himself for us. However, we know imperfect people who have achieved very nearly perfect relationship with their neighbors. It takes discipline and unfaltering faith to believe that Jesus strengthens our efforts to live by His principles. Results demonstrate His yoke is easy.

A pebble cast into a pool of water sends ripples over an earlign ares. So our goodwill sends ever-enlarging circles of goodwill that change persons and their attitudes from self-seeking to concern for others.

George Lloyd, Bishop of the Cathedral, Chester, England, in the seventeenth century took as his motto, "Love will conquer force." He typified it so well in his relationships with people that

Parity Price Of Farm Products Reduced

The percentage of the farmer's expenditures that goes into production costs has increased in recent years, while the percentages spent for living and for interest, taxes, and wages have decreased. As a result, the parity price of most farm products has dropped slightly, effective in January 1959, according to a report received by Julius P. Parran, Chairman of the Maryland Agri-

King James described him as the "Beauty of holiness."

Prayer

Our Father, may we seek Thy will by studying Thy Word and applying its teachings this day. May we move in Thy strength, realizing it is available to us in the measure we seek it. In the name of Christ, our Redeemer. Amen.

Thought For The Day

When we love others as Christ loved us, we help create brotherly love necessary for a Christian society.

cultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Parity prices are used in connection with the price support programs administered by the ASC committee as a means of comparing farm prices with past periods in terms of purchasing power.

Chairman Parran said the Department of Agriculture's latest survey shows that production items account for nearly 51 per cent of farm expenses compared with 41 per cent during the 1947-51 period. This is the result of larger farms and commercialized agriculture, with substitution of machinery and equipment for labor. On the other hand, the percentage of farm expenses going for living has dropped nearly 5 percent, and so has the percentage for interest, taxes, and wages.

Since the production items have risen in actual cost less than other farm expenses, Mr. Parran said, the result is to reduce farmers' expenses relative to the prices received in the past. The net effect has been to reduce parity prices as computed in January 1959 about 3-1/3 per cent from what they would otherwise have been.

Wills Are Necessary Documents

"Where there's a will there's a way," but if you do not leave a will the way that your estate may be divided might not be the way you would want it divided.

A will is very necessary, says Joanne Reitz, Extension home management specialist of the University of Maryland. If a person does not leave a will the inheritance laws of the state will govern the disposition of the deceased's estate.

For example, the estate might be divided among a wife and children, when actually a father may have wanted his wife to have full control of the funds so she could support and educate the children without having to account for every penny to the courts.

A will can be made by any male 21 years of age or female 18 years of age who is of sound and disposing mind. A will is an important legal document, says Miss Reitz, and should not be a do-it-yourself project. A lawyer can help you decide on the type of ownership of property, in understanding the need for witnesses, and in other ways. The cost of drawing a will is moderate, and will save much expense later on.

A will may be very short or very long and complex, depending upon the nature of bequest and the size of the estate. However, the following points should be included in all wills:

A will should always name an executor; it should appoint a guardian of minor children; the executor should be authorized to act without bond; the executor

No. 19069 Equity

In The Circuit Court For Frederick County, In Equity

RICHARD SCHAEFFER

MARY SCHAEFFER

The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Plaintiff, RICHARD SCHAEFFER, from the Defendant, Mary Schaeffer.

The Bill states in substance that the parties were married on June 8, 1947 in Lawrence, Massachusetts, by a regularly Ordained Minister of the Gospel; that the Plaintiff is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, having resided therein for more than one year past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, her last known address being 324 Market Street, Lawrence, Massachusetts; that no children have been born as a result of said marriage; that the Defendant deserted the Plaintiff on or about December 31, 1954, and they have remained continuously and uninterruptedly separate and apart since said date, being more than eighteen (18) months last past; that the Plaintiff gave his wife no just cause to desert him and no cause to break her marriage vows in any way; and that said desertion was deliberate and final and there is no reasonable expectation of a reconciliation between the parties. The Bill prays that the Defendant be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII, and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 5th day of February, 1959, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Plaintiff give notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the objects and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 14th day of March, 1959, commanding her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 14th day of April, 1959, and show cause, if any she has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Milk Cooperative To Meet Saturday

Members of the Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc. and their wives (or husbands) and guests will hold their Annual Meeting on Saturday, February 28, in the Calvert Room of the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore.

