Most Anything At A Glance

BY ABIGAIL

The tendency for fire companies to modernize has infiltrated the Taneytown area it was learned this week when the Town Council of that town agreed to purchase an adjacent building for expansion of the present fire hall, at a cost of approximately $6000. Firemen agreed to do the necessary work and raise money for the future planned expansion. Most every fire company, in the past decade, in Frederick County has or is planning modern facilities and expansion and the general public realizing the existing need for such modernization, has generally accepted the plan. Most of the companies have faced the problem of housing larger and more trucks and other modern fire fighting equipment and it is generally conceded that expansion is a must. A number have built new buildings and still others have been fortunate to have been located adjacent to property that could be acquired for expansion purposes, thereby keeping costs at a minimum.

For some time I understand, a certain measure of sentiment among local firemen, indicates such a plan should be adopted for future plans of our local company. Without a question headquarters are presently cramped and any future plans of the organization certainly call for expansion or remodeling of present facilities or even to the extent of a new building which would be a bit costlier than improving existing facilities. To keep the younger element interested and to maintain that required spirit needed to retain a well-run organization, expansion, improvements and other types of incentives are necessary to keep the young men active and interested. Such a situation seems prevalent here at the present time. I feel absolutely certain that the public will go along with any modernization plan conjured by the local fire company, which is as it should be.

If you are looking for good entertainment, and who isn't, then be sure to attend the annual Lions Club talent show which will be held tonight in the public school auditorium. I recall having such a good time at prior shows conducted by the Lions and they have come up with some top-notchers, believe me. The show lasts a good two full hours and every single minute produces a goodly measure of top quality entertainment. Don't miss it.

The recent session of the State Legislature was wound up with what was naturally to be concluded, the raising of the state tax rate. It seemed the lawmakers didn't know what else to tax so they came up with the idea to increase the state tax just in case they missed something. As a result it will be another hike in the cost of living for every single one of us.

As was predicted in this column several years ago, some day our mountain land will become a valuable asset. This prediction has become a reality. In the last several years city folks have purchased many tracts of land and homes in this area and the land is bringing sometimes fabulous prices. Summer camps have been established and just this week an announcement was made that another summer boys camp would be erected in Eyler's Valley. There isn't too much of it left folks and I believe what remains should be commercialized in some manner which would be beneficial to our own local community. Just in what form this can be done is not yet quite clear to me but the time is nearing, or is in fact at hand, when some enterprising individual or individuals should investigate the possibilities of developing the area.

LOCAL YOUTH ESSAY CONTEST WINNER

George Thomas Wilhide, a senior at Frederick High School, won first place in the Civitan-sponsored essay contest open to all high school seniors (public or parochial) in the county.

Wilhide is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wilhide, president of the Farmers State Bank, Emmitsburg. He commutes daily to the school. His winning essay was judged along with 20 others from school students.

The essays were judged last week. Other top winners, all students at Frederick High School, were: Rosaline N. Nasher, second; Sandra Jean Osborn, third, and Louis Finneyfrock, fourth. Wilhide was given a $100 savings bond; Miss Nasher received a $75 bond; Miss Osborn a $50 bond and Finneyfrock a $25 bond. The essay title as designated by the Civitan club was "Citizenship—A Progress of Gradual Achievement."

Judges were Miss Pearl Eader, retired teacher; Judge Edward S. Delaplaine (retired from the Court of Appeals) and Frederick Mayor Jacob R. Ramsburg.

Wilhide plans to attend college. He said to date he has selected Western Maryland at Westminster. He recently was awarded a teacher's scholarship.

Wilhide's paper will be entered in the district contest at which time the winners will receive cash awards. The winner of the district is eligible for International competition.

In concluding his essay Wilhide says: Our world leadership rests on how well each one of us carries on his job of being an American citizen—the most responsible and rewarding job in the world.

Letter's Granted

Governor Signs Bills Affecting Frederick County

Governor Tawes Friday signed into law the measure ending the limitation on the number of assessors who can be appointed in Frederick County and removing the political requirements of the appointees.

The act of repeal as of June 1 a county law which limited the number of assessors to two and required that one be a Democrat and the other a Republican.

The State Tax Commission reportedly has recommended that a third assessor be appointed in Frederick County, but it is not known whether the State budget contains funds to cover such a position. The County Commissioners would make an appointment, if such a position is set up, after examinations are held by the tax commission.

The Governor also signed a bill which boosts the amount of County payments to the four Frederick city fire companies by $1,150 a year each. It presumably would not take effect until the 1960 budget.

A third bill signed, introduced by Senator Samuel W. Barrick, would clarify the allowance of legal fees for an executor or administrator of estates.

The Governor also signed a bill which would require that motor vehicles must stop for a school bus taking on or discharging passengers in towns up to 25,000 population instead of the present 5,000 population. That would apply to Frederick city.

After adopting a conference report, the General Assembly concurred in amendments and enacted the bill providing for a semi-annual assessment and levy in Frederick County and sent it to the Governor.

The Senate concurred in amendments and enacted another Barrick bill to authorize recodification of the 1959 edition of the code of public local laws of Frederick County.

The Senate completed General Assembly action on legislation setting next year's State tax rate at 14.75 cents per $100 of assessable property. This year's rate is 13.42 cents.

The circus, an all-Scout function, is built around the theme, "Men of Tomorrow." It is being planned by the National Capital Area Council.

Each of the four area districts will portray some theme characteristic of the district and the local Francis Scott Key District is planning a theme based on the district's name.

Roger W. Cann, district Scout executive, said the portrayal by the districts is an innovation in the circus this year. The portrayal by the four districts will be one of the 10 circus acts.

About 15,000 boys will participate and an all-Scout band is being organized to furnish music for the event. The band will be under the direction of Col. George S. Howard, director of the U. S. Air Force Band.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OBSERVING ARBOR DAY

The Public School is observing Arbor Day by planting an Arbor Vitae Tree near the front steps at the main entrance of the school building. This tree will replace one of those of the original landscaping.

The Science and Agriculture classes of the High School Department and the Sixth Grade through their study of Conservation are in charge of a brief program during the planting which will be witnessed by two representatives of each class in the school. The program under the direction of Mrs. Mary S. Scott, chairman, Mr. Cleon Elliot and Mr. Harry Weber is as follows:

Governor's Proclamation, John Wagaman; Poems, What Do We Plant?, and Shade, Sixth Grade; Planting of Tree, Shirley Hahn; Remarks, Importance of Arbor Day in the Schools.

Proclamation

Those who plant trees enjoy the thrill, the satisfaction and the privilege of participating in one of nature's miracles.

Trees give charm and color to the landscape. They beautify plots and acres and provide comfortable shade.

From forests we produce wood and paper and help conserve soil, water and animal life. Woodlands also aid in the prevention of destructive floods.

Indeed, without trees it would be difficult for civilization to exist.

Fortunately, man has awakened to the danger of denuding forests in his urges to build.

He has devised sciences of control, protection and replacement of woodlands—all essential in preserving the miracle of earth's abundance.

Recognizing the importance of trees in the life of humanity, and in accord with a Resolution of the General Assembly adopted in 1894, I, J. Millard Tawes, Governor, do hereby proclaim April 10, 1959, as ARBOR DAY in Maryland.

I urge that our people, young and old—and particularly those in our schools, observe the day by studies and discussions of forest conservation, and, if possible, by participation in the miracle of planting a tree.

Given Under My Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, at the City of Annapolis, this 11th Day of March, In the Year of Our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred Fifty-nine. J. Millard Tawes, By the Governor, Thomas B. Finan, Secretary of State

Work On New Street To Commence

A full board was present at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg held Monday evening in the town office, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners Charles R. Fuss presiding.

Police Chief Robert L. Koutz presented his monthly report to the Board and Tax Collector C. D. Gillean filed his monthly accounting, stating that the new taxes were being paid at a satisfactory rate.

To be eligible to vote in the town election, one must be over 21 years of age and have resided within the corporation limits during the past 12 months. The annual town election will be held May 4 when a Burgess and one Commissioner will be elected. The term of Commissioner Wales E. Rightmire expires this year.

The Town Fathers announced that a peddlers' permit ordinance will be enforced effective May 1 and stated that all peddlers doing business within the corporate limits of town will be compelled to obtain a permit. It is understood that this ordinance will cover such peddlers as milk, coal, bread, oil, ice cream, beer companies, etc. The minimum cost of such permit is $5. Present at the meeting was a delegation of property owners from Emmitsburg proper. The delegation sought to obtain a correction in present sewerage plans for that area. Council agreed to have the contractor presently installing the new sewer line to lower the present existing sewer line thereby providing adequate sewerage facilities for that section.

Burgess Clarence G. Frailey announced that all parties having damage claims created by construction of the new sewerage line, file such claims immediately in order that they can be settled before the contracting firm leaves town. Indications are that the sewer project will be completed within the next 10 weeks and the Mayor urges any claimants to enter such claims immediately lest unpleasant difficulties mature. A bill from the W. F. Wilson and Son contracting firm in the amount of $23,000 for work on the sewer line during the past month, was order paid.

The Town Salons announced that Emmitsburg will observe Daylight Saving Time on Sunday, April 26 and will remain on that time until the last Sunday in October, conforming with most of the Nation. In other business transacted during the meeting the Council asked the electric power utility to install light poles and lights at both the new sewer pumping station and the disposal plant.

Council also decided to push forward another project that has been hanging fire for many months. This project consists of the construction of a new street running from the Public School to the Mother Seton School. A contractor has been engaged and work is expected to commence within a week.

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Discusses Getting Jobs

BABSON PARK, Mass., Apr. 9.—Most graduates from high school or college wait too long before seeking new jobs. The same applies to most employers who are seeking new workers. Now is the time for both prospective graduates and employers to get busy.

Watch Science Fairs

Most states are now holding Science Fairs exhibiting models and inventions by high school students of certain cities or counties. The original idea was suggested by William Guild of St. Petersburg, Fla.; but with the help of J. C. Council of the Tampa, Fla. Tribune these "Fairs" have been promoted by the leading newspapers in their vicinity. Of course, they are not "Fairs" — as they have nothing to sell—but are rather exhibits of ambitious high school students who may have worked months on their projects. This is the place for corporations and others to find students with extraordinary initiative and inventive capacity. These young people have no trouble securing good jobs or scholarships, whichever they desire.

As I read my daily newspapers I am discouraged by the crimes in which "teen-agers" are involved. It truly makes me feel that our country is "going to the devil," so to speak. But when attending one of these Science Fairs I become very optimistic about American youth. I believe that 95% of the young people are boys and girls of character and ambition. Furthermore, those who get into trouble do so largely because of neglect by their parents, some of whom are too poor and others too rich to bother about their children. "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree" applies to young people as well as to forests. The churches and schools cannot do much without the help of the parents. Furthermore, we must not think only of our own children—but for their own good we must think of the children of others who may not be as fortunate as we are. I wish every father reading this column would send fifteen cents (to cover printing and postage) to The J. W. Burke Company of Macon, Ga. for a copy of the "Tenth Generation," by the late Harry Stillwell Edwards.

Getting Jobs Of All Kinds

The great majority of students who expect to graduate from high school or college in June are not mechanical-minded or scientific-minded. They will start as teachers or secretaries or sales clerks or in other clerical work and ultimately become fathers or housewives. Most of these, however, want jobs first; it is most important that they get jobs for which they are naturally suited and in which they will be both efficient and happy. In fact, I believe that with every diploma there should be attached a report showing what, in the opinion of the personnel department of the school or college, the student seems best fitted for. Certainly, it can usually be foretold whether or not a graduate has the qualities of leadership, is capable of becoming an executive or being in business for him or herself; also, whether the student has a mechanical bent or is sales-minded or suited to teaching with a love for people or the arts.

Now let me give some rules which I have learned after fifty years in the "College of Hard Knocks"—(1) Ascertain in which of the following five groups you would be happiest: (a) The Professional Group, which includes law, medicine, teaching, and the ministry; (b) The Engineering Group, which includes chemistry, physics, architecture, building, and all phases of engineering; (c) The Manufacturing Group, which embodies economic, accounting, and the handling of employees; (d) The Merchandising Group, which has to do with selling, advertising, analysing, investing, and all forms of merchandising and finance, and (e) The Agricultural Group, which embraces farming, dairying, horticulture, forestry, etc.

(2) After deciding for which of these five groups you are best suited, take the Yellow Pages of your telephone directory and select a dozen or more colleges or corporations which would give you practical training along your chosen line. Make your graduation from high school a true "Commencement" for the completion of your education. Then systematically call—properly dressed—upon the colleges or corporations which you have selected and tell them your story and your desire to learn to serve them. Forget yourself during such an interview. Talk only of how you wish to be of service to them or to others. If you already have had a summer position, speak well of former employers. Never complain about anything or anybody when seeking a job. Remember that the party interviewing you may have many more troubles than you have.

Learn To Sell Yourself

(3) If you fail to interest the party called upon, be sure to get from him or her the name of some corporation or college which might be interested in you. This is very essential. Get the name of the person upon whom you should call and permission to use the name of the one who gives you this lead. Not only is it of great help to you to know whom to ask for when calling, but your earnest request therefor makes a real impression on the party of whom you ask it.