The meeting will open with a business session at 10 a. m. with President Edgar G. Emrich presiding. Members will hear a report by Mr. Emrich and a report of the year's activities by William P. Sadler in his dual capacity as MCMP manager and treasurer. Mr. Sadler is expected to give a detailed account of the progress of the dairy farmer Cooperative's request for a Federal Milk Marketing Order for the Baltimore milkshed.

A hearing on this was recessed on Friday, February 13, until Monday, March 9, when Federal officials had to be in Boston the week following February 13.

A luncheon will follow the business session and the members and their guests — between 800 and 1000 are expected—will hear Vice Admiral Chales B. Momen, USN (Retired) speak on "Resources of the Sea." Admiral Momen has had a colorful career as any Navy officer living and it is his name which was given to the "Momen Lung" devised a number of years ago to permit personnel to escape from disabled submarines.

State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein will be the Toastmaster.

Photographic Contest To Be Conducted

A statewide photographic contest relating to reading and library services, will be conducted by the Baltimore Camera Club, it was announced today by F. Lathshaw Wightman, president.

Arranged in conjunction with National Library Week (April 12 to 18, inclusive), the contest will be open to all camera fans residing in Maryland, Mr. Wightman said.

Three major prizes—$100, $50 and $25 United States savings bonds—are to be awarded the pictures adjudged the best by a jury of experts, in accordance with recommended practice of the Photographic Society of America.

The prizes have been donated by Albert D. Saffro, of Baltimore. The next 20 selections will receive special merit ribbons given by the sponsoring group.

Books, newspapers, magazines, pamphlets, films, musical recordings—all types of reading materials and general library activities will be eligible as subject matter. The only exception, Mr. Wightman explained, will be comic books, because these are not available in public library collections.

Up to six black-and-white prints will be accepted from each contestant. Entry blanks, with leaflets setting forth full details, may be had on request in public libraries and photo supply stores throughout the State, starting this week.

In addition to Mr. Wightman, officers of the Baltimore Camera Club are: Paul Clough, first vice president; William H. Stokes, second vice president; Mrs. Richard G. Smith, secretary; and James H. Eiford, treasurer.

A "How-To-Do-It"

PAINT POINTERS

Gay, colorful walls for basement workshop, recreation room or simply to beautify a traditionally ugly area of the house are achieved easily by a unique new type paint developed in Du Pont laboratories.

It's a thixotropic mixture. This means that it comes in a creamy, semi-paste that needs no stirring, is next to impossible to drip or spatter. The almost jelly-like paint is fascinating to use for it thins out mysteriously and instantaneously under the stroke of brush or roller. This makes it ideal for application over rough and porous surfaces like cement, cinder block, masonry.

While it's called one-coat basement paint, it works equally well on garage walls—in fact on walls throughout the home.

Here are some wise rules for good foot care:

1. Bathe feet daily and dry thoroughly. This will help prevent fungus growth.
2. Cut nails straight across, not round and not too short.
3. Give immediate attention to all wounds, blisters, skin eruptions.

NO ONE-SIDED PACT

It was all a fine idea to eliminate "oyster wars" on the Potomac River through the adoption of a new, equitable and comprehensive Maryland-Virginia compact. But is the proposed compact now under consideration equitable and comprehensive? There are those who do not think so—and they are all on our side of the Potomac and they are all from tidewater sections where commercial fishing is a basic industry. These people should be listened to.

Virginians, of course, are in favor of the proposal as drawn. Why shouldn't they be? They are to be assured of equal fishing rights in a wholly Maryland river (which is precisely what the Potomac is) and they concede nothing in return. Marylanders, on the other hand, are to gain nothing; they already have the right to fish in their own river and no one can take this right away.

For some reason which is not altogether clear, Governor Tawes seems to favor the new compact or, at least, to be leaning in its direction. His support could probably put it over in our Legislature. However, this is no place for a display of gubernatorial muscle. The Potomac belongs to all of Maryland and what happens to its natural resources is of importance to the whole state. Suppose we asked for a better deal from Virginia. Virginia might say yes. But suppose she said no, and we then countered with: Then there will be no new compact. The worst that could happen then, and this only a Supreme Court mandate, is a return to the old compact dating back to colonial days. This would not be too bad. It certainly would not be as bad as saddling ourselves for another 200 years with a compact that gives us nothing and Virginia everything.