(4) When making calls, avoid Mondays and Fridays—also call between 11:00 or 12:00 a. m. or directly after lunch. Be very courteous to the telephone switchboard operator or the hostess or appointment secretary whom you first meet. It is very helpful if you can get from her the name of the person who can be of the most help to you. Mondays and Fridays you can use learning in advance about the college or corporation upon which you are to call and getting the names of the persons who can best help you learn about the college or corporation so you can "talk their language."

I thing that if you follow the above suggestions closely you will be successful — certainly by following up this program until it does succeed, you will win. One more thought: Employers are looking for men who do not drink at any time and who don't want to smoke while at work. Character, good health, and a belief in the church and prayer are the fundamentals of a successful and happy life.

In Home Improvement Water Heater Has Key Role

What's the reason for a home modernization program? It may be to gain more living space, an opportunity to use more labor-saving appliances, or a desire for a long-needed extra bathroom. Perhaps it incorporates long-overdue heating system improvements, or facilities that will be a special help in entertaining.

Each of these possibilities, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, suggests that a new water heater will be a good idea, too. Abundant hot water is essential to the effective operation of appliances such as the dishwasher and automatic washing machine.

And of course the whole purpose of an extra bathroom would be defeated if there were a likelihood of running out of hot water.

New automatic water heaters using utility gas or liquefied petroleum gas (in tank or cylinder) often are installed simultaneously with heating improvements. GAMA points out that this may produce installation economies and a change from a less efficient arrangement. The gas water heater can be part of a utility room project.

Modern design has emphasized economy, corrosion resistance and attractive appearance, as well as the ability to deliver hot water in any quantity the family requires.

SPEAKING &amp; CARDS

FIVE HUNDRED

In the early 1900's, just before Auction and Contract Bridge swept to popularity, Five Hundred was the foremost social game in American homes. Based on Euchre but giving much greater opportunity for skill because the entire pack is in play and each hand is ten cards, Five Hundred was devised to meet a widespread demand for a game intermediate in difficulty between Euchre and Whist. Today, despite competition from Canasta and Bridge, Five Hundred is one of the ten most popular card games in the United States.

Although from two to six may play the game, it is an ideal three-hand card game. A pack of 33 cards is used, made by removing all cards below the sevens from a full pack and adding the joker. The joker is always the highest trump. Second best is the jack of trumps, known as the right bower; third best is the jack of the other suit of same color as the trump, left bower. The rank in trumps is: Joker (high), J (right bower), J (left bower), A, K, Q, 10, 9, 8, 7.

In each plain suit the rank is: A, K, Q, (J), 10, 9, 8, 7.

Beginning with the player at his left, the dealer serves 3 cards to each player at a time, then 3 cards face down on the table for a widow or blind to be used later in play. He then completes the deal, dealing 2 cards at a time, then 3 and finally 2 until each has a hand of 10 cards. Thus the entire 33 card deck is dealt out.

Object of play is to be the highest bidder and win at least enough tricks to fulfill the contract and thereby score points.

Player who makes the highest bid picks up the widow without showing it to the others and takes it into his hand. He may discard any 3 cards in its place, including any or all the cards of the widow.

After discarding, successful bidder leads any card he chooses. Each player in turn to the left must play to the trick, following suit, if possible. A complete trick consists of 3 cards. If a player is unable to follow suit, he may play a trump or any card.

A trick is won by the highest card of the suit led unless a trump is played to the trick. A trick containing trump cards is won by the highest trump played in it.

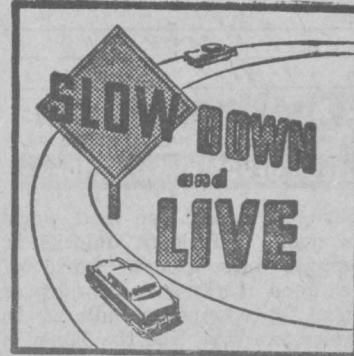

The winner of a trick leads any card to the next trick, and play continues as described until 10 tricks in all have been played. Game is 500 points.

Farm Machinery Maintenance Costly

Of the $40 billion spent by farm operators for production and family living expenses in 1955, about $8 billion went for the purchase, operation and maintenance of farmer-owned motor vehicles and machinery, according to a survey conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of the Census early in 1956. Nearly 55 per cent—$4.4 billion—of the total outlay for motor vehicles and machinery is shown to have been spent for operation and maintenance, while purchases, after deducting the value of trade-ins and sales, accounted for $3.7 billion.

The 98-page report on this, just off the press, provides detailed tabular information by regions and by economic class and type of farm as of January 1, 1956. A limited number of copies of this report are available upon request to the United States Department of Agriculture.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Luke 16:20-31.

As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things. (II Corinthians 6:10.)

The Christian who walks humbly with his God is the richest of all. He may be poor in the world's eyes, having neither silver nor gold, nor lands, nor houses. Yet he has treasures the world can neither give nor take away.

We read in the Bible the parable of two men, one with great wealth, the other a beggar. Who was rich? The man with great riches lost his soul. Lazarus had no money; but with the love of God in his heart, he found rest to his soul.

So with us. We may be poor, but if we have God in our poor house, grace at our scanty meal, and prayer by our hard bed, we are rich. As having nothing, we yet possess all things. Death does not deprive us of our possessions.

OVER THE GARDEN WALLS

A COLUMN FOR HOMEOWNERS

prepared by University of Maryland Extension Service

That spell of nice weather we had near the end of last month got even the laziest gardeners busy. With the leaves starting to pop, and the grass beginning to show greener, some of us were caught without plans, time, or materials. As a result, there are some jobs that just didn't get done. Better luck next year!

Early Vegetables Are Mighty Good!
It still isn't too late to get in early garden, if you missed that first spell of nice weather. Those early vegetables taste mighty good!

It's a good idea to do a little planning before you start planting. A pencil can be your best garden tool. By making a plan on paper you can figure how to get the most from your garden space. It'll help you plan succession crops, so that you can use the same row two or three times a year.

Select vegetables your family likes. Don't go overboard on new varieties. Some of the old ones are still good—and some of the new ones won't pan out. You can get a helpful list of recommended vegetable varieties from your county agent. Just ask him for Leaflet 15, "Maryland Vegetable Varieties for 1959."

And for help on planting directions, fertilization, and the like, ask your county agent for Bulletin 141, "Home Vegetable Gardening in Maryland." It contains lots of helpful information you can use.

Early Lawn Care

Do some of your early lawn work now like cleaning up, rolling and fertilizing. Don't wait until it gets nice and warm. It might be too late then.

It's getting pretty late now for any spot reseeding your lawn might need. Better wait until September. Then is the best time for planting new lawns.

To get your grass off to a good start, apply from 10 to 20 pounds of 5-10-5, or a similar balanced fertilizer. Fertilizer applied later in the spring will help weeds and crabgrass more than your lawn.

If you think you have a fertility problem, it would pay to have a soil test made. Then you can apply the kind and amount of fertilizer you need. It'll guide you on liming, too. Your county agent will give you all the details you need for securing a free soil test, which is one of the services of the University of Md. Department of Agronomy.

You can control wild garlic with the eser form of 2, 4-D. Follow directions on the container. Don't use this weed killer on newly seeded areas. And don't forget to completely rinse your sprayer with household ammonia, 1 cup in 2 gallons of water. To play safe, it's a good idea to use a separate sprayer for weed killers. Just the slightest trace may damage vegetables or flowers.

Work With Ornamentals
Gradually remove mulch from plants. The coarser stuff can be taken off now—the remainder by mid-April. You'll have to remove mulch from hardy bulbs as soon as the leaves come out.

Trees and shrubs should be transplanted before new growth begins. When moving your own shrubs or trees from one place to another be sure to provide a good ball of dirt with the roots, and provide a hole that's big enough to hold some extra top soil around the roots. If you're transplanting nursery stock it probably will have bare roots. If this is the case, a large hole, with plenty of topsoil is even more important.

Fertilizer will pay off in healthy more vigorous plants. Well-rotted manure spaded into the flower beds, or around shrubs will help.

Pruning may help provide better shaped plants, or more vigorous blooms. But don't hack at the plants. Prune with a purpose, and use the right tools. Time of pruning is important, too. Bulletin 150, "Pruning Ornamental Trees and Shrubs," gives the needed details. You can get a copy from your county agent.

Tax Filing Deadline April 15

It's later than you think—only five days left to file your Federal income tax return for 1958.

That's the friendly reminder coming out of Washington, D. C., from U. S. Internal Revenue Commissioner Dana Latham, according to Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Balto. District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, who said:

"Commissioner Latham has requested me to inform all Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers who have not filed yet of the services we can provide to help them get their returns in before the April 15 deadline."

"Taxpayers who have started their returns and are puzzled by a problem or two should call us—in Baltimore, Plaza 2-8460, in Washington, REpublic 7-8750. Ask for Tax Information Service. This service is available Monday through Friday 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. We will be glad to help them," Mr. Machiz said.

"Then, if they still need help, they should visit our office—in Baltimore, 222 East Redwood St., in Washington, 12th and Constitution Ave., between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. on Mondays and Fridays."

Mr. Machiz reminded taxpayers that most of them may now use the simple punch-card form 1040-A, designed for the first time to cover incomes up to $10,000 a year consisting of wages reported on the tax-withholding Form W-2 and not more than $200 in dividends, interest, and wages not subject to withholding.

"This convenient short card form for incomes up to $10,000," Mr. Machiz said, "is one of the many new things that Internal Revenue is doing to improve taxpayer service."

Commissioner Latham, Mr. Machiz said, has made improved taxpayer service one of his major goals of his administration.

"His request to us today to help Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers get their returns in by April 15 is part of his larger goal of courteous, fair and prompt handling of taxpayers, together with fearless and impartial administration of the tax laws."

Other phases of the Commissioner's nation-wide program, Mr. Machiz said are:

1. Speedier replies to taxpayers' letters in simple, down-to-earth language.

2. Further simplification of tax forms where possible.

3. More expeditious issuance of rulings in tax matters, and faster preparation of tax regulations and their immediate release to taxpayers.

4. Further improvement in tax settlement procedures.

5. Vigorous recruitment efforts to get the cream of each year's crop of college graduates as revenue agents, revenue officers, and special agents, so that taxpayers will be dealing with capable, courteous and highly intelligent personnel.

6. Improved technical training courses to prepare recruits for the specialized work they will perform and to increase the skills of personnel already in these jobs.

Mr. Machiz added: "These and many other things are part of the Commissioner's goal for all of us in IRS so we may earn maximum taxpayer respect for fairness, competence and efficiency. And all of us are going to do everything in our power to help the Commissioner realize that goal."

"In the spirit of the Commissioner's program, let me remind taxpayers again that April 15 is the deadline for filing their 1958 Federal income tax returns and that we are here to help anyone who needs help in getting his return made out accurately and filed on time."

Storage Space Loans Available

Farmers who need additional grain storage space on their farms can get 5-year, 4 per cent loans through the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Offices to finance cribs or bins, Julius P. Parran, Chairman of the Maryland ASC Committee, announced this week. They can also get loans for mobile crop-drying equipment.

The purpose of the program, Mr. Parran said, is to help farmers obtain more on-farm storage, particularly where it is needed to enable them to participate in the price-support program.

Any farm-operator, share tenant, share landlord or producer partnership is eligible to participate in the farm storage facility and equipment loan program. The loan may be made directly thru the ASC office. Loans may be obtained on storage for wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, soybeans, grain sorghums, dry beans, rice, peanuts, cottonseed, and flaxseed.

While the structures financed do not have to be used for commodities which are under price-support loans they must meet the same storage requirements. A farmer may borrow up to 80 per cent of the cost of new storage bins, cribs, or other approved structures. The loan may be repaid in four annual installments with the first installment due at the end of the first year.

Drying equipment eligible for loan includes mobile dryers, air-circulators, ventilators, tunnels, and fans. Up to 75 per cent of the delivered and assembled cost—exclusive of labor costs—may be borrowed. These loans are for four years, payable in three annual installments beginning at the end of the first year. As on structure loans, the interest rate is four per cent.

"It's just good business," Mr. Parran said, "for farmers to be looking ahead to their storage situation and planning to use this loan program if they need it. Many a farmer has found that he could have increased his income considerably by being able to store more grain on his own farm at harvest time."

from The Bible

... remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. — (The Acts 20, 35.)

It takes most of us at least half a lifetime to appreciate, through our own personal experience, the truth of the words of the Master. But what a blessed, full and useful life would result if we accepted His words in our youth, and lived the long years by them!

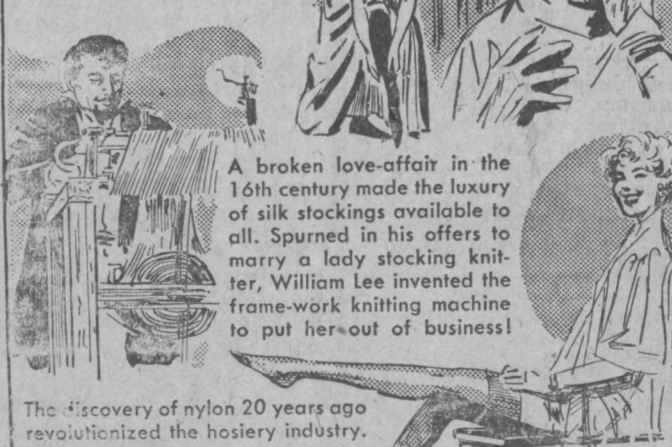

Savings are a stabilizer against upswings and downswings in the economy. If you aren't saving systematically, start buying U. S. Savings Bonds where you work.