Laurel Schedules Increase in Stakes

Two new races, one worth $50,000 added and the other at $25,000 added; an increase in the prize money for the ever-popular Chesapeake Stakes; and a change in distance for the time-honored Laurel Handicap are the highlights of the lucrative $150,000 stakes schedule announced this week by Laurel race course officials for their spring meet, April 1 through May 2.

The new $50,000 event is the Laurel Maturity, a handicap exclusively for four-year-olds at a mile and an eighth to be held on Saturday, April 11. Entries for this special closed last August 1, but supplementaries can be made on or before March 1 upon payment of $2,500. The Maturity should gross well over $75,000, due to heavy early patronage on the part of horsemen. The finest handicap horses in the nation, fitting the age bracket, are expected to compete.

Wilwyn, the gallant little English colt who won the first Washington D. C. International in 1952, is being honored by the addition of the $25,000 added event. This race will be known as the Wilwyn Handicap and its conditions call for three-year-olds and up to compete at a mile and seventy yards on April 4, the first Saturday of the meeting.

Horsemen at Laurel will find the Wilwyn an excellent opportunity of preparing their older horses for the longer $25,000 added Laurel Handicap on April 25. The Laurel is the oldest of Laurel's stakes, and its distance has been increased this spring to a mile and an eighth. It formerly was staged at a mile and a sixteenth.

The Chesapeake, one of the country's leading preparatory races for the longer Kentucky Derby, has been scheduled for Saturday, April 18. As usual, it will be for three-year-olds only at a mile and a sixteenth, but the purse has been increased from $20,000 added to $25,000 added. As has been its custom throughout its long history, the Chesapeake seems certain to again draw the leading three-year-olds among its entries.

The Capitol Handicap has traditionally opened Laurel spring meetings and will do so again this year. The date is April 1, the distance, six furlongs, the purse $10,000 added and the age limit—three-year-olds and up.

With the Capitol raising the curtain, it remains for the Maryland Derby to lower it. This race, to be run for the second time, occupies the May 2 date on the racing calendar. Carrying a purse of $15,000 added the Maryland Derby is a race for three-year-olds foaled in Maryland, at a mile and a sixteenth. The Derby brought a tremendous response from the public and the horsemen when it was first introduced last May, and there is every indication that it will do so again this year.

Preventing Foot Trouble

One out of every two youngsters of high school age suffers from some sort of foot ailment; 80 percent of our population, or four out of five, have some type of foot trouble. These are startling statistics when it is realized that a major part of foot disorders can be prevented or corrected with proper medical attention.

One of the newest fields of specialized medicine is Podiatry, the art and science of foot care. Podiatrists are doctors trained in medical science who have specialized in the area of feet care. Statistics reveal that over 76 per cent of our children show signs of foot trouble. Since it is in the early years that so many foot disorders begin, and since this is the time to prevent or correct these disorders, let's explore ways recommended by Podiatrists to take care of children's feet.

There are 52 bones in a pair of young feet, and only 154 in the remainder of the body. The general structure of the foot is not completed until the age of 14. In fact, some of the bone structures are not completed until much later. Children out-grow shoes faster than they outwear them, often leading parents to pass them along to the younger ones. This is a serious error, for hand-me-down shoes are bound to warp the feet since no two set of feet develop in exactly the same pattern.

Here are some wise rules for good foot care:

1. Bathe feet daily and dry thoroughly. This will help prevent fungus growth.
2. Cut nails straight across, not round and not too short.
3. Give immediate attention to all wounds, blisters, skin eruptions.

ANOTHER SOAKING?

WASHINGTON AND

SMALL BUSINESS

By C. WILSON HARDER

Slowly, but surely, it is being borne home in Washington that the action taken by the European Common Market nations in resuming convertibility of currency, and the devaluation of currency by France, is a threat to American economic security.

In many respects, there is now a three-sided economic war under way.

Soviet Russia, of course, seeks to undermine the economic health of other nations by barter deals, some of which have been quite sizable.

On the other hand, devaluation of currencies in Europe only means that these nations, with cheaper currencies, hence still cheaper wages, will further undercut the U. S. both in the home market and in foreign markets.

Thus, the carefully hatched chickens over more than the past 20 years are starting home to roost.

Reciprocal trade treaties have about torn down the protective tariff structure that protected the U. S. employer and worker from dumping from abroad.

The constant drive toward a greater and greater welfare state as evidenced by this year's sharp hike in Social Security taxes, has added greatly to the cost of doing business.

And America is no longer, through almost sole mastery of mass production processes able to compete with cheap foreign labor through technological superiority.

© National Federation of Independent Business

priority, because under the various foreign give away programs, most of world now has the same equipment, given as gifts by American taxpayers.

Many are wondering just how smart Walter Reuther, head of the auto workers' union really is because while he has been boosting up benefits for the workers in Detroit, the business is going elsewhere.

It is predicted that the sale of foreign made cars in the U. S. which almost hit 10% of all car sales in 1958 will climb up to 20% of the market in 1959.

And a large share of this business is being done by cars either made, or whose U. S. sales are controlled, by the wholly owned foreign subsidiaries of Detroit's Big Three.

Thus, Big Autos have stepped out from under the landslide.

Unfortunately, the nation's independent business firms, who furnish most of the nation's employment, are not in a position to hedge their position in such a manner, because everything they have is tied up on U. S. soil.

Thus, this session of Congress will perhaps be the most important in the nation's history. There is no doubt that the decision must be made soon whether the U. S. will continue to sap the strength of independent enterprise to create a bigger welfare state, and throw money around the world for the benefit of a few, or if independent enterprise will be given the green light to build a much greater America, which was originally built by this same unfettered independent spirit. The American system cannot much longer continue half free, half bureaucratic dominated.

Russia Determined To Get Berlin

The Germans, at the instigation of Kaiser Wilhelm, pushed south to the Mediterranean Sea. (As a reminder of him, I have the steering wheel of his private yacht at my home at 58 Middle Street, Gloucester, Mass.) Soon after the Germans met defeat in World War I, Hitler rallied them again to fight for the same cause, "Pan-Germanism" as they called it, presumably with Russia's help.

But Russia has not only become a traitor to Germany, but has secured one-fourth of Germany and a large slice of Berlin itself. The Germans are determined to get this back. The Russians figure that if they can get England, France, and the United States to withdraw their troops, Russia can peacefully absorb Berlin, and perhaps later all of Germany. As a first step in this campaign, Mikoyan was recently sent to visit us.

Berlin Will Not Wait Too Long
Russia will want to post-pone her recent Berlin ultimatum as long as she fears China at her "back door," but the Germans will not wait too long. They are the bravest and strongest people in Europe. If World War III comes, it will be started from Berlin. The Germans believe that they will be backed secretly by Hungary, Bulgaria, the Czechs, and all the Slavic nations. Germany will fire her atomic bombs over these "buffer" countries, while Russia will not dare to destroy them. They may be the safest place to live during World War III, if or when it comes!

Russia pretends that her great enemy is the United States. Russia's talk about Capitalism is merely window-dressing. Russia would like to take us over by infiltration—and the help of a radical pro-labor party in the United States—but not by destroying us. I repeat: Russia fears Germany on the West and China on the East. Germany would like to get to the Persian Gulf and get indirect control of Turkey and India; but her main objective today is to win the Russian satellites—or buffer states, so called. This, Germany is preparing to do. Washington cannot talk about this, but those in authority know it. On the other hand, so long as Russia is able to destroy Germany with bombs, I cannot believe that Germany would attack Russia; but this I will discuss next week. All depends upon whether anti-missile missiles are available. Berlin And The Stock Market

In a recent column, I stated that I am 60% bearish and 40% bullish on the stock market. My main reason for being 40% bullish is because I believe that the next World War will be between Russia and Germany, and with her allies, Germany would finally win. Wall Street believes that this would be the end of Communism for another 40 years. Although the United States would be in such a war, we would not bomb Russia unless Russia bombed us, but would be content to keep the Germans well supplied with atomic or hydrogen bombs and anything else they might need. We cannot forget Germany's hideous and barbarous crimes under the Hitler regime; but have the German people ever "double-crossed" us as have the Russians? I have this Berlin affair in mind when saying I am 40% bullish.