Do people "cash Savings Bonds as fast as they buy them?" The fact is, Series E and H bonds now outstanding have been held an average of around 7½ years.

All About Hosiery

By the 14th century, stockings were long, tight multi-colored affairs worn by men and women alike. Women's stockings were concealed beneath floor-length dresses and more mention of woman's legs or hose was considered a breach of etiquette.

The discovery of nylon 20 years ago revolutionized the hosiery industry.

Today's fashion trend emphasizes the use of colored hosiery as an integral part of every woman's wardrobe. She wears a stocking hue to match each costume.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

GOD IS AS NEAR AS YOUR NEED

In what direction would you point if you were trying to point to Heaven and God? The truth is—God is everywhere. One man said, "As a sponge is in the ocean, so we are in God and he is in us." Paul said, "God is not far off, for in him we live, and move, and have our being."

Have you ever heard the story of the two little fish who met a frog beneath a rock? "Don't you know you are in great danger, little fish?" croaked the frog. "No!" cried the fish, much frightened.

"You mean you didn't know that fish can't live without water?" teased the frog. "You'd better find some water quickly or you will die."

And so the little fish swam to their mother in great distress. "Oh, Mother, Mother! The frog says that we will die if we don't find water quickly. Mother, what is water?"

"I don't know," confessed the mother fish. "I have never heard anything about it. Let's go ask the beaver."

"Water, my dears?" laughed the beaver. "Why, you live in water! That's what you breathe!"

And that is the way we are with God. He has a certain personal relationship with us that is even closer and more intimate than our breath. We are not to look for him somewhere far off. He is with us and in us.

Some people look skyward when they speak of God. But God in his relationship to our needs is not somewhere in the sky. He is immediately near us. And if you need him, you must realize that he is very intimately near. The Bible tells us that the Kingdom of Heaven is within you.

Mrs. M. J. was suffering from an abdominal cancer in an advanced stage. She had lost a great deal of weight. She was in constant pain and the outlook was bad. In an effort simply to prolong her life (for it seemed certain her life could not be saved), it was decided to operate.

At this time she first learned that God was able to heal her. She was carried to a church in which prayer was offered for her healing. She claimed that she had received healing from God, but her family insisted that she should undergo surgery.

When her abdomen was opened, the surgeon's fears appeared to be correct. The growth had invaded and already partially destroyed certain vital organs. And yet when the biopsy was brought back from the lab, the physician was utterly amazed to find the report was "no sign of malignancy."

Yet unmistakable evidence of cancer lay before him. He repaired the damage as well as he could and sent her back to her room.

Today, five years later she is in good health. The supposedly damaged organs are functioning well. There are no signs of cancer.

How close is God? He is just as close as you need him to be.

SPORTS
AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

There are two excellent ways to catch trout: fine and far off; and stalk and fish close, says Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

The fine-and-far-off way originated on the chalk streams of Southern England, especially the famous Test and Itchen. These are practically never muddied by rain, which soaks into the chalk soil and comes up again filtered crystal clear. In that flat country, the current is slight; it often resembles a long, mirror-still pool. There's really too much natural food, so the fat brown trout are always overfed and can afford to be shy and finicky. Result of all this: Perhaps nowhere else does trout fishing call for such high skill.

Spots where this fine-and-far-off method is necessary are extremely rare in this country—or, for that matter, in England or Scotland north of the chalk streams—except for an occasional large, still pool. I found but one place over here where chalk-stream conditions are practically duplicated, and that, odd though it may sound, is in large irrigation canals on the outskirts of Albuquerque, New Mexico. These had plenty of large but shy brown trout in very clear, smooth water. Furthermore, they were too deep in most places for wading, so you had to cast from a high, grassy bank—and of course the higher you are above the surface the farther fish can see you. Fine-and-far-off is the only way.

The sneak-up-on-'em method calls for practically no casting ability and will get you most trout in a very great majority of places of this country.

Supposing that there's a fine looking spot that you can only reach, without a fish there seeing you, from behind a boulder or small bush—but that the trout would see you crossing a wide gravel bar going there. Get up there quietly and slowly; fast movements always alarm fish. Then crouch out of sight until you think the trout has forgotten about your coming and started feeding again. You'll have to do your own guessing on how long that is; might be a few minutes if he's small and not shy, and might be an hour or more if he's really old and foxy, and not too hungry at the time.

Use a short line and it will be possible to drop the fly more lightly than with a longer one and to control its drift much better. The short line the easier it is to hook a rising trout.

"If this country reaches the point where our people consider speculation safe and saving a gamble, we're in for real trouble"—Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry

The Behavior of Salt-Starved Cows

The late and revered Doctor S. M. Babcock of the University of Wisconsin used to tell the writer of his observations of salt-deprived cows that were on this test soon after the turn of the century. Half of the herd got the usual amount of salt and behaved as normal cows should. The other half had no salt added to their ration, and notice what happened.

When turned out in the morning for pasturing, the herd had to cross University Avenue at a corner where there was a switch in the street car track. Some of the cows would run ahead of the rest to get to lick the soil around the switch. It was always the unsalted cows that showed this behavior. Why? Because that soil still had remnants of rock salt that had been used the winter before to keep the switch working properly.

At one time a circus had had its customary stand on the pasture and the cows were kept off this pasture for the time being. A few days after return to the pasture, the men observed a sizable hole had been chewed into the ground. Again, why?

Because the area was where the brine that had accumulated at the ice cream stand had been dumped when the circus moved on. Don't many of us remember making ice cream by hand-cranking a freezer, rotating in cracked ice, daubed with generous amounts of salt?

The salt-starved cows had detected this salty spot in the pasture and had made the most of their opportunity!

Around the barn these same cows would try to lick the perspiration-encrusted and therefore salt-encrusted jumpers and overalls of the attendants—anything to satisfy their craving for salt.

The payoff came with the approach of calving time. The unsalted cows had run down in condition and long before that in production. They had a starey coat of hair and lusterless eyes. The calves came weak at birth, a number of them dying soon after—a terrible toll to pay for omitting or shortchanging the cattle on salt, one of the cheapest and still most necessary of all feeds.

Question: What causes cannibalism in swine? Why do sows at times eat their pigs, or why do growing pigs chew each others tails?

Answer: It used to be thought that in the absence of animal protein such as meat scrap or tankage in a sow's ration, she might develop such a craving for that kind of protein that she would turn to cannibalism.

But might the reason be a craving for salt that we know is carried in greater abundance in tankage or skimmilk than it is in oil meals or mill feeds.

This seems all the more plausible in that cannibalism in chickens has been prevented at the University of Wisconsin and the U.S.D.A. by giving them salted water to drink for a day or two. The birds are restricted for at least a day to water salted at the rate of one tablespoon per gallon.

Q: "My hair is so curly, it's almost bushy. I just don't know how to manage it. Could you suggest something?"

A: You have a problem that many girls with straight hair would probably envy. However, if your hair is too curly to suit you, here are some suggestions:

Resign yourself to not being able to wear it shoulder-length. Choose, instead, hairdos that are either very long or very short.

If you have the patience to let your hair grow until it can be caught back into a pony tail that curls under into a natural pouf, you'll also discover that its sheer weight will pull out much of the curl in front so that it can be worn smoothly off your face.

If you prefer a more casual hairstyle that requires almost no tending, have it cut short, close to your head. This can be one of the most appealing of all hairdos that frame a fresh young face—and certainly the most comfortable one you can live with.

Health Insurance Increasing in 65-and-over Group

More than three out of every eight persons 65 or over in this country now have some form of voluntary health insurance, Health Information Foundation reports. The proportion of the aged with such insurance increased about 50 per cent from 1952 to 1957.

The Foundation's estimates are based on a study made in cooperation with the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago. A random cross-section of the nation's population 65 and over were interviewed at length about such items as their health, their living arrangements, and incomes.

Largely because of modern medical science, the number of aged persons in this country is increasing at a somewhat faster rate than the population at large. At present, the Foundation estimates that there are an estimated 15 million persons 65 and over in the U.S., and the number is expected to reach about 25 million by 1980.

As the chart indicates, 39 per cent of the aged carried some type of voluntary health insurance at the time of the interviews. Most of those without health insurance had never tried to get it. Only 3 per cent of all those interviewed had applied for health insurance and been turned down.

Almost all the insured (at least 93 per cent) had hospitalization insurance, while two-thirds of the insured were protected against in-hospital doctor bills and 21 per cent were covered against physicians' out-of-hospital charges.

Although the number of aged persons covered by voluntary health insurance has increased significantly in the last few years, the Foundation says that further study in this area is needed—and that older persons themselves must show greater interest in securing insurance. "Plans for financing health needs of the aged may vary," H.I.F. states. "But all should agree on one point: that a group of older persons responsible for their own health is an asset to society—and in keeping with present attitudes toward independent active later life for all."

Truth About Russia
Many people have gone to Soviet Russia in recent years and have experienced "red carpet" tours under the guidance of (and policed by) the government agency called "Intourist." Some of these people have been misled by what they saw. Almost without exception what they saw was what the Communist government wanted them to see. The people they talked with were people carefully prepared for such conversation by the Communist propaganda machine. Hardly anyone in Russia today would dare utter one word detrimental to the Communist dictatorship. They must praise it. They know it would mean death to do otherwise.

For this reason it is important for Americans to have access to the true facts about Communist Russia. During nine and a half years as a prisoner-slave of the Communists, an American, John Noble, talked with tens of thousands of Russians from every section of the Soviet Union. With his own eyes he saw many sections of Russia—where American tourists never go—and during three years of hard labor in the coal mines of Vorkuta, north of the Arctic Circle, he made friends and gained the confidence of thousands of Russians.

When John Noble finally was released by the Communists, after the personal intervention of President Eisenhower, he came back to America with facts which nobody gets on the "red carpet" tours. His facts expose the true nature of Communism as an evil, Godless, brutal force using starvation, mass murder, inhuman torture and brainwashing to force its will wherever it gains control. His facts also explode some previously held conceptions about Communist Russia. Here are some of those facts:

1. There are 28,000,000 people in prison slave labor camps in the Soviet Union.

2. Most of the production methods in the Soviet Union are primitive.

3. The population is not 210 million as officially stated, but 160 million.

4. The average Russian citizen has only three years of education. ("Event the Soviets admit," says Noble, "that an educated Soviet Union could not be controlled by the Communists.")

5. Only the elite, as chosen by the Communist Party as Party members, receive higher education.

Survived Stravation

John Noble, a rugged youth in his 20's, survived several starvation periods, in seven prisons in which he was kept. Tens of thousands of prisoners died during these periods. Noble was assigned the task, in two of the prisons, of disrobing and checking the clothing of the corpses; and was obliged to watch as other prisoner-survivors rolled gasoline drums out into the prison courtyards and burned the daily toll of corpses, like cordwood.

He finally, by travel stages through the whole of eastern Russia, arrived at Vorkuta, within the Arctic Circle, one of more than 200 slave labor camps. There were more than a half million slaves from 72 nations at Vorkuta. Temperatures ranged down to 70 degrees below zero. "Our bunks," John Noble relates, "were long wooden shelves about six feet wide—in narrow barracks half above ground, half below. Eleven inches of space on the bunk were allotted to each man; there were no mattresses, no pillows, no blankets—just a hard wooden slab.

A Slave's Plight

"In the mornings around 4:45 a. m. the guards came in and chased us up off our shelves. Next we went outside and washed ourselves a bit with snow, then off to the mess hall. We only had two meals a day. The first meal consisted of a chunk of black bread, a bowl of watery soup with a few cabbage leaves in the bottom. After returning from work in the evening the second meal consisted of a bowl of cabbage soup, a scoop of porridge and a small piece of fish.

"Of course all the people were under 100 pounds in weight. The mine I first worked in was 1.3 miles from our camp. The prisoners made the trip through a 40-foot wide barbed wire corridor, accompanied by armed guards and police dogs. At the mine shaft, we received our lamps and descended down 900 feet to work under the most primitive conditions.

"Every day new prisoners were coming into the camps. For the first two or three weeks these people were afraid to talk to fellow prisoners, but then they would start unloading. Some were from the defense plants, some from the Kremlin itself, some from the farms, some from colleges and universities—all 'enemies of the State.'" This was one of his sources of facts about Soviet Russia.

Read John Noble's book—"I Was A Slave in Russia (Devil-Adair).

Cancer Drive Support Urged

The American Cancer Society Crusade is not just a drive for funds, Julius Westheimer, Vice Chairman for the Maryland Division said this week.

"To knock out cancer we will need a 'one-two' punch," he said. "The number one goal of the Crusade," he explained, "is to save one out of two of those who develop cancer. That is the number who could be saved by broad application of present knowledge and skills instead of one out of three we are now saving.

"The second target of the Crusade is for funds urgently needed to step up the Society's nation-wide research program which offers a promise of solving the cancer problem. That promise has never been as great as it is today. Until that final goal is reached we must apply every bit of knowledge and skill to saving lives today."

"At least 500,000 life-saving leaflets will be given away in our house-to-house canvass here," Mr. Westheimer said. "They will also be available at American Cancer Society information booths. The leaflets are designed to save lives that might otherwise be lost to America's number two disease killer by alerting those who receive them to the dangers of neglect and delay."

He explained that while more lives are being saved every year due to improved methods of treatment, needless deaths still occur because the disease is not diagnosed in time. Regular health checkups are the best safeguard, he pointed out, to protect the family and the home.