I am more than ever convinced, since my recent visit to Africa, that the above is the Berlin program. This is why England retired gradually from India. And Great Britain is now in the process of turning seized Germany territory in Africa over to the native tribes, with her fingers crossed as to what the final results will be. Charles DeGaulle and Great Britain will be glad to aid Germany when she strikes. Republicans and Democrats in Washington should stop fighting between themselves; but watch Berlin and trust President Eisenhower, who knows Europe better than any of them.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Let's face facts. Fishing is getting tougher and tougher each season. A few years ago it didn't matter if you missed quite a few strikes for you could generally count on getting a lot more, and hooking them. Now, in most places, miss many and you come in skunked states Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine. So your idea should be to miss no strikes.

Of course this, like most ideals, is impossible to achieve; but by aiming high you can come close. The percentage you can hook varies with species, but let's discuss bass, the favorite American game fish and certainly the species that gives many anglers most missed-strike trouble.

What percentage of strikes should you expect to hook on surface lures? That's a tough one to answer, but here's Lucas' score just to give you a goal to shoot for. With a big casting-rod-size plug, there are times when he'll miss only one strike in 20. With poppers, when the bass are hitting on the surface he'll miss considerably less. This is because a bass will take this smaller object completely into its mouth.

Too, when you retrieve a large surface lure rather slowly and steadily, a bass will sometimes splash immediately behind it but without touching it, and if you're not watching closely, when really, of course, he couldn't have been hooked. By not jerking the thing away when one does this you may get him to follow and splash behind as often as five or six times before he gets close enough to see you and whirl back.

So here's a good trick to remember. Whenever you're missing too many, on either surface lures or underwater, switch to a much smaller lure and you stand an excellent chance to hook all others that hit.

Fair Schedules Water Follies

The Hagerstown Fair Association has announced that a spectacular aquacade, The Water Follies of 1959, will be its headline attraction for grandstand patrons at The Great Hagerstown Interstate Fair next summer.

The Water Follies are coming to Hagerstown from an extended engagement at last year's World Fair in Brussels. It was the only American show presented in the amusement park section of the World's Fair grounds in Belgium.

The Hagerstown Fair is scheduled from August 10 to 15 this year. Ten performances are being planned for the two-hour Water Follies, including shows every night and a number of matinees.

The Water Follies of 1959 is a combined revue in water and on stage that includes many comedy acts, a special musical score and such special lighting effects as phosphorescent costumes worn by the lovely swimmers in a blacked-out pool.

Sam Snyder, Boston, Mass., is producer of the show. Roger Nadeau, billed as the world's greatest diving comedian, is its outstanding aquatic star.

The Hagerstown Fair will be held in August this year for the third straight year. The early scheduling permits visitors to get a preview of many exhibits and features which move to Timonium State Fair later in the month.

Garden Club Meets

Mrs. F. M. Butler, president of the Silver Fancy Garden Club, held the February meeting of the club at her home in Taneytown.

The club voted to have their annual bridge party, the time and place to be announced.

Following the business meeting Mr. P. Donofrio, of the Carroll Gardens Nursery, showed colored slides of Maryland gardens. He offered many suggestions about landscaping and the selection and care of annuals and perennials in the garden. A question and answer period followed. Co-hostesses were Mrs. A. A. Koswick, and Mrs. Hewitt MacPherson. Mrs. MacPherson presided at the tea table. Next meeting to be at the home of Mrs. A. A. Koswick on March 11, 1959.

National 4-H Club Week will be observed nationally from Feb. 28-March 7, this year by more than two million, one hundred and sixty-five thousand boys and girls who belong to the nation's 4-H clubs. In Maryland there are 773 4-H clubs with a total enrollment of 14,456 members. Frederick County has the highest number of all counties in the State with 1,039 boys and girls enrolled in 55 local clubs throughout the county. All the members will take part in 4-H Week activities relative to farming, homemaking, community service, and other club projects. Character development and good citizenship are members' most important goals. If you are between the age of 10 and 21 years and would like to become a 4-H member or know more about 4-H work, write, telephone, or drop in at the County Agricultural Extension Office at Winchester Hall, Frederick, phone MO. 2-4171.

Strip of Metal Protects Roof's Vulnerable Edges

Roofers apply metal drip edge on rake of roof, above, and along eaves, below, before applying roof of asphalt shingles. Drip edge keeps water out of edges of wooden roof decking.