Mr. Westheimer was confident that one day cancer, like other diseases in our time, will be brought under control. "But until that day comes," he said, "public knowledge of the facts of cancer is still one of the best means of saving lives."

The American Cancer Society has a three-pronged program of research, education and service to patients in its all-out effort to conquer cancer.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

In a poll conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business of the nation's independent businessmen, 76% favored the bill introduced by Sen. John Sparkman to permit tax allowances for inventory increases.

Perhaps this bill, more than any one single measure, would reduce distressed selling, cut down bankruptcies among independent retailers and wholesalers.

It is a sad commentary C.W. Harder on the times, but the fact remains that in the high level of bankruptcies of the past few years, many business firms have gone to the wall which were in a fairly healthy condition except for one thing.

That was lack of liquid cash. There is an easily understandable explanation for this.

For most businesses, there is no practical way of keeping books on a cash basis. Instead, an accrual system is used. The business is not taxed on the amount of cash it has at the end of the tax year, but rather on the increased assets in the business at the end of the year, of which inventory is a large part.

As an example, it is well to consider a car dealer, although the same principle applies to an appliance dealer, a dry goods merchant, or others.

So, to carry out this illustration, at the start of his tax year an auto dealer has in stock $10,000 worth of cars. In his area, due to strikes, unemployment, or other factors, his business is depressed, so that sales are low.

Yet, due to new models coming in during the year, or to meet terms of a franchise agreement, or even due to having to take back substantial repossessions, or for other reasons, at the end of the year his inventory has jumped from $10,000 to $30,000.

Under the tax formula, his assets have increased $20,000, thus this is a taxable amount.

But in the meantime, all of his cash has gone into this inventory. Now this may be all sound merchandise, and given the chance to work out this inventory at the proper times, he can recover.

However, tax bills demand immediate cash. So he is forced to cut prices to the bone to raise cash, but sometimes this strategy will not raise sufficient cash.

Thus, this business becomes bankrupt for the lack of cash, although as far as accountants are concerned, including tax accountants, the assets of the business showed a healthy gain during the year.

It is also possible in a year of big government spending for foreign give aways for inflation during the year to boost the inventory values for tax purposes.

The bill introduced by Sen. Sparkman proposes to permit businessmen who end up a year with increased inventories to deduct up to $10,000 from taxable income to offset what is often tantamount to disaster.

In the long run, by preventing, or at least mitigating, ruinous price cutting to raise cash, or bankruptcy, the government would gain in tax collections, because once a business goes under, it is no longer a taxpayer.

Many Colors to Choose, but Sapphire Leads Color Parade

What goes on here? ... Pretty Lynn Martin would have you believe she is pouring real paint on the rear deck of a Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe, but the "paint" columns are actually made of plastic. The effect points up the recent change in customer color preference. The most popular shade in 1958 was silver blue followed closely by black. Today sapphire is leading the color parade with light blue, ivory and white in close pursuit for top honors.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry

Fish Need Salt

Surely fish in the ocean have plenty of salt for their growth and well being. But it is freshwater fish that have been shown to respond favorably to salt and trace mineral additions to their water.

May this be of practical importance? It would seem so from the results secured in this respect by the South Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station where the work on chemical properties of South Carolina waters was begun under federal auspices some years ago.

Most of the 12,000 or more fish ponds of that state showed limited and unsatisfactory fish production. It was found that such ponds were deficient in sodium and other minor nutrients not present in adequate quantities in commonly recommended grades of fish pond fertilizer.

The experimenters state that fish need sodium just as much as do farm animals, and that many fresh water fish require more sodium, as contained in salt, for optimum growth, than is commonly found in many fresh water streams. It was also pointed out that many suspended aquatic plants have the capacity to utilize considerable amounts of sodium.

Good fishing streams were found to have 20 or more parts sodium salt per million parts of water whereas poor fishing streams had only from 1 to 6 parts of the element per million parts of water.

The recommendation is that the unsatisfactory nutritional conditions in most of the fresh water fish ponds be corrected by including some lime and sodium nitrate in the fertilizer for a more favorable chemical condition of the water, and to apply "mineralized block salt" at the rate of one 50-pound block of salt per acre of pond every 3 to 4 months.

It would seem that a simple suspension of the salt block in a perforated bag or box and lowered in the water would permit progressive dissolving and consequent distribution throughout the pond.

So it appears that fish are no different from other animals, including man, as being in need of salt. The experimenters referred to, philosophized in this fashion: "Our heritage from our marine ancestry is reflected in the salty stream in our veins. The elements sodium, potassium and calcium are found in the blood in approximately the proportion occurring in sea water. It is necessary to recognize this relationship in fresh water fish pond cultures."

Question: Are game animals likely to be affected by salt or other mineral deficiencies? Answer: It was found that in the Rocky Mountain National Park the health and stamina of big horn sheep was affected by deficiencies of necessary minerals in the granitic soils, prompting the recommendation by United States field observers that mineralized salt blocks be placed at suitable places.

NEW SLANT—Folks around Wuppertal, West Germany, call this "Picasso Bridge" because of its modern-artish unequal-length supports.

SHIP-SHAPE wiring, with savings of time and cost in assembling and servicing of TV and hi-fi sets, is assured with new "sealed circuit" panel boards like these being checked by RCA technician.

MAD, MAD, MAD HATTERS! Beauties at Miami Beach show the latest (and real craziest) notions in combination beach hats and sun glasses, called "googies."

NEW ZONING ORDINANCE PROPOSED

An outline of the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance released to the public at the regular monthly meeting of the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday has been prepared by County Planner Arthur B. Hatton.

The outline itself is not intended to be a guide to the complete text of the voluminous ordinance but it does contain a comparison of the proposed permanent Master Plan with the temporary Interim Zoning Law under which all zoning regulations in the county are now operating.

It also contains the basic definition of each type of zoning to be permitted under the proposed new ordinance.

The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance outline prepared by the County Planner and its comparison with the present ordinance follows:

New Ordinance Compared To Old

The new Zoning Ordinance proposed for Frederick County is quite different from the Interim Zoning Ordinance which has been in force since November 13, 1957. The Interim Zoning Ordinance has only two districts, Residential and Business. The proposed ordinance has ten zoning districts. The proposed ordinance also has a full set of zoning maps, while the Interim Ordinance, prepared without benefit of planning studies, had no maps and depended on a business district formula to determine district boundaries. The brief text of the Interim Ordinance created many problems of interpretation for the Board of Zoning Appeals. This situation has been corrected in the new Ordinance by spelling out in detail the permitted uses of each district.

However, there are some similarities in the two Ordinances. The text or maps can be changed at any time by the County Commissioners following a public hearing. There will, also, still be a Board of Zoning Appeals to grant variances from the exact terms of the Ordinance, review certain types of development called "Conditional Uses," and interpret the text and maps whenever there is a question of meaning. Both Zoning Ordinances are effective only over the unincorporated parts of the County.

WELTY'S MARKET

WEST MAIN STREET — EMMITSBURG, MD.

C-1 Conservation District

This district has been proposed to protect and preserve the beauty, water supply, timber and recreation resources of the mountainous areas of the county. By requiring large lot sizes in this district it is hoped the population density will be kept low, thus reducing the cost of school transportation and road maintenance in difficult to reach parts of the county. Much of the land within this district is now in public ownership.

A-1 Agricultural District

This district has been proposed to protect and encourage future development of farming in the county. All the activities normally connected as well as non-farm residential development and some types of commercial development.

R-1 Suburban Residence District

This is the most restricted residential district. Here all forms of commercial and industrial development are prohibited. However, agriculture may continue until the land is converted to residential uses. According to the Land Use Plan for the county, most of these areas should eventually be supplied with public water, but lots should be large enough to permit septic tanks to be used.

R-2 Urban Residence District

This district is very similar to the R-1 District, except that smaller lot sizes are permitted when public sewer and water are available as recommended by the County Land Use Plan.

R-3 Multi-Family Residence District

This is the least restricted residential district. As the name implies, apartments and other forms of multi-family developments are permitted. R-3 Districts will be located near the centers of large communities and should be served by public sewer and water.

B-1 Neighborhood Business District

This district is intended to supply the day to day shopping needs of the immediate neighborhood in which it is located. However, non-commercial uses such as houses and farming would also be permitted.

B-2 Community Business District

In order to be legal a zoning ordinance must provide a place for every use. However, development of the type permitted in this district will probably never take place outside the downtown business areas of large towns like Frederick, Thurmont and Bruns- wick.

B-3 General Business District

This district provides for the type of development now found along main highways, particularly near the edge of towns. This type of commercial development usually requires more land than is available in the center of town. Some of the uses permitted here will serve the local community, but many more will be established to serve the traveling public.

M-1 Light Industrial District

This district is intended to provide a place for light non-objectable forms of industry. In this district no new homes will be permitted. However, farming is allowed to continue until the land is developed for industry.

M-2 General Industrial District

The general industrial district is provided to accommodate all forms of industry, including the most objectionable types. Here as in the M-1 District new homes are prohibited, but farming is allowed until the land is converted to industrial use.

Special Requirements

Parking and Loading Space

This section gives a schedule of parking and loading space requirements for various uses that require them. A special provision is made for additional parking in "R" Districts near "B" Districts. Parking lots adjacent to "R" Districts are also required to be screened.

Trailer Coaches, Trailer Camps, And Tourist Camps

This section covers the use and storage of house trailers. The sanitary regulations and spacing of trailers and cabins in trailer courts and tourist camps is also covered here.

Signs

This section supplements other sign and billboard requirements in the ordinance. In general, billboards are only allowed in the B-3, M-1 and M-2 districts, while businesses located within the county are allowed additional "personal services signs" in the A-district.

Special Development Projects

The ordinance provides for large scale apartment, shopping and industrial projects which may be developed under certain conditions. Included are:

1. Community Development Projects

Miss Marianne Gelwicks, Washington, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gelwicks.

This type of development could include apartments only or a mixture of apartments and single family homes in a coordinating plan.

2. Unified Shopping Centers

This section sets forth the conditions under which a new shopping center, similar to the Frederick Shopping Center, may be established.

3. Industrial Parks

Special provisions are made to permit industrial sub-divisions, similar to the one proposed at Point of Rocks, recently.

Exceptions And Modifications Use Of Existing Lots

The ordinance permits the use of lots already recorded even though they do not meet with the lot size requirements of the ordinance.

Structures Permitted Above Heights Limits

The ordinance sets height limits in each district. However, silos, smoke stacks and similar structures are exempt from this limitation.

Zoning maps may be inspected and copies of the permanent zoning ordinance may be obtained upon request at the Planning Commission office on the second floor of Winchester Hall.

Miss Marianne Gelwicks, Washington, spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gelwicks.

Mrs. William Topper and children visited with Mr. and Mrs. Upton Austin, Taneytown, Sunday afternoon.

Civil Defense

Plans Alert

In Three Phases

The annual National Civil Defense Alert Exercise will be held this year in three phases.

The first phase will be held on April 17 and 18. The second on May 8 and 9 and the third phase on June 4 and 5.

Of these three phases only the first involves the public and your local Civil Defense Organization.

The Maryland Civil Defense Director requests all local Civil Defense directors to participate in the first phase of this National Alert as follows:

Friday, April 17, at 11:30 a. m., activate all Civil Defense Sirens in sounding an "Alert Signal Exercise." This Alert Signal and sirens will be a three minute continuous blast on sirens in Frederick City and throughout Frederick County.

At 1:30 p. m. on same day the "Take Cover Signal" on sirens both in the City and the County will be sounded. This signal is intermittent short blast of sirens for a period of two minutes.

For the purpose of this Exercise both the Alert Signal and the "Take Cover" signal have been shortened. Under actual "Attack Warning" conditions the "Alert Signal" is a five minute continuous blast of sirens and the "Take Cover" signal is a three minute intermittent blast.

The Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization (OCDM), the Maryland Civil Defense Director and also the Frederick County Civil Defense Director urgently request the cooperation of the public in observing the "Take Cover" signal. All vehicular traffic is requested to pull to the roadside and stop at 1:30 p. m. for a five minute period. Driver and passengers remaining in vehicle.

Vehicular traffic in Frederick city and county towns is requested to stop where it may at first sound of "Take Cover" signal and remain so for five minutes.

Pedestrians on streets and roads are urged to go into some building or other type of shelter during this five minute period.

Immediately following the "Alert Signal" at 11:30 a. m. turn on your radio and tune to the "Conelrad" frequencies on your dial, 640 or 1240. This applies also to rural residents who are not within hearing of the sirens. It will take a few moments for the Radio Stations to change over from regular broadcasting conditions to Conelrad. Stay tuned on 640 or 1240 until 12 o'clock noon. During this thirty minute period you will receive Civil Defense instructions and information from Federal, State and local levels, which under actual emergency conditions would be of vital help to you and your family.

The effort of Civil Defense at all levels is through this National Alert Exercise, to familiarize and train the public toward self preservation should an actual enemy attack occur on our nation. Your cooperation is urgently requested.

The Frederick County Civil Defense Communication Control Center in Winchester Hall will be activated and staffed from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Friday, April 17; and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Saturday, April 18, in order to receive from and transmit messages to the Maryland Civil Defense Control Center at Pikesville. These messages will be via both radio amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES) network and by telephone.

The first blood transfusion, according to record, was given to Pope Innocent VIII in 1492.