Here's a tip for families who are building a new home, remodeling an old one, or simply planning to have a new roof applied on their present house: Make sure your roofer applies a metal drip edge along the rakes and eaves before he applies the roofing material. This drip edge, a narrow strip of corrosion-resistant metal, is vital because it helps prevent rain water and melting snow and ice from getting into the edges of vulnerable wood roof decking where moisture can cause warping and rot. The Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau recommends that the drip edge be applied directly on the wood deck along the eaves so that the underlay felt when applied will cover it. Along the rakes it is applied over the felt underlay. The metal strip is bent over the edges of the deck, providing a durable run-off for water. The drip edge also keeps wind-driven rain and snow out of the decking boards. The drip edge, plus the rugged armor of mineral-surfaced asphalt shingles, provide a roof that will give dependable, long-lasting protection in the harshest weather.

Heart Fund Drive Now Under Way

The Heart Fund Drive is well under way locally, Harry Swomley Jr., general chairman of this district, announced this week. Part of the door-to-door canvassing has been accomplished and it is hoped to complete the task in the very near future.

A recent concrete example of how the Heart Fund benefits county citizens was given when a small Union Bridge girl required heart surgery.

The leading lady in this true story of "A battle for a heart" is Marian Ethel Harman, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Smith and George B. Harman of Union Bridge.

Marian's heart defect was first diagnosed by Dr. B. O. Thomas Jr. and he arranged for her to be examined by Dr. Leonard Schedlis, heart specialist at University Hospital in Baltimore.

There was a hole found in the side of her heart the size of a quarter. However, it was not advisable at that time to operate. Marian was to rest and build herself up until November.

On November 21 Marian entered University Hospital for a complete examination. She underwent heart catheterization in which a tube is passed from an artery up into the arm and over into the heart. In this way the inside damage can be determined.

Things were even worse than expected as there was also closure of a valve. On Nov. 26 she returned home.

In-the-meantime Marian was to rest and prepare herself for a dual operation.

A call was sent out for 15 blood donors with RH Negative type blood. Nineteen Frederick County donors responded. The local Heart Association received a number of volunteers and channeled them to the proper designation.

Then the date was set for January 18 at University Hospital. Two donors were to be present immediately before the operation so that the blood could be used at once.

Dr. R. A. Cowley performed an open chest cavity operation, in which the hole in the wall of the heart was closed and the defective valve enlarged to its proper dimension. The operations were a success. Each day saw Marian's improvement and on February 5 she returned to her home to recuperate.

In talking to Mrs. Grace Butcher, local association executive secretary, Mrs. Smith, Marian's mother, reported "Marian doing fine, taking it easy in bed and in a chair and that she had gained five pounds already."

Last year it was the Russell Hoffman story—"Junior" Hoffman from near Middletown, underwent a heart repair also. Latest report from his family as "doing fine" and now able to look for work.

There was also young Richard Garber, Libertytown, who lighted the Heart and Torch in Court House park last year and had a nylon aorta transplant. Today young Garber is a student at Frederick High and leading a normal student's life.

And last, but not least, there was Elaine Hevner, now age eight of near Johnsville who had an open duct tying off operation in her heart. Today Mrs. Hevner (who was the Heart Sunday major for Johnsville) reported to Mrs. Ada L. Moore that her daughter "was getting along fine and apparently back to normal."

All of these success true stories are proof of what the February Heart Fund does.

Sixty per cent of all funds collected goes to the Frederick County Heart Association, to enable it to give free daily bicillin to 54 indigent patients to prevent a recurrence of rheumatic fever, to support and maintain a heart clinic, support a free loan closet of wheel-chairs, hospital beds, bed-sides, bed-tables and oxygen masks. Towards the support of and educational program available to all schools and organizations in the county.

Fifteen per cent of each fund drive is sent to the state to use in search with-in the state-research that made possible Hoffman, Garber, Hevner and Harman to go on living. Twenty-five per cent goes to national for the fight against cardiovascular disease goes on with each year bringing us closer to the answers—answers which might save a life—a life that might well be your own.

Parochial Schools Observe Anniversary

Catholic parochial school students this week marked the anniversary of the opening of the first such school in America.

On February 22, Washington's birthday, in 1810, Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton opened the doors of a small building here to 20 children of the local Catholic parish.

Instruction given by sisters was free, textbooks were without cost and each student received a daily meal. The opening marked the first time in America that a Catholic school offered free instruction under guidance of church leaders.

Today, from its beginnings in a class of twenty children, Catholic instruction in the United States is offered to 6,000,000 students.

Mother Seton—known as "Mother of the Catholic Parochial School System"—instilled the qualities of strict discipline, emphasis on respect for authority and moral training that still exist in the Catholic schools.

The original school here is now preserved as a Catholic shrine, and about 20,000 pilgrims visited each year. Nearby, in a modern, ranch-style building the school founded by Mother Seton is still carried on by the Sisters of Charity.

On the same campus are Saint Joseph College and the Central House of the Sisters of Charity, which administers schools and hospitals run by 9,000 nuns.

Electricity Use Continues To Increase

The annual average usage of electricity by residential customers of the Potomac Edison System continued to climb to record heights during 1958, according to figures released by the local utility company.

With one of the largest gains recorded in the history of the company, the average PE residential customer used 3,870 kilowatt hours of electricity during the past year. This is an increase of 280 kilowatt hours over 1957's figure of 3,590.

Potomac Edison's figures continued to show a marked increase over the national average usage. Edison Electric Institute estimates that the national average stands at 3,385 kilowatt hours, giving PE customers an edge of 285 kwh over the nation-wide figure.

Future forecasts of residential consumption indicate a continued increase in power demands. PE officials estimate that residential customers will increase their kilowatt hour usage this year by 195 kilowatt hours.

Social Security Law Changes Will Benefit More Citizens

Many persons in the Frederick area who could be getting payments under recent changes in the social security law may not yet know about their new rights, W. S. King, district manager of the Hagerstown Social Security Office, reported today. Four groups of people now eligible for payments were mentioned, particularly by Mr. King.

(1) The dependents of disabled workers receiving social security disability benefits. Benefits have been payable to severely disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age since July 1957. Now payments can also be made to their dependents.

(2) Aged parents who were dependent upon a worker at the time of his death, but who could not previously qualify for benefits because the deceased son or daughter was survived by a widow, widower, or child, may now get payments.

(3) Sons and daughters of retired or deceased workers who have been disabled since before their 18th birthdays may now be paid dependent's benefits even if they were not dependent upon the worker for at least one-half their support.

(4) Disabled workers who could not meet the work requirements under the social security disability provisions because they did not have social security credit for at least a year and a half out of the three years before they became disabled, may be eligible now. Disabled workers aged 50 to 65 may be paid benefits; workers under 50 can have their social security records frozen to protect future rights.

Mr. King pointed out that anyone who believes that he may be eligible for benefits because of these changes in the law should get in touch with his social security office. Those whose claims for benefits have been turned down in the past should file new applications, he said. The Hagerstown social security office is located at 59 North Cannon Ave.

Warns Of Danger While Kite Flying

"Although the age-old practice of kite-flying has been declining from the local scene over the years, its replacement among the younger set, that of model planes, can be a dangerous one if certain basic rules of safety are not observed."

This warning was issued this week by John W. Morgan, District Manager for the Potomac Edison Company in Frederick.

He urged children to exercise caution while flying kites and model airplanes, and pointed out the dangers of flying them near electric wires and television antennas.

Mr. Morgan pointed out that there are still many tragic accidents each year, resulting from carelessness in flying kites and model planes. Fatalities are numerous throughout the country and severe burns are often suffered when necessary precautions are not heeded, he said.

The utility company manager listed several basic rules which children should follow, urging parents to instruct their children accordingly.

In flying kites, he said, be sure that the child is using a kite without any metal in it. Secondly, beware of cord with tinsel or strands of wire wrapped in it. If such metal cords come in contact with a power line, they can cause burns or shock.

Mr. Morgan also urged youngsters to pick a level spot away from power lines, TV antennas, rocks and trees when flying either kites or planes, so they have plenty of room to run, and discourage them from using streets or highways where there is danger from motor vehicles.

Parents may also help, it was pointed out, by telling their young pilots to leave kites or planes alone if they get caught in a tree or on an electric wire. "It's better to get them another one, than to have the child injured," he said.
